Hearty Reception To Brig-Gen. Ross Of Kingston

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN NAVY LEAGUE CAMPAIGN BY LARGE AUDIENCE AT SUNDAY EVENING MEETING—STIRRING ADDRESS BY BRIG-GEN. ROSS—CONCERT BY G. W. V. A. BAND—APPROPRIATE VOCAL NUMBERS.

That deep interest is being taken in the Navy League Campaign in Belleville was evidenced by the large attendance at the meeting Sunday evening in Griffin's Theatre when that building was packed to the doors and many were turned away as every seat was filled and standing room at a premium. Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross, C.B., C.M.G., of Kingston was the principal speaker and received a hearty reception, his splendid record overseas during the war as head of the medical service in the field for the Canadian army not having been forgotten. Gen. Ross is also a veteran of the South African War where he rendered valuable service for the Empire. The G.W.V.A. band under Bandmaster Hinchey rendered an excellent program of appropriate selections, and vocal solos were given by Mrs. A. P. Allen, Mr. James Booth, Mr. Harold Barrett and Sandy MacGregor. Especially appropriate and pleasing was the solo by Mrs. A. P. Allen, who sang Kipling's Recessional "Lest We Forget" with great expression and musical ability.

Mr. John Elliott acted as chairman in his customary capable manner and Ven. Archdeacon Beamish opened the meeting with prayer.

Brig.-Gen. Ross was accorded an ovation when he was introduced by the chairman showing that his great services to the Empire in the war were remembered and appreciated. He spoke of the work of the Navy and Mercantile Marine in protecting the soldiers and maintaining a continuous supply of food, munitions and reinforcements to the armies in the field. The splendid work of the Navy League of Canada was also described by the speaker in caring for the sailors afloat and ashore besides looking after the widows and orphans of the sailors who had lost their lives during the war. The great success attending the training of the naval cadets was also described showing the benefits to the boys themselves and to the Empire at large from this important department of Navy League work.

A feature of the program was the appearance of Sandy MacGregor, the Canadian Harry Lauder, who made a great hit with the audience in Scotch songs and sayings. Sandy MacGregor has been devoting his talents to entertaining the soldiers in the military hospitals, both during the war and after, and his services in this respect have been greatly appreciated. During the war he served with the 42nd Imperials and is a splendid type of Highland Scotchman.

Minister Donated $500 To Campaign

Five Subscriptions of Similar Amount Received by Navy League

Montreal, Oct. 30.—Among subscriptions received yesterday for the Navy League drive was one from the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who donated five hundred dollars.

The letter from the minister, which was addressed to Mr. A. J. Hodgson, a member of the special names committee, stated:

"It is a real pleasure for me to comply with your kind request of the 22nd inst for a personal contribution to the Navy League of Canada. I appreciate most fully the splendid work that the Navy League of Canada is doing, and with pleasure I enclose herewith my personal check for $500. Wishing you and your associates every success in the Montreal campaign for the Navy League, etc."

Five other subscriptions of $500 each were received from Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., Lord Congleton, T. B. Macauley, from the White Star-Dominion Line and from the Furness Withy Company, Ltd. Subscriptions of $300 each were also reported from The Gazette Printing Comapny, Ltd., and from the Hall Engineering Company. The Sun Life Assurance Company subscribed $1,000. The collection for the day was $3,345, and the total to date is about $33,500.

Hard Fighting On Black Sea Front

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

London, Nov. 1.—Several important towns northeast and northwest of the Crimean Peninsula have been occupied by Soviet Russian forces as a result of hard fighting along the Black Sea front, it is announced in a Moscow official statement dated Sunday. Among the places occupied are Perekop, Meliopol and Skadovsk.

Dungannon Spent Night Of Terror

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

DUNGANNON, Nov. 1.—This town, located in central Ulster, spent a terrifying night as a result of reprisals following the wounding of a constable during an attack on a police patrol by civilians yesterday. Policemen and armed and disguised men visited the town and discharged bombs and firearms in many places of business owned by Sinn Feiners. A number of places were wrecked and many families fled to the country for safety.

Chamber Of Commerce Will Get Busy

Arranging to Suitably Entertain Delegates to Associated Boards of Trade Convention

The Chamber of Commerce has not been very active of late owing to differences which the Directors have had with their Secretary-Manager, Mr. E. P. Fredericks, and finally they have decided to accept Mr. Fredericks' resignation which takes effect at once.

There is important work requiring immediate attention at the Chamber right along, and Alderman Jamieson Bone, President, has removed his office to that building temporarily, and will give whatever time is required to personally manage the affairs of the institution until a competent secretary-manager is found.

The Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Ontario meet in this city in their Annual Convention, November 25th and 26th, and it is hoped that not only the members of the Chamber, but all other citizens interested in the City's welfare and progress will lend a helping hand in order that the delegates may go away thoroughly impressed with the many advantages and genial hospitality of this city. Mr. John Elliott and a committee composed of Messrs C. M. Reid, W. N. Ponton, H. F. Ketcheson, H. W. Ackerman, J. G. Moffat, W. B. Deacon, W. R. McCreary have undertaken to see that the visitors are well entertained.

GROWTH SHOWN BY METHODIST CENSUS

Chicago, Oct. 29.—A census of Methodists, compiled by Dr. H. H. Carroll, formerly of the Census Bureau, for the centenary conservation committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, shows 36,522,190 Methodists in the world, according to figures made public today.

There are 9,832,107 members of the church, the remainder being adherents and probationers who are members of Methodist families.

Canada reports 387,421 members, Great Britain, 1,269,182; Australia, 204,395, and Japan, 20,000.

The increase in the total of Methodists during the last nine years is given as 3,935,311.

CALLS ON WOMEN TO DRESS SIMPLY

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—"Fashions for women are becoming more extreme and more indecent with each succeeding season," said Mrs. H. Colin Campbell in the session of Provincial Chapter, Daughter of the Empire.

"It is the duty of the sane-minded women of Canada and certainly the duty of Daughters of the Empire to set an example to the others by dressing in a simple and modest manner, thereby over-coming many modern evils which result directly from the affecting of extravagant styles."

Sylvia Went To Cells Smiling

Says She is Only Following Oliver Cromwell's Example

London, Oct. 30.—After being sentenced at London Mansion House yesterday to six month's imprisonment without hard labor, Sylvia Pankhurst descended to the cells smiling. Miss Pankhurst was charged with committing an act likely to cause sedition, through the publication of certain articles in "Workers Dreadnought," which she edits.

During the trial she acted as her own counsel, and seized the opportunity to make a statement of her revolutionary views. "Oliver Cromwell was out for a changed system in his day. I'm out for a change of system in mine. The charge is that I am preaching revolution. I shall continue to preach it."

She declared she had been brought up by a socialist father who taught her Karl Marx as a child. She had given vent to those principles since she began to think. For some years she was associated with the suffragist movement, but that was before she realized how utterly valueless was the vote.

"It was suggested," said Miss Pankhurst, "that the persons who caused the recent disturbance in Whitehall were members of her "Red Guards." That was wrong. My army would be much better disciplined and would meet with complete success."

In delivering sentence, the Magistrate said: "In my judgment your incitement to sedition and the overthrow of all recognised government is a very grave thing, in that you are an apparently educated woman should indulge in outrageous suggestions to poor people, that they should sack warehouses and commit all sorts of depredations. Such ideas can only enter into perverted minds."

It is believed Miss Pankhurst will not go on hunger strike. In a letter intercepted recently she accurately predicted her six months' sentence. She said she had thought of a hunger strike, but as the Government was allowing Irish prisoners to die, she feared this weapon was now useless.

Nuns Serve Food To Cork Strikers On Bishop's Order

Prisoners Refusing to Eat, Cohalan Appeals to Sinn Fein.

CORK, Ireland, Nov. 1.—Bishop Cohalan of Cork visited the jail yesterday and peremptorily ordered the hunger strikers there to take food. All of them refused. Thereupon Bishop Cohalan instructed the nuns attending the hunger strikers to prepare food. The nuns, having no alternative, obeyed the command and offered food to each of the prisoners but all refused it.

Bishop Cohalan now is appealing personally to the Sinn Fein leaders to release the prisoners from their hunger strike. At noon today they had completed the 80th day of their fast. Michael Burke collapsed this morning. Sean Hennessy and Thomas Donovan are reported to be very low.

Eleven Men Killed In An Explosion

Buffalo, Nov. 1.—Eleven men were killed in an explosion and fire in North Tonawanda, just north of Buffalo, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, at the power tower of the Niagara Falls Power Company. The cause was a short circuit formed by defective wiring.

Five of the men were burned to death and six others were so badly burned that their deaths followed almost immediately. Two others were seriously burned and little hope is held out for their recovery.

Blown Through Window

One man was blown through a window of the tower. He was not serseriously injured by this experience, however, and rushed back to the burning building and endeavored to pull the men who were overcome by the shock and heat out of the doorway. In his heroic but fruitless attempt he was seriously burned about the head, neck and shoulders. The clothing of all the men in the injured list was burned off their backs.

Premier Meighen makes five speeches in eight hours addressing eight thousand people.

Canada Will Have Nucleus For Own Navy

Costing People Little, Says Hon. Mr. Ballantyne

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries addressed the Toronto Branch of the Navy League at a luncheon held in connection with the League's campaign to raise $760,000. The minister said he would not touch on political issues, but he would make an exception in the matter of "a man from Lunenburg (William Duff, M.P.) who seemed to take a rare delight in making insinuations."

Hon. Ballantyne said that Mr. Duff "wanted us to close up the docks at Halifax and Esquimalt, and close the Naval College. He desired me to go hat in hand with our small debt of $2,000,000,000 to the Mother Country and ask them, with the enormous burden of debt, that the bear, and after all the British navy did during the war to shoulder the burden of Canada's defence."

The minister said that when Mr. Duff was asked who should undertake the burden of the defence of Canada his reply was that Canadians should take shelter under the Monroe Doctrine.

"Shame," said several members of the Navy League.

"I knew that would not appeal to Canadians," the Minister said. He claimed that the Government had been justified in its reorganization of the Canadian navy and had done the right thing in accepting ships from the Mother Country. He declared that it was "a pity that the live larger national problems of the Canadian navy should ever have become entangled with Canadian politics." The cruiser Aurora and the two destroyers, Patrician and Patricia which the British Admiralty had given Canada would leave England within a month for Halifax; Hon. Mr. Ballantyne said. From Halifax they would go to the West Indies and then to the Pacific coast, after which they would alternate between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

"The Canadian navy is not costing the people of Canada one cent more than it would have cost them before the war," said Hon. Mr. Ballantyne, "except for the increased cost of all materials and wages." He stated that "when the Imperial Conference takes place, in 1921 or 1922, should it be decided that Canada is to have a navy of her own, we will have a splendid nucleus upon which to build.."

Makes 5 Speeches In Eight Hours

Rt. Hon. Mr. Meighen Addresses Eight Thousand People In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Oct. 30.—In the metropolis of protectionist British Columbia today, the Prime Minister preached the same fiscal doctrine that he enunciated in the heart of free trade Saskatchewan. In five speeches within eight hours, addressed to upwards of eight thousand people, Mr. Meighen left no doubt as to where the Government stands on the tariff. "We stand," he said, "for a tariff based on the principle of protection. Not the kind of protection that will fleece the many for the benefit of the few. Sat for protection just sufficient to enable Canadian industries to operate in this country, to make Canada good for Canadians, to employ Canadian labor and to build up a Canadian market. There are some who tell you that I am a high protectionist. I challenge such people to quote you any word of mine, either in public or private that will support such a claim. There is no question about where we stand. We stand clearly and definitely for a tariff adequate for the needs of Canadian industry; simply that and nothing more."

The Premier's visit here has if anything surpassed in success his visits to Winnipeg and Moosejaw. On his arrival in the city he was greeted with an address of welcome by Mayor Gale a prominent Liberal while at Westminster in the afternoon where he addressed an audience which packed the Opera House to the doors. David Whiteside, K.C., Liberal member of the Legislature occupied the chair.

OVERFLOW MEETING

In the evening the largest theatre in the city was unable to accommodate the great crowd which clamored for admittance, and an overflow meeting had to be arranged in the banquet hall of the Vancouver Hotel. Even then thousands tried and failed to hear the Premier speak.

Retrenchment By Border Industries

Several Companies Laying off Men and Curtailing Production

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 1.—Shary retrenchment involving the discharging of large numbers of employes and the curtailment of production is the keynote of the policies announced by several of the largest Canadian Industries located along the Canadian border. Many of these companies are branches of huge American corporations and employ in some cases thousands of workmen.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada announce a cut in working hours to four days a week commencing November 1 and continuing for an indefinite period. Gordon M. McGregor, general manager of the company explained that the business depression which is affecting all parts of the country is responsible. He declared the company preferred to keep the entire staff employed on a part time basis rather than lay off a percentage of the men. Already ten per cent. of the normal staff have been laid off.

The industrial outlook according to Mr. McGregor is anything but encouraging. He adds that he does not expect a return to normal before the end of February or March next.

Work Part Time

Simiilar conditions are predicted by M. G. Campbell, manager of the Kelsey Motor Wheel Company. Twenty per cent. of this company's men have been laid off. "We are not quite certain of our next course," Mr. Kelsey informed the Star. "We can work full time with the present staff and close down towards the end of next month or we can work three or four days a week and continue throughout the month. The third alternative is to secure more men, rush through the remaining orders and then close down completely. Personally I favor working three or four days a week."

Canadian Products Limited, a subsidiary of General Motors has closed down completely for one month "inventory taking" is the official reason.

Forty per cent. of the staff of the Dominion Forge and Stamping Co. have laid off. Only one shift is now in operation. Scant likelihood of an industrial rally is the view of Pearson Wells, secretary-treasurer of the company.

The Trussed Steel Company reports feeling the effects of sharp depression Immediate action has not yet been decided upon.

College Protessor Was Dismissed

Claims Presidential Candidate Has Negro Ancestry

WOOSTER, Ohio, Oct. 30.—The board of trustees of Wooster College by a unanimous vote requested and secured the immediate resignation of Professor William Estabrook, Chancellor, teacher of political science at the institution. The motion states that "it is the sense of the board of trustees that the exigencies, due to the publication of a letter to Senator Harding attributed to Professor Chancellor, makes his retention as professor in the college impossible.

It was not until about ten days ago that Republican leaders in Ohio became aware of the extent of circularized attacks on Senator Harding declaring that he had negro ancestry on his father's side. In the light of some things which they claim to have discovered during the last twenty-four hours, the story of the underground fight on Senator Harding, when fully told, will furnish one of the most weird and sinister chapters in the history of American politics.

The circular propaganda apparently had been in progress for some time before the Republican leaders here became aware of its existence. It has been most assiduously conducted here in Ohio, in Indiana, in the border states and even in some of the states south of the Mason and Dixon line, where the Republicans had been making a campaign. Echoes of the crusade have been heard from Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia and even as far south as Alabama.

Some of the circulars of the underground propaganda bore this foot note: "Authority, Professor William E. Chancellor, Wooster University, Wooster, Ohio.

ROTARIANS HELP SAILORS

Belleville Rotarians gathered at the regular weekly noonfest rallied round the cause of the sailors by contributing nearly three hundred dollars to the Navy League Campaign.

LEST WE FORGET!

REMEMBER THE SAILORS—EIGHT BELLS AND ALL'S WELL!

Sailors' Week campaign of the Navy League of Canada is coming to a close in Belleville, and it is to be hoped that the final results will show that this city has maintained its splendid record for generous giving to worthy objects. Reports from headquarters indicate that the small givers have done nobly and the donations of from twenty-five cents to five dollars from homes where every cent counts these days were given freely and joyously as a pleasant duty. Large subscriptions from those to whom twenty-five dollars or fifty or a hundred or more could be given and not missed have not been coming in as freely, however, and the committee hope that many of those citizens fortunate in this world's goods will send in generous subscriptions now that the campaign is closing.

An effective and enthusiastic band of workers have been giving their time freely to make the campaign a success, but the workers are too few for the amount of work to be done in a short time. Everybody who has not been canvassed can help the committee by paying in their subscriptions at any of the banks or to the Treasurer, Col. E. D. O'Flynn.

Mr. Bob Gorman as chairman of the working committees, has been a tower of strength and shown great executive ability. He has been surrounded by a bunch of splendid workers who cheerfully tackled a big proposition and have sacrificed much valuable time from their business pursuits.

Chaplain Rev. S. Boal, the directing mind of the campaign, has worked hard early and late, and not only has had Belleville campaign to supervise, but several other towns as well, even as far distant as the Ottawa Valley. The Chaplain is a splendid organizer and has the British bulldog pluck which never gives up and knows no defeat, tackling all obstacles, big and little, in the same spirit of confidence which assures final victory.

The G. W. V. A., The Rotary Club and the Lions' Club have worked hard to make the campaign a success and it is now up to the citizens to crown victory with a heaping measure of voluntary contributions for a good cause.

It is worthy of note that Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Canadian Minister of Marine and Naval Affairs, has expressed great appreciation of the work of the Navy League of Canada and personally gave a check of $500 to the campaign fund.

In Toronto, the headquarters of the Navy League, many of the leading citizens have taken an active part in the campaign and thousand dollar subscriptions there are not unusual.

In the financial statement issued by the Navy League showing the disposition of the money received, it is worthy of note that the sum of $5,000 was given to the Dr. Grenfell Mission which maintains several very useful Sailors' Holmes and conducts wonderful work among the deep sea fishermen of the Labrador coast.

Soon the bell will ring and the campaign will be over. All who have done their duty will be happy, and it is to be hoped that Belleville will once more take a high place among Canadian communities as a doer of all things well.

Sent To Pen On False Evidence

TORONTO, Oct. 30.—Verda Kirkland, the star witness against two foreigners, Yoko Toshilk and Yovan Yocock, who a few days ago were sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years on being convicted of making a criminal assault on her, has confessed that she concocted the whole story. As a result of this confession it is likely that the case will be reopened.

On Saturday morning Miss Kirkland, who is 16 years of age, telephoned to the office of Heyd & Heyd, solicitors to meet her on a matter of urgent business. Mr. Louis Heyd sent Mr. W. D. M. Shorey, of his office to meet the girl, who before Mr. Shorey made an affidavit to the effect that the evidence she gave in court against the two men was false. Mr. Shorey took the girl to the office of Mr. Walshe, who has forwarded the affidavit to the authorities at Ottawa. In the meantime Sheriff Mowat has promised to keep the two prisoners in Toronto for some days pending further decisions in the matter.

Tilbury's Gas Supply Was Cut Off

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TILBURY, Ont., Nov. 1.—Early this morning the supply of natural gas to Tilbury was cut off against the orders of the Provincial Government. Tilbury had refused to pay the increase in price and the Union Natural Gas Co. threatened to cut off the supply. This the Government on Saturday forebade them to do.

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Premier Drury in an interview today said that the policy of the Ontario Government in connection with the critical gas situation in Western Ontario was against the shutting off of gas. He explained that there might be legal obstacles, but an amicable settlement of the dispute would be attempted in order that the entire gas supply might be available for use. There was no meeting of the Cabinet this morning in regard to the matter.

Second Race In Schooner Series

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Halifax, Nov. 1.—Although a seven mile breeze rushed the Esperanto across the starting line in advance of second race of the series for the International Fishing Schooner Honors of the North Atlantic, the Canadian entry blanketed her opponent and passed to windward.

At ten o'clock a mile and half from the first mark, the Delawana had established a lead of five minutes and appeared to be still gaining.

The Delawana lost much of her half mile lead in turning the second mark and the American boat continued to gain. At 2.30 the Esperanto had caught up with the Delawana and was seen to be passing through her lee.

Doherty, Minister of Justice, as Canadian delegates to the assembly of the League of Nations, leave for Geneva. They will be met in London by Hon. N. W. Rowell, who will be the third delegate. Apart from the business of the assembly, the Canadian delegates will, while in London, have important negotiations in hand. FRANK DOE, PROPHET

November will be unsettled. Bad weather until the 18th. Last part will be more favorable. It will be a hard old winter. So says Frank Doe, long distance weather forecaster of Ogdensburg. Wasn't it Frank Doe or some of his relatives who prophesied bad weather for October. Weather prophets would all make better success if they waited until December 1st to tell us about November.

MONSTER MOOSE

Captain Munro, R.N. and Joseph J. Penny, of Port Hope have returned from a most successful moose hunting expedition to Grand Lake, Sheet Harbor. Capt. Munro shot what is said to be the largest moose shot in that section for a score of years. The "monarch of the forest" weighed over one thousand pounds (eight hundred and forty pounds dressed) while his horns had a spread of 52 inches, with 28 points. Mr. Penny also shot a moose, weighing about five hundred pounds.

HINES HUNGER STRIKE

According to reports from the jail Albert Hines is acting much better since he made the confession of the murder of his two-year-old son, by cutting his throat. When he was first admitted to the jail he would walk up and down the corridor, not speaking to anyone, and carrying a piece of bread in a tin cup. For a time he went on a hunger strike, but soon got over this. Now he appears to act quite sane, and with the confession off his mind, he is more talkative. He spends most of his time writing confessions.—Port Hope Guide.

Hallowe'en Festival Not A Little Pagan

All Saints' Day Follows, But Druid and Romans Give It Something

The last night of October is, for some unknown reason, associated in the minds of many with the Christian festival of All Saints, which follows it. But despite the fact that it is known as the Vigil of Hallowmas, or All Saints, the origin of Hallowe'en is pagan, and is mixed with Druid lore. It was at this season of the year that the Druids held their autumn festival, and believed that Saman, the lord of death, called together the wicked souls which during the preceding twelve months had been transferred to animals. In parts of Ireland Hallowe'en is still known as the "Vigil of Saman." To this idea of the walking abroad of the bad spirits was grafted the traditions of the Roman festival in honor of Pomona, when gifts were offered of fruits and nuts, and there evolved the modern night of pranks abroad and at home.

The forest pixies gaily prance
Upon the green,
And all the fairies join the dance
At Hallowe'en.

No other night of the year seems to have such a popular hold upon the general imagination, or is observed to such an extent as is Hallowe'en. Within doors there are many parties with jack o' lanterns, and spookish decorations and apple bobbing and nuts roasting upon the bars of the grate. Without, if the Druid spirits do not walk abroad, modern emulators do their best at spiriting away anything tangible that is not securely fastened down. Every small town locks or removes its front gates on this night of the year. Imagine the mortification, the chagrin, of some most genteel old ladies in one of these small towns, who had a few refined guests from whom they received monetary consideration, discovering at high noon on November the first a huge and vulgar sign in a most conspicuous place on their brownstone front: "Board cheap. Meals at all hours." And it was in the same town that the University Chancellor's one and only cow was painted a lively red, and out of pure ingratitude licked off a goodly portion of her new coat and succumbed. Only Hallowe'en could inspire and provoke such pranks as those which are perpetrated on this one night in the year, when

So many pranks disturb our homes
Homes once serene,
That we are forced to believe in gnomes
At Hallowe'en.

MAN HAS ARM TORN OFF BY DITCHING MACHINE

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 30.—Roy Dow, of this city, while operating a ditching machine near Sparta, had his left arm torn off. It is supposed Dow bent over the machine to oil it when his smock caught in the mechanism. The unfortunate man was found lying unconscious over the machine and the mangled arm some distance back down the road. Mr. Dow's condition is critical.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

WHAT KINGSTON THOUGHT OF "THE WANDERER"

Three performances to packed houses was the warm reception of "The Wanderer" at Kingston last week and the production was pronounced as wonderful by the dramatic critics of that city and everybody who witnessed the classic story of the Prodigal Son..

"The Wanderer," will be presented with all its wonderful scenery, flock of sheep goats and dogs and splendid cast, as shown in Toronto and Montreal, at Griffin's Theatre this evening and no one should miss this opportunity of seeing the presentation of this story of the Bible which has made such a remarkable impression since it was first produced in New York City two years ago.

The Kingston Whig speaking of "The Wanderer," says:

"A play which carried with it a wonderful moral lesson, and which does not fail to deeply impress everyone who sees it, was presented at the Grand Opera House last evening in "The Wanderer," the dramatization of the famous Biblical theme by Messrs Comstock and Gest. The theatre was very well filled for the play and the deepest interest in the play was taken by all.

"No man with a soul, no man who has suffered could have sat in his seat and not been moved to the highest emotion. The story is magnificently written and is really one of the gems of the later year drama of the enlightening and not vulgar type. One sees life in its sweetest, saddest and finally its brightest themes, when all of the past life of "The Wanderer" is washed away by the love of a mother and father despite bitterness of a brother who also saw the light shining forth at the climax of the last act. The story shows the ambitious young Jether, a son of Jesse, and the scenes are laid 1,000 years before Jesus Christ. He falls in love with Naomi, his cousin. The boy is ambitious, while Caal, his brother is industrious. Tola, a wanderer, tells of the vivid life of the big city and induces Jether to get his portion from his father, and he finally reaches Jerusalem, where he is soon mixed up with high life people, who lead him astray and he mingles with a woman named Rissah. He flatters her with presents. He goes from bad to worse. Naomi, in search of her lover, goes to Jerusalem and finds him in the arms of Rissah. He is finally brought back home, a wreck, and is scorned by his brother. His mother and Naomi recognize him, and finally as a most fitting climax, his father welcomes him with open arms, after a dramatic scene and the brother also forgets the past.

"The stage settings are most gorgeous and exact and show clearly the display of the Belasco art. The dancing was perfect and the setting of the backgrounds with the sheep and dogs coming down the mountain side, and the elaborateness of the scenes in Jerusalem were never surpassed on the local stage. The cast is a remarkably clever one, and each principal carried out the part allotted to them in splendid style.

NOTED ENGLISH ARTISTS.

The arrival in Canada of the distinguished English comedian, H. V. Esmond, and his wife, Miss Eva Moore, marks an event of the greatest interest to all who appreciate the best in English comedy. Mr. Esmond and Miss Moore will within a few days be seen in Belleville under the auspices of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., which has brought to the public of this Dominion one of the most delightful theatrical entertainments the English-speaking stage has known for a long time. In "The Law Divine" Mr. Esmond has written a comedy that still stands out as one of the few notable stage successes of the war period, but it is in no sense a war play. It deals with a problem that arose out of the war, but the combat of the trenches and the human sacrifice of the conflict do not enter into the play.

Mr. Esmond and Miss Moore are making a tour from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and will be seen at Griffin's Theatre for one night only, next Monday, November 8th.

CAN A WOMAN TAME A MAN?

Can a woman tame a headstrong man and then be his obedient wife? If she has known the independence of being a successful business woman of big affairs, can she win the love of her business rival? Can the "weaker sex" be, for the "stronger sex" the "deadlier sex"?

If any of these questions puzzle you, the answer can be found at Griffin's tomorrow and Wednesday when Blanche Sweet will illustrate them in "The Deadlier Sex." It is a story in which effervescent comedy and tense emotions have been injected into a clever plot evolved by no less famous a playwright than Bayard Veiller.

Against nature's background of pine-clad mountains, blue sky and swift-running river is enacted this modern American romance.

A Burton Holmes Travelogue, a selected 2-reel comedy, and Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" serial are also being screened in addition to the feature offering.

AMERICAN SCHOONER WON FIRST RACE

Halifax, Oct. 30.—Esperanto, the American schooner, demonstrated her superiority in every point of sailing in moderate weather over the Canadian challenger, Delawana, by defeating her by upwards of 20 minutes in the first race for the international schooner race series, sailed off Halifax today. The second race will be sailed Monday, but it is freely admitted by all who followed to-day's race that the Canadian boat will have little show unless distinctly different weather conditions prevail.

The Esperanto crossed the finish line at 3.01.10, the eDlewana following 18 minutes 28 seconds later.

BOOTLEGGERS USE GUNS ON TRAINS

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 29.—Bootleggers, clandestinely taking liquor from British Columbia to Washington state, are becoming so bold that they are now using guns to check train crews in their attempts to prevent the activities of the law breakers.

The bootleggers have taken to concealing their goods in coal and other cars, going along with it themselves. When a crew attempts to throw them off the train, they have lately given the railwaymen a severe mauling. Gun play took place recently and one of the bootleggers was captured and has been committed for trial. This raid occurred on a Canadian Pacific train at King's Gate, B.C. There was a hurry-up call for reinforcements, and an attempt will be made to clean up the situation.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

The following day Werper spent in overhauling his Belgian uniform, removing from it every vestige of evidence that might indicate its military purpose. From a heterogeneous collection of loot, Achmet Zek procured a pith helmet and a European saddle, and from his black slaves and followers a party of porters, askaris and tent boys to make up a modest safari for a big game hunt. At the head of this party Werper set out from camp.

CHAPTER II.

On the Road to Opar.

It was two weeks later that John Clayton, Lord Greystoke, riding in from a tour of inspection of his vast African estate, glimpsed the head of a column of men crossing the plain that lay between his bungalow and the forest to the north and west.

His keen eyes caught the reflection of the sun upon the white helmet of a mounted man, and with the conviction that a wandering European hunter was seeking his hospitality, he wheeled his mount and rode slowly forward to meet the newcomer.

A half hour later he was mounting the steps leading to the veranda of his bungalow, and introducing M. Jules Frecoult to Lady Greystoke.

"I was completely lost," M. Frecoult was explaining. "My head man had never before been in this part of the country and the guides who were to have accompanied me from the last village we passed knew even less of the country than we. They finally deserted us two days since. I do not know what I should have done, had I not found you."

It was decided that Frecoult and his party should remain several days, or until they were thoroughly rested, when Lord Greystoke would furnish guides to lead them safely back into country with which Frecoult's head man was supposedly familiar.

In his guise of a French gentleman of leisure, Werper found little difficulty in deceiving his host and in ingratiating himself with both Tarzan and Jane Clayton; but the longer he remained the less hopeful he became of an easy accomplishment of his designs.

Lady Greystoke never rode alone at any great distance from the bungalow, and the savage loyalty of the ferocious Waziri warriors who formed a great part of Tarzan's followers seemed to preclude the possibility of a successful attempt at forcible abduction, or of the bribery of the Waziri themselves.

A week passed, and Werper was no nearer the fulfillment of his plan, in so far as he could judge, than upon the day of his arrival, but at that very moment something occurred which gave him renewed hope and set his mind upon an even greater reward than a woman's ransom.

A runner had arrived at the bungalow with the weekly mail, and Lord Greystoke had spent the afternoon in his study reading and answering letters. At dinner he seemed distraught, and early in the evening he excused himself and retired, Lady Greystoke following him very soon after. Werper, sitting upon the veranda, could hear their voices in earnest discussion, and having realized that something of unusual moment was afoot, he made his silent way to a point beneath the window of the room in which his host and hostess slept.

Made His Silent Way to a Point Beneath the Window.

Lady Greystoke was speaking as Werper came within hearing.

"I always feared for the stability of the company," she was saying; "but it seems incredible that they should have failed for so enormous a sum—unless there has been some dishonest manipulation."

"That is what I suspect," replied Tarzan; "but whatever the cause, the fact remains that I have lost everything, and there is nothing for it but to return to Opar and get more."

"Oh, John," cried Lady Greystoke, and Werper could feel the shudder through her voice, "is there no other way? I cannot bear to think of you returning to that frightful city."

"You need have no fear," replied Tarzan, laughing. "I am pretty well able to take care of myself, and were I not, the Waziri who will accompany me will see that no harm befalls me. There is no other way half so easy to obtain another fortune, as to go to the treasure vaults of Opar and bring it away. I shall be very careful, Jane, and the chances are that the inhabitants of Opar will never know that I have been there again and despoiled them of another portion of the treasure, the very existence of which they are as ignorant of as they would be of its value."

Holloway Street Church Anniversary

Large Congregation Commemorate Anniversary of Holloway St. Methodist Church

Anniversary services were conducted yesterday in Halloway street Methodist Church, city and the preacher for the occasion was Rev. B. Greatrix, of Peterboro' a former beloved pastor Large congregations were present at both services and the discourses were much appreciated. Special music was rendered by the choir and solos given by Miss S. Walton and Mr. Allan P. Schryver. The offerings for the day totalled nearly $450. In the evening Rev. Mr. Greatrix, subject was "The purpose of Daniel," and the text was from Daniel 1st, 8th verse.

But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the King's meat nor with the wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the Prince of the eunucks that he might not defile him.

In his opening remarks the divine stated that there was a law of fitness which governs man and God. No one had fathomed man's nature, the height he can ascend, or the depth he can fall. Man is capable of achieving much. There was a purpose in the mind and heart of God when he called man into being. On the battle field of the human heart great battles are fought and won. Daniel did not come to that point in his noble life without a struggle. He was a young man with red blood in his veins. He was full of ambition had fought a great battle of self conflict. He had golden opportunities for advancement and riches but against these he turned, this young man purposed not to defile himself with the King's meat or wine. He would not tolerate these He was a young man of purpose and conviction, and he would not be corrupted. The temptation he resisted the present day is permeated with selfishness, pride and other things that have a tendency to draw us from God. Let not one of these enter our hearts. Daniel had a purpose that swept his whole being, a purpose to do the will of God. He was so thoroughly honest and loyal to the King of Kings. His was a noble life, and one of high consecration to God. Have a purpose in life, a purpose that will carry us successfully through to the end. Have high and noble aims and measure up to them. Have an ideal and make Jesus Christ that ideal. Have a purpose full of inspiration and joy. Does it pay to have such aspiration and the answer of Daniel is yes. It pays to have a purpose, Christ like in its character. It will pay on earth and it will pay when we stand before the King of Kings and hear Him say enter into the joys of eternal rest.

A WORTHY SON OF A WORTHY SIRE.

General William Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, is visiting Canada, and the son of the founder of this great and practical religious organization is meeting the cordial reception which is his due.

The Salvation Army has won the respect of the world.

It goes out into the highways and byways and compels people to come in; it goes into the dirtiest slums with a smile and a scrub brush, and cleanliness keeps step with Christianity; it penetrates the darkest haunts of the underworld and carries a message of hope even to the most degraded of drug habit victims ,and combines faith and works in a religion of humanity which has brought new life and happiness to millions.

Even in war the Salvation Army demonstrated its worth in ministering to the physical as well as the spiritual needs of the soldiers, and there were Salvation Army soldiers on the firing line and Salvation Army bandsmen to play them on to victory.

Thinking people are just begining to realize what an effective organization for good the Salvation Army really is and becoming more generous in its support.

The world owes a debt of gratitude to the old general who first fought sin in the gutters and conquered public antagonism with a faith and determination which moved mountains of opposition, and that he well and truly laid the foundations of a great and lasting movement has been fully demonstrated in the capacity of those who took up the torch from his failing hand. In his son the old General still lives and moves and has his being and the work goes steadily on under the blood red banner with efficient and talented officers and a loyal rank and file.

The record of the Salvation Army is clean. There have been no scandals in this immense organization, which covers the entire world, and if by their works ye shall know them, then the Salvation Army has a monument of good works which is one of the best and greatest things in the world's history.

Welcome, thrice welcome is Gen. William Bramwell Booth to Canada.

COAX PEOPLE TO CHURCH WITH CIRCUS ADVERTISING.

Lurid advertising cheapens the Church to the level of a side-show. and the minister who must resort to slang and the stunts of a county fair in order to get an audience would seem to place little dependence in the power of the Gospel, lay writers to the religious press complain. Whistling women, free lunches, shady politicians posing as brilliant statesmen, moving pictures with an inoffensive smear of religion on them, represent some of the offerings in church notices observed by a layman who writes of them to The Continent (Presbyterian). "And the topics of the sermons!" he exclaims. "What poor, benighted heathen would even guess these performances had anything to do with Christianity?" These are church notices he observed in a Western paper: "Has God Got Your Number?" "The Wild West Man"; "The Man in the Moon" "Pussy-cat, Pussy-cat, Where Have You Been?" "A Wonderful Invention—a Lunch-Box, Hand Mirror and Bathtub in One." The authors of these catch-phrases, we are told, are Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodists, "all men of prominence in their respective denominations." On the other hand,

"Happily there are hosts of ministers who are upholding the dignity of the Church, who are above this miserable vulgarization of religion, but the number of those who fill the church columns of the secular papers with their disgustingly sensational advertisements seems to be on the increase the country over. The church page is beginning to suggest a riot of department-store bargain-counters, a printers' ink scramble for business. It is beginning to be a noisome, indecent reek of commercialism.

"What shall we do with these degraders of the Christian pulpit? We must either correct them to a belief in the power of the Gospel of Christ, or, in the event of our failure to do this, escort them out of the Gospel ministry."

W. C. E. Newbolt notes in the London Post with accents of despair that slang has invaded the pulpit. "We hear in sermons, in close juxtaposition with the most sacred things, the words and the phrases common in the camp and barrack, which the army chaplains brought home with them." And now "an oath or a profanity is not unknown; it adds point to the discourse, and wakens the languid interest of the audience."

CRISP COMMENT

Philadelphia Public Ledger complains that the only thing dry in that country is the Presidential campaign. From all accounts even the election campaign is not dry judging from the wet christening given it at the Democratic convention.

When the tumult and the shouting dies in the United States on Tuesday and the fuss and muss of the presidential election campaign is over, Uncle Sam will find time to again assure the British Empire of his undying friendship and Dollar Diplomacy will again function.

It is said that the new overseer of game and fisheries for this district is a relative of the member of parliament for Prince Edward county. And The Post was under the impression when the U. F. O. went into power that the day of family appointments was gone. In the appointment of a Prince Edward county man as game and fisheries overseer in place of Mr. W. D. Perry, Deseronto has got a slap that H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., should be asked to explain. Deseronto did well for Denyes; Denyes should do something for Deseronto.—Deseronto Post.

The Brantford Expositor, which has always been classified as a Liberal paper, compliments Premier Meighen on his having made it clear where he stands on the tariff question, and declares that the "clear-cut otterances are in pleasurable contrast with the obvious efforts of the Liberal leader to befog the issue and dodge his party's platform." The days of the party paper as a subservient party organ are about over in this country. The Expositor's outspoken criticism of the party leader is significant as an indication of the modern spirit in journalism.

A SEDUCTIVE SUGGESTION

With the fruit rotting on the ground in many orchards throughout Ontario, it would appear to be a pity that growers do not let it be known in the towns and cities that the fruit may be had for the picking. With so many autos around the offer would eagerly be taken advantage of.

LESSON ON THE LEAVES
Kingston Standard

We should draw a lesson from the leaves, which put on their gayest, brightest dresses before they depart. They make the landscape one gorgeous mass of color; there is no sadness in them. We know their future; how they will help in beautifying and enriching the earth in some other form; and so with us there is the knowledge that when our autumn has passed we shall in some form serve the purpose of a wise Creator. .

O.B.U. DYING
Halifax Chronicle

From all appearance, says a Canadian Western paper, it is quite feasible to believe that the One Big Union is on its last legs. For some time now failure has dogged all its efforts. This has been occasioned by the activities of organized labor against its operations. As soon as the trades unions began to realize that this organization was threatening their existence they commenced their efforts to stultify the work of this outlaw body, and to regain the position they had at one time held in the ranks of labor. That they are being very successful is shown by the large decrease which has recently taken place in the membership of the O.B.U.

POETS' CORNER

WHO IS HE

A little fellow came sailing to me
On an Ether wave, from over the sea,
the purpose of a wise Cheator.
Man's Land",
From thence he travelled with all his clan;
No one heralded his approach,
As he flew through the air to meet all the folk.

He arrived so suddenly, no one knew
Till he came to my home for a week or two;
Since he has left me, I ne'er cease to wonder,
If ever that little one takes time to slumber;
He has travelled for over two years, and yet,
The people he visits he keeps in a fret;

For popularity and for fame,
He has certainly made the world look tame;
Everyone knows him, everyone fears
He will pay them a visit quite unawares;
You can't guess his name?
It is "F-L-U"
He paid me a visit
He may visit you—Watch Out!

A LAUGH OR TWO

Brothers in Business

An advertising manager was going home one night in a tramcar. It was late, and the man who sat next to him began to talk.

"What business are you in?" he asked.

"The advertising business."

"Is that so? I used to be in the advertising business myself. I gave it up, though, and went into the rag-and old-bottle business. I was a sandwich man for a theatre for six months. "Say," and he bent over confidentially, "ain't it hard work when the wind blows?"

A Rare Bird

"He's one of our best after-dinner speakers."

Women of Canada Who Testify

Tillsonburg, Ont.:—"Ever since I can remember, Dr. Pierce's medicines were used in our family at home and they never failed to give good results. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' was used as a tonic and blood purifier and for bronchial trouble, and it proved excellent. I have personally taken 'Golden Medical Discovery' for bronchial trouble, and the 'Favorite Prescription' to build me up when I was run-down and they both were very beneficial. Mother always used Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed for pain; it also was very good. I feel safe in recommending all of Dr. Pierce's medicines knowing them to be good."—MRS. CLIFFORD MITCHELL.

Central Butte, Sask.:—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery for a number of years and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boy for tuberculosis of the knee joint. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results; in fact, I do not think he would be alive today had it not been for the 'Medical Discovery.' I also keep it on hand for coughs as it differs so from other cough medicines, instead of upsetting the stomach as most cough syrups do it is good for the stomach. I only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—MRS. PERCY WOOD.

When you take Golden Medical Discovery, you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more, you get a temperance medicine that contains not a drop of alcohol or narcotic of any kind. Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that his remedies always have been strictly temperance medicines.

MRS. ELLA LEFTWICK, another Kansas City woman whose remarkable restoration by Tanlac has astonished her neighbors, many of whom have begun taking the Master Medicine. "They all agree with me that it is the grandest medicine on earth," says Mrs. Leftwick.

A number of my friends, after seeing the wonderful good Tanlac did me began taking the medicine, and now they all agree with me that it is the grandest medicine on earth," said Mrs. Ella Leftwick, 722 Pile St., Kansas City, Kans.

"Tanlac completely restored my health," she said, "and just seemed to give me a new lease on life. If I could talk personally with every woman suffering as I did, I would urge them to take this medicine.

"For the first time in three years I am able to eat and enjoy three hearty meals every day and not suffer in the least with indigestion afterwards. I am never troubled now with the awful smothering spells that used to frighten me so much, and the dreadful headaches that came upon me every day have been entirely broken up.

"I was extremely nervous and couldn't sleep well, but now my nerves are in splendid shape, and I sleep like a child every night. My strength has been so wonderfully increased that I can now do all the housework in my eight-room house and attend to the children besides. I feel just splendidly all the time now. Tanlac is certainly worth its weight in gold."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's Drug Store, and by leading druggists in all other cities and towns.

POLICE SAY DEAD MAN NOT CANADIAN SOLDIER

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Identification of the "ragged stranger," whom Carl Wanderer confessed, and later denied, having hired to stage a fake hold-up, in which Wanderer's wife, her unborn child and the stranger were killed, collapsed again today.

Herbert Potter, a Canadian, last night identified the body, which has been lying unclaimed in the morgue since June 21, as John Barrett, a former Canadian soldier. Detectives learned today that Barrett was 50 years old. The "ragged stranger" was not more than 21. The state attorney's office, however, is going ahead with plans to try Wanderer for the man's death. A jury yesterday found Wanderer guilty of his wife's death and fixed the punishment at twenty-five years.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—That $250,000 worth of liquor has crossed the Detroit river within the last few days for use during the American elections and that a Windsor man has been offering men, including liquor detectives, as much as $25 a day to drive the liquor, with a guarantee to pay all fines, is the startling statement of Stanley J. SECOND ATTEMPT ON RAIDING BOAT

Windsor, Oct. 30.—For the second time within one week attempts have been made to destroy the speed launch given Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin by the Attorney-General of Ontario, with which to run down the Detroit River bootleggers.

Last night bullets crashed through the windows of the Government boat house in which the boat was harbored.

According to J. McKechnie, a new license officer sent from Toronto to assist Mr. Spracklin, the volley came through just after he had rolled himself in the boat to spend the night. The boat had just returned from a raid on bootleggers. Had the bullets been explosive the speed boat would now be a mass of valueless splinters, as the attackers had evidently familiarized themselves with the craft's exact location. Mr. Spracklin, it is reported, has also been a target for bullets twice during the past three weeks.

Letters To The Editor

MISS FLEMING'S TREATMENT

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Having read a letter in The Intelligencer of October 2, 1920, I would like to insert the following in reference to the matter:

On 24th Oct., 1919, A. C. Wilkin, of Queen Victoria School, sent, unknown to me, a letter to the Chairman of the Managing Committee, (and a second one to the Chairman of the Board on December 16th last) containing statements to which I desire to take exception. One of the statements was that he believed I was physically unfit to teach school, but had to acknowledge that the work of my class was up to the standard. I had not lost a day through sickness for years The following notes speak for themselves:

3075 Lincoln Blvd., Cleveland, Ohio.
Feb. 16th, 1920.

My Dear Miss Fleming,—

I hardly think it necessary for me to say that you needed no medical attention while you were visiting with us last summer. Had any medical advice been asked I would have been surprised as you appeared to be in perfect health.

Yours,
T. J. Taylor, M.D.

May 1920. To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that at no time did I make a statement in writing or otherwise, that Miss Fleming was physically unfit to teach school. I did however make a statement that owing to fatigue from an excessive amount of school work, she was not in a fit condition, the last week in December, 1919, to attend a special meeting of the Managing Committee. I have known Miss Fleming ever since my advent as a physician in Belleville, and never, to my knowledge, has she been physically or mentally incapacitated from attending her duties as a teacher.

W. J. Gibson, M.D.

In reference to the work mentioned there are 6000 pages of foolscap at my home, and some hundred more at Q. V. School, that I have examined in the evenings, besides all other work.

Another charge made was that I kept the other cadets waiting for those of my class. This has been denied by Mr. V. Clarke and T. Wrightmeyer, instructors and by W. Bongard, who sent the following letter:

March 10, 1920

To Sec. Board of Education, Belleville
Dear Sir,—

I have heard the report in Kingston that Miss Fleming has been discharged from Queen Victoria School on the charge that she kept the whole cadet corps waiting for the cadets in her room. I was captain of Q.V.S. cadets in 1917 and I never had to wait for her cadets and I can absolutely deny this charge. I found Miss Fleming to be the best teacher I was ever taught by. She worked very hard for both the cadets and the school, and furthermore, I think any of her 1917 pupils will deny it. I sincerely hope Miss Fleming will be cleared of this charge as she is one of the best teachers in Belleville.

I rmain, yours,
Walter Bongard.

Additional pay, besides their salary is given for cadet work, though it is done in school hours. On Thursday morning preceding the Gov.-General's visit, Mr. Wilkins told me and the class that he wanted the cadets sent to him at twenty minutes to 4 p.m. They were sent at twenty-five minutes to 4, five minutes ahead of the time ordered.

M. FLEMING.

Belleville, Oct. 30, 1920.

WHY NOT A REAL ESTATE OWNERS' ASSOCIATION?

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—As the time is not far distant when nominations will take place for the purpose of electing our Municipal Council for the year 1921, the writer feels that it would not be out of place for him to offer through The Intelligencer, one or two important suggestions in relation thereto.

When it is taken into consideration that we have had in existence among us, for nearly a year, an important organization composed of between three or four hundred of our enterprising citizens known as the Chamber of Commerce and that this honorable body has not apparently up to date been able to accomplish on the whole, anything very beneficial to the taxpayers at large, it is probably an opportune "time for a change." Or, in other words it is an opportune time to introduce some plan or scheme that would be a real benefit to the real estate owners of the city who, as a class are carrying the very extreme financial burden of our corporation.

What I would propose or suggest, is an organization for the purpose of representing the reasonable and best interests of the owners of real property in our city. This organization could be appropriately called The Real Estate Owners' Association. The membership fee would probably not need to be more than fifty cents a year. My object in suggesting only fifty cents is to make it possible for every individual no matter how poor, who is an owner of real estate to become a member of the Association.

Under this condition I feel that there should eventually be a membership of from ten to fifteen hundred at least. The expense of the association would not necessarily be very great. Its purpose would be, primarily, to protect the interests of the real estate owners in matters especially relating to the actions of the Council in municipal measures. Such an association would, if thought desirable, effect the policy of our municipal government by tendering advice to the body in the interest of all the taxpayers. The association, as often as found necessary would come together and discuss municipal matters, resulting in definite conclusions by vote, and then by deputation present the opinions of the Association to the Council and there is no doubt but what the opinions presented would have weight. But if the Council would not accept reasonable advice from the Association this body would, by standing together, elect a Council at the election following that would listen to reason and act accordingly with the result that such incapacity, mismanagement and extravagance as we have had to put up with the last two or three years would be greatly minimised.

All ladies who own real estate would be eligible as members of this propo Association as well as men.

Now, Mr. Editor, I trust that, w your permission, others who may r this will express their opinions rega ing this matter so that if the propo tion herein stated is thought advisa it could be gone on with and matu in time to take a hand in the appro ing municipal election.

City Council Not Satisfied With Municipal System

DISCUSS CITY MANAGER IDEA — PROPOSITION TO HAVE RATEPAYERS DECLARE ON QUESTION OF SMALLER COUNCIL AND BUSINESS MANAGER — PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT WANTS $7,000 MORE THAN APPROPRIATION TO FINISH WORK.

At the City Council session last night considerable discussion, pro and con, took place on a motion requesting the City Solicitor to prepare a Bylaw or other legislation as may be required and submit same to the electors on the city management form of government, with an advisory council, of a mayor and six aldermen. The motion was adopted upon the understanding that a public meeting be held to discuss the proposition. A motion was carried to add $7,000 more to the Public Works appropriation after the chairman, Alderman Hanna stated that it was necessary in order to complete work ordered by the Council. No intimation was given as to where the money was to come from. Other matters of minor importance were disposed of.

The members present were Mayor Riggs, Aldermen Woodley, Ostram, Ponton, Hanna, Bone, Demarsh, Doyle and Wensley.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Reports of committees, communications, etc, were laid on the table and the Council went in committee of the whole on reports, etc., Ald. Wensley in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed as were also the following recommendations.

Recommendations.

That the salary of the Tax Collector be $1,500 per year commencing August 1st, 1920, and that he provide and pay for any help necessary.

That the salary of the Waterworks Manager be $1,500 per year, commencing November 1st, and that his resignation as plumbing inspector be accepted.

That the tender of Thomas Manley & Son be accepted for the construction of a sanitary sewer on East Moira street from North Front street to the G.T.R., subject to the approval of the Provincial Board of Health and the City Engineer.

That the proposition of the C.P.R. and C.N.R. to build two culverts through their tracks 8x5 each about 100 feet west of their bridges be accepted and that the city accept their offer of timber for culvert across Dundas street west.

A recommendation was read from the W.C.T.U. thanking the Council for the use of the City Hall to hold a rummage sale—ordered to be filed.

Power Scarcity

The City Council of Peterboro' asked the Council of Belleville to co-operate in a resolution re petitioning the Dominion Government to have dams built on the Trent River and other streams to conserve the water for electrical power.

Ald. Bone stated he had a motion relative to the matter.

Mr. S. Masson, City Solicitor, wrote the council that in order to have the whistling of railway engineers passing the hospital stopped the council should address a letter to the railways in question.

Closing up Street

Mr. Masson wrote the council that for the closing up of a portion of McDonald avenue the Township of Thurlow would have to be consulted in the matter and a Bylaw passed by that Township and the city.

The committee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

Enquiries

Ald. Demarsh asked the chairman of fire committee if the call firemen were to receive rain coats.

Ald. Ostrom—I think not only eleven ordered for the regular men.

Repealing Bylaw

Ald. Woodley moved, seconded by Ald. Ostrom, that Bylaw 2244 appointing Ernest P. Fredericks, Industrial Commercial Commissioner for this city be repealed. Carried.

Introduction of Bylaw

Ald. Bone introduced a Bylaw to repeal a Bylaw authorizing the construction of granolithic walk on the west side of Ann street from Bridge to Dundas street.

Council went into committee of the whole on Bylaws. Ald. Wensley in the chair. The Bylaw passed its various stages and numbered 2282.

Ald. Woodley introduced a Bylaw to repeal Bylaw no. 2244 appointing E. P. Fredericks Industrial Commissioner of the City of Belleville. The Bylaw was passed and numbered 2283.

Motions

Moved by Ald. Demarsh, seconded by Ald. Woodley that the tender of John Lewis Company for new roof on the gas house of $897 be accepted, being the lowest tender—carried.

Ald. Doyle moved, seconded by Ald. Woodley, that the tender of the St. Charles Company of $868 for the painting of the ambulance and the sleighs of same, being the lowest tender—carried.

Ald. Wensley moved, seconded by Ald. Doyle that the Hydro Electric Power Commission be instructed to place an electric light on the upper and lower bridges so as to light the bridges—carried.

Moved by Ald. Bone, seconded by Ald. Hanna that the city solicitor prepare the necessary Bylaw and other legislation as may be required in order that the electors may vote on the city management form of government with an advisory directorate consisting of six aldermen and a mayor.

Ald. Ostrom did not know why the council desired to make a change in the number of Aldermen to be elected He was in favor of the Public Works, the Gas Works and Water Works Departments being under one head. Mistakes are made in other cities beside Belleville. We are a fair council and the numbers are not too many.

Ald. Bone—Other cities have adopted this form of government and they will not revert back to the old form. His idea was that six councillors and the Mayor would be plenty.

Ald. Demarsh—We want men who can handle the business.

Ald. Ostrom—Let us have an executive head of the various departments who should be the city engineer.

Ald. Wensley said he was not in favor of the motion. He would not vote for a reduction of the number of aldermen until the city is governed by a commission.

Ald. Doyle was in favor of one man being at the head of the work in various departments. The city should be run by a city manager and that man a responsible one.

Ald. Wensley said that he did not at first understand the motion, but that he would now support it.

Ald. Ponton—The motion should be left over for further consideration Let us enlighten ourselves on the matter. He moved an amendment that the motion be laid over until the next meeting of the council. He was in favor of the matter going to the electors for their approval or rejection. For the present ask the city solicitor for his opinion in the matter.

Ald. Hanna was in favor of a public meeting and he understood the Chambers of Commerce intended to call a public meeting to discuss the matter.

The motion was adopted.

Ald. Ponton mover, seconded by Ald Bone that committee composed of the mayor, aldermen Ostrom and Doyle be appointed to enquire into and report to the council the cost and advisability of securing a suitable and up-to-date ambulance for the city.—carried.

WRONG IMPRESSION SAYS ROBERTSON

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Senator Robertson Minister of Labor states positively that the impression that American citizens or foreigners were being allowed to enter Canada from the United States, glutting the Canadian labor market, was incorrect. People returning to Canada from the United States the Minister stated, are, in almost every instance, Canadian citizens who have been deprived of their work in the United States.

LEPER TO BE DEPORTED

Boston, Nov. 2.—A man afflicted with leprosy was taken in an ambulance furnished by the Red Cross to New York, where he will be deported on a ship sailing for his native home in the Azores Islands. The immigration officials encountered much difficulty in securing transportation for the leper, who has been in an isolation ward at the city hospital and finally appealed to the Red Cross. Upon delivering the patient at New York the ambulance will be driven into a large gas chamber and disinfected, making it perfectly safe, officials say, for further use.

The leprosy victim, who has lived in the United States for about four years, agreed to return to his homeland instead of going to Penikez Island, the leper colony in Buzzard's Bay. The expense of his deportation will be borne by the Government and the state will furnish transportation for his wife and child to accompany him.

Canada's Wheat Floods Market

Immense Importations Into U.S. During First Half of October

Washington, Nov. 1.—In response to the request of the President for an inquiry into the situation in the wheat market, the Federal Trade Commission, which is making investigation of the rate of importation of wheat and wheat flour from Canada as one phrase of the matter, makes public a preliminary statement, in connection with its inquiry, containing data which shows the amount of Canadian wheat and wheat flour imported into the United States for the first fifteen days of October, 1920, together with tables showing comparisons of importations for the fifteen-day period, with monthly imports for the previous year.

Largest For Years

The President asked that the investigation be made after he had been urged by Governor Allen of Kansas, to place an embargo on the importation of Canadian wheat.

The commission gives the following data, gathered through custom house sources:

Wheat and flour imports from Canada into the United States during the first fifteen days of October were Wheat, 4,950,683 bushels; flour, 65,946 barrels.

These importations of wheat during the first fifteen days of October were more than three times as large as in any whole months of October during the last seven years. The largest October importations in this period—those for October, 1915—amounted to only 1,754,967 bushels. They are also at a rate considerably greater than the importations in the month of January, 1918, which amounted to 7,339,130. This was the largest monthly importation in the seven years 1913-19.

More Than for Seven Years

In respect to wheat flour, the imports from Canada during the first fifteen days of October, 1920, were considerably more than half those during the entire month of September, 1917, when the quantity imported was greater than in any month during the seven year period to 1920.

Russian Soviet Asks Assurances

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Assurances have been asked of Great Britain by Russian Soviet authorities that she will not countenance military activities of Generals Balakovitch and Petlura, anti-Soviet commanders, who continued hostilities against Bolsheviki after conclusion of peace with Poland. Request came through Gregory Krassin, Soviet representative in London, who yesterday handed a note to the British Government complaining that despite the Polish armistice, forces of the two generals were continuing warfare, the note alleged with the assistance of the allied powers. The note asked that Great Britain make it plain that she would not give her approval to these forces in continuing bloodshed.

BULL FROGS DECLARE WINTER WILL BE MILD

New York, Nov. 2.—It's going to be a mild Winter. The bull frogs say so, according to Peter Zellus of Staten Island.

"The bull frogs in the pond near my home make the night melodious with their croakings and their dulcet notes" Zellus said. "If the Winter were to be severe they would be imbedded in the mud at the latter part of September, and would not croak again until Spring.

Province Was Defrauded Says Timber Commission Report

RECOMMENDS LEGAL ACTION TO RECOVER MONEY ALLEGED TO BE DUE AND SUGGESTS CANCELLATION OF LICENSES ON TWO BERTHS IN QUETICO FOREST RESERVE.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—The Riddell-Latchford Commission in their second interim report on the Crown Lands investigation consider that the Shevlin-Clarke Company, Fort Frances, has defrauded the Province of large sums of money, recommended that proceedings be taken to recover from the company the sums of money unlawfully withheld from the Province and for the cancellation of the license for Berths 45 and 49 in the Quetico Forest Reserve. Also in the opinion of the Commission all such proceedings should be taken by the Attorney-General for the punishment of those "who have committed forgery and perjury as the evidence transmitted herewith may justify."

The report states that the company in the years 1911-19 had an output from their mills of 355,764,303 feet more than appeared in the return to the Government and in their statement of logs purchased from other lumbermen. In other words the output is about two and one quarter times the return to the Government and purchased logs.

With reference to a regulation presented during Sir William Hearst's time that timber limits should be offered for sale by public competition, the report says that Mr. G. Howard Ferguson acted upon the assumption that as department head he had a right to deal with such matters regardless of that regulation.

"On August 30, 1919, without notice to the public and without competition, he caused a license to be issued to the Shevlin-Clarke Company for Berths 45 and 49 in the Quebec Forest Reserve, about 21 square miles in extent, which he swore was a "very fine stand of pine," and which was undoubtedly very valuable timber.

"Mr. Ferguson alleges that this was for the purpose of an experiment; but there is no provision in the statutes or regulations allowing an exception to the clear provisions above set out.

"The issue of this license was a violation of the law of the province."

New Department For Ex-Soldiers

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 2.—Merging of various branches dealing with pensions, soldiers' settlement, soldiers' insurance and other matters of direct interest to the returned men into one department, probably to be known as the Department of Ex-soldiers, is said to be in contemplation at Ottawa. The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, while still spending a lot of money on administration, is gradually going out of business and its activities will shortly be confined to the care of incurables. In the meantime, the pensions, soldiers' settlement and insurance branches are being run pretty well as separate and individual organizations.

Sir James Lougheed, Minister of the Interior is still nominally head of re-establishment. It is now anticipated that a new department will be formed embracing all of the activities connected with the returned men.

Choosing A President In The Land Of Uncle Sam

BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS SUCCEEDS EXCITING CAMPAIGN—SEVEN CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT, BUT INTEREST CENTRES IN PRINCIPAL CONTENDERS, HARDING AND COX, REPRESENTATIVES OF REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC PARTIES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Men and women voters of the United States went to the polls today to select a new President, who will hold office for four years beginning March 4th next. Before tomorrow morning it is probable it will be known whether Harding (Republican), or Cox (Democrat), has been elected to succeed Wilson, for it is generally agreed that barring a miracle, none of the other five candidates has a chance. The choice, it is estimated, will be registered by a record vote of between twenty and thirty million persons, many of whom have been enfranchised since the last presidential election and are voting today for the first time. Second only in interest to the contest for the presidency is the fight between the two major parties for control of the next Congress. Thirty-four Senators are being chosen today—thirty-two to fill seats now held by seventeen Democrats and fifteen Republicans, and two to fill unexpired terms caused by the death of Alabama and Virginia Democratic Senators. An entirely new House of Representatives of 435 members is also to be elected.

CANADIAN GRAPES IN UNITED STATES

St. Catherines, Nov. 2.—That while the demand for Canadian grown grapes is practically unlimited in the United States market, the 200 square miles of grape producing land has only 4,500 acres of vineyards, is among the information anent grape-growing which has been compiled by Niagara District Grape-growers, Limited, a new organization, with headquarters in St. Catherines, which this year handled the bulk of the grape yield from the Niagara grape belt. That belt comprises 200 square miles, bounded by the Niagar River, along Lake Ontario to Hamilton and extending to the Mountain.

Big prices have been obtained this year through the Grapegrowers' Association, running all the way from $85 a ton to $125, and Niagara grapes have been distributed through the United States all the way from Chicago to the Atlantic coast. The association, formed August 7th last, has sold nearly 400 cars of grapes in the United States, and about 100 cars in Canada. In previous years there was difficulty in satisfactorily handling the output, and prices were lower than would have been the case under better organization.

This year's crop was only about 80 per cent. of last year's, when the Niagara grape belt produced about 10,000 tons. That was a record, and with the better cultivation this year the results ought to be very good next year. Grapes are a paying investment. Old grapegrowers contend that grapes are the only fruit which yield better than dollar for dollar for the cost of production, and it is expected the acreage will increase considerably in years to come.

Previously not much attention was paid to the American market by the Niagara growers, but this year nearly 400 cars have gone over the line.

U.F.O. To Build Political Machine

Will Get Around the Bars Put Up by the New Franchise Act

In order to get around the prohibition contained in the new Federal Franchise Act, which make it illegal for campaign contributions to be made to any organizations other than recognized political parties, the United Farmers are planning the organization of a political association distinct from the present U.F.O. The start has been made in East Elgin, where the East Elgin U.F.O. Political Association has been formed and given a charter. The association is organized "for political purposes alone, to promote by political action the principles of the United Farmers of Ontario and to elect to Parliament and the Legislature candidates professing the principles of the United Farmers of Ontario." Local farmers form the first directorate.

The organization of the East Elgin Association is not likely, however, to be followed by similar action in the other rural ridings of the Province. It is expected that a Provincial political activity, but the bringing on of the East Elgin by-election did not leave time for the forming of the Provincial body and a local association was brought into being.

The Prodigal Son In Modern Drama

Biblical Parable Theme of Splendid Stage Presentation in The Wanderer

It is a matter for civic congratulation that Belleville theatre patrons are discriminating in their tastes and appreciate the best offerings of present day theatrical producers. This was proved again Monday evening when a large audience assembled to witness the much talked of production "The Wanderer." Following so closely the production of "The Maid of the Mountains" with its record patronage a small audience might have been anticipated for "The Wanderer" but such was not the case for a large and appreciative gathering saw this now famous play.

With a capable cast, excellent scenery and costumes the story of The Prodigal Son was depicted with all its dramatic appeal and old world attraction.

The old, old story of Bible times repeated so many times in so many families all down the years, loses none of its truth in the telling in "The Wanderer" with its setting in the hills of Judea one thousand years before the coming of the Saviour, the simple home life of the shepherd of Israel with his flocks and herds, contrasted with the glitter, pageantry and vice of Jerusalem in the hey-dey of its power and glory. As the boy on the farm today looks with longing on the bright lights of the city so Jether, becoming dissatisfied with the simple life of the Judean hills, listens to the wonder tales of the stranger from the city and hastens eagerly away to seek adventure, glory and riches, only to fall a victim to the snares of the strange woman and be despoiled of his wealth, his character and even the faith of his fathers. His return, ragged, hungry and disillusionized is in tragic contrast to his gay departure and only a mother's great love saves him from disgrace and death and enables him to atone for his mistakes.

"The Wanderer" is beautifully written and the story was well brought out by a clever cast the principals of which were Frederick Lewis as Jether, the Prodigal Son; Gaal, his elder brother, portrayed by Rich. Thornton; Fred Mosely as Jesse, the father; Helen Singer as Huldah, mother of Jether; Elanor Sandman as Naomi, cousin of Jether; Charles Sine as Tola, the false friend; Charlotte Winters as Tisha, daughter of Nadina and Charlotte Deffry as Nadina who exploited the charms of her daughter for gold.

VETERAN RAILWAYMAN PASSES

Toronto, Nov. 2.—George Emery, who passed away at St. Michael's Hospital at the age of 69 years, was well-known to Toronto railwaymen, having been in the service of the Grand Trunk, the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. for nearly forty years altogether. He came from England forty-five years ago and a few years later joined the office force of the Grand Trunk. He left the Grand Trunk and was connected for some time with the old Huron and Bruce Railway, going then to Fort William to join the C.P.R. BLANCHE SWEET KIDNAPS MAN

Blanche Sweet is appearing at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night in "The Deadlier Sex", the story of which revolves about a modern American girl who kidnaps her money-grabbing business enemy, and takes him to the Maine Woods where the hundred thousand dollars in cash he has in his pockets won't even buy mosquito netting.

Miss Sweet is given excellent support by Mahlon Hamilton as the man who wanted nothing that money would buy; Winter Hall as her Father; Russell Simpson as the Mountain Guide; Roy Laidlaw as her right hand man of affairs, and Boris Karloff as the French Canadian trapper. Bayard Veiller, author of "The Thirteenth Chair" and "Within the Law" is the author of "The Deadlier Sex", which has been given the capable direction of Robert Thornby, who directed Miss Sweet's earlier success "Fighting Cressy". An interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, a funny 2-reel Christie Comedy, and Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" are also announced for presentation.

DISCUSSES THE STAGE

In the course of an interview, Mr. H. V. Esmond, the distinguished English playwright and actor, who will appear at Griffin's next Monday night, November 8th, with his no less famous wife, Miss Eva Moore, in one of his own comedies, "The Law Divine" discussed the insistent demand for clean drama on the speaking stage. "There can be no doubt", said Mr. Esmond, that the time is ripe for the presentation on the English speaking stage, not only in Great Britain, but also in Canada and whereever the English language is spoken, of drama that breathes a wholesome atmosphere, inculcates a kindly spirit and leaves behind none but the most pleasant memories.

"This is an insistent and ever-growing demand. The failure in London of the other sort of play and the continued success of the type of dramatic entertainment I have just described, is the best possible proof of this. The world is tired of cruelty, of blood, of sadness, of brutality. The war has sickened not only whole cities but whole nations, of all that is bestial, unclean, unkind, uncouth, ugly and repulsive. They want to be carried back, if only for a night, into a world of brightness, of gaiety, of human living, kindly thought, love and loveliness. They are eager for this. Any other sort of drama, save it has a very insistent and immediate purpose, is doomed, in my opinion, to failure.

GARMENT WORKERS' BLEAK OUTLOOK

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Upward of 20,000 garment workers in Montreal face the prospect of being out of work this winter, unless they agree to accept a reduction of 20 per cent. in wages. If they refuse this reduction all the factories in Montreal will be closed by November 5th, according to Mr. Morris of the Hub Clothing Company, Craig street west.

Mr. Morris was not prepared to say that there would be a very material reduction in the retail selling price of clothes in the immediate future. In his opinion suits and overcoats will never again be purchased at pre-war prices. A reduction of 20 or 25 per cent. is the most that will be made.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Hiding in the jungle after killing his captain in a fit of brooding madness, Lieut. Albert Werper, Belgian officer, is captured by Achmet Zek, Arab slave raider, who spares his life and proposes to him a scheme to kidnap Jane, wife of Tarzan (Lord Greystoke) and sell her into slavery. Werper accepts.

CHAPTER II.—Posing as Jules Frecoult, French traveler, Werper is hospitably received by the Greystokes. He learns his host is in financial straits and plans an expedition to the treasure vaults of Opar to procure gold. Werper informs Achmet Zek of the opportunity to seize Lady Greystoke, and follows Tarzan to learn the secret of Opar.

The finality in his tone seemed to assure Lady Greystoke that further argument was futile, and so she abandoned the subject.

Werper remained, listening, for a short time, and then, confident that he had overheard all that was necessary, and fearing discovery, returned to the veranda, where he smoked numerous cigarettes in rapid succession before retiring.

The following morning Werper announced his intention of making an early departure, and asked Tarzan's permission to hunt big game in the Waziri country on his way out—permission which Lord Greystoke readily granted.

The Belgian consumed two days in completing his preparations, but finally got away with his safari, accompanied by a single Waziri guide whom Lord Greystoke had loaned him. The party made but a single short march when Werper simulated illness, and announced his intention of remaining where he was until he had fully recovered. As they had gone but a short distance from the Greystoke bungalow, Werper dismissed the Waziri guide, telling the warrior that he would send for him when he was able to proceed. The Waziri gone, the Belgian summoned one of Achmet Zek's trusted blacks to his tent, and dispatched him to watch for the departure of Tarzan, returning immediately to advise Werper of the event and the direction taken by the Englishman.

The Belgian did not have long to wait, for the following day his emissary returned with word that Tarzan and a party of fifty Waziri warriors had set out toward the southeast early in the morning.

Werper called his head man to him, after writing a long letter to Achmet Zek. This letter he handed to the head man.

"Send a runner at once to Achmet Zek with this," he instructed the head man. "Remain here in camp awaiting further instructions from him or from me. If any come from the bungalow of the Englishman, tell them that I am very ill within my tent and can see no one. Now, give me six porters and six askaris—the strongest and bravest of the safari—and I will march after the Englishman and discover where his gold is hidden."

And so it was that as Tarzan, stripped to the loin cloth and armed after the primitive fashion he best loved, led his loyal Waziri toward the dead city of Opar, Werper, the renegade, haunted his trail through the long, hot days, and camped close behind him by night.

And as they marched, Achmet Zek rode with his entire following southward toward the Greystoke farm.

To Tarzan of the Apes the expedition was in the nature of a holiday outing. His civilization was at best but an outward veneer which he gladly peeled off with his uncomfortable European clothes whenever any reasonable pretext presented itself. It was a woman's love which kept Tarzan even to the semblance of civilization—a condition for which familiarity had bred contempt. He hated the shams and the hypocrisies of it and with the clear vision of an unspoiled mind he had penetrated to the rotten core of the heart of the thing—the cowardly greed for peace and ease and the safeguarding of property rights.

And so Tarzan always came back to nature in the spirit of a lover keeping a long-deferred tryst after a period behind prison walls. His Waziri, at marrow, were more civilized than he. They cooked their meat before they ate it and they shunned many articles of food as unclean that Tarzan had eaten with gusto all his life, and so insidious is the virus of hypocrisy that even the stalwart ape-man hesitated to give rein to his natural longings before them. He ate burnt flesh when he would have preferred it raw and unspoiled, and he brought down game with arrow or spear when he would far rather have leaped upon it from ambush and sunk his strong teeth in its jugular; but at last the call of the milk of the savage mother that had suckled him in infancy rose to an insistent demand—he craved the hot blood of a fresh kill and his muscles yearned to pit themselves against the savage jungle in the battle for existence that had been his sole birthright for the first twenty years of his life.

Moved by these vague yet all-powerful urgings the ape-man lay awake one night in the little thorn boma that protected, in a way, his party from the depredations of the great carnivora of the jungle. A single warrior stood sleepy guard beside the fire that yellow eyes out of the darkness beyond the camp made imperative. The moans and the coughing of the big cats mingled with the myriad noises of the lesser denizens of the jungle to fan the savage flame in the breast of this savage English lord. He tossed upon his bed of grasses, sleepless, for an hour and then he rose, noiseless as a wraith and while the Waziri's back was turned, vaulted the boma wall in the face of the flaming eyes, swung silently into a great tree and was gone.

For a time in sheer exuberance of animal spirit he raced swiftly through the middle terrace, swinging perilously across wide spans from one jungle giant to the next, and then he clambered upward to the swaying, lesser boughs of the upper terrace where the moon shone full upon him and the air was stirred by little breezes and death lurked ready in each frail branch. Here he paused and raised his face to Goro, the moon. With uplifted arm he stood, the cry of the bull ape quivering upon his lips, yet he remained silent lest he arouse his faithful Waziri, who were all too familiar with the hideous challenge of their master.

"The mighty hath fallen." The Young Merchants, who had been riding rough-shod over every other team to date, met their Waterloo on Monday night when the G. T. R. Shops, who up to date had not won a game, bumped them good and hard.

In the first game the Young Merchants had a margin of five, and from then on they were never in the running. In the second game the shops had 61 points ahead, leaving them a margin of 56, and in the final game, while the Merchants struggled valiantly and put up a good score of 700, the Shops went right on and piled up 774 just to show that it was their night. Gerow, of the Shops team, was high man, with 514, although Woolley ran up close with 511. Woolley's 238 had the high single score. The game tonight will be between the Curlers and G. T. R. Yard.

,000 MEN WANTED FOR OUTDOOR WORK

"We could place three thousand men immediately if the unemployed were willing to go to jobs in the lumbermen's bush or to the mining camps or farms," said Rev. J. A. Miller, Superintendent of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau. "Only this afternoon one lumber firm alone sent the bureau a request for150 men.

"As to the employment of women and girls, there is not much call at present for factory helpers or ordinary clerical workers. But there is a big demand for domestic workers, and any woman who can turn to that branch of industry will not be idle. There are plenty of fine homes awaiting good housekeepers, maids cooks, and the like.

Household Help Scarce.

Figures showed that the Government Employment Bureau in the past week had found but 47 household workers in response to current demands for 149 women or girls. In the week previous the bureau placed 74 women in permanent domestic occupations. The scarcity of women applying for household positions continues. In casual work the bureau succeeded last week in filling 293 out of 325 current vacancies.

Buyers form first impressions on sight—and first impressions last.

Careful packing is convincing evidence of care in manufacturing.

A well-designed, substantial container proclaims the manufacturer's appraisal of the articles or goods enclosed.

Further—it bespeaks service—the manufacturer's intent that the goods will reach the consumer clean, fresh, unsoiled and sanitary.

An attractive container advertises its contents to the buyer at the time of purchase—when advertising gets quickest results.

Well-designed, attractive containers have helped the sale of many of the most popular articles on the market.

Rudd wax containers are waterproof and practically water-tight and air-tight. Perishable products such as ice-cream, lard, butter, cakes, etc., will keep fresh in this style of container for an unusual length of time.

The experience we have had in designing paper boxes and cartons for so many varied lines will be of assistance to you in designing the most suitable container for your goods.

Suggestions and samples will be sent you on request.

WESTERNERS COTTON TO THE MEIGHEN BRAND.

Premier Meighen's trip through the west has failed to develop the storms prophesied and he has received ovations and attentive hearings everywhere. The Premier has but one message for all Canada—the building up of a greater nation. He scorns the forked tongue of a certain school of politics which has a different message for different sections of the country, and speaks his mind plain and forceful, telling the truth as he sees it regardless of consequences, and his very truthfulness wins him friends even in the ranks of his political enemies.

CHURCH NO LONGER SUPPORTED ON STOMACHS OF CONGREGATION.

The busy "bees" and strawberry festivals which yesterday furnished funds for the church and parsonage have today given way to saner and more ethical methods for the support of church work and the propagation of the gospel. Though it is no doubt true, says The Christian Century (Disciples), that we read the Bible less than did our fathers and mothers, are less faithful in attendance and in other ways apparently less loyal to the church as an institution, yet in the matter of giving, "twentieth-century church members seem to be far nearer the New Testament ideal than were even the recognized saints of an earlier day." Church expenses in the early time were low, and often they were grudgingly met. For instance:

"In one pioneer church it was customary for the elders to take turns in preaching and the deacons in serving as janitor. A 'bee' supplied the necessary fuel, and the only item requiring cash was the communion wine. The most prosperous member, a bachelor, was asked to contribute fifty cents a year for this purpose. He was highly indignant. 'I haven't got any family,' he protested, 'and I don't go to meetin' regular. It's not fair to tax me as much as they do a man with a wife and children, all members, and all partakin' frequent!' No doubt this was an extreme case, but it shows the spirit of the time.

"The favorite financial method of our grandparents was that of the donation party, which might not have been a bad one, save as those who brought sausage and potatoes to the parsonage usually remained to consume their own contributions, leaving the preacher and his family to a disarranged house and an empty larder.

"Next came the era of the strawberry festival, a method avowedly directed to two of man's primitive instincts—his desire for food and drink and his mania for taking chances. The method developed some unique types, or rather, perhaps, brought these types into prominence in church life. There was the overmastering female whose pre-eminence was due to her ability to sell people tickets over their protests. Her appearance on the main street of the town was an announcement that a church show of some sort was projected, and was further taken by business men as a warning signal, bidding them retire to their private offices. There was the jolly fellow about town, who seldom entered a church on other occasions, but whose social qualities made him invaluable as an auctioneer and general promoter at all entertainments. There was the pretty girl whose complexion and smile elected her to sell 'chances' on the near-silver fruit-basket, and who jarred even the doubtful ethics of a church festival by advising her best young man to guess 'round about' the winning number. There was the grumbling husband, always in evidence the next day after an entertainment to declare that his wife wasn't allowed to work like that at home, and, by jiminy, he'd never again stand for her half-killing herself at one of those confounded church suppers!

"That day has passed. Now, on a given date, well-instructed Christian men and women call upon the members of the church and ask them to make pledges, as the Lord has prospered them, for the work of the kingdom the wide world over. Thus far, at least, we are more scriptural those who went before us. We have come a long, long way from the donation party and the strawberry festival."

CRISP COMMENT

Billy Bryan could not run the presidential campaign on a dry platform, so he dried up and refused to speak from any platform with the least suspicion of moisture in it, alcoholic or otherwise. Uncle Sam should hand Bryan a vote of thanks for his silence strike.

One snow storm last winter cost the city of New York sixty million dollars in loss of business, while five and a half million dollars were spent trying to restore traffic, with indifferent results. Few cities are prepared to cope adequately with even normal winter conditions. Modern snow plows should be always in readiness and the streets and walks in the main arteries of traffic kept open night and day, not waiting until the snow is packed down and hard to remove. Trying to keep the traffic thoroughfares open with shovels is about like trying to bale out the ocean with teaspoons.

For some time Hamilton has been the only city in Canada where a daily paper could be bought for a cent. Everywhere else in the country the newspapers found it necessary to increase their prices to meet the increased cost of production. But the Hamilton papers, for reasons, probably, arising out of local conditions, continued to maintain the old prices. And now even the Hamilton papers have given up the impossible task of attempting to carry on business by selling below the cost of production, and have raised their prices. It had to come.

PLAIN DEALING

.. .. Hamilton Times (Lib.). .. .. made the public announcement that before the next election the Government would present the tariff as drawn up by it, so that the electors would be in a position to vote for or against the Government with a full knowledge of its trade policy. This may not be a good party move, but it will enable the electors to give an intelligent vote on the question.

FRANCHISES OF WOMEN

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Women have at last been admitted to full membership in Oxford University, the oldest seat of learning in the British Isles and one of the oldest universities of Europe. About 150 woman undergraduates have matriculated, and in all about 550 women students are in attendance during the present Michaelmas term. The long fight of women in England for educational privileges equal to those of men may now be considered won, for Oxford was regarded as the key to the opposition.

POETS' CORNER

WHO IS HE

A little fellow came sailing to me
On an Ether wave, from over the sea,
He was born in a place called "No Man's Land".
From thence he travelled with all his clan;
No one heralded his approach,
As he flew through the air to meet all the folk.

He arrived so suddenly, no one knew
Till he came to my home for a week or two;
Since he has left me, I ne'er cease to wonder,
If ever that little one takes time to slumber;
He has travelled for over two years, and yet,
The people he visits he keeps in a fret;

For popularity and for fame,
He has certainly made the world look tame;
Everyone knows him, everyone fears
He will pay them a visit quite unawares;
You can't guess his name?
It is "F-L-U"
He paid me a visit
He may visit you—Watch Out!

WHEN THE FROST IS ON THE PUNKIN

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock,
And you hear the kyouck and gobble of the struttin' turkey cock,
And the clackin' of the guineys, and the clocking of the hens,
And the rooster's hallelooyer as he tiptoes on the fence,
Oh' it's then's the time a feller is a feelin' at his best,
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of gracious rest,
As he leaves the house bareheaded and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

There's sompin kind o' hearty-like about the atmosphere
When the heat of summer's over and coolin' fall is here,
Of course we miss the flowers, and the blossoms on the trees,
And the mumble of the hummin'-birds and the buzzin' of the bees;
But the air's so appetizin', and the landscape through the haze
Of a crisp and sunny morning of the early autumn days
Is a picture that no painter has the colorin' to mock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty rustle of the tassels of the corn,
And the raspin' of the tangled leaves as golden as the morn;
The stubble in the furies—kind of lonesome like, but still
A preachin' sermons to us of the barns they growed to fill;
The straw-rack in the medder, and the reaper in the shed,
The hosses in their stalls below, the clover over-head—
Oh, it sets my heart a clickin' like the tickin' of a clock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

THE BOY AND HIS LIFE WORK

I have just been reading an account of the very fine Vocational Conference or 'Find Yourself Campaign" that was put on for the boys of Belleville, Ontario, under the direction of Mr. Buchanan, the Boys' Work Secretary at the Y.M.C.A. About seventy boys in age from thirteen to twenty took part in the Campaign.

Those attending were High School boys and Albert College students. The chief speakers were Rev. Manson Doyle, of Toronto, who spoke on "The Fundamental Motives in the Choice of Life Work," Prof. W. T. Brown, of Victoria University, Toronto, whose address "Does Education Pay?" was very instructive and Mr. Taylor Statten who led in the self-analysis.

Prof. Brown in his address on education and the professions said that if the boy did not love books, meeting other minds, the professions were not his field. Dr. Brown presented the claims of the teaching profession, showing the great opportunity to assist in moulding the ideas of the children of the foreigners in Canada, bringing them to our view of life and making them real Canadians. This means sacrifice on the part of strong vigorous men going as teachers to impress upon the children the ideals of Christian and Canadian manhood.

Mr. Statten talked alike to the boy of thirteen to twenty in terms of baseball, with its training, its team play, its sacrifice hits and the scoring. The only way to live is the Jesus way. Christ came to minister, not to be ministered unto. He profits most who serves most. The conference then went into the work of self analysis and the use of the blanks was a revelation to many boys as to their own tmeperament and the various opportunities open to them.

EXHIBITION OF RANCH BRED SILVER FOXES

An unique exhibition under the immediate management of the Commission of Conservation of Canada, will be held in Montreal on November 24th 25th and 26th. It will be the first international exhibition of ranch-bred live silver foxes. Fur-farming is rapidly becoming a scientific branch of animal husbandry and, although little more than a decade old, is one of Canada's most flourishing infant industries.

While the greater number of Canadian fox ranchers are to be found in the Maritime Provinces and chiefly in Prince Edward Island, there are many in each of the other provinces and the number is steadily increasing. The interest evinced in Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada generally demonstrates that many Canadians are desirous of embarking in the fur-farming of mink, beaver, fisher, marten and other furbearers.

Present advices indicate that fully 150 animals will be brought from Prince Edward Island alone. It is confidently expected that other provinces will send an equally large number in proportion to the number of their fur-farmers and many enquiries have been received from the United States. The Secretary of the exhibition is Mr. F. C. Nunnick, Commission of Conservation, Ottawa.

A healthy growth of the industry should do much to check the rapid depletion of wild fur-bearing animals and to steady unstable conditions in the large fur markets. It is confidently expected that the exhibition at Montreal will result in the formation of a Fur Breeders' Association of Canada which can do much to establish and keep accurate breeding records of Pedigreed fox stock and, in general, advance the interests of the industry.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

COAT TAKEN FROM CAR

Miss Cowan residing at Compton reported to the police that a rain coat belonging to her was last night taken from an auto which was parked on Bridge street.

AUTO COLLIDES WITH ROLLER

At 12.30 this morning an accident occurred on Pinnacle street near the Market Square resulting in Mr. Alex. McDonald of Picton being seriously injured. At the hour named Edwin Alger, of Picton was driving a car in which Alex. McDonald, Robert Dunlop and Samuel Burns were riding, the two latter in the rear seat whilst McDonald was in the front seat with Alger. Owing to rain falling the driver did not observe the small steam roller used by the Standard Paving Company in connection with the laying of the pavement on Pinnacle street and collided with the roller. The impact caused McDonald to plunge forward and he came in contact with the broken glass from the windshield of the car and was cut about the face and hands severely. His left ear was nearly severed. The accident occurred in front of the police station and McDonald was taken into the station where Police Officer White rendered first aid. Drs. Yeomans, Robertson and Cronk were called and all responded. After McDonald had had his wounds temporarily dressed he was taken to the hospital and at latest reports was doing as well as could be expected. The first aid rendered by policeman White was most favorably commented upon by the physicians as the unfortunate man might have bled to death owing to the nature of the wounds he sustained. The auto was badly wrecked. None of the other occupants of the car were injured.

Jules Brazil Entertains Rotary

Jolly Time at Noon Day Luncheon of Belleville Rotary Club.

Rotary has its serious moments, also its moments of gaiety and relaxation, but Monday's meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club enjoyed a judicious mixture of grave and gay, community service and fellowship, when joy was unconfined. Jules Brazil, the popular Toronto entertainer, himself an enthusiastic Rotarian, produced the gaiety and his humor was so infectious that everyone present soon became charged with the spirit of good fellowship and the session was a most enjoyable one.

Under the head of business the question of the Navy League campaign was taken up in such a practical way that nearly two hundred and thirty-six dollars was subscribed at the table.

Rotarian Billy Deacon was in the chair, and in addition to his duties as gavel-weilder, rendered that touching ballad, "K-K-K-Katie, Beautiful Katie" in true Rotarian style. Rotarian George Appell conducted the proceedings in the after part and certainly knows how to put things across and keep the Rotary wheel moving.

Sergeant-at-Arms Oswald Scott collected a few fines for misdemeanors and contributed materially to the gaiety of the occasion. Dr. McCreary of Montreal, brother of Rotarian Bill, was present as a guest and contributed a few words to the program. A number of new members were introduced and instructed in the mysteries of the Rotary Wheel.

Jules Brazil took charge of the entertainment part of the program and kept things humming and hilarious for many merry moments, introducing the "New National Anthem" and many other rapid-fire hits which were thoroughly enjoyed. A feature jollification of Jules was the medley of old songs in which all joined and which included such old-time favorites as "Maggie Murphy's Home," "Annie Rooney," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Just a Song at Twilight," "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," and others.

Sandy MacGregor contributed Scotch songs and sayings to the program in a manner which won instant appreciation.

Rotary is a live wire and Rotarian Jules Brazil is an electric current of jolliety which dispels the clouds of gloom occasioned by business and other troublesome problems.

WHERE ARE THE GUNS
THAT BOMBED PARIS?

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Where are the long-range German guns which startled the world one day in 1918 by dropping shells into Paris from a distance of 75 miles? This is a question which the Inter-allied Commission for the disarmament of Germany would like to have answered. Not a trace of these long tubes or of the drawings for their construction is reported to have been found. The guns and everything connected with them have disappeared as mysteriously as they appeared. It is believed they were blown up, but the blue-prints and plans have been hidden where none will find them.

QUEEN'S STUDENTS
UNDER ARREST

Kingston, Nov. 2.—About three hundred students of Queen's staged a rush Saturday evening, the result being that three of the students were arrested. The students came down the street early in the evening and went through the different theatres unmolested. On arriving at the Grand Opera House, where "The Maid of the Mountains" was playing, they were refused admittance, and proceeded to make a mild demonstration. Some of the students went to the rear of the theatre and it is alleged attempted to make an entrance. The police arrived upon the scene and three of the offenders were arrested and taken to the police station.

MOVIES MAY BE SHOWN IN ST. PAUL'S, LONDON

London, Nov. 2—Church of England officials are seriously discussing the propriety of allowing St. Paul's Cathedral, next to Westminster Abbey, the most famous church in the British Empire, to be used as a motion picture theatre.

The more advanced church officials proferred the suggestion. "The Life of St. Agnes" was suggested as the first film.

So far no decision has been reached but it is thought that the cathedral will be used as a picture theatre without a spirited fight between the dignitaries of the church.

DEATH OF HUSBAND
OF MRS. TOM THUMB

Middleborio, Mass., Nov. 2.—Count Primo Magri, second husband of Mrs. Tom Thumb and himself a famous dwarf, died at a hospital here after an illness of two weeks. He was 71 years of age.

Two weeks ago Count Magri, who was 37 inches tall and weighed 55 pounds, held an auction sale of the late Tom Thumb's effects and those of his wife and with the proceeds planned to return to Italy the country of his birth.

PHILLIPS—BROOK

On Saturday last there took place at Moodie Cottage, that interesting as well as solemn event uniting together two of Belleville's favorite young people, when Mr. E. L. Phillips, Customs Officer and Miss Doris Mary Brook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas Brook of Victoria Avenue, were united in holy wedlock. Miss Marie Brook assisted the bride and Mr. Robert Brook was best man.

The dignified and touching service of the Church of England was conducted by Rev. A. L. Geen, P.D.

The happy couple took the evening train for the East. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will reside in Belleville. Their many friends wish for them a long and happy life.

Planing Mill Burned At Whitby

Spontaneous Combustion in Sawdust Believed Cause of Fire

WHITBY, Nov. 1.—The Whitby planing mill owned by the Whitby Brick Company, was gutted by fire Saturday night and the entire building is a mere mass of ruins and twisted machinery. While the origin of the fire is unknown, it is thought to have been through spontaneous combustion in a heap of fine sawdust. Before the fire brigade could reach the scene after being summoned the flames had got beyond control, and all that could be done was to prevent them from spreading to nearby residences, the roofs of which were at times ignited by burning embers. It was a very spectacular fire and was so hot that heavy machinery was melted and twisted out of shape. Only a few piles of lumber and shingles at a distance from the mill were saved. The loss will be probably $25,000, with no insurance. R. G. Oke who operated the business for many years, sold it only last Spring. It is the only planing mill in town.

RED EXECUTIONER IS BEAUTIFUL GIRL

French refugees repatriated from Russia tell of the prison of Butriki in Moscow, which they call the "Bastile of Russia." It contains 3,000 political prisoners, who are held in revolting promiscuity with common criminals. Among them are former Cabinet Ministers, priests, officers, nobles, bourgeois and workmen, guilty of offences against the Bolshevik regime. Lots are drawn from time to time and the unlucky ones executed without any form of trial. The executioner is a beautiful and fanatical Lettish girl, 15 years old, who is assisted by "two monsters with the muzzles of beasts." She kills her victims with a revolver shot.

It is reported that one of the most important newspaper deals in recent years is practically consummated. According to the report Sir Clifford Sifton, who owns the Winnipeg Free Press and interests associated with him have acquired from Mr. W. F. Herman the Saskatoon Star and the Saskatoon Phoenix. Mr. Herman, who over a year ago, estalished the Border Cities Star in Windsor, Ont., and has recently estalished there the Border Cities Sun as a morning paper, has, it is reported, acquired options on newspaper properties in Hamilton and Toronto. If the present deal goes through, Mr. Herman will hereafter concentrate his activities in Ontario. Until recently he was the owner of the Regina Post but a few weeks ago disposed of his interest in that paper, acquiring at the same time the Saskatoon Phoenix. He has been for many years proprietor and publisher of the Saskatoon Star.

American Crooks And Thugs Being Dumped In Canada

MONTREAL SEEMS REFUGE FOR DENIZENS OF U. S. UNDERWORLD—THE POLICE EVIDENTLY NOT SUFFICIENTLY STRONG TO COPE WITH SITUATION—CROOKS OUTWIT IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—With the assurance from the heads of the Montreal Police and Dectective bureaus, that the city harbors a greater number of American bad men than at any other period in the police history, the citizens are beginning to ask why this state of affairs should exist.

The recent murder of 70 years old Mr. Hoerner, at his post as night clerk in an uptown drug store, last Tuesday morning, the near murder of John J. Carey, on Cadieux street, the hold-up and knock out of Mr. Robideau at the St. Antoine market and the gun pulling on a Chinese restaurant keeper named Wong Wing, are attributed to American crooks, who managed to evade the immigration authorities somehow or other.

Chief Lepage Talks

Chief Lepage, when questioned regarding the presence here of undesirables from across the border, declared that in most instances the men are fugitives from United States justice. They do not take the beaten tracks to get here, and as a result the immigration officers lose them. The officers are not to blame as clever crooks lay plans to outwit them. Hundreds of suspects are turned back at the borders and handed over to the American authorities. Others seeing the failure of their plan, take to the woods or cross in row boats.

To a man, they are fleeing from the police of American cities. They have records, and they are escaping from recent activities, with the vigilance of the American authorities, driving them further and further back. Canada seems a refuge, and cosmopolitan Montreal a safe place.

Citizens are asking is it a safe place for criminals and if so why is the "picking" so good here? There are fifty-five detectives in the city and an equal number of plain clothes men to shadow suspects. The trains are watched closely and confidence men are sent back by the next train when spotted. Thugs who stop at nothing get in somehow and Montreal as a result is littered with gun men crooks and thieves. The policeheads do not hesitate to say that the gun play of the past two months, s the work of Americans, with police records.

THE WIDOW'S MITE

A LIVING TRUTH

It has been found necessary to extend the Navy League campaign for a day or two to give more time to the small band of energetic canvassers who for their numbers have been doing wonders.

Over fifteen hundred dollars was reported Monday night with a good deal of ground to cover yet and few to cover it. The canvassers for Ketcheson Ward fell down completely—never showed up and have not since been heard from. Determined that at least the surface of this ward would be scratched, Mr. Burton F. Jennings and Chaplain Boal started out yesterday afternoon and were met like long lost relatives by friends of the sailors who had waited long for someone to call for their subscriptions.

KETCHESON MYSTERY.

Today they continued their quest, assisted by J. Wilfrid Davison, and again demonstrated the truism that one volunteer is worth a dozen pressed men. The accident to the original Ketcheson ward team and their mysterious disappearance before the battle began rather threw a monkey wrench into the machinery as this ward was expected to furnish at least half of the objective. However, as Chaplain Boal would say, "Carry on, anyway."

A LIVING TRUTH.

There has been faithful and praiseworthy work done during the campaign by the workers, and strange and most interesting experiences have been theirs. They have found that the parable of the widow's mite is not a parable, but a living truth, as many who really could not afford to give gave all that they had to spare and went without something needed in order that they might help the sailor and also assist Canada to take a respectable place on the seas.

THE WIDOW'S MITE.

One woman gave two dollars, which was received with reluctance, as it was known that she was in need of warmer clothes for winter and more good nourishing food. She insisted, however, in doing her bit for the sailors.

EVERY INCH A CHRISTIAN.

A man with a weekly income of less than fifteen dollars sent in ten dollars, and those familiar with the circumstances took off their hats in homage to a man who is a man from his shoe straps up and will live poor and die rich because he does what his hands find to do and trusts the Lord to pull him through. Such faith as his can not be disappointed.

FIFTY-FIFTY.

One household where sickness had laid a heavy hand contributed twenty cents—ten for the wife and ten for the husband. They were not canvassed, but desired to be represented in the Sailors' fund.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED.

Volunteer subscriptions are now called for and a volunteer dollar is worth two of the kind that is coaxed.

Every bank will receive subscriptions for the Navy League.

Dig down, now, for the final effort, even if it is only five cents; be represented.

GET A HUSTLE ON!

There are a number of hundred dollar, fifty, twenty-five and such-like subscriptions delayed in transit. Get them in to the banks without delay.

Excuses won't go. Just as good and careful men as you have investigated every phase of the Navy League work, and have come across with generous subscriptions. Where's yours? They are wondering down at headquarters if you are dead, sick or sorry. Get busy! Don't let them half-mast the flag for you yet!

Good old Belleville will go over the top yet.

Say Standard Reliance Probe Pays For Itself

Delay in Receiving 7,500 Claims and Securities Held Settlement Business Back

Toronto, Nov. 3—A concern like the Standard Reliance, which has property in million dollar parcels, like the Yonge street Arcade, cannot be liquidated over night and the assets distributed among the creditors in the morning. Purchasers for million-dollar properties are not to be found on every street corner waiting to have bargains forced on them.

Such, in effect, is the liquidator's reminder to creditors who are unduly impatient. He never, he says, refuses information to any creditor. Whereas under the ordinary court procedure the liquidation might take ten years, he hopes it will be possible to accomplish the winding up of a concern in a much shorter time. And, whereas, under the ordinary route of liquidation the cost might have been three-quarters of a million, it is hoped that the cost will not be a tithe of that.

Directors of Assets

A year ago last August the Standard Reliance assets was formed to take over the assets of the Standard Reliance. The meeting of creditors at which the decision to form this company was reached, authorized the official referee and the liquidator to appoint directors. This they did after consultation with representatives of the principal bodies of creditors, and in most cases pursuant to resolutions passed by these bodies. The directors were as follows: G. T. Clarkson, president; J. A. Walker, K.C., Chatham, vice-president; A. S. Maynard, Chatham; T. W. Ralph, North Augusta; T. Hall, Ayr; and S. C. Meyers, Elmira.

Issue of Shares

Share certificates in the new company are being distributed this week. That they have not been issued before is due to the fact that there was delay in receiving the 5,500 claims and securities, adjusting the claims, passing them before the court, completing the records, and writing and issuing the certificates. Some 6,000 of these are going out to creditors.

Several parcels of down town real estate have been sold, but not the most important. The Arcade property still hangs fire. All offers received have been dealt with.

Will Pay for Itself

The investigation as to the past history of the Standard Reliance has been largely but not fully completed. What its cost will be cannot be estimated until it has been completed, and it will then be passed by the court. It will be completed, the liquidator assured the creditors, as and when it is in the interests of the company to do so.

The advantages of the investigation in the way of securing further assets, have been, the liquidator says, considerable.

"Yes," he said, "the advantages received up to this point have been very substantial. Outside the necessity of making such an investigation in any event, it will pay for itself many times over."

British Columbia Wants Sole Right To Import Booze

Couldn't Have Government Control Without It, Says Premier

Vancouver, B.C., Nov.3.—British Columbia may after all join the bone-dry column so far as liquor imports are concerned. Premier Oliver announced today that the first move in giving effect to a system of Government sale would be for the Government to control all the sources of supply. He therefore, proposed to ask the Federal Government to give the Provincial authorities the sole right of importing liquor into British Columbia. In no other way did he believe that the bootlegger could be suppressed.

NO MORE OPERATIONS FOR APPENDICITIS

Treatment of appendicitis by antigangrenous serum instead of by operation has been tested with such satisfactory results that it is likely operations will be abandoned for the disease. Prof. Pierre Delbert said in a paper read before the Congress of Surgery at Paris. According to Pro. Delbert the tests have extended over a period of thirteen years.

Fatality Follows Hollowe'en Party

Woman Killed, Several Hurt, Returning From Hallowe'en Party

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Elmer S. Lambert, of this city, was instantly killed and several were injured this morning when a hydro-electric freight engine hit a motor truck in which they were riding. The fatality occurred at a detour at Lundy's lane. The party of seventeen people had been at a Hallowe'en party at Fonthill and were returning home about 3. The driver did not see the engine.

Gertrude and Grace Lambert, daughters of Mrs. Lambert; Lodaz and Violet Cushman, Grace Harris, Mrs. Scott; Florence Wedge and Mrs. Noble Thompson, all of this city, were taken to the hospital suffering from severe scalp wounds and cuts.

Grain Alcohol Was Real Motor Power

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"Professor" P. John Chasler, of Brooklyn was arrested on a charge of grand larceny in connection with a "discovery" designed to revolutionize the motor fuel industry by mixing cornstalks, cane sugar and yeast as a substitute for gasoline.

A test of the substitute is alleged to have been approved at Ramsey, N.J., by chemical experts of West Point Military Academy. Assistant District Attorney Lazarus said the real secret of the test was two barrels of grain alcohol hidden behind a wall and connected by a pipe to a tank containing the substitute.

Chasler's arrest followed an investigation by the District Attorney's office of a complaint of a delegation representing 200 persons of the East Side who claimed to have invested in the stock of the Fermo Gas Company, said to have been formed by Chasler for the manufacture of the substitute motor fuel.

N.B. Rum Runners Growing Bolder

St. John, N.B., Nov. 3.—That a well organized band of rum-runners employed by a Bangor syndicate is defying bullets, customs officers and enforcement officials, by systematically running liquor into Maine and New Brunswick, is the allegation of United States inspectors located on the line between that State and Charlotte county. They maintain that many attempts, some successful, are being made in the night time to smuggle in liquor at points located all along the hundreds of miles of border from Eastport to the Quebec boundary.

Another clash between rum-runners and the officers, the third of the kind in which shots were fired, has occurred at Baring, a little St. Croix River town, south of Milltown, in Charlotte county. Two suspicious cars were intercepted by John Goode, of Baring, United States Customs Inspector, after the automobile had crossed the bridge from New Brunswick into Baring. He seized a Studebaker car and contents, consisting of 207 bottles of whiskey. James Searway, of Milford, the driver, told the inspector that he was not the regular driver of the car, but that he had been engaged to drive for another man. He said he was not aware of the liquor found in the packages in the car.

Leaving Searway, the car and liquor in charge of Inspector Horgan, of the Enforcement Department, Mr. Goode gave chase to the second car. A fusilade of bullets failed to hold up the second man and after an exciting chase at a mile a minute speed, he made his escape with the car and contents.

While Goode was on this chase, Horgan, maintaining that the seizure belonged to his department, started with the seized car and liquor to Bangor. When Mr. Goode returned, he with H. Gillis and H. Smith, customs inspectors, gave chase to Horgan and overtaking him, re-seized the car and liquor and took them to Calais. The Studebaker is said to belong to a Bangor liquor syndicate.

Last month three cars with liquor went from New Brunswick to Maine by the Baring route. Several shots were fired and one of the cars was captured, although the chauffeur, feigning a broken leg, got away with the aid of another of the rum-runners.

The second chase, in which shots were fired, occurred last week near Mars Hill, opposite Upper Kent, Carleton County.

Education Is Not Everything General States

There is an Immense Future For Salvation Army, He Says

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—"Don't make too much of education. It can become a fetish and crush the one who has striven to attain it. The development of the physical and mental is in itself incomplete."

Thus spoke General Bramwell Booth to the group of newspaper men and women who had come to interview him in the Army Headquarters on Albert street. Seated at a desk on which reposed a frugal after-luncheon cup of hot water, the man with snow-white hair and youthful brown eyes which take in everything and supplemented the lack of hearing from which the the Salvation Army is extending to the farthest corners of the globe.

In the requirements for the 1,000 workers whom General Booth hopes to get in the western hemisphere to go to the east, he again features the fact that mere book knowledge is more or less incidental. "A knowledge of the elementary things is necessary," he explained, "but above all is it necessary for them to take a place of living sacrifice for those for whom they will work."

ARMY'S BRIGHT FUTURE

"There is an immense future before the Salvation Army as exhibited in the esteemed confidence of the different communities at the present time," said the Army Head. "I came to Canada for the purpose of looking into the work, and am highly gratified by the evidences of progress since I was here seven years ago. There has been an advance in material things but most of all in the spirit of service and sympathy with every form of suffering."

"I am also here to raise additional workers for the eastern world. We have had manifestations of welcome from the non-Christian countries of the east. The Arabs have asked us to send the Army to them. We have just started in Algeria and are working in India, Japan, the Dutch Indies, China and Corea. We are working among twenty-eight different African tribes at the present time and have one small outpost in Egypt."

"We are desirous of marking the first year of the new decade by providing 1,000 western officers for eastern work. These will be distributed over the countries where we are working, giving India and then China the first claims. We want those capable of every class of Salvation Army work, both men and women, some married (but in that case two count as one in reckoning the thousand) but the majority single. In the Army perhaps more than in any other sphere the woman plays an equal part with men. We want not only preachers but teachers, for although we have tried to avoid undertaking educational work, feeling that by making the parents what they should be we ensure the proper care of the children yet as our work has advanced we have been compelled to open up schools in several countries, including Africa and Corea."

MEDICOS NEEDED

"Medical men and women are specially needed. Three out of five hospitals in India are at present without medical superintendents, as a result of the war and before the war in one of these hospitals alone the daily attendance of patients was one thousand. The nurses needed are not only for hospital work, but also for public health work among the lepers' colonies. This is arduous and taxing work and requires a special gift on the part of those who serve. The Government of the Dutch Indies has just recently asked us to take on 2,000 more lepers.

"Then among the thousand I want some who are trained for agricultural work and finally I must have some newspaper people. The Army has 100 periodicals printed in 38 languages, and writers are greatly needed. Our own best people are too busy making history to stop and record it.

"Of course I shall want some money, although that is not the chief aim. At the lowest estimate it will cost £400 to train and place each worker, which means a fund of £400,000 to be found. Each worker will be given an initial training in the country of origin with a special supplementary training in England and a probationary period in the special country to which sent."

"Salaries? The salaries are high but a large part is deferred payment!"

"We have an immense opportunity at present in the fact that the Governments and communities as well as the individual leaders are asking for assistance in the solution of some of the social problems. It is a great cause for rejoicing. Another great cause for thanksgiving is that our own people are showing a great desire to give their own children to the work of the army.

"Two of the great planks of the army platform, prohibition and the equality of women, both of which seemed so far away not many years ago have come. I congratulate you in Canada on prohibition, but take care to cultivate public opinion to have something solid always behind the movement."

Sweeping Republican Victory Result Of U.S. Election

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS ELECTED—GREATEST REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN PARTY'S HISTORY—WOMEN'S VOTES LARGELY REPUBLICAN—SOCIALIST, FARMER, LABOR, PROHIBITION PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES SNOWED UNDER.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—One of the most sweeping victories in the party's history today stood recorded for Senator Harding for President and a Republican Congress. Tremendous and unparalleled Republican pluralities, beginning with the first count of ballots in yesterday's election continued mounting today. Defeat in their fight for both Presidency and Congress was conceded early by Democratic national leaders on the basis of a crushing Republican vote and despite the absence even early today of final and official figures.

Unofficial reports presaged a larger majority in the electoral college for Senator Harding and his running mate, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts than any since 1888, except alone the vote of 435 for President Wilson in 1912 during the Republican split.

The Republican Congressional swing was strong, increased majorities in both Senate and House being marked up. This morning victory for virtually all fifteen Republican Senators up for re-election was shown, while about six of the nineteen Democratic candidates were battling against Republican leads.

THE WOMEN VOTE REPUBLICAN.

The first trial of woman suffrage contributed largely to the Republican majorities. New York, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania furnished the largest Republican pluralities.

With the Presidency and Congress went the loss to the Democrats of Governors, State Legislatures and other state and local candidates. The break even threatened to extend into the border states and the hitherto solid South, with Republican gains in some southern states larger than any since the Civil War.

In the absence of final figures, reports swelling the tide of huge pluralities early today gave Senator Harding assurance of 329 votes in the electoral college as against 127 for Governor Cox with 75 doubtful, inclusive of states where the Republican tide was running strong.

None of the minor parties, Socialist, Farmer, Labor, nor prohibition figured in the presidential result. Socialist headquarters at Chicago claimed an increased vote, and the party re-elected the three New York Socialist Assemblymen who had been expelled.

Republican control of the United States Congress for another two years with an increased house majority and a prospective increase in the Senate was the major part of the election sweep. A net gain of twenty votes in the House was shown with complete reports from only seventeen states, but with most of the Democratic strongholds reporting. For nineteen Democratic Senate seats, nine had been returned winners from southern states, while in the border and western states others were fighting an up-hill battle except Senator Smith, Maryland, the only Democratic reported in the lead.

Republicans May Revise Tariff

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Republican victories are, it is thought here, likely to have an important bearing on trade in wheat products and potatoes between Canada and the United States. Under the provisions of the democratic tariff of 1913 the foodstuffs enter the United States free of duty on a condition of Canada admitting the same articles from the U. S. free of duty. With a Republican administration and Congress, it is considered in well informed circles here that there is a likelihood of the latter nullifying the reciprocal clauses of the underwood tariff in regard to food-stuffs. Any such action could be taken for some time, however.

Engineer And Trainmen Killed

Train Crew Met Death in Yards When Coal Train Struck Box Cars

AUBURN, N.Y., Nov. 3.—Engineers James W. Toole and Wm. M. Tuell and trainman Mm W. Schultz all of Auburn, were killed in a freight wreck in the Lehigh Valley yards, Auburn yesterday morning when a double header coal train ran into the rear of a train of box cars just pulling out of the yard. All three men were buried under the wreckage and were taken out by yardmen and Auburn firemen. The wreckage took fire and the Auburn department extinguished the flames.

Harding, Republican, elected President of the United States. Senate is Republican.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, fugitive United States draft evader who escaped from guards in Philadelphia last May, has been seen in the vicinity of Karlsuhe and other places in Baden it is reported here.

A Regular Landslide

New York, Nov. 3.—At noon today, incoming Presidential returns had increased Harding's gain. It appeared propable that in addition to States already given to him in the Electoral College there would be added, Idaho, Nevarad, Missouri, and Maryland. Others listed in doubtful column showed a continuous list to the Republican column.

Vote to End Strike

London, Nov. 3.—Executive officers of the Miners' Federation have decided to declare the coal strike ended and advise the men to resume work. This action was resolved upon at a conference of the executive today, although a ballot of miners showed a majority of more than eight thousand against accepting the Government's settlement proposals.

EMPLOYEES OF C.P.R. SIT IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—"Though I am not actually entitled to it," said Hon. Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, in answer to an enquiry, "I still hold my seniority with the Canadian Pacific Railway by an act of grace on the part of the employes and by the consent of the company. No objection has been registered by the company against my doing so."

It is pointed out further that C. R. Harrison, M.P. for Nipissing, is still a conductor on the Canadian Pacific Railway, while engaged in politics, while Mr. Peter Heenan, a member of the Ontario Legislature, is an engineer with the same company.

Meanwhile employes of the Canadian National Railways are forbidden by President D. B. Hanna to seek election to Parliament.

TWO MINUTES' SILENCE ON ARMISTICE DAY

London, Nov. 1.—Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons stated that a two-minute silence on Armistice Day, November 11, in memory of the great dead, would be observed as far as posible throughout the United Kingdom and the Empire.

At the burial on Armistice Day in Westminster Abbey of the unknown British soldier the coffin would bear the inscription: "An unknown warrior," and so would be representative of all the fighting services in the great war.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BABE RUTH AT GRIFFIN'S

Babe Ruth, "The Home Run King," has become such a hero in baseball that he blocks the traffic going to and from the club house. Men and boys during the baseball season just ended fought with one another to reach his side and grasp the mighty hands which clutch the home run bat. Girls and women made him pose for snap shots and proud fathers edged their lads up to him to lay his mammoth paws on their burly heads. At the gates hawkers sold pictures of the Bazoo of Bang and others sold the popular song "Oh you Babe."

Babe didn't dare take the main streets home, he had to take the rear streets home in a taxi-cab to get back to his hotel, and the strange part of it is that through it all Babe was always ready and willing to stop and thank his army of admirers for their chatter of congratulations. He still wears the same sized hat that he did when he didn't have a darned home run to his name. A special picture showing him in action with the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians, and showing the swing that made him famous taken by the slow camera process will be shown at Griffin's tomorrow on the double feature bill along with "The Cup of Fury" an eminent authors production from the Goldwyn studios, and is a picture that will undoubtedly rank as one of the most successful offerings of the year. It has all the elements which make a good photo-play—a strong story, a cast composed of good types, and splendid direction—and these things in the final analysis represent the ultimate in motion picture production. "The Cup of Fury" as a novel had and still has a tremendous sale. It is from the pen of that sterling author, Rupert Hughes, and its character are all true-to-life. A selected -reel comedy, the latest chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial, and a Travelogue will also be presented in addition to the above offerings. Regular prices will prevail during the exhibition of the program.

Money King Was Kidnapped By Woman

If grabbing railroads and worshipping the little god of money would get us kidnapped by Blanche Sweet and taken to a beautiful Woodland spot far from the maddening throng where we had nothing to do but fish, paddle a canoe and count pine cones, we'd go right out this minute and grab up miles of track. After viewing Miss Sweet's latest picture "The Deadlier Sex" at Griffin's last night we heartily approve of the "deadlier sex". At least they know how get what they want, and if they get something they hadnt bargained for—such as the love of an enemy—they accept the inevitable with womanly graciousness.

"The Deadlier Sex" is by Bayard Veiller, author of "Within the Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair" and is a comedy drama. The humor runs through the story like a gurgling brook through a strip of woodland. In spite of its title—which though it might be considered misleading, is really apropos—it is clean wholesome entertainment. The following letter was received from a member of the Great War Veterans' Association, Belleville Branch, from Salvan, Valais, French Switzerland. This soldier enlisted in Belleville and came back to Belleville from overseas in the early part of 1919, later leaving for Switzerland.

Salvan, Valais, (French Switzerland)
October 4th, 1920.

Secretary of the Great War Veterans Association,
Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

Dear Sir and Comrade:—

I have the honour to acknowledge your letter of the 20th September, for which I thank you.

I am sending you by the same post an International Postal order for five dollars, which I hope will reach you safely. I am enclosing herewith my membership card to be filled in and returned to me.

Let me impress upon your mind, sir, that I wanted to write you and settle up before, but I have been travelling a good deal in France lately. I have taken in almost all the places in the Pas de Calais, where we were billeted, including Berlin, Bethune, Noeux and Marles les Mines, etc., they were all so surprised to see me. I had all the chips and eggs I wanted.

Now, sir, if I should be in Europe after December 31st, I will surely make out another postal note for the next year's dues.

Give my love to all comrades and keep up the fight, boys, with the Government for more war service gratuity and when this is done, do not forget "Joe" the great hero of the 1st contingent.

Yours very sincerely,
ALPHONSE BOCHATEY.

GETS LEGION OF HONOR

The French Government awarded the Cross of Legion of Honor to many women during the war, but the award which excited the most attention was that announced by the Minister of the Colonies yesterday, the recipient of the honor being Mlle. Sapino.

The newspaper files were searched for information regarding the identity of Mlle. Sapino who was unknown in the literary world and in the Ministerial corridors, neither had she indulged in politics.

However, public interest in her was followed by expression of approval when it was learned today that for the last twenty year she has directed the lepers' institution at Manankavaly, in Madagascar where she will end her life of sacrifice unless a curative serum is discovered which will permit her to visit her relatives in the outside world.

Within the great territory between the black lines millions of destitute children are doomed to grow up weak and deformed through want of fats, milk and sugar, unless immediate help comes from without

> "These children are the obligation of every man, woman and child in the Western Hemisphere, for we have suffered less; but, beyond this, they are a charge on the heart of the whole world."

SIMON STOKE IS A NERVY BLOKE.

Simon Stoke 'e don't smoke, and E's that kind of a bloke what don't want anyone else to smoke. Disgustin', I calls it, says 'E, to smell a bubblin' over old cuddee—should be buried good and deep, with John Barleycorn to weep. Away with smoke, says this dismal bloke, so full of wrath he like to choke; and this is what he wrote to the Toronto Telegram:

> Sir,—I see the crusade has started against tobacco in Boston. It is indeed gratifying to see a move against the foul weed. The disgusting tobacco habit has been tolerated in public too long. This foul poison is as great a poison as ever alcohol was. A poison so rank that a couple of drops of the oil of the weed placed on the tongue of a rabbit means almost instant death. Our doctors can tell you it is the cause of cancer, nervous and stomach trouble, and a thousand other maladies. Our sanitariums for lung trouble can also testify against this stinking weed. Its foul odor is everywhere in the rooming houses, hotels and railway coaches. Tobacco should be banished as opium or other poisonous dope. The days is not far distant when our laws will impose a fine or jail for smoking in public. I have seen weak, nervous people turn deadly sick on getting a whiff from a rank cigar or a bubbling corn-cob full of Irish twist. May we soon see a move against the foul habit in Ontario, root and branch. Let us clean it out.

HIGH COST OF PAPER HITS PUBLISHERS HARD.

Referring to the increase in subscription rates of the Hamilton newspapers, the Brantford Expositor says very truly:

> "The Hamilton newspapers, which for years past, because of inability to agree among themselves, have been selling their product at one cent per copy, have at last been compelled by necessities of the situation to increase their rate for single copies to two cents, delivered by courier 15 cents per week, and delivered by mail $5.00 per year. The increase might well have been made considerably higher, seeing that it does not begin to represent the increase in the cost of production since the war. Newsprint alone has increased during that period 251 per cent., and no matter whether the increase be justifiable or not, publishers have no alternative but to pay it. Some idea of how the price of newsprint is affecting newspapers will be seen from the fact that the price which the Expositor has to pay was increased on October 1 last from $110 to $130 per ton, representing in the case of this paper an increased annual burden of not less than $12,000. No one regrets more than a newspaper publisher the necessity for increasing his subscription rates, because he dearly loves a large circulation for his newspaper, but when he has to choose between increasing his rates and closing up his shop, his is certainly Hobson's choice."

The above is a fair relative statement of all daily newspapers. No other commodity, yes, and necessity, sells as cheaply as the newspapers, and in no other line has the cost of production increased in the same rapid proportion.

BOSTON PAPER LAUDS SOLDIER LAND PLAN.

The Christian Science Monitor of Boston comments editorially on the operations of the Soldier Settlement Board of Canada, stating that its success is "most gratifying from both a national and international point of view. For, not only has it already resulted in permanent provision for some 25,000 returned men, but it has added potentially to the world's food supply."

After an examination of the Settlement Board's operation figures, the Monitor concludes:

> "From an economic point of view the gain to the country from the development of this scheme is likely to be remarkable. Already the new acreage marked out for the cultivation of wheat is considerably more than half of the entire wheat area of the Dominion twenty years ago, and, expressed in terms of cash, it is expected to increase by something like $50,000,000 annually the national wealth. More important even than this, however, is the addition it will make to the world's supply of food at a time when such addition is urgently needed. The bulk of the new land taken up lies west of the Great Lakes, in the wheat-growing regions, and it is confidently expected, in view of the high prices at present obtaining, that every acre of it will be cultivated. Then, of course, the scheme is still in process of development. Nearly twice as many men have been approved as have, up to the present time, been provided for. When, therefore, the Soldier Settlement scheme finally fulfills its mission it is likely to be responsible for an effort in colonization difficult to parallel."

Port Arthur Chronicle

Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King has abandoned his lofty position of pleading for support for his party on its policy of tariff for revenue with ultimate free trade, as opposed to the platform of the National Liberal and Conservative party, led by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. In a speech at Edmonton he made a straight bid for the support of every element that did not agree with Mr. Meighen to get behind him for the purpose of defeating the present Government.

In adopting this plan of campaign Mr. King but reveals himself as a place server. He cares nothing what the views of his supporters may be or where they come from or how they look upon Canadian institutions. He will be quite satisfied if they will but support him and his candidates.

The precious Mr. J. C. Watters is with us again. There are some people who can neither learn nor forget. Mr. Watters appears to be one of them. In so far as he had any influence as President of the Canadian Trades and Labor Council, he exercised it to the prejudice and obstruction of his country's war work, and to the subversion of his country's military efforts. His repudiation by the Trades and Labor Congress has been amply justified by his subsequent course of action—which has proved him incapable of turning his most egregious blunders to account, incapable of forgetting defeat—the incurable partisan of a lost cause, the blind leader of a local trades union that will never enjoy prestige or progress till it gets rid of him as the Labor Congress has done.

The Order to Quit

"I've called about your dog," said the neighbor, "he's bitten and shaken my mother-in-law until she is in a perfect state of collapse."

"Im exceedingly sorry, but it's not my fault," said the animal's owner, "I however, should advise you to sue me."

"Sue you! What an outrageous idea," said the visitor, quickly "I want to know if your dog is for sale? If she sees that dog again, she'll pack up and go home."

Go Easy, Judge

Judge—Have you any excuse to offer before I fine you for speeding?

Victim—Yes, your honor. It's like this, I heard that there was a cook out of a job. I had to hurry to get her before somebody beat me to it.

Green

A rather green-looking chap went into one of our department stores the other day and sauntering up to the counter where dozens of men's caps were displayed he looked carefully through the stock, but seemed unable to find what he wanted.

"Just what kind of a cap are you looking for?" asked the salesman at length.

"Well," said the youth, "I bought me a motorcycle the other day, and I thought I'd like one of those caps with a peak at the back."—Boston Transcript.

TO AMEND B.N.A. ACT IS THE AIM OF CANADA

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, as Canadian delegates to the assembly of the League of Nations, left Ottawa for Geneva. They will be met in London by Hon. N. W. Rowell, formerly President of the Privy Council, who will be third delegate to the League. Apart from the business of the assembly, the Canadian delegates will, while in London, have important negotiations in hand. Primary among these are:

(1) Amendment of the British North America Act.

(2) Delimitation of the Canadian-Newfoundland boundary in Labrador.

(3) Naturalization of aliens.

The amendment to the British North America Act is to be the subject of discussion between the Minister of Justice and the British Authorities. It concerns the question of giving to Dominion legislation the same force of ex-territoriality as is now the case with legislation passed by the Parliament of the United Kingdom.

A Woman's Trouble

Stratford, Ont.:—"I do think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription one of the best medicines I have ever known for the ailments of women. I had for quite a long time been having woman's trouble which caused me to become all run-down, weak and nervous. I doctored but nothing seemed to give me relief until I began taking 'Favorite Prescription.' This medicine gave me such wonderful relief that I am glad to recommend it to others."—MRS. A. GODWIN, 60 Brant St.

NERVOUS AND RUN-DOWN

Brampton, Ont.:—"A few years ago I was in a nervous and run-down condition and felt greatly in need of a tonic. A friend who was being helped by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advised me to try it, too. It helped me from the very start and eventually restored me to perfect health. I feel in a position to praise the 'Golden Medical Discovery' very highly and take pleasure in recommending it to all those who are at all nervous, weak or run-down."—MRS. ESTHER PEATSON.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root, Oregon grape root and Viburnum. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in liquid or tablets. It is without alcohol.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A. C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Hiding in the jungle after killing his captain in a fit of brooding madness, Lieut. Albert Werper, Belgian officer, is captured by Achmet Zek, Arab slave raider, who spares his life and proposes to him a scheme to kidnap Jane, wife of Tarzan (Lord Greystoke) and sell her into slavery. Werper accepts.

CHAPTER II.—Posing as Jules Frecoult, French traveler, Werper is hospitably received by the Greystokes. He learns his host is in financial straits and plans an expedition to the treasure vaults of Opar to procure gold. Werper informs Achmet Zek of the opportunity to seize Lady Greystoke, and follows Tarzan to learn the secret of Opar.

And then he went on more slowly and with greater stealth and caution, for now Tarzan of the Apes was seeking a kill. Down to the ground he came in the utter blackness of the close-set boles and the overhanging verdure of the jungle. He stooped from time to time and put his nose close to earth. He sought and found a wide game trail and at last his nostrils were rewarded with the scent of the fresh spoor of Bara, the deer. Tarzan's mouth watered and a low growl escaped his patrician lips. Sloughed from him was the last vestige of artificial caste—once again he was the primeval hunter—the first man—the highest caste type of the human race. Up wind he followed the elusive spoor with sense of perception so transcending that of ordinary man as to be inconceivable to us.

Presently the body scent of the deer told Tarzan that his prey was close at hand. It sent him into the trees again—into the lower terrace where he could watch the ground below and catch with ears and nose the first intimation of actual contact with his quarry. Nor was it long before the ape-man came upon Bara standing alert at the edge of a moon-bathed clearing. Noiselessly Tarzan crept through the trees until he was directly over the deer. In the ape-man's hand was the long hunting knife of his father and in his heart the blood lust of the carnivore. Just for an instant he poised above the unsuspecting Bara and then he launched himself downward upon the sleek back. The impact of his weight carried the deer to its knees and before the animal could regain its feet the knife had found its heart. As Tarzan rose upon the body of his kill to scream forth his hideous victory cry into the face of the moon the wind carried to his nostrils something which froze him to statuesque immobility and silence. His savage eyes blazed into the direction from which the wind had borne down the warning to him and a moment later the grasses at one side of the clearing parted and Numa, the lion, strode majestically into view.

From the lips of the ape-man broke a rumbling growl of warning. Numa answered but he did not advance. Instead he stood waving his tail gently to and fro, and presently Tarzan squatted upon his kill and cut a generous portion from a hind quarter. Numa eyed him with growing resentment and rage as, between mouthfuls, the ape-man growled out his savage warnings. Now this particular lion had never before come in contact with Tarzan of the Apes and he was much mystified. Here was the appearance and the scent of a man-thing and Numa had tasted human flesh and learned that though not the most palatable it was certainly by far the easiest to secure, yet there was [illegible] in the bestial growls of the that strange creature which reminded him of formidable antagonists and gave him pause, while his hunger and the odor of the hot flesh of Bara goaded him almost to madness. At last Numa could stand it no longer. His tail shot suddenly erect and at the same instant the wary ape-man, knowing all too well what the signal portended, grasped the remainder of the deer's hind quarter between his teeth and leaped into a nearby tree as Numa charged him with all the speed and a sufficient semblance of the weight of an express train.

Tarzan's retreat was no indication that he felt fear. Jungle life is ordered along different lines than ours and different standards prevail. Had Tarzan been famished he would, doubtless, have stood his ground and met the lion's charge. He had done the thing before upon more than one occasion, just as in the past he had charged lions himself; but tonight he was far from famished and in the hind quarter he had carried off with him was more raw flesh than he could eat; yet it was with no equanimity that he looked down upon Numa rending the flesh of Tarzan's kill. The presumption of this strange Numa must be punished! And forthwith Tarzan set out to make life miserable for the big cat. Close by were many trees bearing large, hard fruits and to one of these the ape-man swung with the agility of a squirrel. Then commenced a bombardment which brought forth earth-shaking roars from Numa. It was impossible for the tawny cat to eat under that hail of missiles—he could but roar and growl and dodge and eventually he was driven away entirely from the carcass of Bara, the deer. He went roaring and resentful; but in the very center of the clearing his voice was suddenly hushed and Tarzan saw the great head lower and flatten out, the body crouch and the long tail quiver, as the beast slunk cautiously toward the trees upon the opposite side.

Numa, the Lion, Strode Majestically Into View.

"WOLF OF MONTANA" TAMED BY LONE COP

Chicago, Nov. 2.—"My name is Hardy," he beamed. "I'm hard and that's the way I like my potatoes. Set 'er up, barkeep. This one's on me."

Tall and bronzed, wearing a William S. Hart waistcoat and a "Big Bill" sombrero, James Hardy otherwise known as "The Lone Wolf of Montana," projected himself into the bar-room of the New Gault House and made his demand upon the bartender.

"Brother, you know you're in a prohibition town," began the barkeeper.

Mr. Hardy swept a .44 from his pocket.

"Out in my country," he cut in, "I'm known as a timber wolf and am given to spells of howling when I do not get, pronto, what I ask for. We'll now dance and I'll play."

The .44 spoke and a bisque statuette of the Venus de Milo crashed to the floor. Another shot splintered the cigar case.

"Orange phosphate denatured cherry bounce, bah!" roared Mr. Hardy, as he sent a bullet through the floor directly between the feet of the barkeep. He had just shot a matchbox off the bar, twenty feet distant, and shot out a knot-hole in a panel, when a lone policeman came in, smacked him on the head once or twice and led him away to jail to think it over.

JAM FACTORY WORKER IS HEIR TO $276,000

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—Robert A MacDonald, who gave up his job as miller in the West and came here some time ago, will no more be seen making pulp in the local jam factory. On Saturday he received news that has caused him to sever his connection with jam factories, flour mills and all other work for a period of time which he terms "forever." In his room at a small hotel he received word that he had been established as the sole heir to an estate of $276,000. He has quit his job, and within a few days will leave for Springfield, Ill., to claim his fortune and to establish himself as the lord and master of the $30,000 residence on Cedar street, which also falls to his lot.

With the settlement of several claims to the estate, Robert MacDonald was decided upon last week as the nearest surviving relative of his uncle, Alex. MacDonald, a prominent stockbroker of Springfield, who died last May.

When Mother's Advice is Most Needed

A GIRL'S future health and happiness depends to a large extent on conditions during the adolescent period.

At about fourteen years of age important mental and physical changes are taking place, which every girl should understand. Then it is that she needs the care and advice of her mother.

Unfortunately this is about the time when school work and examinations are likely to prove an excessive strain on the nervous system.

Anaemia, chlorosis or nervous breakdown in the form of St. Vitus' dance are not uncommon at this age.

There is a failure of the blood to supply the nourishment required by the nervous system. Excessive mental effort consumes the nervous energy required to insure good digestion and the proper functioning of the vital organs.

It is surprising to find how quickly the nervous system responds to the restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. There is no longer any question that this treatment is admirably suited to help girls through this most critical period of their lives.

In almost every community are many cases to prove the exceptional restorative influence of this well-known treatment.

The use of the nerve food stimulates the appetite, improves digestion, and builds up the system in every way.

Miss Rena B. Crossland, Kempt, Queen's Co., N.S., writes: "I feel it a duty, as well as a privilege, to tell of the wonderful benefit I derived from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. In March, 1917, I had anaemia of the brain, and the mental and physical suffering I endured is indescribable. I had treatment from three doctors, and for twelve days was unconscious; while for three months I was fed and cared for like an infant. My mother was so anxious for me to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that she crushed it and baked it in my food. After using two boxes I could feed myself, and after using it for two months, my health improved so rapidly that doctors and friends said my recovery was a miracle.

"I cannot recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food too highly, even to those who seem to be facing death. We keep it in the house now, and I use it occasionally to 'keep fit.' I shall always regret that I did not follow my mother's advice and use it while I was away teaching, whenever I felt nervous or tired. But as I had no serious illness and did no realize the value of it, I neglected heeding mother's advice until it was too late and I had a complete breakdown. But, thanks to Providence and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I have been enjoying my former health and strength for the past two years."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

MUST IMPROVE LAWS.

Campaign Started to Help Illegitimate Children.

A great effort to alleviate the lot of illegitimate children, those unfortunate little ones responsibility for whose fate rests with erring fathers and mothers, is to be made by the National Council of Women.

Cruel Ontario laws passed years ago when a cruder public sentiment viewed illegitimacy as inevitable and the law sought to protect the father and gave scant consideration to mother and child, are still in force. And they virtually make pariahs of children born out of wedlock. Under the harsh law of to-day, no illegitimate child has any legal claim on the estate of a parent. And a child born out of wedlock cannot be legitimatized by the subsequent marriage of its father and mother. By the statutes of Ontario the sins of the father are literally visited upon the poor child. It labors under the handicap of illegitimacy all its life and carries the stigma to its grave.

Even Norway is far ahead of Canada in her treatment of these unfortunate children. Under the Castberg Law passed in 1915 the father is obliged to care for the mother before and for a time after the child's birth. He is also compelled to assume towards an illegitimate child all the obligations he would be under to a legitimate one. The States of Minnesota and North Dakota have similar laws.

The appalling estimate of from 800 to 1,000 illegitimate births for the city of Toronto alone is made by the Neighborhood Workers Association. Say they in their booklet: "The girls who go wrong are the unprotected girls, the ones who are not living at home, but in cheap boarding houses and rooming places and who are dependent for recreation on any chance friends they can pick up." Many births are not registered at all, but the association prints the following significant list of 232 mothers who have come to their notice.

Concerning the fathers of these children the information gathered i much more fragmentary. In thre quarters of the cases nothing what ever is known about them. In som cases the mothers refuse to divulg the fathers' names. In less than te per cent. of the cases have th fathers contributed anything what ever to the child's support. Owing t the laxity of the Ontario law th "man in the case" is slipping out o responsibility entirely.

A movement is on foot to improv both the child's legal status and social welfare. As to the social side, it is recom mended that a meeting of all inter ested agencies be called to discus the present means of handling ques tions dealing with the problems c unmarried mothers, etc. The estal lishment of a Child Welfare Burea staffed by expert workers to deal wit such questions as the proper dis posal of dependent children is als urged. A pair of spectacles found upon the street are at the police station awaiting an owner.

FRATERNAL VISIT

A number of the members of Eureka Lodge A. F. & A. M. of this city last evening paid an official visit to Campbellford Lodge where they were most cordially received. The first degree was exemplified by a degree team of the visiting member. After the business of the lodge had been completed a bountiful spread was partaken of and a most enjoyable time spent in speech making interspersed with suitable vocal selections. The city members arrived home at an early hour this morning and reported having had a pleasing and profitable time.

RECKLESS DRIVING

Mr. E. Grant who is a special officer of the Ontario Government on the Provincial Highway, today before Magistrate Masson had some Belleville and other citizens summoned for reckless driving on the highway. In some cases the charge was dismissed whilst others had to pay a fine and costs. Mr. Grant conducted the prosecution of the cases.

WIRES BROKEN BY BLAST

Electric power was off for about half an hour this morning in the eastern part of the city. The cause of the trouble was the breaking of some wires of the Hydro Electric Power Commission service on Mill street by a blast on the sewer construction on that street.

OIL WELL

Mr. Reeves has returned from Toronto with a staff of geologists and engineers and tests are being made of the oil prospects on the farm of Mr. Roach in Tyendinaga Township. A test well will be sunk in an effort to ascertain if the oil is there in quantity.

Y.M.C.A. Cafeteria A Great Success

The ladies of the Y.M.C.A. Auxilliary are to be congratulated on the success of their Hallowe'en Cafeteria Tea.

Although the weather was so very unpromising all day, those serving were kept on the rush from 5 o'clock until half past seven, when all the delicious "eats" had almost entirely disappeared. Over 200 having been served plentifully.

The rooms downstairs were very prettily and appropriately decorated in Yellow and Black pumpkins cut into faces, and carrots used as candlesticks being the prominent features with witches and black cats galore to fill in.

The different committees were—Convenors of cafeteria, Mrs. French and Mrs. Harns.

Reception—Mrs. O'Flynn, Miss Holden, Mrs. S. Ketcheson, Mrs. R. J. Graham, Mrs. Scantlebury and Mrs. Yeomans, president of the Auxiliary.

Decoration—Mrs. Affleck and helpers.

The tea table was in charge of Mrs. Ackerman and Mrs. W. B. Deacon and was very prettily decorated, Mrs. M. Sprague and Mrs. Reid pouring coffee and tea.

Ten ladies behind the counter wore appropriate dresses as did also the young girls (mostly members of the Gym class) waiting on the tables.

The High School Orchestra played during the tea delightfully, and pleased all who entered with their pretty selections.

The employes of the Ritchie Co. were the guests of Mr. C. M. Reid.

It was the intention to continue the tea today but the good turnout yesterday disposed of all the provisions.

Letters To The Editor

REAL ESTATE OWNERS' UNION

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—I notice a letter in your issue of 1st instant from ex-Alderman Robinson regarding a Real Estate Owners' Union with annual dues of cents and although I hesitate to write a letter for publication, yet I feel that conditions warrant it and hope that the seeds sown herein will not fall on barren ground.

Mr. Robinson writes in his usual strain with his little hammer always out for the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and any other individual or body of individuals who may be trying to be of some service to our community. We have, alas, too many citizens who are wielders of the hammer, who go about spreading thoughts of distrust, hard times, gloom and doubt, and we also have those with nothing much in their heads but a cold which makes them sniff and sneer at everything. "Everybody is queer but thee and me" say they, and add "sometimes even thee art a little queer."

Well enough of that, we are passing through days of readjustment, days of doubt, days of fearfulness as to what the future has in store for us. Days of price readjustment, wage readjustment, and, in short, we are getting back to a safe and sane basis. Now is the time for the big men of the community to get together and by big men I mean men of vision and courage and brains. Men who have faith in their home town and can see further than a fifty cent real estate union. We have such men and lots of them and we will not let our city stagnate as it has done before, when factories stood idle for years, when Pinnacle street took the prize for weeds and mud, and when only a favoured few had a sewer passing their door. Such a city cannot progress and has everything necessary to repel not only industries but residents. Such a city is a cheap town for people of means to live in but a poor town for business.

Now, Mr. Robinson not being a member, may not know that we already have almost the identical Union that he advocates. It is known as the Chamber of Commerce and while we have been unfortunate in the choice of our first secretary, nevertheless we have magnificent headquarters that are at all times available for any persons or organizations interested in the betterment of the community. Furthermore we are willing to assist anybody who has any constructive ideas to bring forward, we are young yet and full of hope and optimism regarding the future of Belleville and district.

We have been under a cloud no doubt lately but nevertheless feel we have done some good and have earned at least twenty-five dollars from every merchant in town through consistently and persistently advocating and seeing through to a finish the purchase of the Bay Bridge. Some say it is scrap iron, some say its foundations are rotten, some say "build a new one" (cost probably a million), anyway we have bought it and the Provincial Government says it is good for at least fifteen years.

Therefore let us pull together and keeps things moving. If business stagnates, factories close up, if no new industries come in and old ones die out, if the Council doesn't suit us and the Chamber of Commerce doesn't do enough work, then you and I and our neighbors are the ones to blame. Lets ask ourselves what have WE done to help the city in which we live, and if we have so far done nothing, it is not too late to try. If you cannot give your time then contribute to the funds and if you cannot do that then you can do a very valuable service in your own home and place of business by talking and thinking in a constructive manner.

You may find a town or city better than Belleville to live in, although I doubt it, but if you know of such a city and can't abide this place, then please pack up your troubles and take them there with you.

Yours truly,
JAMIESON BONE,
President Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

BUT 200 PEOPLE LEFT IN NOME

Owes Her Life To Tanlac, She Says

Mrs. Nelles Declares It Has Restored Her Health After Suffering For 25 Years

"I firmly believe I owe my life to Tanlac, for it has completely restored my health after suffering for twenty-five years" was the statement made by Mrs. S. Nelles of 208 Parliament street Toronto, Ont.

"During all those years I hardly knew what it was to eat a good meal without suffering dreadful pains in the pit of my stomach and also palpitation of the heart afterwards. My liver was badly out of order and I was troubled a lot with nausea. I generally woke up in the mornings with a fearful head ache and had such spells of dizziness that I had to hold on to the furniture to save myself from falling. I was just tired out and weary all the time and every now and then had such a sinking sensation come over me that I thought my end had come. In fact I was almost a confirmed invalid, and used to lie awake for hours at night worrying about my condition and never expected to be well again.

"But the way Tanlac has built me up has been really wonderful. The first few doses seemed to do me good, for I began to sleep better and had less distress after my meals. After taking eight bottles of this medicine I can honestly say I am as well as I ever was in my life. All my stomach trouble has disappeared, I sleep fine at night, and am so much stronger that I can do my housework with ease. I have recommended Tanlac to lots of my friends and am glad of this opportunity of telling everybody what a grand medicine it is."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

NICKEL NOW WITHOUT HONOR

Humble Nickel Can Hardly Be Classed as Real Money in These Spendthrift Days.

Once upon a time a nickel was real money—but those days are gone.

In the days of our youth, watermelons could be purchased for the sum of five cents, but now not even the transparent slice can be obtained for this sum.

Enough bananas could be bought for five cents to give three boys indigestion, but that was long ago.

There was a time when small boys were wont to do chores around the home for the coveted nickel—but not now.

Who can forget the man who used to walk into the cigar store and say, in a loud voice, "Give me a good nickel cigar."

There was a time when a nickel bought a loaf of bread, or a dish of ice cream, paid for a shoe shine and even made a sizeable tip. Some of the old citizens, in their more reminiscent moods, can recall those days—or at least they say they can.

But gradually, one by one, the uses of the "jitney" passed away. It would buy nothing to eat, nothing to drink, unless reinforced by the once despised penny, until only a ride on a street car remained to be secured in exchange for the nickel.

And then the street railway company followed in the wake of a long and illustrious procession of profiteers.

CHILD GIVEN UNIQUE NAME

American Girl to Go Through Life With YWCA as One of Her Appellations.

"We've named her Y. W. C. A.!" said a proud young mother as she displayed her two-months-old baby to a group of girls at one of the many Y. W. C. A. branches in New York city recently. So "Alice YWCA Stamboulides" is a real child, the possessor of a unique name which will always be a reminder of her mother's first days in a strange country. When Mrs. Lulu Stamboulides, a pretty Roumanian girl, first came to the United States nearly two years ago her young Greek husband, whom she had come here to marry, took her immediately to the Harlem branch of the Y. W. C. A. in New York city to learn the American language, customs and ideals. He himself had found this training at the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Stamboulides entered English, art, cooking and sewing classes and soon became one of the most popular members of the branch. Then when little Alice arrived the father insisted that her middle name should be "Y. W. C. A." —and so it is—and Alice Stamboulides can hold her own with Mary Armistice Smiths and John Pershing Joneses of the day.

Cherish Enthusiasm.

To keep to the forefront you must not lose your enthusiasm. Charge your boy dreams with man experience and watch the world gasp at your progress. When the visions of youth set the skill of maturity to definite tasks there's bound to be ringing achievement that will last. The sober old world will scold and scoff, but it can never harness the spur of youth. Dreams bred of surging desire and chafing enthusiasm are bound to find fulfillment whatever the cost. And best of all the fulfillment means blessing to the world. We all profit by every new gift to the world. Gifts are the product of dreams and visions. It's the spirit born of youth that provides for the world's progress. Keep young by dreaming and doing to the extent of your power. It's a spur to power.

Dodo's Big Mistake.

The dodo—its name today a synonym for "back number"—became extinct owing to the circumstance that it was good to eat. Not being able to fly, its clumsy waddle gave it no means of escape. Sailors stopping at the island of Mauritius, to which it was native, killed it for food. Not even a skeleton of the dodo now exists, and until recently it was supposed there was only one picture of the bird—made by an artist who visited Mauritius in 1626. But it now appears that living specimens were taken to Amsterdam at about the same period, and beautiful painted portraits of them have turned up. One of the latter is of a white dodo (not an albino), which presumably represented a distinct variety, the ordinary type having plumage that was mostly gray.—Detroit Journal.

Wireless Mast on China's Wall.

A reinforced concrete wireless mast of large dimensions has been erected upon the Chinese wall for the use of the American navy. It is 164 feet in height. The original program called for the making of the mast by the precast method in two parts, and then erecting them by means of derricks, but an accident occurred while the erection was taking place and an American engineer and four coolies were killed. The method of forming in molds was then tried; and although it was much more expensive than the other, it was successfully carried out.

Liquor Ships Are Captured

Key West And Key Bell, Canadian Vessels, Held By U.S.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Details of the seizure of Canadian ships by American authorities for alleged violation of the prohibitory laws have not been communicated to the Federal Treasury here, although information has been received that numerous small water craft, mainly motorboats and yachts, have been held up by the customs and prohibitory agents at American ports of entry from Canada.

It was officially said at the office that the American government is entirely within its rights in taking drastic measures to stop the flow of contraband liquor into the United States from Canada.

Specific instructions have been sent to all collectors of customs on the border to rigidly insist upon masters of all vessels submitting to search by federal officials, and heavy penalties are provided against the ship captains in the event liquors were found other than those properly included in the ship's manifest.

Ships carrying liquors to American ports are not disturbed if a showing can be made that the shipment is for medicinal purposes or a proper permit guaranteeing its entry is exhibited.

In the event that contraband liquors are found, or in fact any of the cargo fails to be listed on the ship's manifest, the master of the vessel is liable to a fine equal to the value of the materials.

"We are not seizinng any large trade vessels for liquor running, said one official of the customs service, "but collectors at Buffalo and other points have seized a number of motorboats and other small craft under five tons engaged in running the blockade. The treasury instructions to all customs collectors is to libel all vessels which are ostensibly engaged in this traffic. The libel proceedings result in the vessels being turned over to the government and they are sold after the liquor is seized.

Key West and Key Bell

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The names of the vessels reported held by United States authorities on liquor running charges include the Key West and Key Bell, owned by Keystone Transportation Co. Montreal, and the Malton, of Toronto.

Harding's Majority Nearly Six Millions

Breaks all Records for Political Landslides—How Popular Vote Went

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—It was estimated today that the total vote cast in yesterday's election was more than 20,000,000 and that Harding polled nearly 6,000,000 votes more than Cox. This broke all records for political landslides. The records show that prior to yesterday no State ever had given a Presidential candidate more than a 500,000 plurality."

This was surpassed by New York which gave Harding a probable lead of more than 1,000,000; by Pennsylvania where the Republican candidate has a margin of more than 700,000; and in Illinois, where Harding's estimated plurality is about 800,000. Harding's margin of victory in Ohio was estimated at 400,000. Other States rolled up unprecedented pluralities for Harding. California, whose vote four years ago decided the Hughes-Wilson contest in favor of the latter, appears to have gone for Harding by more than 400,000.

Five Negroes Burned To Death

Sixth Was Taken From Jail and Lynched Afterwards

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 4.—Five negroes have been burned to death and another hung to a tree as a result of a fight which started at the pools at Ocoee, near here, after election officials had refused to permit Mose Norman, a negro to vote on the ground that he had failed to pay his poll tax.

Two white men were shot and killed and several others, including a former police chief, were wounded in the fight which preceded the wholesale lynching.

The negroes burned met death in houses in which they had congregated and which were set on fire. The sixth negro killed was taken from a jail early this morning by a mob.

Murder Mysteries Still Unsolved

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—Compared with approximately fifty of 126 murders that have taken place in Chicago since the beginning of the year still unsolved, Montreal's list of three unsolved murders is small. Statistics of murders and of the proportion unsolved in other cities shows that Montreal has little to be ashamed of in this regard, especially when the size of the city and the cosmopolitan nature of its population is considered. Chief of Police Pierre Belanger asked what was the reason for the wave of crime at present existing in Montreal, said that Montreal was in a much better position in this matter than other cities on the continent. Unsolved crimes which have occurred in American cities in recent months, he said, show that Montreal is having less crime than most other cities.

"Of course," the chief said, "there is more crime than in other years," but he attribetes this to the unrest following the war. He also pointed out that Montreal was fast becoming a very cosmopolitan city and that the majority of the crimes which have been committed in this city during the past nine months have been by people who have come here from other cities.

Chief of Detectives Lepage, in a paper he read before the convention of Chiefs of Police, held at Moncton, N.B., pointed out several evils which he attributed to be the cause of the present crime waves. He said in this paper that the pool room and the cheap moving picture theatre were a great factor in making criminals and also declared the drug evil was responsible for a great number of crimes.

The following is a record of the unsolved murder cases in the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Chicago and Boston, since the beginning of the year:

Montreal—Francisco Riverso found shot on Davidson street on January 8, 1920.

Arthur Palmer killed in a house on St. Catherine street west, on April 5, 1920.

Louis A. Hoerner, night clerk in Tremles' Drug Store, St. Catherine street west, succumbed to injuries in hospital October 28, 1920.

TWO IN TORONTO

Toronto—Since the disappearance of Ambrose Small, theatrical magnate in December last, Toronto has been singularly free from unsolved crimes of a serious nature. The police have only two unsolved murder cases on their hands at the present time. The one is that resulting from the finding of the body of a foreigner in a shed on Darcy street some months ago. The body was badly decomposed, which prevented identification. The other case is that of a newly born baby, whose body was found in a box in the Union Station a few weeks ago. Death was believed due to strangulation.

MAY BE SUICIDE

Winnipeg—Winnipeg's only "Murder" mystery to date in 1920 has remained unsolved, the police declaring the case to be one of suicide. The Coroner's jury returned an open verdict, and the parents of the dead girl claimed that she must have been murdered.

Alga Bjornson, bookkeeper for a wholesale firm had gone back to her work late at night in an effort to get her accounts in shape as the end of September was near. Her body was discovered by the watchman about 3 o'clock the next morning. A shotgun was found beside the body which was sitting in a natural position in a chair.

The theory accepted by the police was to the effect that the dead girl in a fit of despondency had pulled the trigger of the gun with her toes—but her shoes had not been removed. The girl was shown to have been in no difficulties, financial or otherwise.

Boston—There have been no unsolved murders in Boston since the beginning of the year.

CHICAGO'S BIG LIST

Chicago—Out of the one hundred and twenty-six murders in Chicago since the beginning of the year approximately 40 per cent. are unsolved. This is merely an estimate made from newspaper files. The crime commission is preparing statistics on murders of the year, the causes and the data which will be available in a few days and which will give the accurate figures.

Brooklyn—There have been 36 murders in the New York suburb since the beginning of the year. How many of these are unsolved records here do not show.

Manhatten—This suburb has had 32 murders since the new year. Here again the record of the number of cases so far unsolved is unobtainable. y| pefgiatg 5(ociteme(IP uTT-BI

Harding's Father Defends Honor

Row on Marion's Main Street Over Circulation of Slander

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—While Senator Harding awaited the outcome of the election with confidence, Dr. George T. Harding, the 77-year old father of the Republican candidate, did not show so much complacency, when he militantly strode down the main street of Marion, looking for Judge Spencer, of the Probate Court.

The doctor encountered the object of his search across the way from the court house and strode up to him.

"Judge Spencer," said he, "I am informed on what I believe to be reliable authority, that you have, sir, been exhibiting a picture of me and asserting that I have negro blood in my veins."

"Doctor," replied the probate judge, who, while not as old as the candidate's father, is feeble and a cripple, "I assure you on my honor that never at any time have I done anything of the sort."

"If I believed that you had done so," said Dr. Harding, "I would smash your face."

The cane was brandishing by this time and the old gentleman's fist was waiving in proximity to the judge's nose.

"But, Doctor," protested Judge Spencer, "I tell you that I have never done anything of the sort. I have seen the pictures, as has every man in Marion, but I never gave currency to them or to the stories, and I am perfectly willing to make an affidavit to that effect."

Two people stepped up at this stage of the controversy. One was Herman Irey, a husky farmer; the other a handsome young woman.

"You're lying," said Irey, seizing the judge by the collar. "I heard you say it," and with his open hand he slapped the judge across the face. The lady also did some talking and those who were close to the incident say she urged the farmer to hit him again He did not hit him again but he pushed into him and the judge was toppled over into the gutter.

A number of bystanders surged forward, for there is the making of a first-class riot in the issue of those circulars in Marion at any time, but the old Doctor, who is a leonine chap, jumped between the prostrate judge and the oncomers.

"Stand back," he exclaimed, "the judge has denied that he did this thing and that ends it. I have always found the judge to be a perfect gentleman," and he helped Judge Spencer to his feet. "Now," he said, "lets get that affidavit."

"Certainly," said the judge, and they proceeded to the office of the district attorney, where in due form Judge Spencer made deposition that he had never distributed any circulars or circulated any statement aspersing the purity of the Harding blood.

Irey, meanwhile, proceeded to the office of the mayor, and said he wanted to pay a fine for slapping Judge Spencer, but as no complaint was made, and none will be, nothing was done.

The recital has certain comedy elements, but there is no comedy in the situation that gave rise to the fracas. The friends of Harding are bitter about the circulation of the slander, and a row is likely to start at any time that will be more serious than the encounter between the old doctor and the crippled judge.

"Of course, I have never had anything to do with those stories," said Judge Spencer afterward. "I would not even permit men to come before me to make affidavits about them. Dr. Harding accepted my denial and I was glad to make the affidavit he asked. I did not see the man who slapped me until the blow was delivered. I have no idea who gave the doctor the erroneous information. I know there has been considerable bitterness toward me because I got up the Democratic demonstration that took 1,156 Democrats from Marion to the Cox acceptance celebration at Dayton."

"Naturally," said Dr. Harding, "when I heard that the judge had been circulating stories aspersing my blood and that of my family, I couldn't do otherwise than call him to account. He has denied it and that ends it so far as I am concerned.

Taking Shackles from Sugar

Washington, Nov. 4.—Last vestige of Government control of sugar in the United States has been removed by the signature of President Wilson of the proclamation providing for revocation November 15 of licenses held by Wholesalers, Refiners, Exporters and Importers.

British Municipal Elections Record Losses For Labor

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Municipal elections were held yesterday throughout the country with the exception of the London borough, where polling only takes place every three years. The result shows that the Labor party which scored phenomenal successes in the municipal elections last year have met with distinct losses in many districts. Labor lost seats in Bradford, Birmingham, Manchester, Liverpool, Accrington and Huddersfield, but made gains in Bristol and several minor industrial centres. There has lately been a campaign against the increasing burden of local taxes throughout the country, which is alleged to be due to the extravagance of Labor majorities on the local councils.

A feature of the Liverpool elections was the gain of four seats there by the Irish Nationalists.

In Manchester the Conservatives gained four seats and lost two.

Cause Of Cox's Defeat Is Wilson

League and Irish Question Only Subsidiary to Real Feeling

New York, Nov. 4.—The cause of Cox's defeat may be summed up in one word—Wilson wires the Montreal Star correspondent. The attitude of the Democratic candidate on the League of Nations and on the Irish question was aside from the question that the electorate yesterday wanted settled.

Harding had stated quite plainly that he considered the United States would not interfere in any domestic problem of Great Britain, referring specifically to Ireland. Cox, on the other hand, was emphatic in announcing that Ireland was the business of the United States, and that applications for self-determination must be entertained by the League of Nations he stood for.

It was direct appeal to the Irish. And the Irish rolled up in their thousands and voted for Harding. The influence of Hearst was undoubtedly a factor in this. For months his newspapers had preached that the League would not help Ireland, and Hearst plays a considerable part in controlling the emotions of the Irish element. But the stronger reason was a desire to take revenge on Wilson, whose steadfast refusal to take up the cause of Ireland has long provided fuel for fury in the breasts of De Valera and his followers.

Similarly, in the case of the League of Nations, every voter who ballotted for Harding knew the Republican candidate favored some sort of an association of nations, by whatever name he might choose to call it. They voted against Wilson's league. They backed up the opposition to Wilson's peace tactics.

The Underlying issue

In the storm and stress of the campaign, the underlying issue at stake has been lost sight of. Ireland and the League were pushed forward as strategic reserves. But yesterday's victory of the Republican party—and it was a party victory rather than a personal one—has been maturing for eight years—not merely since the war and peace problems arose. Shrewd observers forecast what was coming four years ago.

The Harding landslide, is, in short, an emphatic disavowal of the entire Wilson administration, not only part of it concerned with peacemaking. It is the nation's decision on its domestic future more than its foreign policy. Every one of the Wilson administration's internal departments has been subjected to a criticism just as violent, and in cases more so, than has the President's now shattered ideal.

The American people wanted a change. They wanted a change because the election proves, they were "fed up" with Democratic government after eight years of it. The enormous plurality of President-elect Harding indicates that they would have got that change without the assistance of the alien, pro-Irish, pro-German and anti-British vote. The American people voted against Cox because he was a Democrat, and they had had enough of Democratic control at Washington.

The alien elements voted against Cox to satisfy a spleen against Wilson because he had failed to gratify their own hyphenated hopes.

James Fleming, accountant, was arrested at Toronto charged with robbing the Royal Bank at Woodbridge of thirteen thousand dollars.

Returned Soldiers Patrol The Streets

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 4.—Former service men patrolled the streets of Orlando, Ocoee, and nearby towns throughout the night to prevent a renewal of the race clash which is known to have resulted in the death at Ocoee Tuesday night of two white men and six negroes. Quiet prevails early today and the men said they expected no further outbreaks. Deputy sheriffs called to the town believe the death toll will exceed eight. They are expecting to find bodies of negroes in the ruins of twenty-five houses destroyed by fire.

Interesting Trip To Western Canada

Col. Ponton Visited Twenty Masonic Chapters and Lodges

Col. W. N. Ponton, Grand Z, of the Masonic Grand Chapter, of Canada, and Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, in Ontario A. F. & A. M., has returned from an interesting trip to Western Canada during which he visited and addressed the members of twenty Chapters and Lodges, receiving cordial and enthusiastic receptions everywhere. He was also officially greeted on three occasions by the Grand Lodges of Saskatchewan and Alberta at Regina, Edmonton and Calgary. Col. Ponton's trip extended as far west as Banff and at each place he visited he met Belleville Old Boys who were pleased beyond measure to meet some one from the old home town. At Saskatoon he had a very pleasant visit with Mr. Delong, acting head of the Agricultural Department of Saskatchewan. Mr. Delong is the son of Mrs. Wm. Wallbridge, of Rossmore.

Wednesday evening Deputy Grand Master Ponton was the guest of honor of Eureka Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and favored the members present at the Fourth Degree with an interesting account of his western trip.

The Morning Leader, of Regina, Saskatchewan, of October 16, referred to Col. Ponton's visit as follows:

"In a speech scintillating with humor and having the spirit of comradeship as its theme, Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton, Deputy Grand Master of Canada in Ontario, A. F. & A. M., addressed a Masonic audience of over four hundred in the City Hall last night. He spoke of the comradeship which permeates Masonic institutions, making its members better Masons, better men and better citizens, and so assisting in the solution of the problems which confront the country. After extending fraternal greetings to the Grand Lodge of Saskatchewan from the Grand Lodge of Ontario he referred to the social, patriotic and national side of Masonry, emphasizing the brotherhood of man as it had been exemplified in the world war as between the allies and between the component forces of the British armies. His speech was intensely patriotic throughout and had a fine historical background supported by many original documents dating back to the time of Sir Isaac Brock."

Black And Tans Found Murdered

Serious Reprisals Follow at Tralee—Soldiers Court Martialed

Dublin, Nov. 4.—A telephone message from Tralee late Tuesday reported the town in flames. Communication has since been interrupted, but early information was that many inhabitants had fled, as a result of serious fighting that was taking place. One arrest was made.

The Duke of Leinster's residence was also raided and searched.

Relatives of young Kelvin Barry, who was executed Monday for complicity in the murder of three British soldiers, requested that they be permitted to remove the body from the prison yard where it was buried, but the request was refused.

After disturbances during the morning two members of the "Black and Tans" were discovered missing. Notices were immediately posted in Tralee that unless the missing men were returned unharmed, reprisals of a nature yet unheard of would result. Later the bodies of the two men were found in a field riddled with bullets. Reports that the town was in flames soon followed.

As a result of reprisals in Tralee Monday night two civilians were killed and one civilian was killed on the street this morning. The town was then ordered closed.

The toll throughout Ireland for Tuesday, as yet incomplete, includes four policemen, one soldier and one civilian killed, and eight police, two soldiers and four civilians wounded.

The National University College of Dublin, where Kelvin Barry, the young Sinn Feiner, executed Monday, was a student, was raided early Tuesday by soldiers. They forced the president, at the point of the bayonet, to produce the roll of the University.

Court Martial Several Soldiers

London, Nov. 4.—Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for War, announced to the House of Commons yesterday that military investigation in Ireland had resulted in the decision to court martial several soldiers and non-commissioned officers.

Several Police Attacks

London, Nov. 4.—Attacks on police were reported last night from several points in Ireland. Following the burning of the police barracks at Ardmore, a military relief party motoring to Ardmore was ambushed by 120 civilians. One soldier was killed and two wounded. An officer and seven soldiers were disarmed and captured.

Another fight occurred between soldiers and civilians at Killenaule, county Tipperary. One civilian was killed and several injured on both sides.

A party of police travelling by lorry from Carrick-on-Shannon, to Athlone was ambushed and one policeman killed and three others wounded.

There were wholesale raids and searches for arms and documents in Dublin. Beginning at the Duke of Leinster's residence, the buildings raided included University College, whose president was called from his residence by soldiers and compelled to give up the keys of the College rooms.

Solid South Tradition Broken

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Tennessee has swung into the swelling republican columns, shattering Democratic traditions of the solid south. Unofficial, but nearly complete, returns from that state showed today her shift from democratic ranks coupled with a similar upset in Oklahoma reported late last night, assuring President-elect Harding, of 390 electoral votes as against 127 definitely in Cox column and left in doubt but fourteen seats in the electoral college divided among Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and North Dakota. In all these States save New Mexico, Harding was leading. Republican congressional sweep assumed large proportions as returns continued to come in. Republicans had secured 257 seats in House representatives to 132 for Democrats, four seats went to miscellaneous candidates on returns so far Republicans had plurality of 131.

B.C. Getting Ready

Vancouver, Nov. 4.—In election manifesto issued yesterday, Premier Oliver says the British Columbia Government will seek authority from the Federal House to enable it to control sources of liquor supply. Anyone In Job Hold On To It

Prospects for Employment in Coming Winter are Not Rosy.

KINGSTON, Nov. 3.—"My advice to anyone having a job," said H. C. Hudson, General Superintendent of the Ontario Employment Service, this morning, "is to hang on to it tight."

Mr. Hudson held a conference today with the Employment Officers of Eastern Ontario. At the conference were: L. Green, Employment Officer at Belleville; C. S. Ford, Employment Officer at Ottawa, and W. A. Stroud, the local Employment Officer. The conference was held to size up the unemployment situation in Eastern Ontario, and methods for best handling the situation this winter were discussed.

Eastern Ontario Steadier.

"The situation in Eastern Ontario," said Mr. Hudson, "looks better than in other places, because of the fact that there have been no abnormal booms, and affairs have been kept more or less at an even trend. There is, however, a slackening off all over in regard to employment, with unskilled labor being chiefly out of work, though there is an unlimited demand for workers for the back country and lumber camps. The prospects look bad for the winter, and my advice to any one holding a job is to hold it tight.

Working Class Shouldn't Bear Brunt.

"I agree with Tom Moore that it is not fair to expect the working class to bear the brunt of the downward trend of prices by having their wages cut. When prices went up the working class were the last to feel the effect by having their wages increased, and they should not be the first to bear the brunt of lowered prices.

Keep Away From Cities.

"My advice, also, to the unemployed is to stay away from big cities. There is a feeling that in a big city employment is to be found, but in Toronto the unemployment promises to be severe, more severe than at any time during the past four years.

Scotland's "Drys" Win In 36 Districts "Wets" Win In Ten

Prohibition Forces Gain in Wednesday's Local Option Elections.

GLASGOW, Nov. 3—Thirty-six Scottish districts voted "dry" in yesterday's elections, according to today's returns. Ten voted "wet" and one district for limitation of liquor sales.

Other Results Reported.

London, Nov. 3.—Up to midnight three areas in Scotland in which voting took place yesterday on local option have polled dry, namely, Sanquhar, a rural constituency, and Kilsyth and Kirkintilloch, mining centres. Fourteen other sections voted for no change. They included Grangemouth, Bridge of Allan, Dunoon, Lanark, Helensburgh, Barrhead, Bonnybrigg, Loanhead and Stirling.

While the present campaign is not the first by the temperance forces in Scotland, it is the first to be taken seriously by the liquor interests. In 1913 a Local Option Act was passed through Parliament, but its operation was postponed for seven years to give liquor men a fair chance to get out. Yesterday's voting was under the 1913 Act, and the temperance forces had a good start inasmuch as there were already 250 areas without a retail license.

It is incorrect to refer to the Scottish campaign as one for prohibition. Absolute prohibition was not the alternative presented to the electors. Three resolutions were presented for the approval of the voters, viz.: 1, No change meaning that the powers of discretion shall remain unchanged. 2, Limiting resolution, meaning that the number of licenses shall be reduced by one-quarter. 3, No licenses except for inns and hotels or restaurants in special cases. Electoral districts are the units for the purpose of voting.

Burned to Death

Hamilton, Nov. 4.—Three people were burned to death this morning when a large brick farm house near Smithville in Caistor Township was destroyed by fire. The dead are Mrs. W. Jennings, Miss Gladys Jennings and Mrs. Jennings, senior. William Jennings, owner of the house, and his daughter, Ethel escaped. The fire broke out about two this morning, but the cause is unknown.

Four police murdered. Printing plant burned by anti-police Vendetta. Tralee, which was taken over by military yesterday, reported quiet.

Actress Scalped In Auto Accident

Miss H. Jesmar at Point of Death—Wealthy Young Man and Students Injured

New York, Nov. 4.—Miss Helene Jesmer, of the chorus of "The Greenwich Village Follies," is at the point of death in Fordham Hospital as the result of a motor smash-up on the New Rochelle road, near Hunter's Point Bridge in Pelham Bay Park. She was seriously hurt when an automobile driven by Philip Morgan Plant, stepson of the late Commodore Morton F. Plant, multi-millionaire, and now a stepson of Colonel William Hayward, swerved from head on into a tree.

The chorus girl's skull was fractured, her jaw broken and the top of her scalp was torn off. Young Plant, who is 19 years old, suffered a fracture of the right leg and was cut deeply on the face, Norman L. Hussey, 18 years old, of Norwalk, Conn., suffered contusions and Charles L. Morehead, 20 years old, of Chicago, received a broken nose. The two other young men in the car, David Calhoun of St. Louis and Edward Hersley, of St. Paul, escaped injuries.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easier, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

A BABOON SWITCHMAN.

A Striking Example of Animal Intelligence.

From time to time numerous amazing stories have been told of the sagacity of members of the monkey tribe; but the following account is so particularly extraordinary that it would cause doubt in the minds of the most credulous were it not told on the authority of Mr. W. C. Scully and the Atlantic Monthly.

"The most remarkable instance of simian intelligence that has come under my personal observation," says Mr. Scully, "was that of a baboon that actually did regular duty as a switchman at an important railway junction at Uitenhage, in the Cape Province, South Africa. The animal was owned by the man who worked the switches, but who had lost both legs in a railway accident. On the platform, in his charge, were six levers, to each of which was given a name. He sat in a little wooden cabin with his understudy, and when a lever required shifting he would call out its name. At once the baboon would swing the lever over. After the baboon had been thoroughly instructed, it was never known to make a mistake.

"In the morning it ran its master down to the scene of his work on a little hand-car, which it shifted from the rails and stowed away. Most of the journey to the switch was downgrade, and on reaching the slope the baboon would spring on the vehicle and evince the liveliest satisfaction as it skimmed along by gravitation. At night it replaced the car on the rails, and, when its master had taken his seat, pushed him home again.

"Occasionally the animal was brought to a certain hotel and inducted to act as waiter. It would carry a large tray and serve the customers, but it insisted that its own portion should be placed on the tray. On entering the room where the guests were assembled it would set the tray down on the floor and consume its share, then walk with the tray from one guest to another. If any one attempted to help himself from the tray before the baboon had finished its portion, it would become violently enraged, and scatter the contents in every direction. The remarkable animal died after a lingering illness induced by a blow on the back of the head that was inflicted by a drunken man with an iron bar."

Disliked by George III.

Old King George III., against whose rule the American colonies successfully revolted, must have turned in his grave a short time ago, when his royal descendant, the Prince of Wales, was made a fellow of the Royal Society. King George, to the day of his death never quite forgave the Royal Society, a scientific body founded long before he ascended the throne, for seriously offending him by passing a resolution in favor of the pointed lightning conductors invented by Benjamin Franklin. This was during the American revolution, and the king refused to patronize a "rebel's invention." He had blunt conductors fixed on all his palaces, and ordered the Royal Society to rescind their resolution favoring the other kind. The president, Sir John Pringle, replied that duty as well as inclination would always lead him to meet his majesty's wishes as far as possible. "But, sire," said he, "I cannot reverse the laws and operations of nature." "Then you must resign," stormed the king. And Sir John resigned.

To Signal Distress.

However well equipped with wireless a ship may be, an accident that results in its sinking puts an end to its distress signals, and may not even allow time to begin them, leaving its hurriedly manned lifeboats without any means of communication with each other or with a rescue ship. An eastern inventor has designed a simple and compact radio system intended as permanent equipment for one or more lifeboats on each vessel, says Popular Mechanics. The wireless apparatus, used for both telegraphing and telephoning, is inclosed in a water-tight box at the stern, and grounded through a metal plate on the bottom of the boat. To shut out extraneous sounds and add to the sensitiveness of the set, the operator is equipped with a helmet containing the telephone receivers.

An Old "Windjammer."

How long is a ship expected to "live"? The question is raised by the recent return of the Victory to her old moorings once again. The vessels of past centuries had a career which seems to us moderns like the longevity of the patriarchs. The Princess Mary, which brought William of Orange to England, was in active service for more than 200 years. She was 72 years old when she arrived with the Dutch troops in Torbay. Under the name of Betsy Cairns she continued her labors after her 200th birthday in the transport trade between Britain and the West Indies, foundering at last off our cliffs at the venerable age of 250.

Oil Shale In England.

The Norfolk oil shales are entirely different, geologically, from the well-known Scotch shales. They consist of a clay saturated with liquid petroleum from some source below. A form of ozokerite occurs with them. When retorted they yield 40 to 50 gallons per ton of an oil practically free from sulphur and rich in motor spirit and paraffin. The quantity of shale available is practically inexhaustible, the amount being estimated as 3,000,000,000 tons. This amount is sufficient to supply England's present oil needs, as indicated by her imports, for over a century.

Pig Iron.

The production of pig iron in the United Kingdom during April amounted to 671,000 tons, of which 246,000 tons were hematite, 226,000 tons basic, and the remainder forge, foundry, and other qualities. The production of steel ingots and castings amounted to 793,000 tons.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

DISTINGUISHED ENGLISH ARTISTS COMING

In pursuance of the avowed policy of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., to present throughout the Dominion, British theatrical attractions of the highest availale type, Mr. H. V. Esmond and Miss Eva Moore will appear at Griffin's Opera House next Monday night November 8th, in one of the most brilliant of comedies resulting from the Great War.

This play, which is entitled "The Law Divine," is one of the most successful products of Mr. Esmond's pen. It deals in a congenial manner with a problem that has been faced and solved innumerale times since the signing of the Armistice, namely, the drifting away of a wife from her home and family towards specific war interests and under the influence of temporary war allurements and the consequent disillusionment of a husband also engaged in war work to the detriment of domestic interests.

BABE RUTH THE BAZOO OF BANG

One of the best varied bills of screen entertainment that has been screened locally in some time has been arranged for the amusement of Belleville photoplay lovers at Griffin's to-night to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday when a double feature bill will be presented consisting of the first screen appearance of Babe Ruth the famous "Home Run King of Baseball" also known as the Bazoo of Bang. The picture shows him in action with the New York Yankees while playing the Cleveland Indians and the various members of the two teams are shown in action, including a number of flashes from the actual game, the packed grandstand is evidence of the fact that it is not merely a posed picture but made with the primary object of showing Babe Ruth in action, and illustrating by means of the ultra rapid or slow motion camera, every movement of the mighty batter in his home run wallops. The picture has been made with an idea of entertaining the person who knows little about the national game at the same time it analyzes the work of its greatest batter, it also shows in ordinary action and slow motion analysis the pitching of Carl Mays the only under-hand pitcher in big league baseball. All the notable batters of Yankees and Chris Speaker and other notables of the Cleveland Indians are shown. The many thousands thrilled by Rupert Hughes, "The Cup of Fury" as a novel will find it a greater thriller as a picture—to be shown on the same program. Helene Chadwick has the leading feminine role and to T. Hayes Hunter belongs the credit for the direction. He handles "The Cup of Fury" with a fine appreciation of its dramatic possibilities, getting the utmost out of each scene, and making the action move along in a smooth natural way to the big climax in the end. The latest chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial, "Leap Year," a funny two-reel Hank Mann comedy, and an interesting Outing Chester Travelogue are also being shown in addition to the above offerings. Regular prices will prevail during the exhibition of the program.

IT IS NO DISGRACE TO BE SICKLY

but it is a disgrace to remain so when the Science of Chiropractic will remove the cause of your disease, permitting Nature to supply her forces to the afflicted portions of your body.

To say that you won't try a new health science because you don't believe in it, is to shut the door in the face of a natural blessing which, if it were applied to your case would in all probability restore to you that vital, abundant, exhilarating health and happiness which Nature intended that you should have.

If you would be rid of your afflictions look to the CAUSE thereof, have it removed by one who seeks the cause and removes it. Not until then will you find permanent, natural health.

GLASS THAT CAN BE BENT

New Invention Declared to Be Suitable for a Number of Useful Industrial Purposes.

A new substitute for glass or for lacquer has been invented. It can be cut with shears or with a knife and, when heated to more than 100 degrees Centigrade, it forms a kneadable mass which resumes its previous hard state on cooling. It is known as "cellon."

Under the patents of Dr. Eichelgrun, a company is making cellon in the form of a solid or liquid solution of acetyl cellulose in camphor, either white or colored, transparent or opaque. It appears in slabs, or tube form, as well as in the form of a plastic mass, as putty to be used for lagging purposes or as an anti-rust liquid.

The hard vitreous cellon is bendable and springy and insensitive to cold water, soap, fat, alcohol or petrol. When burnt in a flame it drops off like shellac, without, however, being as combustible as the latter. Cellon varnish, which can be allowed to harden or solidify into flexible layers, is suitable for many industrial purposes. Liquid cellon can be used for impregnating textiles or for making insulating tape. In this latter form it can be taken from the round box in which it is wound up, even in the moist condition, and allowed to harden in air.

USE FOR "TANKS" IN PEACE

French Have Put Frightful War Machines to a Variety of Highly Useful Occupations.

The French appear to be ahead of us in finding a use for tanks in peace times. A considerable number of French tanks which are comparatively small sized are now employed for transport purposes about the yards of large industrial works; others are used as farm tractors, while the larger tanks are replacing horses for traction along the wide paths of the great French canals.

The latest and perhaps the most remarkable employment which has been found for these machines is in connection with mountain climbing for tourists. For this purpose the armor, and of course all the fighting apparatus of the tank are removed and a carriage or superstructure capable of carrying from ten to twenty passengers added. The seating is either arranged longitudinally or crosswise. Very steep grades can be taken, while the machines easily cross small streams and make their way through brushwood, tall grass and over the roughest roads.

Japan's "Year of the Monkey."

Every year, in a series of 12, is known in Japan by the name of an animal, as in the signs of the zodiac; and this is the year of the monkey. Consequently the many millions of New Year cards exchanged were for the most part decorated with simian representations of various kinds. The year of the monkey is not considered a propitious one for marriage, as the word saru (monkey) also is a verb which means "to leave," and there is a superstition that all who marry in the monkey year are likely to leave their partners, who might otherwise be partners for life. Consequently all the couples who intended entering the married state in 1920 had to rush the ceremony through in December of 1919, keeping country registries and shrines very busy during that month. The post office had a gigantic task in delivering the hundreds of millions of New Year cards dispatched the day before the first of January.

Resourceful Traveler.

Ole the Bear (A. R. Westerberg), mail carrier between Revelstoke, British Columbia, and Downie Creek, 45 miles up the Big Bend, succeeded in accomplishing a feat that establishes a new record in this district. The great depth of snow up the Big Bend, together with the heavy crust caused by raining and freezing, made it practically impossible for a horse to travel the roads, but Ole conceived the idea of making snowshoes for his horse, which he did out of birch, constructing them circular in shape and more than a foot across. For protection he covered the horse's legs with blankets, and thus he succeeded in making Revelstoke in three days without harm to himself or horse.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The True University.

Every true university should make room in its scheme for life out-of-doors. There is much to be said for John Milton's plan of a school whose pupils should go together each year on long horseback journeys and sailing cruises in order to see the world. . . . John Burroughs has a college on a little farm beside the Hudson and John Muir has a university called the Yosemite. If such men cross a field or thicket they see more than the seven wonders of the world. That is culture. And without it all scholastic learning is arid, and all the academic degrees known to a man are but china oranges hung on a dry tree.—Henry Van Dyke.

Beat Him to It.

The company had been marching for two solid miles without a rest and Recruit Sullivan, holding the exalted rank of No. 3 in the rear rank, first squad, had about come to the limit of his endurance. Finally, just as he was about to give up the ghost and drop the captain gave the command, "Company, halt."

"By the lord, captain," groaned Sullivan, as he eased off his pack, "you took the very words out of me mouth."

CENTENARY

The great event of the season, the "chicken tea," held at Centenary Church last Wednesday night was a big success. They came by the scores from the east, west, north and south, until the old historic church was filled to overflowing with a jolly and happy crowd out for a good time—and they had it. The tables fairly groaned under their loads of good things and there were chickens galore. The programme was furnished by the pupils of Miss Taite and Prof. Staples of Albert College. The solos by Prof. Staples were much appreciated, also the selection given by Miss Madeline Young from "Annie's House of Dreams," kept the audience good natured as only Miss Young can. The proceeds exceeded $170.00. The Ladies' Aid, with Mrs. Cummings as President and Mrs. Shorts as Secretary, deserve great credit for the success which crowned their efforts.

Mrs. Clano of Detroit was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Radford during the week.

Mrs. Philip Ray leaves this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Squire.

Miss McLean of Osmond has been visiting Miss Ruby McLaughlin also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Thrasher.

Miss Ella Cummings and Mr. Harold Cummings entertained the members of the Epworth League at their home on Friday night. It was in the form of a masquerade party, about thirty being present. The costumes were exceedingly good, special mention being made of Mrs. Fred Aikens as "Ghost" creating the most fun, Miss Helen Cumming as a "witch" the prettiest and Mr. Edgar Ray as "Poverty," the best acted. Luncheon was served and everyone spent a most enjoyable evening.

AMERICAN BOAT WON SCHOONER RACE

Halifax, Nov. 2.—Esperanto of Gloucester, Captain Marty Welsh, of Digby, N.S., won the concluding contest of the first series of races for the blue ribbon of the fishing fleets of the North Atlantic. Unlike Saturday's race, yesterday's contest was a nip and tuck struggle throughout, with the Canadian in the lead most of the way around. Delawana ran away from Esperanto in the light airs but proved inferior when the wind freshened.

FARMER'S HOUSE BURNS DOWN

Lindsay, Nov. 2.—The house of Fred McGill, a farmer residing north of Janetville, was burned to the ground. The entire contents were destroyed except an organ and a stove and a sum of money. The loss is estimated at $4,000. The cause is unknown, as the father was plowing in the field at the time, and mother milking at the stable, one young son was alone in the house.

HITTING THE HIGH SPOTS IN DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

With a very small basket and a large roll of bills the Brockville Recorder man went to market, and having heard that prices were slipping, jubilantly sought the slippers. He returned, and behold his jubilation had departed from him, also his large roll of bills, and his little basket had more rattles than radishes. What he thought was prodigious. What he printed was this:

> Prices may be on the down grade, but from those quoted on the market Saturday morning it is hard to believe that butter and eggs have heard anything about it.

S.O.S. CALL TO THE FARMERS BY MACKENZIE KING.

Mackenzie King, losing ground every day as a so-called leader of the Liberal party, is reaching out his hands in earnest entreaty to the western farmers party to go fifty-fifty with him and smash the Government of Hon. Arthur Meighen which he insinuates is a government of "hidden big interests." And this from Mackenzie King, the darling of the Big Interests even unto the great Rockfel'er, who employed him as a buffer between union labor and the Rockefeller millions squeezed out of oil..

Mackenzie King, although selected as a leader of the Liberal irreconcilables not because of ability or attractiveness but because he was a Laurierite and anti-conscriptionist—chosen as the weapon of an ignoble revenge—thought no doubt he could swing the party into office on the wave of unrest, but the going has been hard, he has been losing ground while Arthur Meighen has been strengthening his position daily—now Mackenzie King sees that his only hope, and a forlorn hope it is, lies in joining up with the various groups which from one reason and another and no reason at all oppose the Government in power.

The farmers do not want Mackenzie King, for they cannot trust him.

Labor will have none of him, he is too oily and even his own party refuses to rally round his banners and prominent Liberal newspapers will have none of his doctrine or himself.

All in all the long, long trail looks rather rocky for the descendant and namesake of that William Lyon Mackenzie King who kicked up such a fuss at Montgomery's Tavern when Toronto was a pup.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Immediately after unveiling the imposing cenotaph in London to commemorate the heroic dead who fell that Britain might live, King George will pass to Westminster Abbey, where he will attend the obsequies of an unidentified private soldier. We do not know who was permanently responsible for this singularly fine and touching idea that has in it much of the inspirational. Not a man of Anglo-Celtic descent throughout the world but knows Westminster Abbey, the Valhalla of the race. Within its hallowed walls sleep kings, statesmen, poets and men who have given heroic and devoted service to their country and to humanity. Doubtless of those now living who took a distinguished part in the great war, one or more will find their last earthly resting place in the Abbey, or will be commemorated among the mighty whom the nation has delighted to honor. And meet it is that among these, in days to come, will be found the grave of one who served as a common soldier in the ranks, nameless, but for that reason all the more representative. Difficult it would have been to select a private from the hundreds of thousands who fell and whose records remain. The unknown soldier speaks for these and also for his comrados who perished, but, like himself, left no trace behind. Few memorials in Westminster Abbey will carry a deeper and more universal appeal than that of the soldier who will sleep his last sleep beside the elect of history.

Labrador is a rough country to live in, says Dr. Grenfell; but he would rather live there than in the poorer sections of London. In Labrador, he declares, is to be found a sturdy type of men and women who are an asset to humanity. He is right, and his appeal for assistance in providing for the comfort of the Labrador people should not fall on deaf ears. THE CRANKS WE HAVE

A prophet may have very little honor and be a very obscure personage in his own country and yet succeed in obtaining much publicity abroad. This is particularly the case when those who give this publicity are pleased with what he has to say. In American papers we come across an extract from "The Canadian Nation" issued at Ottawa. It scoffs at projects for the creation greater empire unity and adds: "Canada's most natural ally is the United States and after that, England."

Mr. Duff might even be willing to undertake to trim Carpentier or Dempsey if these gentlemen would consent to enter the ring with both wrists hand-cuffed behind their backs.

POETS' CORNER

LEAVES

When Mother Nature puts the leaves to bed,
They go like little children whom I know—
Some gayly, others linger long instead,
Yet one and all are somehow glad to go.

A Summer through, they clung upon the trees,
They frolicked and they danced in merry play,
Till summoned by the calling autumn breeze,
They leave their games and follow far away.

And then at last they settle down and lie
All quiet, and soft each good night is said,
The wind above them sings a lullaby—
When Nature puts the little leaves to bed.

"A KIST OF WHISTLES."

James Watt Introduced Innovation Into His Church.

"James Watt was interested in many researches and inventions besides the one that brought him fame and fortune," says a writer in Munsey's Magazine." "He received patents for a steam hammer, a screw propeller, a copying press, a machine for reproducing sculpture, and other new or improved mechanical contrivances; and, although the fact has been almost forgotten, he designed and built the first organ ever used in a Scottish Presbyterian church. It was originally a small chamber organ that he built for his own use when he was in instrument maker in Glasgow, but when he went to live in Birmingham, where he was a partner in Boulton's ironworks, he left the organ at Glasgow, and it came into the possession of the minister of St. Andrew's Church.

"For some time Watt's organ was used only for choir practice on week days, and was covered up and kept out of sight on the Sabbath. One Sunday in August, 1807, however, it was played during the service by an organist of the Episcopal faith. The Episcopalians at that time were known in Scotland as 'the whistling kirk,' because they had adopted the organ—called by good Presbyterians "a kist of whistles"—as a legitimate part of their church music. Presbyterian Glasgow was shocked by the innovation at St. Andrew's. The presbytery declared the use of the new instrument contrary to kirk law, and the organ was ignominiously cast out after a solitary service. It is said to be still in existence in the house of a Scottish squire near Biggar.

"Not until 1860 was the use of the organ tolerated in St. Andrew's, Glasgow."

King Edward's Memory.

"Half an hour's conversation with a man," he writes, "is apt to give a greater insight into the character than reams of correspondence, and this was especially the case with the Prince of Wales, who was endowed either by nature or training—or more probably by a mixture of both—with a memory that really was prodigious. As an example of this memory I recollect on my first journey with him to Cannes, when he had got out at some wayside station to stroll about during the five minutes' wait, some very obvious English gentleman bowed, and evidently rather expected to be recognized. His bow was, of course, returned, but on re-entering the railway carriage the prince at once asked me if I knew who the man was. I had never seen him in my life before, and so could be of no assistance.

"After the train had started again I could see that the prince was trying to place the individual, and suddenly, at the end of a quarter of an hour or so, he triumphantly exclaimed, 'I knew that I should get hold of his name. He is a Mr. ——, and he was presented to me just fourteen years ago at a function at which I was present.' He then proceeded to state what the function was, and where it had taken place. He had never set eyes on the man in question since."

An Old Bible.

The Cottonian Library in England owns an old manuscript copy of a part of the Bible in Latin. This Bible, it is said, was used at the coronations of English sovereign 300 years before the "stone of destiny" was brought from Scone to Westminster by Edward I. in 1296. If this be true, then the use of this Bible for the purpose dates back to the year 1000. It is a quarto of 217 leaves, containing the four gospels, and seems, from the style of the writing and the beautiful illuminations, to have been made about the end of the ninth century. This Bible narrowly escaped destruction in the fire at Ashburnham house in 1731, of which is bears evidence in its crumped leaves and singed margins. There is some evidence that the son of Edward the Elder, Athelstan the Glorious, who was king of the West Saxons from 925 to 940, owned this Bible and gave it to the church of Dover.—Forward.

Cambridge and Oxford.

"Whenever I go to Cambridge I am reminded of Edinburgh, not by the place but by the demeanor of the inhabitants," writes Mr. A. Clutton-Brock in "The Irris." "For, as every one you meet in the streets of Edinburgh seems to be aware that he is the citizen of no mean city, so all undergraduates and dons at Cambridge seem aware that they are members of no mean university. To go from Oxford to Cambridge is like going from England to Scotland, and Cambridge is like going from England to Scotland, and Cambridge has the same slight grudge against Oxford that Scotland has against England."

Appreciation.

A burly and bucolic person in a billy-cock hat was seen outside a second-hand bookseller's shop lost in the pages of Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee." The traffic of the pavement surged about him, but still he read on, and when the watchful shopkeeper came to the door from time to time he found him reading yet. At last he closed the volume with an approving grunt, and, tapping its cover with a thick forefinger, addressed the bookseller: "I suppose, now, you don't happen to have a book by this chap on cows?"

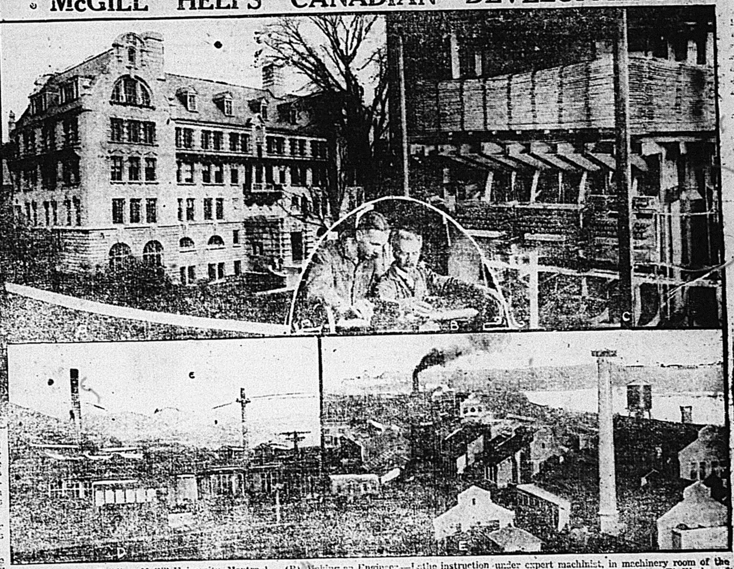
McGILL HELPS CANADIAN DEVELOPMENT



(A) Engineers Building, McGill University, Montreal. (B) Making an Engineer.—Lathe instruction under expert machinist, in machinery room of the Engineering Building, McGill University. (C) Back of a Switchboard Telephone Exchange, Montreal. (D) Trail Smelter, Trail, B.C. (E) Works of Canadian Electric Products Co., Shawinigan, Falls, Que.

The industrial development of any nation, under the conditions of the modern world, calls for an ever-increasing number of men highly-trained in the principles of science and with the ability of applying their knowledge to the industrial needs of the community. The war has strongly impressed this fact upon the thinking people of the English-speaking world, since it is now quite clear that one of the chief sources of Germany's strength lay in the large number of men thoroughly equipped in all branches of scientific work who had been trained in the science schools of that country and whose services were immediately available both for the development of the arts and industries in times of peace, and for the active and efficient prosecution of war upon the outbreak of hostilities.

The Faculty of Applied Science of McGill University was the first school in the Dominion founded for the express purpose of educating such men, and it has, since its foundation, trained an ever increasing number, who, upon leaving the University, have passed out into the industrial life of Canada and have been a potent force in the progress and development of the Dominion. The growth of the Faculty is well seen in the number of students in attendance each year. The figures show that the number rose rapidly from 29 in the year 1879, to 585 in the year 1913. Upon the declaration of war, the students began to enlist at once, and by the year 1917 the attendance had fallen to 17[illegible], consisting for the most part of men under age or physically unfit. With the cessation of hostilities, the students began to return as soon as they were demobilized, and in the session of 1919, the number in attendance in this Faculty had risen to 643, the largest number in the history of the University. The number of men who had completed their training and graduated from this Faculty up to the close of the session 1919-1920 reached a total of 1,813. The number of graduates, undergraduates and former students of the Faculty who enlisted in the Great War was 1,012. Of these, 178 were killed, and a very large number were wounded. The proportion of casualties was high, for the men enlisted in the most dangerous arms of the service. 157 received Military Decorations or were mentioned in despatches.

The Faculty of Applied Science provides courses of training in six separate branches of Applied Science, namely, Civil, Mechanical, Electrical, Chemical, Mining and Metallurgical Engineering. There is also the course in Architecture. The teaching staff numbers 76, and the Faculty has from the first made a special point of the maintenance of the highest standard of efficiency in all its work.

The courses of study in all the branches of Engineering extend over a period of four years, while that in Architecture is a five-years course. In the summer vacation about 86 per cent. of the students secure work in survey parties, engineering offices, factories or industrial works, and thus gain valuable practical experience, which supplements the work of the academic session. In this way nearly every student, upon his graduation, has had four years of academic training and three summers in the practical work of his profession, and has thus laid a sound foundation of knowledge in the principles of the practice of the profession which he has selected as his life's work. Students come to the Faculty not only from all parts of the Dominion, but from all corners of the world.

A number of other colleges and seats of learning in various parts of the Dominion, work in affiliation with this McGill Faculty. Among these may be mentioned Acadia, Mount Allison and Alberta Universities, the University of St. Francis Xavier's College, the Royal Military College and the Royal Naval College. Arrangements have been made by which graduates of the Mechanical Science Course in the University of Cambridge in England are admitted to advanced standing in the Faculty of Applied Science of McGill University. Students completing their course in these Institutions may enter the Second, Third or Fourth Years at McGill, as the case may be.

The work of the Faculty is carried on in the Macdonald Engineering Building, with attached workshop as laboratories, as well as in the Macdonald Chemistry and Mining and the Macdonald Physics Buildings. These buildings are greatly overcrowded, and increased accommodation is now absolutely necessary, not only for the purposes of undergraduate instruction, but for advanced instruction and research.

There has thus, throughout the years, gone forth from McGill a great body of young men with a sound training in science, who, having joined the staff of great engineering works in Canada, of our industries and of the scientific branches of the Government Departments, have been, and are now, a most important factor in the growth and development of the Dominion.

Of this number many have risen to occupy positions of great importance and responsibility, and have become the leaders in their respective industries and professions.

A few of the great engineering enterprises which have been carried out chiefly by McGill graduates may be mentioned.

Going back some years, there is The Canadian Niagara Power Company's Hydro-Electric Development of 100,000 horse power at Niagara Falls in 1904, the City of Winnipeg Hydro-Electric Development of 150,000 horse power at Point du Bois in 1907, and the great irrigation development scheme of the Canadian Pacific Railway, by which one and a half million acres of land in the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan have been, or are being, brought under cultivation.

The Telephone System of Canada has been developed largely by McGill men; the great engineering works which are being carried out at the harbour of Halifax, are largely the work of engineers trained at McGill.

The engineering staff of the Shawinigan Engineering Company, which is responsible for the maintenance and development of the work of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, and of all its subsidiary companies which are grouped about the great power centre at Shawinigan Falls, is composed largely of McGill graduates.

A few years since a McGill man was at the head of nearly every large smelter in the United States, and in Canada, at the present time the management of two of our three great companies which smelt practically all the nickel which is produced in the world, is in the hands of McGill graduates, as are also many of their staff. The president of one of these companies has recently stated, that, while his Company was engaged in operating large metallurgical and chemical plants in many different countries, in none of these was the work carried on so efficiently and satisfactorily as in his Canadian plant, which was staffed exclusively by graduates of McGill.

It may be added that it is not only in the field of actual practice that McGill engineers have been pre-eminent, but that they also occupy a prominent place in the training of the engineers of the future, as shown by the fact that at the present time the professors of Civil Engineering in every university in Canada are graduates of McGill University.

It is to the Universities that the Dominion must look for the development of its higher life and of these McGill University is certainly contributing, in all its Faculties, its full share to the upbuilding of our Dominion.

"REDS" HECKLE THE PREMIER

Vancouver, Nov. 2.—When Premier Meighen commenced his address in the Vancouver Hotel Auditorium here, about a dozen "Reds" attempted to prevent him speaking by booing and yelling. The large audience resented this and threatened them with expulsion, and they subsided. So far, all the interruptions have been by the Red element, who are against any authority.

In Allen's Theatre, Hon. J. A. Calder met with frequent and continuous interruptions. They were from about fifty or sixty persons in an audience of three thousand. The interruptions were not vicious or ill-natured, but were embarrasing. The Minister of Colonization refused to lose his temper, and won through.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

Immediately Tarzan was alert. He lifted his head and sniffed the slow, jungle breeze. What was it that had attracted Numa's attention and taken him soft-footed and silent away from the scene of his discomfiture? Just as the lion disappeared among the trees beyond the clearing Tarzan caught upon the down-coming wind the explanation of his new interest—the scent spoor of man was wafted strongly to the sensitive nostrils. Caching the remainder of the deer's hind quarter in the crotch of a tree the ape-man moved through the trees, the shadow of a wraith. The savage cat and the savage man saw Numa's quarry almost simultaneously, though both had known before it came within the vision of their eyes that it was a black man. Their sensitive nostrils had told them this much and Tarzan's had told him that the scent spoor was that of a stranger—old and a male, for race and sex and age each has its own distinctive scent. It was an old man that made his way alone through the gloomy jungle, a wrinkled, dried up little old man, hideously scarred and tattooed and strangely garbed, with the skin of a hyena about his shoulders, and the dried head mounted upon his gray pate. Tarzan recognized the earmarks of the witch-doctor and awaited Numa's charge with a feeling of pleasurable anticipation, for the ape-man had no love for witch-doctors; but in the instant that Numa did charge, the white man suddenly recalled that the lion had stolen his kill a few minutes before and that revenge is sweet.

The first intimation the black man had that he was in danger was the crash of twigs as Numa charged through the bushes into the game trail not twenty yards behind him. Then he turned to see a huge, black-maned lion racing toward him and, even as he turned, Numa seized him. At the same instant the ape-man dropped from an overhanging limb full upon the lion's back and as he alighted he plunged his knife into the tawny side behind the left shoulder, tangled the fingers of his right hand in the long mane, buried his teeth in Numa's neck and wound his powerful legs about the beast's torso. With a roar of pain and rage, Numa reared up and fell backward upon the ape-man; but still the mighty man-thing clung to his hold and repeatedly the long knife plunged deeply into his side. Over and over rolled Numa, the lion, clawing and biting at the air, roaring and growling horribly in savage attempt to reach the thing upon its back. More than once was Tarzan almost brushed from his hold. He was battered and bruised and covered with blood from Numa and dirt from the trail, yet not for an instant did he lessen the ferocity of his mad attack nor his grim hold upon the back of his antagonist. Where he had fallen beneath the spring of the lion the witch-doctor lay, torn and bleeding, unable to drag himself away and watched the terrific battle between these two lords of the jungle. His sunken eyes glittered and his wrinkled lips moved over toothless gums as he mumbled weird incantations to the demons of his cult.

For a time he felt no doubt as to the outcome—the strange white man must certainly succumb to terrible Numa—whoever heard of a lone man armed only with a knife slaying so mighty a beast! Yet presently the old black man's eyes went wider and he commenced to have his doubts and misgivings. What wonderful sort of creature was this that battled with Numa and held his own despite the mighty muscles of the king of beasts? Then slowly there dawned in those sunken eyes, gleaming so brightly from the scarred and wrinkled face, the light of a dawning recollection. It was the picture of a lithe, white-skinned youth swinging through the trees in company with a band of huge apes, and the old eyes blinked and a great fear came into them—the superstitious fear of one who believes in ghosts and spirits and demons.

What Wonderful Sort of Creature Was This?

And came the time once more when the witch-doctor no longer doubted the outcome of the duel, yet his first judgment was reversed, for now he knew that the jungle god would slay Numa and the old black was even more terrified of his own impending fate at the hands of the victor than he had been by the sure and sudden death which the triumphant lion would have meted out to him. He saw the lion weaken from loss of blood. He saw the mighty limbs tremble and stagger and at last he saw the beast sink down to rise no more. He saw the forest god or demon rise from the vanquished foe and, placing a foot upon the still quivering carcass, raise his face to the moon and bay out a hideous cry that froze the ebbing blood in the veins of the witch-doctor.

There were about sixty boys and girls present the gifts consisting of numerous pieces of silver, china, aluminum and linen After the presentation the evening was spent in music, games and dancing at the conclusion of which a dainty and substantial luncheon was served. A most enjoyable and never-to-be-forgotten evening was then brought to a close all wishing Miss Armistead the best of luck and happiness in her new life and voting Miss Sprackett an ideal hostess.

C.P.R. Trainmen Get The Chicago Award

Board of Conciliation Gives Report To Department of Labor

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The Minister of Laor has received a report from the Board of Conciliation which, under the Chairmanship of Hon. Chief Justice Mathers of Winnipeg, inquired into the dispute as the wages and conditions of labor between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its conductors and trainmen on Western lines to the number of about three thousand. The other members of the Board were Mr. Isaac Pitblado, K.C., representing the company and Mr. David Campbell, representing the men.

The finding of the board is unanimous in so far as it concerns the major portion of the dispute relating to wages is concerned, the recommendation being that the dispute should be settled by the application of the so-called Chicago agreement of July 20 last.

In regard to other matters relating to certain differentiations, Mr. Campbell, on behalf of the men, has submitted a minority report. The hearing was one of considerable interest as it is the first dispute referred to a Board of Conciliation affecting the six Brotherhoods of Railway Employes which constituted the Canadian Adjustment Board number one since August, 1918. During that period all disputes have gone before the Adjustment Board for consideration.

While the employes demanded more than they got by the application of the Chicago award, which has already been put into effect by the railways, the feeling of the Department of Labor is hopeful that the report, although not unanimous on all points, may prove to be acceptable to both parties concerned.

GORED BY ANGRY BULL AND SERIOUSLY INJURED

Guelph, Nov. 3.—As the result of being attacked by a vicious bull, on the farm of John McIntosh, Paisley Block, L. E. Cook, a farm hand, sustained very serious injuries, and is now lying in the General Hospital. The infuriated animal dashed at Mr. Cook without warning and pinned him to the ground, its horn penetrating his body and inflicting some very nasty wounds. Mr. McIntosh, who was standing nearby, rushed to the assistance of Mr. Cook, and managed to beat the bull off with a pitchfork, and in so doing the animal was also severely crippled. The unfortunate victim was rushed to the General Hospital, where his condition this afternoon is reported as somewhat improved, although his injuries are of a very serious nature.

Brilliant Social Event Successfully Carried Out by Social Department of the Belleville Hydro Club

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the inaugural dance held Wednesday evening at Bennett's Academy under the auspices of the members of the Kelo Volt Amp., a social branch of the Hydro Club. Upwards of 150 couples were present, a number of whom were from outside the city, and all were delighted with the programme of dances provided. The Al. Linton orchestra of Toronto provided the music and it was all that could have been desired. Upon the walls were attractive programmes of the dances, the artistic work of Mr. R. G. Brook. The hall decorations were beautiful and artistically arranged, the colors, purple and gold blending harmoniously together. Festooned from the ceiling were paper streamers of the above colors whilst upwards of 300 colored electric bulbs added brilliancy to the scene. When the lights were all turned on the hall presented a most inviting appearance. To enhance the beauty of the scene the costumes worn by many of the ladies were exquisite in design. A mammoth electric light spread its rays over the hall when the remaining lamps were temporarily extinguished, giving a beautiful effect. Those who had the arrangement of this function left nothing undone to make it the success which it proved to be. At the conclusion of the 5th dance, four children executed a dance which was most delightful and well executed demonstrating that they had been well traind. They were Louise Wallbridge, Mary Day, Jack Cook and Clement Allen. Special musical numbers were under the supervision of Mrs. A. P. Allen. At midnight a dainty luncheon was served.

The officers, patronesses and stewards were as follows:

President—Mr. G. B. Smith.
Vice-President—Mr. O. H. Scott.
Secretary—Mr. W. H. Hinds.
Treasurer—Mr. O. W. Munnings.
Manager—Mr. R. L. Brown.
Patronesses: Mrs. G. B. Smith, Mrs. O. H. Scott, Mrs. E. W. Dickens, Mrs. S. Bongard, Mrs. F. S. Anderson, Mrs. C. F. Wallbridge, Mrs. J. S. McKeown, Mrs. W. F. Bennett.
Stewards: J. C. Horie, A. F. Y. Leslie, W. B. Vandervoora, W. O. Waldorf, H. Andersen, V. Emerson, F. W. Langley.

A Throne In the Jungle.

A massive chair made of copper, which natives believe was given by the late Queen Victoria to an Ashanti chieftain and used by him as a throne, has been discovered in the midst of a jungle far from human habitation in the Gold Coast Colony, West Africa. According to native legend it was placed over the grave of the chieftain who had occupied it when alive. The natives believe that the chieftain still sits upon his old throne in spirit at certain times, and for this reason they have never tried to move the chair which, they declare, has now rooted itself in the ground. A Gold Coast surveyor first stumbled across this curiosity. A search party returned to the spot and found the jungle so dense that the natives had to hack a path with cutlasses through the undergrowth.

Antiquity of Peat.

The use of peat as a source of heat goes back beyond the historical period into the ancient history of the early tribes of Northern Germany. Pliny, the Roman naturalist, gives us possibly the first indication of the use of peat. He reports that the Teutons on the border of the North Sea dried and burned mud, what we now would call peat. In Ireland, Great Britain, Russia, Scandinavia, Germany, Holland, and parts of France peat has been used as a fuel since time immemorial. The peat was cut from the bog very much in the same manner as it is still being done in many parts of Europe, where it is cut in brick shapes, allowed to dry in the wind and sun.

Corkwood.

The total world production of corkwood is estimated at 396,832,000 pounds, of which 45 per cent. is produced in Portugal, 30 per cent. in Spain, 5 per cent. in France and Italy, and 20 per cent. in Algeria and Tunis.

Orangemen Call For Swift Action

Urge Attorney-General to Silence Pro-Sinn Fein Agitators

At the largest County Orange Lodge meeting ever held in this city, the following resolution was moved by G. Granklin Reid, county treasurer, and seconded by W. McIntosh:

"Whereas the members of the County Orange Lodge of the County of Hastings views with alarm a propaganda being carried on in Canada by an organization known as the Self-Determination for Ireland League, and

"Whereas the said league is openly supporting and approving an organization in Ireland known as the Sinn Fein, which organization is deliberately carrying on a system of tyranny and crime hitherto unknown in a civilized country, in open defiance of law and order, and of the expressed request of the head of the Roman Catholic Church, and for the avowed purpose of disrupting the British Empire by wresting Ireland from our Empire and

"Whereas the said league has received the endorsement and the encouragement of a man claiming to be the head of a Government supplanting the British Government in Ireland, and

"Whereas Canada has expended over a billion dollars in money and provided an army of half a million men, over fifty thousand of whom laid down their lives on the battlefield for the purpose of preserving our Empire,

"Therefor, the County Orange Lodge of the County of Hastings condemns the said propaganda as disloyal to the Empire and calls upon the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario to put a stop to such propaganda and urges the citizens of Canada to keep faith with our boys who sleep in 'Flanders' Fields' and hold high the Torch of Empire received from their falling hands."

BURMESE FOND OF ANIMALS

Characteristic That Might Well Be Copied by Other Nations More Highly Civilized.

The Burmese people naturally are full of the greatest sympathy toward animals of all kinds, understand their ways, and make them feel they are their friends. And we know that if a person is kind to animals he is generally kind to his fellowman.

A Burmese boy would never be allowed to go bird-nesting, or ratting with a terrier, or ferreting rabbits. These would be crimes.

A Burman hates to kill. Neither for sport, nor for revenge, nor for food, must any animal be deprived of the breath that is in it.

All the animals—the ponies, the cattle and the working buffaloes are so tame that it is an almost unknown thing for anyone to get hurt. You can walk through the herds of an evening in perfect safety, for they will not attempt to touch you.

Many of our growing boys think it a grand thing to be indifferent to pain—not only their own but to that of all others. To be sorry for a wounded dog or a hunted hare seems "girly" to them. But to the Burman kindness to animals is the highest of all virtues. He believes that nothing of great value can exist without compassion and love and sympathy—that these make up all that is most beautiful in life.

I think we can take a lesson from the Burmese in their dealings with dumb animals.—The Young Soldier.

HELPED TO WIN GREAT WAR

Many Thousands of Chinese Laborers Took Useful Part in the Recent Conflict.

A little known but interesting sidelight on the World war is the fact that China was represented in the great conflict by 150,000 laborers, of whom 100,000 worked with the English forces, and 50,000 with the French.

They were recruited in China from the low or coolie-labor classes in units of 500 men. During the early days of the war and up to the middle of 1917 they were sent in transports down through the Indian ocean, up the Red sea and over the Mediterranean sea past Gibraltar to France. But submarines in the Mediterranean made travel too perilous and the route was changed. The balance of the 300 units of 500 men each were then sent over the Pacific to Vancouver, B. C., where the Canadian Pacific would transfer across our continent to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence across the Atlantic to France.

Each man's queue had been cut off and an identification disk, or "bracelet," in army vernacular, placed around his wrist. He was given 60 cents a day, two-thirds of which was set aside for his family or dependents in China—more money than he ever knew about before in a month—and this proved to be a magnet which drew thousands upon thousands of coolies to the recruiting station at Tientsin.

Barge, 63 Years Old, Sinks.

On old double-deck barge called the Harvest Queen, built in 1857, sank slowly upon the mud alongside the barge office through failure of her pumps to keep out the flood until repairs could be made in her leaking sides. She was towed here from Norfolk by the coast guard cutter Manhattan and was to be used as a temporary houseboat for the men of the coast guard service, who were compelled to give up their quarters in the municipal ferry terminal at South Ferry. Although the barge had a reputation for being an unusually leaky craft in her old days, an investigation will be made to ascertain if she was helped to the bottom by persons who had no wish to be housed aboard of her.—New York Tribune.

Just Like Peacock.

Although the American redstart is a little bird only five and a half inches long, it has one trait in common with the gorgeously plumed peacock, namely, that it seems to be very fond of its handsome plumage and is continually spreading its tail feathers, says the American Forestry association, Washington. The male redstart, whose colors are red, orange and white, does not attain the black portion of its plumage on back, tail and wings until it is two years old, this part of the bird during its early life being strangely mottled. The female is grayish, yellow and white.

Lazaretto.

The words, lazaretto and lazar-house, meaning a hospital or place for the reception of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and especially the leprosy, are derived from the Italian word of like meaning, lazzeretto. All are derived from Lazarus, the name of the poor leper in the parable to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke, chapter sixteen. This is the only case in the New Testament where a proper name occurs in a parable. The words derived from that proper name show the influence this parable has had on the mind of Christendom.

Money in Raising Alligators.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited, and there is not much competition. The few alligators have to be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all.

PAYS HER WAGER IN CHILLY WATEI

Portland, Me., Nov. 4—Miss Rose Starling, an athletic young woman, and ardent Democrat, paid a heroic election bet of Governor Cox's defeat today, when she dived 40 feet from Portland bridge and swam a third of a mile through the icy waters of the harbor to the float of the Portland Yacht Club. She was in the water 28 minutes.

When Miss Starling leaped from the bridge in the presence of 2,500 people she miscalculated the distance and struck flat on her stomach. She was stunned and feebly cried for help, while the horrified crowd thought she had been killed.

Before a boat could reach her, however, the plucky girl recovered, and refusing assistance, swam away. Only one Harding supporter, a high school boy athlete had taken Miss Starling's dare to perform the stunt in case the Republican candidate was beaten.

Another Change Necessary In Murney Hill Pavement

PLAN FOLLOWED AS RECOMMENDED BY GOVERNMENT ENGINEER FOUND FAULTY — PAVEMENT CANNOT BE SAFELY LAID ON PRESENT FOUNDATION—ADDITIONAL EXPENDITURE OF $2,000 ENTAILED BY CHANGE.

A special meeting of the City Coun-cil was held this morning at which Mayor Riggs and all the Aldermen ex-cepting Woodley were in attendance.

The object of the meeting was to ake immediate steps to remedy an al-leged defect in laying of crushed stone on Murney hill as a base for the top dressing of the proposed new road. It ppears that the Standard Paving Company was prepared to proceed to-lay in laying the top dressing when t was found impracticable to do so as he lose stone which had been rolled lown was spongy with water and dirt osing up.

City Engineer Mill stated that he ecommended in the first place a con-rete base but that the Ontario Rail-ay and Municipal Board had, hrough its engineer ordered the work o be done on the plan followed. It as now apparent that this was a mis ake. The stone should be taken up nd concrete mixed with it. The ex-ense would probably be $2,000. From sabel street to the top of the hill this hould be done before the asphalt finish is put on. The hill was naturally swampy.

Ald. Bone suggested going on with the concrete base and bringing the Government Engineer here immediately, as it was apparent he did not know local conditions when he made his recommendations.

Mr. Davis of the Standard Paving Company said a concrete base was necessary as the top dressing placed upon the present base would not last any time.

Ald. Ostrom stated that it was absolutely necessary to have a concrete base.

After some further informal discussion the following recommendation was unanimously adopted:

Recommended that the laying of stone on Murney Hill as ordered by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board be discontinued as the sub-base is too soft for macadam surface and that a concrete base be laid at once from Isabel street to top of the hill as originally planned by the City Engineer.

Canadian Flag To Fly On 7 Seas

Drug Addict Admits Firing Fatal Shot In Fight at Sandwich

WINDSOR, Nov. 5—The Essex County Assizes before Justice Rose at Sandwich were featured by two murder cases, only one of which was decided, that of George Collins, 42, of Detroit, indicted for the shooting of Jack McKinsley here in March last. Collins, who is a confessed drug addict, said he fired the fatal shot, believing that McKinsley let fall a knife after he had failed to stab Collins. A verdict of manslaughter was returned by the jury. Sentence will be passed to-morrow.

Police Sergeant Albert Burchil, of Walkerville, indicted for the killing of Walter C. Laforet, a young Windsor man, was still on trial when court adjourned. The defence makes no attempt to deny that Burchil fired the shot which killed Laforet but contends it was fired because he had not halted when ordered to do so.

The charge of murder against Mrs. Len Cassak, of Ford, was reduced to manslaughter, the Grand Jury declining to bring in a true bill for wilful murder.

Sugar Prices On The Decline

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—Demoralization reigned supreme in the sugar market here today and no one, refiner or wholesaler, seemed to know what was going on. Leading wholesalers stated that, following repeated drops in the raw sugar market at New York with the persistent course of the Dominion Sugar Refinery, which deals in beet sugar, in underselling the cane sugar refineries, the four big cane sugar refineries here had broken away from all agreements as to stabilization of prices and were selling where and how they could.

STARTING THE SLASHING

Accordingly, the big wholesale firms here, who in the past have stood fairly well together, abandoned the cohesive policy and started an orgy of price cutting today. For a time the price ran around 15 cents per pound, and then was reduced to 14 cents net, laid down to retailers here. A further decrease is looked for to-morrow.

GERMANY WANTS TO GET INTO LEAGUE

Paris, Nov. 5.—Applications for membership in the League of Nations will be made at the meeting of the Assembly of the League in Geneve this month on behalf not only of Germany but of Austria, according to information here. Bulgaria, it is learned, will make a direct application.

It is understood the application for Germany and Austria will both be made by neutrals.

Aim To Banish Labor Trouble From Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 5—Steps toward the democratization of Canadian industry are being taken by the Labor Department under an appropriation of $15,000 made for the purpose last session. The purpose of the scheme is to bring about a form of joint control of employers and employed. The method involves the establishment of a joint council connected with various industries on which will be represented both the management and the workmen along the lines of Whitley councils in England. By this means it is believed a better understanding will be brought about between capital and labor by which differences may be settled and strikes averted. One of the chief functions of the proposed industrial councils will be to arbitrate differences.

Within the next month or so officials of the Labor Department will go forth throughout the industrial centres and explain the scheme with a view towards encouraging its adoption.

Hard Luck For Colored War Veteran

ST CATHERINES, Nov. 5.—There was a dramatic scene in the Supreme Court when the commanding officer of a unit in the late war made a plea for leniency for his client, a colored man who went over to France with him as a private and the judge. Mr. Justice Latchford, in broken voice reasoned with the prisoner as to why he, a man who had fought side by side with the judge's two sons in that awful hell of Passchendale, must be punished as an example to others. The prisoner was "General" James Grant, a favorite with the whole white population here and popular among his own race. He was accused of shooting his brother, Arthur, with intent to kill, last March, during a family quarrel. To-day, Arthur very reluctantly related the facts. Another witness for the Crown said he thought young Jim fired only to scare his brother. The jury found him guilty of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Major E. H. Lancaster who raised the Forty-Ninth Battery of St. Catherines boys in 1916 and led them to France was counsel for Grant. He told in pleading for leniency how the young colored recruit as looked up to by his white comrades as an example. He had never had a bad mark against him. At Passchendale, which the Canucks remember so well, "General" Grant, as he was best known there, performed a splendid act of bravery, helping to save a gun when the horses had been shot down a perfect hell of destruction. For that he was given the Military Medal. Two white comrades concerned in the act of splendid bravery had willingly waived their claim to the medal in favor of Grant. Justice Latchford, in sentencing Grant, commented on the fact that the use of firearms was becoming general and said he would make it a crime to have a revolver. "I am sorry to punish you," he said, "but I feel it is my duty and think the ends of justice will be met if you are imprisoned for a year."

PILGRIM FATHERS HAD BAD SPLIT

Twentieth-century Pilgrim Fathers have hardships of their own. While Ben Greet players were lustily singing from the poop deck of a stage reproduction of the Mayflower at the Surrey theatre, stage properties gave way, the ship heeled, crashed toward the audience and precipitated the hapless Pilgrims to the stage amid sails, masts and splintered woodwork.

After anxious moments it was determined that no broken bones had resulted from the unhistorical presentation. Thus assured, the notable gathering of first nighters, including American diplomatic officials and influential Anglo-Americans, were prepared for the humor of the situation at the rise of the curtain on the second act—the Pilgrim Fathers offering thanks for their safe voyage cross the Atlantic London critics say the audience could hardly be blamed for bursting into laughter.

Double Shooting Affray

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 4.—In a double shooting at Montrose yesterday afternoon, Corporal Edwin Tautwein, of Troop B., was shot in the legs and lower part of the body by John Taylor, aged 40, of Montrose, who was in turn shot through the stomach by State trooper John Cline, and who is reported to be in a critical condition.

Bank Accountant Was Released

TORONTO, Nov. 5—James Fleming the accountant at the Woodbridge branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, who was arrested on Wednesday, charged with the alleged theft of approximately $13,000 of the moneys of the bank was freed yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fleming appeared twice before County Magistrate T. H. Brunton at the York County municipal buildings and at the second hearing the charge was withdrawn.

His future relations with the bank now rest with the Executive of the institution. He will continue his bank vacation of two weeks. Prior to the time of the robbery Mr. Fleming was slated for the managership of the branch at Bolton, which is not far from Woodbridge. News of dropping of the charge against him was last night received at Woodbridge with demonstrations of approval, he being well-known in the community and countryside.

MONEY STILL MISSING

The stolen money is still missing despite diligent search by city, county and private detectives, who will today begin active work on the solution of the robbery, which for the past two days has puzzled bank and police officials.

Mr. D. Inglis Grant, counsel for the Royal Bank of Canada, conveyed the information to Magistrate Brunton yesterday that it was the wish of the bank that the charge be withdrawn. From the time the robbery was discovered on Wednesday morning a full investigation had been carried on and the result, as announced in court, was that the bank did not have ample justification in asking the authorities to hold the accused accountant any longer. Mr. Fleming, following his arrest, made vigorous denial of any connection with the crime and he repeated the denial yesterday to bank officials as well as to officers of the guarantee company who will have to make good the loss to the bank.

Wide Majority For Alien Land Law

California Is Opposed To Land Tenure By Japanese

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 5.—In California, the adoption of the alien land law amendment, relating to Japanese land tenure, had a wide majority. The vote on a prohibition enforcement amendment stood 56,471 in favor of adoption and 110,298 against.

A vote of two to one was recorded against a proposed constitutional amendment which would, in effect, abolish parochial schools in the State of Michigan.

With a little less than a third of the vote received in Boston tabulated the totals on the referendum on the bill to permit the sale of light wines and beers were: Yes, 120,605; No, 110,296.

The proposition to give a bonus to men of New York State who served in the army, navy or marine corps during the World War, was carried in Buffalo. The vote was 58,366 for and 18,829 against.

Republican leaders here stated that the overwhelming vote which swept Harding into office will be regarded as a mandate from the people against the present League of Nations."

According to the Moscow Pravda, as quoted by the correspondent, Leon Trotzky, in a speech in Petrograd, declared: "I know danger is coming. Ferguson Says Timber Judges Play Politics

"I Won't Be Robbed of My Good Name," He Declares in Reply

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Nov. 5—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in an interview with The Star made a spirited reply to the second interim report of the Riddell-Latchford Timber Commission dealing with the Shevlin-Clarke Co., of Fort Frances.

THE MINISTER'S STATEMENT

Mr. Ferguson's statement is as follows:

"The commission are running true to form. The interim report is based on incomplete evidence. The commission stated that they had put men into a large number of mills to check log measurements and the mill cut, and to learn accurately what the average over run is from logs of different sizes, and said they intended to have that evidence before them before reaching a conclusion. Apparently in their anxiety to issue a report of this particular time they have not waited to secure the only evidence that can accurately give them the over-run.

NOT ORIGINATED BY HEARST

"The regulation which they allege was violated was not originated by Sir William Hearst as their report would lead the public to believe. These regulations, in practically the form in which they are today, have been in existence since about 1870, and while they are for the general guidance of the Minister, no Minister has ever hesitated to put aside a regulation where the public interest required it. The report seeks to give the impression that I paid no attention to regulations. My evidence emphatically stated that where the public interest and the regulations conflicted, the public interest prevailed.

TALK ABOUT PATRONAGE

"I notice also the occasion to draw the conclusion that the Crown timber agent at Fort Frances was appointed on Mr. Mathieu's recommendation. For some reason they ignored the statement I made that the Crown timber agent is a returned soldier and was appointed on the recommendation and at the request of the G.W.V.A. The recommendation and correspondence are all on the files.

"The commission carefully omits to tell the public the particulars with regard to the cutting rights given the Shevlin-Clarke Co., in Quetico park. They were given in connection with an arrangement to demonstrate the possibility of burning brush on the snow as the timber cutting goes on, and to ascertain the cost of such work. Such winter brush burning is advocated by all the leading foresters in the United States and Canada, and is today being carried on in many districts in the United States. If it can be carried on successfully at a reasonable cost in Ontario, where we have such deep snows and severe winters, it will mean many millions of dollars added to the wealth of the Province in the preservation of young timber from destruction by fire.

Republican Gains Still Piling Up

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With the size of President-elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531 and the complexion of the new Senate set down as 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats, Republican leaders today awaited belated returns on eight contests in six States to fix the exact size of the Republican House majority. Exclusive of eight undetermined seats in the Lower House the Republicans had 286 members to 137 Democrats and four of other designations, a plurality of 149, the greatest ever held by any party in the House. The nearest approach to it was in the fifty-second Congress when the Democrats had lead of 148. The Republicans appeared to be assured of better than an even break on eight outstanding seats which would give them a record party margin in the House.

$1,000,000 Marine Suit

Washington, Nov. 4.—Suits for damages aggregating nearly $1,000,000 growing out of the loss of the Greek steamship Thessalonika off New York in 1916, are involved in an application for a writ of certiorari filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by consignees and underwriters of the vessel's cargo. The brief alleges that the ship was sent to sea with her boilers in such condition that she was unfit for the voyage.

Wrangel's Troops Safely Withdrawn

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 5.—General Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolsheviki Government in South Russia, has successfully withdrawn his troops to the Crimea before the advance of Soviet armies south of the Dnieper River. He is master of Perekop and also Salkova. At Salkova he has captured several thousand men belonging to units of General Budenny's cavalry. The spirit of his trops is good but they are worn out by their long fight of five months and are glad to be assured of rest in Crimea. Soviet forces are besieging anti-Bolshevik trench system on the narrow neck of land leading from the Crimean Peninsula to the mainland but it is asserted only ten thousand of General Wrangel's troops will be required to hold Perekop and Salkova.

Spoonful Of Coal For Sick People

Acute Situation Developing in Buffalo Over the Fuel Question.

Buffalo, Nov. 5.—A doctor's certificate must be presented to coal dealers in Buffalo now before coal will be delivered. So acute is the situation that should there be a cold spell within the next three weeks a great deal of real suffering is certain.

Only people who have aged persons, tiny babies, or invalids in their homes are receiving coal and that in half-ton lots. That the situation is more acute that it has ever been before, is the statement made by a prominent retailer.

There is some coal available at the mines, but is all owned by private individuals who are holding it at exorbitant prices and only the very rich can buy it. The stocks of the big distributing firms are wholly depleted.

No Gas for Furnaces.

One of the prime reasons for the unprecedented situation is the refusal of the gas companies to sell gas to citizens for use in furnaces. In the past it has been the practice of many people to use gas almost entirely for heating purposes. With the present shortage of gas and rise in price of what is available the demand for anthracite coal has increased tremendously. One wholesaler ventured the opinion that the demand has been doubled on this account, but this approximation is thought to be too high.

Won't Pay Canadian Price.

The price of coal is still $13 to $13.25 per ton for anthracite. Canadians across the border at St. Catharines are paying $21. Buffalonians refuse to pay that for their coal and prefer to go cold.

Dealers here refuse to have anything to do with small amounts of coal at that price except when a customer demands it at any price. A few orders are being taken on those terms but it is not known what the bill will be.

OVER TWO MILLIONS LOPPED FROM DEBT

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Expanding revenues last month brought a reduction in the net Canadian national debt of $2,634,356. At the end of September, the net debt (no credit being taken for non-active assets) stood at $2,276,516,163. During October it was reduced to $2,273,516,163, at which figure it now stands. The bounding revenue, coupled with a heavy fall in capital expenditure due to the practical closing up of war accounts, is regarded with keen satisfaction.

Find No Trace Of N.Y. Murderer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—Leeds Vaugh Waters believed by the police to have been a member of a titled English family was found dead with his head cut and bruised in a room in the Plymouth Hotel. Police are searching for a "rough looking" young man who accompanied Waters to the hotel and registered as "James Dunn, Milwaukee." Water's body, partly clothed and lying on the floor was found by hotel employes who were attracted to the room by cries and sounds of a struggle. When they knocked on the door demanding admittance, the young man who accompanied Waters dashed out, ran down the stairway to the street, eight floors below, and made [illegible] cape. Waters was lying amid [illegible] of upset furnishings with a deep cut under the left eye and a bruised head The police surgeon said he died of a fractured skull.

As Waters' money and jewellery was untouched, the police are puzzled as to the motive of the crime.

Although he had registered as "J. Talbott, Milwaukee," the police made positive identification of the murdered man as Waters, they said, and notified his mother at a Bronxville, N.Y., hotel.

Finger prints found on a mirror in the room and a description of the man who accompanied Waters are expected by the police to lead to an early arrest.

Waters, according to the police, came to the United States from England last October, and had been living in Bronxville with his mother.

Montreal Sugar Drops a Cent

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—Montreal sugar refiners are today quoting sugar at 15½c per pound which is a cent cheaper than yesterday's price. A large local wholesaler stated today that the refiners should have reduced prices sooner. Calculating the cost of replacing raw supplies by importation from Cuba to ship to Canada and for duty and freight, he estimated that refiners could secure a supply in Montreal for about $10.44. Spread in United States was not over three cents, the wholesaler pointed out and at that rate Canadian refineries should be supplying sugar at a little over $13. Instead of that the spread here was from four to six cents he said and sugar had not been sold on a fair basis at that rate. Until such time as sugar was reduced by the refiners to a basis on which supplies of raw could be replaced, the sugar market here would remain unsettled in this merchant's opinion.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5—Steps toward the democratization of Canadian industry are being taken by the Labor Department under an appropriation of $15,000 made for the purpose last session. The purpose of the scheme is to bring about a form of joint control of employers and employed. The method involves the establishment of a joint council connected with various industries on which will be represented both the management and the workmen along the lines of Whitley councils in England. By this means it is believed a better understanding will be brought about between capital and labor by which differences may be settled and strikes averted. One of the chief functions of the proposed industrial councils will be to arbitrate differences.

Within the next month or so officials of the Labor Department will go forth throughout the industrial centres and explain the scheme with a view towards encouraging its adoption.

Hard Luck For Colored War Veteran

ST CATHERINES, Nov. 5.—There was a dramatic scene in the Supreme Court when the commanding officer of a unit in the late war made a plea for leniency for his client, a colored man who went over to France with him as a private and the judge. Mr. Justice Latchford, in broken voice reasoned with the prisoner as to why he, a man who had fought side by side with the judge's two sons in that awful hell of Passchendale, must be punished as an example to others. The prisoner was "General" James Grant, a favorite with the whole white population here and popular among his own race. He was accused of shooting his brother, Arthur, with intent to kill, last March, during a family quarrel. To-day, Arthur very reluctantly related the facts. Another witness for the Crown said he thought young Jim fired only to scare his brother. The jury found him guilty of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Major E. H. Lancaster who raised the Forty-Ninth Battery of St. Catherines boys in 1916 and led them to France was counsel for Grant. He told in pleading for leniency how the young colored recruit as looked up to by his white comrades as an example. He had never had a bad mark against him. At Passchendale, which the Canucks remember so well, "General" Grant, as he was best known there, performed a splendid act of bravery, helping to save a gun when the horses had been shot down a perfect hell of destruction. For that he was given the Military Medal. Two white comrades concerned in the act of splendid bravery had willingly waived their claim to the medal in favor of Grant. Justice Latchford, in sentencing Grant, commented on the fact that the use of firearms was becoming general and said he would make it a crime to have a revolver. "I am sorry to punish you," he said, "but I feel it is my duty and think the ends of justice will be met if you are imprisoned for a year."

PILGRIM FATHERS HAD BAD SPLIT

Twentieth-century Pilgrim Fathers have hardships of their own. While Ben Greet players were lustily singing from the poop deck of a stage reproduction of the Mayflower at the Surrey theatre, stage properties gave way, the ship heeled, crashed toward the audience and precipitated the hapless Pilgrims to the stage amid sails, masts and splintered woodwork.

After anxious moments it was determined that no broken bones had resulted from the unhistorical presentation. Thus assured, the notable gathering of first nighters, including American diplomatic officials and influential Anglo-Americans, were prepared for the humor of the situation at the rise of the curtain on the second act—the Pilgrim Fathers offering thanks for their safe voyage cross the Atlantic London critics say the audience could hardly be blamed for bursting into laughter.

Double Shooting Affray

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 4.—In a double shooting at Montrose yesterday afternoon, Corporal Edwin Tautwein, of Troop B., was shot in the legs and lower part of the body by John Taylor, aged 40, of Montrose, who was in turn shot through the stomach by State trooper John Cline, and who is reported to be in a critical condition.

Bank Accountant Was Released

TORONTO, Nov. 5—James Fleming the accountant at the Woodbridge branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, who was arrested on Wednesday, charged with the alleged theft of approximately $13,000 of the moneys of the bank was freed yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fleming appeared twice before County Magistrate T. H. Brunton at the York County municipal buildings and at the second hearing the charge was withdrawn.

His future relations with the bank now rest with the Executive of the institution. He will continue his bank vacation of two weeks. Prior to the time of the robbery Mr. Fleming was slated for the managership of the branch at Bolton, which is not far from Woodbridge. News of dropping of the charge against him was last night received at Woodbridge with demonstrations of approval, he being well-known in the community and countryside.

MONEY STILL MISSING

The stolen money is still missing despite diligent search by city, county and private detectives, who will today begin active work on the solution of the robbery, which for the past two days has puzzled bank and police officials.

Mr. D. Inglis Grant, counsel for the Royal Bank of Canada, conveyed the information to Magistrate Brunton yesterday that it was the wish of the bank that the charge be withdrawn. From the time the robbery was discovered on Wednesday morning a full investigation had been carried on and the result, as announced in court, was that the bank did not have ample justification in asking the authorities to hold the accused accountant any longer. Mr. Fleming, following his arrest, made vigorous denial of any connection with the crime and he repeated the denial yesterday to bank officials as well as to officers of the guarantee company who will have to make good the loss to the bank.

Wide Majority For Alien Land Law

California Is Opposed To Land Tenure By Japanese

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 5.—In California, the adoption of the alien land law amendment, relating to Japanese land tenure, had a wide majority. The vote on a prohibition enforcement amendment stood 56,471 in favor of adoption and 110,298 against.

A vote of two to one was recorded against a proposed constitutional amendment which would, in effect, abolish parochial schools in the State of Michigan.

With a little less than a third of the vote received in Boston tabulated the totals on the referendum on the bill to permit the sale of light wines and beers were: Yes, 120,605; No, 110,296.

The proposition to give a bonus to men of New York State who served in the army, navy or marine corps during the World War, was carried in Buffalo. The vote was 58,366 for and 18,829 against.

Republican leaders here stated that the overwhelming vote which swept Harding into office will be regarded as a mandate from the people against the present League of Nations.

PLANS TO OVERTHROW SOVIET DISCOVERED

Copenragen, Nov. 5.—The Berlingske Tidende's Kovno correspondent says today, that Moscow newspapers received in Kovno, record an official announcement of the discovery by the Soviets of plans for a big counter-revolution. Precautions have been taken and thousands of persons are being arrested daily, the newspapers say and the general has detained 3,000 of the former Czar's officers who have been interned in Orenburg.

According to the Moscow Pravda, as quoted by the correspondent, Leon Trotzky, in a speech in Petrograd, declared: "I know danger is coming. I realize the possibility of a severe winter, but though three-fourth of the population die of hunger and cold the remaider will survive to carry through to victory world revolution."

PLAN MEMORIAL ARCH AT MILITARY COLLEGE

Kingston, Nov. 4.—The Royal Military College is to have a memorial arch erected on the grounds to the memory of the cadets and graduates who fell in the Great War while serving in the Canadian and Imperial armies. It is likely that it will be located somewhere near the entrance at the end of the De Lasalle Causeway.

Ferguson Says Timber Judges Play Politics

"I Won't Be Robbed of My Good Name," He Declares in Reply

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Nov. 5—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in an interview with The Star made a spirited reply to the second interim report of the Riddell-Latchford Timber Commission dealing with the Shevlin-Clarke Co., of Fort Frances.

THE MINISTER'S STATEMENT

Mr. Ferguson's statement is as follows:

"The commission are running true to form. The interim report is based on incomplete evidence. The commission stated that they had put men into a large number of mills to check log measurements and the mill cut, and to learn accurately what the average over run is from logs of different sizes, and said they intended to have that evidence before them before reaching a conclusion. Apparently in their anxiety to issue a report of this particular time they have not waited to secure the only evidence that can accurately give them the over-run.

NOT ORIGINATED BY HEARST

"The regulation which they allege was violated was not originated by Sir William Hearst as their report would lead the public to believe. These regulations, in practically the form in which they are today, have been in existence since about 1870, and while they are for the general guidance of the Minister, no Minister has ever hesitated to put aside a regulation where the public interest required it. The report seeks to give the impression that I paid no attention to regulations. My evidence emphatically stated that where the public interest and the regulations conflicted, the public interest prevailed.

TALK ABOUT PATRONAGE

"I notice also the occasion to draw the conclusion that the Crown timber agent at Fort Frances was appointed on Mr. Mathieu's recommendation. For some reason they ignored the statement I made that the Crown timber agent is a returned soldier and was appointed on the recommendation and at the request of the G.W.V.A. The recommendation and correspondence are all on the files.

"The commission carefully omits to tell the public the particulars with regard to the cutting rights given the Shevlin-Clarke Co., in Quetico park. They were given in connection with an arrangement to demonstrate the possibility of burning brush on the snow as the timber cutting goes on, and to ascertain the cost of such work. Such winter brush burning is advocated by all the leading foresters in the United States and Canada, and is today being carried on in many districts in the United States. If it can be carried on successfully at a reasonable cost in Ontario, where we have such deep snows and severe winters, it will mean many millions of dollars added to the wealth of the Province in the preservation of young timber from destruction by fire.

Republican Gains Still Piling Up

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With the size of President-elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 401 out of a possible 531 and the complexion of the new Senate set down as 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats, Republican leaders today awaited belated returns on eight contests in six States to fix the exact size of the Republican House majority. Exclusive of eight undetermined seats in the Lower House the Republicans had 286 members to 137 Democrats and four of other designations, a plurality of 149, the greatest ever held by any party in the House. The nearest approach to it was in the fifty-second Congress when the Democrats had lead of 148. The Republicans appeared to be assured of better than an even break on eight outstanding seats which would give them a record party margin in the House.

$1,000,000 Marine Suit

Washington, Nov. 4.—Suits for damages aggregating nearly $1,000,000 growing out of the loss of the Greek steamship Thessalonika off New York in 1916, are involved in an application for a writ of certiorari filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by consignees and underwriters of the vessel's cargo. The brief alleges that the ship was sent to sea with her boilers in such condition that she was unfit for the voyage.

Lieut Hamilton Shot Dead By Men in Ambush

MURDER OF MILITARY OFFICER IN IRELAND FOLLOWED BY REPISALS—TWO SUSPECTS SHOT DEAD WHILE TRYING TO ESCAPE—PROPERTY DESTROYED BY FIRE AND BOMBS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Evening Standard's correspondent at Mullingar, County Westmeath, Ireland, says it is reported, although not confirmed, that seventeen Black and Tans have been killed from ambush by machine guns.

Nenagh, County Tipperary, Ireland, Nov. 5.—Lieut. Hamilton was shot dead while motoring near here last evening. Two men who were arrested on suspicion of having killed Lieut. Hamilton, attempted to escape, and were shot dead. Re prisals followed the officer's death. Licensed premises and a printing office were destroyed by fire and a creamery was blown up with bombs and the machinery smashed. The inhabitants of Nenagh fled into the surrounding country. The noise of firing and explosion was heard throughout the night.

Wrangel's Troops Safely Withdrawn

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 5.--General Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolsheviki Government in South Russia, has successfully withdrawn his troops to the Crimea before the advance of Soviet armies south of the Dnieper River. He is master of Perekop and also Salkova. At Salkova he has captured several thousand men belonging to units of General Budenny's cavalry. The spirit of his trops is good but they are worn out by their long fight of five months and are glad to be assured of rest in Crimea. Soviet forces are besieging anti-Bolshevik trench system on the narrow neck of land leading from the Crimean Peninsula to the mainland but it is asserted only ten thousand of General Wrangel's troops will be required to hold Perekop and Salkova.

Spoonful Of Coal For Sick People

Acute Situation Developing in Buffalo Over the Fuel Question.

Buffalo, Nov. 5.—A doctor's certificate must be presented to coal dealers in Buffalo now before coal will be delivered. So acute is the situation that should there be a cold spell within the next three weeks a great deal of real suffering is certain.

Only people who have aged persons, tiny babies, or invalids in their homes are receiving coal and that in half-ton lots. That the situation is more acute that it has ever been before, is the statement made by a prominent retailer.

There is some coal available at the mines, but is all owned by private individuals who are holding it at exorbitant prices and only the very rich can buy it. The stocks of the big distributing firms are wholly depleted.

No Gas for Furnaces.

One of the prime reasons for the unprecedented situation is the refusal of the gas companies to sell gas to citizens for use in furnaces. In the past it has been the practice of many people to use gas almost entirely for heating purposes. With the present shortage of gas and rise in price of what is available the demand for anthracite coal has increased tremendously. One wholesaler ventured the opinion that the demand has been doubled on this account, but this approximation is thought to be too high.

Won't Pay Canadian Price.

The price of coal is still $13 to $13.25 per ton for anthracite. Canadians across the border at St. Catharines are paying $21. Buffalonians refuse to pay that for their coal and prefer to go cold.

Dealers here refuse to have anything to do with small amounts of coal at that price except when a customer demands it at any price. A few orders are being taken on those terms but it is not known what the bill will be.

OVER TWO MILLIONS LOPPED FROM DEBT

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Expanding revenues last month brought a reduction in the net Canadian national debt of $2,634,356. At the end of September, the net debt (no credit being taken for non-active assets) stood at $2,276,516,163. During October it was reduced to $2,273,516,163, at which figure it now stands. The bounding revenue, coupled with a heavy fall in capital expenditure due to the practical closing up of war accounts, is regarded with keen satisfaction.

Find No Trace Of N.Y. Murderer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—Leeds Vaugh Waters believed by the police to have been a member of a titled English family was found dead with his head cut and bruised in a room in the Plymouth Hotel. Police are searching for a "rough looking" young man who accompanied Waters to the hotel and registered as "James Dunn, Milwaukee." Water's body, partly clothed and lying on the floor was found by hotel employes who were attracted to the room by cries and sounds of a struggle. When they knocked on the door demanding admittance, the young man who accompanied Waters dashed out, ran down the stairway to the street, eight floors below, and made his escape. Waters was lying amid a pile of upset furnishings with a deep cut under the left eye and a bruised head The police surgeon said he died of a fractured skull.

As Waters' money and jewellery was untouched, the police are puzzled as to the motive of the crime.

Although he had registered as "J. Talbott, Milwaukee," the police made positive identification of the murdered man as Waters, they said, and notified his mother at a Bronxville, N.Y., hotel.

Finger prints found on a mirror in the room and a description of the man who accompanied Waters are expected by the police to lead to an early arrest.

Waters, according to the police, came to the United States from England last October, and had been living in Bronxville with his mother.

Montreal Sugar Drops a Cent

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—Montreal sugar refiners are today quoting sugar at 15½c per pound which is a cent cheaper than yesterday's price. A large local wholesaler stated today that the refiners should have reduced prices sooner. Calculating the cost of replacing raw supplies by importation from Cuba to ship to Canada and for duty and freight, he estimated that refiners could secure a supply in Montreal for about $10.44. Spread in United States was not over three cents, the wholesaler pointed out and at that rate Canadian refineries should be supplying sugar at a little over $13. Instead of that the spread here was from four to six cents he said and sugar had not been sold on a fair basis at that rate. Until such time as sugar was reduced by the refiners to a basis on which supplies of raw could be replaced, the sugar market here would remain unsettled in this merchant's opinion.

Effect on Waterway

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—In view of coming administration changes at Washington, developments in connection with the deepening of the St. Lawrence waterway will be followed here with especial interest. The question of deepening the St. Lawrence waterway is now before the International Waterways Commission on joint reference by the Governments of the United States and Canada. It is on the possibilities following the Commission's report and recommendations to their Governments that the discussion turns.

WOMAN INJURED

While on the way home from Deseronto on Monday afternoon and before reaching the town limits, Mrs. Fred Pratt was thrown from her buggy in a collision with an auto. The accident occurred between the canning factory office and the turn to the old Rathbun farm. Mrs. Pratt was accompanied by Mr. Crears at the time. From what can be learned the car, which was owned by a Hamilton man was coming from the east. The driver evidently wanted the road for it is alleged he did not turn out. The car caught the rear wheel of Mrs. Pratt's buggy and turned the vehicle over, breaking the shafts and severely injuring Mrs. Pratt. Mrs. Pratt was taken home in a car owned by Mr. Ashley who was on the scene shortly after the accident. Dr. Wallbridge, who was called, found Mrs. Pratt severely injured down the side and suffering a great deal from shock. No bones were broken. For the car owner it must be said that he stopped, gave his name and address, offered to take Mrs. Pratt to the doctor's and make good for all damages.

WHITE HOUSE DRESS.

Some of the Traditions of General Washington.

When President Wilson, because of illness, received the King of the Belgians while propped up in bed, and told the Prince of Wales that the bed in which he lay had been occupied by Baron Renfrew, later King Edward VII., and Abraham Lincoln, he added traditions to the host already clinging about the White House.

"President Wilson's enforced dishabille recalls the premeditated negligee—worn slippers, yarn stockings, and old suit—by which Jefferson sought to impress the British Ambassador with American democracy when that official arrived in full official dress to present his credentials," observes a bulletin of the National Geographical Society. "Early morning callers on John Quincy Adams had to cool their heels until that President finished three chapters in the Bible and walked down back of the White House for a swim in the Potomac. To 'drop in' at the White House evenings, quite the sociable thing to do during Jackson's terms, meant finding the Chief Executive before an open fire, in an old loose coat doing duty as a smoking jacket, puffing at a long pipe with a bowl of red clay.

"No room at the White House is better known to the public than the East Room, of late years the scene of brilliant receptions and White House weddings. It, too, has memories of a cruder democracy when all Washington flocked there to 'follow about the servants who carried refreshments, seizing upon whatever they could get,' and upon one occasion two 'ladies' perched upon the chimney piece to get a better view of the colorful scene.

"Strange were the gifts to Presidents of earlier years. Strangest of all, perhaps, was the cheese sent to Thomas Jefferson, with the admiring inscription, 'The greatest cheese in America for the greatest man in America.' It was conveyed to Jefferson by a six-horse team. He insisted upon paying for it, and it lasted for more than a year, being the piece de resistance of many a state dinner in the meantime."

24,000 Miles of Tree-Lined Roads.

Many of us trudged up and down the tree-lined roads of France during the war. All the national roads, to the extent of 24,000 miles, are lined with trees planted and cared for by the Government.

Four centuries ago Francis I. started the good work with a batch of Lombardy poplars, and it has even since been carried on, despite all political upheavals.

The Ministry of Public Works has now more than 3,000,000 trees under its control. When the road is between ten and sixteen metres in width one row of trees is set out on each side. When the width is over sixteen metres two rows are planted, with a foot-path between them.

Tree-planting is given out in small contracts to local men, who receive a lump sum as soon as the trees are planted and the balance at the end of two years.

During that period the contractor is responsible for the care of the trees, and for replacing any that die or prove defective.

Sugar Cane.

Sugar cane requires an abundance of sunshine and water and a deep, fertile soil. In planting the stalks are laid lengthwise in furrows, and each joint sends up a shoot, which later produces suckers. When ready for harvesting a field of sugar cane resembles a corn field, but the plants are somewhat larger and there are no tassels and no ears. The stalks at this time have been growing about twelve months and have changed from green to reddish in color, while most of the lower leaves have fallen away. They are cut by hand with a long knife, stripped of their leaves and carried on carts or small cars to the sugar mill.

It is asserted that there is in India sufficient bamboo to produce 1,400,000 tons of dry pulp a year.

World's Biggest Gem.

What is considered as the largest uncut precious stone in the world is a flawless black opal recently discovered in America and now in the office of a Government official in Washington, District of Columbia. The gem is said to contain approximately twenty-one cubic inches, weighs 2,572,332 carats, and is valued by the owners at $250,000. The colors are translucent blues and greens with a little red. The famous Viennese opal, which was without equal until the American specimen was found, weighs 1,658,927 carats, but has a number of flaws.

Curious Wedding Customs.

At a Persian wedding the gentlemen take off their shoes at the door. The ladies squat on their side of the room to await the bride's coming. She invariably appears with reddened features and swollen eyes, for she is expected to cry for a week before the ceremony. Her wedding gifts from the company consists of such practical trifles as papers of pins, and cakes of soap.

Jap National Anthem.

The Japanese national anthem is the oldest existing, and it is said to be the shortest. It is known as "Kimigayo," and when translated means somewhat as follows: "May the reign of our sovereign endure for a thousand years, and for eight thousand more beyond that, until stones are not rocks any more, nor moss any longer grows thickly."

"The Cup Of Fury" A Thrilling Drama

Claire Chadwick Shows Outstanding Talent in "Mamise" An Innocent Victim fo German Spies

With an able cast selected with great care, "The Cup of Fury", an eminent author's production from the book of Rupert Hughes, is illustrative of how convincing a picture can be if its players are exactly suited by type to their parts. After viewing "The Cup of Fury" at Griffin's last night one cannot imagine the characters in it being portrayed by any but the people who have the parts. They seem to live and breathe on the screen, so well do they blend with the trend of the story. Helene Chadwick has one of the most dramatic roles of her career as Mamise. Her sweetness and simplicity win quick sympathy for the girl whose innocent confidence in her foster parents leads her into a trap set by the secret service for a band of German conspirators. As the story reaches its climax, Miss Chadwick has an opportunity to bring into play her great versatility, and she makes the most of it. Mamise could not be a more satisfying person whether in her highly emotional scene or in those which she dominates by strength of character.

Rockliffe Fellows combines in Davidge culture and chivalry with manliness and loyalty, and makes him a clean cut fellow of pleasing personality whose ire it is not safe to arouse. Davidge's persistent courtship of Mamise and his final success in winning her furnishes the vein of romance that runs through the story.

Sydney Ainsworth is very prominent in the early part of the picture as Verrinder, a human-bloodhound type of secret service man who does not understand the meaning of defeat. The convincing work also of the other members of the cast reflects to the credit of the Director, T. Hayes Hunter, who made use of every possible chance to inject realism into the picture and keep it alive in thrills and action.

Babe Ruth "The Home Run King" of baseball, and other baseball celebrities are shown in action first by the regular way of playing and then by the ultra rapid or slow motion camera every movement of the mighty batter in his home run wallops is shown.

Tom Mix in a Western play "Dad's Girl", a 2-reel Hank Mann comedy, and a new and thrilling chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial completes a splendid and varied bill of screen entertainment all of which will be shown again Tonight, and Saturday, matinee and night.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE LAW DIVINE" AT GRIFFIN'S ON MONDAY

A transcontinental tour is now under way with Mr. H. V. Esmond, Miss Eva Moore, and their complete London (Wyndham's Theatre) company in "The law Divine", Mr Esmond's latest comedy, under the auspices of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd.

In this delightful entertainment the well-known playwright is seen at his best, and both he and his gifted wife, Miss Eva Moore, have roles which fit them to perfection.

"The Law Divine" has won golden opinions everywhere it has been presented so far in Canada—throughout the Maritime provinces, and in Montreal also,—as a comedy of the highest type, with scintillating wit, pathos, romance, and shrewd, kindly philosophy mingled skillfully and appealingly.

Mr. Esmond himself has never been seen to better advantage than in the role of the husband hungry for his wife's complete absorption in various movements, which leads her unconsciously to neglect her former close adherence to domestic ideals.

Miss Moore is England's premier comedienne, and in "The Law Divine" has a part which fits her like a glove, and in which she finds full scope for her brilliant ideals.

The supporting company will be found one of exceptional excellence all round.

"The Law Divine" will be seen here at Griffin's Theatre, Monday night, November 8th for one night only with the original London company and production intact.

ST OF WIVES CLIMBS IN BURMA

he cost of wives has increased in far-off Chin Hills of Burma where y are obtained on the "dollar n" plan. Men matrimonially ined are demanding lower and eas terms from their prospective fas-in-law, who are compensated for loss of their daughters' labor des a report by Reverend J. Herbert Cope, representative of the Baptist Foreign Mission Society at Haka.

"This year a lively discussion grew out of the resolution that selling of daughters cease", the report continued. "The custom has grown into an abuse. Men are demanding more and more until a young chap who marries goes frightfully into debt which he is years liquidating. And if while paying slowly for his wife, the husband incurs the anger of her father, the daughter is promptly called home and in some cases sold to another man. We have been trying to get them to reduce the charges".

Efforts to induce the natives to follow the customs of white men are being made. An educational institution opened in these districts as a result of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists, Dr. Cope said.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.

Swiss Have Patented Valuable Process.

The Gyr-Guyer Bank, at Zurich, Switzerland, holds patent rights in a new process whereby an artificial stone suitable for building purposes can be produced at one-third the ordinary cost of such material. This is deemed of importance at the present time, when houses are so badly needed.

The stone in question is an artificial sandstone, and the machine for making it turns out 3,000 molded and pressed blocks per day. Three days later the blocks are dry, hard and ready for use.

Nature has two methods of making rocks — with water and with heat. When you pause on the street to watch the laying of a "granolithic" sidewalk, what you see is an imitation of the process by which sedimentary rocks are formed. In nature the material is deposited from water in tiny particles, which, cemented together by silicates, form rock.

The so-familiar Portland cement is composed of clay, lime and silica, mixed dry. When water is added the silica is dissolved, and glues the particles of clay and lime together in a solid mass—converting the mixture into rock.

Within recent years there has been an enormously increased use of artificial stone in the form of what we call concrete, which is a mixture of sand, gravel (or broken rock) and cement. It has been estimated that the quantity of concrete utilized in the construction of the locks of the Panama canal would suffice to build a continuous street of houses all the way from Philadelphia to New York.

Mortar is a mixture of sand, clay and lime, which "sets" solidly, becoming an artificial stone so enduring that in many ancient structures it has outlasted the stone blocks it held together. Nature knows how to make mortar, as proved by a geological formation that covers extensive areas in Kansas and Texas. It is composed of sand, clay and lime, and is popularly known as the "mortar beds."

For making artificial marbles there are various processes. In Vermont the debris of marble quarries is ground up and used for this purpose. Chalk, which is porous, is plunged into a solution of mineral oxide, to give it color, and then into a bath of liquid silicate, to cement its particles together, the result being a very hard material that has the "ring" of marble, and which takes an exquisite polish.

Plaster of paris is gypsum. It has many uses, but we are most familiar with it as wall plaster, which is an artificial stone.

When it comes to "igneous" rocks, we find that mankind has not failed cleverly to imitate nature's methods. Most familiar in this line is the common brick. An artificial granite is made by taking the refuse of granite quarries, grinding it to powder, mixing it with clay, molding it into blocks and subjecting the latter to an intense heat.

The chinaware and other crockery in daily use in every household are artificial stones made with the help of high temperatures, in imitation of nature's volcanic methods.

Scientific Christenings.

Christenings in the scientific world sometimes lead to curious results. New species of plants and animals are usually given a form of the name of the discoverer, and the fuchsia, for instance, hides quite prettily in its anglicised pronounciation the fact that it was christened after a gentleman of the name of Fuchs. The naturalist who named the family of Crustacea followed an original plan, having many names to bestow. His wife's name was Caroline. He took the letters of that name, put them in a hat, and drew them out again in every combination that would yield a pronounceable name for the shrimps and their cousins. Another naturalist reversed the process. He had a boundless admiration for the sea-worms, on which Greek names had been bestowed, and he had also seven daughters. So each daughter, as she arrived, was christened after one of the worms.

Picture Postcards.

Picture postcards are evidently much more ancient than is generally supposed. Their birth has been fixed shortly after the war of 1870, but it seems they go back nearly a century earlier. We are told that in the "Almanach de la Petite Poste" of 1777, one finds the following: "There are at this moment some engravings which are carried through the post on cards, often with communications which are visible to all. This new invention is by Demaison, the engraver, and has caused much talk." This would establish the claim of France to the birthplace of the modern pictorial card.

Canard.

The word canard, a duck, means also a hoax. Cornelisseu, attempting to try the gullibility of the public, reported in the papers that he had twenty ducks, one of which he cut up and threw to the nineteen, who devoured it greedily. Then he cut up another, then a third, and so on till nineteen were cut up. As the nineteenth was gobbled up by the surviving duck, it followed that this one duck actually ate nineteen ducks. This tale gave a new word to the language.

Egyptians and Gold.

The earliest evidence of the use of gold comes from Egypt and dates from about 4000 B.C. The ancient Egyptian symbol for gold is a conventional girdle of cowries. These shells still form part of the dress of certain tribes, and in the more recent Egyptian history were worn by princesses with gold and felspar to complete the girdle.

Cod and Salmon.

Considering weight, the cod fishery is the most productive in Canada, but the salmon fishery is by far the most valuable from a monetary viewpoint.

Cole and Vanderwater will do the kicking while Elliott will handle the signal code.

Mr. Affleck, the boys' manager has left no stone unturned in his effort to put his boys in the best of condition and will try to repeat the dose.

GOV'T REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

With the exception of a few turnips and a few apples, all the crops from Ontario fields for 1920 have now been safely garnered. There is still a great deal of threshing to be done, and in spite of the open season, many farmers have not yet turned a furrow in their fall ploughing. Only one County reports more than [illegible] per cent. of fall ploughing finished at the of October, while many say that not more than 20 per cent. has yet been accomplished. If open weatther follows recent rains, good progress will be made with ploughing as most farmers have now caught up pretty well with the rest of the fall work.

Live stock is being marketed, both feeding and breeding animals. Hogs are going at from $17.25 to $18 per cwt., one local U.F.O. Club in Eastern Ontario marketed a carload at the latter price last week. At a sale in Oxford County in Township where a calling campaign was recently carried on 200 hens sold for $400.

The milk flow has been well maintained but reports indicate a shading of prices for dairy products. In the leading dairy County of Oxford, the situation is still acute. Another condensery has been closed, although the plant operates to seperate milk for its patrons. This is in a district where there is a large winter production and hence the effect would be more serious. At the Beachville plant the price has been definitely set at $2.40 per cwt., while the producers supplying the city of Woodstock have reduced their price by 35 per cwt., in accordance with the action of the Ontario Milk Producers' Association.

Marketing of field crops is proceeding slowly. Potatoes are quoted as low as $1.00 per bag and prices range up to $2.00. Middlesex farmers are asking $1.00 per bushel as they feel the crop will not run over 100 bushels per acre and the seed alone cost $60 per acre last spring. Apples are moving slowly and in some of the leading apple growing Counties only first-class apples from well kept, sprayed orchards are finding a market as some of the canning factories and jam factories are not operating at present. Prices for hay range from $20 to $35 per ton at country points.

U. S. MARINES ARE TERRORIZING HAYTI.

Great Britain would appear to have as much right to protest against the American occupation of Hayti as the United States has to protest against British government in Ireland, if it happened that Great Britain was the kind of a nation that meddled in affairs that did not concern her, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. American occupation in Hayti has been of a character that would cause a first class scandal had the original charges been made at a time when that nation was not in the throes of a presidential election. More will be heard of it later, for there is to be a formal investigation. The country has been an American protectorate since the summer of 1915. The real masters of Hayti have been United States marines. In that time it is said that 3,250 natives have been slain. American casualties in the same period have been one marine officer killed in action, two officers wounded, twelve enlisted men killed and twenty-six wounded, a total of forty-one.

Southern Officers.

This has the general appearance of a massacre, but a full investigation will have to be held to decide this point. It is somewhat ominous that most of the American officers are Southerners who probably do not show the same patience with insubordinate Haytians as Northerners. They have a reputation for keeping the blacks in their place, and in Hayti this reputation has been lived up to. The marines also resurrected an old Haytian law, something like the statute labor law known in more civilized countries, and under its provisions have obliged the Haytians to do work on the roads. To the Haytians this has appeared like an attempt to revive the slavery from which they bloodily emancipated themselves more than a century ago. It is difficult for them to understand that the work they are doing is of the first importance for their own country. When they are marched long distances from home, kept in military camps and obliged to toil for weeks at the point of marine bayonets, the situation has an unpleasant resemblance to slavery.

Taking to the Woods.

The result is that the laborers, when they get the chance, seize the first weapon at hand and flee to the hills, where they become incorporated in one of the roving bands of cacos that infest the country. It is the cacos that constitute the opposition to the American occupation, and though as a rule they are poorly armed, and half starved, they have been able to keep most of the country in a state of turmoil. The caco first appeared in Haytian history in 1867 when there was an insurrection against President Salnave. The outlaws took to the woods, and adopted as a fitting name that of a native bird that flew freely everywhere, while they contemptuously called those who supported the Government and endeavored to run them down, zandolite, after a caterpillar, the favorite food of the caco bird.

The Cacos.

From then to now Hayti has never been entirely free from cacos, for there have always been enough revolutions to afford grievances and cause some of these half-savage creatures to take to the hills and live by theft and violence. The number was greatly increased under the regime of President Sam, one of the most bloodthirsty rulers Hayti has ever seen. In 1915 he ordered a wholesale execution of political prisoners, and this so enraged the population that Sam had to flee and seek safety in the French consulate. For the first time in turbulent Haytian history the right of refuge was ignored by the mob, and the consulate was invaded, Sam was dragged out, his body cut to pieces and tossed into the bay. Following this disturbance the United States Government exercised its authority and ever since Hayti has been run from the Navy Department in Washington, the active bosses of the country being the marines.

A Long Job of Uplift.

There is a feeble native Government, but it takes its orders from the nearest marine officer. The marines are also in charge of the native gendarmes, non-commissioned marine officers directing its activities. For some time they found it difficult to get a gendarme to face a caco, but appear to be making progress in this direction, and hope eventually that the native police will be able to cope with the outlaws. How many cacos there are on the island it is difficult to say. The bands vary in size from a score to thousands, according to the reputation gained by their self-appointed leaders. The difficulty is that the bands are receiving constant reinforcements from the natives, who object first of all to the system of forced labor, and who generally hate and fear all white men. So bitter is this feeling that returned travelers say that the United States is in the position of the man who took the wolf by the ears, and that it will not be able to let go for another generation.

A SELF-STARTER FOR LOCOMOTIVES.

The explosion-motor used in automobiles always requires outside aid to start it. A steam-engine will usually start itself, but when it is a locomotive engine with a heavy load behind it, it sometimes has a good deal of trouble. To help it there has been invented a device called a "booster," which is capable of giving aid when most needed at a negligible expenditure of energy and practically no added weight for the machine. This booster, we are told by the writer of a leading article in The Scientific American, is simply a power unit applied to the trailing wheels, utilizing their full traction and increasing the drawbar pull by 25 to 40 per cent. at starting. After getting up to road speed it disengages automatically when the engineer hooks up the reverse lever.

THE POLITICAL ISSUE
Toronto Telegram

Premier Drury has dragged free trade into Provincial politics. From every hustings and housetop he has shouted his hatred of the national policy.

Toronto must protect her industries from the inroads of Yankee traders. Toronto must not be made the dumping ground for surplus Yankee goods. Toronto most keep her factories running to give her people work and furnish food for their families.

North-east Toronto must speak with no uncertain voice. It must tell the rest of Canada that the Farmer-Liberal-Free-Trade tide has been stemmed—that fight for a Canada for Canadians is on in deadly earnest—for a Canada whose dollar is worth just as much in any part of the world as it is in the business places of Toronto.

CUDDLE DOON

The bairnies cuddle doon at nicht
"Oh, try and sleep, ye waukrife rogues
Your faither's comin' in."
They never heed a word I spake,
I try to gie a froon,
But aye I hap them up an' cry,
"Oh, bairnies, cuddle doon."

Wee Jamie wi' the curly heid—
He aye sleeps next the wa'—
Bangs up an' cries, "I want a piece,"
The rascal starts them a';
I rin an' fetch them pieces, drinks,
They stop awee the soun'
Then draw the blankets up and cry,
"Noo, weanies, cuddle doon."

But, ere five minutes gang, wee Rab
Cries out, frae 'neath the claes,
"Mither, mak' Tam gie ower at ance,
He's kittlin' w' his taes."
The mischiefs in that Tam for tricks,
He'd bother half the toon;
But aye I hap them up and cry,
"Oh, bairnies, cuddle doon."

At length they hear their father's fit,
An', as he stecks the door,
They turn their faces to the wa'
While Tam pretends to snore.
"Hae a' the weans been gude?" he asks
As he pits aff his shoon;
"The bairnies, John, are in their beds
An' lang since cuddled doon."

An' just afore we bed oorsels,
We look at our wee lambs;
Tam has his airm roun' wee Rab's neck,
I lift wee Jamie up the bed,
And Rab his airm roun' Tam's.
An' as I straik each croon,
I whisper till my heart fills up,
"Oh, bairnies, cuddle doon."

The bairnies cuddle doon at nicht
Wi' mirth that's dear to me;
But soon, the big warl's cark an' care
Will quaten doon their glee.
Yet, come what will to ilka ane,
May He, who rules aboon,
Aye whisper, though thier pows be bald,
"Oh, bairnies, cuddle doon."

CEREALS

Only Six of Them Are Ancient Plants.

If all of our cereal grains were wiped off the face of the earth tomorrow we would not be long deprived of breadstuffs, for immediately we would set about the business of developing other kinds of grasses available for the purpose.

We have in this country nearly 800 kinds of grasses, only six of which—maise, wheat, rice, barley, oats and rye—are utilized to furnish food for man.

The cultivation of these six dates far back into the prehistoric. They have become what they are to-day through processes of continuous selection—that is, picking out the best plants in each generation as seed producers—during tens of thousands of years. Indian corn, derived originally from a rather unpromising plant native to the highlands of tropical America, had been so far developed by the time Columbus landed that the white man has not since been able to improve it much.

On the other hand, the wheat and barley of to-day are much larger and finer grains than the wheat and barley which have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs and in the buried cities of Greece. As for rice, which feeds more than one-third of the human race, there are now a number of varieties (developed chiefly by the Japanese) which are far superior to any that were known even half a century ago.

All of our grains, excepting maize, seem to have originated in southern Asia. Consumption of rice, the great Asiatic cereal, is now growing by leaps and bounds in Canada, most of our people having learned only recently to appreciate it, and how to prepare it for the table.

How Fish Find Fresh Water.

How salt-water fishes determine where they are and why fresh-water fishes can always find their way into rivers is made clear by a work just published by Dr. V. E. Shelford. It appears that herrings can detect differences in heat and cold as small as a quarter of a degree. They can tell when only a trace of an acid or an alkali is present in the water. Indeed, so sensitive are herrings to acids and alkalies that scientific men propose that they be used to detect chemicals in the water instead of the familiar litmus paper test, in much the same manner that canary birds are used to discover traces of poisonous coal gas in mines and elsewhere. Speaking of salmon, Dr. Shelford says that he is convinced that they find their way into the mouths of rivers or other bodies of fresh water by reason of the same delicate sensitiveness to the presence of acids and alkalies in the water about them. Fish determine the direction in which they must go to find fresh water even when they are hundreds of miles out at sea; and they find their ways to bays, harbors and inlets, when their mating seasons demands it, by means of the chemical condition of the water. It is not necessary to appeal to "instinct" to explain the return of certain salmon to certain rivers or the running of herrings in certain localities. The discoveries of Dr. Shelford make it reasonably clear that smell and touch are the senses most concerned. Those senses are acute in many migratory species of fish.

A Suburban Millionaire.

In a small villa at Forest Hill, near London, lives a millionaire without servants or assistants, his wife doing all the housework. He is Mr. G. L. Moore, who, beginning life as a solicitor's clerk in Belfast, ultimately went to London and carried out numerous financial ventures.

Everything he touched turned to gold, and to-day he is interested in two hundred and fifty different companies, all yielding magnificent profits. Mr. Moore intends to devote his wealth to philanthropic purposes and recently offered £150,000 for a Victory Park. He is determined to die poor.

Wealth has left him quite unchanged. He still gets up at three o'clock every morning, works in the city all day, and goes to bed at seven-thirty. "Rich people who live a pampered life are a curse to humanity and society alike," is the view he holds.

Safest Angle For a Ladder.

Experiments to determine the angle at which ladders should be placed to secure the maximum degree of safety for those using them have shown that the angle of 75 degrees is the best, whatever the height of the ladder. At this angle the ladder is upright enough to prevent slipping if properly grounded, and to avoid excessive strain being thrown on it by the weight of the user. To secure this angle it is only necessary to place the foot of the ladder at a distance from the wall roughly equal to one-quarter the length of the ladder.

A Pathetic Font.

There is in the Fiji Islands a font which can only be described as the most pathetic in the world. It is made out of the piece of rock on which little children were brained before being eaten! The result produced by missionaries on these islands wrung from Charles Darwin this tribute: "They have abolished human sacrifices and the power of an idolatrous priesthood, and a system of profligacy unparalleled in any part of the world." Missionaries at work in the islands not many years back often saw the ovens where the cannibals baked their victims.—London Post.

"Say, Bill, you didn't know that I was an electrician?" boasted Jack. "I missed my calling."

"How's that?"

"Why, last night, over at Jane's, the electric light fuse burnt out. Guess who fixed it? Me—I—myself."

"Huh!"—a final shot from Bill—"You're no electrician — you're an idiot."

Waterbury Radiolite, $7.75

Just a Minute, Please!

"Now that I have your kind attention, I'll slip you some second-hand information."

MINUTE and hour-hand information, too. About the Ingersoll Waterbury watch.

Of course, you've heard of the Waterbury, but maybe you don't know him intimately.

He's worth knowing—a bright, smart, stylish little watch — twelve size — jewelled to give him accuracy and smoother movement. And he costs but $7.00.

For 75 cents extra you can own Waterbury Radiolite, who tells time in the dark.

Waterbury is a watch with the distinction and beauty of an expensive chronometer, along with the sturdiness and durability of the famous Ingersoll Maple Leaf.

Yet this combination of qualities costs, as I said before, only $7.00, or $7.75 for the Radiolite.

EARTH IS GROWING COLDER

Old-Fashioned Arctic Winters Seem to Be More and More Recognized Institutions.

How do the old-fashioned people account for the fact that this second decade of the twentieth century, now near its close (the decade, not the century) has produced more "old-fashioned winters" than any like recorded period in the past? "The climate is growing milder," some people say. It appears more likely it is growing steadily colder. The oldest inhabitant cannot remember a more Vermontish sort of a winter in Boston than the one which has happily come to an end, remarks the Transcript of that city. One would, indeed, rather expect it to be so. Our moribund earth is constantly radiating its heat into the shivery spaces between the planets. The sun is pumping away into regions far beyond the planets, with a positively inconceivable recklessness of wastefulness, its stores of heat and energy. We are trying to warm up the milky way and are only chilling ourselves in doing it. The process has been going on for a million years and more. Perhaps it is beginning to tell on the weather at Boston. Year by year the old-fashioned winters will be getting more new fashioned—until at last Guiana and Amazonia will be sending their Arctic expeditions to Massachusetts bay, as we are now sending MacMillan to Baffin's bay.

ABOUT THE LAST ARGUMENT

After That It Was Time for Hubby to Get Busy and Buy Her That Davenport.

What she desired was a new davenport.

She had talked davenport until her husband's soul was tried. She made it her business to be carefully scrutinizing the furniture advertisements every time he caught her reading the newspaper.

She left pictures of davenports lying around on the table. She sent for furniture catalogues and he always found the pages open that contained davenport illustrations.

The other evening he glanced over her shoulder as she was going through her regular evening performance with the newspaper.

"More davenport advertisement, I suppose," he murmured a bit sarcastically.

"No, John, dear," she replied in similar vein. "You would buy me this with far less persuasion."

Then he took a second look at the paper. She was reading a coffin company's advertisement.

Somewhat Humorous "Ad."

Bill Nye, known in his day as a humorist, owned a cow which he wanted to sell, and put an advertisement in the paper which read like this: "Owing to ill-health, I will sell at my residence, in township 19, range 18, according to the government survey, one plush raspberry cow, aged eight years. She is of undoubted courage and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great boon. She is very much attached to her present home with a stay chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right. She is one-fourth short-horn and three-fourths hyena. I will also throw a double-barrel shot gun, which goes with her. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a non-resident."

Set Aim in Life.

A definitely fixed goal is a challenge to ingenuity. That is especially true for the trail blazer. Haphazard goals are apt to be the avenue to the way of least resistance. Attaining them is merely a matter of finding the easiest short-cut to them. With a ruling purpose it's different. Every possible motive and means is marshaled to gain the end. Oldtime methods are seen to fail when most needed. So the youthful dreamer puts his wits to work to discover new methods to gain the point. And it's surprising what an amount of unrated genius there is waiting to be called forth by a great occasion.—Exchange.

Autumn Leaves.

The infant school is out, and a crowd of tiny children come chasing each other down the road, laughing and calling, running in the wind, their cheeks rosy, their eyes dancing and their hair flying. Just as they reach me a big gust of wind shakes the trees above their heads, and quantities of yellow, brown and golden leaves come swirling down over and around them—and children and leaves all whirl away together. Whereupon I paint a mental picture, all russet and amber and little laughing faces, and call it "Autumn Leaves," for not all our happiest pictures get placed on canvas.—Christian Science Monitor.

Buenos Aires' Rapid Growth.

Buenos Aires is one of the fastest growing cities of the world. The census of 1914 showed 1,575,800 inhabitants, and the population is now estimated to be more than 2,000,000, since immigrants are arriving at the rate of more than 10,000 a week. Until recently the city has retained most of the characteristics of the small Latin-American city.

LONDON'S DRAWBACKS.

Criticism of Life in World's Greatest City.

"It is time that somebody said it. It is time that somebody painted the drawbacks and disabilities of life and friendship in London in their true colors," writes Mr. Cyril E. M. Joad in the Venturer.

"I speak of the spiritual color of our lives in London, and of the inevitable lack of all those qualities which make for the dignity and beauty of life and the stability of personal relationships. For talk about literature there is substituted chatter about literary personalities. What might in the country have been an analysis of the causes of labor unrest or the structure of society subsides into gossip about the propensities of labor leaders, or the sartorial peculiarities of Cabinet Ministers.

"The men who talk in the evening in London are men with tired minds. All day they have been whipping their brains into a vicarious activity; many have been engaged on creative work; all bring to the relaxation of after-dinner intercourse the fag-ends of jaded brains. In London one is perpetually tired. The fortress of the mind is continually battered by assaults that would take its interests by storm. London continually stimulates, but leaves the mind no space to concentrate on the stimuli it has received. Hence the feeling to which all Londoners are accustomed, the feeling that one must go away into the country to think.

"One must be let alone, given time to turn round, and like a dog who has captured a bone, must needs take it into a corner and meditate before consumption. And because London provides no breathing space in its innumerable calls upon the interest, the mind grows blunted, the freshness of perception is dulled, and the tired brains fail to respond. So friends, music, anand literature lose their significance, and enjoyment becomes a weary round of duties.

"And this, then, is London disease: to confine the spontaneity of human intercourse within the framework of the Underground Railways, and to regulate relationships by the exigencies of pocket diaries. For what zest can there be in conversation, with the thought of a two hours' tube journey to remote suburbs, looming like an impending fate over the heads of the tired talkers, what dignity in a life when one steps continually from pavement to bus, and from 'bus to lift, in which one can only visit one's friends at the cost of burrowing like a mole in the bowels of the earth; and when the Absolute itself must give way to the urgency of the last train from Waterloo?"

Fence 1,200 Miles Long.

From Condon to Hopetown, clear across the continent of Australia, runs a fence of woven wire 1,200 miles long, and the single purpose of its construction is to guard the fertile farm lands from the havoc-making rabbit pest. The entire eastern part of the continent is overrun with rabbits, but the western state, the "Golden State," as it is proudly called, is practically free from them, thanks to this seventh wonder of a fence. Upon the intactness of this barrier depends the prosperity of every farmer in Western Australia, and it is guarded with the eagerness and the care that a beleagured state takes to prevent a devastating army from passing its boundary.

Imported into the country by some immigrants who doubtless hoped that they would live and thrive, the original pair—for rabbits are not native to Australia—have multiplied into a countless horde, hardy, omniverous and bold. In vast armies they scout along the fence seeking for some entrance hole, and often travel hundreds of miles to one ocean end of the fence trying to find a place of passage through from the inhospitable regions to the fertile farms.

The most amazing precautions are taken by the "Golden State" to maintain the effectiveness of its barrier. Range riders guard it for its entire length and keep it in a perfect state of repair.

Orders by Pigeon-Post.

A entirely practical use of homing pigeons is reported from England. The inventor of the system is a butcher's son, who employs his birds regularly to carry orders from outlying districts—presumably where there are not telephones—to his father's shop. The plan works excellently.

When the boy goes to collect orders he takes six of his fastest birds in a trap with him. After he has gone a mile or two and collected a dozen orders he liberates a pigeon with the slips enclosed in a little metal case attached to the bird's foot. Before five minutes have elapsed these orders are in the shop.

At the various stages of his round, which usually takes three hours, the other birds with more orders are set free, and by the time the shop is reached all the orders received by this pigeon-post have been despatched.

Two Per Cent.

Amongst many amusing stories told by Maj.-Gen. Sir A. Montgomery, the author of the new war book, "The Story of the Fourth Army," is one concerning a negro soldier on the Western front.

He was a doctor's orderly, and he was extraordinarily ill.

"Drink?" said the doctor.

"No, sah," said 'Rastus. "Deed I only had dem two bottles ob beer."

"What two bottles?" asked the doctor.

"Dem two what you had in your tent," sighed 'Rastus. "Dey was labelled 'Cognac'."

Pine Gum.

The gum of the pine seems to be practically indestructible, and one of the chief exports of New Zealand is from the gum of kauri trees which died centuries ago. The wood has long ago disappeared, but chunks of pure amber-like gum are still dug from the stumps.

Letters To The Editor

MR. ROBINSON REPLIES TO MR. BONE

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Perhaps I should feel highly honored and elated in consideration of the fact that my feeble effort manifested in a letter of mine, headed "Why Not a Real Estate Owners' Association?" which appeared in The Intelligencer of November 1, has attracted the attention of that great man Mr. Jamieson Bone, Chairman of Finance in our city government and President of that wonderful organization, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. This gentleman of massive intellect seems to be displeased with my little hammer and the way I wield it—always out for the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and any other individual or body of individuals who may be trying to be of some service to our community."

Now right here, I wish to inform Mr. Bone and all others who are of like opinion, that a great many of the rate payers are not only displeased, but also incensed at the actions of this year's Council, and this I have learned from the fact that many after reading my letter, accost me on the street and strongly express their approval of what I have written and at the same time manifest great indignation in reference to many of the acts of the Council. But at the same time these of my efforts tell me that I did not hit of my fforts tell me that I did not hit 'em as hard as they (the Council) deserved. So it is now in order for me to procure a bigger hammer so that I can "hit" heavier blows.

Mr. Bone says "We are getting back to a safe and sane basis." Well the ratepayers will be glad when the Council regains a period of lucidity.

Mr. Bone gives us considerable information about the Chamber of Commerce, but neglects to tell your readers that they went begging to the Council and thereby obtained remission of taxes on the fine apartments they occupy. This high-toned C. of C. helped to increase our taxes in another way also, namely by inducing the Council to employ their secretary as City Commissioner at a heavy expense, without any net beneficial results to the taxpayers. Mr. Bone could tell us a great deal more unsavoury news in this connection if he felt so inclined.

Mr. Bone feels that the C. of C. has done at least twenty-five dollars worth of good to every merchant in town by accomplishing the purchase of the Bay Bridge. What about the thousands of other people, Mr. Bone, who are not in business? Don't you think they at least should have the privilege of voting on a by-law to confirm this deal? Or have that class no right to say where and how tax monies are to be expended? I suppose, too, Mr. Bone that that other body known as the City Council had something to do with making that deal. Yes and that is not the whole story for Councils, for many years have worked on this job and helped to bring the matter to a head.

But look here, Mr. Bone, how is it that you or the Mayor, as leading men in the Council did not put up the argument, when making the deal with the other municipalities interested that free access to our magnificent market should be a strong inducement to the farmers across the bay, through their municipal Councils to pay a much greater share of the purchase money than Belleville because they would receive a much greater benefit than we. I did not notice anything in the papers showing that this forceful argument was made by either of these enterprising public servants.

Mr. Bone invites anyone to attend the C. of C. who has anything to say in the interest of the city, but Mr. Bone surely should know that the working men will not take advantage of any such offer. They would not feel at home with such a select party of business and professional gentlemen. But they would feel at home in an association, such as I outlined in my previous letter. With a fee of only fifty cents all real estate owners, male and female could be members, no matter how straitened their circumstances and then, being members, all would be on the same footing and feel at home. But all this would be a "horse of another color" with a membership fee of twenty-five dollars a year.

A. ROBINSON.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO 1918

CHAPTER III.

Prophecy and Fulfillment.

Then Tarzan turned his attention to the man. He had not slain Numa to save the negro—he had merely done it in revenge upon the lion; but now that he saw the old man lying helpless and dying before him something akin to pity touched his savage heart. He stooped and felt of the witch-doctor's wounds and stanched the flow of blood.

"Who are you?" asked the old man in a trembling voice.

"I am Tarzan—Tarzan of the Apes," replied the ape-man and not without a greater touch of pride than he would have said, "I am John Clayton, Lord Greystoke."

The witch-doctor shook convulsively and closed his eyes. When he opened them again there was in them a resignation to whatever horrible fate awaited him at the hands of this feared demon of the woods. "Why do you not kill me?" he asked.

"Why should I kill you?" inquired Tarzan. "You have not harmed me, and anyway you are already dying. Numa, the lion, has killed you. I would save you if I could, but that cannot be done. Why did you think I would kill you?"

For a moment the old man was silent. When he spoke it was evidently after some little effort to muster his courage. "I knew you of old," he said, "when you ranged the jungle in the country of Mbonga, the chief. I was already a witch-doctor when you slew Kulonga and the others, and when you robbed our huts and our poison pot. At first I did not remember you; but at last I did—the white-skinned ape that lived with the hairy apes and made life miserable in the village of Mbonga, the chief—the forest god—the Munango-Keewati for whom we set food outside our gates and who came and ate it. Tell me before I die—are you man or devil?"

Tarzan laughed. "I am a man," he said.

The old fellow sighed and shook his head. "You have tried to save me from Numa," he said. "For that I shall reward you. I am a great witch-doctor. Listen to me, white man! I see bad days ahead of you. It is writ in my own blood which I have smeared upon my palm. A god greater even than you will rise up and strike you down. Turn back, Munango-Keewati! Turn back before it is too late! Danger lies ahead of you and danger lurks behind; but greater is the danger before. I see—" He paused and drew a long, gasping breath. Then he crumpled into a little, wrinkled heap and died. Tarzan wondered what else he had seen.

It was very late when the ape-man re-entered the boma and lay down among his black warriors. None had seen him go and none saw him return. He thought about the warning of the old witch-doctor before he fell asleep and he thought of it again after he awoke; but he did not turn back, for he was unafraid, though had he known what lay in store for one he loved most in all the world he would have flown through the trees to her side and allowed the gold of Opar to remain forever hidden in its forgotten storehouse.

Behind him that morning another white man pondered something he had heard during the night and very nearly did he give up his project and turn back upon his trail. It was Werper, who in the still of the night had heard far away upon the trail ahead of him a sound that had filled his cowardly soul with terror—a sound such as he never before had heard in all his life, nor dreamed that such a frightful thing could emanate from the lungs of a God-created creature. He had heard the victory cry of the bull ape as Tarzan had screamed it forth into the face of Goro, the moon, and he had trembled then and hidden his face; and now in the broad light of a new day he trembled again as he recalled it, and would have turned back from the nameless danger the echo of that frightful sound seemed to portend had he not stood in even greater fear of Achmet Zek, his master.

And so Tarzan of the Apes forged steadily ahead toward Opar's ruined ramparts and behind him slunk Werper, jackal-like, and only God knew what lay in store for each.

At the edge of the desolate valley, overlooking the golden domes and minarets of Opar, Tarzan halted. By night he would go alone to the treasure vault, reconnoitering, for he had determined that caution should mark his every move upon this expedition.

With the coming of night he set forth, and Werper, who had scaled the cliffs alone behind the ape-man's party, and hidden through the day among the rough boulders of the mountain top, slunk stealthily after him. He saw the giant ape-man swing himself nimbly up the face of the great rock. Werper, clawing fearfully during the perilous ascent, sweating in terror, almost palsied by fear, but spurred on by avarice, followed upward, until at last he stood upon the summit of the rocky hill.

Tarzan was nowhere in sight. For a time Werper hid behind one of the lesser boulders that were scattered over the top of the hill, but, seeing or hearing nothing of the Englishman, he crept from his place of concealment to undertake a systematic search of his surroundings, in the hope that he might discover the location of the treasure in ample time to make his escape before Tarzan returned, for it was the Belgian's desire merely to locate the gold so that, after Tarzan had departed, he might come in safety with his followers and carry away as much as he could transport.

He found the narrow cleft leading downward into the heart of the kopje along well-worn, granite steps. He advanced quite to the dark mouth of the tunnel into which the runway disappeared; but here he halted, fearing to enter, lest he meet Tarzan returning.

The ape-man, far ahead of him, groped his way along the rocky passage, until he came to the ancient wooden door. A moment later he stood within the treasure chamber, where, ages since, long-dead hands had ranged the lofty rows of precious ingots for the rulers of that great continent which now lies submerged beneath the waters of the Atlantic.

There was no evidence that another had discovered the forgotten wealth since last the ape-man had visited its hiding place. Satisfied, Tarzan turned and retraced his steps toward the summit of the kopje. Werper, from the concealment of a jutting granite shoulder, watched him pass up from the shadow of the stairway and advance toward the edge of the hill which faced the rim of the valley where the Waziri awaited the signal of their master. Then Werper, slipping stealthily from his hiding place, dropped into the somber darkness of the entrance and disappeared.

Tarzan, halting upon the kopje's edge, raised his voice in the thunderous roar of a lion. Twice, at regular intervals, he repeated the call, standing in attentive silence for several minutes after the echoes of the third call had died away. And then, from far across the valley, faintly came an answering roar—once, twice, thrice. Basuli, the Waziri chieftain, had heard and replied.

Tarzan again made his way toward the treasure vault, knowing that in a few hours his blacks would be with him, ready to bear away another fortune in the strangely shaped, golden ingots of Opar. In the meantime he would carry as much of the precious metal to the summit of the kopje as he could.

Six trips he made in the five hours before Basuli reached the kopje, and at the end of that time he had transported 48 ingots to the edge of the great boulder, carrying upon each trip a load which might well have staggered two ordinary men, yet his giant frame showed no evidence of fatigue as he helped to raise his ebon warriors to the hill top with the rope that had been brought for the purpose.

Six times he had returned to the treasure chamber, and six times Werper, the Belgian, had cowered in the black shadows at the far end of the long vault. Once again came the ape-man, and this time there came with him fifty fighting men, turned porters for love of the only creature in the world who might command of their fierce and haughty natures such menial service. Fifty-two more ingots passed out of the vaults, making the total of one hundred which Tarzan intended taking away with him.

As the last of the Waziri filed from the chamber, Tarzan turned back for a last glimpse of the fabulous wealth upon which his two inroads had made no appreciable impression. His mind reverted to that first occasion upon which he had entered the treasure vault, coming upon it by chance as he fled from the pits beneath the temple, where he had been hidden by La, the high priestess of the Sun Worshipers.

He recalled the scene within the temple when he had lain stretched upon the sacrificial altar, while La, with high-raised dagger, stood above him, and the rows of priests and priestesses awaited, in the ecstatic hysteria of fanaticism, the first gush of their victim's warm blood, that they might fill their golden goblets and drink to the glory of their Flaming God.

CONDUCTOR ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING

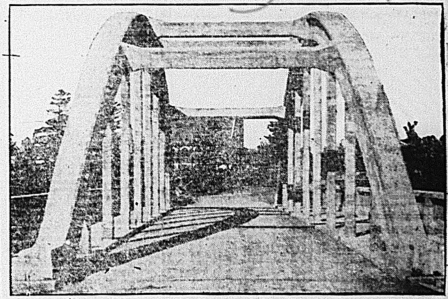
Toronto, Nov. 4.—After deliberating for over an hour the jury at the Sessions yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in connection with the charges against Jacob Troyer of stealing tickets from the C.P.R., by whom he was employed as a conductor. It was alleged that the accused took up tickets and failed to return them when making his reports of his daily runs. A number of Pinkerton operatives gave evidence for the Crown.

The trial of C. Simpson, another conductor who faces similar charges, was commenced and a number of Pinkerton detectives gave evidence.

Cold Wave Hits St. John

St. John, N.B., Nov. 4.—A decidedly cold wave struck this section of the province yesterday. There was a cold rain during the morning followed by a snow squall about 2 p.m. At 4 o'clock the weather cleared cold. Last night ice had formed in pools of water to the depth of a quarter of an inch and frosty atmosphere prevails.

Concrete in Bridge and Road Building



Some of the Concrete Work on the Toronto-Hamilton Highway.

The Toronto-Hamilton Highway linking Toronto with a population of about 600,000 and Hamilton with about 110,000, skirts the shores of Lake Ontario for half of its length and passes through a section of Ontario rich in historic association as well as scenic beauty.

It was begun in 1914 to relieve a very serious condition of unemployment in the urban centres which followed the entering of Canada into the Great War. The work was placed in the hands of a special Commission consisting of Mr. Geo. H. Gooderham, Chairman, Mr. G. Frank Beer, Mr. W. S. Davis, Mr. R. H. Lush, Mr. M. C. Smith, Mr. T. W. Jutten and Mr. H. Bertram. On account of the relief feature the Commission decided to carry the work on by day labor. Original plans called for a cement concrete roadway sixteen feet in width but the minimum width was increased to 18 feet before laying of concrete was begun and later increased to 24 feet on the five miles nearest Toronto. The minimum width of sub-grade is 26 feet and earth shoulders have been provided except in special instances where broken stone has been added. More than fifty bridges and culverts have been replaced by modern reinforced concrete structures designed to carry a 20-ton road roller and having a minimum [illegible] width of roadway of 26 feet. [illegible] of the larger reinforced concrete structures are of the so called truss type. The largest clear span is 120 feet, probably the maximum span for bridges of this type on this Continent.

The route followed was not previously the one most travelled between Toronto and Hamilton. Part of it was sandy and for that reason used in bad weather but much of it was little more than a trail, the travelled portion being only ten or twelve feet in width. Maximum grades of eleven per cent have been reduced to four per cent.

A traffic census taken just before construction was begun showed a total of 526 vehicles per day on the most heavily travelled portion, including three motor trucks. On the busiest days now the traffic exceeds 8,000 vehicles, the average being about 3,000 and the average motor truck traffic about 400 per day. The road is kept open throughout the year in spite of rather severe snow storms. It was not closed for a single day during last winter.

Farmers living fifteen miles from the Toronto market who formerly made three trips by team per week by being up early and late now leave home at eight in the morning are home for dinner and supper and make 12 trips per week by motor trucks in comfort. Many of the farmers sell all of their market produce at their own gates to the motorist and some of them six miles off the highway, haul it to the wayside and community markets which have been encouraged by the Commission.

A conservative estimate based on a partial investigation shows an increase in land values of 6 million dollars since the highway was first projected. Excellent homes are being built all along the road as districts 25 miles out are nearer in point of time than these 5 miles out were before the improvement.

The use of a comparatively high priced surfacing, cement concrete has been justified by very low maintenance figures. Regardless of the great increase in traffic and in the cost of [illegible] the cost per mile of maintenance on the concrete roadway was less in 1919 than in any previous year since construction was completed.

An interesting case of the use of concrete in bridge building occurred in the double tracking of the North Toronto Sub-division of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Leaside and North Toronto, which involved the replacement of bridges known as 0.9 and 1.8.

The bridges were constructed of reinforced concrete, and are a triumph of railway construction work, No. 0.9 being 386 feet long and 90 feet high, carrying two tracks and No. 1.8 of similar dimensions but a three-track structure. The length of the individual spans and the details of their construction are unprecedented in the engineering world. Previous to this no reinforced concrete beam with a length of more than about 25 feet had been attempted; the spans of these two C. P. R. structures are each from 35 to 37 feet long.

The method employed in the erection of the reinforced concrete spans is a specially interesting feature of the structures. Each slab as a unit weighed 55 tons, which was the limit load that could be handled by the C. P. R. 100 ton standard wrecking cranes. The crane engaged handled no less than 110 slabs, each 55 tons in weight, or in all something like 6,000 tons, and all this was done without a single mishap to either men or material. Another remarkable feature is that both structures were built without interruption from June, 1917, to July, 1918, which was a shorter period than would have been required to manufacture and erect similar structures in steel. Passenger and freight traffic on the C. P. R. main lines were continued without interruption during the progress of these interesting works.

ENORMOUS SALMON

Thomas Allen, a well-known Wolfe Islander who resides near the head on Big Ridge, made a record catch in the fishing field last week. While out trolling he felt a prodigious bite at his line which nearly pulled him out of the boat. He realized that there was something worth while at the other end of the line and after a struggle of nearly two hours' duration he succeeded in landing a salmon the like of which has never been seen on the island in the memory of the oldest citizen. The big fish weighed a little over twenty-seven pounds and is a record breaker. The nearest to this ever recorded before on the island is a twenty one pound fish caught a few years ago.—Deseronto Post.

REMANDED TO JAIL

McQueen Crosgrove who is under arrest here on a serious charge was today by Magistrate Masson, remanded back to jail for a few days as the case was not ready to be proceeded with.

CASE REMANDED

DISAPPEARING AUTOS

Police Officers Thompson and Truisch did a good stroke of business last night when they placed under arrest four young men of this city, who are charged with the offence of taking autos at night without the permission of the owners. Two of the quartette were in a car at the time and it is stated that two of the parties admitted they had taken cars from Bridge street and driven about the city. Those arrested were Harry Mattis, Alfred Benford, Wilfred Sandford and William Roesush. This morning the accused were brought up before the Magistrate but owing to the County Attorney being out of the city on business, a remand until to-morrow morning was granted. In the meantime the accused will remain in jail.

VIOLATED TRAFFIC BYLAW

Before Magistrate Masson this morning a citizen was charged under the traffic bylaw with driving a car on the wrong side of the street. A plea of guilty was entered and the fine and costs amounted to $5.50.

Bank Robbed, Accountant Is Under Arrest

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—James Fleming, accountant in the Woodbridge branch of the Royal Bank of Canada was arrested in Toronto on a warrant charging him with theft of $13,000. When the manager arrived at the bank he claims to have found the vault open and all the money missing. Fleming and the manager were the only members of the staff who had knowledge of the combination to the safe and it was found unlocked.

ACCOUNTANT DENIES CHARGE

The manager's report to the head office in this city was received yesterday morning and a warrant for the arrest of Fleming was sworn out. Fleming left Woodbridge yesterday morning, according to his statement to the police, to spend his vacation. He was visiting in the west end when arrested. Fleming admitted being in the bank Tuesday night, but denies taking the money.

Mr. Fleming had been with the Royal Bank for several years and had just received his appointment as Manager of the new branch the bank is opening in Bolton. At the end of his two weeks' vacation he was to have commenced his work at Bolton.

BANK NOTES ALL MISSING

The robbery was not discovered until after the bank had opened. The first client for the day arrived and presented a cheque to be cashed. When the officials went to the vault to bring out the money they found that all the bank notes had vanished.

Frantically Mr. John Hallet, the bank manager and Mr. D. L. Leggett, who is succeeding Fleming, searched the vault. But they failed to discover a single bank note. Silver was there, bonds had not been touched: everything was in the best of order—but the bank bills had disappeared.

They examined the doors of the building. These had not been forced. Not a single scratch marked the front of the vault.

Mr. Hallett notified the head office and then walked across to the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia and borrowed enough money to pay the cheque of the waiting client.

SAW SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS

It was the general belief that some suspicious characters, observed the previous night by Mr. Bert Cousins, a local merchant, were the guilty parties. Mr. Cousins had taken the number of their automobile, and yesterday a car, bearing the same number was found upside down in a ditch two miles north of here.

About two months ago an unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the same bank. The alarm was given by a neighbor, but the robbers got away before the police arrived.

James Fleming, the bank accountant arrested in Toronto, was extremely popular in Woodbridge and has always borne a good reputation.

Social and Personal

Messrs. G. Seams, A. Reid, Edgar L. Shorey and Wm. Reid of this city, also Mr. Frank Watson and Glen Brown of Tupperville, Ont., are spending the hunting season at Maynooth.

Mrs. D. V. Sinclair has returned from a pleasant visit with her daughter in New York City.

Berthier Says He Is In The Pink Of Condition and Owes It All to Tanlac

"I suffered so much from indigestion and nervousness that I had to give up my position as an engineer," said J. Victor Berthier, of 32 St. Dominique Street, Quebec.

Mr. Berthier is a mechanical engineer, but since his breakdown in health some months ago has acted as interpreter at the C.P.R. Immigration Bureau. He speaks eleven languages and has travelled all over the world.

Mr. Berthier is a native of Paris, and when the Great War broke out he immediately returned to France and joined the navy. He took part in the attack on the Dardanelles, where his ship was torpedoed and he was twice wounded. Upon his recovery he served as engineer in a submarine, but was finally demobilized on account of ill-health. Upon his return to Quebec he took up a position with the Lauzon Engineering Co., but had to resign because of his badly run-down and nervous condition.

"I just had no appetite at all and was afraid to eat very much because of what I knew would follow afterwards. What little I did manage to eat caused pains that nearly doubled me up. The gas that formed bloated me up until I could hardly breathe and made my heart palpitate something awful. I couldn't get proper rest at night and in fact was in misery all the time.

"But three bottles of Tanlac have improved my health so that I feel like a brand new man. I now have a splendid appetite and can eat a hearty meal with out being troubled in the least with indigestion. My nerves are strong and steady, and I sleep soundly at night. In fact I'm in the very pink of condition and attribute my wonderful improvement entirely to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Moira River Pollution Report

A meeting of the Board of Health of the city was held yesterday and all members were present.

A lengthy report was read from Dr. McCullough, Chief Provincial Officer, also a report from the Provincial Sanitary Engineer and Assistant Engineer with respect to the sanitary condition of the River Moira from above Corbyville to the Bay of Quinte was read and discussed.

The gist of the lengthy report prepared by the engineers in regard to the river is that whilst the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Corbyville fouls the river to some extent that by far the most serious cause of complaint at the time the report was made was the discharge of untreated sewerage to the river by the city itself. The remedy rests with the local Board of Health and the Council.

It was moved and seconded that copies of the reports be sent to the Industrial Alcohol Company Limited at Corbyville, also to the Council of the city and the newspapers.

Dr. Yeomans stated that the bedding, furniture, etc., at the building in West Belleville used as an isolated hospital amounted in value to about $1,000 and there was no insurance on same. The Secretary was authorized to place an insurance of $1,000 on the contents.

A communication from Mr. George Babcock re the isolated hospital and removal of same was ordered to be filed.

A number of accounts were passed.

The bacteriological report from the Provincial Board of Health dated October 15th, 1920, on the condition of the Belleville water was submitted and showed that the water was practically free from contamination.

Dr. Yeomans reported that Miss Osborne, a public health nurse had interviewed him in connection with her work of child's welfare.

Dr. Clinton stated that the Provincial Board of Health were prepared on request to send to the different municipalities for a limited time trained nurses who would explain to the local organizations the methods by which desired results might be attained. It was resolved on motion that the Secretary be instructed to write the Provincial Board of Health that this Board on its own behalf would be glad to have the nurses sent here to undertake such preliminary work.

Board adjourned.

EUROPE'S NEW MENACE

WHAT DEFEAT OF POLAND WOULD MEAN.

If Germany United With Russia Against Great Britain, France and the United States, It Would Mean a Much More Terrible War Than That Which Has Left Civilization Shattered.

THE people of this country do not seem to realize the importance and possibly serious consequences to themselves of the momentous issues which are being decided in the struggle between Poland and the Bolsheviks. If Poland is defeated in the present struggle, it is no exaggeration to say that conscription will have to be put into force again in the Old Country within the next three months, and Germany will tear the Peace Treaty to shreds.

Germany, at present smarting but not repentent under the pain of a half administered thrashing, is thirsting for revenge and seeking for the means to carry out in other directions her former ambitious schemes of world conquest. In short, she is hoping to gain, via Moscow, what she failed to gain via Berlin.

There were two outstanding causes which contributed to the defeat of Germany in the late war. The one was the fact that our navy was able to obtain a strangle-hold over Germany by shutting out the supplies of raw material which she was so desperately in need of, and could not produce herself. The second was the scarcity of "cannon-fodder." After nearly five years of fighting the man-power of Germany was not strong enough to stand the tremendous drain made upon it. Therefore Germany is seeking for ways and means to make good these two weak points before embarking on another struggle for world empire. She wants an unlimited supply of raw material, and she wants millions of human beings naturally brave and blindly obedient. Where is she to find them? She has found them. By dint of almost diabolically clever intrigues and propaganda she has turned what was her greatest danger into her greatest asset. Russia, her former greatest antagonist, is in the hands of German Jews, and the Bolshevik armies are being directed by German staff officers. Under German organization, Russia can be made to produce again all that is necessary for man's welfare and man's warfare, even platinum and cotton wool. With the economic wealth of Russia at her disposal Germany could scout all fear of any blockade. The power of the British fleet would be rendered nugatory. With 128 millions of brave people lying to her hand, needing only organization and leadership, the question of Germany's supply of cannon-fodder would be settled.

There is, however, one great difficulty to be overcome before this great scheme can be carried out. Although at the present moment German staff officers are organizing and leading the Bolshevik armies; although German troops are already in Russia to such an extent that Col. John Ward told the House of Commons that in one of his many engagements with the Bolsheviks, among the 600 dead bodies of the enemy there was not a single Russian, every corpse being that either of a German, Austrian, or Hungarian, yet there is one great barrier between Germany and her intended Russian prey, and that is Poland. The territories of Poland separate Germany from Russia. Germany's plan is, therefore, obvious. It is to make Poland as weak as possible, and to stir up dissension among all the states which come in between Germany and her ambition. Finland, Esthonia, Latvia, and Lithuania occupy the shores of the Baltic, which it is Germany's intention to dominate; Poland is the great barrier on land. During the war all these countries have been occupied by the Germans, so that each of these states realizes what German domination means, and each of these states is quite determined that Germany shall not have the control of their affairs again. Nevertheless, unless these states can come to some working agreement for mutual self-defence, it is difficult to see how they can help succumbing either to the intrigues of the Baltic barons aided by German pressure from East Prussia, or else to the Germanized Bolsheviks.

It cannot be too distinctly remembered that if it had not been for M. Clemenceau and the Supreme Council, Poland might have made peace with the Bolsheviks last November. The Bolshevik offer of peace to Poland was forwarded to Paris by the Polish Government, and M. Clemenceau and the Supreme Council told the Poles to take no notice of Tchitcherin's letter. So that the Allies must assume part of the responsibility for Poland's present position. It may be that the great danger that Poland is in at present will induce all the Baltic states to drop their various differences and unite to face a common foe. The common danger may make them realize what they are in danger of forgetting in the heat of national quarrels and jealousies, namely, that if Poland falls, they all fall. And, "lest we forget," let us remind ourselves once more that if the Germans gain control of the Baltic we lose the greater part of our future trade with Russia and Scandinavia, and also that if the Polish barrier is broken by the Bolsheviks, Great Britain, together with the rest of Europe, will be involved in a gargantual catastrophe. Then, perhaps, the workmen of Britain will regret, but too late, their treacherous and suicidal policy of hostility towards the small but brave Socialist Republic of Poland.

It has been estimated that steamers are 20 per cent. safer than sailing vessels.

City Sewage Main Cause Of Moira River Pollution

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH CHARGES THAT UNTREATED SEWAGE FROM CITY ITSELF IS PRINCIPAL CAUSE OF RIVER NUISANCE—CORBYVILLE PLANT AND PAPER MILLS CONTRIBUTORY CAUSES.

The report made by the Provincial Board of Health to City Clerk Holmes on the pollution of the River Moira, as noted briefly in Friday's Intelligencer is as follows:

Toronto Sept., 29th. 1920

Sir—I am enclosing herewith for the information of the Council and Board of Health, a report of one of our engineers upon the nuisance found in the River Moira, as well as a covering memorandum from the Provincial Sanitary Engineer.

The gist of this report is that while the plant at Corbyville fouls the river to some extent, that by far the most serious cause of complaint at the time this report was made is the discharge of untreated sewage to the River by the City itself. The remedy rests with the local Board of Health and the Council. In respect to the conditions occasioned by the Plant at Corbyville, the Board may utilize Sec. 81 of the Public Health Act. Regarding conditions obtaining as the result of the disposal of Belleville sewage, this is indicated in the Assistant Engineer's report.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
John W. S. McCullough
Chief officer of Health

Memorandum from F. A. Dallyn

I have the honor to forward for your information the laboratory report of our findings in regard to the nuisance occasioned by the Moira River at Belleville.

It would appear that operations at Corbyville are only one of the contributing causes of this condition and that by far the most serious is the discharge of untreated sewage to the river by the City of Belleville.

I have no hesitancy in stating that were the conditions at Corbyville and at Coniston at the Lazier Paper Company Mills improved the river would still give rise to nuisance owing to the amount of sewage being discharged by the city and to the accumulation of sewage sludge in the river bottom.

It is imperative that all sewage and trade wastes should receive some treatment before discharge into the Moira in the vicinity of Belleville, especially during the summer months and during low water. Several processes of treatment adopted at other centres in the province are successfully preventing nuisances such as exist in the Moira at Belleville.

It would seem proper that the Town of Belleville should proceed immediately to design sewage treatment works and following this initial step that the industries at Corbyville and Coniston should be required to do likewise.

F. A. Dallyn,
Provincial Sanitary Engineer
Toronto, September 29th 1920.

Labortory Report

Gentlemen—Acting on instructions from the Chief Officer of Health, I accompanied the Provincial Sanitary Engineer, on the 8th of July, 1920, to Belleville to investigate a complaint of the Local authorities.

Source of Nuisance

The nuisance complained of was the effluvia from the decomposition of floating masses of organic matter. These masses in general seemed to be mats of dislodged river growth and consisted of a matrix of Myxophyceae (Blue Green Algae) or Oscillatoria Prolifica covered with a heavy growth of a species of Schizomycetes later identified as Crenothrix. In addition there were masses of sewage sludge, particularly below lower Bridge street where a bank of solids had formed at the outfall of one of the Belleville sewers.

Location of River Growth

An examination of the Moira River from Fairfield's Bridge to the Bay of Quinte showed that the Moira River from Fairfield's Bridge to about 100 yards above Corbyville (approximately a mile) is rather shallow and practically stagnant. The condition of the stream seemed to be quite normal. There was the usual marginal growth of various aquatic plants, the water was teeming with various forms of life, and there were no large growths of organisms that could give rise to the floating masses in the lower river.

The Oxygen dissolved in the river water amounted to 5.6 c.c per litre at a temperature of 23. 5 degrees c. at Fairfield's Bridge and had diminished to 5.3 c.c per litre at 23.5 degrees c. about 100 yards above Corbyville. This slight decline was caused by a certain amount of farm drainage.

From Corbyville to College street, Belleville, the river excepting for mill ponds at Coniston and at the Lazier Paper Company Mills is a series of shallow rapids. At a point perhaps 100 feet above the Corby Company's main drain, the rocks and bottom were covered with a growth of Crenothrix the growth increasing in luxuriance until below the drain it was in mats 4 or 5 inches thick over the rocks and oottom. The growth persisted for some distance downstream but gradually became thinner. The surface of the water, however, bore an increasing number of floating masses which gave off an indescribable odour.

Cause

Above Corbyville the river appeared to be normal, the water was clear and colorless and the Oxygen dissolved amounted to 5.3 c.c per litre, temperature 23.5 degrees c. After the addition of the distillery waste, however, the character of the water changed. The color was reddish amber. There was considerable turbibity. Instead of being nearly saturated with dissolved Oxygen the Oxygen content fell repidly and half a mile below the drain had practically disappeared.

Such an abnormal growth of Crenothrix must be the result of particularly favorable conditions. Whipple (page 313 Microscopy of Drinking Water) states that "Crenothrix occurs chiefly in Waters rich in organic matter, iron salts and carbonic acid and deficient in Oxygen". The mixture, therefore, of the Corby Company's waste with the river water must produce such a water and consequently optimum conditions for the development of this growth.

The waste is very rich in organic matter and contains about 100 p.p.m. of iron. As it is highly reducing (1 litre requiring 1.5 gns of Oxygen or well over two litres of Oxygen to oxidize the organic matter present), the river water rapidly becomes deficient in Oxygen. One litre of river water contains 5.3 c.c of Oxygen—1 litre of waste requires 100 c.c of Oxygen. Therefore 1 litre of waste will consume the Oxygen from approximately 400 litres of water provided no more Oxygen is dissolved during the process. It follows, therefore, that as the dilution of the waste in river water does not during the summer months, exceed this, that the Oxygen dissolved in the water is rapidly consumed and an optimum condition for the growth of this organism occurs.

Other Conditions

A study of the Oxygen dissolved content of the river at various points shows that the river would have in all likelihood reestablished normal conditions if there had been no further pollution and that probably no nuisance would have resulted from the pollution at Corbyville. The condition set up at Corbyville is maintained however by the condition of an objectionable waste (300 gallons per minute) by the Lazier Paper Company and by the addition of sewage by the City of Belleville. So that the splendid aeration afforded by the series of rifles is more than offset by the amount of organic matter being added and the condition at the Park in Belleville is almost as bad as half a mile below the distillery.

Conclusions

Crenothrix has been observed by the officers of the Board in various rivers and streams of this Province notably in the Ottawa at Hawkesbury. Therefore, there is no guarantee that even if the Corby Company reverted from their practice of emptying their waste liquors into the river that the growth would disappear although there can be no doubt that if would not be nearly so luxuriant, nor it is not proven that the Corby Company introduced it into the river, although we have isolated it from their waste liquors. Therefore I would recommend that to obviate the nuisance suffered by the citizens of Belleville:

(1) The luxuriance of the growth be restricted by requiring the Corby Company to dispose of their waste liquors in some other manner or to treat them in such a way that they will not reproduce the conditions noted.

(2) That the Oxygen content of the river be maintained by requiring that the Lazier Paper Company and the City of Belleville treat their waste before emptying into the river, thus ensuring the rapid oxidation of and decomposing growths that may float down the river.

Appended are the tabulated results of various analyses made, all of which is respectfully submitted.

Assistant Mgr.

Man Who Would Annex Canada Was Defeated

Champ Clark, Former Speaker of the House, Goes Down to Defeat

Among the slain in the great political landslide in the United States is the Hon. Champ Clark, the former Speaker of the House of Representatives and champion of Democratic policies, who has suffered defeat in the ninth district of Missouri.

Champ Clark is still remembered in Canada for his ill-advised and offensive references to the desirability of the annexation of this country to the United States made on the floor of the House at Washington early in 1911, the time of the memorable attempt to put through a measure of reciprocity between Canada and the Republic—the famous Taft-Fielding reciprocity pact, which was rejected at the polls here in the general election of that year.

FACTS AGAINST HIM

Efforts were made throughout the United States at the time to minimise the effects of Clarke's famous spech, predicting the annexation of Canada, but all to little or no purpose. His friends went so far as to say that he was only joking and that his remarks were greeted with laughter. Unfortunately for Champ, the facts were against him, as the official Congressional record at Washington showed. He was in deadly earnest. There was no laughter but there was applause instead.

JUST WHAT HE SAW

The Home Journal reported him thus:

Mr. Clark—"I'm for it (reciprocity with Canada) because I hope to see the day when the American flag will float over every square foot of the British North American possessions clean to the North Pole. They speak our language, their institutions are much like ours, they are trained in the difficult art of self-government. My judgment is that if the treaty of 1851 (Canadian reciprocity treaty) had never been abrogated, the chances of the consolidation of the two countries would have been much greater than they are now."

Then ensued a colloquy between Mr. Clark and several members of the House, in the course of which he made the following additional remarks, in reply to questions: "I have no doubt that the day is not far distant when Great Britain will joyfully see all her North American possessions become part of this Republic. That is the way things are tending now. We have had that reciprocity treaty with the Sandwich Islands because from the very beginning we proposed to swallow them whole." (This referred to a reciprocity treaty of the past and the subsequent annexation of Hawaii by the United States.) "I favor this bill because it enlarges our markets, because it brings us into closer relations, and because in days to come it will greatly increase the prospects of consolidation of these two countries."

The speech, of course, caused a sensation at the time and high feeling ensued. Mr. Taft's influence was brought to bear on the American press, which suppressed the speech as far as possible.

Divide Turkey Into Spheres Of Influence

Great Britain, France and Italy Sign Tripartite Agreement

Paris, Nov. 6.—Great Britain, France and Italy have signed a tripartite agreement in which they undertake to support each other in maintaining their "spheres of influence" in Turkey. The limits of the areas in which the respective special interests of France and Italy are recognized are defined by the same document.

This agreement, it developed today, was signed at Sevres on August 10, the day the public ceremonial of the signing of the peace treaty with Turkey took place. Although the agreement, it is explained, is not a secret, it nevertheless has never been made public until now, after a lapse of nearly three months since the signing. Under its own terms the document was to come into force and be published at the time the Turkish peace treaty should go into effect. This date is still an uncertainty.

Rum Runners Fire On Gov't Boat

Small '(Naval Battle') Near "Fighting Island" in the Detroit River

Windsor, Nov. 6.—Three unidentified men, who escaped into American waters, this afternoon fired on the Ontario Government's fast motorboat, recently sent to Windsor for use by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, special License Inspector.

The Government boat, hidden behind the Canadian shore of Fighting Island, was in charge of License Inspectors Heston, Barney and MacCausland. The other boat swept around the end of the island, and without warning, the Inspectors said, the crew of three men openesk fire with high-powered rifles.

In the face of a hot fire the Government men gave chase, but the other boat escaped capture by running into American waters. Government officials believe it was a well-planned attempt on the life of Inspector Spracklin.' Spracklin is in Toronto.

Bryan Has Plan To Oust Wilson

Make Marshall President Who Would Appoint Harding Vice-President

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—William Jennings Bryan, in Chicago gave out a statement suggesting that "President Wilson should resign at once."

"Now that the American people have decisively declared against the League of Nations as written by the president," said Mr. Bryan, "it would seem desirable to carry out the verdict immediately. This can be easily done.

"The president should resign at once and turn over his office to Mr. Marshall, on the condition that on the convening of congress in December, Mr. Marshall appoint Senator Harding secretary of state and himself resign.

"The law would make Mr. Harding president, and with the Republican support in congress he could at once put into operation the plan for the United States to enter into an association of nations for peace.

"As world peace is a thing nearest the president's heart, he can hardly refuse to hasten the coming of peace by so small a sacrifice—if it could be called a sacrifice—to escape from a three-months' combat with a hostile congress, supported as it is by the recent vote."

BANK ROBBERY IS STILL A MYSTERY

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Five inspectors were yesterday at work on the books of the Royal Bank of Canada at Woodbrdge, where robbers secured $13,000 on Wednesday nght. A similar number of police officers were also in the village and vicinity, following up clues in the case. So far there is no trace of the men who were seen in an auto near the bank on the night the money disappeared. The auto, which was found wrecked on the roadside, was brought into Weston yesterday, but there was nothing in the car which would help the police.

James Fleming, the accountant of the bank, was at his home in Woodbridge yesterday, and was frequently seen on the streets in consultation with the officers on the case. He will spend his holidays in Woodbridge.

Forty Millions Facing Spectre Of Starvation

North China Stretches Out Arms in Supplication to the World

Toronto, Nov. 6.—China stretches out her arms in supplication to all the world.

Four Canadas are destitute and dying of hunger in North China. The crops in the five Provinces of Chihli, Shantung, Honan, Shan-si and San-si have failed utterly, with the result that 40,000 square miles of the great Chinese Republic are being swept with the worst famine in 40 years.

Periodic rains, the hope of 40,000,000 hungry Chinese, did not come, their first failure to appear within the living memory, and with the suddenness and blinding force of a lightning flash the desperateness of their condition has been realized.

Thousands must die, are dying because no human agency can get food enough to all of them soon enough. Many millions will fall down on the roads and in their rude houses, victims of a consuming and unappeasable hunger. Crows and jackdaws, who never leave a place if there is the least palatable refuse to be had, are themselves fleeing from the spectre of famine and death in North China.

Letters To The Editor

PUBLIC MEETINGS ADVOCATED

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir,—The President of the Chamber of Commerce in his recent letter to the Press administered a just rebuke to the "Knockers." In dealing with criticism of the Council in general, however, he seems to leave only two alternatives open to the citizens, namely refrain from criticising the Council or leave the city. There surely is another alternative, that is co-operation with the Council by means of discussion at many public meetings during the year. In using the terms constructive criticism and destructive criticism we should understand clearly what is meant because destructive criticism intended to destroy methods that occasion loss is always useful though the best method to be substituted may not have been decided upon. It is simply idling time to assert by way of criticism that some one has made a mistake because those who never make mistakes never make anything else. Calm, judicial, dispassionate criticism will help the Council and ought to be encouraged. If the members of the Council would take the people into their confidence at public meetings before embarking on important public matters particularly excessive public work expenditures it would avoid a lot of criticism.

It was hoped that the Chamber of Commerce would afford constant opportunity for this public discussion and that the whole public would be educated up to the high standard of the few, especially the members, but no periodical meetings of the members take place, and I have no recollection of receiving a notice of any meeting. Expenditures are made, important officials employed and we hear debts incurred, without any meeting of the members being called. The result is, instead of co-operation we have antagonism.

A great deal of criticism is heard around the city of late about public affairs, and a public meeting seems to be necessary to supply the much burdened taxpayer with facts and explanations. Street corner criticism does little good and usually does harm because it is more or less distorted. Public meetings will not only head off unfair criticism but will train citizens in co-operation with, instead of merely criticism of the various public bodies. We should have at least six public meetings a year. People have had so little experience with public meetings in Belleville of late years that when one is called very few turn out unless some tremendously important matter is up for consideration and then one or two speakers monopolize the time. If there were more public meetings the voice of labor and of the Veterans and others could be heard. The lack of public meetings has produced a diminished interest generally in public affairs so that at elections not half the electors will even come out to vote and many who are willing to come expect to be driven to the polls.

There are about 4,200 actual individual electors in Belleville, about 1,070 of whom are ladies. There were less than 1,900 electors took enough interest in the affairs of the city to come out and vote at the last Municipal elections. About 1,900 persons own the 1,700 acres comprising Belleville on which 13,000 reside. This real estate is assessed for $6,800,000. As there were less than 1,900 persons voted at the last Municipal elections and most of them tenants it would look as if even the property owners take little interest.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

CLEAN DRAMA

That the psychological moment has arrived for the cleansing of the English-speaking stage from suggestive plays and their replacement by clean healthy drama is the firm conviction of Mr. H. V. Esmond, the famous English dramatist and playwright, who will be seen here in one of his own plays, "The Law Divine," with his distinguished wife, Miss Eva Moore at Griffin's this Monday night, November 8th, for one night only.

"There can be no doubt," said Mr. Esmond, "that the time is ripe for the presentation on the English-speaking stage, not only in Great Britain but also in Canada and wherever the English language is spoken, of drama that breathes a wholesome atmosphere, inculcates a kindly spirit, and leaves behind none but the most pleasant memories. The public in London are sick of anything that suggests sex-drama. They have had enough and to spare of it. They do not want it, and I do not think they will ever give it any extensive encouragement again.

"What they do want, what they appreciate and are willing to pay their good money for, is clean drama. They want to be made to laugh. They want the sort of play they can take their wives and children to and that they can go away from feeling that they have been made to see the bright side of life, the best side of humanity and the most human sort of truth."

BIG QUALITY BILL

Quality and varied is the order of the photoplay program at Griffin's this week end, where Rupert Hughes' gripping story of Industrial America, "The Cup of Fury" is the feature offering. Political intrigue and romance have been woven together in "The Cup of Fury." It deals with momentous events and with affairs of love in a way to keep one's interest on the jump. The story is an aftermath of the war, packed with suspense and dramatic interest. The leading roles are in the capable hands of Helene Chadwick and Rockliffe Fellowes. The special film players in action, also showing the famous Home Run King of Baseball, Babe Ruth and other celebrated players in action, also showing by the aid of the ultra rapid or slow motion camera how he makes his home runs has proven of great interest to many local lovers of baseball. Hank Mann in "Leap Year" a funny 2-reel comedy, Charles Hutchison in the latest chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial and Tom Mix in a Western play are also being shown on the same program.

THREE GOLD COINS

Tom Mix, "the daredevil of the screen," is coming to Griffin's next Tuesday and Wednesday as usual under the direction of William Fox in "3 Gold Coins," a stirring, Western drama by H. H. Van Loan. In this picture Mix will be seen at his best, providing innumerable thrills by daring deeds of horsemanship and marksmanship.

Mix will be seen in a double role in this picture, appearing as Bob Fleming and later as "Bad Pat" Duncan, a murderous bandit, whom he captures and receives a $10,000 reward. Among the "daredevil" stunts which Mix stages in this thriller is the sensational escape from the court room when he leaps to the balcony and then swings successfully from three buildings by means of a flagpole halyard. One of the most effective scenes is said to be that showing Mix dropping from the high flagpole when the rope is pierced by a bullet from the sherriff's revolver. Mix alights on the horse of "Bad Pat" Duncan, the bandit, and Tom raps the criminal behind the ear, knocking him out. In the supporting cast are Margaret Loomis, Margaret Cullington, Sylvia Jocelyn, Frank Whitson, Bert Hadley and Dick Ruth.

A 2-reel Christie comedy, Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," and a Burton Holmes Travelogue will also be shown on the same program.

FRUIT FOR BREAKFAST OR NO WORK

"Grape fruit or oranges for breakfast or we quit!" No, this ultimatum was not made in a metropolitan restaurant, but to the operator of a western threshing outfit. Juicy Alberta-grown beefsteak and porridge was not enough for the epicurean appetites of these men. They demanded a balanced diet. But they could not convince this particular thresherman of the justice of their claim and they "hit the road."

"Another Idol Shattered" The fast going Merchants received their first trimming last night at the hands of Duff's G.T.R. Office team. At the end of the 2nd game the Office were leading by a margin of 62 points but all through the 3rd game the Merchants were going strong and looked as if they would pull the game out of the fire, but the Office hung on and when the last shot was fired the total showing gave them the narrow margin of four points over the Sulmanites. This puts the Office on an even basis with the Merchants and Young Merchants and the battle rolls merrily on. The game tonight will be Steel Company vs. Ritchies.

Rich, Red Blood Necessary To Health

When the Blood Becomes Weak and Watery a Tonic is Needed to Build it Anew.

Why are we being continually told that good, health-giving blood must be bright red? What has color to do with the quality? Just this—the oxygen in the air is the great supporter of all organic life. One function of the blood is to take the oxygen from the air—which it meets in the lungs and deliver it to the tissues of the body. When the blood, filled with life-sustaining oxygen, is sent out by the heart, it is bright red. When it returns impure and deprived of oxygen it is dark.

You will see, therefore, that there are two prime requisites of health, pure air and bright red blood—the pure air to furnish the oxygen, the rich red blood to carry it where it is needed. Dr. Williams Pink Pills make your blood rich and red because they increase its power to carry oxygen, actually making it so much more able to carry increased life and strength to every organ in the body.

Pale anaemic people whose nerves are on edge, whose cheeks are pale and who tire out easily should try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and note the steady improvement that follows their use. A case in point is that of Mrs. J. P. Rolston, South River, Ont., who says: "About two years ago my system was in a badly run down condition and I kept growing worse all the time until I could hardly do my housework. I had severe headaches and pains across my back and under my left shoulder. I did not sleep well and would feel just as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. Life seemed a burden. I had taken doctor's medicine for a long time, but it did n meet my case, at least it did me no good. Then as a result of reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I decided to try then. When I had taken a couple of boxes I felt much better and when I had taken five boxes more I felt that I was again a well woman. I have not since felt any return of the trouble and I advise all women who are broken in health to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRAY-DORT

THE nation-wide friendship for the Gray-Dort cannot be based on price alone, for there are cars selling at lower prices.

Evidently motor car buyers have determined for themselves that the value and thrift of the Gray-Dort are very unusual.

In less than five years the Gray-Dort has outstripped, in demand and production, a dozen cars which have been on the Canadian market longer. It is now one of the four largest-selling cars in Canada.

At the present rate of sales, the market will shortly be bare of Gray-Dorts. The wise purchaser will act at once.

ROYAL CHINESE COAT HAS DISAPPEARING TENDENCIES.

Interesting news is often found in the newspaper advertising columns. For instance, the following recently appeared in the Lost and Found column of the Toronto Mail and Empire:

> REWARD—We are authorized to pay $1,000.00 reward for the recovery of a Manchurian blended sable lady's coat, stolen from a delivery truck; this coat is described as a very rich appearing garment, cut in cloak style, three-quarter length with large shawl collar, loose large and baggy sleeves, the border being trimmed with the heads and tails of the skins from which the coat was made, lined with brown silk; the coat was made from a robe or garment formerly the property of the royal family of China, and was secured by a British officer at the time of the Boxer Rebellion; it was made by Marco of London, and has the name sewn in the lining. Information may be sent to our Toronto, Montreal, Buffalo, Detroit, Boston, New York or Chicago offices, or any of our other offices throughout the country, or the Chief Constable of Toronto, Canada. TIME TO HALT AND TAKE STOCK.

Before we begin to talk of a City Manager or any other experiment in improved civic administration, let us take stock of the present situation. Just where does the city stand financially and what is the meaning of the warning of the Chairman of Finance intimating that this year's Council has not only expended the funds available this year, but has laid heavy hands on next year's civic funds; so much so that he fears next year's Council will have difficulty getting enough money to carry on. The year is drawing to a close and the sooner the ratepayers are placed in possession of all the facts and figures the quicker can remedial measures be devised and preparations made for a strong Council to carry on next year.

The City Council this year has been energetic and progressive and many useful public works have been carried out. There have been a series of expensive mistakes which resulted from a penny-wise pound-foolish policy, but considerable work has been done of a permanent character which may be considered as municipal assets.

About the only fly in the ointment—and no small one, either—has been in the doubtful wisdom of a policy which undertakes extensive public works in a year when the cost of wages, material and money is at the highest peak. Already labor is becoming more plentiful and less expensive, materials are coming down in price and next year no doubt money will be cheaper.

The best time to undertake an extensive program of public works is when employment is none too plentiful and citizens are glad to get the work. Thus our own citizens are benefitted, also the business men for the money stays in the city. At other times it is necessary to impart workingmen who spend as little money in Belleville as possible and support families elsewhere.

A City Council which is animated with the idea that spending money is the chief business of the civic administration has a wrong conception entirely of correct civic administration which carries first the responsibility of saving the ratepayers' money, securing public improvements at the lowest possible price and when prices are high going without things, as do all prudent householders or private business men.

The Intelligencer from the beginning of the year advocated a civic policy of strict economy, a policy of paying our debts and spending as little money as possible in a year when a dollar would only buy fifty cents' worth of labor or material, and when money was high and hard to get. Every development thus far has proved the wisdom of The Intelligencer's stand, which was based on information and advice of the great financial institutions of the country.

We were laughed to scorn by some, reviled by others, but the great body of thinking ratepayers who always pay the shot thought as we did and were not slow in saying so.

Now, before we begin to scour the United States for a City Manager, let us find out just where we are, and before we rush into this City Manager thing let us choose a committee of our best business men—not Aldermen—and send them to places where the City Manager system is in operation. Their report will give more real guidance to the ratepayers than all the letters or speeches of City Managers or American City Bureaus financially interested in promoting a new profession.

Before taking any more steps forward let us be sure the steps are safe.

CRISP COMMENT

Jack Dempsey failed to make much of an impression on Montreal fight fans; but he should worry! Look at the impression he made on Jess Willard.

Poor old Murney Hill must feel all cut-up over the latest decision to hold another post mortem on its innards; but how about the ratepayers concerned?

Now it transpires that the city is the chief offender in the pollution of the Moira River. Strange how some of us who live in glass houses persist in throwing stones!

Champion pugilists are getting in the Mary Pickford-Charlie Chaplin class. Takes half a million dollars to produce a "close-up" of Dempsey and Carpentier in action.

We don't hear much of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and its circus methods to promote a Greater Belleville. In the words of the immortal Postum, "There's a reason." But Belleville publishers are not saying anything. The shock has apparently dulled their little intellects to such an extent that they can't write up a good live piece of news even though they know it, says the Deseronto Post, which is too hard-hearted to respect the deep silence of a great grief.

The boys who destroyed a tent and other property in West Belleville Hallowe'en have a poor idea of fun. Destruction of property is not an evidence of cleverness, but rather of a criminal tendency which should be curbed. Manly sport is far removed from hooliganism, which is the most contemptible form of youthful boisterousness.

A CRACK AT MR. KING

Alberta Labor News

This Mackenzie King fellow is strong on Farmers and Labor joining hands with their affinity? (the Liberal party) and cleaning house at Ottawa. It never occurs to him nor his patty that the proper place for them is in the Farmer or Labor party that do not know what cheap petty politics are but only deal with practical and fundamental things. If the Liberals are sincere in their acknowledgment that Labor and Farmer parties have much in common with them then it is up to the Liberals to put themselves where they belong—into the people's only possible party from the trustworthy and practical standpoint. The way that the Liberals dish it up Labor-Farmer parties have a very definite mission—to give the people something more upright in government than they have ever known—so that to ask Labor-Farmer parties to join hands with Liberals may be the way the Liberals would do business. But that is just the difference between us. We don't nor do we intend to do business that way.

THE SALES TAX

Saturday Night

It is interesting to note how one of our new taxes is reaping the necessary financial harvest. The sales and luxury taxes have now been in operation for a few months, and the returns indicate that while the luxury tax is scarcely worth while, the sales tax is, on the other hand, a real money getter, and at that it cannot be said that the methods of applying this tax have been as efficient as they might have been, and probably will be later on now that its possibilities are realized. It is a case of the nimble sixpence. You collect a little here and a little there and in the final analysis it means many millions to the treasury.

The sales and luxury taxes have now been applied for a period of four months with the result that the Federal treasury is sixteen million dollars the richer. Of that sum the luxury tax with a great disorganization of trade, as the result of it, contributed only $2,676,000, while the balance stands to the credit of the sales tax. In other words the luxury tax did not, in all probability, net the government any considerable sum over the cost of collection, while the sales tax on the other hand was a real gold mine.

There is no reason why this sales tax should not be more broadly and effectively applied. At the moment everybody is "on their own" in respect to its application; and there is no effecient check against dishonest dealings in connection with it.

It is self-evident that this tax should be collected by means of stamps, as is the tax on notes, bills of exchange, checks and the like. You buy some affixed to the article or the bill for the same. This would enable the Government to collect the tax in advance and at the same time give greater assurance that there would be less underhand dealing between seller and buyer.

POETS' CORNER

THE RECOMPENSE

The day has been long and my work has gone wrong;
I'm beaten, discouraged and weary;
A sob in the heart has stifled all song
And life, for the moment, seems dreary.
But the baby crawls laughingly into my lap
And her eyes with affection shine
true,
As the sweetest of music is born of her lisp—
"I love you, my daddy, I love you!"

It's funny a child can put heart in a chap,
When he feels about ready to quit,
But when there's a baby to climb in your lap,
There's something to bring back
your grit.
The struggle seems worth every bit
it has cost,
As you gaze in those eyes of mild
blue,
The crushed song comes back to your heart as she says:
"I loves 'ou my daddy, I loves 'ou."

A LAUGH OR TWO

Didn't Eat Pork

It happened in a crowded railway carriage. A very fat and bumptious man was making a general nuisance of himself, explaining in a loud voice his cuteness and success in most things. Some of the people smiled pityingly, some merely looked bored, but one solemn individual eyed the fat boaster with a stony and immovable stare.

The latter at last became uneasy under this unwinking scrutiny, and turning to the man said, blusteringly: "Well, what yer looking at me like that for? Want to eat me?"

"No" was the crushing rejoinder, "I'm a Hebrew, I don't eat pork."

Culinary Measures

We have just discovered the genesis of an old jest. You remember how when Bridget was asked why she sang a certain hymn while cooking the breakfast, she replied, "It's for the eggs, mum. When I want 'em soft boiled I sing one verse, and when I want 'em hard boiled I sing two verses."

About 300 years ago Sir Kenelm Digby published a book where, in giving the directions for making tea, he wrote, "Let the water remain upon it no longer than you can say Miserere Psalm very leisurely."—Boston Transcript.

MILLIONS SPENT ON WOMEN'S FACES

Rosy complexions, ruby lips and fragrant personality cost the women of the United States $750,000,000 last year, according to luxury tax return figures. This enormous sum was expended for rouge, face powder, cosmetics and perfumery.

The cost of cosmetics and perfumery was more than twice that of women's furs—in a year when the fur prices were the highest in history. The amount spent on furs was approximately $300,000,000.

The ladies did their part in spending money on luxuries, but the expenditures were not confined to them. Eight hundred million dollars went up in cigaret smoke, while $510,000,000 was burned up in the form of cigars. Jewelry cost $500,000,000, only 2 per cent of the sum spent on luxuries. The grand total spent on luxuries in the United States during the year 1919 was $22,700,000,000.

A round billion dollars went for candy. Pianos, organs and phonographs entertained the people to the tune of $250,000,000. Automobiles cost $2,000,000,000. Here are some more items which make up the grand total:

Soft drinks, $350,000,000; toilet soaps $400,000,000; tobacco and snuff, $800,000,000; ice cream, $250,000,000; chewing gum, $50,000,000; cake and confections, $350,000,000; "luxurious services," $3,000,000,000; luxurious food, $5,000,000,000; joy riding, pleasure resorts and races, $3,000,000,000.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS.

The ailments of childhood—constipation, indigestion, colic, colds, etc.—can be quickly banished through the use of Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which instantly regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. They are guaranteed to contain no harmful drugs and can be given to the youngest baby with perfect safety. Concerning them Mrs. Alcide Lepage, Ste. Beatrix, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets were of great help to my baby. They regulated her bowels and stomach and made her plump and well." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HUMAN THOROUGHBREDS TO BE REGISTERED

A plan to have perfect human beings registered and pedigreed, the same as high class "thoroughbreds of the lower animals," was advocated recently at the annual convention of the International Alliance of Physicians and Surgeons, the National Association of Progressive Medicine and two other affiliated bodies.

Dr. Charles E. Conrad, chairman of the convention, stated that a woman or a man, if they have their own and the world's interest at heart, would prefer to select a life mate in whom they have some degree of assurance "is at least as near perfect as a pet dog," which they would not buy, he added, unless the dog had a pedigree of some kind.

ANSWER TO HOUSING RIDDLE

A unique experiment to solve the housing problem is being tried at Kelowna, B.C. L. E. Taylor and Col. A. Duncan are erecting a small building of "rammed earth," and if the material stands the winter, large residences will be constructed next spring.

The process simply consists of ramming down tightly ordinary soil between two wooden moulds connected traversely by long iron bolts which are tightened up by threaded nuts on each end so as to give the proper distance between the sides corresponding to the desired thickness of the wall. The soil is shovelled into the form a little at a time, liberally sprinkled with water, and tamped vigorously until it cannot be compressed further. After a time a nail cannot be driven into the substance, Col. Duncan states.

GOOD SUMMER FOR INDIANS

Manitoba Indians are well and happy, according to information received at the Indian office at Winnipeg. So far there are no indications of epidemics in any part of the country.

"The summer has been a good one," said Inspector J. R. Bunn. "Fishing in Lake Winnipeg has been fine. Many Indians have been working in the harvest fields, and employers report their work very satisfactory."

Prospects of a fur catch promise to be as good as any previous season. The fur market is unsettled, but they should receive a fair price for all skins, it was said.

This Xmas let it be a Furniture Aristocrat

Let us show you what an exquisite thing a phonograph cabinet can be.

Every New Edison on our floor—no matter what its price—is encased in a genuine period cabinet.

Period Furniture is the world's most exquisite development of furniture. It originated in the 16th, 17th, and 18th Centuries. Europe was ruled by a Gorgeous Aristocracy. Fine living was the ideal of the day. An unparalleled race of artists, architects, and designers built palatial living-places for kings and nobles, and furnished them. The palaces of the nobility became treasure-houses of fine furniture. It was called the "Golden Age of Furniture."

So Mr Edison had his designers go back into the manor houses of England, the chateaux of France and the castles of Italy. They adapted 17 designs from historic masterpieces. They preserved entire "the character and feeling of the best periods" in these superb phonograph cases for the modern American home.

No matter which Edison cabinet you choose, you get both the arts that make your house a cultured home—music perfectly RE-CREATED and furniture of purest period source. What finer gift for all the family?

Fighting Canadian At Close Range

Intimate Picture of Canadian Officers and Soldiers on Active Service.

That the Canadian Corps on the Western front constituted the finest and most effective military force in France was the opinion expressed by Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonnell, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Commandant Royal Military College, Kingston, before the Women's Canadian Club at the inaugural meeting for the season Friday evening in the Belleville High School assembly hall. This was not said in any spirit of disparagement of the splendid British forces as the Canadians were hand-picked, and on account of the superb bravery and tenacity of the British and French forces had ample time to perfect their fighting machine. The effectiveness of the Canadians was the result of hard work and unremitting toil which had won for them the commendation of Lord Byng of Vimy, who said that the Canadians were the best spear on the Western front.

There was a large and appreciative attendance at the first meeting of the Women's Canadian Club for the season and the selection of the speaker of the evening could not have been better. Mrs. S. D. Lazier presided, and Lieut.-Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., Officer Commanding the Argyll Light Infantry, occupied a seat on the platform. At the close of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker of the evening on motion of Mrs. Affleck and Mrs. Wills.

The Canadian Soldier.

Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonnell, who was in command of the First Canadian Division on the Western front during the war, is a pleasing speaker, bluff and outspoken, without oratorical effort, telling a plain tale of things as he saw them in conversational style which was very effective. His subject was "The Canadian Soldier as I Found Him" and he paid a high tribute to the character and efficiency of the Canadians, officers and men, who won so much glory for Canada and the Empire on the field of battle. There were two classes of Canadian soldiers on the western front, the native born and the Canadian by adoption, and the latter class was most vociferous in its desire to be known as Canadians. The Canadians were noted for their self-reliance and initiative, which was only natural, considering their ancestry and environment. As a prominent American has said, the Canadians sprung from the loins of a people who had done the great things of the world for all time. The speaker said that he had particularly noted the eyes of the Canadians, the eyes of understanding, bright, clear and unafraid, and as one British officer had said, there were few retreating chins among the Canadians, who had strong, resolute faces.

Valcartier and Beyond.

Major-General Macdonnell described the trials and tribulations of the first Canadian contingent, Valcartier, Salisbury Plains and beyond, and paid a high tribute to General Sir Arthur Currie, who was a splendid commander. Discipline, at first rather lacking among the Canadians, was attained when it was realized that discipline was necessary to success and the Canadians had the finest discipline on the western front and the Canadian officers were splendid enforcers of discipline. Canadian officers had not always got what was coming to them at home and were the objects of much unfair criticism.

No Drunkenness.

Speaking of the character and conduct of the Canadian soldier, Major-General Macdonnell said that the sight of a drunken soldier in France was a rare one indeed and the battalion spirit was so strong that no roughness would be tolerated. Every Canadian soldier who came back should be better for his experience overseas, and if there were any who were not it must have been some fault of training or environment before going overseas.

The finest soldiers and those who won distinction were generally those who came from good homes and had the inspiration of a tender, loving, God-fearing mother.

Spirit of Chivalry.

There was a splendid spirit of chivalry among the Canadians, who were ever ready to sacrifice all for a comrade. Several striking instances were related of self-sacrifice. Sixty men of the Army Medical Corps were gassed at Hill 70 because they could not carry in their wounded with their masks on, and rather than leave their desperately wounded comrades on the field discarded the masks. One hundred and thirty artillery men were gassed in the same battle as they had discarded their gas masks to more effectively serve the guns in support of the infantry.

Glorious Deeds.

Glorious deeds which won the V. C. and other decorations for outstanding bravery were sketched by the General, including the V.C. won by Michael O'Rourke, who after three days and three nights unceasing labor bringing in the wounded at Hill 70 when all the stretcher bearers but three had collapsed under the strain persisted in bringing in the wounded despite the rain of lead which swept No Man's Land. Then there was Col. "Mac" Peck, V.C., who guided two tanks to the spot where a German machine gun nest was sending a hail of lead at the Canadians. Col. Peck marched bravely out in the open between the tanks and was followed by a runner, who picked off the Germans shooting at the gallant Colonel, accounting for seven Huns, and himself winning the V. C.

Canadians were responsible for many effective improvements in military operations on the Western front, including the counter battery attack, medical treatment, application of intelligence, trench raids, etc.

No Atheists.

As to the religion of the Canadian soldier much has been written which is not true. In all his four years on the western front Major-General Macdonnell never saw an atheist; most of the men were fatalists, it is true, but that was natural for a soldier. Most of the men, no matter what their particular creed was, believed that the great Quarter-Master above in His own good time would make all things right.

Expressing the greatest admiration for General Sir Arthur Currie, who, he said, was the biggest man on the western front in every way, a man with few equals and no superiors, Major-General Macdonnell slashed the criticism which had appeared in some quarters of the Canadian army chief. It was said that he leaned on his division commanders, but the reverse was true. Everyone of them leaned on him, and believed implicitly in him, his good judgment, ability and fairness. Every important movement was laid before his officers by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie and thoroughly discussed, divergent views being respected.

Many illuminating instances were related concerning the good character, soldierly qualities and courage of the Canadian soldiers, and Major-General Macdonnell's talk was thoroughly enjoyed as a close and intimate revelation of the human side of the officers and men who represented Canada so nobly and well on the western front.

BREAKS THE NECK OF A MAD DOG

Windsor, Nov. 4.—Whorlow Bull, musical instructor at Windsor Public Schools, broke the neck of a mad dog which had bitten Walter Burbridge, 12 years old, pupil at Cameron Ave. School.

Hearing cries of "mad dog," Mr. Bull rushed from the school to find the teeth of the dog tearing the flesh of the boy's right thigh. Using his pocket knife, the instructor first pried open the jow the the animal, and then broke its neck by twisting the steel-studded collar it was wearing.

Fearing the animal may have been infected with rabies, the head will be sent to Toronto for examination. The boy, it is said, is in no danger.

CLEANING UP ARMS IN IRELAND

It is a criminal offence in Ireland to have arms without a permit. The Sinn Feiners have plenty of weapons and pay no attention to permits. When caught they are sentenced to terms of imprisonment of from six months to a year. They have obtained their arms by taking them in raids from the people who have permits.

Permits have been more numerous in Dublin than anywhere else in the South and West. But by a special military order all permits in the Dublin district have now been withdrawn and the holders have been required to hand up all arms in their possession. Hereafter, any person having arms, ammunition or explosives will be prosecuted.

"I have exchanged my phonograph!"

A lot of people said that the other day.

They had accepted our invitation to investigate the BRUNSWICK —they came to see whether they approved our judgment.

Of course, we expected people to "discover" the BRUNSWICK, just as we have done; but we did not promise ourselves so many OWNERS of other phonographs would Hit the BRUNSWICK Trail so readily.

Frankly, we were astonished. We have a suspicion that some of them came to tell us that "a rolling stone gathers no moss."

But exchange that machine that had meant so much to wife and kiddies? Relinquish that which had taken so much time and pains to select—the machine they thought to be the best phonograph on the market?

No, we weren't ready for that. But it happened the first day and every day after. They caught the idea right away. They saw that while they had spent weeks picking their phonographs, they were letting someone else pick their music.

They wanted to be able to play ANY record, just the same as those who have never owned a talking machine.

We played some of their own favorite records for them, and they had to admit that the BRUNSWICK played them better.

Many residents of this locality have found a better phonograph—a wonderful, versatile, all-embracing new musical instrument in the BRUNSWICK.

And they found a cabinet that was easy to look at, as well.

We are beginning to think our judgment is pretty good, after all.

Come in yourself and hear the BRUNSWICK. Liberal allowance on your old machine. You CAN change horses in midstream.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BLADDER TROUBLE

There is nothing seriously wrong with a child who is troubled with nocturnal micturition. Nerve pressure at the spine upon the nerves which control the bladder has rendered the organ weak and unable to respond to natural impulses.

By taking the child to the Chiropractor for a series of Chiropractic adjustments you will not only afford him relief from broken rest and this unpleasant habit but you will also provide against the development of serious injurious consequences in adult life.

There is no excuse for a parent neglecting his child's health because of a lack of knowledge of a new science. Investigation will reveal the remarkable results which can be obtained in a short time by this new health mode. Can you as a parent afford to assume the responsibility for future ill health of your child upon the futile excuse that you "didn't know?" Consultation and Spinal Analysis without obligation on your part.

Farm sales in Northumberland County still continues with unabated frequency. About twenty are reported for the past week or ten days. In South Monaghan, Henry Perrin sold his farm of 100 acres, near Bailieboro, to Norman Jeweson for $8,000. In Clark Township and other parts of Durham County also, the farms that the early cleared with difficulty and much hard labor, are passing from the family name into the hands of strangers. Mr. Waite and Mr. Campbell, Toronto men have answered the call to the land and are locating in Clark Township. T. Mason of Pickering has also purchased a 112-acre farm there. A number of retired farmers, who had removed to villages, have gone back to the land.

Dedication Of Orange Hall

Loyal Orange Lodge No. 2349 was instituted at Bayside on June 3rd, 1912 with the following officers: Master, Bro. Harvey Wallace; Deputy Master, Bro. F. W. Wilson; Chaplain, Bro. Samuel Kincaide; Rec.-Sec., Bro. Arthur Burke; Fin.-Sec., Bro. Daniel A. Parks; Treasurer, Bro. Christopher Jeffry; Dir. of Cer., Bro. Edward Jeffry; Lecturer, Bro. J. M. Finkle; and although passing through the strenuous times of the war and contributing its fair quota of defenders of the Empire, it has progressed, and this year undertook and completed a commodious and beautiful hall at a cost of $2,500, which was dedicated on the 5th of November by the Right Worshipful Grand Master of Ontario East, Brother W. E. Tummon, assisted by Brothers John Downey, Acting Deputy Grand Master; Rev. A. L. Geen, Deputy Grand Chaplain; W. C. Reid, Grand Treasurer; F. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary, and George A. Reid, County Master, acting as Grand Director of Ceremonies.

After the beautiful dedicatory ceremonies of the order were completed the chair was taken by Brother James Donaldson, Master of the Lodge, and short addresses were given by the Grand Master and Brothers W. C. Reid, Rev. A. L. Geen and F. M. Clarke.

The Grand Master, after congratulating the officers and members upon the beautiful edifice just dedicated, where young men will be taught the best principles of true citizenship and loyalty to the old Flag that has braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze. In the past the Orange Society had been misrepresented either through prejudice or misunderstanding, but as the principles of the order became better understood these prejudices had to a large extent vanished and today the society is among the most popular of the many fraternal orders.

About ninety years ago through the efforts of the late Ogle R. Gowan the first Orange lodge in Canada was instituted at Brockville as L.O.L. No. 1, and this lodge is still in a flourishing condition. Since then it has spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific, having Grand Lodges in every province and Newfoundland as well as in every State in the Union, there being two Grand Lodges in Ontario, that of Ontario East numbering 404 lodges with a membership of 200,000 and a membership in the Dominion of over 100,000. We have still an important mission to perform in the upbuilding of this glorious, wealthy and prosperous Dominion as a part of the greatest Empire, and it is the duty of Orangemen to defend all loyal subjects in the defence of their civil and religious liberties, whether he be Roman Catholic, Jew or Protestant.

In the evening a fowl supper and concert was given which netted a handsome sum towards the building fund.

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.
He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends.
In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:
"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

The High Cost of Luxuries

THE PEOPLE of this continent spent for life Insurance premiums in 1919 about one billion dollars. At the same time they spent for tobacco over two billions of dollars, and for candy products fully one billion dollars.

We do not argue against the use of either of the luxuries referred to, or of others that might be mentioned. Our query is—does a fair proportion of the people's surplus earnings go into life insurance? Could we not "change the emphasis" and secure more protection while perhaps enjoying fewer luxuries.

The price of a "Sundae" or a cigar laid aside daily will carry $1000 of Endowment Insurance.

A saving of only 78c. per day would assure to the wife of a man aged 35, she being the same age, a monthly income for life of $50. Every month throughout her life the remittances would continue and in the event of her death within 20 years, the monthly payments would be continued to the wife's estate—that is 240 monthly payments would be guaranteed,

Y.M.C.A. Notes

A Membership Campaign was launched at the Y.M.C.A. last night among the boys of the different schools, public and High School boys. Five teams were organized and they start out today to secure their members. Sandy MacGregor was present at the supper and after the boys had enjoyed a hearty meal of "Beans and Buns" Mr. MacGregor led the boys in a number of popular songs, he also sang a number of songs much to the enjoyment of the boys. Mr. MacLaurin, Principal of the High School, gave the boys a short address which was much appreciated by all. The Campaign is on from Nov. 5th to 20th. The boys meet again next Friday night for a "Get-together supper" and report their weeks work.

WINTER IN THE HIGHLANDS

That wondrous reserve known as Algonquin Park has now become an all year round resort. The region provides a winter holiday ground that is beyond compare, and is in accord with the ideas of medical science. 2,000 feet above the level of the sea, it has invigorating climatic conditions and anyone needing rest or recuperation will find this the ideal resort. November is a pleasant month to pay a visit to the Park. When December comes with its cold bracing days and snow, visitors spend their days in snowshoe tramps through primitive forests, in tobogganing or ski-ing, in skating or by the enjoyment of fishing through the ice. The Highland Inn, the largest of the Park hotels, is now open throughout the year for the reception of guests. Here in the centre of the reserve overlooking Cache Lake will be found all the comforts associated with first class hotel service; cheery public and private rooms, excellent cuisine and the companionship of guests who have a common aim to enjoy the healthful sport that this great unspoiled wilderness affords. The hotel is owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway, who have issued an interesting illustrated booklet, entitled "Enjoy Winter in Ontario Highlands," a copy of which will be sent free to any one requesting same. For all information and copy of booklet, write to Grand Trunk Agents or C. E. Horning District Passenger Agent, Toronto. 1td

"To Save My Life," Claims Spracklin

Windsor, Nov. 8.—According to information secured today from Windsor police, who declared that the facts were told by Mr. Spracklin, following his voluntary surrender, license officers, while proceeding past the Chappell House, in the early hours of the morning, saw a wounded man lying on the steps. The officers stopped their car, it is said, and mounted to the verandah, where Mr. Spracklin discovered a man said to be Ernest Deslippe, in a semi-conscious condition.

Deslippe declared, the police say, that he had been in the hotel a short time before, when he was attacked and thrown out, being beaten over the head.

Held to Officer's Body

Spracklin, with his officers, demanded admittance to the house. Trumble appeared and demanded the business of the officers. He disappeared momentarily into the hotel, the police were told, and was followed by Spracklin. Trumble, it is said, resented the intrusion of the license inspector, and threatening him with the revolver, declared: "I'm going to get you."

Say Trumble Drew First

According to the story told by the police. Trumble had approached Spracklin, and, as he concluded his threat, pushed his revolver against the latter's abdomen.

Mr. Spracklin, it is said, immediately drew his revolver and fired, striking Trumble low down in the left abdomen. Trumble collapsed.

Died in Short Time

Medical assistance was immediately summoned by telephone, Dr. Beasley, Sandwich, arriving within a few minutes after the call was placed. Trumble, however, was sinking rapidly, and died less than 25 minutes after receiving the fatal wound.

Communication was immediately established with the coroner and Dr. Labelle hurried out to Sandwich. Trumble was already dead when he arrived there, and, after ordering the removal of the body to the undertaking establishment, the coroner commenced an investigation.

Accepted Full Blame

According to the evidence of those who arrived at the Chappell House immediately after the firing of the shot Spracklin left the hotel immediately. A few minutes later inquiry at the police station elicited the information that he had arrived there and had surrendered himself to the police, accepting full blame for the occurrence. In his original statement, Mr. Spracklin averred that he had been forced to fire to save his own life.

Several Convictions

Beverley Trumble was a clean-shaven active young-looking man, apparently in the later thirties. At the time of the police probe at Sandwich, following the Spracklin charges, he was very much in evidence. He and Chief of Police Alois Master were about the only witnesses, and they were called repeatedly. In the intervals Mr. Trumble used to sit out on the porch of the city hall, discussing the situation. The charges of Mr. Spracklin referred almost entirely to the Chappell House, of which Mr. Trumble was then proprietor.

These charges, of course, Mr. Trumble vigorously denied, in a somewhat vehement manner. He blamed the negroes in his employ, acknowledging the character of the house under his management, but disclaiming any irregularities since he had taken charge

Since then other convictions have been registered against the house, but each new conviction showed a different proprietor. Mr. Trumble, however, still lived in the house.

CONDUCTOR DENIED GETTING ANY MONEY

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Charles Simpson, conductor of the C.P.R. and charged with theft of tickets from the C.P.R. before Judge Denton and a jury at the Sessions, denied having ever received money for tickets or that he had ever been dishonest with tickets

Examined by Frank Hughes counsel for accused, Simpson said he had commenced railroading in 1902, with the G.T.R., and had been with the C.P.R. since 1904. He had never received a complaint from the C.P.R. that there had been shortages in his ticket returns, and the first intimation he had of such a thing was on August 25th, when three men boarded his train and told him he was under arrest for stealing tickets.

"Did you ever receive a copper from tickets?" questioned Mr. Hughes. "I defy anyone to come here and say that I have ever been dishonest with tickets," answered Simpson.

"Did you ever steal any tickets by not returning them in?" "I never have."

During the day's run, Toronto to Hamilton and return, witness said he made four trips daily, trains were sometimes late, necessitating holding the tickets in his grip until the opportunity occurred to make returns.

Bishop Of Huron Denounces O.T.A.

Says it Has Resulted in General Disregard of Law and Order

WINDSOR, Nov. 6.—His Lordship David Williams of London, Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Huron in an interview branded the Ontario Temperance Act as an agency operating to the discredit of Ontaro border communities.

"I feel," said His Lordship, "that it is regrettable that a law should ever have been placed on the statute books of this province of a nature which impels a large section of the people to violate its provisions without feeling a sense of wrong-doing."

Commenting further on the epidemic of lawlessness which has followed the attempt to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act in this part of the Province His Lordship declared:

"It is most deplorable. I feel that both factions, the temperance forces and those opposed to them, have contributed in bringing about conditions which have carried discredit in this community especially."

"I believe that the efforts of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin have been ill-advised and are unlikely to prove effective" said the Bishop.

"This act has resulted in a general disregard of law and order. It is of a nature calculated to bring all law into contempt and should never have been passed. I believe that this troublesome question could have been settled in a manner which would have obviated all the trouble which had attended the attempts made to enforce it, had wiser counsels prevailed."

The Bishop concluded by expressing the opinion that the proximity of the City of Detroit aggravated the situation along the Essex border and was responsible for much of the trouble which has arisen here.

Grubstake Law For Oil Seekers

Old-time Yukon Regulations of Fitness and Supplies to Obtain

OTTAWA, Nov. 6—The mad rush of oil prospectors to the Far North where oil discoveries are reported is causing the Government to revive the old grub-stake ordinances of the Yukon days. As the situation threatens to become serious, it is proposed to take steps that those who go in will not become a charge upon the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

In consequence only those in good physical shape to stand the rigors of an Arctic winter and who have enough "grub" to keep them will be permitted to go.

The North West Company that made the discovery has applied for leases which will probably be granted, but under stringent regulation. Another oil strike is reported at Czar near Wainwright, Alberta.

When the Petroleum and Gas Act was applied to the forest reserves it was provided that half the profits should go to the Crown and a similar provision is likely to be made now.

The limit leased to any one person is 1,920 acres. The Shell Oil Company which did not materialize, undertook to split the profits with the Government.

HIS MEAL TICKET FOR THIRTY YEARS

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 7.—William J. Bryan has alienated himself from Southern Democrats by his suggestion that President Wilson resign. A storm of protest has swept over Dixie and the Commoner has been denounced from the Ohio to the Gulf.

"Mr. Bryan has lost his right to take any part in any conference as to Democrat procedure," said C. P. J. Mooney, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, in a signed editorial today. "He is not fit to make a suggestion to President Wilson. Mr. Bryan went to San Francisco and made a fight against Cox. That was his privilege. Mr. Cox won. Mr. Bryan said then: 'His heart was in the gave.' As far as the Democratic party is concerned, it might as well stay there."

After returning to Mr. Bryan's failure to help Cox in the campaign, Mr. Mooney said:

"Mr. Bryan has made his living from the Democratic party. It has been his meal ticket for thirty years."

HAD MANY PROPOSALS DESPITE HER WEIGHT

Bristol, Eng., Nov. 8.—Lucy Moore, reputed to be the heaviest woman in the world, has died here. At one time she weighed 668 pounds.

Miss Moore was born in Kentuckey and had been in the show business for many years. She travelled all over the world, and was said to have received many offers of mariage.

Big Businesses Essential, Is Meighen's View

Farmer Leader Would Revalue Railroads and Absorb Deficits.

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Nov. 6.—Mr. King, said the Hon. Arthur Meighen, in his speech at Kamloops, B.C., last night, "has had much to say regarding big businesses. Of course big businesses should be controlled and watched more carefully than small ones, because they are necessarily more powerful, but we must have big business or we will not have small business."

Referring to the charge that the government was directed by big businesses, Premier Meighen asked if they had directed the government to levy a tax against them larger than in any other country in the world?

Would He Open Jails.

The opposition leader also had expressed a desire for a larger liberty, a wider freedom—religiously and physically. What did he mean by wider religious freedom? He, the speaker, knew of nobody who was restrained from going to church and he could not imagine what greater physical freedom meant, unless Mr. King meant to release prisoners from the penitentiary."

Reckless Shooting Along Border

Declared This Was Necessary When Dealing With Desperate Men.

TORONTO, Nov. 8—License Inspector Mousseau was interviewed by The World Saturday as he was about to take his train for Windsor. He had been in Toronto for the last few days and gave evidence on Wednesday before the legislative committee investigating the O.T.A. He declined to comment on the shooting fatality, except to express his regrets that it occurred.

Never Went Armed.

When giving evidence at the inquiry Mr. Mousseau said he never carried a gun; he did not believe in enforcing the law that way, and further, it was not necessary, and bound to lead to trouble. There had been too much reckless shooting, he replied, going on along the border, and the people were being terrorized. He did not in this connection mention Mr. Spracklin particularly, but he did name his assistants as being too ready with their guns and using bad judgment.

BANK MANAGER DEAD IN KINGSTON

Kingston, Nov. 7.—A. J. Macdonell, manager of the Kingston branch of the Bank of Montreal, passed away Saturday afternoon after a brief illness due to diabetes. He came to Kingston in 1893 as manager of the Ontario Bank, and in 1906, when that bank was amalgamated with the Bank of Montreal, he became manager of the local branch of the latter bank.

Mr. Macdonnell was educated at the Jesuit College, Montreal, and afterwards took a course at the Toronto Business College. He entered the Ontario Bank at Lindsay in 1877 and was promoted to Port Hope, Montreal and Cornwall, and became manager at Emerson, Man., in 1881. The next year he was appointed superintendent of the Northwest Territory. In 1884 he was appointed assistant manager at Winnipeg, and subsequently became manager at Mount Forest, Port Perry, Glelph, Port Arthur and Sudbury, from which place he came here. Mr. Macdonell was born at Bartonville, near Hamilton, in 1859, being the son of Alexander McDonnell. He was unmarried and is survived by two brothers, Charles and William, of Winnipeg, who was here with him at the end. He was President of the Mowat Memorial Sanitarium, of the Kingston Golf and Country Club, treasurer of the Canadian Club, and ex-president of the Frontenac Club.

BIG PLOT REVEALED BY SALOONKEEPERS

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A three-million-dollar liquor plot in Chicago, which involved 100 office-holders and policemen, was revealed here late today when 35 saloonkeepers confessed to United States Attorney Clyne. The statements complete a web of evidence that will result, Federal agents say, in the conviction of many "higher ups" and scores of lesser lights.

Mayor Thompson took a hand in the booze fight here today, and is preparing to clamp the lid on cabarets. Two of the most famous midnight cabarets in the city have been closed, and Thompson said they will stay closed. Others will soon follow.

Many Hunters Take To The Woods

Deer, Reindeer, Moose, and Caribou May be Hunted Till November 20th

The hunting season for deer, partridge and other big and small game in Ontario opened on Friday and a large number of sportsmen have gone north in search of game.

Reports from men who have treked through the woods of Ontario in recent weeks, convey the information that deer are as numerous as in other years. Since the last hunting season important changes have been made in the game laws. The most welcome change has to do with the lifting of the ban on the hunting of partridge. This wild fowl, for which a closed season has been maintained for the past few years may now be shot during the period of time from November 5th to November 20th, both days inclusive, but the law stipulates that no person shall kill or have in his possession more than five partridges on any one day and not more than ten for the season.

With respect to the hunting of deer, moose, reindeer or caribou, the Ontario game law, as amended last year states that these animals cannot be shot or molested in the water. The law with respect to the killing of this game says:

"No person shall hunt, kill, take or destroy any moose, deer, reindeer or carbou in that part of Ontario lying south of the French and Mattawa rivers, except from the fifth day of Novemer to the twentieth day of November, both days inclusive and in that part of Ontario lying north and west of the French and Mattawa rivers, except from the twenty-fifth day of October to the thirtieth day of November, both days inclusive.

CANADIANS ARE KEEN FOR THE "BAWBEES"

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—A tremendous increase in the demand for small coinage is reflected in the output of the Royal Mint here for the present year. Last year the total number of coins of all denominations turned out by the mint was approximately twenty-seven millions. For the first ten months of the present year that number has already been exceeded and almost a million a week is now being turned out.

Last year there was a heavy demand for the larger coins such as half dollars and quarters.

This year the demand is largely for five and ten cent pieces, and for the new one cent copper coin. For the latter there has been a tremendous demand, especially from Montreal. This increased demand, it is said, is largely due to the inauguration of the seven-cent car fare. A further reason given is the prevalence of bargain sales of the 98-cent variety.

Since May last, when the new copper cent was struck, upwards of 7,000,000 of these coins have been turned out, entailing the use of about 75 tons of copper.

WIFE MUST NOT SHARE HUBBY'S DRY LIQUOR

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—A wife is entitled to her share of her husband's land, buildings, goods and chattels and the revenue thereof, according to the Manitoba law, but is not entitled to a share of his liquor, if said liquor is obtained from the drug store.

This was the decision handed down in the Provincial Police Court, and by such decision, Mike Hyropta had to pay $200 as a fine.

It was illegal to treat a friend to a drink of prescription liquor, even if the friend is Friend Wife, Mike learned. It is even against the law to offer a drink to her if she is sick, though a sip of the liquor may make her well, he was told.

"It's a law that may work hardship in some cases, but it's the law, nevertheless," Magistrate Noble explained. "Suppose a man is afflicted with a disease for which he is prescribed liquor—and I know thousands today are afflicted with such diseases—and suppose he has a number of friends who come to visit him, and in the generosity of his heart offers them some of his medicine! It is quite an unselfish act, but another name for such an act is bootlegging. Therefore, I think that in the main this law is a good law and that you should pay the regular fine for breaking it."

Mike paid.

BERLIN FEARFUL OF RED OUTBREAK

Rum Running On Vast Scale, Says Spracklin

Border Road Houses Operated Without Restriction

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—Both Chief License Inspector Mousseau, of Windsor and Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin of Sandwich, special license inspector appeared this afternoon before the special committee of the Legislature which is investigating the working of the Ontario Temperance Act and told of their work and worries along the border in hunting down rum runners and other violators of the act. Inspector Mousseau complained of divided authority between Mr. Spracklin and himself and stated that if he were not placed in full control he would resign. Mr. Spracklin declared that he did not want the "miserable job," even at $10,000 a year, unless he had the entire confidence of those in authority over him.

Chief Inspector Mousseau admitted that conditions had improved since Mr. Spracklin was appointed inspector but he would not say that the improvement was due entirely to Mr. Spracklin's efforts. One of the Hallams was a good officer, but had made too much use of his gun, Mr. Mousseau did not carry a gun. He deplored the publicity given to affairs on the border but did not blame Mr. Spracklin for this, Mr. Mousseau said he was surprised and shocked at the large number of farmers engaged in illegal liquor traffic. He used blank search warrants, he said, and had given some to Mr. Spracklin, but to no one else. Complaint had been made, he said, that Mr. Spracklin had secured blank warrants from a magistrate and had permitted officers under his direction to use them. He had no control over Mr. Spracklin and insisted that he should have by virtue of his office.

Chairman J. D Flavelle of the Ontario License Board, spoke of Mr. Mousseau as one of the best officers in the Government employ and said the province could not afford to lose his services. He did not wish to trim Mr. Spracklin's sails, he said, but he thought Mr. Spracklin should work in close co-operation with Mr. Mousseau.

Inspector Joseph Rogers, of the Provincial Police said the temptations that beset provincial officers were very great, and this rendered the situation on the border very difficult to handle.

SPRACKLIN IN PERIL

Mr. Spracklin, in relating some of his experiences intimated that he carried his life in his hands through his zeal in behalf of the enforcement of the O.T.A.

Mr. Spracklin spoke of road-houses in border cities where illegal liquor business appeared to be running without restriction when he entered upon his duties as license inspector, and he said that as many as six loads of liquor passed his home every day. He told of having tried to get the Town Council of Sandwich to take action to put a stop to the drunkenness in that town, but the council turned the matter over to the Police Committee and the latter's investigation of the local police was a farce which Rev. Mr. Spracklin had refused to recognize.

He said that on one occasion when he and his men stopped a big motor car one of the occupants said he was a provincial officer and showed his badge to substantiate this. This officer afterwards apologized. On the night in question he had sworn at Mr. Spracklin and threatened to report him to Chief Provincial Constable Rogers.

There was only one shooting affair, Mr. Spracklin said and on that occasion his party fired in self-defence.

The Hallam brothers were "good producers," Mr. Spracklin said, in answer to a question from Major J. C. Tolmie. "We got $20,000 in fines from August 23 to the end of October and fourteen cases are still to be disposed of."

Mr. Spracklin did not think it possible to enforce the O.T.A. without blank warrants, as a house full of liquor might be conveyed across the border while the officials were gone several miles to get a warrant. He denied a story that he had stopped motor cars coming from church.

EXPORTS THE BUTTER NOW.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Manitoba has developed from an importer of creamery butter to one of the largest exporters of the Dominion Provinces.

In 1912, 55 carloads of butter were imported into the province. Last year 153 cars were exported to the United States and Europe.

While it is easy to tell of this change, it has needed very strenuous work to bring it about.

Turks And Reds Occupy Armenia

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Constantinople, Nov. 8.—Armenia is passing under Bolshevik control, it is stated in a report received here from Tiflis. Turks and Bolsheviki Tartars have effected a junction at Alexandropole and it is probable that the city of Erivan has been occupied by Turkish troops commanded by Kazio Kaarabekir Pasha. Armenian troops are reported to be surrendering or seeking refuge in Georgia. Russian Bolsheviki, it is said in a report from Sebastopol, are sending units from three armies north in the Crimea region to Baku and Trans-Caucasia, their purpose is, it is declared, to give the troops a period of rest and to arrange for re-distribution of their forces in the Asiatic campaign.

Sensational Drop In Sugar Stock

Montreal, Nov. 8.—One of the most sensational drops that has ever occurred on the Montreal Stock Exchange took place this morning, when Atlantic Sugar broke all its previous records of weakness and fell thirteen points from Saturday's closing figure to 51, eleven points below the new low mark established last week. Sugar stock has sold as high as 164.

Mysterious Man Is Disclosed

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Windsor, Nov. 8.—The mysterious E. Smith, the man in whose arms Beverley Trumble is said to have died, and whose evidence is considered so necessary in the inquest into the shooting of the hotel proprietor by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, has been located by Border police and will give evidence when the inquest is resumed to-night. Gordon Pillon, Sandwich Chief of Police, stated to-day that he had seen Smith and talked to him and Smith had promised to appear. The man seems to be little known by anyone connected with the case. Rev. Dr. Crewe, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, declared emphatically that there was no truth in the report that Spracklin was to be expelled from the Ministry. Practically all Methodist churches in the district referred to the shooting yesterday and pledged support to the minister in his hour of trouble.

British Flag Is Torn To Shreds

New York, Nov. 8.—Two young women scampered up a ladder to the Capitol Theatre canopy and tore a British flag from its place today. On the ground they and others tore the flag to shreds. A near riot followed, in which police reserves were called out.

Major Philip T. Case, proprietor of the theatre, appeared on the scene and an unidentified man is said to have shouted at him:

"We are Irish sympathizers. Leave this British flag down and don't dare to replace it with another. If you do you will have to summon a million more police reserves, as we will be here to-morrow with a vengeance."

Major Case explained later that the flags of all the allies were hung in celebration of armistice week, and that it would be unfair to leave the British flag out.

Fear an Attempt on Spracklin's Life

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov. 7.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, special license inspector of Sandwich, whose action in shooting Beverley Trumble, the Sandwich hotelkeeper, is the all absorbing topic of interest, spent Sunday very quietly in Chatham. He was registered at Hotel Sanita in company with Detective D. McNab of Windsor who escorted him to Chatham and in whose custody Spracklin will remain until the outcome of the inquest, which is in progress in Windsor.

At the conclusion of the first session of the inquest, it was thought inadvisable to send Spracklin to the Sandwich Jail, as it was feared an attempt might be made on his life. The accommodation in the Windsor Jail was considered inadequate and he was advised that he could go to a hotel in company with a detective and he finally decided to come to Chatham and spend the day with his old friend, Rev. Robert Hicks, pastor of the Victoria Avenue Church and in the afternoon he held an informal reception at Mr. Hick's residence. Many of the prominent Methodists of the city calling on him.

He also held a conference with his solicitor, R. L. Brackin, M.P.P. and Inspector Ayeart of Toronto.

Three Candidates in Field

Aylmer, Nov. 8.—There were no last minute withdrawals in the East Elgin Bye-election and the following were named as candidates for Government, Liberal and Farmer Parties respectively: John Ross Stansell, farmer of Straffordville, William Granville Charlton, teacher of Welland, and Sidney Smith McDermand, farmer of Port Burwell.

Five Policemen Were Shot In Londonderry Riots

ATTACK ON POLICE LEADS TO DISORDER—WILD SCENES IN 'DERRY DURING SATURDAY NIGHT — SHOPPERS IN PANIC—TWO POLICEMEN PROBABLY FATALLY SHOT AND SHOPS BURNED.

BELFAST, Nov. 7.—Wild scenes were witnessed in Londonderry Saturday night as a sequel to a sudden attack on policemen there. Five policemen were shot, two of them so seriously that they are not expected to recover, two shops were burned to the ground and several others were wrecked. All the property belonged to the Sinn Feiners.

The attack on the policemen was directed against the officers who were guarding the Customs House, and a brisk exchange of shots followed. The fray occurred at nine o'clock in the evening in a busy neighborhood and so terrified the crowds of shoppers that they fled homeward in a panic. Afterwards the police and the military raided a large section of the city, holding up and searching everyone they found out-doors and invading and searching numerous houses.

Later in the evening a hostile crowd assembled in Waterloo Square, a Sinn Fein thoroughfare and had to be dispersed by the military. Even after the curfew hour there was almost unceasing revolver and rifle fire for two hours or more with occasional sounds like explosions of bombs.

A number of armed men passed along William street, smashing windows with the butt ends of rifles, destroying the lamps on the electric standards by rifle fire and plunging—the whole street into darkness. Two premises were set on fire, one being destroyed.

A fire brigade called to fires in William street had a thrilling experience. Before starting, the firemen appealed to the military for aid, and a number of armed soldiers travelled on the engines. On their way, rifle fire was opened upon them from both sides of the street. The soldiers returned the fire and two men were seen to fall.

To escape the fusilade the engines took a circuitous route and called at the military barracks to get more soldiers before proceeding.

The official report of the disorders says that three constables in plain clothes received severe gunshot wounds it is believed from the military escorting the fire brigade. Of two stores wrecked one belonged to a member of the Londonderry corporation.

Fierce rioting, fortunately confined to a limited area, broke out in North Belfast this afternoon, the neighborhood involved being the net-work of streets between Clifton street and Old Lodge Road, known as the Stanhope Area which has figured in every disturbance since July. Hundreds joined in the fray, the Unionists with stones and the Sinn Feiners with revolvers and rifles.

A large body of police made repeated baton charges to keep the factions apart until the arrival of military with an armed car when the rioters were soon dispersed.

TANLAC IS WONDERFUL SAYS QUEBEC WOMAN

Three Years of Indigestion And Other Troubles Overcome and She Feels Fresh As a Daisy Now, Declares Mrs. Paradis.

"I can't begin to express my gratitude for all the good Tanlac has done me, and I just feel that I ought to tell my experience with the medicine for the benefit of others," said Mrs. Maria Paradis, of Limoilou, Quebec.

"For three years I suffered terribly from indigestion and got into a very weak and run-down condition. I had no desire for food and couldn't eat a thing without suffering severe pains in the pit of my stomach. And also my liver was badly out of order. I generally woke up in the mornings with a fearful headache and had such spells of dizziness that I had to hold on to the furniture to keep from falling. I just felt so tired out all the time that I could not do my housework and at times had such sinking sensations that I thought my hour had come.

"But Tanlac has overcome my troubles and built me up wonderfully. I now have a splendid appetite and can eat a hearty meal without being troubled at all. All signs of dizziness have disappeared and I sleep so soundly at night that I get up in the mornings feeling as fresh as a daisy. I am so much stronger that I can get through my housework without any trouble and can honestly say that I never felt better in my life. I have recommended Tanlac to many of my friends and am glad of this opportunity of telling everybody what a splendid medicine it is."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading Druggists in every town.

Christ or Chaos Faces the World

Said Rev. Dr. Graham in Appealing For Funds to Educate Young Men for the Ministry

Large congregations attended the services in Bridge Street Methodist Church Sunday when special sermons were preached by Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, Secretary of the Educational Department of the Methodist Church. Dr. Graham is a pleasing and forceful speaker and a generous response was made to his appeal for $500 from Bridge Street Church for the Educational Fund. Rev. Dr. Cleaver and Rev. George Brown took part in the services. Dr. Cleaver is recovering from his recent indisposition and hopes to resume his pulpit duties next Sabbath. Special music featured the services, the choir under Prof. Hunt, organist, rendering appropriate anthems, and at the evening service, Miss Anna Ponton sang with great feeling "In Flanders Fields."

Dr. Graham told of the several Methodist colleges and their need of support. More students were offering for medical and dental courses than could be accommodated at the Universities but there was a lack of candidates for the ministry, although there was a great demand for trained men in the home and foreign mission fields. He described a new town in the west where all the influences for evil come in first and how warmly the 'sky pilot' is greeted by those who have missed religious meetings. One Methodist college with an income from fees of nineteen thousand dollars faced a budget of $140,000. Either the fees had to be raised so high that only the sons of the very rich could enter the ministry or the church people must provide the funds to assist young men to become ministers and missionaries.

The events of the past six years should teach lessons in humanity and service, the world was torn with unrest and trouble, it will be either Christ or chaos and the training of ministers of the gospel was an important factor in coping with dangerous world conditions, said Dr. Graham.

New York funds were slightly higher Thursday, closing at 10⅞.

Heavy declines took place in Canadian stocks, especially papers.

TOWN BUILT TO MAKE NEW TOM MIX PICTURE

California forms the background for "3 Gold Coins," the stirring story by H. H. Van Loan, in which Tom Mix will be presented by William Fox at -rmCeeLwnTG Gfl|v i:efla2 A — fbi- Griffin's tomorrow and Wednesday. In this production a Western town was built in its entirety in order that the story could be filmed in correct detail. The town is called four corners, the underhand activities of a pair of oil crooks who try to get away with their loot, but are frustrated by a happy-go-lucky cowpuncher played by Tom Mix. As Mix plays two roles, one of which is the hero and the other the "bad man," it is safe to predict that his "daredevil" stunts will be out of the ordinary. Supporting Mix will be Margaret Loomis, Margaret Cullington, Sylvia Jocelyn, Sid Jordan, Bert Hadley, Frank Whitson and other popular players. The latest chapter of "Daredevil Jack," featuring Jack Dempsey, a 2-reel Christie comedy and a Burton Holmes Travelogue will also be shown in addition to the feature offering.

The Perfect Man According to Paul

The "Perfect Man" was the subject discussed last evening at John street Presbyterian Church by Rev. Dr. Dyde, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston. Anniversary services were the occasion and large congregations were in attendance especially in the evening, when services in St. Andrews Church were withdrawn. Rev. A. D. Kerr and Rev. D. C. Ramsay assisted in the service.

Rev. Principal Dyde in his opening remarks said that during the war we all thought we should be united to win the war. Everything was put in the back-ground, only the essentials being neccessary for a united people. Now has come peace and many may think the unessential things can be done and we need not be united. Hence there are those who think and say war united people whilst peace does otherwise. Paul presents before us a perfect man, what we might call an everage man, or just ourselves.

We have the faculty to be perfect men: The perfect man is a man who has ideas and listens to the ideas of other men, no man is a complete man unless he does so; another feature of the perfect man is that of being a fellow-man. He has got to have in him the capacity of fellowship, and remove any mask he wears. He has to be able to rub shoulders with his fellow men. He must be congenial with the other man's imperfection. There is something hideous in classes. We shall not think of the perfect man as a shark, ready to devour so to speak all who come in contact with him. Jesus Christ was by choice the son of man and He was perfect. The complete man is also a growing man, growing in favor with his fellow men, and the likeness of God; the perfect man has a capacity for loving his fellow man. Love uncovers power, it goes down below the surface and knows the hearts of our fellow men. If we are true to the picture that Paul has sketched of the perfect man, there must be a league or the golden touch is lost. A perfect man is well within the reach of us all if we but live up to our opportunities.

During the service the choir rendered special music. Prof. S. Anglin sang a solo and a duet "Thou wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace" was rendered by Miss Yeomans and Mr. James Booth.

PLAYING NO FAVORITES.

Calgary, Nov. 8.—That the Provincial police, in their effort to stop every loophole whereby liquor might be illegally distributed, are playing no favorites in the execution of their duty was exemplified here when liquor valued at $7,500 was seized. The manager of the company who had the liquor in stock for export purposes was, until a few weeks before, a member of the Provincial police force.

Epworth League Convention Here

The annual convention of Belleville District Epworth League was held in Foxboro on the afternoon and evening of November 5th. In the absence of the District President, Mr. G. H. Griffin, Conference Epworth League President, occupied the chair.

The devotional half hour was conducted by Rev. A. H. Foster, B.D., who urged a more devoted loyalty to our work and particularly "Youthful Service" featured in our churches today. An address of welcome was read by Miss F. Morton of Foxboro, after which all were given fifteen minutes for hand-shaking and getting acquainted with the delegates from the Leagues of the district.

The rest of the afternoon was taken up with addresses on the aims and possibilities of the five departments of the Epworth League.

Rev. Manson Doyle, assistant general secretary made a very strong appeal for the junior league work in Belleville district.

Rev. S. A. Kemp of Foxboro presented the aims of the citizenship department.

Mrs. S. Spafford gave some excellent ideas and plans for the third department of literary and social, as did also Mr. G. H. Griffin, in representing the missionary work in the league. Just at this time very kindly greetings to the convention from the district missionary representative on the field were read by Rev. W. W. Jones of Shannonville.

Rev. G. C. R. McQuade was expected to represent the Christian Endeavor Department, but was unable to be present.

A Round Table Conference conducted by Rev. Manson Doyle proved most helpful. A number of the difficulties in the work coming under the discussion. This closed the afternoon session and the delegates adjourned to the school room adjoining the church where tea was served by the Foxboro ladies and a social hour enjoyed which also gave another opportunity to discuss League ideas and plans. The proceeds of the supper will be applied to the Forward Movement Fund in the local league.

The evening session opened at 7.15 with a well-filled church. Rev. Wesley Elliott, chairman of the district, presiding. Prof. Staples of Albert College conducted a hearty song service. Ten Epworth Leagues in the district reported successful work. After careful consideration it was decided that Holloway Street League was the Banner League in the district, honorable mention being also made of Spencer League in the Shannonville circuit. The banner was presented by Mr. Griffin, Conference Epworth League President and very graciously accepted by Mr. Ewart Jones, President of Holloway Street League.

Musical numbers contributed by Prof. Staples and Foxboro choir were greatly appreciated.

The addresses of the evening given by Prof. Maine of Albert College on "Ideals of Religious Education" and Rev. Mr. Doyle on the same line of thought. The importance of a Christian Canadian personality were each very fine and left the impression that the Epworth League is still one of the very best all-round organizations for winning and training young people of Methodism in Christian character and usefulness.

A cordial vote of thanks moved by Rev. Mr. Wallace and seconded by Mr. Cherry was given to the ladies who provided tea, the choir, the pastor and trustees of Foxboro church for their kindness to the convention.

The officers elected are as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. Mr. Elliott, Chairman, Belleville, District.

Pres.—Mr. Ewart Jones, 52 Yeoman St., Belleville.

1st Vice Pres.—Miss A. G. Tucker, 272 Ann St., Belleville.

2nd Vice Pres.—Miss Gladys Brown, Murney St., Belleville.

3rd Vice Pres.—Mrs. S. Spafford, R. R. No. 5, Trenton.

4th Vice Pres.—Rev. F. G. Joblin, R. R. No. 3, Belleville.

5th Vice Pres.—Miss E. Berkeley, Victoria Ave., Belleville, Ont.

Secretary—Helena Blakely, 31 Catherine St., Belleville.

Treasurer—Mr. Alva Brown, R. R. No. 6, Belleville.

Rep. to Annual Conference—Rev. Mr. Wallace, Wallbridge.

Rep. to Conference Epworth League Executive—Rev. Mr. Foster, Hillside St., Belleville.

BIBLE-READING IN THE BALKANS.

Among the Balkan states the Bible is at a premium, and effort is being made to meet the increasing demand. Before the close of the war associations of Serbian soldiers were formed for the regular reading of the Bible, according to E. H. Broadbent, whose statement in Echoes of Service is quoted by The Orient (Constantinople). These Bible-reading soldiers are called "New Christians," and they are now scattered throughout the Serbian country, teaching the Gospel wherever they are. Elsewhere a similar movement is on foot:

"In Greece, societies for the study of the Scriptures are springing up in town and country. In Bulgaria, a national society has been formed for the restoration of the nation, and the reading of the Bible is one of the first and fundamental means toward this end. In the Roumanian countries, now so extensive, a desire for the Word of God is shown such as has never been known before. The failure of transport has made it impossible for a long to time to get Bibles into Roumania."

THE SEEING EYE.

Principal Reynolds of the Ontario Agricultural College thus delivers himself in the Agricultural Gazette of Canada:

"The teacher who hopes to take a right place in the life of the country school must cultivate the seeing eye and the understanding heart for persons and things rural. The usual, popular, melodrama, comic supplement, moving picture conception of the farmer and of country people must be forgotten. It is essentially and perniciously false. The farmer is something of a humorist, and take delight in deceiving the simple-minded by a somewhat unfinished exterior. The city-bred person makes the fatal mistake of judging by outside appearances. To the city-trained eye there are two classes of persons, one wearing overalls and the other wearing white collars. The former class work with their hands. The latter class work with their brains. That is the superficial judgment, which ignores the fact that there is a very great deal of clear, hard thinking done today by the man wearing overalls. At any rate, the farmer belongs to both classes. The more he understands of those discoveries, which it is the business of the agricultural college to make, the more he absorbs the teaching which it is the business of the college to spread abroad, the better farmer will he be."

EPITAPHS WHICH MAKE THOSE WHO READ THEM SMILE.

Collectors of tombstone literature with a penchant for comic epitaphs have plenty to choose from, says Tit-Bits.

So prevalent has become the custom of inscribing facetious doggerel on tombstones that authorities are trying to stop the practice by insisting that epitaphs shall in future be chosen from the Bible or standard Christian authors.

A typical example of the work of the churchyard comedians is to be seen in Oxford, where a tombstone bears this inscription:

Here lyeth John Crocker, a maker of bellows;
He's crafts-master and king of good fellows.
Yet when he came to the hour of his death
He that made bellows could not make breath.

An epitaph in a Cornish churchyard tells us quaintly:

His end was thus—
He was run over by a 'bus

From Cornwall, too, comes this one:

In this here grave you see before 'e
Lies berried up a desmal story;
A young maiden, she was crossed in love,
And tooken to the realm above;
But he that crossed her, I should say,
Deserves to go t'other way.

With an eye to the main chance, relatives have sometimes used the tombstone as an effective means of advertising. This example is to be seen in the churchyard at Pewsey, Wilts:

Beneath this stone in hope of Zion,
Is laid the landlord of 'The Lion."
Resigned unto the Heavenly Will,
His son keeps on the business still.

Very mystifying is the inscription, "A virtues woman is 5- to her husband," to be found on a tombstone in a churchyard in Leigh, until it is explained that space prevented the words "a crown" being cut in full. The stonecutter therefore put "5-," arguing that it was equal to a crown.

From Canterbury we have an example written by a sorrowing widower:

Of children she bore twenty-four,
Thank the Lord there will be no more.

An inscription on an old tombstone in the churchyard of Winchester Cathedral points a moral in an amusing manner. It reads:

Here lies in a peace a Hampshire grenadier;
He caught his death by drinking cold small beer.
Soldiers, beware from his untimely fall!
And when you are hot, drink strong or none at all.

And there is a warning in this one from Epsom:

Here lies I and two daughters,
All of us killed by the Cheltenham waters;
If we had only stuck to Epsom Salts,
We wouldn't have been in these here valuts.

CRISP COMMENT

A voice from the tomb—Bryan calling upon Wilson to resign. Will some one please tell the near-statesman from Lincoln to stay dead?

Two million dollars lopped from the net Canadian national debt during the month of October is another evidence that the Meighen administration is worthy of confidence. That Canada is paying its way and paying its debts is encouraging.

It looks as though somebody put something over H. K. Denyes in the appointment of a Prince Edward man as fish and game overseer for the Bay of Quinte district. Mr. Denyes will likely hear from Deseronto. On general principles accepting the resignation of W. D. Perry on the promise that he would be reappointed an overseer of fish and game is a dirty trick. An East Hastings man only is entitled to this job—U.F.O. or no U.F.O.—Deseronto Post.

OTHER VIEWS

HEAVEN OR ELSEWHERE

Victoria Colonist

At the Manchester Diocesan Conference recently the Rev. S. W. Dick, of Bolton, pointed out a way to reach Church unity. His suggestion, as a substitute for mere ecclesiastics, is a weekly game of golf on Mondays between the warring clergy, a mid-day cup of coffee, and a good smoke together. Nor was he without proof of the plan's efficiency. He had tried it in his own community and found that it worked well. Sooner or later, he said, if there is any truth in a future life, Churchmen will be obliged to associate with their Nonconformist brother in heaven or elsewhere. 'We had better begin now so as to avoid a shock later," was his advice. There is much to recommend the reverend gentleman's suggestion. Golf is a great reducer. Its language is uniform and universal. And all its devotees, whether of the cloth or not, ultimately will reach the same green.

BEHIND THE TIMES

Sydney, N. S., Record

There are some reasons for fearing that penitentiary management in the Dominion is not in line with the more progressive methods which have been adopted with success in some other countries. Institutions which are so managed as only to harden men's hearts and to arouse men's bitterness against the State and against society pay penalties for their offences but callous treatment is not likely to encourage them to get back on the right path after penalty has been paid.

POETS' CORNER

SEA DISTANCES

His native sea-washed isle
Was bleak and bare;
Far off, there seemed to smile
An isle more fair.

Blue as the smoke of spring
Its far hills rose,
A delicate azure ring
Crowned with faint snows

At dusk, a rose-red star
Set free from wrong,
It beaconed him afar,
His whole life long.

Not till old age drew nigh
He voyaged there.
He saw the colors die
As he drew near.

It towered above him bleak
And cold, death-cold
From peak to phantom peak
A grey mist rolled.

Then, under his arched hand,
From that far shore,
Back, at his own dear land,
He gazed once more.

Clothed with the tints he knew,
He saw it smile—
Opal, and rose and blue,
His native isle.

One Advantage of Heaven

The door closed behind an irate neighbor who had come to complain regarding certain of Tommy's shortcomings. A few moments later, as he was tearfully preparing for a prematurely early bedtime, he said to his mother:

His mother inquired the cause of his sudden aspiration toward better things.

"Oh, well," he sighed, "you know the angels wouldn't be half as hard to please as the neighbors are."—

One of Four Millions

(A Photograph Direct from the War-Stricken Area)

$1 per Month Preserves the Life of One Child

Millions of war orphans in Central Europe are growing up undernourished and stunted.

Thousands of them are dying of typhus, tuberculosis and small-pox.

There is almost a complete lack of the nourishing foods growing children need, of clothing, of doctors, nurses and medical supplies. The condition of the children is pitiable in the extreme.

Upon this coming generation depends largely whether these nations will be healthy and right-minded or a hot-bed of anarchy and degeneracy—a menace to the world.

It has been found by experience that the cost of caring for a waif child is approximately three dollars per month; that of the supplies that are required by imports about one dollar is needed; and therefore the dollar that we provide, together with the local support of local governments, local municipalities, local charities and local services practically preserves the life of one child.

BEARISH MOVEMENT ON WHISKEY BOARD

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Characterized by many of the old "tipplers" as having "a distinct bearish movement in the whiskey board of trade" liquor disguised, labelled, and billed as soap, coming from Canada, made its appearance here today, according to federal officials. The liquor, said by imbibers not to have the strength of "the old stuff" sold "cheap". A carload arrived on the "market' today, federal officials declared.

The discovery of a draft of $31,000 on a Louisville bank may disclose, federal officials said, today, the purchaser of the recent shipment of whiskey into Chicago which was delivered to the saloon keeper "customers" and almost immediately stolen thereafter from the "customers" through the connivance of men posing as city policemen.

Complaints to police and federal officials as a result of this "theft" led to the present federal court whiskey investigation.

Federal authorities discovered that the $31,000 draft was for the purchase of one thousand cases of whiskey which corresponds to the amount of the shipment forming the chief feature of the investigation.

The demand by the members of the British Parliament for a billiard and card-room at the House of Commons has been refused.

TOWN DECLINED OFFER

For some time past the municipality of Deseronto, through Mayor Malley, has been trying to get control of the C.N.R. dock which is crumbling and decaying. Efforts were made to have the C.N.R. lease the dock to the town at a nominal rental of $1 per year and then having the dock the town intended to persuade the Department of Public Works to fulfill their promise to repair it. During the past week two C.N.R. officials took up the question with the mayor. A letter followed from Vice-President Hungerford, who said the C.N.R. would lease the dock in its present condition to the town for $50 a year—the town to repair it and assume any obligation the dock might create in damages or through damages while under lease. The council declined.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

Daniel Tamitz, a foreigner, residing at Point Ann, who a few weeks ago was fined $200 on a charge of selling liquor was on Saturday afternoon, before Magistrate Masson charged with a similiar offence. He was found guilty and was sentenced to serve six months in jail without the option of a fine. Mr. Canew for the Crown and Mr. Mikel, K.C., for the accused.

CHEESE BOARD.

At the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday, 900 boxes were boarded; 200 colored sold at 23¼c. and 260 white sold at 23¼c., balance at 23 11-16c.

FOR THE OLD FOLKS.

Saturday is the day when the boys will be around for your old magazines and papers. Every home in the city is to be visited. In the Home on Dundas St. there are 69 old folks who are practically shut in from September until April. During these seven months they have very little entertainment and during the long winter evenings they get very lonely. The boys of the city have undertaken to purchase a Victrola and place it in the Home and they want to do this with as little expense to the public as possible. So Saturday next they are going to collect old papers and magazines. These are to be sold and the proceeds used to purchase the Victrola. It may be that in many homes there are a number of records that are not being used, and you would like to give those to the old folks. We assure you they would be much appreciated. Call Mr. Buchanan at the Y.M.C.A., phone 413, and he will see that they are placed with the Victrola in the Home.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Harry Mattis, Alfred Benford, Wilfred Sandford and William Rosebush, all of this city, who were charged with taking autos for joy rides, were on Saturday, convicted. Owing to their youth they were given a suspended sentence of one year and had to pay the costs of the court.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION.

Philip Foster, on a charge of drunkenness pleaded guilty in court today and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

FINED $200 AND COSTS.

Bertrum Young this morning before Magistrate Masson, was convicted of the charge of selling liquor and was fined $200 and costs. The fine was paid.

NEW POLICE OFFICER.

William Thomas Evans, a young Englishman, has been appointed a member of the Belleville police force. The new officer is 22 years of age and unmarried. He has of late been engaged in farming in Sidney township and has been a resident of Canada but a short time.

FLAG AT HALF MAST

The flag from the flag staff of the City Building is floating at half mast out of respect to the late ex-Mayor F. S. Wallbridge.

Called By Death

EX-MAYOR WALLBRIDGE.

In the sudden passing of Francis S. Wallbridge, barrister-at-law, on Saturday afternoon, November 6th, Belleville loses one of the few that are left of the old citizenship that has been identified with the city from birth. In the youthful face and figure few outside intimate friends could guess that he had passed his sixtieth year, having been born here February 17, 1860, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wallbridge, whose names and memories will always be revered in Belleville. Educated at the High School and at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and with the inspiration of his uncle the late Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, formerly Speaker of the House, and afterwards Chief Justice of Manitoba, he entered upon the study of law and was duly called to the Bar, practising his profession here continuously and enjoying the confidence of a very large and constantly increasing circle of clients, specializing in real estate, for which his early training and knowledge of titles had eminently qualified him, and receiving a remuneration very inadequate to the value of his services rendered. The late Mr. Wallbridge was distinguished for not merely his capacity for hard work and patient assiduity, but also for his geniality and kindliness in dealing with all sorts and conditions of men. He took a deep interest in public affairs, believing that all national life was founded upon the community, and represented as Alderman of the city, Samson Ward in the years 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892, and was the efficient and respected Mayor of the city in the year 1893, and since that date no year has passed but that when opportunity offered he has made through the press some fruitful suggestion founded on experience with regard to the administration of municipal policies.

He never lost his touch with agriculture and gardening and was the owner of a fruit farm and apple orchard in Thurlow, in the care of which he took great pleasure.

He leaves two brothers, Wiliam H. Wallbridge, of Toronto, barrister-at-law, and Stewart Wallbridge, of Armstrong, British Columbia; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Caldwell of Winnipeg, and the Misses Carrie and Clara Wallbridge, residing in the old homestead on George Street. He was for many years a devoted member of Emmanuel Church and filled many positions of trust. His sudden and unexpected death following an operation at the hospital in Toronto on Friday last came as a great shock and grief to a large circle of friends and leaves a blank among those who with unfailing regularity were accustomed to meet and greet him daily on the streets of his native city. To the bereaved relatives we extend sincerest sympathy and we record the death of an honored citizen and son of Belleville who bore an untarnished reputation and lived a quiet and unobtrusive life, making few enemies and many friends.

HAZEL McBRIDE

On Sunday, after being a sufferer for a considerable period, Miss Hazel McBride passed away at the family residence in this city. Deceased was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. McBride, and was born at Westmount on January 24th, 1898. Miss McBride was a young lady possessed of a lovable disposition which won for her many friends who sincerely regret her demise. In addition to the parents, three brothers and one sister survive. The brothers are Stewart of Bangor, Penn., Cyril and Clinton of this city and the sister Irene at home. To the bereaved will be extended the heartfelt sympathy of many friends.

W. J. MAGRATH

A telegraph message received by Mrs. Robert Anderson, Hillside street, announced the death in Edmonton on Sunday of Mr. W. J. Magrath, a former well-known business man of Belleville. Mr. Magrath had been in poor health for the past year but only recently was confined to his bed. About fourteen years ago he left Belleville for the west, previous to that time being engaged in the cheese exporting business. He is survived by his wife (nee Miss Ada Lake, of Deseronto), one son Adrian, at home in Edmonton; Mrs. Robert Anderson, sister-in-law, Belleville; Mrs. F. H. Henry, Charles street, Belleville, a niece. Mr. Magrath was about fifty years of age. Deceased was well known in Belleville and vicinity. For a number of years he was engaged in the produce business and was a cheese buyer. He was whilst in this city, an active member of Holloway Street Methodist Church, being for some time Sunday School Superintendent and a member of the official board. Mr. Magrath was also a representative from Murney Ward in the City Council.

No Merry Microbes In This Spring

Joe Tickell may not be a rock in a thirsty land but he has an everlasting spring of good water on his Charles street property, which he is generous enough to share with all friends and neighbors who fear the microbes and the chlorine of city-piped water and are careful to close the gate.

That this free fountain of living water is appreciated was demonstrated in a unique illustrated address showing the spring and the pathway from the gate and embellished with words of gratitude followed by the names of neighbors who use the water of the spring. There was also a topical rhyme read appropriate to the occasion preceding the presentation of a smoking set to Mr. Tickell, a beautiful leather purse to Mrs. Tickell and a cane to Mr. Charles Grass.

The address read as follows:

"Come Unto Me, Ye Thirsty, and I Will Assuage Thy Thirst."

"Thus came the alluring song, as the sweet water flowed from the spring, and always the gate was unlatched, that he who wished might come and help himself, without hindrance or question to the bountiful and healthful supply.

"Therefore, the undersigned neighbors take sincere pleasure in presenting to Mr. Charles Grass and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tickell as an appreciation of their neighborly kindliness in permitting the unrestricted use of their spring, some small token in expression of their gratitude, and the sincere regard in which they are held by their friends: Fred Wallbridge, F. H. Henry, Jack O'Flynn, Jamieson Bone, M. A. McNab, B. D. Harns, J. B. Robinson, Henry Grass, S. Masson, R. R. Stiver, Arthur Burton, Frank Bryant, W. S. Cook, A. Y. Snider, E. W. Vermilyea, F. E. O'Flynn, Mack Robertson, Mr. Van Allen, Chas. Thompson, Peter Johnson, G. H. Dawkins, D. M. Waters, S. J. Fisher, Chas. Jeffery, J. J. B. Flint, Prof. J. V. Hunt, P. O. Pitney, D. Martin, H. A. Hoskins, Arthur Johnson, J. A. Kerr.

"The pitcher that goes to the well too often might get broken—use a sheet-iron bucket.

AN ODE TO SPRING

Since Ontario has decided to go dry
(Or at least a part will do so, bye and bye)
The Moira River's called on to supply
A thousand gallons more a day—at least to try.

And still the water's scarce—or so we hear.
Some even try to eke it out with beer.
And even Belleville helps,—which may seem queer—
By adding liquid chlorine—tear by tear.

But there be some who cannot drink the water thus,
They do not like the smell and make a fuss;
Or blame the poor old Hydro with a cuss,
And go to Tweed or Trenton, on the 'bus.

What they can find in those small towns to drink
We do not know and scarcely care to think.
Perhaps it's something taken, with a wink
From danger of that sort, I'd never shrink!

But here in Belleville-town, we have a well.
"An oasis in a desert," let me tell!
On Charles street, when one's thirsty for a spell,
Or even "ringing wet" like some church bell.

One can "wet-up" sweetly, without doubt,
If you don't know Grass and Tickell then you're out,
A pleasant smile always, and ne'er a pout,
Drink enough to satisfy a sponge, ye thirsty lout!

PALE, SALLOW WOMEN

Told How To Acquire The Glow Of Health

Women who are pale, sallow, overworked, no energy and hardly able to drag about, if you could only realize what Vinol, the cod liver and iron strength creator and body builder will do for you we are sure you would not rest until you had tried it.

Miss Phyllis Jones, of W. Toronto, Ont., says: "I was run-down, pale, nervous, thin and had fainting spells. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I have gained rapidly since taking it and look and feel better in every way."

Vinol enriches the blood with multitudes of healthy red blood corpuscles and what Vinol did for Miss Jones, it will do for every pale, sallow, weak, overworked woman in this vicinity.

From Cherry-Blossom Land

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes our Canadian women often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer in girlhood from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

ONTARIO WOMEN TESTIFY

Chatham, Ont.:—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my family at home (especially by my father and mother) ever since I can remember. They always proved very satisfactory. Through overwork I at one time became all run-down in health, was on the verge of a complete nervous break-down. I went on ailing for about two years, during which time I suffered terribly. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it soon built me up in good health and cured me of the nervous condition. I consider it an excellent medicine for the ailments of women."—MRS. CHAS. LINDSAY

A Good Player in Addition to a Good Piano

Many people still think the Player-Piano is some kind of mechanical device that grinds out tunes somewhat like the street piano or hurdy-gurdy. If you think THAT you are in error. The Player-Piano is two perfect musical instruments, combined, each of which is complete in itself. In the Lindsay Player-Piano, for instance, there is the Lindsay Player-Piano—an instrument which for beauty of tone, delicacy of touch and responsiveness of action, is the equal of any other Lindsay Piano (without the player-action). In addition there is a high-grade player-action, or player mechanism, which, through the means of a perforated music-roll, gives you (the operator) the technical ability to play the piano as if you were an accomplished pianist.

We have prepared an interesting little booklet illustrating and explaining the various uses to which the Lindsay Player-Piano can be put. You may have a copy on request. Write, 'phone or call for a copy if interested.

Bullet That Killed Trumble Was Fired In Self-Defence

CORONER'S JURY AT WINDSOR EXONERATED SPECIAL LICENSE INSPECTOR SPRACKLIN IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF SANDWICH HOTELMAN.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 8.—The bullet from the revolver of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, Sandwich Methodist parson and special "free-lance" license inspector was fired in self-defence. This is the verdict returned by a jury before Coroner Dr. J. S. Labelle, in the gloomy old Sandwich Court House at 11 o'clock tonight. The jury had been out an hour when Foreman Searle sent back word that a decision had been reached. The rest of the formalities were brief and within five minutes the pastor-inspector was in his auto on the way home.

There was a big crowd outside, but on instructions from the Crown-Attorney this was dispersed before Spracklin emerged.

The inquest opened on Saturday and was adjourned until last night owing to the absence of E. Smith, one of the material witnesses in the case, who was present at the shooting, and in whose arms Trumble died.

Five Witnesses Heard.

Five witnesses were heard. They were Mrs. Ernest Deslippe, E. Smith and Harold Larke, all of whom were at the Chappell House on the night of the shooting, and Doctors Beasley and Mills, who were called to attend to the dead man's injury.

The most startling feature of the evidence was the statement of the two doctors that Smith had told them on the morning of the death of Trumble that the dead man had a gun and that he had flourished it in the faces of the inspectors. This was in direct contradiction of Smith's testimony that he did not see Trumble with a gun and that as far as he knew he did not have a gun. Smith was pressed upon this point by Mr. Spracklin's attorney, R. L. Brackin, and he reiterated his statement that Trumble had no gun, and went so far as to say that if the two doctors swore that he told them on the morning of the tragedy that Trumble did have a revolver, he would still maintain that he had not said it.

The jury was out more than an hour. When it returned, Herbert Searle, foreman, handed the written verdict to Coroner J. S. Labelle, who read it to those present. Spracklin and his aged father, J. J. Spracklin, were seated at a table and received the finding in silence. The verdict was: "We, the jury, find that Beverley Trumble came to his death by a bullet fired from an automatic pistol by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, license inspector, in self-defence, about 2.30 a.m., Nov. 6, in the Chappell House, Sandwich."

Baseball Tribunal Not In Favour

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—War clouds loomed dark and forbidding for proponents of the Lasker plan for base ball reorganization when presidents and club owners of twenty-one minor leagues met in convention here today to vote on proposed civilian tribunal as supreme governing body of organized baseball. When the committee arrived here today to present the Lasker plan for consideration of minor leagues indications were that it would be overwhelming by defeated minor league leaders declared themselves capable of settling their own disputes and conducting their own affairs.

THINK GOVERNMENT WILL HELP THIRSTY

Regina, Nov. 9.—Although the referendum prohibiting the importation of liquor into the Province carried by a majority estimated at 12,000, the "thirsty" of Saskatchewan have not given up hope for they are placing much faith in the rumor that Government mail-order liquor houses are coming. While Provincial authorities are silent, it is confidently expected that liquor legislation will be forthcoming at the session of the Legislature which opened this week.

In the meantime the many wholesale liquor stores are reaping a harvest. Orders are pouring in faster than they can be filled. And the business is swollen by scores of telegrams from those who fear delay will be dangerous.

NEW PROPOSALS MADE FOR IRISH SOLUTION

London, Nov. 6.—Two interesting, though unofficial, attempts are being made to solve the Irish question, it developed today.

The first of these is an effort by influential political quarters to induce the Government to communicate with the Sinn Fein members of Parliament in order to try to reach a practical agreement and prevent the ruin of Ireland.

The second is that three Coalition members of Parliament will formally propose a plan for withdrawing the military forces in Ireland to strategic centres and allowing the local authorities to take the responsibility for the preservation of law and order with the eventual view of negotiating a political settlement of the problem.

PROTEST NO LABOR REPRESENTATIVE CHOSEN

Brockville, Nov. 5.—Declaring it an injustice that no representative of Labor should have been selected to sit on the Mothers' Allowances Board for Leeds county, Gananoque Lodge No. 4 of the Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, has protested to Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labor. The lodge represents more than 500

Clothing Prices Slump In Chicago

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Men's clothing for immediate delivery was offered buyers today at prices ten to fifty per cent. below present wholesale prices. Goods for spring and summer delivery were shown at prices ten to 33⅓ per cent. under those of a year ago and men's shirts and similar articles were shown at greatly reduced prices at the opening of the thirteenth semi-annual buying convention of United National Clothiers. "The public is not buying, manufacturers and dealers are over stocked," said the treasurer and General Manager of the association today, "prices must come down."

ENGINEER KILLED IN TRAIN DERAILMENT

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 6.—Engineer George Boles was killed and a fireman was seriously injured, when a New York, New Haven and Hartford passenger train bound for Newport, R.I., was partly derailed just south of Sandy Beach, in Tiverton, R.I. No passengers were hurt. The police said they had been informed that the accident was due to a switch having been tampered with and that a man and a woman had been seen running away from the place shortly before the engine split the switch and left the rails.

GARBAGE COLLECTORS HAD EYE FOR BUSINESS

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Forty-four men of the Scavenger Department of the city of Montreal have been suspended by the Administrative Commission as a result of an enquiry into charges made against them. The charges which were substantiated were to the effect that the employes in question were picking over the garbage for articles of a saleable value and were taking payment for same from junk dealers and neglecting their work. As a result the commission has given instructions for specifications to be prepared for tenders from private firms for dealing with the garbage of the city.

DOCTORS SEEKING LONGEVITY SECRET

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 8.—John Shell, who is 130 years old, will go to Chicago on December 15 to let the most prominent physicians of the country examine him and see if they can find out why he has lived so long.

Shell says the recipe for long life is:

"No pampering in boyhood; hard work through life; and no worry."

He says he drinks whiskey when he can get it, and that he eats everything he can get hold of. Shell has a daughter 90, who lives near him, and a son seventy, who lives with him.

Rotary Entertains Distinguished Guests

Interesting Meeting of Belleville Rotary Club—Messages from the Pulpit, the Army and the Stage.

Rotary keeps on rotating, and seven new members were introduced at the weekly noon-day gathering at the Hotel Quinte of the Belleville Rotary Club. President Guss Porter was in the chair and the attendance was one of the largest in the history of the club, about fifty being present, including guests. The meeting was also one of the best held thus far, full of pep and ginger. Rotarian Sandy Burrows led the singing in his customary capable manner. Sergeant-at-Arms Oswald Scott was on the alert for infractions of the rules, but fines were scarce, as the members are getting wise and the word "mister" is disappearing from their vocabularies while in Rotary circles. Secretary Billy Doyle attended to the business end of the session. Rotarian Harry Ackerman reported for the Boys' Work committee and asked for four volunteers to act as Big Brothers to four boys who have the makings of good citizens if given a little help over the rough places.

An enjoyable feature of the occasion was the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Esmonde of "The Law Divine" company, Mr. Esmonde contributing to the program a splendid recitation of Tennyson's "Revenge," given with fine dramatic force and expression. Prof. Dyde, of Queen's University, Rev. Dr. Graham, secretary of the Educational Department of the Methodist Church, and Major Menzies, made brief and interesting addresses.

BY AEROPLANE TO NORTHERN OIL FIELDS

The establishment of an aerial route from Edmonton to the oil fields of Fort Norman on the Mackenzie River is the latest talked of development in connection with the pressing transportation problem existing as a result of the Fort Norman point being so far removed from the business centres of Alberta. Edmonton aviators are entering into negotiations for such service with a zest indicating that as little time as possible will be wasted in the preliminary arrangements.

The proposal is a big one in that it calls for the establishment of landing stages at intervals along the line of route, and the transportation, in the first instance, before flying, of gasoline and other essentials for the successful operation of flying machines. The distance to Fort Norman from here is about 900 miles as the crow flies. The span is not a great one, as applied to flying distances and three or four days at the most would be sufficient to accomplish the distance when once a relay service of planes is established.

The whole idea is looked upon with favor and while its introduction might not become an accomplished fact until the spring of 1921, anticipations can be held that such a service will become actual with the spring of next year.

As it has become an absolute necessity to provide a swift means of communication between the outposts of the far north and their supply bases in Edmonton, an effort to have wireless stations established in at least nine important points is being made by H. A. Mackie, M.P. The stations would be established at McMurray, Peace River, Chipewyan, Fort Vermillion, Hay River, Fort Smith, Simpson, Resolution and Norman.

Captain C. Smith, skipper of the Lady Macworth, one of the Lamson Hubbard steamers which for the past season has plied the waters of the Mackenzie, declares that a rush to the oil fields of Klondyke is looked for. "But people cannot go too well prepared. They cannot weigh the hardships of the trip too much, otherwise we shall have a trail of graves like that which came into being during the clamorous time of '98," Capt. Smith said. He looks for an exceptional rush to the oil country during the spring and when river navigation is again resum-

A warning to those anticipating a trip during the winter months is issued by Capt. Smith, who stated that food is scarce in the north country. He declares that unless they are thoroughly equipped with supplies and provisions they cannot for a moment hope to make the trip from the end of the steel. It is a long distance, more than a thousand miles, and calls for the greatest of preparation. Dog teams are also difficult to obtain.

MONTREAL THIEVES GET FURS VALUED AT $10,000

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The store owned by G. J. Papillon, a furrier of 181 Laurier avenue, was robbed of goods valued at $10,000. No clue to the identity of the thieves has yet been discovered.

ARMISTICE DAY WILL BE COMMEMORATED.

The second anniversary of the armistice which brought the great war to an end will be celebrated on Thursday throughout the Empire. At noon of that day the wheels of industry throughout Canada will cease, and a solemn silence for the space of two minutes will pay a grateful tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives for the cause of right and of the Empire. Services will be held in celebration of the occasion in many of the churches on Sunday, many military organizations will celebrate the event and the occasion will be observed in schools and similar institutions. The two-minute cessation of work is a suggestion of King George and its observation will be general throughout the Empire.

British Troops Are Pouring Into The Irish Capital

Letter to Greenwood Says Three to Die for Every One in Ireland

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A threat that "for every man, woman and child murdered by the British in Ireland," the Amalgamated Irish Societies of America will take a toll of three lives of Englishmen now in the United States, is contained in a letter to Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary for Ireland, alleged to be signed by "J. V. O'Connor," writing from New York as president of the societies.

The Irish police is ignoring the letter, declaring that—if it isn't in fact a fake— it will do more harm to the radical cause than would a formal British protest to the American Government.

The letter demands that British forces cease their reprisals, and declared that unless this action is taken before November 14, the proposed counter reprisals will take place in America.

The text of the note is as follows:

"Dear Sir: We hereby inform and warn you that if there are any more reprisals in Ireland on or after November 14, we men of Irish blood in this country and our sympathizers will immediately begin reprisals against Englishmen here who are not citizens of the United States. For every man, woman and child murdered after the above date by cowardly English soldiers and police, three Englishmen in this country will pay the penalty."

INTENSE FIGHTING

Attacks and counter attacks by Sinn Feiners and the British forces continue throughout the south of Ireland and with no abatement in intensity. The heavy hand of military rule has tightened its grip on Dublin and it is reported that troops will occupy all but four police barracks in the county of Cork. The coastguard station at Ballycastle has been burned.

Raids are continuing in Dublin. A swift descent upon two printing shops netted a vast amount of Sinn Fein documents. One arrest was made in the raid. The authorities at Roscommon claim to have subdued the Sinn Fein forces, lowering the Republican flag from the city hall and restoring the Union Jack.

SINN FEINERS KILLED

Six Sinn Fein attackers were killed in a pitched battle at Ardvert.

Three thousand employes of the Midland and Great Western Railway at Dublin have received notices to their dismissal for their refusal to transport armed troops or handle munitions and supplies. In view of the approaching railway crisis, the corporation of Dublin has issued a warning to the public to conserve foodstuffs.

John O'Brien who was killed at Nenagh while, it is alleged, he was attempting to escape from a squad of soldiers following the murder of Lieutenant Hambleton, was an American citizen it is declared. It is reported that the American consul is seeking to get the facts in the case from the British authorities.

BANK MESSENGER ROBBED AND KILLED

Mount Holly, N.J. Nov. 9.—Frank J. James and Raymond W. Schuck, both of Camden, confessed according to the police, that they killed David S. Paul, the Camden bank runner, robbed him of $40,000 in cash and buried the body in the Jersey Pines near the Tabernacle. The money was buried in Evergreen cemetery in Camden and most of it has been recovered, the officials stated.

Luxury Tax Injures Business

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Toronto, Nov. 9.—That Luxury Tax now imposed by the Dominion Government is causing unemployment, injuring business, discouraging investment of capital and on the other hand, that it is bringing comparatively little revenue for the Government, are the grounds on which the Canadian Manufacturers Association is asking the Dominion Government to abolish this type of taxation.

No Action Taken Against Spracklin

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—Consensus of opinion among border residents is that no charge will be laid against Rev. Spracklin, who shot and killed Beverley Trumble early Saturday morning. Crown Attorney Rodd has gone to the country for a few days' rest. Associates in his office stated emphatically today that the Crown Attorney had no intention of laying a charge against the minister. As if to confirm this, Rev. Spracklin went to his home in Sandwich directly after the inquest last night without a police escort. Seen this morning, he refused to talk but admitted that he felt happy and that he was under no durance.

Prince Of Wales Chased From Path

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were chased off a private foot-path on their way to the Coombe Hill golf course near here Saturday.

The Prince and the Duke, accompanied by Sir Phillip Sasson started towards the course on foot. On the way they turned into a foot-path which is closed to the public on Saturdays.

A polite official appeared and told them of the regulations. He insisted that they observe it and finally they complied. They proceeded to the course by a round-about way.

Ten Michigan Women Elected

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 9—One seat in the State Senate, two sheriffs' offices and seven lesser county offices were given to women in Tuesday's election in Michigan, according to almost complete returns today. All the successful candidates were Republicans.

Women treasurers were elected in Muskegon, Delta and Tuscola counties; Missaukee county elected a woman county clerk and women candidates for registrar of deeds were successful in Kalamazoo and Osceola counties. In Hillsdale county a woman drain commissioner was chosen.

The Grand Rapids district selected Mrs. Eva Hamilton as State Senator. The women sheriffs were chosen in Benzie and Roscommon counties.

WOMEN FOLKS KEEP A SECRET

Yoncalla, Ore., Nov. 9.—Women can keep a secret. Five men of this city who believed they were going to be elected as mayor and councilmen can testify to that. These men were nominated for the city offices without opposition.

The women held a secret meeting and decided that the men had not been administering municipal affairs properly. They chose one of their number for mayor and four more to complete the 'petticoat' Government quietly passed the word and the men didn't know what had happened until the votes were counted and learned that the following had been elected.

Mayor, Mrs. Mary Bart. Members of the council, Mrs. Bernice Wilson, Mrs. Jennie D. Lasswell, Mrs. Nettie Hannan, Mrs. Edith B. Thompson.

UNITED STATES WAR DEAD RETURNED FROM BRITAIN

Washington, Nov. 9.—All United States war dead have been returned from Great Britain, with the exception of the bodies of about 550 soldiers, who are to remain there permanently by request of relatives, the War Department announced today. Those remaining will be concentrated in a permanent cemetery near London, which will be under the perpetual care and control of the United States Government.

Conservative Wins By 3,564 In N.-E. Toronto By-Election

MAJOR LEWIS SCORES DECISIVE VICTORY OVER HIS LIBERAL OPPONENT—UTTER ROUT OF HIGGINS' FORCES WARNING TO ULTRA-RADICAL ELEMENT WHICH BACKED LABOR MAN.

LEWIS	7,749
Kippen	3,185
Higgins	1,838
Galbraith	86
Lewis' majority over all	1,649
Lewis' majority over Kippen	3,564

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Carried away by his success in the general election when public sentiment, for reasons that are well understood, turned sharply against the Hearst Government, H. Hartley Dewart set out to enlarge his position in "Tory Toronto" by capturing the northeast riding, vacant since the resignation of Hon. Dr. Cody. Shrewdly he brought a returned soldier with a distinguished record into the fight and launched a campaign in which all the forces of the Liberal machine were brought into play. How completely he misread sentiment in Toronto at the present time is strikingly revealed by the poll. Major Kippen was undoubtedly the best candidate the Liberals could have put forward, and his soldierly qualities and splendid war record won for him many hundreds of votes that would not have gone to any other nominee; yet he received scarcely more than one-half the vote given to Major Alex Lewis, the Conservative candidate. Major Lewis came home with a lead of over 3,600 votes, the returns last night, with five polls to hear from, giving him 3,564, which will be increased at least fifty and possibly 100 votes when the full vote is counted.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Bread Drops in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Bakers of Winnipeg, following a reduction of eighty cents a barrel in flour yesterday, today announced a reduction of one cent per loaf to take effect on Monday next This will bring the price of sixteen ounce loaf to eight cents, and twenty ounce loaf to ten cents.

Sugar in New York 6¼c.

New York, Nov. 9.—Raw sugar dropped to six and a quarter cents pound new low price for season, in sugar market here today. Price reflects heavy slackening of demand and is a loss of more than 17 cents from highest of season's quotations last May. Trading was dull.

Divorce for Duchess

London, Nov. 9.—The Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt, daughter of W. K. Vanderbilt, was today awarded a decree of divorce from the Duke of Marlborough.

AMERICAN JOURNALISTS TO VISIT CANADA

A party of journalists from the important cities of the Central Western States will visit the four Western provinces next summer.

The trip on this occasion will be devoted strictly to business, an inspection of the resources of the western part of the Dominion, as well as this can be done in two weeks' time.

The cities from which journalists will come include Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and other smaller cities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska.

J. Bruce Walker of the Department of Immigration was in Chicago at the annual convention of the Inland Daily Press Association and extended an invitation to the editors and proprietors of the leading papers to make this trip as guests of the Department.

CROWDED AREAS KEEP TO PUBS.

London, Nov. 9.—No further results are as yet available in the Scottish prohibition poll. So far only 18 districts have voted for licenses; 19 for a limitation, which means reductions of 25 per cent. in licenses issued, and 116 are for no change.

The Westminster Gazette, which favors the temperance movement, says the defeat of the temperance party is rather more striking than these simple figures would suggest, for in the main it is the residential and less crowded districts which have declared against public houses, and the areas which have the most drinking facilities that have decided to keep all they have.

SOLDIERS MAKE GOOD ON FARMS IN THE WEST

Calgary, Nov. 9.—Out of 128 soldier-settlers who are operating farms close to the Saskatchewan border of Alberta all but one are making good, according to a statement given by the Soldier Settlement Board inspector who has recently completed a tour among the soldier-farms. The exception is a half-breed farmer, who, owing to domestic affliction, did not make the progress he would have made otherwise.

German Prisoners Returning From Russia

German Prisoners of War Returning From Russia Denounce Germany

Every contingent of German war prisoners arriving from Russia contains a number of ragged, unshaven, haggard men who have been made insane by suffering during many months in Russian prison camps.

In three weeks the German Government sent 200 of these men to insane asylums and sanitariums for treatment. A few who have spells of violence, and during these periods, must be kept under guard, but the majority present a listless, woe-begone aspect. They look about with dull, unseeing eyes, or sit quietly weeping, unconscious of the fact they are home again.

The families and friends of the insane soldiers are allowed to greet them and to give them food and clothes before they are sent away for treatment.

Nearly all the prisoners exhibit the most intense bitterness not only toward Russia but toward the German government as well. One of them, who had lost a leg and an arm and who, it was learned, had been taken prisoner early in the war and has been confined in many Russian prison camps, shook his fist at a German flag when he arrived and cursed his country, his people, and all other countries and peoples.

"To —— with Germany!" he shouted. "That is not my flag and Germany is not my fatherland."

He then turned to the other prisoners and pointing to his wounds, said:

"This is what Germany has done for me. This is what a kindly fatherland has permitted. Why didn't they exchange me? Because I have only one leg and one arm? I lost them fighting for Germany and all the thanks I've had for it were the rotten years in a Russian prison."

The prisoners generally agreed they had been unable to procure proper medical treatment in the Russian camps and that their food had been very bad.

At the close of the war there were 250,000 war and civil prisoners in Russia, and 255,000 Russians in Germany. The German government estimates that not more than 5,000 Germans will remain in Russian camps this winter.

Before the Russo-Polish hostilities began the Russians were being returned rapidly but it is now estimated at least 200,000 Russians are still in German camps, 60,000 of whom are the troops interned when they crossed the East Prusian frontier during the Polish offensive.

The German government has expended 30,000,000 marks for transportation of Russians home, and 90,000,000 marks to bring German prisoners out of Russia.

BOYS GET BUSY

The boys are organizing in groups to canvass the city on Saturday for old papers and magazines. Holloway St. Scouts will Canvass West Belleville. Bridge street Scouts will canvass the section from Queen street to the Bay. John street and the Y.M.C.A. boys will canvass from Queen street to Station Street. Salvation Army boys from Moira street to Albert College. The boys are securing trucks to cart the paper and also balers to bale the paper in. They also want a central store room where they will be able to store their paper and magazines. Up to date they have been unable to secure one but trust that some friend of the Old Folks will loan us their barn for a store room.

SMOKE STACK BLAZED

The burning out of the smoke stack of the Belleville Sash and Door factory premises at 8 o'clock last evening was the cause of an alarm of fire being sounded. No damage resulted.

A MERRY EVENING

The Gloom Busters composed of senior gymnasium men of the Y.M.C.A. had an indoor picnic last evening, at which about thirty couples were in attendance. A most enjoyable time was spent by all present. The affair took place at the Y.M.C.A., and various games were indulged in, after which refreshments were served. The programme was of a novel nature, consisting of needle-threading by the women and men, balloon race was for both sexes quartette contest, basket ball relay and pie-eating contest. The patronesses were Mrs. Phil Brockel, Mrs. Agnus Buchanan and Mrs. Chas Keeber. The committee was composed of Misses Mary Yeomans, Ruth Sinclair, Fanny Curry, Harriett McIntosh and Messrs J. W. Field, W. H. Finkle and Harold Coppin.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN FUND FOR WESTERN FARMERS

The first week of November will see throughout the western provinces a joint organization drive conducted by the three great organizations of farmers—The United Farmers of Manitoba, the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and the United Farmers of Alberta.

With a uniform plan of organization the work in each province will be under the direct supervision of a central provincial committee. There will be an organizer in charge of each federal constituency and a "district captain" over each unit of nine townships. Each district captain will enlist the services of men and women for each half-township unit under his jurisdiction to act as canvassers for the "drive."

On the morning of Nov. 1 the canvassers will commence their work. According to an announcement in the Grain Growers' Guide, of Winnipeg, the head of each household in the West will be asked to contribute $6, two of which will be used "by the central offices and the constituency boards for organization purposes."

"While the 'organized farmers' are furnishing a foundation on which a new political superstructure is being erected," says the announcement of the Grain Growers' Guide, "their political activities of the present represent only one phase; a development of the 'organized farmers' movement. True this phase is now forced to the forefront by the imminence of a federal election, but the real work of the association is that of building for the future through developing a more intelligent public opinion; a higher conception of the responsibilities of citizenship. To this end the associations seek to mobilize within the organization the farmers of the West 100 per cent. strong."

FUR CARGO VALUED AT TWO MILLIONS

Somewhere between Nome and Vancouver the little steam schooner Ruby, under charter to the Hudson Bay Company, is making her why south after a three months trip to the trading posts along the Canadian rim of the Arctic bowl. She left this port early in the summer carrying supplies and two motorboats, the former for the Hudson Bay camps and the latter for the Mounted Police. On her return trip she is bringing the fur catch of the Arctic camps valued at two million dollars.

The Law Divine Charming Comedy

English Comedy Delighted Large Audience at Griffin's

It is refreshing indeed to witness a clever comedy acted by clever artists who speak the English language as it was intended it should be spoken. Such is "The Law Divine" which appeared at Griffin's Theatre Monday evening with H. V. Esmond, the English actor and Miss Eva Moore (Mrs. Esmond).

"The Law Divine" was acted in a way that made the audience live the play, rather than merely sit and listen to it. The theme of the play deals with rather a ticklish subject—near domestic estrangement. But even the most delicate situations were handled in a manner that could not be criticized by even one possessing the strictest views. The production was masterly—and a triumph.

Mr. Esmond as Jack La Bas gave a splendid performance. He does not resort to exaggerated speech to impress his audience: he acts quietly and naturally, with a keen sense of dramatic value. His diction was perfect. In the lighter moments of the play, Mr. Esmond shone; in the one or two tense scenes, Mr. Esmond gave full play to his dramatic ability and handled his scenes with facility. Possessing poise and an abundance of personality, this great actor scored an instant triumph.

Mme. Eva Moore portrays Jack's misunderstanding and misunderstood better half in a high degree of perfection. In the minutest detail, her acting was perfect and all her scenes with Mr. Esmond were beautifully handled. In the last act, where the wife decides to be a wife instead of merely Mrs. So-and-So, Miss Moore was magnificent—she painted a realistic and enchanting stage picture.

As Claudia Meriton, the 'interested' friend, Miss Violet Campbell gave a natural and pleasing portrayal of fresh, youthful English girl, breezy, frank and altogether lovely. At no time did she exaggerate her part—but played it in an unaffected manner.

Kate Johnson as the spinster war worker was true to type and her reading of the part is deserving of the high est praise. The transition from the supposedly war-hardened woman to the real woman underneath the martial shell was a splendid work of art.

Mr. John Reed as Bill, the soldier and son of the LeBas, and Mr. Leonard Upton as the sailor lad, were, in their parts truly representative of that clean-cut, manly, gentlemanly British type—personified in British youth during the war—a type recognized the world over. Bubbling over with youthful spirits—doing their bit in that easy, carefree way that all Britishers did, belittling their splendid efforts rather than boasting about them—these two gentlemen gave the audience sympathetic and comprehensive interpretation that immediately won recognition. They were responsible for much of the comedy, which was clean and genuinely witty.

As Daphne Gray, Miss Faith Liddle was an alluring vision of loveliness—truly, the womanly woman, while Miss Florence Wood as Mrs. Gaythorne, Mrs. Gray's mother could not have improved on her work. She earned much applause, despite the fact that she made only one appearance on the stage. But her acting was typical of the whole performance—perfect in every detail.

Obsequies

Hazel E. McBride

The funeral of the late Hazel E. McBride was held this morning from her parents' residence, Charles street. Services were conducted by Mr. Geo. Perry, Mr. Horne and Rev. Mr. Elliott of the Tabernacle church. Many beautiful floral tributes were evidence of the esteem in which she was held by her many friends. The bearers were: H. Shane, H. W. Barragar, W. Canning, R. Brockhurst, J. Roblin and C. W. Bowen. Interment took place at Belleville cemetery.

PROMOTED ON FIELD; PEDDLES ON STREETS

A striking example of the plight to which ex-soldiers who rendered conspicuous service during the war are reduced was offered at Aldershot during a meeting held to form a branch of the Rankers Officers' Association. It was stated by a Sheerness delegation that Lieut.-Col. J. H. Langton, an ex-officer of the New Army, who was promoted to the rank of lieut.-colonel was awarded the D.S.O. and had been mentioned seven times in despatches, was compelled to hawk vegetables to maintain his family of seven young children. His disablement pension had been assessed at 2s 3d a day and though this was subsequently increased to 4s, yet it did not save him from pushing a barrow through the streets and selling his goods from door to door in order to earn a bare living for his wife and seven children. He had been personally recommended by Sir Douglas Haig for an increased pension, but without result.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"3 GOLD COINS" IS ANOTHER MIX SUCCESS

Tom Mix, the "daredevil of the screen," will exhibit his daring stunts on the screen at Griffin's to-morrow and Wednesday night when William Fox presents him in his latest picture, "3 Gold Coins," a thrilling Western drama by H. M. Van Loan.

Mix plays a double role in this new thriller, which is said to be action from start to finish. He is first seen as Bob Fleming, a happy-go-lucky cowpuncher, and then as "Bad Pat" Duncan, a highwayman, wanted for murder. As Bob Fleming, Mix shows such prowress with his pistol that he wins three gold coins offered by a millionaire who seek to test Bob's markmanship. Bob also makes a hit with the millionaire's daughter. Two crooks, who have sold thousands of dollars worth of stock on the representation that Bob's six hundred and forty acres of land contain oil—they have "planted" a little oil-try to make a getaway with the stock-holder's money. Bob, who has innocently been drawn into the scheme, takes the money and turns it over to the millionaire for safe keping. The events that follow will be found bulging with thrills and heart interest.

Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" a funny 2-reel "Smiling" Billy Parson comedy, and an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Beautiful Brussells" are also being shown in addition to the feature offering.

ALMA SIMPSON.

Under the auspices of the Quinte Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the benefit of the Children's Shelter, Alma Simpson will present her world famed "Recital of Songs" at the City Hall next Monday evening, Nov. 15th, arrangements having been completed between the ladies and Miss Simpson's manager in New York.

Last month Miss Simpson was heard at Carnegie Hall, New York, at His Majesty's Theatre in Montreal, at the Russell Theatre, in Ottawa, where she appeared under vice-regal patronage, and at Grant Hall, Kingston, under the auspices of Queen's University Choral Society and the I.O.D.E.

Her "Recital of Songs" in these cities received the highest possible praise by press and public. The ladies of Quinte Chapter, I.O.D.E. have availed themselves of the rare opportunity to present in Belleville an artist of the first magnitude such as Miss Alma Simpson as she is passing through on her way to Toronto, where her recital is scheduled for the latter part of this month at Massey Hall.

Apart from the press of the principal cities of the world, the press of some Canadian cities have referred to Miss Simpson as "a well schooled artist who knows what to do and does it."—Montreal Star. The Calgary Herald refers to Miss Simpson as "one of the greatest singers who has appeared in Canada"; while the Ottawa Citizen, speaking of her voice, says "a voice which few living concert sopranos can equal."

MUSKRAT PELTS SLUMP, WERE $5, NOW 50 CENTS

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Muskrats living in the Northwest can look forward to a relatively safe winter. With hides now worth 50 cents, as compared with $5 last year, they are not likely to lead so precarious an existence.

Last year trappers flocked into the north country by the hundred, lured on by the phenomenal price of fur. Many men, absolutely ignorant of the habits of furred animals and equally at sea in the matter of setting traps, ventured out on the cold trails, and even the veriest amateur was unfortunate if he did not get sufficient pelts to more than cover his expenses. This year, however, with fur at the bottom of a terrific slump, trappers are turning their attention to more profitable vocations.

At the Hudson's Bay Company sales last week, furs dropped from 15 to 50 per cent. below spring prices.

At The Pas, Man., which is the fur headquarters of the north, thousands of pelts are cached away in the hope that the price will go higher some day.

INDECENT FASHIONS SCORED BY WOMEN

Mrs. Colin H. Campbell, provincial president for Manitoba of the I.O.D.E. has issued a call to the members of the order to dress modestly and simply. "Fashions are becoming more extreme and more indecent with each succeeding season" is her opinion as voiced at the autumn meeting of the provincial chapter. Mrs. Campbell also strongly urged the encouragement of Canadian publications "to replace the insidious poison which is coming into Canada through the American magazines and papers."

Mrs. G. O. Hughes' address on housing for women, especially with regard to immigrants from the British Isles, resulted in the passing of a resolution to consider the founding of a chain of hostels across Canada for women.

SPORTING EVENTS

PETERBORO 8—BELLEVILLE 20

On Saturday, November 6 the Senior Girls' Basket Ball team of Belleville High School played Peterboro Collegiate Institute girls at the Y.M.C.A. in Peterboro. When the Belleville girls saw the Peterboro line-up, and having previously heard that they were the best girls' team in Eastern Ontario, they felt as blue as their middies were. The cheering in the gallery from both Peterboro and Belleville rooters showed that both teams had great backing. Belleville girls started right off and made the first basket which seemed to give more confidence in their team-play and from then on had little fear of their opponents. The Belleville team-work and combination was much superior to that played by Peterboro girls. At half time the Belleville girls were leading—9 to 2. In the last half Peterboro girls proved to be no match for the locals, the game ending in Belleville's favour, 20—8.

NOTES

Valiere Wrightmyer for the locals scored whenever she pleased and the defence and centres also played a wonderful game. The girls deserved the victory because of their untiring efforts and the good combination.

LINE-UP

Forwards: Basket—Anna Lafferty, (Capt.)
Line—V. Wrightmyer.
Centre—Gertrude Lloyd.
Side—"Tweet" Bird.
Guards: Basket—Marjorie Kerr.
Line—Clara Yeomans.
Spare—"Bunny" Sinclair.

Miss Burrett of St. Agnes' School handled the game satisfactorily to both sides.

Miss Young chaperoned the B.H.S. girls.

Directly after the game, the locals were taken to the Collegiate where they enjoyed a sumptuous banquet and pleasant entertainment until train time.

The return game will be played in about two weeks' time which will give the citizens a chance of witnessing a real game.

RUGBY

Peterboro'....25 Belleville....20

On Nichol's Oval in Peterboro' on Saturday, the Belleville High School Rugby Team suffered their first defeat at the hands of the Peterboro' Collegiate Institute. The score indicates a difference in the playing of the two teams, Peterboro' having changed their line-up and tactics considerably since the last game two weeks previously.

Peterboro' made a good snappy start in the first half and swept the Belleville boys off their feet. The Belleville boys apparently could not get going until the last few minutes of play. Our boys lacked pep and vim until then.

First Quarter

Belleville kicked off to Peterboro', the play was centred, Western got through for twenty yards, shortly after which Gilchrist placed the ball behind Belleville goal for the first touch, but failed to convert. Then by a series of bucks, the Peterboro' team managed to put another one over, which they converted.

Peterboro' 11 Belleville 0

Second Quarter

This quarter found Belleville with the ball, and by a fumble on the Peterboro back field, I. Wrightmeyer recovered it for an unexpected touch. This quarter found Belleville holding their own in middle field but Gilchrist kicked to our backs who fumbled and gave Peterboro an unearned touch. Belleville kicked to Peterboro who on their first down played on-side kick which McGie recovered and went for ninety yards for a touch Then by a strong series of bucks Peterboro placed the ball in Belleville's goal, then the whistle blew for half time.

Peterboro 19 Belleville 9

Third Quarter

Peterboro kicked off to Belleville, who after the short rest were in better condition and started to work right from the start. Maidens went over for a touch from Middle field on a fake. McGie converted and Peterboro kicked off. Belleville returned to Gilchrist who got away with a clear field ahead of him but here Maidens proved his superiority in speed to any one on the field. Starting twenty yards behind Gilchrist he overtook him and downed him in mid-field. This run looked like a sure touch from the side lines. Peterboro however, by a series of heavy bucks scored another touch which they converted. This was the last that Peterboro scored.

Peterboro' 28 Belleville 15

Fourth Quarter

Belleville kicked off and Peterboro returned it to Elliott who was forced to stop in response to Referee Brown who thinking Elliott was in the touch line, there Belleville worked a criss-cross which was the best play of the day. Maidens got the ball and from the Belleville fifteen yard line made a spectacular run leaving the rest of the players to watch him. McGie converted.

Final: Peterboro 25 Belleville 20

NOTES

Maidens starred for the Belleville boys, while Eastwood and Gilchrist starred for the Peterboro boys.

Members of the Belleville Rugby Team acknowledge with thanks the support given them in rooting by the girls of the Basket Ball Team and those real sports of the school, who paid their own way to be able to cheer for their own team.

Mr. Affleck, and Mr. Sharey, B. H. S. are to be thanked for the unselfish interest they took in their boys.

Owing to the lack of financial support on the part of Belleville citizens the B. H. S. Rugby Team was forced to travel to Peterboro in a fifteen ton truck. Needless to say this destroyed the fitness of the team and was largely responsible for the defeat.

This game makes one win each for the teams. Another game will be played on neutral ground one week from Saturday if our home boys are not handicapped by lack of funds.

If the citizens of Belleville united in pushing the athletic side of education their boys would certainly help a lot in giving our city a desirable notoriety. The High School pupils themselves all take an active interest in their team, but unaided they can do very little financially. An entertainment will be announced in the near future in aid of the B.H.S. Athletic fund.

NAPANEE WON

Napanee, Nov. 9.—The Napanee Collegiate Football and Basketball teams motored to Picton last Saturday where they contested in four very exciting games. The N.C.I. boys were taken to Picton in the large truck owned by Mr. M. Stevens. The girls and lady teachers were taken in touring cars. The junior football game was played in the forenoon the score being -0. In the afternoon the two basket all games were held in the gymnasium of the P.C.I., but in these games the Picton girls won, by large uneven scores. After the basket ball games the Senior Football was held at the Driving Park. This was by far the most exciting of the games because it was to determine whether or not, the Napanee Collegiate team should come out ahead of the whole series which have been played between the two schools. The N.C.I. boys were victorious and the game ended with a score of 2 to 0. After the games the Napanee pupils were invited to have refreshments in the convocation hall of the P.C.I. and after the refreshments a dance was held in the gymnasium of the Collegiate and at 7.30 p.m. the cars started on their homeward journey after three hearty cheers for the good old Picton Collegiate.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR RHEUMATISM

Pressure upon the nerves at the point where they emit from the spine causes an abnormal functioning of the of organs or parts supplied by those nerves. If the nerves affected are the ones suplying the organs of elimination the waste and poisons which are normally thrown off or eliminated from the body are left to accumulate within the system. These poisons working into the cells and tissues of the body gradually work a structural change and if allowed to progress, form tiny crystals in the body tissues. The joints, muscles, etc., may be affected and the suffering produced be very severe.

The Chiropractor removes the pressure which the misaligned vertebrae produce on the nerves which control the organs of elimination. When these organs receive their normal amount of nervous energy or mental impulse they function normally. The poisons are thrown off, the crystal formations being dissolved, and the normal lymph and blood supply is again established. Continued suffering in the face of incontrovertible proof that the Chiropractor does overcome rheumatism by Spinal Abjustments is foolhardy. Come to this office today for consultation and a Spinal Analysis.

BOY CHESS WONDER VISITS NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 9.—A little boy in a brown overcoat and a brown study a very grave little boy, who is supposed to be composed chiefly of brains was among the first half dozen passengers to leave the White Star liner Olympic when it arrived here from Southampton.

He was Samuel Rzeshewski, nine years old, the chess wonder of Europe the child who plays twenty or thirty or forty games of chess simultaneously against strong players and beats them casually.

The child is travelling with all the pomp of a visiting prize-fighter. He is accompanied by his parents, his private physician and his manager. He will give exhibitions in New York.

He has been playing chess for four years. When he was five years old his father one idle evening taught him the moves of the intricate game and the next evening the boy was teaching his father.

He has beaten the strong club players of Europe and expert critics declare that even masters could not give odds to the child—at least not greater odds than pawn and move.

STICK TO SCHOOL BOYS

One of the features of our economic life to which educators are drawing attention, says the Brockville Recorder Times, is the tendency for boys to leave school before they are adequately equipped for the work of life. Two reasons for this course exist. One is that the boy himself is attracted to the industrial world because of the many possibilities on every hand for making good wages under very favourable conditions. The other is that under the strain of the high cost of living parents become unduly anxious for their boys and girls to become wage-earners as soon as possible.

"In this there is a real danger. Years ago when boys started at the bottom of the ladder and worked their way to the top, earning in the meantime while they were learning, only a nominal wage, the office, the store, the workshop, the factory did not look so attractive, and more time was spent in school. Under present conditions any capable boy can earn attractive wages, hence the temptation to cut corners and get started quickly. Yet there never was a time when education was so valuable and promised such great rewards as it does today. The call for trained men in every branch of industry is insistent. There is plenty of room at the top, but the lower rungs of the ladder are painfully overcrowded. Parents who permit their boys and girls to leave school before they have secured an adequate training for life, except under the most dire necessity, or boys and girls who leave of their own free will, are placing a mortgage upon their future for the sake of a little money at present. The statistics show that those who remain in school until they are thoroughly equipped for the work of life always overtake in earning power those who start out so early that they are inefficient. Nothing is more heart-breaking to a boy or girl at some time than to find the path of promotion and reward blocked by insufficient education. The moral is that it is better to go slowly and get thoroughly equipped."

November is "Stick-to-School" month for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Stick it out, boys; if you have left school go back, or get in some extra study somehow.

—Firelighter.

The Family Smoke

"OLD CHUM" is a family friend. Grandfathers, Fathers and Sons have been smoking it for years and years.

During this half century, "OLD CHUM" has grown steadily in popularity and favour.

Every pipe smoker appreciates "OLD CHUM" quality—the choice Virginia Flake Cut tobacco—chosen by experts—stored away until the perfect tobacco taste and mellow flavour are fully developed.

It is this dependable, constant quality, maintained for years, which has made "OLD CHUM" the chum of all pipe smokers in Canada.

A cold is seldom "just a cold"—it is a dangerous malady.

IT is usually a breeder of ulcerated throats, inflamed tonsils, attacks of neuralgia, bronchitis, grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

A cold is a dangerous, deadly disease, with which you cannot afford to trifle.

Do not let a cold develop into anything more serious. Break it up while it is still a cold by taking DOMINION C. B. Q. (Cascara, Bromide and Quinine) Tablets.

CARELESS MOTOR CAR DRIVERS AND JAY WALKERS.

If auto drivers, horse drivers and pedestrians would each exercise ordinary prudence, accidents would be few and far between, states the Brockville Recorder.

All the laws that can be crowded into a statute book will not take the place of horse sense in the individual, and the protection of the public depends almost altogether on the human element, says the Recorder. True, a horse may bolt or a steering gear break, but the serious accidents from such causes are rare. No law can make it safe for the pedestrian to criss-cross the street or use the middle of the highway for a visiting place. Children who are allowed to jump on rigs are liable to drop off at any moment and rush in front of a car that to them is out of sight. All the Acts of Parliament that can be passed will not protect the public from the result of such carelessness.

Drivers of horses not infrequently block the entire street while they stop for a chat. That is not so serious a fault as backing across a street at any old place, never blinking an eye as to where they are going or what may be coming. No signal is ever given when they are turning or when they are stopping. In six instances in one day the street drivers of horse drawn vehicles were checked up coming out of town yards with the drivers looking in the opposite direction from which the horses were going, regardless of the fact that only the great care of the car drivers saved them from accident.

Bicycle riders, particularly youngsters, are the bane of the motor car driver. Too many pay no attention whatever to traffic rules:, and are on the wrong side of the road as often as on the right. Wobbling all over the street too many risk their lives every day. It is a great wonder that the number of accidents from this cause is not greater.

An effort is being made to provide by law that all vehicles, horse drawn or otherwise, shall carry lights at night. The movement should succeed, for unless a car carries those infernal glaring headlights, it is difficult at times for a driver to see lightless carriages till he is right up to them ,and then it is liable to be too late.

Auto drivers are at times careless to the point of criminality. Fast driving in a thickly settled centre where pedestrians are compelled to dodge for there lives is a crime. The glaring headlight is a menace to everybody. The driver of a car or carriage coming in the opposite direction is completely blinded, and his only safety is to get out of the way as far as possible until the hideous thing gets by. These blinding headlights are used every night on the main streets, where they are not needed for any purpose. Laws have been passed prohibiting them, but up to date they have never been enforced. Now we are told that after January 1st the use of such dangerous lights will render the user liable to prosecution. At least fifty per cent. of the users of such lights add to their unpopularity by refusing to dim them when meeting vehicles.

After all, common sense and thoughtfulness for others would reduce accidents to a minimum, and if people refuse to exercise these virtues, they ought to be prodded by the law.

CANADA IS POPULAR AS A LAND OF PROMISE.

The British Overseas Settlement Committee, according to advices from London, has received nearly 50,000 applications from ex-service men and women for emigration to all parts of the Empire. About one-fifth of the applicants are women who intend to take up domestic or land work. Most of the men desire to go on farms. Canada is a favorite dominion. Between 6,000 and 7,000 applicants express a preference for this country, while Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are next in order of popularity. With dependents the total involved is well over 100,000 persons. The lists for ex-service men close December 31 and applications are now pouring in at the rate of 1,000 a week.

THE MANIA FOR SPEED

Montreal Star

While the duty certainly devolves on pedestrians to exercise the utmost caution before attempting to cross streets, they should not be in deadly peril of their lives should they chance to be off guard for a moment. The man at the wheel shoud never forget that the powerful machine he controls brings serious responsibilities. The Automobile Association has set itself determinedly against reckless driving; but there are always the reckless drivers. The laws against furious driving cannot be too rigorously administered.

POETS' CORNER

THE LAND OF DREAMS

Have you ever been to the Land of Dreams,
When the hours of day are done,
And the moonlight beams in silvery streams?
Say, it's the greatest fun.

Have you ever boarded the dustman's barge
And sailed down the sea of sleep,
When the clouds above were blue and large,
And the stars seemed to twinkle and leap?

Have you ever followed the milky way
And come nearly to the end,
But stopped at last where the dog stars play,
And the moon begins to bend?

Have you ever followed the moon's sharp curves,
And tried to swing on them,
But failed at last and come sliding past
To the place where the Dipper swerves?

Did you ever drink from the Dipper's brim,
And sip the moonshine wine,
Or taste star dust from the moonflower's cups,
As the night grew pale and dim?

If you never have you have missed a heap,
For the only time you go
Is after dark, when you fall asleep,
And soft winds gently blow.

So list to me if you wish to see
All I have told you here,
For you must be good,
And if you are, you'll go there without fear.

For when a good child sleeps at night
The sandman's fairies come
And guide him up the ladder of stars,
To the place where the day has gone.

And if he's bad, they watch and weep,
And wait till he's good and true,
So if you really want to go,
You know just what to do.

—Miss J. Wootton.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Enjoying Wretched Health

Old Dame (to visitor who has been condoling with her on a recent misfortune)—Och, I'm gey ill. I've been cryin' sin' fowr this morin', an' I'm just gaun tae start agen as soon's I've sippit this bicker o' parritch.—Punch.

Describing it

There was a look of sadness on five-year-old Elizabeth's face and her father asked her what was the trouble.

"Oh," sighed the little miss. "I've got such a headache in my stomach."

She Let the Cat Out

Little Eleanor gazed long and thoughtfully at the young man who was calling on her grown-up sister Kate.

"May I climb up on your knee, Mr. Greene?"

"Yes, of course, dear!" smiled the young man who wanted to make a hit with the family. "Want to pull my hair—er?"

"No; I want to see if I can find that word."

"Word? What word?" asked the puzzled visitor.

"I heard our Kate say this morning that if ever a man had the word 'idiot' written all over his face, it was you."

FIRST ANNUAL BULL SALE

The young bull classes recently added to the prize list of the Ottawa Winter Fair have proven a most valuable feature of the show for the breeders. It has furnished evidence of his skill and at the same time provided a show where sales are readily made. Buyers, on the other hand, find this an excellent season to make purchases of bulls and have used this Fair as an excellent means of selecting choice individuals. In fact at the 1920 Show all the bulls which were for sale were disposed of during the first few days of the show.

Hence the Executive has decided to further feature this phase of the Fair. (1) by largely increasing the prize list for bull calves and (2) to feature sales by making this a sale show for bulls. In view of the very keen demand for more and better pure-bred bulls, and the desire on the part of the Executive to still further increase this forward movement in cattle breeding, it is felt that such a move will meet the needs of the breeders with stock for sale and farmers looking for new herd sires. The sale of bulls will be held during the show and under efficient management, hence visitors can see the show and attend the sale at the same time and in the same building. Extended pedigrees of animals included in the sale will be found in the catalogue of the Fair.

Particular attention is drawn to the fact that this is to be a sale of healthy bulls, all being tuberculin tested before the sale and having certificates as to freedom from tuberculosis which will accompany the pedigrees. The breeders are anxious to maintain healthy bulls as the buyers are to purchase for their herd animals with a clean bill of health. The Executive of the Fair feel that in emphasizing this feature of the sale as well as the quality and breeding of the individuals is setting a new high standard for bull sales in Canada.

Rules of Sale

1. All bulls entered for sale must compete in the regular bull classes of the Fair.

2. A special entry fee of $2.00, to cover sale expenses, must accompany the regular fee of $2.00 for the regular classes and which accompanies each application for entry.

3. Tuberculin Testing. All bulls entered for the sale must have been tuberculin tested by a qualified veterinarian. Certificates as to freedom from disease, as indicated by this test must be supplied. If the owners prefer, the Executive will provide free tuberculin test at the fair grounds on arrival andl before the sale which test would be conducted by the Health of Animals Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It is understood that bulls from accredited herds will require no tuberculin test, and that the Federal Certificate of freedom from disease will accompany the animal.

As is announced elsewhere, all animals from accredited herds will be housed in a barn away from untested stock.

Terms and Conditions of Sale

The time of sale: 1.30 p.m., Friday, January 21st, 1921.

The terms of sale, cash. Satisfactory settlement must be made before the animals will be shipped from the sale. Settlement must be made with the Clerk of the Sale.

Purchases will be at purchaser's risk as soon as sold, but will be cared for by the vendor till the end of the show and loaded by him. Cars will be arranged for by the Sale Committee.

Registration papers and transfers to be paid by party selling. Extra charges for crating, etc., will be met by purchaser. All by-bidding prohibited.

Quality Sale Guaranteed

"As it will be impossible to take care of a very large sale, it is the purpose of the Executive to limit the numbers to guarantee the very highest quality, both as to individuality and breeding.

The seller is the responsible party for representations which the Sale Committee in no way guarantees, but will endeavour to correct.

The Sale Committee reserve the right to eliminate all undesirable animals from the sale.

For prize lists, entry forms and information address, B. Phelan, Assistant Secretary, Ottawa.

Satisfying the Demand for a Sanitary Container

Comes to the Packer Flat

Rudd sanitary food containers come to the packer flat. The empty containers occupy small space in a manufacturer's warehouse and are easily and quickly "set-up" when products are ready for shipment.

Waterproof and Germproof

Rudd waxed containers are waterproof and practically water-tight and air-tight. Perishable products such as ice-cream, lard, butter, cakes, etc., will keep fresh in this style of container for an unusual length of time.

From producer to consumer is often a long journey—with many delays en-route.

Time and travel—not to mention careless handling—make sorry sight of many a carefully made article ere it reaches the ultimate buyer.

Careful packing—in individual paper containers—is the only method which really insures delivery of small articles in condition to satisfy a critical buying public.

For food stuffs, it is the only method which insures sanitation.

For some foods, the waxed carton is the only container which really insures sanitary storage and delivery.

Perhaps Rudd waxed cartons will increase the sale of your goods.

We'll be glad to show you samples.

SETTLE BOYS DISPUTES WITH BOXING GLOVES

Plans to put a set of boxing gloves in every Chicago school for the use of pupils in settling their disputes are being made by George B. Arnold, chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Education.

Mr. Arnold announced his plan in answer to critics of Miss Alice M. Hogge principal of the Webster School who refereed a bout between two of her pupils. He said that as far as he was concerned the efforts of attorneys for Mrs. Rose Selon to have Miss Hogge discharged because she permitted the battle would have no avail. Mrs. Selon's son, Abe, was defeated in the scrap by Salvatore Sortino.

"Boxing in the schools ought to be encouraged," said Mr. Arnold. "If any principal sends in a requisition for boxing gloves I will see that it is honored at once. If necessary, I will seek an appropriation for money to buy boxing gloves at the next meeting of the board."

Ernest E. Cole, acting superintendent in the absence of J. C. Morten[illegible] who is away attending a convention laughed when told that steps to oust Miss Hogge had been taken.

"There is nothing to get excited about," he said. "Miss Hogge did the right thing. Boys will be boys, you know, and she hit upon the best plan of settling disputes. Miss Hogge is one of our best principals."

Miss Hogge was pleased when she heard of the probability of boxing gloves being placed in the schools.

"Good!" she said. "That is just what I like. I have been anxious to get a set. I am sure the boys and their parents in the neighborhood of the Webster School will welcome the idea."

FASHIONABLE WOMEN HIT THE PIPE

Just when it is announced that the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance Union has proclaimed its acceptance of the "divine commission" to conduct a crusade against tobacco comes to Saskatoon Miss Gladys Boughton, of London, with the word that fashionable women of England are taking up pipe-smoking.

"The women of England who have adopted the pipe habit are among the best bred and most fashionable," Miss Boughton said. "They have simply taken a step beyond cigarette smoking and are following a fashion set by their sisters of high degree on the Continent."

But, according to the visitor, these advance smokers preserve their femininity and display their accustomed love of the beautiful by smoking pipes that are really artistic creations.

"A member of a firm that is specialising in the manufacture of these 'Lady Nicotine' pipes, told me there were hundreds of pipe-smoking women in England," Miss Boughton added. "He declared it was not a passing fad or a fancy. A special mild tobacco was blended and this dealer said he sold about sixty pounds of it a week. And new customers were coming in at the rate of five a week."

Miss Boughton thought economy had something to do with it. It was cheaper to smoke a pipe than to form an appetite for perfumed cigarettes.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

The brutal and bloody interruption by Tha, the mad priest, passed vividly before the ape-man's recollective eye, the flight of the votaries before the insane blood lust of the hideous creature, the brutal attack upon La, and his own part in the grim tragedy when he had battled with the infuriated Oparian and left him dead at the feet of the priestess he would have profaned.

This and much more passed through Tarzan's memory as he stood gazing at the long tiers of dull-yellow metal. He wondered if La still ruled in the temples of the ruined city whose crumbling walls rose upon the very foundations about him. Had she finally been forced into a union with one of her grotesque priests? It seemed a hideous fate, indeed, for one so beautiful. With a shake of his head, Tarzan stepped to the flickering candle, extinguished its feeble rays and turned toward the exit.

Behind him the spy waited for him to be gone. He had learned the secret for which he had come, and now he could return at his leisure to his waiting followers, bring them to the treasure vault and carry away all the gold that they could stagger under.

The Waziri had reached the outer end of the tunnel, and were winding upward toward the fresh air and the welcome starlight of the kopje's summit, before Tarzan shook off the detaining hand of reverie and started slowly after them.

Once again, and, he thought, for the last time, he closed the massive door of the treasure room. In the darkness behind him Werper rose and stretched his cramped muscles. He stretched forth a hand and lovingly caressed a golden ingot on the nearest tier. He raised it from its immemorial resting place and weighed it in his hands. He clutched it to his bosom in an ecstasy of avarice.

Tarzan dreamed of the happy homecoming which lay before him, of dear arms about his neck, and a soft cheek pressed to his; but there rose to dispel that dream the memory of the old witch-doctor and his warning.

And then, in the span of a few brief seconds, the hopes of both these men were shattered. The one forgot even his greed in the panic of terror—the other was plunged into total forgetfulness of the past by a jagged fragment of rock which gashed a deep cut upon his head.

CHAPTER IV.

The Altar of the Flaming God.

It was at the moment that Tarzan turned from the closed door to pursue his way to the outer world. The thing came without warning. One instant all was quiet and stability—the next, the world rocked, the tortured sides of the narrow passageway split and crumbled, great blocks of granite, dislodged from the ceiling, tumbled into the narrow way, choking it, and the walls bent inward upon the wreckage. Beneath the blow of a fragment of the roof, Tarzan staggered back against the door to the treasure room, his weight pushed it open and his body rolled inward upon the floor.

There was but the single shock, no other followed to complete the damage undertaken by the first. Werper, thrown to his length by the suddenness and violence of the disturbance, staggered to his feet when he found himself unhurt. Groping his way toward the far end of the chamber, he sought the candle which Tarzan had left stuck in its own wax upon the protruding end of an ingot.

By striking numerous matches the Belgian at last found what he sought, and when, a moment later, the sickly rays relieved the Stygian darkness about him, he breathed a nervous sigh of relief, for the impenetrable gloom had accentuated the terrors of his situation.

As they became accustomed to the light the man turned his eyes toward the door—his one thought now was of escape from this frightful tomb—and as he did so he saw the body of the naked giant lying stretched upon the floor just within the doorway. Werper drew back in sudden fear of detection; but a second glance convinced him that the Englishman was dead. From a great gash in the man's head a pool of blood had collected upon the concrete floor.

Quickly, the Belgian leaped over the prostrate form of his erstwhile host, and without a thought of succor for the man in whom, for aught he knew, life still remained, he bolted for the passageway and safety.

But his renewed hopes were soon dashed. Just beyond the doorway he found the passage completely clogged and choked by impenetrable masses of shattered rock. Once more he turned and re-entered the treasure vault. Taking the candle from its place he commenced a systematic search of the apartment, nor had he gone far before he discovered another door in the opposite end of the room, a door which gave upon creaking hinges to the weight of his body. Beyond the door lay another narrow passageway. Along this Werper made his way, ascending a flight of stone steps to another corridor twenty feet above the level of the first.

Before him was a circular shaft. He held the candle above it and peered downward. Below him, at a great distance, he saw the light reflected back from the surface of a pool of water. He had come upon a well. He raised the candle above his head and peered across the black void, and there upon the opposite side he saw the continuation of the tunnel, but how was he to span the gulf?

A Second Glance Convinced Him That the Englishman Was Dead.

As he stood there measuring the distance to the opposite side and wondering if he dared venture so great a leap, there broke suddenly upon his startled ears a piercing scream which diminished gradually until it ended in a series of dismal moans.

The Belgian shuddered and looked fearfully upward, for the scream had seemed to come from above him. As he looked he saw an opening far overhead, and a patch of sky pinked with brilliant stars.

He listened fearfully, but the cry was not repeated, and at last spurred to desperate means, he gathered himself for the leap across the chasm. Going back twenty paces, he took a running start, and at the edge of the well, leaped upward and outward in an attempt to gain the opposite side.

In his hand he clutched the sputtering candle, and as he took the leap the rush of air extinguished it. In utter darkness he flew through space, clutching outward for a hold should his feet miss the invisible ledge.

He struck the edge of the floor of the opposite terminus of the rocky tunnel with his knees, slipped backward, clutched desperately for a moment, and at last hung half within and half without the opening; but he was safe. Cautiously, he drew himself well within the tunnel, and again he lay at full length upon the floor, fighting to regain control of his shattered nerves.

When his knees struck the edge of the tunnel he had dropped the candle. Presently, hoping against hope that it had fallen upon the floor of the passageway, rather than back into the depths of the well, he rose upon all fours and commenced a diligent search for the little tallow cylinder, which now seemed infinitely more precious to him than all the fabulous wealth of the hoarded ingots of Opar.

Stand for Distillers

Toronto, Nov. 6.—R. T. Ferguson, K.C., of Winnipeg, representing the distillers of the Dominion, told the special committee of the Ontario Legislature appointed to inquire into the working of the O.T.A., that the distillers would favor the prohibition of the importation of liquor into the province of Ontario if the Drury Government would provide for the selling of liquor for beverage purposes under Government control. If the Government would not provide an alternative to the ubiquitous blind-pigger, then the distillers would use their influence to keep the liquor gates open, Mr. Ferguson said.

Provincial Secretary Nixon said the Government would have to wait and see what results would come from the referendum next spring before taking any step with reference to the liquor question.

Towed Schooner 400 Miles

Boston, Nov. 6.—The steamer Western Comet brought the abandoned Newfoundland fishing schooner Nordica to port here, after towing her 400 miles. The Nordica, the crew of which was taken off by a trawler, on October 18, was apparently in good condition, except for a loose rudder. The Western Comet was bound from Glasgow for Baltimore.

Called By Death

MR. EDGAR JUDGE

The death occurred at Montreal on Saturday of Mr. Edgar Judge, Senior partner of the Judge Grain Co., Board of Trade Building, Montreal, and Vice President of the Judge-Jones Milling Company, Limited, of Belleville. Mr. George B. Jones, of Belleville, a partner, left for Montreal to attend the funeral.

The Montreal Gazette speaks of the late Mr. Judge as follows:

"For many years resident in Montreal and closely associated with its commercial, religious and political affairs, Mr. Edgar Judge, senior partner of the Judge Grain Company, Board of Trade Building, passed away on Saturday night at the residence of his son, Rev. E. P. Judge, rector of St. Matthew's Church, 26 Macdonald avenue, Notre Dame de Grace. Mr. Judge, who was in his 90th year, had a very active career and although he had well passed the four-score mark, was until recently following his usual business routine. He had, however, not been in the best of health during the summer and a fortnight ago was confined to his home by the illness which culminated in his death.

"Mr. Edgar Judge was born in Bedfordshire, England, on July 20th, 1831 and was educated in England. He came to Montreal in 1855 and began business as a clerk in a commission house, shortly afterwards entering the firm of Oliver Gibbs & Co., as junior partner. Prior to his starting business on his own account in Montreal in 1870, he was interested in the publication at Toronto of The Echo and Protestant Episcopal Recorder, at that time organ of the Anglican Church in Ontario. After returning to Montreal he was for a time editor of The Saturday Reader and Trade Review. For many years he was a prominent member of the Montreal Board of Trade, serving both on the council and as treasurer, and of the Montreal Corn Exchange, of which body he was at one time president. At one time he was president of the Young Men's Reform Club, but in 1891 disagreed with the Liberal party on its policy of commercial union with the United States. He took a prominent part in the movement to promote good government in civic affairs and was an official of the Citizen's League and the Good Government Association. In 1862 he served as an ensign of sedentary militia. Throughout his life Mr. Judge was a devoted member of the Church of England and has on many occasions been a delegate to the synod. At the time of his death he was a member of the permanent comittee of the synod and was vice-president of the Montreal Diocesan Theological College.

"Mr. Judge was twice married, both wives predeceasing him. The first was Elizabeth Ann Porter, of Hayes, England, who died in 1898, and the second Catalina, daughter of Dr. Lewis of Illinois, at one time surgeon in the British Army at Jamaica. He had two sons by the first marriage, Rev. E. P. Judge, rector of St. Matthew's Church and Ralph Ernest in business in Minneapolis, Minn. The funeral will be held from his late residence, 26 Macdonald avenue, on Tuesday at one p.m. the service taking place in the Church of St. James the Apostle at two.

"The business of the Judge Grain Company will be carried on as heretofore by the surviving partners, George B. Jones and H. G. Wilkinson, under the active management of the latter."

SIBERIAN SHEEP FOR THE PEACE RIVER DISTRICT

N. E. Hansen, of Brooklea, South Dakota, is back from a summer's sojourn in the Peace River country, where he has been making investigations into the question of agriculture in northern climes.

He is sepcially interested in a new type of alfalfa clover which he has imported from Siberia and which can be sown with grains in the spring, yielding a paying crop the following year. This, it is claimed by Mr. Hansen, will supplant summer fallowing and will provide the soil with root matter which will overcome soil drifting.

Siberian sheep are another of Mr. Hansen's new ideas, and he believes they will stand the utmost rigors of a northern winter. What he has seen in the Peace River country has convinced this visitor that the top of Alberta is admirably suited to diversified agriculture and that some of the experiments he has been making with Siberian types will go a long way to solve the problem of northern farmer.

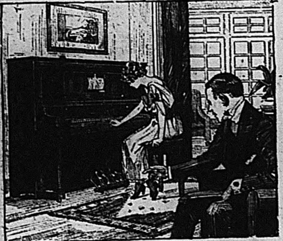
LINDSAY



A Good Player in Addition to a Good Piano

Many people still think the Player-Piano is some kind of mechanical device that grinds out tunes somewhat like the street piano or hurdy-gurdy. If you think THAT you are in error. The Player-Piano is two perfect musical instruments, combined, each of which is complete in itself. In the Lindsay Player-Piano, for instance, there is the Lindsay Player-Piano—an instrument which for beauty of tone, delicacy of touch and responsiveness of action, is the equal of any other Lindsay Piano (without the player-action). In addition there is a high-grade player-action, or player mechanism which, through the means of a perforated music-roll, gives you (the operator) the technical ability to play the piano as if you were an accomplished pianist.

We have prepared an interesting little booklet illustrating and explaining the various uses to which the Lindsay Player-Piano can be put. You may have a copy on request. Write, 'phone or call for a copy if interested.

MILLIONS OF ACRES RECLAIMED BY DRAINAGE

Since the inauguration of the drainage schemes in Manitoba approximately 3,200,000 acres of land have been brought under cultivation. This land was formerly useless from an agricultural standpoint. Fifty miles of dredge channels have been constructed this year costing $140,000. Thirty miles of these channels are in the Sparling district, and 20 miles in Morris municipality, southern Manitoba. They are constructed to take care of flood waters in the spring and also for draining marshes, and will assist materially in bringing waste land under cultivation. In the Sparling district alone 72 sections of land have been made available for cultivation. Cultivated land is relieved from the dan-

FRIENDS THREATEN DEATH HIS WHISKEY IS SO BAD

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Giving evidence in the case being tried here against J. A. Pesant and R. Ricci, accused of having secured $15,000 by false pretences in a bad whiskey deal with Detroit parties, J. Bostovitch, an intermediary in the deal, declared that on another occasion he had shipped 100 cases to friends in Windsor. The whiskey which had been bought by him from Pesant and Ricci as genuine proved so bad that his friends came to Montreal and threatened to kill him. He had refunded the purchase price, $6000 though he only got back $4000 from Pesant and Ricci who told him to take it and shut up.

Dublin, Nov. 8.—It is understood here that the resignation of the chief Inspector of the Royal Irish Constabulary, Sir Thoma Smith, was forced rather than voluntary. The members of the new organization are all to be former officers and soldiers of the British armies and to be highly disciplined.

VIENNA'S HOMELESS SEVENTY THOUSAND

A survey of housing just completed shows that 23,000 families, comprising about 70,000 persons, are virtually homeless in Vienna, so great is the shortage of living premises in spite of the requisitioning process that has been going on for a year.

These people are herded into passage ways, where often 15 to 20 persons sleep in places used for other purposes in the daytime or in the pleasant weather they sleep in parks. It is now proposed to permit them to erect shacks on available land throughout the city.

Wheat Prices Take Another Heavy Slump

Wave of Liquidation and Professional Selling Sweeps Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Wheat futures broke to new low levels for the season and closed at $1.84¼ to $1.81½ for December and $1.82 to $1.82¼ for March, declines of 5¾ to 6 cents and 5 cents respectively from previous finish. Bear pressure was heavy because of general depressing character of financial and business news. Lack of active export buying, continued poor flour trade and increase for the week of 3,850,000 bushels in the visible supply were also bearish influences. Cash wheat was 3 cents to 6 cents lower, with No. 1 red, 17 to 20 cents over December price and No. 1 hard 6 to 6½ cents over, the latter being off about 2 cents from Saturday..

Local receipts were estimated at 25 cars Minneapolis and Duluth had 721 cars, against 850 a week ago and 787 a year ago. Winnipeg received 961 against 719 last year.

FLOUR AT PRE-WAR PRICES

Flour went down to pre-war prices. In Minneapolis special patent brand dropped 80 cents a barrel, the price being $10 wholesale on carload lots. Chicago prices dropped 30 cents to $11 a barrel, and $11.35 delivered.

The enormous corn crop and lack of European demand is largely responsible for lower prices in foodstuffs or the cereal branch of foodstuffs. The corn crop this year amounts to 3,199,126,000 bushels and the quality is 7.7 per cent. higher than the average. Last year's crop was 2,197,450,000 bushels and nearly half of it remained upon the farms, due to lack of transportation facilities and other causes.

KEEP FRUIT UP

Of other crops, potatoes show an increase of nearly 1,000,000 bushels over last year. Sweet potatoes also show a gain of nearly 1,000,000 bushels. Buck wheat shows a decline of about 2,000,000. Apples that formerly retailed for five cents are still largely due to the close co-operation of the foreigners who practically control the retail fruit markets.

Sugar beets show a gain of more than 2,000,000 tons and tobacco fell off considerably, as compared with the production last year.

The quality of wheat, corn, oats and barley is considerably higher than last year. Iowa is the banner corn producing State with a total of 411,660,000 bushels and Illinois comes second with 302,634,000 bushels.

Kerry Band In Tight Place

Police Broke Through Ambush and Captured Several—Capture of Band Almost Certain

London, Nov. 10—Two Sinn Feiners were killed at Ardfert, Ireland, last night when police broke up an ambuscade, the Irish Office announced today.

Police learned the ambush was planned and had no difficulty in surprising the men as they lay in concealment. A supply of arms was taken. There were no police casualties.

The capture occurred at the neck of a peninsula between the River Shannon and Tralee Bay, where the Irish Office said a number of Sinn Feiners known as the "Kerry Band" had been surrounded with capture almost certain. The men were charged with participating in a number of attacks on police in County Kerry.

The Irish Office said it was impossible for some of the men to get through police lines but claimed most of them would be caught. It was indicated a number of destroyers were waiting off shore to cut off any escape by sea.

PLACER GOLD DEPOSITS FOUND IN RUSSIA

Discoveries of new goldfields in different parts of Russia are reported by a German trade Journal.

In Buchara (Afgah fnrontier) on the upper waters of the Amu-Darya and its tributaries, rich placer-gold deposits are reported to have been located and further successful prospecting has been made on the Safeti-Darya and Yatchan.

Placer-gold has also been discovered in the Ussuri district in the Imen Basin (Eastern Siberia).

In several other parts of Siberia prospectors have lately found not only placer-gold but rich gold-bearing quartz, say the reports.

Two Fishermen Drowned Off Salmon Point

BOAT FILLED AND SANK—FRANK DEMORE SWAM OVER A MILE TO SHORE—PICKED UP BY FARMER IN UNCONSCIOUS CONDITION.

PICTON, Nov. 10.—Leonard McKibbon and Everest Hineman, fishermen, were drowned off Salmon Point Tuesday morning. They and another fisherman, Frank Demore, all of the township of Athol, set out at daybreak to lift their nets. They had a big lift and had started for shore, when it is presumed the seas filled their boat and it sank. Demore swam 1½ miles with all his clothes on to shore, and was picked up unconscious by Charlton Metcalfe, a farmer, who was looking for colts. Metcalfe rushed Demore to a nearby farmhouse, where he was revived. Later McKibbon's body was washed ashore, Demore is still in such a condition that the details of the accident are meagre.

Butter Prices Said Too High

Ottawa Fears Cost to Consumer Artificially Kept up

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—Is butter due for a decline in prices?

In view of the large stocks on hand in the country and with exchange operating against sales to the British market, Government experts declare there is no reason why such high prices should be realized in Eastern cities.

It is stated that neither the farmer nor the wholesaler is getting the benefit of these high prices.. Quotations received here yesterday indicated that 52 cents a pound was being paid in Toronto for the highest grade of pasteurized butter, and 57 cents in Montreal. To the experts here it seems that the retail price is being artificially maintained in many cities.

Sales of Canadian butter to England are still made to the British Food Ministry which controls the buying. How exchange operates against Canadian butter is shown by the fact that the British price nets the New Zealand shipper 60 cents a pound. Keeping a good butter market is all the more important just now that condensed milk manufacturers have ceased because of the immense surpluses accumulated.

Produce men are urging the Government to use every effort to get the control system abolished in England as they believe it militates strongly against exports of Canadian butter.

Col. Gault's Fiancee Killed In Accident

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Kathleen Blackader who was shortly to marry Col. Hamilton Gault, formerly Commanding Officer of the Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry was killed yesterday while motoring with Col. Gault to the West Somerset foxhounds meeting. The motor car skidded and overturned. Col. Gault was not injured.

The accident occurred near Taunton. Mrs. Blackader was the widow of Capt. Gordon Blackader, late of the Royal Highlanders, Montreal. He was killed in action June, 1916. Col. Gault was divorced from his wife, who was Miss Marguerite Claire Stephens of Montreal, in Paris last year.

Lieut.-Col. Hamilton Gault came into international prominence at the beginning of the war, when he offered to raise and equip a regiment of veterans to be known as the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry. The regiment was formed in quick time, with Col. Farquhar, aide to the Duke of Connaught as commanding officer and Lieut.-Col. Gault (then Major) as second in command. Lieut.-Col. Gault was three times wounded and eventually one of his legs had to be amputated. He pluckily stayed with his regiment as far as possible. Accompanying it home, he had the proud honor of leading his veterans together with the famous colors embroidered by H. R. H. Princess Patricia, through the streets of Ottawa, back to Lansdowne Park, where the regiment mobilized. He was mentioned in despatches twice; won the D.S.O. in 1915 and the Order of St Anne of Russia, third class, 1915. He also served as subaltern in the Boer war. Lieut.-Col. Gault had many business interests in Montreal. He was born in England in 1882 and was a graduate of McGill University.

ADVOCATES GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF LIQUOR

Regina, Nov. 10.—The first voice in advocacy of Government control of liquor since the people of Saskatchewan voted dry was heard last night when Murdo Cameron M.P.P. for Saskatoon County, and Government supporter suggested the adoption of this course.

"Seriously," said Mr. Cameron, "I think that a particular duty rests on those who have no use for liquor in any shape or form, and that duty is to advocate and support measures that will control the use of liquor rather than prohibit it. To my mind there is nothing more humiliating than legislative enactment that cannot be enforced."

The speaker found some consolation in the fact that the recent vote would give the Province "home rule" in the matter of the liquor business. He stated that the trouble with the old Government dispensaries was that they were mismanaged, and he believed that the true solution lays in properly conducted Government dispensaries.

LOWEST IN FOUR YEARS

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Lowest prices in four years prevailed to-day for all options of wheat corn and oats on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The new prices represented declines or six to seven cents for wheat and two or three cents for corn and oats under yesterday's prices. Wheat was 33 to 39 cents lower today than it was a week ago, the corn quotations were less than one half what they were six months ago. The December option in wheat closed today at $1.77 to $1.78, December corn 78 cents and December oats 49 cents.

Coincident with the new low prices in wheat came announcement from Minneapolis millers of declines in family patents to new low points, the price dropping below $10 a barrel for the first time in nearly four years.

Calgary Welcomes Premier With Real Western Vigour

PREMIER ACCLAIMED IN THE FOOTHILLS — HON. MR. MEIGHEN REVIEWS POLICY OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AT CALGARY—RAILWAY PROPOSALS — INSPIRING ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY CANADA'S PRIME MINISTER.

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 9.—Premier Meighen addressed the mightiest and most enthusiastic audience of his Western tour here to-night. Calgary beyond any question is pro-Meighen in its sympathies and with characteristic Western vigor made its sympathy known in no uncertain manner. From the early forenoon hour, when the Premier's car arrived from Lethbridge he was the centre of crowds who sought to do him honor. At noon a non-partisan luncheon filled the great dining room of the Palliser Hotel, hundreds of people being unable to gain admittance. It was a gathering of the flower of this bustling young city's citizenship and the Prime Minister, as if inspired by the warmth of his welcome, delivered one of the most inspiring addresses of his tour. He did not touch upon controversial issues, but in simple, straightforward language reviewed the Government's record. To the railway question he paid particular attention and in respect of the Canadian Pacific Railway he made a declaration which was unquestionably intended to make clear the Government's policy in respect to nationalization of railways. After reviewing what he had done in connection with the nationalization of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk, Mr. Meighen said: "We are asked as to the future. We are asked if we are to embark still further upon the sea of nationalization, whether, in short, it is our policy to bring all the railways of the country under public ownership and control. Let me say that such is not our intention. The Canadian Pacific Railway, an institution which does credit to this country, constitutes a great rival, a necessary rival, as well as a model upon which we can fashion the national lines. And until such time as the National Railway can be brought to the splendid efficiency of the C.P.R. and for the present because of circumstances over which we have no control, that is impossible—the Government has no intention of interfering with the C.P.R."

Prolonged applause greeted this announcement of policy, for however much the West may learn toward State-ownership, Calgary is before everything else a C.P.R. town.

Marshal Foch's Attack On "Tiger", Amazes France

VICTORIOUS GENERAL SAYS ARMY OF MANOEUVRE DID NOT EXIST WHEN HE WAS APPOINTED—DECLARES CLEMENCEAU THROTTLED HIM.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Marshal Foch's attack on Clemenceau and his Government, replying to charges of Andre Tardieu, that the Commander-in-Chief concluded the Armistice too soon, is featured in the French press as the most important political development since the war.

The Matin carries under the signature of its Foreign Editor, Jules Sauerwein, more of Marshal Foch's revelations of his controversies with Clemenceau.

The newspaper quotes Foch as follows on the crisis in the last year of the war that brought Foch to the head of the United Allied armies:

"I remember the War Council which took place in London on March 14, 1918. I had been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Army of Manoeuvre, which did not as much as exist. At this Council I asked the English to collaborate in the formation of this army with me. Field Marshal Haig declared to me in the name of the British Government, which was represented notably by Premier Lloyd George, that this was impossible. I wanted to reply with vivacity. 'Keep still,' said Clemenceau, with vigor. 'I am here to reply in the name of the French Government, and I accept Field Marshal Haig's reply.' 'Wait till tomorrow,' I said to myself and I shall have something to say.'

"The next day when the Council was about to break up, I spoke, and no one stopped me. I told them that a formidable German offensive was in preparation. I added 'I know what the battle strengths of the Allied armies are. I have participated in them on the Marne and in Italy. This is what the liaisons should be. Here is the agreement we must come to. These are the precautions which must be taken. I have to inform you that nothing is ready to resist the offensive and that it may be a disaster..'

"This time they were moved, and a few days after, at Campiegne, then at Doullens, they remembered me.' At Doullens there were Lord Milner, Field Marshal Haig, Clemenceau, Loucheur and General Petain. 'I was in a bad humor. From everything I could learn General Petain was about to retire on Paris and Marshal Haig toward the sea. It meant the opening of the doors to the Germans; it meant defeat."

Appointment is Made.

"Field Marshal Haig, who was upheld by Lord Milner, said: 'We must have a responsible chief and unity of command.' I was proposed. 'We might,' said Clemenceau, 'give General Foch command of the armies operating around Amiens.' Field Marshal Haig was opposed to this and said there was only one sensible solution; that was to give me command of the armies on the western front. Clemenceau gave way and thus it was decided. At the dejeuner which followed Clemenceau said to me: 'Well, you now have got the position you wanted!' Here I rather lost my patience and replied: 'What, M. le President! You give me a lost battle and you ask me to save the situation. I accept and you consider that you are making me a gift. I need all my candeur to accept under such conditions.'"

The Matin comments that when Marshal Foch uses the word "candeur" he means complete personal disinterestedness.

Beside Minister Klotz.

The Matin tells how Foch went to the Versailles ceremony, when the Treaty was handed to the Germans, and found myself beside Minister of Finance Klotz. Foch describes the incident as follows:

"When the ceremony was over, I said to him: 'M. Minister of Finances of the French Republic, with such a Treaty as that you can present yourselves at the counter of the German Empire and you will be paid in monkey (false) money."

"Klotz answered acidly: 'That is not my custom. You will get used to it.'

"I replied: 'These were the people to whom I said, Make what peace you like; I will undertake to impose it.'"

Foch Interview is Blow.

The Foch interview came as a terrible blow to one of France's national heroes, whose feet of clay are becoming more visible since the day the French National Assembly rejected Clemenceau for President. Yet scarcely anyone realized the depth of the effort to which Clemenceau had put himself to obtain complete suppression of the author of the Allied victory. Yet so far did Clemenceau go in order to keep the name of Foch from the public that, it is said, on one occasion when journalists interviewed Foch, they were told to refer to him simply as "certain persons competent in military affairs."

Again, when Foch appeared before the French Cabinet, it is said French papers were absolutely forbidden to mention the fact. Clemenceau used the censorship ruthlessly when it suited him to do so. One paper consoled itself by printing "Foch was there."

Louis Barthou, formerly Premier, confirms the report of the scene in the Clemenceau Cabinet chamber when Foch was endeavoring to persuade Clemenceau to fire the guns at eleven o'clock on the morning of November 11. Clemenceau was declaring it would be time enough to fire them when he mounted the Tribune of the Chamber.

Barthou took Foch's side, declaring the Chamber was already sufficiently unpopular and it was unnecessary to make it more so by reserving the end of the war celebration to suit its convenience.

Tardieu Makes Reply.

On behalf of M. Clemenceau, Andre Tardieu today replied to Marshal Foch declaring that it was in fact Clemenceau who secured the supreme command for Foch and that Clemenceau was throughout the champion and defender of Foch, instead of his enemy.

M. Tardieu also reviewed at length Premier Clemenceau's course in the French Chamber, quoting speeches in which the Premier defended Marshal Foch against attacks and strongly supported his military policies.

Slayers Bury Loot In Grave After Murder

Chose Ground Covering Victim's Mother as Place of Concealment

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 10.—More than $10,000 was spent in five days for gay parties in Philadelphia by Raymond W. Schuck and Frank J. James after they killed and robbed David S. Paul, Camden bank messenger, according to Prosecutor Wolverton of Camden county who made public additional details of the alleged confessions of the two men. Wolverton announced that $4,600 of $40,000 in cash stolen from Paul was found in a bookcase at James' home in this city. The remainder, more than $30,000 was buried in two packages at the head and foot of the grave of Schuck's mother and has been recovered, the prosecutor said.

IN EVERGREEN CEMETERY

Schuck, according to the alleged confession, buried the money in Evergreen Cemetery on October 11 six days after he and James, riding with Paul in a motor car in Camden, killed the aged messenger in order to make a better financial showing among their friends.

"Getting the money from the grave," said Prosecutor Wolverton, "was one of the weirdest experiences I ever had. Schuck sat beside the man at the wheel of our motor car directing us where the money had been put, and for a moment we thought it was gone. Then we brought up two packages, one wrapped in a newspaper, the other in plain brown paper.

MISSED LITTLE FORTUNE

"When they buried the money they had sunk a flower pot over the place. Someone had dug up the flower pot, never dreaming that nearly $35,000 in cash rested beneath."

Prosecutor Wolverton said James Schuck who is locked up in Burlington county jail, would be brought to trial in Camden, as it had been established that all the blows which killed the messenger had been struck in this county.

The men will probably be removed to the Camden prison to-morrow, he added. Both prisoners are married. James, who is 37 years old, was a motor car salesman. Schuck is 32 and was supervisor for a telephone company here.

MORE BUSINESS

The Weed Harvester Machine Co., Ltd., of this city are installing more electric welding machinery. One of the representatives of this company took a demonstrating machine in field competition at Winnipeg, October 30th and while they were beaten on packing the soil by a machine twice the weight covering less surface, the Weed Harvester showed its superiority for levelling the land and mulching a fine seed bed and it had no competitor for rolling up and discharging quack automatically. The demonstrating machine was sold for spot cash and a carload of Weed Harvesters ordered for February shipment which means more business for Belleville.

POLITICS FORGOTTEN

A Moose Jaw paper referring to the official visit to that place of Grand First Principal of the Grand Chapter of Canada, Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton, of Belleville, stated it was an event of first importance in Masonic circles in that part of the country and every Chapter but one in the district was represented. A feature of the gathering was the presence of Hon. Mr. Meighen, Premier of Canada and his colleague, Hon. Mr. Calder both of whom made inspiring addresses. The Moose Jaw paper commenting upon the gathering said: "Attention has often been directed to Masonry as one of the most important agencies for allaying political animosities and prejudices and the meeting suggested that its work in this direction was still in progress. Men of all shades of political opinion sat in good fellowship with political leaders from whom many of them differed, and listened with great interest while they discussed important subjects which lay outside the realm of party politics."

PROCLAMATION! ARMSTICE DAY

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11th, 1920

W. B. Riggs, Esq., Mayor of the City of Belleville.

Whereas His Majesty the King has asked that an opportunity be provided for the people of every part of the British Empire on the second anniversary of the armistice, which stayed the world-wide carnage of the four preceeding years and marked the victory of right, justice and freedom, to perpetuate the memory of that great deliverance and of those who laid down their lives to achieve it.

His Majesty, therefore, requests that there may be on Armistice Day, for the brief space of two minutes, a complete suspension of all normal activities, so that in perfect stillness the prayers and thoughts of everyone may be concentrated on reverent remembrance of the glorious dead and of the victory by God's grace vouchsafed to the Empire and its devoted Allies.

I, therefore, in compliance with the wishes of His Majesty the King, do request that, at the hour of 11 o'clock a.m., on THURSDAY, THE 11TH INSTANT, all business and domestic activities of every description should cease for a period of TWO MINUTES.

It is further specially desired that flags be flown throughout the city in honor of the day.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused this proclamation to be made public.

W. B. RIGGS, Mayor.

Belleville, Nov. 10th, 1920.

GOD SAVE THE KING

ANTON BERNICK, of St. Paul, Minn., who says he now eats better, sleeps better and works better, as a result of taking Tanlac. Says all his friends are talking about his improvement.

"There must be something wonderful about Tanlac for it has made me feel better, eat better, sleep better and work better," said Anton Bernick, 136 East Congress Street, St. Paul, Minn., a well known employee of Swift & Company.

"Tanlac has helped me so much that all my friends are stopping me on the street and asking me what it is that is making me look so well, and of course I am always glad to tell them it is Tanlac. I hadn't been down sick in bed exactly, but I hadn't felt just right for a long time. I was all run down, had indigestion, my appetite was poor and nothing agreed with me. In fact, I had to force down every mouthful I would eat and I would always suffer from indigestion for an hour or so after every meal. I also had headaches and would get so dizzy at times I could hardly keep from falling. I simply had no ambition or energy to do anything.

"Just as I have already said, Tanlac has made a brand-new man of me and I am feeling fine now in every way. Of course I will always recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading Druggists in every town.

Star Course Concert Very Pleasing

One of the best of the many first-class entertainments given the past few seasons in connection with the Y.M.C.A. Star courses was that of last evening given by the Martion-Vitali Podolsky, Peraval concert campany. Podolsky, Peraval concert company, some time enjoyed an enviable reputation which he is justly entitled to. He is an artist of wonderful ability and never fails to charm his hearers For years he was a student of the great master Auer, which is of itself a tribute to his abilities. His selections upon the violin were highly enjoyed by the audience which filled the auditorium. Miss Josephine Martino as a dramatic soprano possessed of a rich melodious voice which was heard to advantage in the numbers she rendered. Miss Martino's voice is one of intrinsic sweetness and beauty, a voice of remarkable range and power—truly a voice that lingers in the memory of her hearers. She has a remarkable technique and sings at all times with delightful ease and confidence. Miss Percival was accompanist and is a talented musician who plays with wonderful skill and remarkable sympathy. She is indeed a fitting assistant to the two above artists. All the numbers rendered were heartily encored which was an evidence that the audience appreciated the selections given. The program was as follows:

(What the Press Agents Say)

Those everlasting comics, "Bringing Up Father" created by George McManus and published in the leading newspapers throughout the country will be the attraction at Griffin's next Tuesday, November 16th, for one night only. This season's offerings bears the happy title of "Bringing Up Father at the Seashore," and from all advance accounts will more than help to ingratiate the popular characters of Jiggs Mahoney, Maggie and the rest of the Mahoney clan into the hearts of the public. This new play is said to be the best of the "Father" series offered heretofore. It serves to humorously recount the sidesplitting adventures of the Mahoney clan at the seashore. The management promises a splendid cast of musical comedy favorites and a wonder chorus of young misses who are sweet singers and graceful dancers.

VAUDEVILLE AT GRIFFIN'S

Presumably taking a hint from the song, everyone is looking out for 'Alias Jimmy Valentine.' In this is Metro's screen version of the famous Paul Armstrong's internationally famous crook drama with Bert Lytell the star, and it is due at Griffin's to-morrow where it will be shown till Saturday with a matinee Saturday. As may be recalled Jimmy Valentine is a prisoner in Sing Sing on a charge of bank robbery and has earned the enmity of the brutal warden because he always "plays the gentleman." Jimmy has the reputation of being a master cracksman who opens safes without burglar's implements, relying upon his extremely sensitive touch to feel the slight jar of the tumblers in the combinations of safes. What followed—the effect of Jimmy's reputation and the possession of this skill on his after life forms one of the most thrilling, breath catching melodramas ever written. A brilliant cast headed by beautiful Viola Vale supports Mr. Lyttel in the photodrama.

The closing chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial, Larry Semon in a highly amusing 2-reel comedy, "The Stage Hand," and a Travelogue will also be shown in addition to the feature offering.

A treat for music lovers is in store on the same program when the Virginia Girls, a singing orchestra comprising 6 talented girls will form the vaudeville portion of the program, offering a brilliant program of music, wit, humor and song. The Griffin Management guarantee this attraction to their patrons and is in keeping with their policy to offer from time to time vaudeville turns of real merit.

With such an excellent program arranged for presentation at the popular playhouse this week end seats will be at a premium and it will be wise to come early.

Deanery Discusses Church Problems

The semi-annual meeting of Chapter of the Rural Deanery of Hastings was held at Tweed on Wednesday last, 3rd November. The business sessions were held in the Rectory. After the regular business of the meeting, an excellent paper was read by the Reverend Mr. Robbins on "The Problems of Church Work in the Parish." After the paper had been read it was thoroughly discussed by all present, to the mutual benefit of all.

Nearly all the members came by motors. Those from Belleville called at Roslin Rectory for the Rev. Mr. Davis and were entertained at lunch by Mrs. Davis in her usual charming manner. At the close of the afternoon sessions all were invited to supper at the Rectory where they were most happily entertained by Mrs. Smart.

At eight o'clock a very hearty service was held in St. James' Church at which Rev. Mr. Davis, the very successful rector of Roslin preached an earnest sermon from St. John 1 Chapt. 8 Verse. The next meeting of the Chapter will be held in Christ Church parish, Belleville.

PUNGENT DRUG WAS RELEASED FROM CANDY

Bridgeburg, Nov. 10.—With the fining of two men who gave various addresses to the police here, and their deportation to the States, Bridgeburg believes it has a mystery. The two men had been in town for several days, presenting a suspicious appearance. They sought information from Manager E. S. R. Youngs of the Molsons Bank here in regard to getting $15,000 transferred from Winnipeg. The sum was fictitious however, as it was found on investigation that there was no such sum on deposit there.

They became intimate with young women clerks at the Bridgeburg and Welland County Telephone Exchange and presented them with candy. Last night Gertrude Busby of Bridgeburg, one of the clerks, and Dolly Ott, another, both became ill. They did not eat the candy, but declared that a drug of a pungent odour was released in the room.

The two men, who, it is believed gave aliases, said their names were W. M. Dax and Rupert Sopher. The Buffalo police were requested, when they were deported after being fined in the court here on a technical charge, to look up their records.

PROHIBITION PATROL AT NIAGARA BORDER

Buffalo, Nov. 9.—In an attempt to stop the continual flow of liquor into Buffalo from Pennsylvania and Canada, as well as to check the flow from this city to other Western cities, a prohibition patrol will be established in this district, according to Edwin Waters, chief Prohibition Enforcement Agent.

The patrol will be stationed along all the roads leading into Buffalo from Pennsylvania points, and every suspicious car will be investigated. A rigid guard is to be placed along the entire length of Niagar River from its source to a point below Lewiston. Prohibition Enforcement Agents will supplement the force of Customs men now examining baggage and persons entering the United States.

Mr. Water expects to put the plan into operation as soon as additional men arrive from New York.

Good Judgement After Eating

Giving the Stomach the Alkaline Effect by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet is Worth Remembering

You cannot as a rule, say in advance that this, that or the other food will cause indigestion. Experience has taught most people that even mince pie fits snugly at times while at others a glass of milk raises hobs with the stomach.

One good rule to follow is the preventative measure of taking one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. You thus avoid gassiness, sour stomach, heartburn and such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. These tablets also help to digest the food by giving the stomach the alkaline effect to offset acidity; they relieve the distress when the mince pie or milk should be more than a match for your digestive powers. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and note how nicely they seem to calm the stomach when it feels all upset.

MADE BRAVE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Half-Breed Sailor, Wrecked Off Philippines, Simply Determined He Would Not Die.

Among the crew of the Poigat, a ship that foundered off Malabon, in the Philippines, was a half-breed sailor named Alejandro Lorenzo. In the moment of the ship's sinking he was agile enough, and lucky enough, to leap clear of the wreck and escape the deadly suction of the disappearing vessel. He was alive and uninjured, but he was many miles from shore, and there was no help in sight.

After swimming for an hour he found a hatch cover on which he rested. Then pushing the hatch cover ahead, he started for San Nicolas. He was just reaching shallow water when the tide carried him out to sea again.

As night came on the wind increased and the waves tossed him and his hatch cover back and forth till he was almost exhausted, being washed toward the Cavite shore. For several hours he drifted in, but just as his hope grew strong the tide and wind swept him in spite of his struggles once more out to sea.

Something brushed against his leg. He thought that it was a shark and screamed in fear. "It did not touch me, or I should have gone mad," he said. The water was cold, the night was dark and the rain beat down on him. He heard a cry in the darkness, and pushed his hatch cover in the direction whence the sound came. He found a Filipino boy, another survivor of the wreck, clinging to an oil box. They drifted together.

When daylight came they could see boats, but could not make themselves heard or seen. They were tortured by thirst, salt water got into their mouths, they drifted all day.

Night came again. Soon after dark they saw the lights of a breakwater, and with new hopes noticed that the lights grew larger and more distinct. They were being washed toward the shore. But the boy could not hold out. Taken with cramps, he lost his hold on the oil box and went down. The man was washed into the middle of the bay and drifted all night.

At dawn he was almost ready to give up, but the wind and waves headed him for the shore and he took heart. Then he saw boats and used his last strength in trying to reach them. The boatmen saw him, were able to get to him in time and picked him out of the water. There was not much of the man left, and shrieking for water, he collapsed in the bottom of the boat.

As he lay on a pallet, after he found himself able to talk again, his rescuers spoke of his wonderful endurance. Alejandro in reply said that, of course, he had done the best he could. He wanted to live, he said.—New York Herald.

Double Performers.

The other night Mrs. Carrie B. Adams, leader of Terre Haute's community singing, and Maj. Birch Bayh, of the Indiana State Normal school, were on the same program. Now, Mrs. Adams did not know that Major Bayh was the speaker of the evening, but she did know that he could sing. So when the audience seemed rather tired she turned to Mr. Bayh and said: "You sing the next verse as a solo."

Major Bayh seemed embarrassed, but complied with her request. Hardly had he taken his seat when his speech was announced. He arose, greeted his audience and then turned to Mrs. Adams: "Now, before I get through I'm going to call on you to play 'ring-around-the-rosy,' or do some stunt out here on the floor," he threatened.

The audience laughed, but Mrs. Adams was evidently bluffed, for she immediately found it necessary to go in search of her coat.—Indianapolis News.

Mixed Relationship.

Here is a double marriage at Salem, Ore., in which one bridegroom is both father-in-law and stepfather to the other, while the other becomes both son-in-law and stepson. The doors of the county clerk's office were just closing when two men appeared and asked if it were possible to obtain marriage licenses at so late an hour.

Upon being assured that a license could be issued, August Kluge, aged fifty-four, and a carpenter by trade, produced the necessary physical certificate and received a license to marry Mrs. C. K. Kayser, forty-five of this city.

Mr. Kayser's mother is the prospective bride of Mr. Kluge, so the couples probably will have no little trouble in trying to decide their relationship to each other.—St. Louis Republic.

Untidy Streets.

The New York Merchants' association has an antilitter bureau, that is now engaged in a campaign against dirty streets. The cost of cleaning up the refuse that should have been dropped into the very convenient containers, but is just dropped in the street instead, is enormous. School children are reported as serious offenders, for they bring paper from the schoolroom and tear and scatter it upon the streets. That isn't patriotic—not a bit.

Trademark, as It Were.

Walford wanted to go to his Aunt Addie, but had a dirty face.

His mother said: "If Aunt Addie has company she would be ashamed of you with such a dirty face."

"Oh, no, she wouldn't; she would just say 'This is one of Margaret's boys.'"

"'You are beginning to slump physically,' I said to the face in the mirror."

"THE enormous strain of the war years had had its effects on me as on many thousands of men and women throughout the land.

"The excitement of business emergencies kept me so busy that I did not notice that I was losing out until one day when looking in a mirror I suddenly realized my condition. I could see then that I was rapidly approaching a nervous breakdown.

"About that time a friend of mine told me about what a large proportion of life insurance applications were being turned down because of physical disabilities resulting from the tense nervous strain of recent years.

"What was I to do?

"Well, my wife had noticed me being nervous and worried and had been at me for some time to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I had always been pretty well and had not much faith in medicine, but since I realized the serious condition of my system I decided to give it a try-out.

"During the first week I could not see much improvement, and was getting rather discouraged. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Everything worried me so that I was continually nervous and irritable. But my wife saw to it that I did not miss my regular dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the second week I began to sleep better and to feel more cheerful.

"From that time on this restorative treatment seemed to build me right up. Of course I had a bad day occasionally when I felt down-hearted and irritable but that goes with nervous trouble, and I could see that the progress was steady toward better health.

"I know now that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food saved me from a nervous breakdown. I used to think it was more for women, but now I can vouch for it as a nerve restorative for men as well as women.

"There must be many thousands of men and women in this country who are in just such a serious condition as I was, and who can benefit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Be sure to look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy.

HUNS FAILED TO FRIGHTEN

LONDON THEATRE-GOERS.

Interesting and unusual was the program used for the Belleville production of "The Law Divine," being a reprint of the one used in London, where the play was produced during the war. The following paragraph indicates that Londoners were not deterred from visiting the theatre by fear of Hun air raids:

> Under arrangements approved by the Commissioner of Police, the Audience will be informed when an Air Raid is impending, and also to give any Naval or Military Officers, whose duty requires them to go to their posts, the opportunity of immediately leaving the theatre for this purpose. This will be indicated by turning up the Electrolier in the Auditorium for the space of one minute. Should the warning be received during an interval an announcement will be made from the stage. The "All Clear" notice will be indicated by the bugle call.

ENJOY LIFE—

ENJOY YOUR JOB.

Your job is a tremendous part of your life. Not only does it directly consume one-third of your life each business day, but also with its three hours over the eight at your desk to cover travel to and fro, and luncheon, eleven out of sixteen waking hours are absorbed.

To enjoy life is, therefore, to enjoy your job. Work is not designed merely to bring in money that one may enjoy life when the day's work at the office is over. Work is requisement for enjoyment. It remains a joy when so-called pleasures cloy and pall. For these are three things essential to enjoyment—contrast, contest and suspense.

Analyze your favorite sport, your favorite play or your favorite book. In each you will find contrast, contest and suspense. Contrast is the outstanding factor in your morning plunge. Contest with conditions, with competitors, with yourself is the element that makes business the keenest of games. Suspense is the element that keys one up to appreciation. Anticipation is a mild form of suspense.

Your job molds you, even as you mold your job. It is inevitably what your power is to make it.—From The World's Markets, published by R. G. Dun & Co.

THE WOMEN FAILED

TO RESPOND.

During the presidential campaign in the United States Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and other prominent women signed an appeal to their sister voters, saying:

> We ask you in the name of humanity, in the name of your devotion to fathers, husbands, sons, whose present and future welfare is at stake, to keep faith with "those who sleep in Flanders fields." They made the supreme sacrifice to abolish war, to help establish permanent peace. . . . The chance has come to meet a pressing obligation. This is no ordinary campaign. The new women voters are seeking a way to show their power and true purpose. This best can be done by voting and working for Governor Cox and the League.

If one half of the 26,000,000 enfranchised women had responded to this appeal to meet "a pressing moral obligation" Mr. Cox would have been elected. Instead of that they even allowed Tennessee, whose legislature endorsed the woman suffrage constitutional amendment at Mr. Cox's earnest solicitation, and enabled the women to vote last Tuesday, to be torn from its traditional Democratic moorings and cast into the strange sea of Republicanism. Oh, woman, in thy hours of strife, do not neglect to drive home the knife.

Two Canadian soldiers and two others fought for the privilege of representing the electors of Northeast Toronto in the Legislature, fought with newspapers, talk and ballots. There was not much of a fight outside of the military candidates, and after the battle the vanquished candidate sought out his victorious rival, shook hands with him and congratulated him. That's the spirit which made the Canadian army the best spear-head on the western front.

OTHER VIEWS

A DEFINITION OF BOLSHEVISM

Winnipeg Free Press

The most deadly and inveterate opponents of Bolshevism are Socialists writers, who realize that the practical results of the collossal failure of Lenine and Trotsky must be to set back the Socialist cause for decades; since the world at large, not given to make distinctions, will not distinguish between Communism of Moscow and the Socialism of the intellectuals. It is John Spargo, a distinguished Socialist, who gives this bitter telling definition of Bolshevism: "Promising plenty it gives only famine; promising freedom it gives only fetters; promising love it gives only hate; promising order it gives only chaos; promising righteous and just government it gives only corrupt despotism; promising fraternity it gives only fratricide."

THE PRIMA DONNA

Manchester Guardian

Amongst musicians a story is told of the meeting at a musical party of Jenny Lind in her retirement, when she had become Mme. Goldschmidt, and the rising cantatrice Adelina Patti. After Patti had sung most brilliantly, Mme. Goldschmidt approached her, and after generous praise of her performance, added a few words of gentle criticism of some point. "You will not mind my telling you this, my dear," she concluded, "when I tell you that I am Jenny Lind." "Oh, yes," said the spoiled prima donna, tossing her head, "I've heard my grandmother speak of you!"

VINDICTIVE

Guelph Herald

"Near Beer" comes in for Rev. Ben Spence's condemnation and those who are compelled to drink it would feel happy if Mr. Spence was condemned to drink a gallon of it every day of his life.

POETS' CORNER

SUNSET

The dusky garments of the Night
Are starred with jewels so dazzling bright
That as she lets her mantle fall,
Poor banished day is held in thrall,
And, disobeying God's command
That darkness shall possess the land,
She hesitates, with finger-tips
In wonder on her parted lips;
Then, filled with feverish unrest
For fear that Earth should love Night best,
Shakes out her skirts of glowing dyes
And for an instant fills the skies
With bright hues of rainbow brilliance—bright
As birds of paradise in flight.
Thus, having satisfied her whim,
Smiling she sinks below the rim,
And leaves the peaceful Night to close
Earth's burning eyes in soft repose.

—D. Parry Thomas, in Chamber's Journal.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Enough on That Head

As you say, Roger, the bald truth is something you can't split hairs over.

We've Noticed

It makes some men feel painfully honest when their neighbors acquire fortunes by dishonest methods.

Isn't it Soul Satisfying To—

Hear a tire go bluey and think it your own, but discover it was a tire on the car behind.

Fly Away!

Two leaves on the tip of the maple still—
Fly away, Jack!
Fly away Jill!

That's what the wind
sings 'round the hill—
Fly away, Jack!
Fly away, Jill!

They look like swallows
Caught by their toes
Beating the air
At the sweet wind's will—
Fly away, Jack!
Fly away, Jill!

—Jeannette Derby, New York Sun

Heard it all Right

Sternly the prosecuting counsel cross-examined the witness for the defence. At last the latter got so confused that instead of replying audibly to one question, he nodded his head.

Whereupon the counsel demanded sternly:

"Why don't you answer the question?"

"I did answer it," the witness replied: "I nodded my head."

"Yes," was the retort, "I heard it rattle, but could not tell whether it was up or down or from side to side."

Diplomacy is the art of getting what you want by pretending you don't want it.

POISON LIKE UNTO VENOM OF SNAKES

Professor H. Strauss, M. D., of the Royal Charity Hospital, says, "The cause for an attack of gout, rheumatism, lumbago, is supplied by the increase of uric acid in the blood serum, the result of various causes, the most frequent of which is renal. Before an attack, one suffers sometimes from headache, neuralgia, twinges of pain here and there."

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, when the back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you have rheumatic pains or lumbago, gout, sciatica, obtain at your nearest drug store "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid).

This is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. "Anuric" is an antidote for this uric acid poisoning and dissolves uric acid in the body much as hot coffee dissolves sugar.

"Anuric" will penetrate into the joints and muscles, and dissolve the poisonous accumulations. It will stamp out toxins.

Montreal, Que.:—"I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) enough for what it has done for me. For three months I was under the doctor's care and got no better. I was always complaining of my kidneys. I did not know what to do. I read about Anuric and made up my mind to try it. I have taken two boxes and don't complain any more. I have gained in weight and am still gaining. My appetite is great and sleep has come to me. That is what the Anuric Tablets have done for me. I do truly recommend them to those who are suffering the way I did. The tablets are mighty good, though not expensive. Easy to buy, but hard to beat."—T. A. BROWN, 388 Dorchester St. W.

Forward Once Again
in the Cause of Humanity

Study this map. Typhus has seized on these war-weakened nations. A terrible dearth of doctors, nurses and medical supplies makes them an easy prey. They are dying like flies. Their resources at an end, there is no hope for these peoples save from outside.

The British Empire War Relief Fund has been organized under the patronage of His Majesty the King to raise funds to combat world-threatening plagues and distress in these stricken areas.

The fund will be administered in Europe in co-operation with the League of Red Cross Societies.

Every dollar will be made to count.

Canada's achievements in the war must not be dimmed by laggard support here.

This is a call to common effort for humanity that the Empire sends forth to all its peoples.

Canada can only give one answer.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

And when, at last, he found it, he clasped it to him and sank back sobbing and exhausted. For many minutes he lay trembling and broken; but finally he drew himself to a sitting posture, and with the light he found it easier to regain control of his nerves, and presently he was again making his way along the tunnel in search of an avenue of escape. The horrid cry that had come down to him from above through the ancient well-shaft still haunted him, so that he trembled in terror at even the sounds of his own cautious advance.

A long, dark corridor showed before him, but before he had followed it far, his candle burned down until it scorched his fingers. With an oath he dropped it to the floor, where it sputtered for a moment and went out.

Slowly he groped his way along feeling with his hands upon the tunnel's walls, and cautiously with his feet ahead of him upon the floor before he would take a single forward step. How long he crept on thus he could not guess; but at last, feeling that the tunnel's length was interminable, and exhausted by his efforts, by terror, and loss of sleep, he determined to lie down and rest before proceeding farther.

When he awoke there was no change in the surrounding blackness. He might have slept a second or a day—he could not know; but that he had slept for some time was attested by the fact that he felt refreshed and hungry.

Again he commenced his groping advance; but this time he had gone but a short distance when he emerged into a room, which was lighted through an opening in the ceiling, from which a flight of concrete steps led downward to the floor of the chamber.

Above him, through the aperture, Werper could see sunlight glancing from massive columns, which were twined about by clinging vines. He listened; but he heard no sound.

Boldly he ascended the stairway, to find himself in a circular court. Just before him stood a stone altar, stained with rusty-brown discolorations. At the time Werper gave no thought to an explanation of these stains—later their origin became all too hideously apparent to him.

Besides the opening in the floor, just behind the altar, through which he had entered the court from the subterranean chamber below, the Belgian discovered several doors leading from the inclosure upon the level of the floor. Above, and circling the courtyard, was a series of open balconies. Werper felt relieved. He sighed, as though a great weight had been lifted from his shoulders. He took a step toward one of the exits, and then he halted, wide-eyed in astonishment and terror, for almost at the same instant a dozen doors opened in the courtyard wall and a horde of frightful men rushed in upon him.

They were the priests of the Flaming God of Opar—the same shaggy, knotted, hideous little men who had dragged Jane Clayton to the sacrificial altar at this very spot years before. Their long arms, their short and crooked legs, their close-set, evil eyes and their low, receding foreheads gave them a bestial appearance that sent a qualm of paralyzing fright through the shaken nerves of the Belgian.

With a scream he turned to flee back into the lesser terrors of the gloomy corridors and apartments from which he had just emerged, but the frightful men anticipated his intentions. They blocked the way; they seized him, and though he fell, groveling upon his knees before them, begging for his life they bound him and hurled him to the floor of the inner temple.

The priestesses came, and with them La, the high priestess. Werper was raised and laid across the altar. Cold sweat exuded from his every pore as La raised the cruel, sacrificial knife above him. The death chant fell upon his tortured ears. His staring eyes wandered to the golden goblets from which the hideous votaries would soon quench their inhuman thirst in his own, warm life-blood.

He wished that he might be granted the brief respite of unconsciousness before the final plunge of the keen blade—and then there was a frightful roar that sounded almost in his ears. The high priestess lowered her dagger. Her eyes went wide in horror. The priestesses, her votaresses, screamed and fled madly toward the exits. The priests roared out their rage and terror according to the temper of their courage. Werper strained his neck about to catch a sight of the cause of their panic, and when at last he saw it, he too went cold in dread, for what his eyes beheld was the figure of a huge lion standing in the center of the temple, and already a single victim lay mangled beneath his cruel paws.

Again the lord of the wilderness roared, turning his baleful gaze upon the altar. La staggered forward, reeled, and fell across Werper in a swoon.

INTERNATIONAL LACROSSE PROFESSIONAL LEAGUE

Organization of an international professional lacrosse league of clubs from Vancouver and Seattle is being planned for next year. One lacrosse league, already operating, will play the champions of the new organization for the Western title.

Billy Fitzgerald, it is reported, has been signed as playing manager for the Seattle team. Several years ago he was considered the fastest fielder in the game. In 1911 he was the star of the Vancouver Minto Cup team.

Con Jones, Vancouver sports promoter, is backing the new league and has contracted for a new park for the games.

Arrangements are being made to bring the Shamrocks of Montreal, to the coast for a three-game series next May.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES.

The Lord Bishop of Ontario visited Roslin parish on Monday, 8th inst., to administer the sacred and apostolic Rite of Confirmation. The Rev. Mr. Davies, who has been doing earnest and faithful work in this section, presented a goodly class of candidates to the Bishop, who addressed them most solemnly and impressively before laying on of hands. His Lordship also officially inducted the Rev. Mr. Davies as Rector of the parish. The sacred edifice was crowded from chancel to porch, the gallery also being filled. The choir ably assisted in the service. The Bishop was assisted by the Rector, the Rev. G. W. Swayne, Rev. A. E. Smart, and Rev. A. L. Geen.

PLEASANT EVENING

One of those happy functions that illumine the pathway of life and furnish pleasant reminiscences in the days that are to be, took place Tuesday evening when the members of the Jubilee Mission Circle in connection with Bridge Street Church, to the number of twenty-seven, assembled at the home of their Honorary President, Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn, for the regular monthly meeting. Promptly at 6.30 dainty and wholesome refreshments were served, after which the usual business matters were dealt with, followed by an inspiring, elevating and instructive program. The expression of the Circle was voiced in a vote of thanks to the hostess, who had so kindly welcomed the members to her home and made the evening so pleasant by her usual hospitable manner. Mrs. O'Flynn, in neatly framed remarks, thanked the ladies for their kindness and was pleased to be the Honrary President of such a noble band working for the cause of right and the uplift of Mankind; she regretted not having been able, on account of various war-necessitated and other duties, to thus entertain the Circle previously and expressed the wish that again they might meet together at her home in this social way. The Mizpah benediction brought to a close one of the best and most profitable evenings of the Circle.

RAN A RINGER ON BOXING FANS

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—William H. Rocap, sporting editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, gave his version of the controversy over the responsibility for the substitution of Billy Ganon, a local boxer, for Frankie Burns, of San Francisco, last Friday night at Toronto. Rocap declares that he himself wired to Lou Marsh of Toronto, who promoted the fight, on Friday at noon that Ganon was being substituted for Burns by Nate Smith, the Philadelphia manager.

Wouldn't be "Goat"

"Nate Smith, Philadelphia sportsman, run down by Secretary Fitzgerald, of the Ontario Boxing Commisson, turned on his accuser yesterday afternoon," says Rocap's story, "and refusing to be the goat, made the matchmaker of a Toronto club the target.

After reviewing the preliminary negotiations for the fight between Marsh and Smith, Rocap says that Smith received a message from Burns on November 2, stating that he could not fight because of an infected toe, and declares the Philadelphia manager immediately communicated that fact by wire to Matchmaker Marsh, who replied "get capable substitute and come at once." On his arrval in Toronto Smith was met by Marsh who said, according to Smith's story, "we have advertised Burns and will continue to do so."

On November 4 Rocap received a wire from the Ontario boxing commision inquiring regarding Burns. At noon the following day, after having investigated, he declared he sent the following wire to Marsh: "Smith left Philadelphia with Billy Ganon, a south paw, who is not a good match for Valgar."

Smith's Defence

A similiar despatch was sent to the boxing commission. Smith's defence is that he was an innocent party to the fiasco.

"Marsh was the matchmaker and promoter," he declared.

"He asumed all responsibility. Gannon and I were hired and we had to obey orders. Had I known that the commmission was being deceived we could have demanded our money before going into the ring or there would have been no contest. At 7-45 on the night of the bout, the commission handed me a license card which bore the name of Frankie Burns.

I then felt we were fully protected." The Conference will for letmble aas

Roumania Needs Canadian Nurses

Interesting Address by Madame Pantazzi on War Experiences in Roumania and Russia

Within the past few days a party of trained nurses left Montreal for Roumania where they will practise their profession and bring hope and comfort to many sufferers from hunger and disease in a country where doctors are few and trained nurses almost unknown, and where war had exacted a fearful toll in suffering and death.

The organization of this brave band of Canadian nurses is the result of the efforts of Madame Pantazzi a Canadian resident of Roumania, who passed through the horrors of the war and is now engaged in the noble work of securing nurses and medical assistance to meet the great needs of Roumania.

Madame Pantazzi addressed the members of the Belleville Women's Canadian Club Tuesday evening in St. Thomas Church Parish Hall and her recital of experiences in Roumania and Russia during the war was intensely interesting and thrilling. Decision to enter the war on the side of the Allies was taken at four o'clock in the afternoon at Bucharest and at nine o'clock at night a Zeppelin raid was made on the city followed daily and nightly air raids, which caused much destruction of property and loss of life. In one raid before the people learned to take shelter four hundred lives were lost mostly women and children. Madame Pantazzi's own residence was struck by a bomb and the bed she had left but a few moments previously upon hearing the alarm given was buried in a mass of debris. The flight from Bucharest to Jassy before the invaders was graphically described and the hardships experienced in the crowded city of refuge which the speaker said could be called in truth "The City of Dreadful Night" were told, followed by experiences in Russia with the Bolsheviki, and the splendid services rendered by Col. Boyle, of Woodstock, a man absolutely without fear and possessed of great initiative and dominating personality.

Including casualties from hunger and disease the war was responsible for one million deaths in Roumania and conditions there now are deplorable. In Bessarabia there is an average of one doctor for every 150,000 people and nurses are unknown. The Queen of Roumania is greatly interested in the mission of Madame Pantazzi and has given a house with forty rooms to be used as headquarters for the nurses at Bucharest. The first party of nurses which left Montreal recently will be in Bucharest within two weeks.

Mrs. S. D. Lazier occupied the chair in a very capable manner and at the close of the addres a collection was taken up in aid of the work.

Thrilling Western Drama Screened

Tom Mix Scores Hit In His Latest Screen Drama, "3 Gold Coins"

Griffin's Opera House is showing a remarkable Western picture of blood-stirring incidents the first three days this week, Tom Mix, "daredevil of the screen" having opened in his latest William Fox production, "3 Gold Coins," Tuesday night before an audience that taxed the house to its capacity.

"3 Gold Coins" was written for Tom Mix by that prominent writer of magazine stories, H. H. VanLoan, and the action, there's plenty of it—enables the "daredevil" to inject into it all the breath-taking stunts which he alone can accomplish. Mix plays two roles, the hero and the "bad man," and in each he performs feats that would appear in advance to be impossible. This is unquestionably Mix's best stunt performing production to date.

Briefly the story has to do with the underhand work of a pair of oil land crooks, who succeed in taking Bob Fleming, played by Mix, into their swindling scheme, Bob discovers the plot after he has been arrested for stealing the stockholder's money and also on a charge of being "Bad Pat" Duncan, a bandit-murderer. Then he starts something. In escaping from the court room after having been found guilty Mix leaps through windows, across buildings and finally swings from a high flagpole—from which he later drops onto the galloping horse of "Bad Pat" Duncan whom he captures. There's a delightful love story too, in "3 Gold Coins."

"Smiling" Billy Parson in a 2-reel comedy, Jack Dempsey in a thrilling and interesting chapter of "Daredevil Jack," and an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue of Brussels, Belgium, are also being screened on the same program. The program is being exhibited again to-night for the last time.

Letters To The Editor

847 Cooper St., Nov. 11, 1920
Watertown, N.Y.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—I would like through your good paper to explain a few things to the good citizes of Belleville about the value of the 1st Belleville Troop Boy Scouts have been and will be to the city of Belleville.

This well-known troop of Boy Scouts was organized in February 1917 as a chartered troop of Boy Scouts. With the Rev. Dr. Scott, D.D., as Scoutmaster and myself Troop Leader and ever since the organization, the boys have proven themselves good young cit citizens and always on the side of the right and they always tried their best as I put it, to "put Belleville on the map." Now we never had the support of the citizens as we should have had. But we did these few things to help boost the Old Town: No 1 Sold tags; No 2 Collected paper for Patriotic Societies; No. 3 Collected money for the Navy League; No. 4 Worked in the Victory Loans; No. 5 Took part in every parade from 1917 to 1920; No. 6 Helped in various ways for the G.W.V.A.; No. 7 Helped to make Belleville Old Boys' Re-union livelier; No. 8 Attended E. Guss Porters' Peace Picnic 1920 and showed the people that BelBleville had a Boy Scout Bugle Band and by the applause that we got it showed that they were proud of our bunch of Scouts. We attended 1919 and 1920 Toronto Exhibition and we certainly did let the people know where we came from.

These are just a few of the many things that we have done. The troop has produced a fine lot of boys and wherever they go they will make good. I am making a strong appeal to the citizens of Belleville and to the various Societies for them, to get at the back of this organization of boys and make it the finest in Ontario, for I am sure and I know I can truthfully say it is the finest in Belleville. Now, Mr. Editor, I hope will publish this for I know that Mr. W. H. Finkle and the boys need support.

Ex-A.S.M. CHARLES W. HAYES,
Late of the 1st Belleville Troop, now
Scoutmaster of Troop No. 8, Watertown, N.Y.

MUCH FACE PAINT
USED BY WOMEN

The women of Ottawa and Winnipeg have one thing in common if the statement of Mrs. E. H. Talbot, of New York, is correct, "they use more paint on their faces than the women of other Canadian cities." This statement was made in an address given by Mrs. Talbot before the Winnipeg Canadian Women's Press Club recently. The women of Quebec are the most chic she declared.

Mrs. Talbot, who is connected with the Board of Education of New York, has, with her husband, who is editor of The Commercial New York, been on an extensive tour of Canada, collecting data for a lecture tour to be given in the States this winter.

Called By Death

ROBERT BROWN

There passed away at the home of his son, Mr. D. L. Brown, Cedar street Sudbury, on Tuesday, November 2nd, Robert Brown, an interesting and well known figure in Sudbury for the past twelve years, at the advanced age of 78. The late Mr. Brown was of a kind quiet reserved nature and a most industrious citizen. It was for this latter quality that he was admired by many who knew him but casually and although he had long since reached the age of retirement which he had well well earned and was in a position to enjoy, still up until last Friday when he took ill, he scarcely missed a day, while his life has been a living example of industry—for he was happiest when engaged at some useful occupation. By his more intimate acquaintances he was highly respected and in time of bereavement their sympathy will go out to relatives who mourn for one they held in highest esteem for his many good qualities. The late Robert Brown was born aboard an ocean liner in mid-ocean, while his parents were enroute to Canada from Belfast, north of Ireland. The family settled in Marlbank and later moved to Deseronto, Ont., where for forty years deceased was foreman for the Rathbun Lumber Co. His wife predeceased him nearly ten years ago and since he has spent his summers in Sudbury with his sons and winters in Belleville and Napanee with married daughters. Three sons and three daughters survive, Mrs. C. W. Moat, Toronto; Mrs. R. S. Wales, Napanee; Mrs. Fred Russell, Napanee; Messrs. D. L. and Ed. Brown of Sudbury and Frank of Sault Ste. Marie. A funeral service is being held this evening at the home of Mr. D. L. Brown, Cedar street, prior to the body being shipped to Deseronto for interment in the family plot.—Sudbury Star.

Obsequies

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE.

That the late Francis S Wallibridge, barrister, of this city, had many friends here and the immediate vicinity, was evidenced by the large number who yesterday afternoon were in attendance at the obsequies. Many and beautiful were the floral designs, expressions of sympathy from relatives and friends. At the family residence, George street, Rev. W. Marshall, Rector of Emmanuel Church, conducted services, assisted by Rev. A. L. Geen. In the family plot, Belleville cemetery, the body was laid at rest. The bearers were Judge Deroche, Judge Wills, and Messrs. W. N. Ponton, K.C., F. E. O'Flynn, M. Wright and E. J. Butler.

Save Your Eyes

How old are your glasses?

MANY persons imagine that a pair of glasses once fitted should last forever. This is a mistake. Eyes are subject to change, and to make sure you should form the habit of systematically visiting your Optometrist at least once a year to find out if your glasses should be changed. If your glasses are found to be all right after an examination, your Optometrist will tell you so. Consult your Optometrist regularly.

Sporting Events

INDOOR BASEBALL

The first of a series of indoor baseball matches took place in the Armouries and a goodly number of spectators were in attendance. Previous to the opening of the games an interesting event took place, namely: the presentation of a beautiful cup presented by Mr. W. A. Elliott of the Elliott Wood Working Company. Mayor Riggs spoke a few words appreciative of his desire for genuine sports of all kinds. Mr. Elliott then presented to Col. L. W. Marsh the cup which was won last year by the Marsh Engineering Works team in the Industrial Indoor Baseball League matches. Col Marsh replied in an appropriate manner to the presentation and thanked Mr. Elliott for giving such a valuable trophy.

The Games

Two games were played last night and the G.T.R. employes of the office and shops won both without much exertion. The first game was between the employes of the G.T.R. shops and the 34th Battery teams. When the smoke of battle had cleared away the score was 33 to 7 in favor of the railway employes.

The second game was between the G.T.R. office employes and the Marsh Engineering Works team. In this game the railway team won by a score of 20 to 9. Mr. Keeber was the umpire on balls and strikes and Mr. Jule Hickey on bases. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

G.T.R. Shops—D. Symons, 2b; A. Knott, c; W. Miles, ls; J. Smith, p; F. Goyer, 1b; H. Smith, rs; L. Miles, lf; J. Miles, 2b; Pondale, rf.

Tuesday evening's game was another "humdinger." The Curlers, who were out to win, had to hold their breath in the first game, as they went down badly and only had the small margin of 4 points over the Ritchie team in the final game. The Kind of a Watch You Want
Our long experience in selling watches has taught us that men demand first of all service — a watch that will keep accurate time over a long period, with the minimum of upkeep cost. Next they value appearance—a good looking watch that does credit to their taste. And they want both service and appearance at a fair price—full value for their money.
So we deal only in movements of established reputations for satisfactory service, in thoroughly well made, carefully fitted cases that protect the watch and satisfy pride in appearance, making our prices values that honor purchasing judgment.

Body of Unknown Warrior of Ypres Reaches England

Body of "Unknown Soldier" Crosses the Channel Conveyed by Warship

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Some mother's son who fought, died and was buried unknown, came back to England today to be buried with a Field Marshal's honors.

The body, picked at random from among the silent hosts at Ypres will be buried to-morrow in Westminster Abbey, where it will rest with the remains of British statesmen, rulers and warriors.

Whether the oaken casket which arrived here today from France contained the remains of English, Scottish, Irish, Welsh, Australian or Canadian was not known. No attempt was made to identify the body in any way. Every mother who lost a son with the British forces could feel that this might be her boy.

The body arrived in Boulogne yesterday, where it was received with the highest honors, French and British troops participating in the reception.

FOCH AT BOULOGNE

Marshal Foch and General Weygand were among the dignitaries at the embarkation of the soldier's body for its trip across the Channel aboard the British destroyer Verdun.

An escort of four French and six British destroyers all with colors at half mast, accompanied the Verdun as she slowly moved down the harbor at Boulogne.

The squadron reached Dover at 3.30 p.m. and the casket was to arrive in London aboard a special train at 8.30.

Only a heavy fog will prevent a brilliant procession tomorrow when the body will be carried to the cenotaph—the great war monument—where public exercises will be held before the interment in Westminster Abbey.

English, Scots, Welsh, Irish, Australians, Canadian and Indian representatives will join the funeral procession. The Indian delegation consists of six princes. A Mohammedan and Sikh priest will assist in the services at the cenotaph.

CROWDS PAY HOMAGE

The casket was carried through lines of soldiers at "present arms" to the British destroyer Verdun. Flanked by French destroyers the funeral ship steamed across the channel to Dover, passing into the harbor as cannon from the forts roared their salute of nineteen guns. Other honors to which a field marshal is entitled were paid as the casket was carried from destroyer to the special train which started immediately for London.

On arrival here the remains were placed in the Chappelle Ardente in the Victoria Station whre they remained overnight under a grenadier guard.

An historic flag used at innumerable funerals after the fighting at Ypres covered the coffin whose plate was inscribed:

"A British Warrior Who Fell in the Great War, 1914-1918, for King and Country."

The route of the Armistice Day procession was barricaded today, indicating authorities expected an unprecedented crowd to pay honor to "Tommy Atkins." Only ticket-holders will be permitted in Whitehall and the Abbey after 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Sir George Foster the senior Canadian privy councillor, will deposit a wreath of maple leaves at the foot of the monument on behalf of the Dominion of Canada.

The Canadian party will then follow His Majesty and the Royal Princess on foot to Westminster Abbey, where the body of an unknown soldier is to be buried. Practically all accommodation close to the cenotaph and in the Abbey has been reserved for the widows and women who lost only sons in the war. The applications for seats have been overwhelming.

Canadians who have been allotted places are Lady Drummond of Montreal; Mrs. Eaton and Mary Osborne of Ottawa; Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Curry of Nova Scotia and Mrs. Maclagen and Mrs. Winslow of British Columbia.

BRITAIN HAS TAKEN MURDER BY THROAT

London, Nov. 10.—In a speech at the Guildhall Premier Lloyd George declared that the Government has taken "murder by the throat" in Ireland.

"Do not pay too much attention to details of disturbances in Ireland," said the Premier. "Give no heed to what they call horrors. Unless I am mistaken in the steps we have taken in Ireland, we have murder by the throat.

"We are getting the right sort of men for dispersing the terrorists, and, if necessary, the Government will seek further powers."

Thought Inspector Was Highwayman

Man Mistaken for Rumrunner Sues Officer for $25,000

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—The suit brought by Ernest Bergeron and his wife against License Inspector Mousseau and ten men working under him for $25,000 damages for injuries suffered by Bergeron on the night of April 5, when one of the officers shot him in the neck on Gladstone Avenue near the Malden Road, was opened in the Supreme Court in Sandwich.

According to his testimony, Bergeron and his wife were returning from a visit to relatives on Malden Road when a man stepped out in the road way with a flashlight, near Gladstone Avenue. Bergeron said that as the man wore no uniform and showed no badge, he took him for a robber and therefore shot his car ahead at full speed. The witness said that he had been robbed at the same point five weeks previous and as soon as he passed the man in the road, a volley of shots rang out.

Turning down Gladstone Avenue he said, a machine followed him, the occupants of which kept up a continual gun-fire, and he was hit in the back of the head. Out-distancing his pursuers, he fired several shots to attract the attention of friends who lived over a bank at the corner of Gladstone Avenue and the River Road. The machine which had followed him drew up just as he had taken his wife from the car and then he recognized the officers. They admitted, Bergeron said, when they saw who it was, that they had made a mistake and took him to Dr. Amyot at Windsor for treatment.

Mrs. Bergeron also took the stand and corroborated her husband's testimony. Ed. Kennedy and Stephen Lane, Windsor taxi drivers, who were the drivers of the cars in which the officers rode, were also called to the stand. They testified that they had been hired by Inspector Mousseau and gave testimony similar to the plaintiffs.

Only two witnesses were called for the defence. Inspector Mousseau, under whom the men were acting but who was not present at the shooting, admitted that the men were sent out by him to follow up a tip that liquor was being cached on Malden Road that night.

NO PROVISION IN ACT

Cross-examination by W. H. Furlong, acting for the plaintiffs, Mr. Mousseau denied that he had given orders for the men to shoot, and he said that the O.T.A. had made no provision that the enforcers of the Act should carry weapons or shoot.

J. P. Hanna, provincial officer, also appeared for the defence. His testimony did not conflict in any way with that of the plaintiffs and he admitted that some of the officers had shot, but denied that he had done so.

The case will go to the jury. Besides Inspector Mousseau, the officers who participated in the shooting are named as defendants in the action. They are Provincial Officers J. P. Smith, J. P. Hanna, A. G. Sykes, County Constables J. L. Smith and J. Pillon, Mounted Policemen F. Sampson, F. L. Simpson and H. E. Atkins, J. Defebvre, Walkerville constable and A. Fillon, Sandwich constable.

LISTED AS KILLED, SURPRISES FRIENDS

Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—Employes of the civic light and power department were startled by the ghost of Harry Martin, a former clerk in the department. Martin, whose name is on the roll of honor which hangs in the city hall and has a death cross against it walked in upon them as if he had never been buried in the fields of Flanders. He had a difficult job to convince his old friends that he was not dead.

The death report originated when his comrades missed him in the trenches. What happened was that Martin was carried from his post suffering from rheumatic fever, unknown to the others. Later he was transferred to another unit and after armistice took part in the British anti-Bolshevik campaign. He asked for his old position and got it.

FOUND HOARD OF GOLD IN AN OLD TRUNK

An old trunk for which she paid $1 to a junk dealer in Scranton, Pa, before she moved from that city recently added $395 in gold to the capital of Mrs. Alfred Bitterlin, of Collindale, Pa.

Believing that the trunk had outlived its usefulness, Mrs. Bitterlin started to burn it. A jingle attracted her attention, the fire was extinguished and Mrs. Bitterlin extracted the gold pieces from the lining of the trunk.

Trumble's Widow May Sue Pastor For $50,000

Legal Action Will be Considered at Conference With Her Lawyer

WINDSOR, Nov. 10—The institution of a civil action for $50,000 against Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin as damages for the shooting of Beverly Trumble, late proprietor of the Chappell House, is under consideration by Mrs. Trumble and the family solicitor, W. H. Furlong.

A conference is being held by these two parties at which final action proceedings will be decided upon.

Mrs. Trumble, according to a statement of Mr. Furlong, has expressed her determination not to permit matters to stand as they are. Further pressed, Mr. Furlong admitted that this would indicate that Mrs. Trumble had decided to prosecute Mr. Spracklin.

Grand Jury Dismissed.

That no further action will be taken against Rev. Mr. Spracklin by the Attorney-General's Department is evidenced by the dismissal of the Supreme Court assize grand jury. This jury was ordered to remain in session until finally notified by Crown Attorney Rodd, although in the ordinary course of events it would have been dismissed on Saturday last.

Hamilton Times Quits The Field

After Three Issues It Suspends as a Morning Paper.

Hamilton, Nov. 11.—The Ontario Newspapers, Corporation, Limited, have made the following statement:

"It has been found necessary to suspend the publication of The Hamilton Morning Times. This has been brought about by a combination of circumstances, largely unforeseen and uncontrollable, which culminated today in the inability of the management to secure sufficient printers to make the issue of tomorrow's edition possible. It had been unable since Monday to publish papers of requisite size owing to this cause. The management, which had been paying a scale of wages in excess of the morning newspaper scale provided for in the agreement entered into between the Hamilton publishers and the Typographical Union, was unable to meet the demands which the union officials thought were fair under the circumstances, with the result as above stated.

"This is very much regretted by the Ontario Newspapers Corporation, Limited, but is the only action possible when all the facts are considered The proposal to establish a morning newspaper in Hamilton, as it presented itself to the promoters a few months ago, seemed feasible, and even attractive as a commercial undertaking. Events, however, in the business world have of late developed so quickly and unexpectedly as to prejudice a successful operation of the enterprise which this company has undertaken.

"The management has, however, reason to be grateful for the encouragement accorded the new enterprise by a section of the city. Considering the appeal that was made, the response that was made from the advertising standpoint and subscriptions received, gave assurance that under normal conditions and the co-operation that had been anticipated, ultimate success might confidently have been looked for.

"All obligations will be promptly met and money received for unearned subscriptions and advertising refunded immediately."

The Times has issued three morning papers, starting last Monday.

BOSTON POLICEWOMEN WILL STOP FLIRTING

Boston, Nov. 11.—Flirting on Boston Common will become a dangerous practise after February 1, when plans announced by Mayor Peters for the appointment of the city's first woman policeman go into effect.

The Mayor said he had consulted with Police Commissioner Curtis regarding means of ridding the Common of some of the "vamps" of both sexes who have made it a hunting ground, and that as a result eight women would be selected from the Civil Service lists for appointment to police duty there.

Their pay, like that of the men will be $1,400 to start.

Brutally Killed During Red Raid

Capt. E. Kilpatrick of U.S. Red Cross and Two Nurses Slain by Bolsheviki

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Captain Emmet Kilpatrick, representative of the American Red Cross in South Russia and two nurses were brutally killed during a Bolshevik cavalry raid on Salkova Station, says a Sebastopol despatch to Reuter's, Limited.

A Washington despatch says that reports reached the State Department that Capt. Emmet Kilpatrick, of the American Red Cross and C. Atchney of the Mennonite Relief Society had been captured in Soviet advance in Southern Russia, but no mention was made of the possible death of either one. It was believed the recent assertion of the Soviet Government that a United States mission headed by "General Morel" had been captured by their troops was founded on the capture of Kilpatrick.

Kilpatrick was last seen, the advices said at Novoalexeievsk October 30. Mr. Atchney, who is founder of the Mennonite Relief Society, landed at Halberstadt October 25.

"Kilpatrick when last seen was stripped to his underclothing in bitter zero weather and being led away by Red cavalry raiders" said the State Department's official announcement given out before the London report of the captain's death was received. "His fate is consequently a matter of grave concern."

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER.

(Toronto Star)

A unique annual event takes place in Belleville by which the representatives of country and city interests are brought together and their common concerns occupy the attention during a social evening. John Elliott's dinner has been held annually for 14 years and has grown from an idea in the brain of a Belleville banker to be a gathering of leaders of industry, rural and urban, with benefits that are district wide. Town and country should not be set against each other, but brought into harmonious co-operation, and to this happy consummation Mr. Elliott is contributing.

British Seizure of Sinn Fein Funds Paralyzing Blow

London, Nov. 11.—England's most paralyzing blow at the Sinn Fein was directed at its pocketbook, according to the Irish Office today.

The Office declared there was a marked cessation of Sinn Fein activity following bank raids in which records and funds were located. Steps have been taken to choke off the supply of money from America, also, the Office said.

A report of the Sinn Fein minister of finance showed £22,607 set apart for the "self-determination fund." It also showed £200,000 (nominally $1,00,000) had been received from America in subscriptions to the Irish Republican fund, a fund of £2,995,643 was shown to be on deposit in New York.

The Irish Republic had difficulty in raising money in Australia, a captured document saying, "Despite large sums reported to have been raised in Australia, only £175 has been subscribed."

The Sinn Fein appropriation for the six months ending December 31, 1920, was shown to total £204,291.

Art O'Brien, secretary of the Irish Self-Determination League, declared British raiders seized £20,000 from one bank, but that the amount was made good to the Sinn Fein by the banker who had the funds in charge.

Sews Union Jack With Old Glory

Capitol Manager Replaces Flag Burned By Irish Sympathizers

New York, Nov. 11.—A new Union Jack hangs under the canopy of the Capitol Theatre this morning. It replaces one that was torn down and burned in the gutter of Broadway last night by a gang of Irish sympathisers led by the same woman who last Sunday pulled down the British colors in the same spot.

Broadway was filled with pedestrians just after 9 o'clock last night when a score of men and women, walking closely together, passed directly under the flag. A stick with a hook on the end of it was suddenly raised. The hook caught in the folds of the flag and pulled it down. The women rent the cloth into bits and lighted them. Flinging the burning pieces into the gutter, the party then proceeded to do a war dance. Policemen who observed what was happening stood by without offering to stop the insult. The management of the Capitol telephoned for the reserves when the crowd had reached somewhat alarming proportions. No arrests were made.

Major Chase, the house manager, who on Sunday altered the features of an insistant Sinn Feiner, had another British flag up immediately. He says he will sew it to the American flag so that if one comes down the other must.

The Morning Telegraph expresses the utmost disgust for the tactics of the rowdier Sinn Fein elements, and calls upon the heads of the movement to stop these stupid demonstrations before the American people express their disapproval of Irish intolerance.

Three women picketers appeared yesterday before the Seventh Regiment Armoury in protest against the billeting there of nineteen British soldiers who will form an escort to the British ambassador when he arrives in New York tomorrow. The soldiers are in this city en route to Bermuda.

PTOMAINE POISONING AFFECTS FIVE PERSONS

Kitchener, Nov. 9—Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis, of the "Economic Store," their two children and Mrs. Davis' sister were stricken with ptomaine poisoning last night. The female victims were in a precarious condition today, but Mr. Davis was able to conduct business. It is believed that the family were poisoned by eating roast goose, which had been purchased at a local store on Saturday night. The attending physicians expressed the opinion that the victims will recover.

Offers Ireiand Partnership In Greatest Empire

London, Nov. 11.—During his Guildhall speech last night Mr. Lloyd George after referring to foreign and domestic issues took up the Irish question.

The Premier said:

"Unless I am mistaken, by the steps we have taken, we have murder by the throat. Do not pay too much attention to detailed accounts of disturbances and what they call the horrors of reprisals given out by partisans, who slur over the horrors of murder. There will be no real peace, no conciliation until this murder conspiracy is scattered.

"We are getting the right sort of men and are dispersing the terrorists The Government will seek further power, if necessary, to deal with the situation. If it is war, as the terrorists say, then they cannot complain if the Government employs some of the rules of war against them."

He referred to his offer to discuss any proposals with any one able to speak in behalf of Ireland, saying:

"If I had given that to Germany in the middle of the war I would have had a response. But giving it to Ireland, no man dare respond because they are intimidated. You must break the terror before you can get peace.

"What the Government is offering to Ireland is partnership in the greatest Empire the world has ever known at the height of its power.

SILENT TRIBUTE TO NATION'S HEROES

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—Canada's ordinary activities in practically all parts of the Dominion were suspended for two minutes at noon today in silent and honorable memory to Canadian warriors and nurses who by the sacrifice of their lives helped to make possible the signing of the armistice, victoriously ending the Great War on Nov. 11, 1918.

Reports from all directions indicate a general observance of the proclamation of the authorities that a tribute be paid to the glorious dead whose names "live for evermore."

Great railways and telegraph systems from coast to coast as well as local industries in all big cities stopped operations for two minutes, silence prevailing for that period as far as possible.

Immediately afterwards various celebrations for victory took place in big cities and towns of the Dominion. In some centres there were open air services and in some cases military parades

Every city and town, village and hamlet, settlement and reservation in the Dominion from Cape Breton to far Vancouver Island today commemorated the second anniversary of the closing of the war. For the most part open air services and military parades comprised the general program of observance throughout Canada. These were preceded by a general suspension of activities in practically all parts of the Dominion for two minutes in deference to Canada's heroes and heroines who laid down their lives during that great struggle.

Impressive ceremonies were held in London and Paris, the British and French people paying tribute to the men who sacrificed their lives during the long fight against Kaiserism.

The body of an unknown British soldier was buried in Westminster Abbey, the King, governmental chiefs and relatives of missing soldiers witnessing the interment. Wreaths in large numbers were placed on the last resting place of the British warrior who fell in the Great War. Floral tributes from the Canadian Great War Veterans Association and the "Last Post" fund were laid on the tomb.

In Paris the remains of a French soldier, taken from a nameless grave at Verdun was laid at rest under the Arc do Triomphe. President Millerand and three French Marshals, Joffre, Foch and Petain stood by the open grave,

RECTOR RESIGNS

The Rev. Frank G. Kirkpatrick, M.A., B.C.L., has resigned the mission of Loughboro, and the Bishop of Ontario has appointed Rev. Thomas Leech, M.C., of Wolfe Island, to succeed him.

Rev. Mr. Leech was appointed to the parish of Wolfe Island on September 21st, 1914, and has done six years of splendid work, leaving Trinity church beautifully restored. He will say good-bye to the islanders on Sunday, and will assume his new duties at Sydenham on Nov. 21st. Rev. Mr. Leech was ordained by Archbishop Lewis in 1893, and was appointed travelling missionary in North Hastings, where he did faithful and constructive work for seven years. In 1900 he was appointed to Lansdowne, where he had the confidence of his flock for over fourteen years and before leaving the grateful parishioners presented him with a well-filled purse.

LIONS EAT LAMB

Yesterday's noonday jungle feed of the Lion's Club at the Hotel Quinte was the most successful and enthusiastic gathering of the cubs yet held. It was "open meeting" day when anybody and everybody had a chance to have his say and eighteen of the roaring lions got up and roared to their heart's content and each one brought out one or more good ideas as to how Lionism could best promote the interests of the city and the club. President Bob Gorman was in the chair and he put a generous supply of pep and "go to it" into the cubs. Twelve names were passed favorably upon as eligible to be members of the Lions' Club and three new ones were taken in as members—all being present, namely, Sam Cronk, M.D., Art. Pratt, Manager McLaughlin Motor Co., and Fred Deacon, Deacon Shirt Co.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our little girl, Georgia Russell, who died the 11th of November, 1918, aged 5 years.

Angels called you little Georgia,
Called thee to their sunny home;
And our hearts are ever yearning,
For the loved one that is gone.

Gone, oh yes, but not forgotten,
Ever in our thoughts you stay;
For the little girl we loved so dearly,
Angels have called away.

Jesus loved you darling Georgia,
And He gently whispered come;
And you heard the voice of angels,
And calmly entered home.

Thou art happy, oh so happy,
And from sin art so free;
But we loved you, darling Georgia,
And it was hard to part with thee.

Fare-well my little Georgia,
Until that happy day;
When we shall meet in Heaven,
With Jesus forever to stay.

Sadly missed by her Mother, Mrs. F. Bryant.

BOOZE FLOWS FREELY AT FORT FRANCES

Toronto, Nov. 10.—A special despatch to the Telegram from Fort Frances, Ont., says: "Booze has been flowing across the Rainy River here and at other points with as much, if not more freedom, than at Windsor, and along the Detroit River. The whiskey ring is having pretty much its own way in this district. If the provincial authorities are making any efforts to break up or check the traffic their efforts are not particularly noticeable. Estimates by citizens and private detectives place the value of liquor shipped or carried across the river into Minnesota from the Province of Ontario during the past summer at between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

"All along the 75 miles where the Rainy river forms the boundary line, boot-leggers have carried on with practically no interference. Farmers on the river front who have vacant farms unoccupied for years, have been rented and their occupants have become suddenly prosperous.

A new setting for jewelry is adjustable and can be used to hold gems of different shapes and sizes.

SHOULD GIRLS CARRY WALKING STICKS

"I believe there would be far fewer robberies and attacks on young women if they were provided with a neat weapon of defense," said Alma Simpson, the beautiful American soprano recitalist who will present her "Recital of Songs" at the City Hall next Monday evening under the auspices of the Quinte Chapter I.O.D.E. for the benefit of the Children's Shelter. "I got into the habit of carrying a cane quite by accident. I was for several years in England and Scandinavia, studying and singing. There it rained almost continually and I became very much accustomed to carrying an umbrella, scarcely ever going anywhere without one. The year I left England I went to South America to fill an engagement of forty song recitals, being the first American artist ever to be engaged as the concert feature of the official season at the Municipal Theatres of the capital cities of that continent. I discovered soon after my arrival in Latin America that in spite of very beautiful cities, very modern in every way, a woman is hardly able to walk along the street without being spoken to or followed by some man. An American lady whom I met out there and who was the wife of the manager of the Light and Power Co. of the city told me that if I carried a walking stick the men would be afraid as several American women of her acquaintance carried canes and had administred them at certain times to good advantage. I accepted my friend's advice and it worked like a charm. I was so accustomed to carrying an umbrella constantly that a walking stick has now become second nature to me and I feel as lost without it as I would without my shoes. The stick I am now carrying was presented to me by a Government official in British Guiana after a recital there and is made from the back bone of a man-eating shark." The plan of seats for Monday's recital opens at Doyle's Drug Store to-morrow morning.

BRINGING UP FATHER

A jolly, rollicking, tuneful show in "Bringing Up Father at the Seashore" which will be seen at Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night, November 16th for one night only. The droll characters made famous in the columns of the principal newspapers throughout the country through George McManus will be presented in the flesh, including the henpecked Jiggs Mahoney, his militant better two-thirds, Maggie, and Dinty Moore. Jiggs is the same jolly old rascal who is perpetually trying to slip from the watchful eyes of his shrewish Maggie, or trying to smuggle into his home Dinty Moore or some other old pal of his beloved hod-carrying or pick-applying fraternity of former days. Jiggs does not forget his admiration for the girls and Maggie is kept busy as the sentinel over the impressive heart of her frivolous spouse. The management promises a big cast of well known musical comedy players, and a very attractive chorus.

"PAINT" BARRELS CONTAINED "DEWARS"

Kitchener, Nov. 10.—A consignment of "thirteen barrels of paint" passed through the local G.T.R. freight sheds addressed to a Kitchener manufacturer. An inspection of the barrels revealed the fact that they contained bottles labelled "Dewar's Special Whiskey." The "paint" was being delivered to a barn near Stagatha when it was discovered, and the drayman paid $100 in Police Court this morning for delivering it to a person other than the consignee named.

BOGUS PASSPORTS HAVE LARGE SALE

Scores of bogus Polish passports have been issued in the last few weeks to persons going to the United States, according to the Paris police, who say they were sold for from 500 to 1,000 francs to persons to whom the authorized Polish consulate refused to give visas.

A travelling bag full of blank forms and rubber stamps, one of which was the counterfeit American form, was taken by the police who watched a counterfeit consulate until a man known as the former Russian Lieutenant Szimansky went there for his outfit. This brought about the arrest of his two confederatyes.

GROUP MARRIAGES AT THE HAGUE

The cost of getting married in The Hague all depends on the day of the week. For some reason that has never been explained Monday is society day and marriages on that day at the City Hall, where every couple must go for the official ceremony, cost 60 guilders (nominally equivalent to 40 cents each). On Saturdays the charge is five guilders, or nothing at all, depending upon whether the couple wish a separate ceremony all for themselves or be married in groups of twenty couples at a time.

At these group marriages, the officiating clerk reels off in five minutes the marriage formula, all the couples listening in, chorusing "yes" at the proper time, and then all file in and sign the book. Then they are married.

EAST SIDE FUNERAL MOST SPECTACULAR

New York, Nov. 10.—One of the most spectacular funerals that the East Side has seen in months was accorded to Mrs. Dolorata Monta. Scores of sympathizers followed the flower-banked hearse with its six snowy horses and hundreds bared their heads in deference to the young woman who met her death at the hands of Detective James Kenny last Thursday.

Dolorata, who was a Red Cross worker during the war, left her new baby Thursday to go on a short errand. A bullet fired by Kenny at a thief who had stolen a carton of cigarettes struck her down and she died later in a hospital. The detective continued the chase after the thief, stopping long enough to place the dying woman on some nearby steps. He was exonerated from all blame.

Kenny attended the funeral today and started a subscription to provide for the funeral.

WILHELM HAPPY IN NINE O'CLOCK TOWN

Two years ago Nov. 10, William Hohenzollern arrived at the Dutch frontier, a refugee Emperor. Today he is leading in the little village of Doorn the life of a Dutch country gentleman, doing just about as he pleases and going almost where he desires, about the countryside, so long as he stays within the territorial limits prescribed by the Dutch government.

The Associated Press correspondent has been told by those in close touch with the former Emperor that during the past few months William has found much contentment in the life on his new estate here. He is said to feel certain that no further demands for his surrender will be made upon the Holland government.

FRANCE'S SILENT ARMY WILL BE HONORED

France's 1,000,000 war-dead are soon to be transferred to permanent military cemeteries or re-interred in private burying grounds, at the option of relatives.

It may be many months before the work is even well under way, but the start is to be made soon, under authority of laws passed at the last session of parliament and now made effective by decrees.

A separate monument, of a design not yet adopted, will be put at the head of each grave and the care of the military grounds will devolve upon the government in perpetuity.

Sanitation and lack of transportation has delayed the assembling of the bodies, but it has been decided that by careful planning the work may now be done without danger to health or to industry.

COCAINE SEIZED ABOARD STEAMER

New York, Nov. 10.—Two hundred and forty bottles of cocaine were seized beneath a dead fireman's bunk aboard the steamer Atlantic Sun today, by authorities from the Port Surveyor's office. The fireman—Manuel Garcia Cayon—slashed his own throat and shot himself twice during the ship's recent trip from Rotterdam.

His captain told yesterday that Cayon left a note to him saying the reason for his act "would be found underneath my bunk." Members of the crew asserted Cayon intended smuggling the cocaine into New-York, but feared being caught. He told them of smuggling drugs into Philadelphia on previous occasions.

Ten thousand dollars worth of opium and other narcotics were seized yesterday aboard the Dutch steamer Engano, much to the chagrin of Chinese seamen in the crew, it was learned today. "Poppy dreaming" had been going on apparently for many days, the authorities declared, as they found forty empty tins of the drug in the quarters of the crew. No arrests were made.

The Engano was anchored off Clifton, Staten Island, having recently arrived from Java.

Two of society's most beautiful debutants had mysterious numbers on their backs.

A Perfection Oil Heater near a window heats the cold air seeping through the window and then radiates it as warm fresh air.

YOU really need a little warmth in the parlor these cool evenings, but you naturally hesitate to put on the furnace, because it eats up the coal, and coal is scarce and high in price—and then, you don't want to heat the whole house! A Perfection will produce all the heat you actually need right on the spot, and you can turn off the heat as soon as you retire.

A Perfection Oil Heater is invaluable as auxiliary heat on cold winter days and in exposed corners. Use it to boil a kettle, heat shaving water, dry clothes indoors and in many other ways.

Over 1,000,000 Perfections in use, and each giving ten hours of cosy warmth for every gallon of coal oil.

PREMIER MADE A HIT ON PACIFIC COAST.

Mr. Meighen's visit to the Pacific Coast has impressed the Victoria Daily Colonist, which says of him:

Mr. Meighen will be successful in welding the political party he now leads into a homogeneous whole, for the recognition of his right to the premiership is now given with unquestioning loyalty. He bids fair to be a leading figure in the policies of the country for a long time to come, for he is still comparatively young. A gentleman of energy and even dynamic force, possessed of high administrative qualifications, of vision and of an impregnable belief in the rich destiny of this Dominion, Mr. Meighen is one who inspires confidence."

FARMERS HAVE NO USE FOR LIBERAL PARTY.

While Mr. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, was generally well received where he spoke on his western trip, and was attentively listened to, his hope of bringing his party and the United Farmers into agreement seems to have made no advance to fulfilment. The farmers as a political party have got into a way of looking at their own strength, which may prevent them seeing that of other parties. In the Regina Leader, Mr. George H. Thompson, of Sintaluta, evidently a prominent member of the U. F. party, puts on record his views as follows:

"I venture to say that, taking the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and possibly Nova Scotia, the farmers could elect more members if the Liberals stayed out of the fight, than the Liberals could, if the farmers as a party kept the background. Why, then, expect the farmers to march under a Liberal banner? Mr. King blames the Western members for not defeating the Government on the Budget, but in the opinion of most Grain Growers it was a Liberal by the name of McMaster who spilt the beans. He was more intent on killing the Farmers' party than he was on defeating the Government. There have been things done by Liberals both as a party and as individuals that stink in the nostrils of a heretofore Liberal."

PROSPEROUS INDUSTRIES PROSPEROUS WORKERS.

Harmonious relations between employers and employees with mutual concentration upon quality and production are essential with declining prices. Leaders of industry and labor all over the world are agreed upon the necessity of "production in ever-increasing measure." Mr. Samuel Gompers declares that "production is the great world problem of today." Mr. W. A. Appleton, Secretary of the English Federation of Trade Unions, says: "Everything depends upon production. Standards of living cannot be raised, nor can existence be maintained unless mankind accepts this contention. Eloquence, rhetoric or legislative action, whether acting separately or collectively, cannot make the corn grow or build houses, or feed children or clothe humanity. Only working and thinking can provide the things essential to life and comfort."

Prosperous industries and prosperous workers make prosperous communities. Canadian should give effective preference to Canadian goods over imported products. If the Canadian public will patronize Canadian industries as a national duty under present difficult conditions the dangers of the price readjustment period will be reduced to a minimum and the increased demand for Canadian-made products will enable Canadian factories to produce at minimum unit cost and sell at the lowest possible prices.

Industries abroad with resources far greater than those of most manufacturing establishments in Canada are looking to the Dominion to absorb their surplus production. Meanwhile Canadian industries are debarred from many markets abroad by high protection duties. If a substantial part of the limited Canadian market is secured by outside industries, the reduced demand for Canadian-made products must result in higher unit production costs, lower output, and reduced employment in many Canadian factories. Adequate tariff protection is vital for Canadian industries employing Canadian labor.

A Chicago bank president was sentenced to from one to three years imprisonment for absconding with $300,000 of the bank's funds. During the presidential campaign William J. Bryan was as dumb as an oyster being on a silence strike because there was not a dry plank in the Democratic platform. After the election he broke his silence with a demand that President Wilson resign immediately. This Bryanism was commented upon by one of the Democratic party leaders, who said that the party having been Bryan's meal ticket for thirty years, it was time he went on a hunger strike and advocated his being read out of the party for all time. People are beginning to realize that Bryan was not even a 16 to 1 shot at any time.

TWO PARTIES

Montreal Herald

"Our two-party system has lasted longer in the United States than any other political system now existent under any constitutional government. It is being adopted in the United Kingdom."

Thus speaks President-elect Harding, in a written communication to Republican women voters.

As a matter of history the two-party system existed in Great Britain before the United States was born.

According to Every Man's Encyclopedia, it "was evolved from the historical accident of the division into Whigs and Tories in the Stuart period, a division which, long after its cause had been fogotten had become stereotyped into a tradition that it corresponded to a real division of political outlook • • • English political life presents the spectacle of two principal national parties really, or apparently divided in a number of important issues; each, whether in power or in opposition appealing to the people for what it believes to be the general good of the country.

THE WEAVER OF RUGS

The Weaver of Rugs has dreamed a dream
And brooded the summer through;
With tender love he's plotted his theme
And now His dream's come true.

He's spread His carpet over the hills
Soft in its silken sheen
Of red and the color of daffodils,
Of rose and orange and green.

And a patch of blue reflecting there
The color of autumn skies;
The pattern vague, but beyond compare
Are these clear, mysterious dyes.

Its knotted warp in the ground below
Holds close its shimmering pile.
The Weaver of Rugs has dreamed it so,
And this is its Maker's smile.

The Weaver of Rugs has dreamed a dream
And brooded the summer through
Over the forest, field and stream
And now His dream's come true.

A LAUGH OR TWO

MAN'S SUPERIORITY

Lady Astor told in London a story about an anti-suffragist.

"Anti-suffragists are all alike,' she said. "Once I was canvassing for signatures to a petition about Lord Milner the viceroy of India at that time. When I called on Mr. Boggs the grocer, he read the petition carefully and then said:

"Who is this Milner, ma'am?"

"Our Indian viceroy" said I.

"Wot's a viceroy?" said Mr. Boggs.

"A pro-consul you know" And I explained Lord Milner's position in detail.

"Mr. Boggs satisfied dipped his pen in the ink; then he looked up anxiously.

"You're not lettin' the women sign this are you?" he said.

"Oh no indeed!" said I

"That's right" said Mr. Boggs as he slowly traced his signature. "That's right ma'am. Women don't know nothin' about these things."

A MEATLESS HOT PIE

Another Use Discovered For These Oxo Cubes.

Here is a recipe calling for no meat other than the concentrated beef-goodness to be found in the familiar Oxo cube.

Peel and slice sufficient potatoes to half fill a large pie dish, add few small onions, also sliced. Put into cold water, bring quickly to a boil, boil one minute, then drain.

Put back in pie dish with few slices of tomato, season with pepper and salt and flavour with herbs. Dissolve one Oxo cube in ½ pint of hot milk and pour over mixture. Put few bits of butter on top and bake for two hours in moderate oven. It's delicious.

All dealers sell Oxo in tins of four, ten, and fifty cubes.

TURKS LOOTED HOMES OF RUSSIAN ARISTOCRACY

Pillage by the Turks of the Imperial Russian water-place of Abbas Touman in the Caucasus mountains, is being investigated. A large quantity of the furnishings and pantings belonging to the luxurious villas of this little city, where many of the aristocracy of Russia used to pass their vacations, has been discovered in Constantinople. Some of these furnishings are in the palace of Enver Pasha, formerly Turkish War Minister, on the Bosphorous, now occupied by the French general staff.

The pillage of Abbas Touman is one of the untold stories of the rapacious Turkish pashas and generals. Abbas Touman is unknown outside of Russia. Yet it was one of the little paradises with which countries lying near the Black Sea are blessed. Nestling in the mountains of Georgia it possessed one of the beautiful and lengthy driveways for which the Caucasus is famous. During the hot summer months, the Imperial Russian family used to pass a few weeks among the pines of this rich centre of museums, villas and churches.

Up the beautiful roads from Batum to Tiflis, came in the spring of 1917, the Turkish army, following on the retreat of the Russan army, which had gone Bolshevik. The Turks were amazed at the riches of Abbas Touman. The commandant of the 31st brigade sealed up all the valuables he could find. Then came the signing of the treaty by which Abbas Touman was left to Georgia.

No sooner had the Turkish commander learned of this treaty than he exthered up, before leaving, all valuables and hurried them to Batum. He notified Essad Pasha at Constantinople that this booty should be offered to the Sultan. Meanwhile, as his army withdrew, it is charged that he systematically robbed churches and convents and sent these treasures also to Batum. Two other Turkish commanders are alleged to have shared in the loot.

Finally the three men sent their relative shares to Constantinople, when Enver Pasha demanded to have a look at the three lots. As Minister of War, he took his choice and sent some of the furniture and pictures to Kogoutachesme, his marble faced palace on the Bosphorous, where they still remain.

THE TIME, THE PLACE, BUT THE WRONG GIRL

Montreal, Nov. 11.—The extraordinary adventures of a druggist from Quebec in search of a wife, who approached an unknown girl whom he happened to meet on the street; proposed marriage and was immediately accepted, were recounted to Detectives Thibeault and Martin last night. The man had hired a cab with the intention of asking the first girl he happened to meet to marry him. He said that he had come from Quebec with the determination to find a wife in Montreal. He had been rejected by several ladies whom he had met during the day, and finally the brilliant idea had occurred to him of securing a cab to aid him in his search for a bride.

Driving up St. Dominique street he espied a woman on the sidewalk. The cab was stopped and the swain politely raising his hat, enquired if the lady would have him for a husband. "Sure" replied the girl, quite unperturbed. To seal the bargain the gentleman gave his fiancee a resounding kiss and a hearty hug. He did more, for taking $256 from his pocket he presented it to the girl, remarking that as she was about to marry him she had better keep his money as she would be sure to do so after marriage.

The impatient bridegroom urged the prospective bride to come with him immediately to complete the ceremony. She objected to the cab and said that she would go in search of an automobile, so that their nuptials might be celebrated in becoming style. The lady departed and the man awaited her return surrounded by an interested crowd which had been attracted by the negotiations. After twenty minutes he began to grow impatient. It was just then that the detectives appeared, attracted by the throng which by this time had blocked the sidewalk.

The story was told and the detectives began a search for the missing bride. It was not a long one. In a neighboring cafe the lady was discovered quaffing a quart of beer in celebration of her approaching nuptials. She was still ready to be led to the altar, but by this time her swain had preferred his money to his sweetheart. A compromise was effected.

COMPACT PLEASES THE PRESS OF GREAT BRITAIN

London, Nov. 11.—London has accepted the announcement that Great Britain and France are at least in accord in regard to German reparations with vast relief and a feeling that commonsense has prevailed. The press is frankly pleased with the result of the negotiations.

"We hope that these dismal impressions created in French and British minds, leading from the unfortunate situations that had been created, will now subside," says the Daily Express.

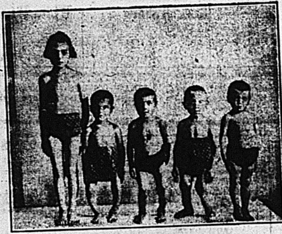
Welcoming the agreement, the Daily News declares that it is really a compromise, and that Great Britain and France are still far from a final agreement. It feels however, that a start towards an amicable settlement has been made.

The Times, with a touch of bitterness, says that the divergencies should never have arisen and that they had their birth in mutual suspicion and political manoeuvers. "But these are now happily laid to rest," it concludes.

The correct place to look is six inches below the centre of your shoulder blades.

SEIZED THOUSAND CASES OF WHISKEY

Pittsburgh, Nov. 10.—One thousand cases of whiskey, said to have a value of $150,000 were seized in an express car on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Glnshaw, near Pittsburgh yesterday by Federal prohibition agents. The whiskey was shipped from Atlantic City Sunday.



A Photograph from War-Stricken Europe
(All are seven years old—largest child is normal)

Do this in Remembrance of Armistice Day

Millions of children in Central and Eastern Europe have been made fatherless by war. Many of them are stunted and weakened through lack of proper food. Under-fed children are dying by thousands, a prey to disease. Millions are growing up weak and undeveloped because the milk, sugar and fats that promote normal growth are wanting.

These are the coming citizens of Central and Eastern Europe. Upon their present care and nourishment depends whether the nations to which they belong will be healthy and right-minded or hot-beds of anarchy and degeneracy. For the future of civilization, we must save the children.

These countries can provide about $2 worth of food out of the $3 necessary to the proper feeding of one of these children for a month. Other foods, like milk and fats, costing $1 per month per child, must come from outside. And it is this dollar which will turn the scale.

The Ravages of Typhus

While the children are suffering so much the adult populations have been reduced to the direst misery by the spread of typhus. An investigator for the League of Red Cross Societies says:

> "Misery greater in extent and intensity than the modern world has ever before witnessed exists in the broad belt lying between the Baltic, the Adriatic and the Black Sea. In this great area there is generally an absolute lack of medicines and sanitary appliances; doctors, nurses and hospital equipment are practically non-existent; food and clothing are insufficient to make life itself tolerable, and disease and suffering are present in practically every household."

The British Empire War Relief Fund.

has been undertaken by all British peoples to help mitigate the suffering of plague-stricken Europe and to save the children. It will be administered in Europe in co-operation with the League of Red Cross Societies.

COUNTRY CLUB

Members of the recently organized Country Club have been inspecting various available sites on the shores of the Bay of Quinte for the erection of a club-house and laying-out of golf links. Boating will also be a feature of the club's activities and it is expected that interest in yachting will be revived. Major Thompson, of Toronto, an expert on the laying out of golf grounds has been here this week inspecting available sites and will make a report to the club. It is expected that a site will be chosen on the bay shore between Belleville and Trenton as the club's membership includes citizens of both places.

WOMAN ISSUES WRIT.

A writ for $1,000, which may be increased to $2,000, has been issued for Mrs. Harold McQuigge, Havelock, against John Hunter, Belmont township. The plaintiff received disfiguring injuries in an automobile accident on the Norwood-Havelock road on Oct. 13th, caused, it is alleged, through Hunter's negligent driving. It is stated that on a narrow stretch of road defendant attempted to pass the car in which Mrs. McQuigge was riding instead of waiting at a turning out place on the road close by. A collision resulted and the plaintiff was thrown out, receiving severe cuts on the face.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

CHAPTER V.

The Arab Raid.

After their first terror had subsided subsequent to the shock of the earthquake, Basuli and his warriors hastened back into the passageway in search of Tarzan and two of their own number who were also missing.

They found the way blocked by jammed and distorted rock. For two days they labored to tear a way through to their imprisoned friends; but when, after Herculean efforts, they had unearthed but a few yards of the choked passage, and discovered the mangled remains of one of their fellows, they were forced to the conclusion that Tarzan and the second Waziri also lay dead beneath the rock mass farther in, beyond human aid, and no longer susceptible of it.

They gave up the search. Tearfully they cast a last look at the shattered tomb of their master, shouldered the heavy burden of gold that would at least furnish comfort, if not happiness, to their bereaved and beloved mistress, and made their mournful way back across the desolate valley of Opar, and downward through the forests beyond toward the distant bungalow.

And as they marched what sorry fate was already drawing upon that peaceful, happy home!

From the north came Achmet Zek, riding to the summons of his lieutenant's letter. With him came his horde of renegade Arabs, outlawed marauders, these, and equally degraded blacks, garnered from the more debased and ignorant tribes of savage cannibals through whose countries the raider passed to and fro with perfect impunity.

Mugambi, the ebon Hercules, who had shared the dangers and vicissitudes of his beloved Bwana from Jungle island almost to the headwaters of the Ugambi, was the first to note the bold approach of the sinister caravan.

He it was whom Tarzan had left in charge of the warriors who remained to guard Lady Greystoke, nor could a braver or more loyal guardian have been found in any clime or upon any soil. A giant in stature, a savage, fearless warrior, the huge black possessed also soul and judgment in proportion to his bulk and his ferocity.

The raiders were still a long way off when the warrior's keen eyes discovered them. He issued orders rapidly. In compliance with them the men seized upon their weapons and their shields. Some ran to call in the workers from the fields and to warn the tenders of the flocks and herds. The majority followed Mugambi back toward the bungalow.

The dust of the raiders was still a long distance away. Mugambi could not know positively that it hid an enemy; but he had spent a lifetime of savage life in savage Africa, and he had seen parties before come thus unheralded. Sometimes they had come in peace and sometimes they had come in war—one could never tell. It was well to be prepared.

The Greystoke bungalow was not well adapted for defense. No palisade surrounded it, for, situated as it was, in the heart of loyal Waziri, its master had anticipated no possibility of an attack in force by any enemy. Heavy wooden shutters there were to close the window apertures against hostile arrows, and these Mugambi was engaged in lowering when Lady Greystoke appeared upon the veranda.

"Why, Mugambi!" she exclaimed. "What has happened? Why are you lowering the shutters?"

Mugambi pointed out across the plain to where a white-robed force of mounted men was now distinctly visible.

"Arabs," he explained. "They come for no good purpose in the absence of the Great Bwana."

The raiders had halted a hundred yards out upon the plain. Mugambi had hastened down to join his warriors. He advanced a few yards before them and, raising his voice, hailed the strangers. Achmet Zek sat straight in his saddle before his henchmen.

"Arab!" cried Mugambi. "What do you want here?"

"We come in peace," Achmet Zek called back.

"Then turn and go in peace," replied Mugambi. "We do not want you here! There can be no peace between Arab and Waziri."

Achmet Zek drew to one side of his horde, speaking to his men in a low voice. A moment later, without warning, a ragged volley was poured into the ranks of the Waziri. A couple of the warriors fell, the others were for charging the attackers; but Mugambi was a cautious as well as a brave leader. He knew the futility of charging mounted men armed with muskets. He withdrew his force behind the shrubbery of the garden. Half a dozen he sent to the bungalow itself with instructions to keep their mistress within doors and to protect her with their lives.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

SIX VIRGINIA GIRLS

Bert Lytell will be seen at Griffin's to-night to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday in Metro's screen version of the internationally famous crook drama, "Alias Jimmy Valentine," from the play by Paul Armstrong. To remark on the nature of this play borders on the superfluous for it probably is the most popular and successful melodrama written in the last decade. It was first presented on the stage in New York with H. B. Warner in the title role, and ran for a long crowded season. The extended career the piece has had on the road and in leading stock companies needs no comment. To say that the part is one admirably suited to Mr. Lytell's abilities rather discounts them for it is becoming known that this young Metro star does not need a role tailored to him. He is probably the one young male star of the screen who makes his characterizations individual, makes them different from the conventional type of theatrical hero. Jimmy is a person, however, whom Mr. Lytell knows from having portrayed him in stock on the stage. The closing chapter of the "Whirlwind" serial, featuring Charles Hutchison, Larry Semon in a very funny 2-reel comedy, "The Stage Hand" and other varied plays of interest will also be screened on the same program. Replete with the melodies that have made the south the home of the heart songs of the people, and with a musicianship that would do credit to many of the leading music organizations of the country, the program rendered by the 6 Virginia girls which is the feature vaudeville offering on the same program, and which the Griffin management guarantees to their patrons will prove a musical treat for all Belleville music lovers, a brilliant program of wit, humor and song, is offered by this singing orchestra sextette.

Struck By Railway Train Doctor Dies of Injuries

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR THURLOW STATION ON C. N. R.—G. T. R. LOCAL EXPRESS FROM KINGSTON STRIKES AUTOMOBILE DRIVEN BY DR. JOHN MOORE, OF SHANNONVILLE, WHO DIED SHORTLY AFTER BEING TAKEN TO BELLEVILLE HOSPITAL — WIDELY KNOWN AND POPULAR MEDICAL PRACTITIONER.

A fatal accident occurred about 7.45 this, Friday, morning at the C. N. R. crossing about half a mile west of Thurlow station, resulting in the death of Dr. John Moore, medical practitioner of Shannonville. Dr. Moore was travelling in an automibile making a professional call, and while crossing the railway tracks was struck by the G. T. R. local express No. 29, from Kingston, in charge of Engineer Barlow, of Belleville, and Conductor Farrell. The train was stopped and Dr. Moore, who was seen to be severely injured, placed on the train and taken to Belleville Hospital, the train being stopped opposite that institution. Ten minutes after arriving at the hospital death ensued.

Dr. Moore, whose home is in Shannonville, had a very large practise and was widely known and universally esteemed as a capable practitioner and splendid type of citizen. To his many friends the tragedy will come as a great shock and deep sympathy will be felt for the bereaved relatives.

The victim of the distressing accident was well-known in Hastings County where he had virtually resided all his life. About 64 years ago he was born near Plainfield in Thurlow Township being a son of the late Mr. Alexander Moore. After attending the public school in Plainfield he attended High school in Belleville In early life he took a course as a veterinary surgeon and graduated, but later decided to join the medical profession, and with this object in view attended Queen's College at Kingston where he graduated with honors. For a few years he practised his profession in Michigan and about 25 years ago returned to his native County and had since been practising at Shannonville. Dr. Moore was considered clever in his profession and enjoyed a lucrative practice. He was a man of high ideals and lived up to them. In religion he was a Presbyterian and for years took an active part in church work, being an elder of Shannonville Presbyterian church. He was for a few years superintendent of the Sunday school and taught an adult Bible class. He was also for some years a public school trustee and at the time of his death was chairman of the Public Library board of Shannonville. eDceased was prominent in societies, being a Mason an Oddfellow and a Workman. All who knew Dr. Moore pay high tribute to his character as a physician and a citizen. A widow and two children, Douglas and Edith, who are pupils of the Belleville High school survive, also five brothers and one sister. The brothers are Alexander and William of Thurlow, Robert and James of Regina, and David of Vancouver, B.C. The sister Miss Norah resides at Plainfield. The body was taken from the hospital to Tickell & Sons, undertaking parlors and was later taken to Shannonville to be prepared for interment.

The Inquest

At 11-30 this morning an inquest was opened at Tickell & Sons, presided over by Coroner Dr. Yeomans. The jurymen selected were Messrs. H. F. Ketcheson, C. M. Reid, D. V. Sinclair, A. McGie, H. O. Stewart, F. Quick, Roy Stafford and C. Walters. Mr. Ketcheson was selected foreman.

The jury viewed the body and as pointed out to them death resulted from a fractured skull. The right arm was broken and ther were serious bruises about the body.

Dr. Yeomans, coroner, outlined briefly to the jury the nature of the accident stating that the deceased received a call to visit a patient at Point Ann and was en route to that place when he met his death. The crossing where the accident occurred, the coroner stated was a dangerous one as approaching it from the north there is a deep cut in the rock and bushes on either side. For this reason it is difficult to see a train approaching from the east. There had been at this place narrow escapes of serious accidents. The jury he intimated should visit the scene of the accident.

Mr. H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., certified that he knew the late Dr. J. Moore and the body he viewed was that of Dr. Moore of Shannonville where he practised his profession.

This concluded the taking of evidence for the time being and an adjournment was made until Thursday evening next.

Third Flag Clash at N.Y. Theatre

SinnFeiners Burned Down Jack But Paid a Stiff Price

New York, Nov. 12.—Two men were arrested and numerous heads broken by the free application of police batons, when a crowd of five hundred Sinn Fein Sympathizers last night attacked the Capitol Theatre in the third and most serious of the riots that have occurred since the theatre management hung a British flag under the canopy as part of the decorations for Armistice week.

The Union Jack, together with all flags except the American flag, were taken down by the management before the mob could reach them. This, however, did not prevent the Sinn Feiners having their "fun." A British flag was produced from somewhere or other, ripped to shreds and handed around to the members of the gang, who then proceeded to prance up and down Broadway waving the burning pieces.

George McManus, 42 years old, a clerk, of 154 West 112th street, was one of the men arrested.

Charged with Disorderly Conduct

He was charged with attempting to tear the flag from its place along the edge of the canopy. The other prisoner is Thomas Walsh, 28 years old, an insurance agent, of 102 West 61st street, who is charged with interfering with an officer. McManus claimed that he was struck over the head several times by Patrolmen Bauersfeld and Harding, who made the arrest.

Bolsheviki are attacking General Wrangel's troops in strong force on both wings in the Crimean Peninsula.

Scott Act Suspended

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Suspension of the Scott Act in Counties of Surron and Perth was before the Cabinet Council today. In both counties suspension has been approved by the requisite majority and all formalities have been met. Actual suspension of the Act is therefore more or less a matter of form. The effect of the suspension will be to bring the counties within the operation of stricter provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Siberia is Characterized "Cemetery For War Prisoners"

MANY THOUSANDS OF GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS STILL THERE—MEN DIE IN THE CAMPS OF MELANCHOLY, AS WELL AS FROM PRIVATION AND EPIDEMICS.

BERLIN, Nov. 12. — Returning Austrian prisoners reaching Stockholm describe Siberia as a "cemetery for war prisoners," in interviews in Stockholm papers. Although the war ended two years ago, there are still many thousands of German and Austrian prisoners in Siberia.

Some of the returning prisoners describe the awful conditions of the Siberian prison camps declaring that the men die not only from privation and epidemics, but as often from melancholia and from the thought that they are forgotten and forsaken. Numerous camps are known as "death camps." The prisoners mentioned one camp where 2,500 out of 5,000 prisoners died so fast last Winter, that graves could not be dug fast enough in the deeply frozen ground. The corpses were stacked up like cordwood near the hospitals and were allowed to freeze together solidly and then buried at that spot when the thaw began.

Before the ground began to freeze this Winter, great numbers of graves were dug at the camps to be in readiness for those thousands who will die before Spring. These yawning graves according to the returning men, have a most depressing effect on the prisoners at the camps.

American Firms Seeking Plants

Quebec Commissioner Urges Need of Protection Before Commission

Quebec, Nov. 12.—Inquiries by the United States firms desirous of establishing manufacturing plants in Quebec were advanced as evidence of the advantage of protection by O. H. Cote, Industrial Commissioner of the Board of Trade, before the Tariff Commission, which met here this morning under the chairmanship of Sir Henry Drayton, Finance Minister.

Mr. Cote said the American firms interesting themselves in Quebec were connected with the following interests: asbestos, glass, motor cars, storage batteries, silk, knitting and tractors,etc.

Mayor Samson, citing official statistics, showed the tremendous development of Quebec under protection within the last twenty years, and the immense increase in the amount of capital invested in Quebec industries There were, he said, besides the 72,500 people directly dependent upon the development and continuance of the industries in Quebec, merchants, professional men and others also depended indirectly upon those industries. Anything that would curtail the demand for products manufactured in Quebec city would have a serious effect upon all classes in the community, said the Mayor.

The Mayor favored, as Sir Lomer Gouin stated at the annual convention of the shoe manufacturers in this city some time ago, a tariff that would keep industries going, labor men working for good wages and the most deserving of all Quebec citizens, the good farmers—content and prosperous."

J. R. Fortier spoke at some length of the exodus from Quebec to the United States in the past when there were no industries to attract the surplus of the rural populations. It was only through the adoption by the Government of a national protective tariff said Mr. Fortier, that that exodus was stopped.

Burglar Overpowers Brockville Man

Exciting Battle With Robber of Summer Cottages

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 12—While paying a visit to Fernbank, a river resort west of here, F. B. Steacy, a Brockville merchant, had an exciting experience with a burly foreigner whom he caught in the act of robbing cottages. He observed him emerging from the cottage of H. W. Going, carrying a shot gun which Mr. Steacy recognized as his own, pilfered from his cottage there. Mr. Steacy wrenched the weapon from the burglar and at the point of the gun proceeded to march his prisoner towards Brockville with the intention of handing him over to the authorities. The stranger suddenly turned upon Steacy, and overpowering him regained possession of the gun which he held over him in a threatening attitude as he lay on the ground at his mercy. However the marauder did not shoot, and taking the gun beat a hasty retreat into the woods. While a posse was being formed he supposedly stole a canoe from a nearby boathouse and escaped to the American border where the craft was later found pulled up on the shore. An examination showed that almost every cottage of the resort had been ransacked and several articles stolen.

Railways Start Liquor Clean-up In Essex

Stated that Investigation Has Revealed Falsely Billed Cars.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 11.—A sweeping clean out of crews and other workers along the Essex border is predicted tonight in divisional railroad circles, where, it is claimed, recent investigations have brought to light the most far-reaching machinations for the shipment of huge quantities of liquor to the American side.

The traffic is said to have gone on for many months, but until recently investigators have found it almost impossible to trap the men concerned. Lately, however, evidence is said to have accumulated, and it is reported H. W. Matthews, the new divisional superintendent at St. Thomas, has been instructed to devote all of his energies to breaking up the organization.

During the past few months, according to the story, hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of liquor has been sent to the other side in car billed under various disguises. The cars by this process were taken over the river to the Detroit side, quickly unloaded, and returned to the Windsor yards. According to the records, they had never gone out of Canada, and as a result, all the customary safeguards were unavailing.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN BLAST ON VESSEL

New York, Nov. 10.—An explosion occurred this afternoon in the engine room of the Southern Pacific freighter El Mundo, lying at pier 51, Hudson river. Four killed and eight injured was the toll reported by the police at 3.30 o'clock, half an hour after the blast came.

According to company officials the explosion occurred in one of the ship's oil tanks and flames threatened to spread to another containing 8,500 gallons of oil. Everyone was ordered from the pier, as efforts were made to pull the vessel out into the stream.

Sugar Prices Keep On Dropping

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Sugar prices both wholesale and retail continued to go downward today when the Dominion Sugar Company through their Toronto agent announced a further cut to the new low price of 12.21 for granulated white sugar to retail trade and 11.60 per hundred to wholesalers. Acadia Sugar Refining Company quoted 13 cents as nominal price to retailers while St. Lawrence Company quoted 13½ cents nominal, less 5 per cent. off to wholesalers. These quotations are still considered too high by dealers generally judging by the volume of business reported. Wholesalers and retailers continue to buy in limited quantities.

TURN PAPER INTO MUSIC

All groups of boys in the city are to meet at the Y.M.C.A. lecture room tonight at 7.30. The object of the meeting is to get each group lined up for the section of the city that they are going to canvas Saturday morning for old papers and magazines. The interest is growing and there should be a great number of boys out to assist in this noble cause. Three teams will collect this paper and an enthusiastic bunch of boys with the co-operation of the citizens will put it over. This means that there will soon be a Victrola for the old folks.

Hunger Strikes Called Otf

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Cork, Nov. 12.—Hunger strike of nine Irish prisoners in Cork jail was called off today, the ninety-fourth day of the strike. This was revealed when a message received by Lord Mayor O'Callaghan from Arthur Griffiths, founder of the Sinn Fein organization was given out. "I am of the opinion that our countrymen in Cork prison have sufficiently proved their devotion and fidelity and that they should now, as they were prepared to die for Ireland, prepare again to live for her," read the message.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Frank Sapara a wealthy Polish farmer from Tantallon, Sask., was robbed by pickpockets of $9,500 while about to board a train at the Canadian Pacific Railway station Sunday night on his way home to Poland.

Premier Drury Addresses Women

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—From its very small and rather crude beginning, when it was looked upon as a place where women met for a social hour and an exchange of recipes the Women's Institute has grown in public service and public spiritedness, said Hon. E. C. Drury, Prime Minister of Ontario, addressing the Women's Institute convention in the Technical School until it has become a very real force in rural Ontario, looking to all sorts of community uplift. Speaking of the danger of estrangement between city and country, Mr. Drury said he believed the danger of misunderstanding and misinformation was greater on the part of the city people than on that of the country people. The country folk have always, for the sake of hospitality put the best foot forward when the city folk have come to see them. They emphasized the bright side and then the people who had to buy produce at high prices blamed it on the farmer.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Resolutions were passed asking for more rigid censorship of films and more liberal use of educational films asking that the importation of liquor be prohibited in Provinces that had prohibited its sale; asking for better guarding of Ontario's highways; disapproving the tendency to immodest dress among women; asking that the age of consent be raised from 16 to 18 asking that a woman's interest in her husband's property be not dependent upon his death, and that a woman be entitled to a vote in municipal elections on her husband's real property; asking that in the development of the Hydro-electric system every consideration be given to the needs of the farm and the farm home, calling upon the Dominion Government to prohibit the proposed erection of a Mormon Temple in Alberta, and endorsing the work of the National Council for Combating Venereal Disease.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. William Todd, Orillia; Vice-Presidents, Miss E. D. Watson, Ayr; Mrs. Yates, Athens; Mrs. George Edwards, Komoka; Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Macoun, Campbellford; Directors, Mrs. J. Sexsmith, Havelock; Miss H. Beardmore, Port Credit; Mrs. B. O. Wrangel Withdraws In Face Of Attacks

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 12—General Wrangel is withdrawing his forces in Northern Crimea towards the main defensive line which runs through the village of Lushun, about nineteen miles south of Perkop. This operation is being carried on in the face of attacks in force by Soviet troops. Consideration is being given to the removing of civilians from that city and it is probable they will be sent away soon as the situation is admitted to be critical.

Angry Armistice Crowds Thrash Girl Employees

SUFFRAGETTE'S NEWSPAPER OFFICE STORMED—EMPLOYEES BANGED TIN CANS AND SANG DURING TWO MINUTE SILENCE—CROWD INCENSED BY FLAGRANT DISRESPECT.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The girl employes in the offices of Sylvia Pankhurst's communistic paper, "The Workers' Dreadnought" in Fleet street were thrashed and the offices upset just after eleven o'clock today by an angry crowd.

The leaders of the party which raided the offices alleged that during the two minutes of solemn silence in honor of the fallen dead, as provided for in the Armistice Day programme, some of the women in the office "were singing, dancing and banging tin cans."

When the signal came at eleven o'clock for the silence throughout the city all traffic on Fleet street was stopped and stood respectfully at attention. It is claimed that amidst this tribute there came from the Workers' Dreadnought offices a frightful racket and sounds of revelry.

The indignant crowd in the street waited until the two minutes had passed and then a mob of men and women invaded the Dreadnought offices. Papers were strewn about the place, and then the men stood aside while the women invaders gave the girls in the offices a sound trouncing. This continued until the police arrived.

One of the girl employes later said that the members of the publication's force who did not believe in the tribute of silence continued dusting the office and made some noise, but did not think it could be heard in the street.

There will be a celebration this evening by the French societies under the direction of the Consul of France of the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the 3rd Republic of France. The anniversary day fell on September 4th last, but the celebration was postponed till Armistice Day.

Royal Engineer At Angus Shops

Prince Purachatra, Commissioner-General of Siamese State Railways

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—The C.P.R. Angus Shops had a visit yesterday from H.R.H. Prince Purachatra of Siam, commissioner-general of the Siamese State Railways, who has been on a short visit to the North American continent to study railroads, with a view to taking some hints for his own country. The Prince spent two hours yesterday at the Angus Shops, where he was shown over by Mr. H. H. Boyd assistant to the chief mechanical engineer, together with Mr. John Burns, works manager. He evidenced particular interest in the car construction department and examined very carefully the new dining cars which were under construction, and he also went carefully over the new baggage cars. In the locomotive department the Royal visitor spent some time in looking at a new passenger engine, noting especially the frame of the cylinders. His observations were so close that he said little; but it was gathered that he was greatly impressed with what the Canadian Pacific Railway construction shops were able to turn out.

Speech Incited To Commit Murder

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Lt.-Col. Lestrange Malone, M. P. for the East division of Leyton, who was arrested Wednesday night in Dublin where he had gone, by invitation to speak in a debate on Bolshevism, was arraigned in Bow street police court today. This proceeding arose from a speech delivered by Col. Malone in Albert Hall last Sunday. The case was adjourned for a week and the defendant released on two thousand dollars bail. Large crowds of sympathizers cheered him as he left the court. The crown prosecutor declared Col. Malone's speech was nothing less than an incitement to murder.

Bolshevist Leader In England Has Been Placed Under Arrest

COL. MALONE, M.P., ADVOCATED HANGING CURZON AND CHURCHILL ON LAMP-POSTS, AND DENOUNCED LLOYD GEORGE — IMPORTANT PAPERS IN HIS RESIDENCE SEIZED.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Colonel C. P. Malone, M.P., was arrested at Leyton following the seizure of important papers at his London residence. The arrest was made by the military authorities. Malone, who was recently elected to the House of Commons as a Liberal, announced, upon his return from a visit to Russia, that he had become a communist. He is now leading the movement in England in favor of Bolshevism.

Errki Veltheim, the Finn who was chosen as a secret courier to Lenine bearing letters from Sylvia Pankhurst, and who was arrested on November 2, when leaving Malone's home, was sentenced to prison for six months.

Malone, who spoke on Sunday evening at the anniversary celebration of the Russian Revolution, described Premier Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Earl Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, as the scurvy agents of the capitalists and said the constitution should be changed. To save bloodshed due to the atrocities that are being committed, he said it would be better to use "a few lamp posts and walls."

"What are a few Churchills and Curzons," he declared, "hanging on lamp posts, compared to the massacre of thousands at Amritzar or the death of reprisals of hundreds in Ireland?"

Both Bodies of Fishermen Found

Linneause McKibbon and Emerson Hineman, of Cherry Valley Victims in Drowning Accident

The bodies of both fishermen drowned near Picton on Tuesday were recovered. Additional details of the tragedy are given by the Picton Gazette as follows:

One of the saddest events that has happened for a long time in this county was the drowning of two well-known and highly respected residents of the village of Cherry Valley, Lineaus McKibbon and Emerson Hineman. The third member of the party, Mr. Frank Demore, narrowly escaped death and was so exhausted when he reached shore that if help had not fortunately been at hand, he would almost certainly have perished also.

Early Tuesday morning the three men left their homes and on reaching the shore put out in a row boat to lift their nets. A good load of fish was secured and a start mace for the shore. While out the wind rose and on reaching the more shallow water which is quite a distance from shore at this point, the waves broke over the boat filling it. It sank at once and the men were struggling in the icy water. Demore who is a good swimmer finally reached land. As it happened Mr. Charlton Metcalf was at this time near the shore after some horses that had been pasturing on a farm in this vicinity. He saw Demore as he reached the shore exhausted and put him in his car and rushed him at once to a house where he was cared for and revived.

The accident occurred about 8 a.m. Search parties were at once organized and during the day McKibbon's body came ashore and was recovered. During Tuesday night the watch continued and about 3 a.m. Wednesday morning the wind went down and a boat at once put out. Finding the net floating it was hauled in and Hineman's body was found entangled therein.

Mr. McKibbon was well-known and highly respected. He was a man of fine principles and he had the courage of his convictions. He was a member of Cherry Valley Methodist church, Bay of Quinte Lodge, I.O.O.F. Picton, and Macphelah Rebekah Lodge, No 144.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and four children, one son Lewis and three daughters Mildred and two younger sisters.

His funeral was held at Cherry Valley church.

Mr. Hineman had resided in Cherry Valley for many years and was also a highly respected citizen. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife but no family. His funeral was held at Cherry Valley church. Both were intered in Cherry Valley cemetery.

BARN AND CROP BURNED

On Tuesday night a large frame barn, the property of Mr. Benjamin Hagerman, of Rawdon Township, was burned and the fire appears to have been of incendiary origin. The barn contained the season's crops and many farm implements. On Sunday morning Mr. Hagerman discovered that his auto had been damaged to a considerable extent. The tires were all punctured by having nails driven into them and on Monday an attempt was made to burn his drive-house.

TIRED NERVOUS MOTHERS VINOL IS WHAT YOU NEED

To Make You Well And Strong

Women in this city who are "fagged out," weak, overworked and nervous should profit by the experience of Mrs. C. J. Snoddy, of Mossomin, Sask. who writes, "I am a farmer's wife and keep house for my family of six children. I suffered from a constitutional breakdown and a weak, nervous, run-down condition and always tired. My daughter recommended VINOL and it built me up so I enjoy my meals and feel like a different woman."

This is another link in the great chain of evidence to prove to overworked mothers that Vinol contains the very elements needed to build them up and make them strong.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

ALMA SIMPSON'S RECITAL

The song recital to be given in the City Hall next Monday evening by Alma Simpson should (and undoubtedly will) be generously patronized.

Alma Simpson is an artist of international fame. Her voice, the Ottawa Citizen says "is of caliber and quality seldom heard in Ottawa and which few living concert sopranos can equal." Her recital affords everyone the unusual opportunity of hearing works of the world's best composers admirably interpreted while by attending the recital you stimulate and encourage the enterprising organizations responsible for the appearance of such an artist in this city.

At the City Hall you can hear this great artist in the same recital as she has presented in the principal cities of the world, and recently in Montreal and Ottawa.

Musical art and literature are two of the greatest available powers for influencing the national imagination and through the imagination the whole of our political, economic, religious and artistic life.

The recital is being given under the auspices of Quinte Chapter I.O.D.E. in aid of the Children's Shelter.

"BRINGING UP FATHER"

The many lovers of laugh-provoking musical comedy will be delighted to learn that "Bringing Up Father at the Seashore" is the attraction announced at Griffin's Opera House, next Tuesday night, November 16th, for one night only. This is an entirely new offering and as the title indicates, is based on the famous cartoons of George McManus. Gus Hill, as usual, is sponsor for the production which is under his personal direction and which will be presented after the "Hill Standard" of excellence and perfection. In this latest concoction of song, gladness happiness, scenic investiture and melody, the popular newspaper comics will be seen in a series of laugh-provoking complications, situations and surprises. Of course, the fundamental idea, as we might chronicle in advance, is the efforts of the Mahoney clan to get "Father" to the seashore. However "Mother," the guiding genius of the Mahoney household, generally accomplishes her purpose. How she succeeds is the subject of a pleasant, amusing and side-splitting comedy.

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucous and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.

Disapproves Report of Provincial Board

Chamber of Commerce Directors Take Issue with Provincial Board of Health.

A weekly meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the city was held yesterday afternoon and considerable business was transacted. Ald. Bone, acting secretary, read a number of letters and also explained that he was in touch with a number of industries with the object of having them locate in Belleville. A representative of a large industry will be in the city in a few days, he said, to look over property. The acting secretary is also in touch with Mr. Philip W. Blake, who is connected with an immense concern, a branch of which may be located here.

A letter was received from Mr. E. G Porter, K.C., relative to the bay bridge matter. The communication stated that the company was prepared to hand over the deed as soon as required by the municipalities interested in the purchase of the bridge.

It was decided to have an open forum meeting in the near future when Mayor McLogan, of Westmount Quebec, will be present to give an address on the question of civic government. An effort is being made to secure Mr. Owen Hobart, of Gardner, Mass., Chamber of Commerce, to give an address on civic matters.

Arrangements are being made to have Hon. E. C. Drury, Premier of Ontario, present on the 25th inst., to give an address at the meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade to be held here on that date.

The following resolution, re the condition of the River Moira was unanimously adopted:

"That the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Belleville disapproves the report of the Provincial Board of Health regarding the condition of the Moira River during the period of low water in September and October of this year, and is of the opinion that their report is completely at variance with the facts for the following reasons, viz.:—

"That no city sanitary sewers empty into the river north of the C. P. R. bridge.

"That their report regarding city sewage is grossly exaggerated.

"That the nuisance was entirely caused by dead fish which were killed by fluids passed into the river from sources outside the city of Belleville.

That a copy of this resolution be sent to the City Council, the Provincial Board of Health and the County of Hastings, with the request that immediate steps be taken to have this nuisance discontinued.

Eclipse Of The Sun On The Screen

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—There was a partial eclipse Wednesday morning and at ten o'clock about one-third of the sun's surface was obscured by the moon. Although this phenomenon was visible in its different phases for a period of two and a quarter hours, it is doubtful whether it was observed by many, thanks to the brilliant sunshine that was a feature of most of the morning.

The eclipse was due to commence at 8.53, but shortly before then a dense mass of stratus clouds covered the sky and when these had drifted past, the moon had already commenced to bite a small arc out of the upper rim of the sun. This darkened portion gradually increased as the moon moved across the sun, the maximum point of the eclipse being reached at 9.59 and the end at 11.09, this being within 15 seconds of the time that had been computed years in advance by astronomers.

WATCHED AT OBSERVATORY

The morning's eclipse could be plainly seen through a smoked glass or by the naked eye whenever a passing cloud dimmed the brilliancy of the sun.

At the Observatory at Toronto, it was watched by F. H. Blake, astronomer to the Meteorological Service of Canada, and by several interested spectators who had been sufficiently ambitious to climb the long flights of stairs leading up to the big telescope. Among these was a moving picture operator who took several hundred feet of film.

The sun has a diameter of 880,000 miles and through the large equatorial telescope in the Observatory its reflection is projected as a circle of about five or six inches in diameter. On this it was possible to see a sun-spot whose image appeared to be about an eighth of an inch in length but which in reality is about 3,000 miles long. Crater-like chasms such as this frequently appear on the face of the sun but they rarely last for more than two or three months before being fused over by the intense heat of the sun itself.

WAS A FINE ONE

Owing to the good visibility, the eclipse was remarkedly fine despite the fact that it was merely a partial one. It is now about sixty years since a total eclipse of the sun was seen in Toronto, although one will be visible here on January 8, 1925.

"UNITED STAES IS NOT AT WAR WITH RUSSIA"

Washington, Nov. 11.—The United States has definitely informed the Entente powers that it will not, under any circumstances participate in the blockade against Soviet Russia that has been instituted.

Following this announcement Sir Auckland Geddes the British Ambassador, paid a long visit to Secretary of State Colby this afternoon.

The reason given the Ambassador for the stand taken by the department it is understood, it that "the United States Government is not at war with Russia."

Alberta's dry majority is 19,284 with West Edmonton to be heard from.

By Paul Armstrong.

The flashlight of his character will find every corner of your heart; he will steal your every sympathy, resist though you will. He will run through your every feeling, turning you topsy-turvy with thrills. He will pick the lock of every emotion, and all the while bind you fast with the spell of your breathless interest in him. YOU'LL REGRET LETTING HIM GET AWAY WITHOUT SEEING HIM!

You can wear Woollen Underwear if the "Itch" is taken out

Overheard at a Club---

One day at the Club I overheard two fellow members talking of the coming cold weather—one chap said,

"I do hate cold weather; I wish I could wear woollen underwear, but my skin is too sensitive."

And the other said, "Well, there's one make of woollen underwear you or anyone can wear, no matter how sensitive their skins may be—and that is "CEETEE."

It is the softest stuff I have ever seen or worn—you just try it. I know you will like it."

He spoke the truth—"CEETEE" pure wool underclothing is so clean and soft a baby can wear it.

There is none other like it made in Canada.

Only the finest Australian Merino wool is used.

There are no seams, as it is knitted with selvedge edges, which are knitted (not sewn) together.

MR. KING'S PUSSYFOOTING.

The Farmers' Sun, official organ of the United Farmers of Ontario, observes that Hon. Mackenzie King does not appeal to the United Farmers any more than does Mr. Meighen—in fact, "the Premier by his outspokenness in regard to tariff matters is far more to be commended than the pussyfooting which Mackenzie King has indulged in." It finds that Mr. King 'hedges and side-steps," "makes vague utterances" and "is willing to be all things to all men in order that he may gain a few votes."

ABOLISH THE CAPITALIST SAYS THE SOCIALIST

Some people were inclined to scoff at Premier Meighen's warning of dangerous radical sentiment in Canada, but evidence keeps cropping up to substantiate the Premier's warning. Recently at Winnipeg a meeting was held to celebrate the second anniversary of the Russian Bolshevik revolution at which A. Bartholomew, of Brandon, a member of the Socialist party of Canada, expressed the following sentiment:

> "There can be no uplift of the morale of the workers of the world unless the capitalist class is abolished. The hostility between the masters and the producing class has never been so bitter as today, for promoters of social reform are not concerned with the workers' soul not thoughtful of their intellectual emancipation, but making efforts to discover new methods by which greater production will be realized."

MAKE CANADIAN DOLLAR WORTH ONE HUNDRED CENTS.

Exchange increases prices. It raises the cost of manufacturing in Canada and adds to the difficulties of industrial employment for Canadian workers. Coal, cotton, iron and steel products, and oil, enter largely into the cost of production of most commodities and services. In buying such commodities from the United States, Canadians have to pay a substantial premium on account of the decline of Canadian money. Each purchase encourages higher prices and a higher exchange rate.

Exchange is three times as high as it was a year ago. Early last February the premium on New York funds amounted to 17½ per cent. It threatens to go still higher this winter and next spring unless effective remedies be applied. Those remedies, if applied at all, must be applied consciously and as a matter of both national duty and self-interest by the people of Canada whenever they spend money. The merchandise trade balance is running against us to the amount of between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 per month. If we include interest on obligations abroad and other items in the account, Canada has an adverse balance of trade which at the present time is running at the rate of more than $40,000,000 per year.

The discount on Canadian money is a warning that our trade situation is unhealthy and overbalanced. The great volume of imports into Canada, if it continues, means unemployment for Canadian workers, idle factories, and a higher cost of living for Canadians generally. World conditions make impossible any large, immediate expansion of our export trade. The only way in which any permanent correction can be effected in exchange is by reducing imports into this country, by supplying demand with Canadian products instead of imported goods. A national Made in Canada campaign is needed to combat high prices, to reduce exchange, and to ensure employment. These needs can be accomplished if:

1. Individuals, business interests, and municipal and legislative bodies give effective preference in their purchases to Made in Canada goods.
2. Adequate tariff protection is retained to ensure a large proportion of Canadian buying demand for Canadian products, thus encouraging quantity production and establishing low unit costs.
3. Employers and employees co-operate to supply the Canadian public with Canadian-made goods of the best quality at the lowest prices

The Hamilton Times commends Premier Meighen for promising to present a tariff in such definite form that an elector will know how to vote for or against the government. "This may not be a good party move," says the Times, "but it will enable the electors to give an intelligent vote on the question."

The Ontario Minister of Public Works who is now on a tour of inspection of the roads of the province, will, we hope, come in this direction. Between here and Prescott he will find a road upon which thousands of dollars have been spent—and apparently spent in vain, for the road in most places is really not a road at all but a combination of mud and broken stones. It has been a shameful waste of the people's money.—Kingston Standard.

"I have two doctors," said George MacAulay Trelevelyn, "my left leg and my right. When mind and body are out of gear, and those twin parts of me live at such close quarters that the one always catches melancholy from the other, I know I have only to call in my doctors and I shall be well again." Between summer's languor and the bitter winds of winter lies the season which God gave mankind for walking. The air is clear and bracing, the ground dry under foot and carpeted with leaves, the hillsides, road sides and the woods a painted delight. Sick indeed must be the patient who cannot be cured of his mental and bodily ills by an autumn walk.

The West, where anti-protection sentiment is strong, knows that the Liberal party as constituted cannot be trusted. "Mr. King doubtless understands," says the Manitoba Free Press, "that there is a widespread feeling of distrust of the official Liberal party in the West. The opinion is pretty widely held that the Liberal Government, of which Mr. King was a member, was partly sympathetic to the big business point of view and its tariff policy was not very far removed from the position which Mr. Meighen now holds so firmly."

ILLIGIBLE SIGNATURES

Guelph Herald

The editorial committee on Ottawa Government publications has issued an order that the writer of a letter must type his or her own name below the written signature. This is a regulation which might well be put into general practice. There are many people whose signature resembles a rail-fence more than anything else, and much time and annoyance could be saved by using the typewriter as a translator.

London City Council has passed a resolution asking that the city have four members of the Legislature, instead of one. The county of Middlesex has three members for 41,000 people. Other cities and towns are much under-represented, both in the Ontario House and the Dominion House, and if the rural community wages a political battle on them, through the U. F. O. movement, they are entitled to a fair deal in representation in order to defend themselves.

FLOWERS' NAMES

If only you walk with an open ear
And watch with an open eye
There's wonderful magic to see and hear
By silently passing by;
In meadows and ditches, here and there,
You'll find the clothes that the fairies wear.

You can see each golden and silvery frock
In Lady's Mantle and Ladysmock;
There's Lady Garter (which I suppose,
They wear with the cowslips called Hose-in-hose);
The solemn fairies who ride on owls
Shroud their faces with Monswood cowls;
And there's other things besides fairy dresses—
There's Lady's Mirror and Lady's Tresses.

Bachelors' Buttons must for elves
Who have to do up their clothes themselves;
And the tailor fairies use Fairy Shears,
Long cutting grasses that grow by meres;
And they mend their things with the Spider-stitches,
Faint white flowers that you find in ditches,
And Shepherd's Needle, which you'll see plain
In every meadow and field and land,
And when they've used them they grow again.

If only you walk with an open ear
And watch with an open eye,
There's wonderful secrets to see and hear
By silently passing by,
In meadows and ditches, here and there
You'll find the clothes that the fairies wear;
And if you look when they think you've gone
Perhaps you'll see them trying them on.

Thrilling Crook is Jimmy Valentine

Splendid Week-end Bill of Screen and Vaudeville Attractions

So consummately skilful an actor is Bert Lytell that with each successive appearance there is in the spectators' mind a process of readjustment. One says to himself, "He's not at all like his last self, but it must be Bert Lytell for the picture says so." Which is all by the way of saying that in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Metro's screen version of the famous Paul Armstrong crook play, which is as well known as the movies themselves. Mr. Lytell has a role utterly different from his last picture here, "Lombardi Ltd." and he enacts the popular part of Jimmy with such extraordinary cleverness that one never stops to think that it is acting at all. Probably many of the large audience who saw the picture last evening at Griffin's have seen the play done on the stage, and no doubt many of the throng that is sure to crowd that motion picture playhouse during the run of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" are in a measure familiar with the story.

The photoplay reveals Jimmy Valentine a prisoner in Sing Sing on a charge of burglary, who has earned the enmity of the warden there by his refusal to acknowledge that he can open safes without burglar's tools, and because too, Jimmy has always "played the gentleman." Immediately upon the prisoner's release which is affected through influence brought about by a girl's interest in him, the young and, as the newspapers would put it, alleged cracksman, finds himself dogged by Detective Doyle, who threatens to bring fresh evidence against Jimmy unless he gives a clue to the whereabouts of a pal of his. Jimmy refuses, and being offered a chance to make a fresh start in another and distant city, eludes the plainclothesman. What follows after this forms one of the most engrossing stories of the underworld and love and mental quickness ever conceived.

"Vode-Vil-Movies," a novel reel showing the performance of high class vaudeville turns, 'Petticoat and Pants' a funny 2-reel special Christie comedy and the closing chapter of 'The Whirlwind' serial preceded the feature offering.

"The Virginia Girls," a singing orchestra replete with the melodies that have made the south the home of the heart songs of the American people and with a musicianship of all stringed instruments forms the vaudeville portion of the program and proved a very entertaining offering. The program will be repeated again to-night and Saturday matinee and night.

AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKE IS NOW LOOKING FOR A JOB

Berlin, Nov. 11.—Archduke Leopold Ferdinand, who would be next in line for the Austrian throne should Otto, eldest son of Emperor Charles, die, is looking for a job. He speaks six languages fluently, including English and because of that, in a letter to an American here, thinks he would be well qualified as head porter in a hotel, or as a valet or chauffer or travelling companion. He is modest in appraising his own value, but thinks that he ought to be worth a minimum of five dollars a day to some one.

Nature's Mirror

When a woman is well and healthy—there's a sparkle in her eyes, a rose tint in her cheeks, and she has rich red blood. After taking nature's tonic which Dr. Pierce called "Favorite Prescription," there's elasticity in every movement and a spring in her step. Love comes to every woman who has bounding health—but when she is pallid, dull eyed, languid, she has no magnetism nor does she appeal to any man.

SAVED A LIFE

Elmira, Ont.:—"I have a very kind feeling for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for it once saved my mother's life. When going through middle age her health failed very fast; she suffered with pain in her head and backache, in fact, she had pains and aches all through her body. She lost weight, was very nervous, would become dizzy and at times faint and fall wherever she chanced to be. This necessitated our watching her all the time, we dared not leave her alone. She was as miserable as one could be and live. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was recommended to her. She took six bottles and was completely restored to good health."—MRS. B. E. TWO YEARS MORE TO FINISH TOWER

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The central entrance to the Parliament Buildings will not be used during the next session of Parliament. The tower has gone up forty feet, but will take ewo years to complete.

The Hall of Fame will be nearly ready by the end of January, and then the heartburnings will begin as to the choice of great Canadians to occupy niches reserved for such. A joint committee of Parliament representing both Houses and all groups in it is suggested to make the selections.

Work on the new building will not be finished before the summer of 1925 in the opinion of competent judges, and the total cost will exceed ten million dollars although the original estimate was for half that figure. It is being constructed on the cost basis. The Commons Chamber has been redecorated in gold and sky blue in preparation for the next sesion.

Montreal Woman Was Surprised

Did Not Think Tanlac Could Restore Her Health So Soon, Says Mrs. Clements

"I just don't believe anything could have helped me more than Tanlac has, for I am now enjoying as good health as anyone could wish," said Mrs. Clarilda Clements, of 90 Inspector street, Montreal, Que.

"My stomach began to trouble me about two years ago and grew worse until I could not eat anything without it distressing me. "My appetite became extremely poor, the gas on my stomach was awful and I suffered also from terrible cramps. My nerves just seemed to be worn to a frazzle, my sleep was broken and restless and every morning I just felt that I didn't have the strength to last through the day. I could not attend to my housework and felt that I was growing weaker and weaker each day.

"I decided to try Tanlac and I was really surprised at the way I began to improve. I continued to take it until now I don't believe I was ever in better health. My digestion is splendid and I can eat just anything I like and it doesn't seem to disagree with me in the least. My nerves are as steady as I could want them and I can now lie down at night and sleep like a baby. I feel much stronger and can now attend to my housework. I owe so much to Tanlac that I will never get through praising it."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town

SAYS PEOPLE BALK AT TEMPERANCE ACT

Regina, Nov. 12.—The export liquor warehouses operating in Saskatchewan have such large stocks of liquor on hand that they will be able to continue in business for a considerable time after the prohibition law is brought into effect, declared Premier Martin in the Saskatchewan Assembly last night.

The Premier said that until these large supplies were exhausted the Province was powerless to eliminate them. There was only one power which could deal with them in the meantime, and that was the Dominion Government. An impression abroad that the Provincial Government could tax these places out of existence was incorrect. The courts had ruled that they had no power to license these warehouses.

Dealing with the Saskatchewan Temperance Act, the Premier said the reason they were unable to enforce this legislation was because the people did not want it enforced. Whenever a man was arrested for violating the act the authorities were besieged by his friends, including ministers of the gospel, seeking his release. He had spent the greater part of two nights recently talking with men who wanted to get their friends out.

WILL NOT REMOVE CATTLE EMBARGO

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Although forty thousand British butchers have supported Canada's demand for removal of the embargo against importation of Canadian live cattle into Britain recent communications received from England by the Dominion Department of Agriculture do not indicate that any action of the kind is imminent.

The British butchers were told that although Canadian cattle might be free from disease, there was danger that Canadian herds might be infected with foot and mouth disease from the United States. In point of fact it is pointed out that not a single case has been brought into Canada even when it has been epidemic in the United States.

Canadian cattle may be imported into England through certain specified ports if they are slaughtered within ten days. The limited privilege, however, does not permit of the furnishing cattle which have lost weight during the trans-Atlantic voyage. It is commended that the embargo was never justified, and that its removal is very desirable now when efforts are being made to increase Canada's export trade.

OFF TO CALIFORNIA

W. E. Borbridge, formerly of Brockville and until recently master mechanic on the Ottawa division of the C. P. R. was this week, on his retirement from this position, tendered a farewell by the engineers, shop hands and firemen of the division prior to his departure for California where he will reside. Mr. Borbridge, known in railroad circles as "The Doctor," was presented with a purse. Previously he was given a club bag by the staff of the superintendents' and train despatchers offices in Ottawa. Mr. Borbridge entered railroad service 49 years ago as a fireman on the Brockville and Ottawa Railway. Promoted to be engineer, he was for a number of years one of the most capable drivers on the C.P.R. and about 25 years ago was again promoted to become master mechanic. At first he was stationed in this capacity at Ottawa and later at Montreal where he served until recently retired on a pension. J. B. Elliott, formerly of Brockville, was one of the speakers at the gathering. Mr. Borbridge was also tendered a farewell at the Place Viger hotel, Montreal.

TOOK REVENGE FOR MOVING AUTO

Danbury, Conn., Nov. 10.—Arthur V. Donahoue, a reporter on the staff of the New York American, died in a hospital here from a bullet wound received about midnight in Newtown. A police alarm has been sent out for two men, one of whom fired the shot that killed Donahue.

The young man was visiting at Newton and had started to walk home with Edw. F. Pitzchler, his brother-in-law from the latter's barber shop, when the two came upon an automobile standing in the middle of the road without lights. Considering the automobile a menace to travel they moved it several yards to the edge of the road.

According to Pitzchler, two men then came out of an adjoining lot, and one of them fired three shots with a rifle. One of the shots found Donahue who fell with a bullet in his back. The two men entered their automobile and drove off quickly in the direction of Bridgeport. Investigation later showed that the two strangers had been engaged in stealing gasoline from a state highway department tank nearby.

DEATH THE DOORWAY TO WIDER LIFE

Wide-eyed mourners listened in amazement, in Berlin, to Oberdada Baader, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Order of Dadas, a literary society which believes the drama ought to be made more simple, when he recently preached a funeral sermon over the body of his wife.

Smilingly the Oberdada walked up to the coffin and in a bright and snappy little speech explained he had no occasion to grieve. Death, he said, was merely a matter of expansion, and he felt quite confident his wife was in a "wider life."

At the conclusion of his sermon the Oberdada made a cheerful exit.

MADE NOT GUILTY PLEA

New York, Nov. 10.—George S. Backer, millionaire builder, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned in General Sessions on charges of perjury growing out of his testimony before the Lockwood committee investigating the activities of New York's alleged "building trust". After a lively rhetorical battle between opposing counsel, in which Backer's lawyers fought for ten days' stay and Samuel Untermyer, representing the investigators, held out for immediate trial. Justice Mulqueen announced he would hear any motions which are to be made next Monday.

Armstice Concert Very Pleasing

Splendid Musical Program Given at Bridge Street Methodist Church.

The second annual Armistice Day concert took place at Bridge street Methodist Church Thursday evening and was well attended. An excellent programme was provided, and the artists taking part acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner. Capt. Dan A. Cameron, of Ottawa, a former well known Belleville vocalist, was present and delighted the audience with the various selections he rendered. His fine baritone voice was never heard to better advantage. Prof. R. J. F. Staples, of Albert College, gave two selections which were well rendered and he was obliged to respond to hearty encores. Miss Helen Hunt, solo violinist, gave several selections in a manner that was most pleasing. The young lady is a clever violinist and executed the numbers in a manner that demonstrated her exceptional talent. The choruses rendered by the fine choir of the church were all that could have been desired, especially "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower." Misses Phyllis Potter and Winnifred Pearce gave selections on the organ which were well executed. Miss Elizabeth Potter played the accompaniments upon the piano. The programme was under the capable supervision of Prof. V. P. Hunt, and the organ prelude, "Valse Lento," was played in a masterly manner. The program, which was as follows, opened with the singing of the well known national hymn, O Canada."

Organ — Prelude (Rachmaninoff); Valse Lento (Leo Delibes), Mr. V. P. Hunt.

Chorus—The Heavens are Telling (The Creation) (Haydn), the Choir.

Aria—It is Enough (Elijah) (Mendelssohn), Capt. Dan A. Cameron.

Violin—Allegro Maestoso from Concerto No. VII (De Beriot), Miss Helen Hunt.

Organ — Toccata (Ralph Kinder), Miss Phyllis Bogart.

Chorus — Bells of St. Michael's Tower (Knyvett-Stewart), the Choir.

Songs—(a) Irish Love Song (Lang); (b) Thora (Adams), Capt. Dan A. Cameron.

LINDSAY

The Very Life of the Dancing Party

When friends drop in for the evening, and the rugs of the living-room and library are rolled aside and the dancing begins, then it is that the LINDSAY Player-Piano comes in handy. You may be quite able to play good dance music, but surely you do not relish the idea of playing all the time and not dancing at all. Neither is it correct to invite a friend and tie him or her to the piano for the evening. With a LINDSAY Player-Piano all may play in turn, as each can play perfect dance music with it—Fox Trots, One Steps, and the dreamiest of Waltzes that would make a wooden Indian dance.

We have prepared an interesting little booklet illustrating and explaining the various uses to which the LINDSAY Player-Piano can be set. A copy is yours for the asking. Write, phone or call in for a copy if interested.

One-Day Trans-Atlantic Trip Predicted by Airplane Wizard

ANTHONY FOKKER, WAR-FAMED DUTCH INVENTOR, SEES IMMENSE POSSIBILITIES IN INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT FROM UTILIZING AERIAL ENERGY.

NEW YORK, Nv. 13.—Anthony H. G. Fokker, inventor of the Fokker air plane, Germany's greatest aerial asset in the war, reached port yesterday on the steamer Noordam. He predicted passenger airplane service across the Atlantic, making the flight in a day with energy obtained from the air.

The wizard of airplane construction is just thirty years old and, contrary to general impression is not a German but a Hollander. He said that he offered his machines to England and the United States in 1912 and when they ed elsewhere for a buyer and found a d elsewhere for a buyr and found a ready market in Germany. He continued:—

"I am out for business all over the world. Air transport is of the utmost international importance, and its possibilities have to be studied everywhere. I have my eye on not only the requirements for transcontinental traffic, but even on the question of a trans atlantic service. Wind and bad weather no longer present problems in the flying field, fog will soon be conquered and directional wireless will guide planes as surely as ocean liners are guided by submarine signals now.

"The importance of the metal plane has been exaggerated. I believe the use of aluminum alloys and steel will increase in the construction of aircraft but I think materials have been used indiscriminately and excessively in the all-metal planes. Accidents have been caused by using in these planes insufficiently tested materials. The existing types are impractical.

"There is energy in the air which we must learn to utilize for ascent and propulsion. Engineers are studying this problem now and have every hope that the day is not far distant when engines for airplanes can be dispensed with."

Russian Gold Hoard Melted Away

The Paris Temps has an interesting story about the golden hoard of Imperial Russia from the lips of M. Novitsky, ex-Permanent Secretary to the Czar's Minister of Finance.

It appears that in 1914 Russia held the biggest gold reserve in the world—180 millions sterling. To meet interest accounts the Minister of Finance sent to England, after war had broken out, about ten millions sterling. Part of this sum was lost at sea, several of the boats carying it having been sunk by the Germans in the Baltic. This route was afterwards given up, and Russian gold was sent over the long road of the Trans-Siberian Railway. At Vladivostok Japanese cruisers took it to Vancouver, whence it was taken to New York and London.

The total of these exportations M. Novitsky values at 68 millions sterling. Besides this, a half-million was sent to Stockholm just before the Revolution. That left in Russia, allowing for increases from the output of Siberian mines—nine millions yearly—about one hundred millions sterling. Part of it fell into the hands of M. Kerensky, by far the larger part was seized by the Bolsheviks.

The Bolsheviks had to pay to Germany by the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk 640 millions of gold rubles. This part of the Russian hoard was afterwards surrended by Germany into the custody of France at the armistice, and now lies, or did lie, at the Banque de France. The remaining portion of the treasure held by the Soviets was increased by the recapture of part of M. Kerensky's share. First stored by the Bolsheviks at Petrograd, it was transferred to Moscow, where it was split up into two part, one going to Samara and the other to Kazan.

Koltchak now enters on the scene as the owner of this enormous treasure. He seized in the sack at Kazan some 300,000 lbs. of gold, roughly 68 millions sterling. He had a special train of safes constructed and armored which followed his changing fortune wherever he went—to Samara, to Urfa and, after many adventures and vicissitudes, to Omsk. Koltchak sent 14 millions sterling to the Anglo-American Syndicate at Hong Kong, via Vladivostok, to buy arms and munitions. On the way two millions sterling of this disappeared.

From this moment the hoard begins to melt quickly. When Koltchak fled from Omsk he had no more than forty-four millions sterling. The golden train took fire and the escort rushed among the burning carriages, breaking open the cases with crowbars and loading their pockets, their blouses, and their boots with the coins and ingots Time pressed; the Bolshevik cavalry was in full pursuit. Czech cavalry, who already held Koltchak, approached to save the train, but though Bolsheviks were before them and mowed down the looters with machine guns. Millions of gold rubles were found to be missing. When the bodies of the "Gold Drunk" had been stripped and the broken cases counted hot search was made, and is still being made for the stolen rubles among Siberian peasants along the Trans-Siberian Railway.

Such are some of the adventures of the greatest amount of precious metal ever amassed in one place since written history began.

Early Close of Thorold Riot Trial

Charges Against 14 Men Withdrawn —Four Who Pleaded Guilty Are Fined

WELLAND, Ont., Nov. 11.—The trial of the eighteen alleged participants in the riot of Thorold on August 16th, before Magistrate Fraser in the Court House here, was brought to an unexpectedly arly termination this afternoon when the charges against fourteen of the accused were withdrawn by the Crown on account of lack of incriminating evidence.

The remaining four defendants through their counsel pleaded guilty to being members of an unlawful assembly and were fined one hundred dollars and costs each, with the option of three months' imprisonment. The fines were paid. They were the two Cowell brothers, Fred and Barney and Walter Johnson, an Indian, all teamsters in occupation and William Jackson, paper maker. All are residents of Thorold.

LITTLE ONE WORD CAUSED MAN'S ARREST

Duncan Mackay, a mechanic of Prescott, gave a cheque for $15 to John C. Carruthers, the G.T.R. station agent, for a ticket. He was surprised when he got to Kingston to be taken off the train by the police and taken back to his home town in custody on a charge of obtaining the ticket by presenting a cheque without funds to meet it. As he had in his account in the Merchants Bank on which the cheque was drawn, more than enough to meet the cost of the ticket several times over, the unfortunate young man was at a loss to account for the predicament in which he found himself.

It turned out later that Carruthers had telephoned to the bank. What the bank officials say was asked was whether there were funds to meet Dr. Mackey's chepue. The bank replied that Dr. Mackey had no account with them. Later, when they found that it was Duncan Mackey's account that was in question, the bank admitted that his cheque was all right. Upon learning this Carruthers withdrew the charge against Mackey.

Duncan Mackey then entered action against the bank, claiming $5000 damages for breach of contract in failing to honor his cheque. The bank's defence is that the cheque was never presented, and that payment of the cheque never refused. The bank further points out that on withdrawals from a savings account it is one of the bank's rules that the pass book must be presented and ten day's notice of withdrawal given, though these are often waived.

The local master at Brockville made an order adding Carruthers as a party defendant. This order Justice Ferguson has set aside on the application of H. S. White acting for the Merchants Bank. He points out that the causes of action are different. The action against Carruthers is for damages for malicious prosecution, which must be tried with a jury, whereas the action against the bank may be tried without a jury. He rules that the actions must be tried separately.

Louis Levenkron was found by his wife hanging dead in the cellar of his home in Montreal.

Fleeing From Sebastopol Before Advance of Reds

NOT ENOUGH SHIPS TO CARRY PEOPLE AWAY—REFUGEES ARRIVING IN SHIPS AT CONSTANTINOPLE REFUSED PERMISSION TO LAND ON ACCOUNT OF SCARCITY OF FOOD AND HOUSING ACCOMMODATION — GEN. WRANGEL'S SITUATION REPORTED TO BE DESPERATE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Sebastopol is being evacuated and British authorities are requisitioning ships in Constantinople to take refugees from that city, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., from the Turkish capital.

Eighty thousand persons in Sebastopol seek transportation from that city says a Constantinople despatch to Reuters Limited. A despatch which was filed yesterday says the number of ships available was limited and that it is probable it will be impossible for more than twenty thousand to embark. The first boat loads of refugees have arrived at Constantinople, the despatch said, but were not permitted to land, as housing facilities are limited and food scarce. Their plight is declared to be very grave. General Wrangel's situation in Northern Crimea is said to be desperate.

CONTROL OF PEREKOP.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Russian Soviet forces have won control of Perekop isthmus, leading to the Crimean Peninsula, and the situation of General Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik commander in the Crimea, is extremely bad, according to a despatch received today by the French Foreign Office. The Bolsheviki have advanced beyond Perekop, advices show, and have taken twelve million cartridges, eighteen cannon, three armored trains, one tank, a thousand shells and much transportation material.

$200,000 Debit Entry Charged to Credit

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Deliberate tampering with books, and juggling of accounts was found by Dr. Charles Morse, registrar of the Exchequer Court, in his examination of the affairs of the Central Railway Company of Canada. Claims filed against the defendant company amounted to something like $3,000,000, while the monies paid into court were $93,170,049 by the Dominion Government as the purchase price of rails belonging to the defendant railway company and used during the war, and a further amount of $21,150 from the sale of the steamer Empress, which operates on the Ottawa River, and the property known as the Queen's Wharf property in Ottawa.

The chief claim against the company was made by Charles N. Armstrong, of Montreal, president of the company, who asked $109,947.41 as remuneration for services rendered and expenses incurred on behalf of the company from 1911 to 1917.

The report of the registrar is a scathing denunciation of the methods employed in the administration of this company. Armstrong, says the report, received monies on behalf of the company, and seems to have helped himself to them. A debit entry of $229,999.50 was changed in the company's books to a credit entry for the same amount. Concerning this, the registrar says:

"I doubt if the deliberate tampering with the books of the company by Blagg, (accountant for the Ottawa River Navigation), at the instance, and in the interest of Armstrong, has any parallel in the history of corporations in Canada."

Armstrong's claim for priority is refused, as also is the claim of Senator Domville for $20,000.

CLAIMS WALL STREET EXPLOSION IS SOLVED

New York, Nov. 12.—The New York Evening World, under the headline, "Wall Street Explosion Solved," declared that the explosion was the result of a revolt of union house wreckers against Robert P. Blindell, head of the Labor Trades Council, and house wrecking contractors. The World's declaration was based on an independent investigation of the explosion.

The World says it has proof that 1,890 men, nearly all foreign born, sober, industrious, efficient and well disciplined, House Wreckers' Local No. 95, known recently as "the Polish Union," have within a space of 18 months been subjected to an amazing conspiracy of greed and injustice, and the explosion was the culmination of this tyranny.

"The buildings trades graft was responsible for the crime," declared the World. "The Evening World does not charge the union, as a union, with responsibility. It was the work of individuals, possibly inside the union, possibly the work of sympathizers."

The World stated that the bomb was designed to explode close to a house wrecking job being conducted near the Morgan offices by Albert A. Volk & Co., contractors.

Violent Fighting In Lithuania

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 13—A strong offensive by Polish troops was begun Wednesday on the northeast Lithuanian front, according to a Kovno despatch to the Berlin Tidende today. After violent fighting the towns of Smoiny and Turmond were occupied by the attacking forces who are now fighting outside Nova-Alexandrovsk, the reports stated. Disaffection is reported in the army of Gen. Seell-Gouski, Insurgent Polish Commander, whose troops presumably are the ones referred to in the Kovno message.

WANT COMMISSION FOR GOVERNMENT RAILWAY

North country people are hammering at the door of the Drury Cabinet demanding that they shall hustle up with the re-organization of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission. The Government is apparently wobbling between two opinions as to whether it shall be a board of three or five persons. It is learned that both the Prime Minister himself and Hon. Henry Mills, Minister of Mines, would like a seat on the commission. If a five-man commission is appointed it would not be surprising to see it made up of George Lee, chairman, Premier Drury Hon. H. Mills, A. T. H. Taylor, Liberal, hardware merchant of Cochrane, and J. H. Black, who was the first superintendent on the T. and N.O.

Premier Drury, when questioned regarding the re-organization of the commission, would only say that the matter was "receiving very earnest and serious consideration."

The medal has been handed over to the Public Library Board to be placed among their exhibits of medals.

Commons Pass Home Rule Bill

Tame Debate Marks Last Stages of Famous Measure

LONDON, Nov. 12—The Irish Home Rule Bill passed the House of Commons on its third reading after a motion for rejection of the measure, proposed by William C. Adamson, the Opposition Leader, had been defeated by 183 to 52.

The measure passed without any noteworthy incident in a rather tame debate. The Liberal and Labor members, who have boycotted it through most of its stages, as a sign of their conviction of its hopelessness a a settlement of the Irish problem were gain absent today. bsent today.

The final stage was reached in a small and rather listless gathering of members of the House.

Former Premier Asquith appealed for advantage to be taken of the associations and emotions aroused by the anniversary of Armistice Day, which could not be put to worthier use than an endeavor to find a basis for real settlement of Ireland's troubles.

A GENEROUS MEASURE

Mr. Lloyd George, replying, contended that the present bill was a generous measure but the Irish people were not in a temper to give it proper understanding and consideration. He declared that documents, to be published at an early date found in the possession of Sinn Fein leaders in 1918, proving they were involved in a German plot would show the necessity of England retaining complete control of Irish harbors.

To give Ireland the power to raise a conscript army, he said, would be a dangerous menace to Great Britain and he warned the Laborites that with an army of that kind in Ireland under full powers of Dominion Home Rule, conscription in England would become inevitable.

The Premier contended that it was equally impossible to allow Ireland her own navy, which was quite needless for her national life, and could be used only for the peril of Great Britain and her own destruction. He argued that it was fruitless to talk of granting fiscal autonomy to people still demanding a Republic. Expressing a fervent hope for the removal of misunderstandings which would make the future so dark, the Premier closed with a note of emotion:

"UNNAMED" MAY BE IRISHMAN

"It may be that it was an Irish soldier that we honored today. Ireland has had a great and brilliant share in the Empire. Some of her greatest and most gallant warriors helped to fight for the Empire. Some of her greatest statesmen—the shining wisdom of Burke and the stern leadership of Wellington—all contributed to build the Empire.

"All we ask is that Ireland should not in a moment of anger cast away an inheritance which is as much hers as ours, but join in the Empire it helped to build and adorn."

The influence of the Armistice anniversary was clearly marked in all the speeches, which showed a desire as far as possible, to avoid controversy.

WILD HEARST FAKE! BRITAIN AS WORLD FOE

New York, Nov. 12.—William Randolph Hearst's morning edition celebrated the second anniversary of the conclusion of hostilities by publishing for the edification of his following some startling "facts" which purport to show how Great Britain plans to "defy the world" by a new imperial defence extension scheme, which the paper alleges was evolved at a conference between "representatives of England and her vast overseas possessions" held in London recently. The despatch, which was carried from Washington, says that it is learned there that a military and naval force is planned, and includes the construction of a series of individual navies by Canada, Australia, India, Cape Colony and New Zealand.

Great Britain is to plead, Hearst says, that each one of the minor navies is essential to the defense of the individual Dominions to which it is attached but will be unit of the central British naval power.

The scheme includes also a "colonial army that must be maintained by each of the Dominion," he says. Canadian war veterans, as well as veterans of other Dominions, are also involved in the scheme, which would compel them to belong to a vast reserve, which is, according to Hearst, provided for in the plans to augment the regular military establishment.

"A vast air program," also contemplated, has not yet assumed definite shape, the despatch says.

A 10 per cent. staff reduction in the St. Thomas shops of the Pere Marquette Ry. is to take effect Monday.

All Canada's War Obligations May be Paid by Dec., 1937

TOTAL WAR INDEBTEDNESS IS $2,127,481,800—TO DO SO THE COUNTRY MUST RAISE EACH YEAR OVER $125,000,000, BESIDES INTEREST.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—If Canada can avoid further borrowing and set aside sufficient funds by way of sinking fund, her war obligations will all be paid by December 1, 1937. These obligations total $2,127,481,800, of which $1,976,608,800 is the principal of War and Victory Loans issued in Canada and largely held by Canadians. The balance, amounting to $150,873,000 represents the principal of Public Service Loans issued in New York. To liquidate this large liability without making further issues, Canada would have to provide, in addition to sums required to carry on the public service and to pay interest on all these loans, an average of more than $125,000,000 a year by way of sinking fund. Of course, as maturities were met, the annual interest burden would be diminished and the task of providing money for sinking fund to that extent would become less onerous.

Outstanding bonds of domestic and New York issues with their amounts, rates of interest and dates of maturity, are as follows:

TRAMP OF PILGRIMS RESOUNDS IN WHITEHALL

London, Nov. 12.—There has been scarcely any cessation since yesterday's ceremonies in the tramp of pilgrims to the monument to Great Britain's war dead in historic Whitehall, the unveiling of which was the principal feature of the Armistice Day exercises. Durin gthe early hours of the morning, in cold, gray, foggy weather, so many workers on their way to their tasks were anxious to pay tribute before beginning their day's toil that the police had to marshal them four abreast past the memorial.

By eight o'clock many men and women, both young and old, principally o fthe poorer working population, were depositing their small bunches of flowers and wreaths at the monument, while other toilers proceeding to work and passing by on the sidewalk reverently removed their hats.

The crowd increased as the day progressed, necessitating the continuance of the closing of Whitehall to vehicular traffic.

FEAR THREE LOST WITH U. S. 'PLANE

Great Lakes, Ills., Nov. 12.—A fleet of airplanes was to continue the search today for the missing navy seaplane S-2-L, which left here Wednesday morning with a crew of three aboard and was last seen Wednesday afternoon riding the waves, 12 miles off Sheboygan, Wis. The airplanes were to leave here and comb Lake Michigan shores as far as Manitowc, Wis.

Hope that any of the crew may have survived was abandoned by experienced seamen today. They say it would have been impossible for the plane to have stayed above the water in the swirling snowstorm and seventy mile wind which roughened the waters last night.

A revenue cutter and a sub-chaser were still at work along the shore today searching for a trace of the missing plane. They are keeping in wireless touch with shore stations.

The S-2-L was commanded by Ensign E. M. Clark, of Peoria, Ills. Clark is the son of a New York manufacturer, but was employed at Peoria. He was using two weeks' vacation to take a course for reserve officers at the naval training station here.

A collision resulted, the plaintiff was thrown out and received severe cuts on the face.

GOOD HEALTH DEPENDS ON YOU

A man is often as well as he makes up his mind to be.

Disease, lassitude, sluggishness, insomnia, nervousness and other abnormal conditions are directly traceable to displacements of the vertebrae of the spine causing impingement of the nerves at the point of emission through the intervertebral openings This impingement shuts off the current of vital force flowing through the nerves from the brain to every cell in the body, and abnormal conditions result.

Such conditions are effects. Remove the cause. Without the cause there can be no effects. Make up your mind to be well. See your Chiropractor. Consultation and spinal analysis without charge or obligation.

GET-AWAY DAY FOR "JIMMY VALENTINE"

For swift-moving, electrifying entertainment and finished, forceful acting nothing has come to a Belleville screen in many weeks to approach "Alias Jimmy Valentine", starring Bert Lytell which is being shown for the last time tonight on the big vaudeville, photoplay program at the popular playhouse.

From the opening scene to the final close-up, this Metro screen version of Paul Armstrong's internationally celebrated crook melodrama has held the spectators nightly in a breathless tension of interest. Mr. Lytell's acting was a feature that must not be passed over without tribute to its art. Especially noticeable was the fact that this young star exhibited restraint in places where over-acting would have spoiled the illusion. This quality coupled with a dynamic fire in the tighter moments, enhanced the play in no mean measure. "Vode-Vil Movies" showing 7 high-class acts doing their different acts before the camera, the closing chapter of the popular "Whirlwind" serial, and "Petticoats and Pants" a funny 2 reel special Christie comedy completes the photoplay program. "The Virginia Girls", a singing orchestra sextette forms the vaudeville portion of the program and has proved a genuine treat for music lovers.

PLACED WREATHS FOR "DEAR DADDY"

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The solemn reverence that marked the placing of the many lovely floral tributes around the Cenotaph in front of the City Hall yesterday was enhanced by one of two outstanding incidents. The hearts of the great throng were touched when Little Agnes Connacher, of 405½ Yonge street, moved forward and placed a tiny bunch of white blossoms in position. "They are for my dear daddy," was all she could say.

Again an audible sob went up from the women present when four-year-old Norman Douglas, of 729 St. Clarens avenue, made his way to the base of the Cenotaph and placed his small tribute to "Daddy's" memory, Pte. John Douglas, of the 208th Battalion He was acompanied by a grey-haired aged lady clearly his "granny." She too paid her floral tribute to the memory of her hero son.

Out of the throng stepped a young lady. She carried only a small bunch of violets, but they were placed in position as reverently as the more elaborate and costly tributes. They are for my brother, Pte. Frank J. Leveridge," she said.

One of the officials came forward, he too bore a simple bunch of violets. "Just a tribute from a lady in the crowd," he explained.

EXPECTS 35 MILLIONS FROM THE INCOME TAX

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Improved methods of collection, coupled with the imposition of penalties for false returns or failure to make returns or pay amounts assessed will this year greatly increase the amount contributed to the National Treasury through the Federal Income Tax. Upwards of 150-000 persons will pay the tax and the amount which will be collected during the year is estimated at $35,000,000. While this is an improvement over last year it does not yet compare favorably, for instance with collections in New Zealand, where in 1919 over six millions sterling of about $31,000,-000 were collected. New Zealand has but one eighth the population of Canada and on the same ratio the Dominion should collect $240,000,000.

CANADIAN TEA FIRM ANNOUNCES BIG CUT

Toronto, Nov. 11.—A prominent Canadian tea firm with headquarters in Toronto has announced a cut of from 70 cents to 55 cents per pound retail for one of the popular varieties of tea. It is stated here that other tea concerns will probably follow suit. It is explained here that there is a glut on the British and Canadian tea market, owing to the feat that the British merchants have been unable to get their long hoarded stocks in the Russian markets. It is understood that Canadian tea firms will have to accept considerable losses as the result of the cut.

WAS BOUND, GAGGED, THEN ROBBED OF $1,500

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Three gunmen held up Nathan Jacobs, jeweller, of 390½ Yonge street in his bed room over his store during the night and after threatening to shoot him, forced him to hand over his keys, write down the combination of his safe, then bound him hand and foot to his bed, gagged him and walked down stairs, opened the safe and stole $1,500 in diamond rings and $375 in cash.

Mr. Jacobs was found tied to his bed this morning by Louis Winkler, 48 Major street, Mr. Jacob's optician, who was summoned by Issis Bochnek, aged 15, 22 Centre avenue, Mr. Jacobs' messenger.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

JUNE CAPRICE IN "IN WALKED MARY"

"In Walked Mary" is the name of the feature offering at the Palace Theatre, to be shown this Monday to Wednesday, matinees daily. Her full name is Mary Ann Hubbard, and she comes from Dixie of a poor but proud family is impersonated by June Caprice, who is making her debut as a star in her own right under Albert Cappelani's management. This original story by Oliver D. Bailey is as bright and wholesome, as charming and delightful as all the poetic fancies June Caprice's name has the power to conjure. It tells the romantic story of a little Southern girl who walked into a delicate situation and into the heart of her hero at the time she walked, unannounced, into his home and announced she had come to stay. In support of Miss Caprice in this romantic drama are, Thomas Carrigan, Stanley Walpole, Vivenne Osborne, and Francis M. Gordon. Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber appear on the same program in the opening chapter of "The Branded Four", a serial running riot with mystery and adventure, and which will sure prove popular with patrons of the Palace. A Snub, Pollard comedy, a Beautiful Travelogue, and other varied plays of interest will also be shown on the same program.

BILLIE BURKE AND LARRY SEMON

It is seldom that a five reel picture offers a more exciting role for a star than does "Away Goes Prudence", Billie Burke's new Paramount Artcraft picture which is to be the attraction at Griffin's this Monday and Wednesday. Part of the picture finds her flying over the Curtiss Flying Field in Atlantic City. During other scenes she is jimmying open windows, throwing knives, scaling walls, breaking into houses and dodging policemen. She also finds time to don a clever checked sport suit and several evening gowns. Percy Marmont a well-known English actor plays opposite the star. Larry Semon appears on the same program in a funny 2-reel comedy, "The Stage Hand", Screen snap shots a novel reel showing famous stars at work and play, Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack", and a beautiful Travelogue will also be shown on the same program.

CARTOON MUSICAL COMEDY

"Bringing Up Father at the Seashore," a musical comedy founded on the famous cartoons by George McManus, which will be seen at Griffins next Tuesday, November 16th, for one night only is a concentration of all the humour to be found in those irresistibly funny caricatures of the home life of the newly rich. It is an exact reproduction of Jiggs, Mrs. Jiggs Dinty Moore and all the well-known characters that made the McManus cartoons famous the World over. There is an appealing love story running throughout the play, which puts the audience in a sympathetic mood for love affairs of Kitty, the daughter, whose mother insists upon her marrying into society instead of the man whom she has set her heart. "Bringing Up aFther at the Seashore" is a ripping combination of laughter, music, dancing, smart ensembles, whistling melodies, pretty girls and stunning costumes, with a most extravagant production rarely equalled by travelling organizations.

RECITAL OF SONGS

The musical and social event of the season will be Alma Simpson's world-famed "Recital of Songs" at the City Hall next Monday night under the auspices of the Quinte Chapter I.O.D.E. for the benefit of the Children's Shelter.

The public of Belleville as usual know when to patronize anything worth while and have shown their approval of the appearance of an artist like Miss Simpson in the city by purchasing practically every seat in the hall.

Letters To The Editor

MUNICIPAL RINKS

To the Editor of the Intelligencer:
Dear Sir,

Now that the skating season is with us again, I would like to draw the attention of our civic authorities to the urgent need there is for a good public skating rink. We proide superintended play grounds for the summer why not a play ground for the winter as well? There really should be two public rinks, in East and West Belleville respectively, but one will do for a start if it is a good one. I am sure no ratepayer would object to the small cost that would be entailed, and we should benefit by having happier, healthier children, and by providing healthful recreation for the grown-ups The prices charged at the private rink here are away over the heads of most fathers of families. In Toronto there are public skating rinks provided with dressing rooms and check rooms, (and hockey rinks, too, I might add) in every public park. There must be dozens of them spread over the city, so you see in asking for one little sheet of ice, properly atended to, we are not asking so much, are we, when we compare ourselves to Toronto?

Last year's rink on the bay was much too small and not properly cared for. There was very rarely a good sheet of ice and one got dizzy turning around in a ten foot circle, consequently only a very few could be accommodated.

Let us not hesitate to spend money in providing healthful recreation. It is a good investment and the returns are large. The money required for this project, compared to the sums that are being poured out for street improvements would be as a mole-hill is to a mountain.

Trusting this suggestion will find a champion among the members of our very good city council, whom I want, by the way, to congratulate for the excellent work they have done for us this year.

I remain,
Yours truly
Herbert J. Parker

Nothing Like Internal Bathing for Constipation

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer Pills and Laxatives swallowed and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous Troubles resulting from it.

J. A. Darrach, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes: "I have been using your J. B. L. Cascade for the past three months and am convinced that it is the most modern and scientific method of dealing with Constipation that has ever been devised, and I will lose no opportunity to promote its use among my friends, as I can speak truthfully and enthusiastically as to its merits."

By the proper application of Nature's cure, warm water, by means of the J. B. L. Cascade, the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force Nature. Internal bathing assists her.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, a specialist on Internal Bathing, invented and perfected the J. B. L. Cascade which has done more during the past 20 years in restoring health and lessening disease than any other means combined.

Ask for booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." They will also be pleased to show and explain the J. B. L. Cascade to you, or write to Tyrrell's Hygenic Institute 163 College street, Toronto. J. S. McKeown, Druggist Belleville.

10,000,000 TIRES UNSOLD IN U. S.

Akron, Ohio, Nov. 12.—While the same factors have operated to affect the tire business as affected the automobile business, it was the activities of the dealers in "seconds" which probably precipitated the worst difficulties of the tire-makers.

According to an official of one of the leading companies, there are probably 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 automobile tires unsold in the United States.

SALTON SEA IS DISAPPEARING

Possibility That the Land It Has Covered Will Be Soon Available for Agriculture.

An inland sea which, according to geologists, has changed from sea to desert, and back again to sea, at least fifty times since its inception, is one of the wonders of the Imperial valley in California. At the present time the Salton sea, which is 100 feet below the ocean's level, is receding from its banks at the rate of approximately a mile a year. Today the sea is 18 miles long and nine miles wide at its widest point. In the heat of the torrid season the temperature in its neighborhood is from 10 to 20 degrees cooler than that of the surrounding country and outdoor dances are held on one of the abandoned fish-piers left high and dry by the receding waters. The Salton sea is situated in the very heart of the principal date-producing region of America. The land left bare by the retreating waters is eagerly sought by agriculturists, who stake their claims far out into the water in anticipation of further recessions. The soil is of salt-incrusted adobe clay and very fertile. Mud volcanoes, miniature geysers and bubbling "paintpots" attract many tourists to the spot. The quality of the volcanic "paintpots" is declared to rival the best European sienna and umber. Utilization of this new-found color supply may soon render the continuation of European imports of such pigment unnecessary.

MADE BOAT FROM SIDE CAR

Enthusiastic Duck Hunter Found Valuable Use for His Motorcycle Attachment.

On the opening day of the duck season at Baldwin Lake, Cal., last fall, a strange craft was sighted in the eelgrass of the shooting grounds. Its occupant was known to have ridden a motorcycle in more than 150 miles of mountain and desert road, and then to have been so unfortunate as to find all the boats gone. When he came in that night with his limit of birds, it was seen that he had made a queer but efficient duck boat out of his motorcycle side car.

Wood plugs closed the bolt holes where it was removed from the frame, and a can of pitch, judiciously applied, sealed all possible leaks. Rock ballast of some sixty pounds steadied the somewhat cranky craft, and its inconspicuousness aided the ingenious sportsman in securing an unusual bag of birds. So well pleased was he with the adventure that now he contemplates constructing a real combination side car and boat.—Mechanics Magazine.

Have Earned Place in History.

They failed to get overseas as a unit in the recent world conflict, but the famous Hell-for-Lether Fort Garrys, who charged into the blue at Cambrai, the Strathcona horse, the Royal Canadian dragoons and the Canadian Mounted rifles were filled with rankers who had worn the red tunic of the old Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

The police have not been empire-builders, but they have smoothed the road for empire and kept it smooth. Western Canada is western Canada today largely because of them. Though the old name under which they won fame and glory is now numbered with forgotten yesterdays, it will live forever in the history of the Canadian west as a symbol of efficiency, loyalty, heroism and law fearlessly enforced.

To Think and to Know.

A Charleston housewife being suddenly deserted by her cook advertised for another, stipulating that applicants must bring good references. The only response to the advertisement was a very fat and very black old woman who seemed promising until she was asked for her references.

"Deed, honey, Ah done tore up dem references," she responded.

"Destroyed your references? How unusual. Don't you realize that that must cause people to suspect that you are not a good servant?"

"Yassum, maybe dat's so," the applicant agreed. "Yo' des' 'speck Ah ain't er good serbent, but ef Ah had brung dem references yo'd know Ah was crazy!"

Dog Answers Doorbell.

There is one dog in London which, were its duties known, we should all join in voting an extra ration. It is the care of an entire household. All the human members of the family are deaf and dumb.

The dog answers the door. That is to say, when it hears a knock or a ring, it conveys the information to its betters by barks, which are detected by the opening and shutting of its mouth, by wagging its tail, and in the last resort by gently pawing its master or mistress and running toward front or back door.—London Chronicle.

And If It Wasn't.

The man who had served throughout the war as a private in the base hospital at Angers was loud in his scorn of a neighbor who hadn't gone into the service at all. A friend let him rave on till the Angers soldier had used the word slacker. Then he said:

"That's right, give it to him. All he did during the war was hang on to a nice soft job as testing pilot for the Curtiss people. All he had to do was to fly each machine long enough to see if it was safe for one of our aviators."—The Home Sector.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The rains of the early part of last week have given an impetus to fall plowing in many quarters where the work had been slowed up owing to the dry and hard condition of clay soils. While some farmers are now through with this work it will take many fully another week to turn under the acreage planned for.

The turnip crop is causing much discussion among farmers. The yield as a rule is good, and the general quality of the roots may be described as clean and most presentable, but prices are low compared with those of a year ago. Brant says that most buyers are offering only 12 cents a bushel, although four carloads are being shipped to Chicago at 15 cents a bushel f.o.b. Huron quotes them at from 17 to 20 cents a bushel. Waterloo reports a large yield per acre of turnips ranging from 600 to 1,000 bushels.

Potatoes are practically all up and are being stored. Peel estimates that about 20 per cent. of the crop in that county is affected by rot.

Sweet clover has been a disappointment with some growers in the northern part of Peel, where it is said some of the crop has been burned owing to the poor market prospects and the uneven ripening of seed.

Fall wheat is making good growth, though much of it was sown late.

Brant reports more boxes being used than ever before for the packing of apples, owing to the lack of barrels. Huron states that fully 10,000 barrels of apples have been shipped already from that county.

Waterloo reports that most of the young cattle are yet on pasture and that while some dairy cattle are stabled at night they are out in the day time. Only a few farmers in that district have so far got in their supply of feeders as most men have been too busy with general farm work to look up the animals. Brant, however, states that more cattle than ever are being prchased for feeding this winter. Milch cows in York are bringing from $100 to $200.

Horses, however, are selling at comparatively low prices in the same county, some good working horses going at from $100 to $150 each.

The slump in the price of hogs has continued during the week. Prices quoted range from $15.25 to $17.50 a cwt., in the older counties of the Province, and as low as $14.25 in Manitoulin. Little pigs, however, are keeping up in price. York quotes them at $12 to $14 a pair; Middlesex at from $14 to $16 a pair; and Brant says that they are selling at from $8 to $10 each.

GOOD PRICE FOR STRAW

The farmers in Peterboro district who are growing rye are receiving $20 a ton for the straw from a Peterboro saddlery company. This is considered a very good price.

IN providing proper musical education for the young, the use of a really good piano is essential. The growing child will be influenced for life and his or her ear formed, by early impressions. Give your children the best examples and none but the best will please them in after years. The pure, sweet, resonant tone of the Williams has earned the cordial recommendation of many great artists. And this tone quality endures because of the instrument's perfect construction in every detail.

LEGISLATURE TOO NEAR-SIGHTED— SHOULD CULTIVATE WIDER VISION.

Toronto University's close proximity to the Provincial Legislature may have something to do with the generous financial assistance granted to that institution from provincial funds. That a Royal Commission has been appointed to consider the needs of other educational institutions in Ontario not strictly local in scope is an encouraging indication that it is at last being realized that while Toronto may be the hub of the province it isn't the spokes, rim and tire, and the Legislature is supposed to represent the entire province, not Toronto alone.

HARDING'S ELECTION PLEASES GERMANY.

That is what the New York Times thinks of the view expressed by the North German Gazette to the effect that "Germans are to be pardoned if they take satisfaction" in the election of Senator Harding. The Times intimates that the emotions of Germans are beyond control by the United States. They are free to feel elated to the top of their bent. But when it comes to reading the mind of the American people or predicting what will be done by the government of the United States, the Germans are in need of another sharp warning to be sure of their facts before going ahead.

The article quoted affirms that the Presidential election shows that Americans are strongly opposed to the Versailles treaty and to the whole subsequent policy of "violence" toward Germany. And it "assumes" that Mr. Harding will "proclaim an end of the war with Germany without further formalities." But this is a violent assumption, says the Times. If the Germans proceed upon it, they are in for still further disillusionment. There is no evidence whatever that the great majority in the United States is not satisfied with the terms of the treaty of Versailles, apart from the league. Senator Lodge spoke for the Republicans when he declared that the treaty was not too severe in punishing Germany. That belief is unquestionably held by the great mass of Americans who voted for Harding. Germany needs to be on her guard in all this business against her own unequaled power of self-deception.

FROZEN CHINESE EGGS AN EXPANDING INDUSTRY

In view of the fact that supplies of frozen Chinese eggs have been a factor on the American markets for the past few years and have affected the Canadian markets to a smaller extent, the report of the American consul at Shanghai in connection with the matter is interesting in a general way.

According to the consul, Shanghai is one of the leading egg-freezing centres in China. The height of the egg production season in this locality is from April to July 15. Although from 85 to 90 per cent. of the entire egg production of this part of China arrives at the egg factories during the flush season, some eggs arrive at the market during all seasons of the year. All the eggs pass directly to the egg-breaking plants for drying and freezing.

Refrigerating plants are in Shanghai, Nankin, Hankow and Tientsin. The eggs are broken and either dessicated or frozen for the export trade immediately upon their arrival at the factory. The storage of the eggs in Shanghai before shipment never exceeds 60 days.

The following amounts of frozen and dessicated eggs were exported to the United States during the years 1918 and 1919:

	1918.		1919.
	Pounds.	Value.	Pounds.	Value.
Frozen	2,301,265	$419,117	3,920,626	$ 734,796
Dessicated	571,322	255,454	3,948,406	1,735,835

JIM HILL'S FORTY YEARS OF HARD WORK AND WORRY.

Once upon a time an interviewer asked James J. Hill how to succeed in the railroad business.

"Work like hell for forty years," he said.

That sort of an answer never quite satisfies the kind of man who asks that sort of a question. It depresses him. Anybody could see Hill the empire-builder, rolling through his empire in his private car, and wish to be like him. It took a little thought to see him drudging away year by year, learning his business step by step, facing reverse after reverse without whining about it—or stopping. It took more thought to see him getting anywhere by these slow tactics.

Watch a man roll by in a Rolls-Royce. He's got it. We haven't. Must be something wrong with the social economic system. Let's go change it.

The trouble with us that we're a slick generation. We don't want to work like hell for forty years. That's old-fashioned stuff. We want what we want when we want it, and we want to beat the game getting it.

Yet sometimes we incline to censure God for making Bolshevists.—Worcester (Mass.) Telegram.

CRISP COMMENT

The weather man is introducing winter by degrees.

Oh, the olden, golden days when bread was five cents a loaf, coal five dollars a ton and wages a dollar and a half a day, up and down.

A Winnipeg paper sent a reporter by airplane to report a rural bank robbery, the wires having been cut by the robbers. That reporter now feels entitled to a pair of wings.

Amidst an avalanche of falling prices, says The New York Evening Post, there is one price which the American people may confidently expect to see maintain its present high level for some time to come, and that is the price they are paying for the rejection of the treaty.

Commenting on the success of the play, "The Better 'Ole," Capt. Bairnsfather, when interviewed recently in Montreal, said that the play had been running for three and a half years, had been a great success, had made $3,750,000, and was still touring the English provinces, but, added the author, "I consider its greatest success has been on Broadway, where Chas. Coburn, eminent New York actor, gave the most splendid portrayal of 'Ole Bill I have ever seen, and I was fortunate enough to arrive in time for the first night." 'Ole Bill was certainly good to his creator.

The Globe notes that the London Times refers to a tour "through Canada and British Columbia." But every paper makes these slips. The Globe in the same issue mentions "Sir" Arthur Meighen and calls Earl Haig of Bemersyde "the Earl of Bemersyde," while the Times, in its Canadian supplement, locates the Noxon agricultural works at Ingersoll, "Quebec."

Hamilton's new morning newspaper, The Times, after only three issues, gave up the ghost and joined the rapidly growing silent army in the newspaper graveyard. With the high and steadily increasing cost of publishing newspapers the inevitable tendency of the times is for a reduction in the number of newspapers and it requires considerable courage to undertake any new ventures in fields already well covered.

William Randolph Hearst, who was born with a golden spoon in his mouth and an addled brain, and fell heir to more millions than are safe for even a sane man to control, never ceases his pernicious propaganda, through his chain of newspapers, striving to stir up ill feeling between the United States and Great Britain. The latest "mare's nest" invented by the unspeakable Hearst is a "diabolical" plot by Great Britain and the Dominions beyond the seas to form a military and naval power to dominate the world. The Hearst imagination is a weird and wonderful thing and suggests that even more rigid precautions should be taken in the United States to prevent the spread of the "dope" habit.

The Scot whose thrifty propensities earned for him undying notoriety when he stated that he was not long in London till "bang went saxpence" was positively reckless in his expenditure compared with the Cornishman who presented himself at the Service Bureau of the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, looking for work, according to The Globe. "I'm going back; I'm going home," were the words with which he greeted Secretary Hunter. "I cannot get a job." "How long have you been in Toronto?" queried the Secretary. "Since this morning," was the reply; "and I've spent a dollar already." "Too bad, too bad," murmured the Secretary sympathetically. "Was that all the money you had with you?" "I've a thousand pounds in my pocket," was the reply, "and I cannot afford to spend it like this." "A—a—a—thousand pounds!" gasped the Secretary, "and you've spent a dollar already! A—a—a thousand pounds"—and he fainted away.

THE WASTE OF BAD ROADS
Minneapolis Daily News

Minneapolis people will spend more than sixty-five million dollars this year in just operating and maintaining the upkeep of their automobiles. How much of that staggering amount is wasted because roads are unfit for motor travel? And for the same reason, how much is lost by the people of the state because the freight which now overburdens the railroads cannot be delivered by motor trucks.

COMMON SENSE
Guelph Herald

Hon. James A. Calder, minister of Colonization and Immigration, is reported to have said, in the course of his speech at Moose Jaw recently: "Neither the east nor the west can obtain the full measure of their demands but must agree on a Canadian policy, protecting industry, agriculture and labor, and making for a united and prosperous Dominion." There is a lot of sense in such talk.

POETS' CORNER

A SONG OF VICTORY

Sing and be glad, O nations in these hours;
Blow clarions from all towers!
Let bright horns revel and the joy-bells rave;
Yet there are lips whose smile is ever vain
And wild wet eyes behind the window-pane,
For whom the whole world dwindles to one grave,
A lone grave at the mercy of the rain.

The victor's laurel wears a wintry leaf;
Sing softly, then, as tho' the mouth of grief,
Remembering all the agony and wrong,
Should stir with mighty song,
Not all the glad averment of the guns,
Not all our odes, nor all our orisons,
Can sweeten these intolerable tears,
These silences that fall between the cheers.

And yet our hearts must sing,
Carol and clamour like the tides of spring;
For the great work is ended and again
The world is safe for men;
The world is safe for high heroic themes;
The world is safe for dreams.

Absolute Security

SECURITY is the all important feature in making an investment; the rate of interest promised is a secondary consideration.

Probably the safest investment in the whole world is a monthly income policy on the endowment plan taken in The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada for the following reasons, among others:

If the policyholder survives the term of the endowment he receives an income monthly which is guaranteed for at least 20 years.

Should the policyholder survive the 20 years the payments continue until his death.

If the policyholder does not survive the endowment term the beneficiary becomes the payee of the monthly income which commences at once.

Should the beneficiary survive the 20 years during which the payments are guaranteed they will be continued until her death.

In every way the assured and the beneficiary are both amply protected. It is impossible to lose under a monthly income Endowment Policy.

Send for our Booklet describing this Policy.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A. C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

Adopting the tactics of the desert fighters from which he had sprung, Achmet Zek led his followers at a gallop in a long, thin line, describing a great circle which drew closer and closer in toward the defenders.

The Waziri, justly famed for their archery, found no cause to blush for their performance that day. Time and again some swarthy horseman threw hands above his head and toppled from his saddle, pierced by a deadly arrow; but the contest was uneven. The Arabs outnumbered the Waziri; their bullets penetrated the shrubbery and found marks that the Arab riflemen had not even seen; and then Achmet Zek circled inward a half mile above the bungalow, tore down a section of the fence, and led his marauders within the grounds.

Mugambi saw them coming, and, calling those of his warriors who remained, ran for the bungalow and the last stand. Upon the veranda Lady Greystoke stood, rifle in hand. More than a single raider had accounted to her steady nerves and cool aim for his outlawry; more than a single pony raced, riderless, in the wake of the charging horde.

Mugambi pushed his mistress back into the greater security of the interior, and with his depleted force prepared to make a last stand against the foe.

On came the Arabs, shouting and waving their long guns above their heads. Past the veranda they raced, pouring a deadly fire into the kneeling Waziri who discharged their volley of arrows from behind their long, oval shields—shields well adapted, perhaps, to stop a hostile arrow, or deflect a spear; but futile, quite, before the leaden missiles of the riflemen. Mugambi withdrew his force within the building.

Again and again the Arabs charged, at last forming a stationary circle about the little fortress, and outside the effective range of the defenders' arrows. From their new position they fired at will at the windows. One by one the Waziri fell. Fewer and fewer were the arrows that replied to the guns of the raiders, and at last Achmet Zek felt safe in ordering an assault.

Firing as they ran, the bloodthirsty horde raced for the veranda. A dozen of them fell to the arrows of the defenders; but the majority reached the door. Heavy gun butts fell upon it. The crash of splintered wood mingled with the report of a rifle as Jane Clayton fired through the panels upon the relentless foe.

Upon both sides of the door men fell; but at last the frail barrier gave to the vicious assaults of the maddened attackers; it crumpled inward and a dozen swarthy murderers leaped into the living room. At the far end stood Jane Clayton surrounded by the remnant of her devoted guardians. The floor was covered by the bodies of those who already had given up their lives in her defense. In the forefront of her protectors stood the giant Mugambi. The Arabs raised their rifles to pour in the last volley that would effectually end all resistance; but Achmet Zek roared out a warning order that stayed their trigger fingers.

In the Forefront of Her Protectors Stood the Giant Mugambi.

"Fire not upon the woman!" he cried. "Who harms her, dies. Take the woman alive!"

The Arabs rushed across the room; the Waziri met them with their heavy spears. Swords flashed, long-barreled pistols roared out their sullen death dooms. Mugambi launched his spear at the nearest of the enemy with a force that drove the heavy shaft completely through the Arab's body, then he seized a pistol from another, and grasping it by the barrel brained all who forced their way too near his mistress.

Emulating his example the few warriors who remained to him fought like demons; but one by one they fell, until only Mugambi remained to defend the life and honor of the ape-man's mate.

From across the room Achmet Zek watched the unequal struggle and urged on his minions. In his hands was a jeweled musket. Slowly he raised it to his shoulder, waiting until another move should place Mugambi at his mercy without endangering the lives of the woman or any of his own followers.

At last the moment came, and Achmet Zek pulled the trigger. Without a sound the brave Mugambi sank to the floor at the feet of Jane Clayton.

An instant later she was surrounded and disarmed. Without a word they dragged her from the bungalow. A giant negro lifted her to the pommel of his saddle, and while the raiders searched the bungalow and outhouses for plunder he rode with her beyond the gates and waited the coming of his master.

Lost His Bet

In the days when Ireland was a comparatively peaceful country two Englishmen were spending a holiday there. They hired a jaunting car to drive them from Kilkenny Station to the Club House Hotel and on the way one inquired of the other, "How much will the fare be?"

"Oh!" give him as much as you like," was the reply, "and he'll still ask for more. You'll never satisfy a jarvey."

"Bet you a fiver I do," retorted the first and when they reached the hotel he tendered a sovereign, with a grin on his face and the injunction, "Keep the change!"

Feeling distinctly "one up," he turned to enter the hotel, but was arrested with, "Sure, now, your honor 'twauld be a terrible thing to break a beautiful coin like this for one pot of porter. Does your honor happen to have tuppence in coppers?"

He paid—the tuppence and the fiver!

Heroine Of Plock Honoured In Death

Sergeant Sophie Slashed by Russian Swords and Scourged With Whips Died of Wounds

All Warsaw turned out for the funeral the other day of Sergeant Sophie Poukopwicz, a member of Poland's Women's Battalion, who was called "the heroine of Plock." She died from wounds inflicted with a Russian sword and the "Nahapka" or Cossack's whip which she received at Plock during the drive against Warsaw. As a final tribute the American nurses who attended her in the hospital and the entire personnel of the American Red Cross in Warsaw went to her funeral.

All Warsaw knew her story and there were many moist eyes that gazed at the plain white painted pine board coffin containing the girl-soldier as it was borne through the streets on the shoulders of her fighting comrades, all girls from the Women's Battalion.

Sergeant Sophie was a veteran of Poland's great war, which in the minds of most Poles began when the world war ended in November, 1918. She was 22 years of age and was one of the original members of the Women's Battalion which was formed late in 1918 for the purpose of defending Lemberg against the Ukranians. She was wounded three times, first at Lemberg, again at Vilna and last while leading her company against the Russians at Plock.

She typified the spirit of Poland today. There are 600 like her in the Women's Battalion. Officers in the army from Pilsudskidown admit that the mere existence of this battalion exercised a wonderful effect upon the popular imagination, upon recruiting and even upon the soldiers in the recent heavy fighting.

The age limits for privates in the battalion are 17 to 33. Most of the women are of humble origin and come from semi-stagnant industrial centres such as Lodz. The economic problem has had something to do with their continued existence as soldiers but they have shown great enthusiasm and bravery. They have had many casualties.

The Genuine Culver Racer is the niftiest auto for girls and boys ever built. It is a genuine motor car—not a toy. Has real steering wheel and gears with shifting lever, steel springs, powerful brake, pneumatic tires, handsomely enamelled body and good upholstery. Runs up to 25 miles an hour speed and uses very little gasoline. You will be proud of it if you win it. Dozens of boys and girls have won them and are proud of them.

HERE are four riddles for boys and girls with wise heads. We told the artist to draw the pictures to represent the riddles, but he guessed the right answers—and put them in too! So we barred him from the contest and told him to keep it a secret. Luckily, he got the answers all jumbled up, so you won't be any the wiser.

If you can unscramble the jumbled letters beneath each riddle picture and put them in their right order to spell the right words, you will have the right answers. It isn't an easy task. Good thinking, patience and perseverance may find you the answers. Try it.

If you think you have found the answers, write them carefully on a sheet of white paper. Put on nothing but your four answers and your name and address in the upper right-hand corner of the page. Handwriting, spelling, punctuation and general neatness will count if more than one answer is correct.

We will write and tell you immediately if you are correct, and send you a handsome illustrated list of all the prizes that you can win.

Why Anaemia Prevails

The Strenuous Conditions of Life To-day Are Responsible

Mothers who remark that girls to-day are more prone to anaemia than the girls of a generation ago, should look back at the surroundings in which they and their companions lived. They would easile see the reason in life's altered circumstances today.

Now the school-girl's life is more strenuous; her more numerous studies are a severe tax upon her strength. Also, girls enter business soon after leaving school—at an age when they most need rest and outdoor life. Their womanly development is hampered by the stress of working hours, hurried and often scanty meals. Girls are more liable to bloodlessness today, but there is this consolation that, whereas doctors formerly regarded anaemia as often incurable, the cures are now counted in tens and thousands. Such medicines as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have restored to good health thousands of week anaemic girls and women, simply because they contain the elements necessary to make new, rich, red blood which means good health and vitality.

When your daughter's strength fails and pallor, breathlessness and backache disclose her anaemic condition, remember that you can make her well and assure her healthy development by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to make good red blood. Remember too, that for women of all ages Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially helpful in the many ailments that result from watery blood. They make women and girls well and keep them well. This is amply proved by the case of Miss Eva MacKinnon, Glammis, Ont., who says: "As a school girl I grew very pale and would take dizzy spells and sometimes vomiting. My condition was such that I was not able to attend school regularly, and my mother was very much worried about my condition. Finally she decided to give me Dr. Wiliams' Pink Pills and I took these for a considerable time, gradually gaining strength until I was perfectly well. It is some years sine I took the pills and I have enjoyed the best of health, and I am certain pale, sickly girls will find new health if they give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the care of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

THIEVES ATTEMPT TO STEAL WHOLE BUILDING

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Thieves occasionally carry off unwieldly objects but the calm dismantling of a building surpasses anything yet attempted in Ottawa. During the past week the dressing room at the Mechanicsville swimming pool has been gradually vanishing and Director of Recreation W. J. Neale has decided to have the remainder taken down and stored to prevent it adding to the prosperity of the midnight carpenters. He stated that waggon tracks were plainly visible leading to the building and that the thieves had evidently backed a waggon up to the structure and hauled away what they wanted.

CANADIANS AT GENEVA

REPRESENTATIVES GO TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Sir George Foster and Hon. Charles Doherty Are Regarded by Political Friends and Opponents as Two Strong Men Worthy to Speak For the Dominion at the Epoch-making Assembly.

WHEN the Assembly of the League of Nations meets in Geneva, and the curtain rises on an event big with possibilities for humanity, Canada will be represented by Sir George Foster and Hon. Charles Doherty. These two men have little in common with the spurred and booted diplomacy of the past, but it is doubtful whether if in all Canada two delegates could have been selected with a more sympathetic comprehension of the aims and possibilities of the league. Sir George Foster, whatever may be his shortcomings in the narrower field of domestic affairs, is a statesman of whom it can be said without exaggeration that he would be a salient figure in any Parliament in the world. An orator who upholds the highest traditions of British Parliamentary eloquence, few men in that gathering of intellectual giants will be more than his equal in a sphere which is bound to have a potent influence upon the deliberations of the assembly; while in the knowledge of international politics and conditions, as well as in experience of government, Sir George, fortified by more than a quarter of a century of political experience, will easily hold his own.

Nor need Canadians have much fear that Judge Doherty will be incapable of "matching minds" with the statesmen of Europe. A jurist of high intellectual attainments, it is doubtful whether there could be found in the public life of the Dominion to-day a politician with a more thorough grasp of world politics and affairs.

This knowledge has never been needlessly paraded—Judge Doherty is the most unostentatious of men—but there have been occasions when it was conspicuously disclosed. There was, for example, the judge's speech on the Peace Treaty, one of the most able reviews of what took place at Versailles that the Canadian Parliament has heard; and there was his address on the League of Nations, an address which for penetrating and lucid exposition of the famous Article Ten was not even equalled by the admittedly able speeches of Mr. Rowell.

At Paris Judge Doherty was a tower of strength to Sir Robert Borden. Familiar with the French language, which was the diplomatic language of the majority of the delegates and plenipotentiaries, he was as much at home with the representatives of Czecho-Slovakia or Poland as with Mr. Balfour or Lloyd George, while his grasp of the principles of international law as well as of the cardinal principles underlying the relationship of the various Imperial units, gave him a foremost place in the councils of the British Empire representatives. A strong believer in democracy, Judge Doherty was the author of a scheme for a League of Nations which went far beyond any other presented to the Peace Conference. He would have had a Parliament of Nations, or peoples, which would have included all nations quite regardless of their form of government, and which did not even demand their possession of self-government. In other words, it would be a League of Peoples instead of a League of Governments — a genuine "Parliament of Man and Federation of the World." The proposal, of course, was rejected, but its merits impressed such statesmen as Gen. Smuts and Lord Robert Cecil; although they were not prepared to admit its practicability.

As to the attitude which the Canadian delegates shall take at Geneva, it is perhaps dangerous to speak. There is, however, some reason for believing that they will support any attempt which may be made to radically amend the provisions of the much discussed Article Ten. Canada's representatives at the Peace Conference were never very favorable to this clause in the League Charter. Sir Robert Borden drafted a memorandum against it, and upon his return to Canada expressed the opinion that the League would have been stronger without it.

The opinion of the ex-Premier—and this opinion is understood to be shared by Judge Doherty — is that Article Ten, read in conjunction with Articles Twelve and Sixteen, is at variance with the whole spirit and purpose of the League. Articles Twelve and Sixteen lay emphasis upon constructive and preventive measures; Article Ten appears to call for sweeping obligations to fight. And although President Wilson insists that Article Ten is the "heart of the covenant," Ottawa has always felt—and there is reason for believing that it reflects the opinion of London—that its omission would be for the good of the League.

During the recent Polish crisis there was a great deal of misapprehension in Canada as to the position the Dominion would occupy in the event of the Soviet armies insisting on the invasion of Poland; the opinion being held by many that under Article Ten of the League, which calls upon its members to preserve "as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League." Canada would be in duty bound to go to the defence of Poland. The truth, however, was that there was no such obligation, there having been no inquiry by council, no report, unanimous or otherwise, as to the merits of the dispute, as provided for by Articles Twelve and Sixteen.

An Apparition.

She was an aged Irish dame, yet she recently became engaged to an equally old fogey. One morning she met an antique lady acquaintance, and they discussed the weather a moment, then the engaged one remarked, "Oi had an awful froight last noight." "Indade an' ye had, sure enough," snapped the other. "Oi seen him wid ye."

Cruel Sarcasm.

"This," said the fond young wife, with a smile, as she passed a plate of pudding to her husband, "is cottage pudding. I made it myself." The husband tasted it. "I should have known that it was cottage pudding," he remarked. "Yes; I can taste the plaster and the wall-paper."

A Critical Period.

During one of the recent strikes in Dublin the strikers were so well supported from England that they were "in clover." One morning one of them bought a newspaper in Sackville street and opened it to read the strike news. A companion, peering over his shoulder, said anxiously: "Is there any danger of a settlement?"

Classifying Him.

A soldier was asked in the usual way what his religion was. He didn't seem to understand the question. "Well, where do you go on Sundays?" asked the officer. "Rat-catching, sir," was the unexpected reply. "All right," commented the officer, with admirable presence of mind; "put him down R.C."

Risky at Both Ends.

"What on earth are ye doin' now?" inquired the sergeant in pained tones, of a recruit who was doing funny things on—and off—a horse. "'E—'e'ell hurt me!" wailed the recruit. "Shut up!" cried the sergeant. "Git 'old of 'is head, man, an' 'e can't kick yew." "Ho, yus! An' if I get 'old of his tail 'e can't bite me."

Just a Touch of Superstition.

Mrs. Wiggs: "Is Billy ill, Mrs. Skinner?"

Mrs. Skinner: "Well, he ain't ill, exactly, but no stummick can stand thirteen buns! It's an unlucky number."

BRIDE BUT NO GROOM JOY BELLS UNRUNG

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 12.—No trace has been found of Frederick D. Kupphers, who was to have been married to Miss Carolyn A. Lippert at the Zion Luther Church, Michigan avenue Niagara Falls, N.Y., last night.

Kupphers disappeared shortly before the hour of the wedding and has not been heard from since.

Miss Lippert would not discuss the matter today. She merely said nothing more than that her fiance had failed to appear at the hour set for the wedding.

Last evening at 6 o'clock the wedding party assembled in the church. After waiting for about one hour for the groom, the paster of the church, Rev. Herman Brezing, announced to the guests that the wedding had been postponed.

CANADIAN VETERAN SHOT BY COMRADE

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 12.—Arthur Prouix, 21 years old, a former member of the Canadian forces in the World War, was shot and fatally wounded in the rear of the city hall shortly before 10 o'clock this morning by Andrew Hheaume, of 1250 Elm st., also an ex-Canadian soldier.

The shooting occurred while Prouix, with William J. Manning, was attempting to disarm Rheaume after following from the State Armoury where he had threatened to get Patrolman Fred Scannell, who had put him out of the armoury a short time before. A "Victory" ball was in progress.

Rheaume was arrested.

"My! How I did used to dread having the Threshers come—but I don't mind now."

"WHY, a year ago I could no more think of cooking a big dinner than I could fly.

"I did not seem to have any strength then, and a little extra work or excitement would use me up for a week.

"The doctor said my nerves were weak and that I had nervous prostration. I certainly was nervous and irritable. I was always worrying about something.

"It all looks very foolish now. But that is just the difference between being weak and strong.

"Why doesn't every woman use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when she gets run-down in health?

"But I suppose they do not all know about it or do not realize what it will do for them. Then perhaps some of them do not use it long enough to build up their exhausted nervous systems.

"One thing sure, the women of this community will know all about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for they know how miserable I was, and I will see that they know what I used to make me well.

"I certainly did get into a terribly run-down condition, but no one would believe it to see me now since using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can now take a real pleasure in life and its activities.

"And why shouldn't I? I sleep like a top, enjoy my meals and get outdoors where the fresh air and sunshine help to keep me feeling fine.

"I don't believe people appreciate good health until they have been sick for a time. I am sure that I did not. The credit for my splendid health now is undoubtedly due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I want every woman to know it."

Rebekahs Invade Stirling Village

Laurel Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah Instituted by Grand Officers At Stirling

Thursday was a great day for Stirling, also Thursday night, the occasion being the birth of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211. Stirling Rebekahs are many and enthusiastic and the growing Stirling section in Quintena Lodge Belleville suggested a lodge of their very own. This movement was assisted by P. G. Bro. S. A. Barkley of Belleville, and P. G. Bro. J. M. Clarke of Stirling, who may well be called the fathers of the lodge.

The institution of Stirling Rebekah Lodge attracted members of the order from far and near, Belleville being represented by over one hundred members besides the Quintena Lodge degree team of twenty-five members which initiated thirty-nine new members under the direction of Degree Master Barkley in faultless manner despite the great crowd present which contracted the floor space available for the work.

The occasion was notable from the presence of Grand Assembly officers including Sister M. E. Greene of Ottawa President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, I.O.O.F., assisted by Assembly Warden Sister Watts, of Peterborough and Assembly Chaplain, Sister Chapman of Ottawa. These were the instituting officers assisted by P. N. G. Sister F. Nicholson of Belleville.

President Greene who won many friends on her previous visit to Belleville added to the number of her admirers on this occasion. This lady has a most gracious manner, is exceptionally well informed upon all topics of public interest and is well versed in the law and work of the Rebekah degree.

The new lodge is called Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211, and starts off with a splendid membership, plenty of pep, peptomism and enthusiasm and the following officers:

LAUREL LODGE OFFICERS

P. N. G.—Bro. J. Thompson.
N. G.—Sister M. Megginson.

R. S. V. G.—Sister A. Thompson.
L. S. V. G.—Sister E. Belshaw.
I. G.—Sister E. Macdonald.
O. G.—Sister E. MacConnell.

Supper was served in the new dining room of the lodge and full justice was done to all the good things provided by the members of Stirling lodge.

At eight o'clock the number of members present had increased by visitors from Crescent Lodge, Thomasburg, Madoc Lodge, Quinte Queen Lodge, Trenton and Quintena Lodge, Belleville. The president called the members to order and announced there were 39 candidates waiting for initiation. The Degree Team of Quintena Lodge under P.D.D.G.M. S. A. Barkley was asked by the president to take charge of the meeting. Needless to say the degree was exemplified in a manner which brought great praise from the assembly officers present. The degree team was:

INSTALLATION CEREMONY

After the initiation the president said in the absence of the District Deputy President that P. N. G. Sister F. Nicholson had consented to fill that office and she proceeded with the installation of officers. The following members acted as the installing team:

D. D. Pres. P.N.G. Sister F. Nicholson; D. D. G. W., P.N.G. Sister L. Naylor; D. D. Fin. Sec. P.N.G. Sister A. Carter; D. D. Rec. Sec. P.N.G. Sister E. Ormand; D. D. G. Chap. Assembly Chaplain Sister Chapman; D. D. G. Treas. P.D.D.P. Sister Bl. Leraine (Ottawa); D. D. G. Conductor P.N.G. Sister Evans, (Ottawa); D. D. I. Guard, P.G. Bro. W. Ralls; D.D.G. Herald, P. G. Bro. W. J. Carter; D. D. G. Marshall P.G. Bro. S. A. Barkley.

The installation as well as the initiation was done in a faultless manner and Laurel Lodge started off with an enthusiastic and energetic staff of officers and about forty more candidates in waiting for the next meeting. The credit of starting such a strong lodge belongs to P. G. Bro. S. A. Barkley, Belleville, and P. G. Bro. J. M. Clarke of Stirling, both of whom worked hard to bring about such a splendid institution.

PRESIDENT'S ADVICE

The president addressed the members and gave the new officers a lot of good advice. The Assembly Warden and the Assembly Chaplain also gave short addresses all wishing the new lodge every success and expressing their thanks to the Degree Team and the past officers of Belleville for their splendid help. Sister M. Johnson of Belleville assisted as pianist and Sister S. Johnson sang Miriam's song of thanksgiving very acceptably. After the meeting was finally closed refreshments were served and a tired number of Rebekahs returned to their homes in the small hours of the morning.

NOT GUILTY VERDICT IN KIDWELLY CASE

Carmarthen, Wales, Nov. 10.—Harold Greenwood, on trial here charged with the murder of his wife, was found not guilty today.

The defendant, who is a middle-aged lawyer of the small Welsh town of Kidwelly, was brought to trial on the charge that he poisoned his wife, who died June 16, 1919, in order that he might marry his present wife, who was Miss Gladys Jones, his stenographer. The body of the deceased woman was exhumed in April last and a verdict of murder was returned against Greenwood at an inquest following an examination of the body by experts appointed by the Home Office. It was said arsenic, believed to have been administered in wine, was found in all the organs of Mrs. Greenwood's body.

Counsel for the defence introduced the theory that death was caused by gooseberries which had been sprayed with an arsenic preparation previous to being picked, and which were made into gooseberry tarts. Mrs. Greenwood partook of some of the tart, and died three hours' later, it was said.

The deceased, Mrs. Greenwood was a sister of Sir Vansittart Bowater, a former Lord Mayor of London. The present Mrs. Greenwood is the daughter of a newspaper proprietor.

LINDSAY

The Very Life of the Dancing Party

When friends drop in for the evening, and the rugs of the living-room and library are rolled aside and the dancing begins, then it is that the LINDSAY Player-Piano comes in handy. You may be quite able to play good dance music, but surely you do not relish the idea of playing all the time and not dancing at all. Neither is it correct to invite a friend and tie him or her to the piano for the evening. With a LINDSAY Player-Piano all may play in turn, as each can play perfect dance music with it—Fox Trots, One Steps, and the dreamiest of Waltzes that would make a wooden Indian dance.

We have prepared an interesting little booklet illustrating and explaining the various uses to which the LINDSAY Player-Piano can be set. A copy is yours for the asking. Write, phone or call in for a copy if interested.

Quaint and Attractive Volume Revives Melodies of Colonist Times

From picturesque Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, has come a book with the title "Chansons of Old French Canada," to intrigue those who delight in resuscitations of music left forgotten in the byways of other centuries. It is a quaint and attractively printed volume, of paper covers. The title page explains that accompaniments are by Margaret Gascoigne, script by James Kennedy, and illustrations—with dashes of red supplementing black and white—by Ethel Seath. There is a preface by C. Marius Barbeau, who rejoices that "in the desert of American uniformity the ancient rural districts of Quebec form a quaint oasis where industrialism and cupidity have not yet withered all local color, and individual bias or charm Leisure and gaiety have not altogether vanished. Singing and story-telling in the old style still are casually indulged in."

An interesting introduction it is, and increases the inteerst with which the reader will turn to the songs of love, of story, of labor, and, of course, the canoeing songs for which the early French Canadian were so famous, which follow. Here are the titles of the airs, all harmonized with the utmost simplicity: "En Roulant ma Boule," "A la Claire Fontaine," "Sur le Pont d'Avigon," "Mariann' s'en va-t-au Moulin," "La Fill'du Roi d'Epagne," "Sur le Pont de Nantes," "D'ou Viens-tu Bergere," "Dans les Promene," "Sainte Marguerite." The copyright for the book is in the name of the Canadian Pacific Railway.—New York Musical American.

Collapse Of Wrangel's Forces Bolsheviki Occupy Sebastopol

GEN. WRANGEL AND STAFF ESCAPE ON FRENCH WARSHIP —BOLSHEVIKI REPORTED TO BE MASTERS OF WHOLE CRIMEAN PENINSULA — POLISH ARMISTICE RELEASED RED TROOPS FOR CRIMEAN OPERATIONS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Sebastopol has fallen, the Russian Bolsheviki having occupied the city last night, according to unofficial information received by the French Foreign Office. The Bolsheviki are reported to be masters of the whole Crimean Peninsula. General Wrangel, members of his staff, and M. Martel, French High Commissioner at Sebastopol, were taken aboard a French warship and are expected to arrive in Constantinople late tonight or tomorrow.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14—The army of General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader in South Russia, has been wiped out, and a number of his Generals have committed suicide.

The Bolsheviki have taken both Yalta and Eupatoria, and their cavalry is approaching Sebastopol according to the latest advices received here.

Eupatoria is about midway down the western coast of the Crimean Peninsula, while Yalta is situated only a short distance from the southeastern point of the peninsula.

COMMANDERS SLAIN

The Reds broke through the defense of General Wrangel on the Isthmus of Perekop, according to best reports obtainable here, by concentrating 20 divisions against three divisions of the White army.

Wrangel's men, although greatly outnumbered, withstood 22 assaults before Perekop, but finally were beaten.

The commanders of most of Wrangel's units were killed and the losses in men also were very large.

LED BY FOREIGNERS

The success of the Bolsheviki is attributed largely to the excellence of its high command, which is said to be directed by a foreigner.

The evacuation of the Crimea which began Thursday is continuing under great difficulties. It is a problem how the refugees can be cared for in Constantinople, as this city already is over populated.

USED POISON GAS

According to another report the fighting at Perekop was of the most desperate character. The Bolsheviki, according to latest advices, admit they had 30,000 men killed.

They claim to have taken 40,000 prisoners.

They owe their success largely to the use of poison gas.

It is stated that at the request of the French representative attached to Wrangel's headquarters the Bolsheviki have granted eight days for the evacuation of Crimea.

The allied authorities here are requisitioning all the available buildings along the Bosphorus and the shelters and barracks on Princes' Islands, in the Sea of Marmora, to house refugees expected to arrive from the Crimea.

Show Respect For National Anthem

Resolution Adopted at a Meeting of I.O.D.E. National Executive

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Present at the National Executive meeting of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held at headquarters, were Miss Arnoldi, in the chair, Mrs. Graham Thompson, Mrs. Angus MacMurchy, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Jas. Spence, Miss Laing, educational secretary; Miss Plummer, Miss Wise, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wise, Miss Bollert, Mrs. Rutter, Toronto. Mrs. Burkholder, provincial president of Ontario; Miss Edwards, provincial treasurer of Hamilton; Mrs. Mulock, provincial "Echoes" secretary, St. Catherines; Miss McIntosh, Stratford, and Mrs. John A. Stewart, organizing secretary.

Some discussion arose regarding the request which had been submitted to the Government—reaching the House too late for consideration—relative to Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day. It was felt that by celebrating the two either on the 11th of November, or the Monday nearest that date, it would keep alive in the minds of the people the significance of Armistice Day. It was decided at an opportune time, to again approach the Government, and bring the matter up at the annual meeting.

Mrs. Oxley, Regent of "Princess Louise" Chapter, Halifax, N.S., was a welcome visitor and gave a short account of the ceremonies in connection with the forming of the Provincial Chapter of Halifax, voicing the feeling of her Chapter and the members generally in the pleasure it gave them having Miss Arnoldi present.

Mrs. McDougald was also at Halifax and gave a special address on War Memorial work.

Mrs. Barker, convenor of the Mary R. Gooderman Fund, presented her report on the Englehart Hospital. Interesting letters were read, showing the needs of the community, and pointing out how difficult owing to weather conditions it is to carry on in a small way, in the Winter.

Mrs. Burkholder brought in the following resolution: "Resolve, that in view of the fact that at the theatre and cinema insufficient respect is shown to the playing of the National Anthem, the managers of the movies be asked to throw on the screen the request that patrons should stand at attention until the last bar is played.

Miss Arnoldi also described community squares and health centres in Halifax, which are ideal, 328 familes living under sanitary and hygenic conditions.

She also mentioned a children's chapter in Quebec, which sent $150 to the War Memorial Fund and also contributed large sums to other projects, not one of the children being over 10 years of age.

Train Robbery May Be Million

Transcontinental Fast Express on Burlington Looted of Riches.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 14.—The robbers who last night pillaged the Burlington Railroad's transcontinental fast mail and secured loot variously estimated at from $20,000 to $1,000,000, have dropped completely out of sight, and neither the police of Omaha and Council Bluffs nor the Postal Inspectors and Department of Justice agents have been able to secure a single trace of them.

From appearances tonight the robbers have made a complete get-away, taking with them the loot of the train, whether in thousands or millions.

The police believe the robbery was an inside job, and that someone entirely familiar with the manner in which the registered mail was handled at the Union Pacific transfer, engineered the job. Accomplices in automobiles were waiting and picked up the registered sacks and boxes of gold as they were thrown from the mail car. The scene of the robbery is criss-crossed with streets, although few houses are in that section of the city.

During the day squads of officers have visited all the public garages in Council Bluffs and Omaha, and dozens of private garages have been inspected. Through an oversight last night several hours elapsed after the robbery before the Omaha police were notified and a guard placed at the bridges over the Missouri River. In the interim the robbers could easily have crossed the river and have been hidden in this city before the search for them was even started.

Dublin Nationalist Dead

Jack Nolan, once a well-known Dublin Nationalist figure has just died. In 1900 he was arrested in Canada with two others on a charge of attempting to blow up the lock on the Welland Canal and was sentenced to penal servitude for life. After serving 16 years of his sentence he was released and later he returned to Ireland.

EACH LOST HUSBAND AND ALL OF HER SONS

London, Nov. 13.—Of all the witnesses that packed Whitehall or crowded the Abbey at the memorial services, a little band of approximately 100 women in the Abbey received the most reverent attention. They were selected for the seats of honor because each had lost her husband and all her sons.

Friendly Feelings With United States

Friendship of Great Britain Has Always Assisted United States In International Disputes

Stirring up ill-feeling in the United States against Great Britain has been made easier owing to the perversion of history in the text books of the schools in the American Republic ever since the revolution, said Ven. Archdeacon Beamish in a powerful and interesting sermon Sunday evening at St. Thomas Church in which he advocated the cultivation of friendly feelings between Canada and the United States. The Archdeacon quoted from the frank presentaion of facts in "The Straght Deal or the Ancient Grudge," a book recently published by Owen Wister, a prominent United States author, which severely condemns the agitators who seek to make trouble between the United States and Great Britain and emphasises the fact that Great Britain has always stood beside the United States and taken the part of the republic in disputes with other nations.

The Lambeth Conference of the Anglican Church recently held in England strongly endorsed the League of Nations and advocated a policy of healing the wounds of war by combatting hatred with international fellowship and co-operation in the furtherance of high ideals.

The Archdeacon mentioned many things in connection with the late war not generally known revealing dangerous under-currents threatening the peace and liberty of the world which should be more universally known and guarded against. The troubles in Ireland were also referred to and their influences upon international amity.

The sermon was a most timely one and greatly appreciated by the large congregation present.

Archdeacon Beamish announced that the membership of St. Thomas was growing rapidly no less than fifty-one families having sought membership within the last few months.

Venizelos Claims Victory At Polls

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—Victory in the Greek elections held yesterday was claimed early this morning by Premier Venizelos. Actual returns, however, are as yet meagre. Throughout the campaign which was conducted with unparalleled bitterness, the Premier was the storm centre and his assertion that his followers were successful, if confirmed, means for him, personal as well as political, triumph. The issue of the campaign was the return of former King Constantine to the throne from which he was deposed during the war.

ARMED BANDITS RIFLE OHIO BANK OF $100,000

Kingston, O. Nov. 15.—Three armed bandits who held up the First National Bank here and escaped in an automobile secured slightly less than $100,000 in Government bonds and cash, C. E. Myers, cashier, stated.

Although armed posses started out immediately after the robbery, no trace of the men had been found.

The bandits cleared the bank of all cash and negotiable securities after forcing three employees, two of them girls, into a back room of the Bank. Pressing of a burglar alarm by Beatrice Krafthaver, one of the employees, brought the village Marshall and others in time to see the bandits depart in their automobile after firing several shots at the crowd.

MILLIONS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK PORT

New York, Nov. 15.—Of $12,000,000 gold which arrived on the steamship Adriatic, $9,500,000 was for account of the Federal Reserve Bank of this city and marked the final transfer of $111,000,000 held for that institution by the Bank of England for upwards of a year.

The balance of the Adriatic's gold was consigned to Kuhn, Loeb and Co., making a total of about $63,000,000 received by that banking house so far this year.

Most of the gold imported by Kuhn, Loeb and Company was shipped from South Africa to London where it was bought in the open market in competition with British and Oriental Interests.

The National City Bank announced the arrival of $1,000,000 gold at San Francisco from Australia.

Sinn Fein Outrage Arouses New York

Insults to Union Jack Are Resented Hotly In The Tribune

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The New York Tribune publishes numerous letters from United States citizens couched in terms of protest against the recent indignitaries accorded the British flag by Irish Nationalists in this city during armistice week celebrations. Under the caption, "A Local Sinn Fein Outrage." The Tribune supports the angry protests of its readers in the following editorial:

"The act of these Sinn Feiners was an indefencible outrage alike upon every decency of memorial sentiment and upon every obligation of courtesy due a friendly power.

FRIENDSHIP BROAD-BASED

"We do not think Englishmen will at all mistake the source of this act. The American friendship for England was never so broadly based and clear-eyed as today. If we are aware of English mistakes and shortcomings—comparable to our own mistakes and shortcomings—we are equally sure of justice and right and democratic faith which the English-speaking nations of the world all share. Such an insult to the flag of Great Britain could not come from any true American.

HISTORIC SELFISHNESS

"The Sinn Fein hand turned against an armistice day flag was, as one of our readers notes, typical of Sinn Fein in the great war. On this day, when Americans assembled to commemorate an occasion hallowed by the sacrifice of American soldiers in a common cause with Great Britain and France with all democracy against all autocracy all that these Sinn Fein minds could think of was their own grievance. So it was in the war. Many Irishmen, south as well as north suffered from no such petty egotism and united all in the great fight. But not Sinn Fein. They trampled the flag on Broadway as a wholesale reminder of an historic selfishness that can never be forgotten."

Strike Affects Quebec Waterworks

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

QUEBEC, Nov. 15.—With linemen of the Quebec Waterworks Department out on strike and water turned off in the forty-inch pipe since Saturday morning owing to a cracked length just outside the city, Quebec is facing a very serious situation. Trouble has been brewing in the department since November 11. Working hours of men were reduced from ten to eight.

CHARLIE IS FORCED TO PAY MILDRED ABOUT $200,000

Los Angeles, Nov. 15—Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin, wife of Charlie Chaplin, famous film comedian, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Yorke. Mr. Chaplin was not present, but Attorney Arthur Wright, was in court to protect his interests if an attempt was made to attack the property agreement entered into between Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin. The court approved the settlement which provides that $50,000 should be paid Mrs. Chaplin immediately and $57,500 within one year. It is understood that, all told, Mrs. Chaplin will receive approximately $200,000 from the settlement. A condition attached to the agreement is that Mrs. Chaplin shall not use the name of Chaplin professionally.

TRIPLETS BORN, BUT ALL DIE WITHIN HOUR

Brockville, Nov. 15.—Triplet sons were born last week to Mr. and Mrs. James Larocque of Perth. None of the three, however, survived, two dying in half an hour and the third an hour after birth. All told, Mr. and Mrs. Larocque have had eleven children. The father, who is a barber, belongs to a family in which there are also eleven children. It is likely that application will be made for the King's bounty.

YOUNG FARMER KILLED IN TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Brantford, Nov. 15.—A terrible death yesterday afternoon called away Angus Cornwall, a prosperous young farmer residing between Cainsville and Langford. He was attending to a gasoline engine, which he intended to use to saw wood, when his clothing caught in the shaft. He was stripped from waist down, and his right leg was torn from his body. After suffering great agony he passed away in three-quarters of an hour. No inquest will be held. He leaves a wife and two children.

Boston Shivers With Empty Coal Bins

American Cities In General Are Down to Their Last Ton

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Householders kept their home fires burning during the cold snap, but in doing so were forced to call on scanty bins for which little reserve was available. Malcom E. Nicholls, municipal fuel administrator, said that dealers reported a supply of domestic anthracite for only about a week in their yards.

State Fuel Administrator Hultman said that conditions in smaller places had possibilities of suffering and hardship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The first real cold snap of winter sent shivers through thousands of New York apartment dwellers, who were suffering because of the lack of heat due to the acute coal shortage.

Unable to get promise of fuel and colder weather in sight they flocked to dealers in oil, gas and electric heaters and soon these heating appliances were at a premium.

Plans to meet the emergency situation are reported under way by President John F. Birmingham, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company, chairman of the committee on producers who said large rail shipments of anthracite and ten cargoes of coal of domestic sizes are being rushed here for distribution. Reserve coal supplies of public utilities also were reported to be rapidly diminishing.

War To Death With Assassins

Irish Constabulary Determined to Stamp Republican Army Out In Ireland.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—Called upon to halt by a military patrol in Albert Place last evening, a number of civilians ran away. A shot was fired by the patrol and passed through the chest of a twelve-year-old girl and entered the arm of another girl aged five. The former child died.

Notices terminating the engagements of weekly employees all over the Midland-Great Western Railway system came into operation today, but the men will be continued in employment from day to day until the line is compelled to close, which may be within a week. Arrangements have been made to run, during that period, a few passenger trains and a limited number of specials for the conveyance of live stock to Dublin. On the Great Southern & Western Railway the Cork goods train to Limerick, through Charleville, and that from Limerick to Tuam, and vice versa, have been discontinued. Thus Limerick is now completely isolated as far as train service is concerned.

War to the Death.

The military today raided about 50 dwelling houses of Irish Volunteers, notified the occupants that the authorities had full particulars of their association with the Republican army, and intimated that they would be arrested unless they ceased association with that body.

The weekly summary of events published by the Irish Constabulary in the current issue declared that the indisputable source of all crimes in Ireland is an organized gang of assassins describing itself as the Irish Republican Army.

"This gang of assassins," continues the statement, "must be stamped out at any cost. But for the unhappy people of Ireland, the victims of this appalling scourge, every consideration must be shown. The Royal Irish Constabulary must put out the murder gang. It is war to the death."

Six Children Trampled To Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A paper-clogged furnace flue, which caused smoke to fill the Catharine Theatre, a motion-picture house in the east side Italian quarter raised a cry of "fire" late today and in the ensuing panic six little tots, between the ages of two and ten years, were trampled to death. Twelve others were seriously injured.

RESCUERS FIGHT WAY THROUGH STORMY SEAS—HALF OF CREW TAKEN OFF—DETERMINED EFFORT TO SAVE REST OF CREW FROM DANGEROUS POSITION.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 15.—The Great Lakes Towing Company's tug "Iowa," was fighting its way early today through the storm to the head waters of Lake Superior towards Pancake Shoals, bent upon rescuing part of the crew of the Becker Line steel freighter, Francis J. Widlar, which was dashed upon the shoals and wrecked during one of the most severe storms in the history of the Great Lakes. Capt. Arthur Forbes, of Ashtabula, Ohio, in command of the stricken vessel, probably accompanied by some members of the crew, was picked up last night by the steamer Livingstone.

Fuel Commissioners To Control Prices

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Provincial Fuel Administrators under terms of order of Railway Board issued to day are given power, subject to the approval of the Government of the Province to fix and determine in case of need, maximum prices at which any or all classes or grades of fuel may be distributed and sold within a Municipality. This action has been deemed necessary owing to the coal situation in some communities from which complaints have been received as to the prices charged.

Survey is being made this week of outlying points with a view to determine just where there may be any serious shortage. Survey is being made with particular reference to Ontario but Maritime Provinces are also being covered. Information secured will be given to the Provincial Governments.

Veuizelos May Be Defeated

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

London, oNv. 15.—Exchange Telegraph Despatch from Athens under to-day's date says results on Greek elections yesterday, so far as is known point to a defeat for Premier Venizelos. The Premier and all members of his cabinet, except one, seem to have failed of election, the message declares. The Government, adds the despatch, has decided to appeal to a popular vote if final results are against Venizelos. A direct Athens despatch this morning stated that Venizelos claimed a majority throughout Greece.

Scalded To Frenzy Leaps Overboard

PORT HURON, Nov. 15.—A boiler tube in the steamer McLouth blew up as the boat was near Alpena yesterday. A fireman, whose name could not be learned, was scalded to death in the fire hold. No other members of the crew were injured.

Steamer Wrecked On Pancake Shoals

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 14.—The Becker Line steamer Francis J. Widlar, 7,600 tons, is wrecked on Pancake Shoals, ten miles northeast of Whitefish Bay.

Capt. Arthur Forbes of Ashtabula, Ohio, in command of the vessel, has been taken aboard of the steamer Livingstone, due to reach here tomorrow forenoon, according to a wireless message from Capt. Forbes to the Canadian Soo wireless station late tonight.

Capt. Forbes, in his message asked that an attempt be made to take off the remainder of his crew from the Widlar.

It is assumed here that a part of the crew was taken aboard the steamer Livingstone with Capt. Forbes.

The Widlar is a complete wreck, according to Capt. Forbes' message.

Predicts Fall In Price of Meat

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—Because in Ottawa the retail prices of meats are in some cases twice as high as prices advertised in Winnipeg, a general reduction in the East is prophesied by a Western cattle man at present in the city. He does not like present prices and says that the prices offered him for his three-year-olds before he left the West were so low that he decided to hold them over the winter. He was sure that the low prices would soon reach the consumer.

A consideration of the numbers of farm animals in Canada on June 1, 1920, shows a considerable reduction as compared with 1919. Yet prices are going down, a fact that may be explained by the lowered demand from abroad and the smaller amounts consequently held in storage. Only milch cattle and sheep have continued to increase in number. There were 6,536,571 cattle other than milch in June, 1919 and only 5,801,483 in June, this year. Swine in the same time dwindled in numbers from 4,040,070 to 3,516,678, one Chicago firm withdrawing its buyers on account of the few offerings. The hens number 25,942,105, or 5,843,617 less than a year before.

This, however, does not mean that the numbers in 1920 are below normal, for, though less than in 1919, they are greater in most cases than in 1916, when there were 2,833,433 milch cows, 3,760,718 cattle other than milch, 2,022,941 sheep and 3,474,840 swine. Contradiction of credits is believed to have forced farmers to unload many of their animals producing automatically lower prices.

SMALLPOX AMONG STUDENTS

Brantford, Nov. 15.—One of the classes of the Collegiate Institute has been dismissed owing to the finding of a mild case of smallpox. Vaccinated pupils will be allowed back next Monday, but unvaccinated pupils must stay away for two weeks to allow any communicated cases to develope.

ALLEGED THEFT.

Gerald Yetman, a young man, was this morning arraigned before Mayor Riggs and ex-Mayor Walmsley on a charge of theft. SAY SIR THOMAS MAY HOLD SEAT

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—The claim put forward that the Federal constituency of Leeds and Grenville is automatically vacant, without the need of Sir Thomas White, the sitting member, formally resigning, because he has accepted a place on the Board of Arbitration which is fixing the value of the Grank Trunk Railway, is challenged by high legal authorities at the Capital.

It is understood that subsequent to his acceptance of the position of Government arbitrator the ex-Minister of Finance sought legal advice as to how such acceptance would affect his standing in Parliament, and that he received the assurance that he would be justified in keeping his seat in the House of Commons should he desire to do so. His intentions in regard to the matter are not known here.

It is admitted that under the provisions of the Independence of Parliament Act, a member of the House who accepts a post of emolument under the Government, or any of its officers, forfeits his seat. But in the case of Sir Thomas, while it is understood the point is advanced that the Grand Trunk Board of Arbitration is the creation, not of the Government or any of its officers, but of Parliament itself. The argument, in other words, is that a member acting on a body specially created by act of Parliament and whose work and expenditure would be revised by Parliament, does not, of necessity, have to relinquish his seat. In this connection it can be authoritatively stated that, in the opinion of the Government, the constituency of Leeds and Grenville has not automatically become vacant.

J. F. LEITCH, OF COBOURG DIES ON BUSINESS TRIP

Cobourg, Nov. 15.—The man who a press report from Edmonton on Monday stated was found ill on the streets of that City and was taken to a military hospital, has since passed away there. He was J. F. Leitch formerly of Toronto, but for two or three years past a resident of Cobourg. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Symons of Toronto, two children, and his mother residing here.

Mr. Leitch was travelling for the Cobourg Matting & Carpet Co., and was away on a two months' business trip as far as the coast. He had been away from town about three weeks.

He was an overseas veteran, enlisting from Toronto, and went to France with the 1st Canadian Division, where he was wounded. He was a patient in the Ontario Military Hospital here for a short time, afterwards serving efficiently as member of the staff, before assuming his late position.

Mr. Leitch was one of the first Presidents of the G.W.V.A. here, and was also a member of the Masonic Lodge. He was highly esteemed. The remains are expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Pulpit Tribute To A Respected Citizen

On Sunday evening at Emmanuel Church, the rector, the Rev. George Marshall preached the funeral sermon of the late Francis S. Wallbridge. The text chosen was Ecclesiastics 12 5. "Man Goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets"

After referring to the losses the church had sustained in the last two years, the preacher said, that all in the congregation were acquainted with the circumstances of the sudden and unlooked-for removal by death, of another of their number in the person of Mr. Wallbridge. In the course of his sermon he said that the little family had sustained a loss beyond the power of words to describe., the grief of those remaining at home, finds a parallel in the home of Bethany, where on a similiar bereavement the tender-hearted Saviour mingled his tears with those of the two sisters.

The rector said, he was not permitted to say all he knew of the virtues and work of their departed friend, but this much he would say. He was a worthy son of worthy parents, and an affectionate and unselfish brother. He was ever a most loyal sugject of the King, and a respected citizen, upon whom the city of Belleville had conferred the greatest honor in its power to bestow. To us of this church, he was an example of faith and patience. A consistent member, and a liberal supporter from its commencement as a member of the vestry he took a keen interest in all its activities, and a kindly thoughtfulness in the welfare of all its members. In thinking of the loss the comunity had sustained by his removal, he could not help associating the name of the late Dr. Gibson, the city, no less than the families, and the churches were mourning an irreparable loss through the death of these two good men. He wished to say to the men of that congregation, especially to the young men, that God, this city and the vacant places these men had left, were appealing to them for the consecration of their energies to such service as will best promote the highest interest of their fellow men. Let not that threefold call be in vain. Meanwhile let us all respect the virtues and cherish the memories of the deceased. Let us dwell upon what was amiable in their character, and imitate their work. Let the remembrance of the friends we have lost strengthen our affection for those that remain. If the circle of those that we love becomes narrower, let us become more attached and devoted as we draw closer together. See to it that your hearts, which have been softened by sorrow, mellow into gentleness and kindness. Make liberal allowances for one another, and bear ye one another's burdens.

Those whose loss is the greatest and sorrow the keenest, should be comforted by the thought that those whose absence they mourn, still live. They are gone from this dark and troubled world to join those who have passed on before and to enjoy with them rest, peace and everlasting life. In due time we hope to join them in blissful habitations. Till then, let us be followers of them, who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

At the conclusion, Miss Martha Harris sang 'The Christian's Good-Night.' After the benediction, the organist, Miss P. Wilder, played the "Dead March in Saul."

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Mr. Alfred Draycott, residing on Colborne street in this city, yesterday lost a valuable spaniel dog under rather peculiar circumstances. The canine was running over the new culvert built by the C.N.R. just west of the railway bridge, when in some manner it fell, breaking its lower jaw. The injury was of such a nature as to necessitate the destruction of the dog.

HOBO PANDHANDLERS IN HAVANA HOTELS

About the only persons seen on the streets of Havana who show symptoms of over-indulgence in intoxicants are Americans. This does not mean, however, that all the Americans who go there drink to excess.

Beer and light wines are so much a part of the Latin life that it has no intoxicating effect. They drink moderately. But some visitors from the dry land seem to drink constantly, once they find a bar.

To Americans, however, the most disagreeable and sickening picture is the hobo from home, a hopeless, wretched figure that infests hotel lobbies. His panhandling is brazen. They pick out people speaking their own tongue, and without shame boldly announce that they want money for drinks. They long ago discarded the appeal for help to get the other shirt from the laundry.

The University of Toronto harriers won the intercollegiate race.

McGill and U. of T. will play off for the Intercollegiate senior football title at Kingston next Saturday.

The Annual Meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be held on Monday Afternoon, November 15th at 3 p.m., in the Y.M.C.A. Lecture Room, when the Hon. Nelson Parliament, M.P., will address the gathering.

You are cordially invited to be present. 1-tdc

Music and Drama

(What the Press Agents Say)

TUNEFUL MUSICAL COMEDY

"Bringing Up Father at the Seashore," the ultra-amusing and rollicking play based on the famous cartoons of George McManus and sponsored by that shrewd and far-seeing manager, Gus Hill is slated for an engagement at Griffin's Opera House, to-morrow night for one night only. Probably no comics created in the past decade have gained such renown and success as the McManus effusions. They appear daily in newspapers throughout the United States to the joy and entertainment of millions. Now that they have been transplanted to the stage their popularity is universal. In the new piece which may be described as musical comedy of the better sort, Jiggs Mahoney is abused and cuffed as of yore. And the cause of his unhappiness, of course is his termangent better half, Maggie, whose expressions of thrift and repartee naturally adds to the merriment of the offering. Twenty exponents of song comprising a beauty chorus of youth, vivacity and charm are introduced, along with a capable company of singers, vocalists, dancers, comedians and funsters. Three acts are required to set the ball of mirth rolling and to keep Jiggs from giving his fortune away with the carelessness and abandon of his birth and station.

BILLIE BURKE

Billie Burke makes her return to the motion pictures in "Away Goes Prudence," a fascinating funny Paramount Artcraft production, after a brief interval spent on the stage in "Caesar's Wife." This is an original story by Josephine Levitt and will be the chief attraction at Griffin's to-night and Wednesday night. Perhaps it was Miss Burke's little sojourn on the stage that caused her to show renewed zest and charm in the picture, but at any rate she has originated a role showing an overabundance of new mischievousness and fun. Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," Larry Semon in "The Stage Hand," Screen Snapshots and a beautiful and interesting Travelogue will also be shown on the same program.

JUNE CAPRICE AND BEN WILSON

What would you do if you found the man you loved had forgotten your very existence and was engaged to a woman you knew to be utterly unworthy of his love? Suppose you knew that she really loved another and was marrying the man you loved just because he was rich whereas you loved him for himself? Would you put him out of your heart and see him make the mistake of marrying the other? Or would you try to make the other woman worthy? Or would you try to win him yourself?

These are the questions June Caprice as Mary Ann Hubbard asks herself in "In Walked Mary," the Albert Cappelanni special feature being shown at the Palace to-night to Wednesday matinee daily. As Mary Ann is very young, innocent, and inexperienced in the ways of the world, the problem is quite a knotty one for her, but the manner in which she unties it will prove satisfactory to the old and the young who will find clean, wholesome entertainment in "In Walked Mary."

One of the most novel plots ever introduced into pictures is suggested in the first episode of the new serial "The Branded Four" which is being shown on the same program. The serial stars the two well known players, Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber who have the stellar roles and the serial work of the two players is known to every follower of the continued picture. "The Branded Four" is said to be an unusual serial drama in that it does not depend entirely on its thrills. There are thrills of course but the intense action and deep mystery of the plot assist in making it an uncommon attraction. An eccentric and kinless old physician converts his wealth into gold and then by a secret process brands four baby girls with numbers on their backs. The numbers will not appear until the children have grown and the numbers when decided will then give the key to the hiding place of the fortune. A Snub Pollard comedy and an interesting Travelogue will also be shown on the same program.

RECITAL OF SONGS.

The Ottawa Citizen refers to Alma Simpson as follows:

"In her recital given at the Russell Theatre under the patronage of the Governor General and the Duchess of Devonshire and the Ladies' Musical Club, Alma Simpson sang a score of songs, gems of the first water, with a voice and a range of varied expression which few living concert sopranos can equal. Mme. Simpson, proved herself an artist of the first rank. Her voice is one of calibre and quality seldom heard in Ottawa."

Miss Simpson will give her famous "Recital of Songs" in Belleville City Hall tonight under the auspices of Quinte Chapter, Daughters of the Empire in aid of the Children's Shelter.

ALBERT COLLEGE WINS

The Albert College Football Team went to Napanee to play the return game with Napanee Collegiate Institute.

The buss with the team left Belleville at 12-30 p.m. and was followed by a second buss which carried a healthy crowd of rooters. The busses arrived in Napanee about 2-15 and the team started immediately to don their uniforms. They were then rushed down to the fair grounds where play began at 3-25 p.m.

First Period

Play started with Napanee taking the wind and kick-off. Guest kicked the ball to Bedwel who fumbled and the ball was passed to Finley. Finlay took the ball up the field and passed it to Yates who placed a neat shot just outside the post. For the remaining part of the period the game was made up of end to end rushes. McMillan took an offside kick but missed the posts. Yates took a pass from Guest and after making many attempts to get the ball near the goal, Yates fell and the ball was kicked out. Guest rushed in on the Napanee goal. The goal tender came out to meet him Guest passed to Braden who passed back to Guest. Guest was given a dirty check and it resulted in missing the goal. The first period ended without any score.

Second Period

After two minutes of play, Cryderman kicked from side field and placed the ball in front of the post. After a scramble, the ball was kicked out to Yates who made a very sensational kick just tipping the rope on the under side with the ball. Thus making the first goal.

Napanee made many rushes on the Albert backs but with McMillan's skill full kicking and heading the ball, the Napanee players had a hard time getting nearer the Albert full backs. But when any Napanee player got past the hals, Atkinson was always ready. Atkinson was the dread of the Napanee team and when he was checking a man he used that ever-determined look of his which everyone feared. This physical map of his was to more advantage to the Albert team than his abnormal feet.

Towards the end of this period, the play was so much at Napanee's end of the field, that Larmer (Albert goal tender) had to don his coat to keep warm. Score—Albert 1, Napanee 0.

Third Period

After three minutes of play, Maybee placed a neat goal in between the Albert posts. The play for the remain ing part of the period was in centre field. Score—Albert 1, Napanee 1.

Fourth Period

MacMillan, who had starred through the whole game, placed a kick right in front of the goal. Bedwell took advantage of this and shot but he put it right into the goalkeeper's arms. MacMillan took another corner kick but it was not as well judged as the former one and the ball was kicked out. The goalkeeper took the kick and the Albert forwards were on their way for a second goal when the time-keeper called the game. Score—Albert 1, Napanee 1.

After the game, the team went back to the N.C.I. where they prepared for supper. N.C.I. provided supper down town for the Albert team. After supper, the team and the rooters gave the town a little bit of Albert pep for about forty-five minutes.

They visited many stores and were shown great hospitality by Mr. F. H. Perry, whose son and daughter are ex-pupils of A. C.

When the Albert fellows went into Mr. F. H. Perry's store to give their notorious cheers, he presented them with a luscious abundance of snow apples and chocolate bars.

Later the students (about thirty in number) went to Mr. Perry's residence to see Howard Perry, a former pupil of A. C., who had met with an accident while playing football in a previous engagement. They were again received with great hospitality which they fully appreciate and will never forget.

The team and rooters then returned home by buss, arriving in Belleville about 8-30 p.m.

The result of this game and a former game which was played in Belleville two weeks ago Saturday, puts A. C. three points ahead of N.C.I. for the series. When Napanee visited Belleville two weeks ago, they met defeat Score—Albert 3, Napanee 0.

FREED OF RHEUMATISM AFTER FORTY YEARS

Henry Hill, of St. Thomas, Ont., Says Tanlac Has Entirely Relieved His Long Standing Trouble—Gains Nineteen Pounds.

"Tanlac not only freed me of the rheumatism which had troubled me for forty years, but also built me up to where I have gained nineteen pounds and am feeling like a young man again," said Henry Hill, of 299 Ross street, St. Thomas, Ont., a carpenter employed at the Michigan Central Railroad Car Shops.

"As a matter of fact I was troubled with rheumatism ever since I was a boy of sixteen and as I grew older the trouble got worse. Finally it became so bad in my arms and shoulders I couldn't raise my hands to my head. Sometimes when using a saw or plane the pain was so severe I had to lay off from work. I had such cramping pains in my toes at times I could hardly walk, and I slept so little at night on account of my suffering that I became very weak and run-down.

"I hadn't been taking Tanlac more than a week when I noticed a big improvement. I began to sleep much better and I had less pain in my arms and shoulders. So I kept right on with the medicine until now I am free of the rheumatism and am on the job every day working as well as I ever could. My appetite has picked up and I've gained nineteen pounds in weight I simply can't say enough in praise of Tanlac and urge all who suffer as I did to give it a trial."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Chtrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Big Gathering At Belleville

Many Resolutions Received for Ontario Associated Boards of Trade Meeting

A number of resolutions dealing with a wide variety of subjects of vital interest to the province in particular and the Dominion in general have been sent in for submission to the seventh annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce which is to be held in the City Hall, Belleville, on November 25 and 26. The meeting promises to be one of the best yet held and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce's entertainment committee of which Mr. John Elliott is chairman, is making splendid arrangements for taking care of the large number of delegates expected. It is anticipated that each of the 57 affiliated Boards and Chambers will have several representatives present.

Foremost among the eight resolutions submitted by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is one urging the Provincial Government to utilize all water powers and encourage and substantially aid in the development of every possible unit of electrical energy at reasonable cost. Another resolution criticizes the system of luxury taxes as having "a most harmful effect" on retail business and as an undue burden owing to the complications in the manner of its collection, and expresses the belief that the substitution of a small tax on the entire sales of all businsses, of say, one or two per cent., would be much better in every way, and would not work any hardship on anyone.

IMPERIAL CONGRESS

A third resolution emphasizes the important results likely to come from the Ninth Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, recently held here, and pledges support and co-operation to the International Chambers of Commerce. The encouragement of immigration from the British Isles is also urged. The work of the Fire Prevention and Safety League is commended and also the encouragement given by the Government to aviation. A law requiring lights on all vehicles is advocated.

Cochrane Board of Trade sends a resolution urging that the extension of the T. and N. O. Railway to James Bay receive the immediate consideration of the Provincial Cabinet. The provision of important highways in the northern parts of the province is advocated in resolutions submitted by Iroquois Falls, Sault Ste. Marie and Parry Sound Boards.

Three resolutions urging the granting of a bounty to encourage the mining and smelting of iron ore in this country came from Fort William, Port Arthur and Sudbury. Fort William also advocates the appointment of a commissioner by the Ontario Government to promote the interests of new Ontario.

Toronto Board of Trade has a strong resolution supporting the St. Lawrence deepening and power development project and also one protesting against the proposal that appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council be abolished.

Other resolutions deal with a number of different subjects.

SHORN OF THEIR HAIR ARE AWARDED $1,000

Dublin, Nov. 10.—Compensation amounting to $1,000 has been awarded by the Bandon Court to Kathleen Meade and Christina Delouge for having their hair shorn off by armed and masked men.

They said that young Republicans took this form of vengeance upon them because they had been seen talking to policemen in Clonakilty.

PARENTS OF WEAK, AILING CHILDREN

Will Be Interested in This Letter

A mother writes: "My little girl was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended—it built up her strength and made her healthy, so now she romps and plays like other children and is robust and rosy."

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the very elements needed to create red corpuscles in the blood, quicken the circulation, increase the appetite and soon strength and vitality is imparted to every part of the body.

Your druggist sells Vinol, therefore do not accept any substitute.

Worn-Out, Weak Men and Women Testify

Chatham, Ont.:—"For many years I suffered with stomach trouble and I tried many remedies but they seemed to be a failure—my stomach seemed to be getting worse instead of better. One day I came in possession of a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and took it. My stomach seemed completely cured. I have great faith in this medicine and hope any sufferer that reads this will give the 'Discovery' a trial. Once tried, you will never be without it."—C. TITUS, Jr., 28 Duke St.

New Wiltshine, P. E. I.:—"I suffered three years with bronchial asthma. I was so weak I could hardly walk three steps at a time. I could not sleep so would get up and stay up the rest of the night. One day a friend advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery so I sent to my druggist for a bottle and when I had taken half of it I felt a great deal better. When I used that bottle I sent for two more, and when I finished the third bottle I was completely cured.

"It is over two years since I first took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and I have not been troubled a day with asthma since."—ALEX McLEOD.

Hamilton, Ont.:—"I have suffered with rheumatism for the last five years and I have only taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets and three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am nearly cured. I also had that dread disease, Spanish Influenza, leaving me in a terrible condition. Only those who have had it know what an awful condition it leaves one in. I am sure if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's medicines and advice I certainly would have died.

"I want to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to any sufferer with kidney trouble or to anyone rundown after having the 'Flu'. Also try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation."—MRS. ESTELLA GRANBY, 54½ James St. North.

A BUNCH OF "TOUGH GUYS" OUT IN THE COUNTRY.

Since the Rotary wheel first began to rotate and radiate golden gleams of good fellowship, sociability and service Rotary Clubs have interested themselves in boy life, realizing that boy life is the foundation of good citizenship and the better the foundation the better the superstructure of citizenship. Belleville Rotary Club has made Boys' Work the principal feature of their community service and their efforts in this direction are already bearing good fruit. At the present time four good Belleville Rotarians are acting as Big Brothers to four boys who made mistakes but were given another chance to make good and will have even a better chance because each one now has a Big Brother to help him over the hard places.

Recently Belleville Rotarians heard inspiring addresses upon the problem of the under-privileged boy from two leaders in boys' work, Taylor Statten, of Toronto, and J. M. Atkinson, of New York, who are making a cross-continent tour arousing interest in boys' work and addressing Rotary Clubs principally on account of Rotary's interest in the boy and the Rotary motto, "He profits most who serves best."

Splinter in His Big Toe.

The scientific social workers call them the "underprivileged boy" and the "overprivileged boy." One of them is born with a silver spoon in his mouth and the other, says Ben Hecht, special correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, "with a splinter in his big toe." One of them grows up carefully protected, perhaps too carefully protected, from all the shocks and tribulations that boyhood is heir to. At six he begins to find automobiles a bore, at ten he throws the miniature railway out of the window and refuses to waste any time on the silly old Christmas-tree. The scientific workers have him tabulated as the over-privileged boy, and he is likely to develop into a bad sort of a citizen if nothing happens to reduce his idea of his own importance. At the other extreme is the curbstone gamin, yelling "cheese it" when the cop heaves into sight, fighting, swearing, and hunting cats in the alleys. He is the hard little egg, the tough guy, quite as likely to come to some bad end as the boy at the other extreme of the economic scale. He is put down as the underprivileged boy, and the story that Mr. Hecht found at the expensive and exclusive Northwestern Military Academy, at Lake Geneva, near Chicago, deals with both sorts of boys. Mr. Hecht writes:

It began when Col. R. P. Davidson addressed the cadets at the Academy one spring day on the subject of the Boys' Club that the Union League had established in the heart of Chicago's congested district—West Nineteenth and South Leavitt streets. The several hundred overprivileged young men—sleek-haired, well-mannered, clear-eyed heirs to estates, factories, and incomes—were informed of the fact that there were hundreds of boys at the club in Chicago who had never been on a vacation further away than the neighborhood poolroom in their lives.

The result of the Colonel's lecture was something new in the way of philanthropy. The cadets dug down into their allowances and came across with enough to transport and house some one hundred and ten members of the Boys' Club. The reporter found the last contingent of the one hundred and ten at Lake Geneva. They were "pal-ing" with the "overprivileged boys." No scientific charity-workers were on hand to remold their gamin souls and tack new labels on to them. They were being put through a summer course at the exclusive prep school—minus the academic end of it—and were lining up for inspection, playing baseball, running races, riding in the military tanks alongside the somewhat bored pick and flower of the nation's youth. De gang from the West Side were guests of our best social set.

"T'ot It Was Ghosts."

"The thing has turned out amazingly," said Robert Klees, director of the Boys' Club. "Contact with the boys at the prep school has done more for the kids from my district than years of discipline and education could work. This thing is only a starter. But it already beats all the summer-camp ideas for underprivileged boys yet put into practise. Here are two groups representing totally different aspects of our nation's life. They can help each other. It isn't a one-sided charity The gang have done as much for Colonel Davidson's kids as they've done for them."

The thirty West-siders clamored around Mr. Klees with shouts of joy when he appeared. There were wild stories for him to hear. Mike and Jimmie had fallen out of trees. Fatty had waked up scared to death of ghosts.

"It was the birds and grasshoppers makin' a noise in the mornin', Mr. Klees, and he thought it was ghosts," explained one of the gang.

Tent No. 5 had won the honor flag for the day, but if Tent No. 6 didn't get it tomorrow, somebody was going to get his nose punched. Throughout the day the thirty kids raced, leaped and shouted over the landscape.

Colonel Davidson gave his side of the story:

"Giving kids like that two weeks in the country is nothing new," he said. "The thing we're tickled about is that we've started something. Klees here is pleased, of course, at the changes that have been made in his kids. They've learned manners, they've got new ideas about right and wrong, they've seen our boys, and, after two weeks, have gone away almost metamorphosed. Nobody told them to do anything. There aren't any rules. They've just hung around with our boys and got to trying to emulate them. But that's Klee's side of it.

A Live Bunch of Boys.

"I'm tickled to death on account of the things they've done for the school. I feel that we've gained the most. The fellows who dug down into their pockets for the money to keep the kids had a hazy idea of what they were doing at first. But it started them off on a service mission. Later a number of them volunteered to give up their vacations and spend the summer at the Academy taking care of the kids that came up. And they have. And the summer-course cadets have had their eyes opened.

Klee's kids are a new type to them. They're a live bunch. Tough, hard, and fighting. Nothing has ever come soft to them. And the way they've gone after things up here has been an inspiration to our fellows.

"We're in hopes that we've started something that'll take all over the country. It's not charity, because one side's doing no more for the other than the other's doing for it. But if the prep schools up and down could haul several thousand of the so-called underprivileged boys out of the congested city districts every summer and rub elbows, we'd get somewhere in the leavening process necessary for the welfare of our nation. Something would rub off on both sides and leave both sides improved."

The reporter obtained two other interviews. One was with Mickey from the Leavitt street gang.

"Dey ain't so bad," said Mickey. "I was goin' to punch one of dem on the nose at first, but dey're all right now. And say, we'se had a swell time. We caught a snake wid a frog in his mout' one day."

The other interview was with a sailor-suited cadet aged fourteen.

"Lively little fellows," said the cadet. "A little rough, of course, but gee—I've had a fine time this summer. Those kids certainly know how to have fun."

Let's hope he won't have to beg Father Abraham for a wee drop from his canteen.

Burning British flags seems to be the latest fad on Broadway, where any kind of agitator can be produced on short notice. If Canadians should develop a craze for burning Old Glory, the screaming of the American eagle would rock the universe. Thus far flag burners in New York city are classed as disorderly persons and when arrested, which occurs very seldom, are either allowed to go with a reprimand or one dollar and costs fine, which proves that the offence is considered a very trivial one. And Canada is such a good customer of the United States that the Canadian dollar is accepted for all of fifty cents in U. S. goods. One S——R born every half-minute in Canada, apparently.

A DEBT RECOGNISED

Toronto Star

It is not as an individual that he (the unknown soldier) is to be buried, but as a representative of the unknown dead, that great mass of men not individualised nor singled out in the eye of the world, whose common fund of courage saved liberty. They are the men who never came back, who sleep in the great military cemeteries side by side, officer and private alike continuing in the comradeship of death their comradeship of service and suffering. The world at large never heard the names of most of them. It is preserved only in the lonely hearts of mothers and wives. Yet the Empire is making this offering of homage because of its recognition that when the statesmen have been honored, the generals and officers given their marks of distinction, and when outstanding deeds of gallantry have been rewarded the greatest debt of all is still unrecognised. It is the debt owed to the great rank and file, in no way singled out for honor, but who furnished the solid substratum of courage and endurance on which victory was built. The world stands on the shoulders of these common men. Like a great mosiac their individual achievements are blended to form a great and inspiring picture. This impressive funeral is a symbolic act by which the Empire offers its homage to each one of that vast army of our dead, whose broken bodies formed the invincible rampart against tyranny in the world.

NEVER SATISFIED

Birmingham (England) Post

It is typical of the economic topsyturveydom of these post war days that recent indications of a speedy general fall in world prices are at present a cause rather of anxiety than of relief to the average Briton. Having grumbled at high prices and our consequent ruinous cost of living for the last few years, we seem now to be well on the way towards a national grumble at falling prices, and our consequent danger of less easy and lucrative employment in productive business.

MUSIC I HEARD

Music I heard with you was more than music.
And bread I broke with you was more than bread;
Now I am without you all is desolate.
And all that was once so beautiful is dead.

Your hands once touched this table and this silver,
I have seen your fingers hold this glass,
These things do not remember you, beloved—
And yet your touch upon them will not pass.

For it was in my heart you moved among them,
And blessed them with your hands and with your eyes;
And in my heart they will remember always—
They knew you once, O beautiful and wise.

PAINFULLY BURNED

FARM RESIDENCE BURNED

SUBMARINE MOTORS TO BE CONFISCATED

The alleged intention of the Council of Ambassadors to cofiscate high speed Diesel motors in Germany, whether they are in a finished condition and in use or in the process of construction, is to be made the subject of a diplomatic inquiry.

This action follows the recent visit of an Entente commission to the big Augsburg industrial plant for the purpose of repnisitioning motors that are subsequently to be dismantled or destroyed on the ground that they are suitable for submarines and therefore war material.

A message from Munich stated that workers on these motors were coming to Berlin to protest against seizure of the Diesel stationary motors not usable for U-boat purposes.

A semi-official statement says that the inhibition of the manufacture of the motors used for legitimate purpose would mean a heavy loss to German industry and result in a large number of workers being out of employment.

Victrola In Sight For Old Folks

Belleville Boys Had a Field Day Gathering Old Papers, and End is Not Yet.

The boys had a great day Saturday. Although the day was very cold they gathered in over three tons of old papers and magazines, and they are by no means through. There is still a great many more to be collected and every opportunity the boys have this week will be devoted to this work. Some of our friends will find that they have not been called on and may feel that they were overlooked, but the boys did their best, and it was only because of the shortness of the time that they did not get to you.

A motor truck and one team of horses was used in collecting the papers. These were in action all day and did splendid work. Mr. J. B. Ives gave the boys his truck and one of his men, which was a splendid contribution to this work. Mr. Leigh, superintendent of the Old Folks Home lent his teamster with his horses, which was much appreciated.

The boys are very anxious to get all the papers in this week, but their time is not their own. They have to be in school all day and it is almost dark by the time they leave school, so they would like any one having papers or magazines in their home, and are desirous of having the boys call for them, call Mr. Buchanan at the Y. M. C. A., phone 413, when the boys will know just where to go.

The headquarters for the papers is the small brick building south of the High School on Church street. Any papers left there any time during the day will be looked after. There are a great many people in the rural districts who would like to have a hand in this work, so fill up the back seat of your car and leave the contents at the little house on Church street, and they will be looked after. Bring them all in—the old ones and the new ones that you have read. Every little counts and it will be only a short time when the old folks will be enjoying the long hours in the evening of their day. Don't forget the address—Small brick building south of the High School on Church Street, the High School drill hall. Bring them all in.

EDWARD MAGOR FISK

In the passing of Mr. Edward Magor Fisk, which occurred this morning at the family residence, 67 Dundas street east, a well known railway man has been taken away from life's activities. For some months, deceased, who was station agent of the Canadian Northern Railway in this city, had been in declining health, but his demise was not anticipated. Mr. Fisk was in his 50th year, having been born at Port Hope in August, in 1871. He was the third son of the late Mr. George Fisk of Port Hope. In early life the deceased had a liking for railway duties and in his various capacities had fulfilled same with credit alike to the companies he was connected with and himself. When a young man he entered the employ of the G.T.R. and was for three years an operator at Lorneville. He was then transferred to Midland where he was for five years acting in the same capacity. From Midland he went to Sutton West, where he remained for ten years. Deceased then went into the employ of the Canadian Northern Railway and was for a brief period assistant station agent at Sudbury and also agent for four years at Sellwood. For a short period he was a despatcher at Toronto. Four years ago Mr. Fisk came to Belleville as station agent for the C.N.R. In this position he was eminently qualified for the duties devolving upon him and he made many friends who deeply regret his demise. FIGHT PROMOTERS

New York, Nov. 15.—A "rake-off" of $2,000,000 for Promoters Charles B. Cochran, William A. Brady and Tex Rickard on the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier fight to be held in New York or vicinity on Decoration Day or July 4 has been planned by the backers of the fight.

According to Mr. Cochran, the fight will be in an open air arena, seating 100,000. The scale of prices will range from $5 to $100, with an average of $30 a head. With the arena packed there will be an intake of $3,000,000, of which $300,000 will go to Dempsey, $200,000 to aCrpentier, anll $500,000 has been set aside as the expenses of the bout, leaving the $2,000,000 to be divided among the three promoters.

Mr. Cochrane has also settled the Havana rumour by stating that the idea of Cuba being the battleground has been discarded, and that New York city or vicinity will be the place for the bout.

Insiders insist there never was a serious intention of putting on the quarrel in Havana—that such talk was bandied about for political purposes.

SPRACKLIN GIVEN A MONTH'S LEAVE

Toronto, Nov. 15.—A month's holidays was granted yesterday to Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, special license inspector at Windsor, Ontario, by the Ontario Board of License Commissioners. Beyond stating that the month's leave had been granted Mr. Spracklin and that it was to enable him and his wife to recuperate from the effects of the nervous strain under which both have been living since the former's appointment. Members of the board declined to discuss the matter although it was said that the action taken was not prejudical to Mr. Spracklin's retention on the staff of officers which is endeavoring to stop the rum-running activies at the border.

Rev. Mr. Spracklin, with his brother, Rev. A. L. Spracklin, arrived in Toronto from Windsor.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, [illegible], by A. C. McClurg & Co.

When the raiders assembled after glutting their fury and their avarice, and rode away with Jane Clayton toward the north, she saw the smoke and flames rising far into the heavens until the winding of the trail into the thick forests hid the sad view from her eyes.

As the flames ate their way into the living room, reaching out forked tongues to lick up the bodies of the dead, one of that gruesome company whose bloody welterings had long since been stilled, moved again. It was a huge black who rolled over upon his side and opened blood-shot, suffering eyes. Mugambi, whom the Arabs had left for dead, still lived. The hot flames were almost upon him as he raised himself painfully upon his hands and knees and crawled slowly toward the doorway. After what seemed to him an interminable time, during which the flames had become a veritable fiery furnace at the far side of the room, the great black managed to reach the veranda, roll down the steps and crawl off into the cool safety of some nearby shrubbery.

All night he lay there, alternately unconscious and painfully sentient; and in the latter state watching with savage hatred the lurid flames which still rose from burning crib and hay cock. A prowling lion roared close at hand; but the giant black was unafraid. There was place for but a single thought in his savage mind—revenge! revenge! revenge!

CHAPTER VI.

The Jewel-Room of Opar.

For some time Tarzan lay where he had fallen upon the floor of the treasure chamber beneath the ruined walls of Opar. He lay as one dead; but he was not dead. At length he stirred. Slowly he rose to a sitting posture—listening. No sound reached to the buried depths of his sepulcher. He staggered to his feet and groped his way among the tiers of ingots. What was he? Where was he? His head ached; but otherwise he felt no ill effects from the blow that had felled him. The accident he did not recall, nor did he recall aught of what had led up to it.

He let his hands grope unfamiliarly over his limbs, his torso, and his head. He felt of the quiver at his back, the knife in his loin cloth. Something struggled for recognition within his brain. Ah! he had it. There was something missing. He crawled about upon the floor, feeling with his hands for the thing that instinct warned him was gone. At last he found it—the heavy war spear that in past years had formed so important a feature of his daily life, almost of his very existence.

Tarzan was sure that there was another and more lovely world than that which was confined to the darkness of the four stone walls surrounding him. He continued his search and at last found the doorway leading inward beneath the city and the temple. This he followed, most incautiously. He came to the stone steps leading upward to the higher level. He ascended them and continued onward toward the well, blundering on through the darkness as though he were transversing an open plain under the brilliance of a noonday sun, and suddenly there happened that which had to happen under the circumstances of his rash advance.

He reached the brink of the well, stepped outward into space, lunged forward and shot downward into the inky depths below. Still clutching his spear, he struck the water and sank beneath its surface, plumbing the depths.

The fall had not injured him, and when he rose to the surface he shook the water from his eyes and found that he could see. Tarzan gazed about him. On the level with the surface of the water he saw a large opening in the dank and slimy wall. He swam to it and drew himself out upon the wet floor of a tunnel.

Along this he passed; but now he went warily, for Tarzan of the Apes was learning. The unexpected pit had taught him care in the traversing of dark passageways—he needed no second lesson.

For a long distance the passage went straight as an arrow. The foot of a stairway ended it. Up this he made his way. It turned back and forth many times, leading, at last, into a small, circular chamber.

Curiosity prompted the ape-man to investigate his surroundings. Several metal-bound, copper-studded chests constituted the sole furniture of the round room. Tarzan let his hands run over these. He felt of the copper studs he pulled upon the hinges and at last by chance he raised the cover of one.

Children's Aid Society Hold Annual Meeting

ADDRESSED BY HON. NELSON PARLIAMENT, SPEAKER OF ONTARIO LEGISLATURE, WHO DESCRIBES WORK OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY AS LABOR OF LOVE AND GREAT FACTOR IN THE BUILDING UP OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP — ENCOURAGING REPORTS — ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Annual Meeting of the Childrens' Aid Society of the city was held on Monday afternoon in the Auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. and was fairly well attended by ladies and others who take an interest in Childrens' welfare.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman, president occupied the chair and stated that he would notify the nominating committee that he would not act as president another year.

Reports

The reports presented were of an encouraging nature, showing that the Society was doing good work, and was in good standing financially.

Mr. Thos. D. Ruston, as inspector presented his annual report, showing that a great deal of good work had been accomplished by the Society during the past year.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, treasurer, reported receipts of $7,095.89 and expenditures of $6,974.94 to October 31, 1920..

Annual Address

The annual address was given by Hon. Nelson Parliament, M.P.P., for Prince Edward County, and Speaker of the Legislature, who was most cordially received. In his opening remarks the speaker said it was a pleasure to see so many taking an active interest in this labor of love, for neglected children. It was a noble work that all were engaged in. He desired also to speak a few words of commendation for Mr. Ruston, the inspector, who was doing good work for neglected children. The Childrens' Aid Society was a grand institution and was one that should be heartily supported. We should be proud of such institutions, and all should be interested in this work also in church and moral reform work. We are responsible for the men and women of tomorrow who are the boys and girls today. This is a question which should engage the attention of every- an and women of Belleville. This tion of which we are so proud, he believed was destined to be one of the eatest countries of the world. We nt some 500,000 overseas from Can- a to fight for democracy and they oved to be better than machine soldiers. Why did they prove to be such od soldiers? It was because of the me training they had received. We ould instil in the minds of the rising neration, the principles of true citizenship. Let us rear up men and wo- n who know what it is to serve d. Let there be true brotherhood. ere will be war unless there is a e brotherhood the world over, and do this let us start in our own me. The individual citizen makes state what it is. It the state is for the individual, then there is mething wrong. Men and women re put on earth to serve and this s one way they could serve. It is a good work and has the approbation of the Saviour who said "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me, and Forbid Them not, For Such is the Kingdom of Heaven." His earnest desire was that there would be a bigger and better Belleville, a bigger and better Province, a bigger and better Canada that will weild an influence such as this country is expected to wield.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson moved, seconded by Rev. W. H. Wallace a hearty vote of thanks to Hon. Mr. Parliament for his address. The resolution was unanimously adopted and fittingly recognized.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN BUSINESS SECTION

ORIGINATED IN PALACE THEATRE

THEATRE BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE, WHICH SPREAD TO ADJOINING BUSINESS PLACES — NARROW ESCAPE OF OCCUPANTS OF UPPER STOREY APARTMENTS—FIREMEN QUICKLY RESPOND AND FIGHT HARD TO PREVENT SPREAD OF FLAMES — LOSS WILL BE VERY HEAVY.

Belleville was visited by a disastrous fire which broke out shortly after one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon in the Palace Theatre, destroyed the theatre building and spread to the adjoining buildings.

The flames spread very quickly, and shortly after being discovered a great sheet of flame burst from the Front street entrance of the Palace Theatre and it was seen that the building was doomed as the flames were rapidly spreading to the upper flats.

The fire department was speedily at the scene and every possible line of hose was laid in record time and tons of water poured upon the flames from various vantage points, front and rear. The hook and ladder truck was early on the scene and ladders rushed up where needed.

A large crowd soon collected and apprehension was felt that the rapid spread of the flames had cut off the escape of some of the occupants of flats in the theatre building. This was quickly emphasized by the cries of women coming through the smoke, followed by the appearance of two women at windows of the second storey. They dropped to the roof of the portico over the theatre entrance, and one, Mrs. A. L. Johnston, dropped to the ground, being caught by a gentleman, who eased her fall and prevented serious injury. Mrs. Walter Small also escaped by the window to the portico and was assisted down a ladder to the ground by firemen. Mrs. Johnston occupied apartments over the theatre with her husband, Albert Johnston, who is a G.T.R. engineer. Mrs. Small occupied apartments on the same floor. Several other families occupied rooms in the same building. So quickly did the flames spread that the residents of the building had no time to save any of their household effects and were lucky to escape with their lives. Mrs. Johnston was cut with broken glass and holes were burned in the clothing she wore.

NOTES

Mrs. Johnston after dropping from the theatre portico was assisted to Lattimer's Drug Store, where she quickly recovered from the nervous shock caused by her experiences and was able to go to the home of a relative.

The excellent work of Belleville's efficient fire brigade under the capable direction of Chief Brown, confined the flames to the Palace Theatre building. An automatic fire door between the burned building and the block adjoining closed when the heat struck it and this proved a great preventative to the spread of the flames.

The Bank of Commerce building to the north was filled with smoke and considerable water was upon the upper flooring and this found its way to the main part of the building, doing some damage. Good work was done by the use of two lines of hose which were in the bank building.

Whilst the flames did not reach the Perfect Cafe conducted by Lum Bros., the restaurant was put out of commission owing to water and smoke. Above the cafe were apartments occupied by Lum Bros., and assistants and Mr. Kurentus, a Greek, who conducts a pool room and shoe shining parlor adjoining the cafe.

Mayor Riggs is the owner of the block in which the theatre was located and he also owned the chairs and piano. The value of the block was about $12,000 and insured in several companies. The block adjacent in which the Perfect Cafe and pool room are situated is also owned by the Mayor. The loss to these premises will be fully covered by insurance.

Mr. Geo. J. Forhan, manager of the Palace Theatre was unable to state what the loss will be but it will amount to a large sum as the operating room was provided with up-to-date machines.

Police Officer Thompson gave the alarm, and when he saw the blaze it appeared to be in the centre of the building, coming from the basement. Before water could be played upon the flames, they were bursting out at the front of the theatre.

A number of streams were brought to bear upon the blaze and at least two more could have been utilized had the hydrant been replaced which was broken off some months ago in front of Lattimer's Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston carried no insurance upon their household effects which were a total loss, not even clothing being saved.

Some Nations Can Not Pay Their Way

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—There are few indications of any improvement in exchange conditions as between European countries and Canada and the United States, according to best advices received here. Detailed reports of proceedings of financial conference of allied governments held in Brussels some time ago at which Canada was represented by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia, give little indications of betterment of monetary conditions in continental countries. The startling fact was revealed in the public finance report submitted to the conference that three out of four nations represented at the conference will have budget deficits this year which means that three-quarters of the civilized world is not paying its way in the second year after cessation of hostilities.

Soviet Russia Is Fulfilling Terms

London, Nov. 16.—In the House of Commons today Bonar Law stated he hoped that within a week Soviet Russia would have fulfilled conditions upon which Great Britain based the resumption of trade negotiations as to enable him to make a statement. One of these conditions was the release of British prisoners in Russia. He depreciated the delay in the negotiations but said this was not Great Britain's fault being due to the delay of the Russians in releasing British prisoners.

It is said Premier Venizelos will leave the country and he has advised Liberals to abide by the verdict of the people. Latest returns give royalist deputies a majority of 132.

Tug Iowa Battles Through to the Sinking Widlar and Saves The Crew

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 16—Not a life was lost when the Becker Line steel freighter Francis J. Widlar was wrecked on Pancake Shoal, off Whitefish Point, in Friday's gale, but the spectre of death hung over the 33 members of the crew every minute of more than 60 hours from the time their sturdy ship struck until help reached them this morning.

Twenty-two stout-hearted sailors of the Widlar, haggard and weak from the long ordeal and exposure, reached here late yesterday afternoon on the icecovered tug Iowa of the Great Lakes Towing Co., the rescue ship which fought its way to the side of the Widlar in the face of a blinding snowstorm. They brought word that their comrades were safe on the steamer Ainsworth, bound for the Soo, and probably would reach here tonight. Captain Arthur Forbes of Ashtabula was picked up Sunday by the steamer Livingstone, which stood by in an effort to render aid, and which also wirelessed to the Soo Captain Forbes' appeals for aid.

Bay Bridge Purchase Debentures Authorized

CITY COUNCIL PASSES BY-LAW AUTHORIZING ISSUE OF DEBENTURES FOR $30,000, CITY'S SHARE OF BAY BRIDGE PURCHASE PRICE—HASTINGS COUNTY COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BRIDGE COST — FREE SKATING RINKS — SNOW PLOWS — COUNCIL CHARGED WITH GIVING CONTRACTS WITHOUT ADVERTISING FOR TENDERS.

At the City Council meeting last night the business transacted was chiefly of a routine nature. A bylaw was passed authorizing the raising by debentures, the sum of $30,000, the city's share in the purchase of the Bay Bridge. In this matter it was also decided to wait upon the County Council when in session in the city next month with a view to get that body to make a grant towards the purchase.

A committee was appointed to investigate and report to the Council on the advisability of providing a free skating rink for the winter.

Members present were Mayor Riggs, Aldermen Woodley, Hanna, Bone, Ponton, Adams, Wensley and Ostrom.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

On motion, reports of committees, communications, etc., were laid upon the table and the Council went into committee of the whole on reports, etc. Ald. Woodley in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed, also the following recommendations:

That the city purchase two snowploughs from the Dominion Road Machinery Company at $85 each.

That the usual grant of $300 be made to the Indigent Committee of the W.C.A. along with $70 towards repairing the roof of the Old Folks' Home.

WANT WATER SERVICE

Mr. G. V. Bennett asked Ald. Woodley if he would be provided with a water service as he had been promised same for some time. Ald. Woodley promised to have same attended to.

A COMPLAINT

Mr. Thomas Manley addressed the Council relative to work being done by the city without tenders for the work being advertised. There had been a combination in the Council and he had been boycotted. How is it that strangers could come in and get big prices for work? These were facts and he would ask for an investigation. He would ask no odds, but he wanted a fair deal. He could prove that he had been boycotted by a combination in the Council.

TREE INJURING PROPERTY

A communication was read from Dr. Marshall stating that a tree in front of his place was injuring the roof of the building, limbs rubbing upon the roof.

Ald. Ponton—There was a necessity for tree trimming and now was a good time to trim them. When we cut a tree out it should be replaced by another. Two men might be secured to trim trees.

AN OBSTRUCTION

Messrs. George Evans and Ed. Kellaway wrote the Council relative to an obstruction on Sandford street and asked for the removal of same.

Ald. Hanna promised same would be attended to.

BAY BRIDGE

A letter was read from Mr. E. G Porter, K.C., stating that he was prepared to execute a sale of the Bay Bridge at $85,000 to the City of Belleville and the County of Prince Edward.

Ald. Bone suggested that the City Clerk, in acknowledging the communication, ask that the Bay Bridge Company accept the city bonds.

GOVERNMENT REPORT

The resolution of the Chamber of Commerce re disapproving of the Government Engineer's report on the pollution of the waters of the river was read.

Ald. Bone said that there was some industry that was polluting the river. The report of the Provincial Board of Health, was in his opinion, at fault.

Ald. Ponton said the report dealt with a report made in July. There was no report as to inspection of September and October. Sewage was entering into the river near the lower bridge. We pass resolutions without having reports of the city officials.

Ald. Bone—The water is made poisonus and dead fish come down the river.

Ald. Ponton—Let us get facts and pass upon them. The local Board of Health have the power to issue an injunction against an industry if that industry is creating a nuisance. We get no report from the Board of Health.

The committee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

ENQUIRIES

Ald. Bone asked why the records of weather and rain falls were not recorded. Proper instruments for same had been procured by the city.

Ald. Woodley—The instruments are in the Waterworks Department and reports will be provided.

Ald. Adams—Has anything been done as to names on street corners.

Ald. Hanna—The engineer has prices but is held up as to reporting an account of renaming of streets.

Ald. Ostrom—The boulevards on west Bridge street should be levelled up and debris taken off.

Ald. Ponton—I am after the Standard Paving Company in reference to the removal of debris on boulevards.

Ald. Woodley—Will there be any relief for residents on west Bridge street hill getting at their residence?

Ald. Hanna—This will be attended to.

Ald. Ponton—Stones from the revetment wall near the Bank of Montreal are a nuisance on the street. Will they be removed?

Ald. Hanna—This will be attended to at once.

PARKING OF CARS

Mayor Riggs suggested that a committee be appointed relative to the parking of cars on the Market Square.

Ald. Ponton—I will make a motion relative to this matter.

Ald. Adams—There is a shed on Bleecker Avenue which should be removed. Is Mr. Manley to put this over us and not remove it?

Ald. Bone—The City Engineer should remove same and the expenses charged up to Mr. Manley.

INTRODUCTION OF BYLAWS

Ald. Bone introduced three bylaws namely, bylaws to fix the salaries of the Waterworks manager and the salary of the Tax Collector, also a bylaw authorizing the issuing of debentures to the extent of $30,000 the city's share of the purchase price of the Bay Bridge.

The Council went into committee of the whole on bylaws, Ald. Woodley in the chair.

The bylaws were passed through their various stages and numbered respectively, 2284, 2285 and 2286.

Moved by Ald. Ponton, seconded by Ald. Hanna that a committee composed of the Chairmen of Parks and Public Works be appointed to investigate and report to the next meeting of the Council the advisability of providing a free skating rink for the winter.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Hanna, seconded by Ald. Woodley that the Standard Paving Company be requested to proceed with the work of lowering walks on Bridge street at Church street so that the grading of all approaches to Bridge street made be made where necessary.—Carried.

Ald. Hanna moved, seconded by Ald. Ponton that Mr. Bell, south John street, be granted a tobacco license for four months.—Carried.

Ald. Ponton moved, seconded by Ald. Bone that a committee composed of the Mayor, Aldermen Doyle and Ostrom, be appointed to confer with the Market Lesee, Chief of Police and City Solicitor and report on the advisability of rescinding the present parking bylaw and submit a proper one therefore.—Carried.

Ald. Ponton moved, seconded by Ald. Bone that a bylaw authorizing the issue of $30,000 debentures for the city's proportion of purchasing the Bay Bridge be referred to the City Solicitor for the purpose of having the necessary petitions and material prepared to be submitted to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario for the required legislation ratifying said bylaw.—Carried.

HIS UNHAPPY TIME

When Father Pays for Good Things He Has Had.

Shadows Upon Life Are Not Always Caused by Financial Affairs—Health Specialist Occasionally Gets Busy.

Speaking about the influence of money on human happiness, and the fact that the lasting pleasures of life are totally unassociated with money, father is a very good example of the latter premise, writes Glenn M. Farley in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Father's very special health specialist has forbidden him to smoke his pipe before midday, and the pleasure of life has completely vanished from all his forenoons. More than that, father has been a prodigious feeder all his life, with emphasis at the breakfast hour, and the s. h. s. has cut off the breakfast at one fell stroke, and permitted him to partake of milk only at that hour. Hence we have a sad, depressed, peevish person masquerading as father, until the stroke of high noon; then there are large eats and much scratching of matches and voluminous clouds of smoke. His mornings are h—l, and his afternoons are heaven, says father, and one can well believe him; these clouds and shadows upon life, one observes, have nothing to do with money. But doesn't it pass belief what a little thing can alter the whole color of man's life, and cast him from a condition of comparative pleasure into the slough of despond?

However, these little breaks in the regular habit of the individual seem to be hygienically necessary. A man may, of course, mistreat himself shamefully, and still contrive to be up and around; but nobody cares to barely drag out an existence. Consider how many bales of tobacco father must have absorbed in perhaps forty years of uninterrupted pipe pulling! The health sharp comes along and tells him that he has enough surplus nicotine in his system to start a tobacco factory. And besides this there are about the same number of years given over to the indulgence of a farmhand's appetite without the farmhand's exercise. Father will put away a meal that would make a f. h. jealous, and then ride down town and sit in an office chair all day! He will stand this for 30 or 40 years and then complain that he is not feeling just right, and he wonders what is the matter with him!

When we come to consider father we recognize, at once, that he ought to have a guardian. There is where the very special health specialist comes in. He steps in and takes father's breakfast and his pipe away from him, and it is stand-off if he does not also take his lunch and his dinner away from him before his rigorous course is completed. And when all is done, father is either stepping high, like a blind horse, and feeling his oats, or the boys around the office are chipping in to buy him a wreath. It is a long chance, but he has to take it. Having enjoyed his own flat-headed and entirely erroneous way for 40 years, it is high time somebody was stepping in and telling him what to do. The great mistake, with most human beings, is that their parents stop spanking them too early in life.

Not African Golf.

Of course, Pittsburghers, being everything that is good and clever in the pastime of the links, know what "African golf" means. But did they ever hear of "Mississippi marbles?" That's a new name for craps; we have it on the authority of a flock of negroes arraigned before Magistrate Simpson charged with toying with the elusive and aggravating little cubes.

"We were only playing 'Mississippi marbles,'" pleaded one of the prisoners in extenuation.

"'Mississippi marbles?' What's that?" asked the puzzled magistrate.

"Why—why, jes' craps," explained the spokesman.

"I've learned something," said the court, "but just the same you fellows are too big, too old, to play marbles, a kid's game; so I'll fine you each $10."—New York Times.

Ancient Town Rearises.

Dedeagatch derives its name from a monastic community of dervishes belonging to the Dede sect, who settled there in the fifteenth century, soon after the capture of Constantinople. This little town, which but a few years ago, was a hamlet composed of fishermen's huts, has now quite eclipsed the Homeric Enos in commercial importance. Railway construction gave enhanced value to an unsafe harbor, and made more accessible a large neighboring forest of the valonia oaks from which we get our best tanning materials. It is supposed to occupy the site of ancient Zone, the place to which, according to classical poets, the woods followed Orpheus when set in motion by his wondrous music.

(What the Press Agents Say)

"AWAY GOES PRUDENCE"

After playing on the legitimate stage for several months, beautiful Billie Burke appeared at Griffin's last night in the fascinatingly funny Paramount Artcraft picture, "Away Goes Prudence." Miss Burke's comedy powers were never shown to better advantage than in the role of Prudence Thorne, a daring society girl who prefers flying to her sweetheart's attentions and is brought to her senses through a kidnapping arranged by him. Percy Marmont is her leading man. Canadian News Pictorial, Larry Semon in a very funny 2-reel comedy, Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" and one of the most beautiful Travelogues seen on a local screen in some time of the Eden Paradise, Honolulu, preceded the feature offering and proved very entertaining.

"BRINGING UP FATHER"

A musical play of more than passing merit, stability and originality and based on the popular cartoons of George McManus and entitled "Bringing Up Father at the Seashore" will be the attraction at Griffin's Opera House to-night. The new piece is fostered by that up-to-the-minute and far-seeing manager, Gus Hill, who according to all accounts has scored a well-deserved triumph with his latest venture. Of course the Jiggs and the Mahoneys and the rest of their hilarious clan will be, or rather are, on hand to lend their evergreen fude to the mirth of the occasion. Maggie Mahoney once more has ambitions and uncurbed attempts to enter the confines of society. Deceptions and other unfair practices are foisted upon her by her husband, the immortal Jiggs, who in turn is deceived by a coterie of fake noblemen and other ne'er-do-wells who have one aim and that is to corral the Mahoney fortune. How they are frustrated and how the Mahoney's send them to mother earth once more forms one of the funniest plots ever concocted for modern theatrical consumption. The supporting company is unusually capable and well rehearsed. A dozen exclusive song hits and surprises along with a champion beauty chorus and other novelties will be introduced.

Rotarians Journey To Far Country

Belleville Rotarians Listen to Interesting and Instructive Description of Conditions in India.

From a Hotel Quinte appetizing luncheon to India is a far cry, but Belleville Rotarians on Monday after enjoying one of Jim Jenkins' best spreads took a little journey to India under the personal supervision of A. Perry Parks, Y. M. C. A. worker of Delhi, India, and were introduced to many of the strange customs and conditions of that far-away land of mystery. As Belleville Rotary is taking a deep and helpful interest in Boys' Work, Mr. Parkes spoke of the needs of the boys of India and said that the hope of the future of that country lay in the work among the boys now being conducted there by the Y.M.C.A. and other Christian agencies. The Boy Scout movement was taking a deep hold in India and helping to break down the barriers of caste which are keeping that wonderful land steeped in ignorance. There are thirty-four million boys in India, all underprivileged, even the sons of wealthy Maharajahs being included in that class by the speaker, for the intrigues of the women of the royal courts, where there were many wives for each potentate made life precarious for the native princes. Sanitary conditions were very bad in India and disease rampant, while the children roamed about filthy surroundings clad only in their birthday suits.

The limitations of many castes which prohibited intercourse with one another, and religious superstition retarded the spread of civilization in India, but the work among the boys promised to produce splendid results in the years to come. The Y.M.C.A. believed in a healthy Christianity and an effort was being made to develop the boys physically, mentally and spiritually.

Playgrounds in India.

Playgrounds were being provided and the boys taught how to play and develop their bodies, winning the boys to a life of service, purity and service to God and India. The Boy Scout movement was teaching the boys of India that all are brothers and showing the foolishness of caste, but the ancient superstitions were hard to break down.

An instance of the spread of the Boy Scout movement in India was given by Mr. Parkes in the fact that the Boy Scouts organized a patrol service for the great religious festival on August 11 when thousands gather at the sacred rivers for religious rites and in the confusion and crowding many are annually drowned. The Boy Scouts established order and even plunged into the river to rescue people crowded out beyond their depth and in imminent danger of being drowned.

Unhealthy Conditions.

Conditions in India, sanitary and otherwise, of a terrible nature were graphically described by the speaker in a most interesting way, giving an inside view of life in that country, which was very illuminating and instructive.

E. Guss Porter, President, occupied the chair in his customary genial manner and expressed the appreciation of the assembled Rotarians for the excellent address of Mr. Parkes. President Porter said that it was sad to realize that conditions were so bad in India, but with Great Britain the greatest civilizing factor in the world and with the assistance of such men as Mr. Parkes and the development of a desire to help themselves among the residents of India the dawn of a new era could not long be delayed.

Help Returned Soldiers.

President Porter also referred to an article in the current issue of The Rotarian dealing with the returned soldier. The article was headed "Let We Forget," and referred to memorials of metal and marble for the soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice. In providing these memorials we must not conclude our full duty to the soldier has been done, said President Porter, for there is a duty equally imperative to the living who fought for us bravely and well, but now that they have come back shattered and maimed are not well fitted to fight for themselves.

Hand of Fellowship.

Good Rotarians, said President Porter, when meeting crippled veterans on the street should consider it a bounden duty to extend the hand of fellowship and appreciation and enquire if the returned soldier is in need of assistance of any kind. That soldier may need some friendly assistance—something a Rotarian can do which the soldier can not do for himself. President Porter's appeal for the returned soldier was timely and struck a responsive chord among all present.

Famine in China.

Rotarian Dr. Baker brought up the question of the famine in China and this question was referred to the Board of Directors.

Secretary Billy Doyle brought up several business matters, including the Rotary Convention at Edinburgh, Scotland, next year, and a committee was appointed with Rotarian Jimmie Bone as chairman to make all necessary arrangements for Belleville Rotarians who wish to attend.

Rotarian Moffatt, treasurer, brought up several business matters, and Stewart Robertson was received into full Rotarian fellowship and permitted to make his maiden speech in the charmed circle.

Sergeant-at-Arms Oswald Scott failed to collect any fines and reported general conduct and deportment of the members as 100 per cent. perfect.

Rotarian Sandy Burrows introduced several rollicking choruses, which were given with true Rotary pep, and after doing full honors to "The Little Prairie Flower" the gathering dispersed, all being agreed that it was good to be there.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

An exclamation of delight broke from his lips at sight of the pretty contents. Gleaming and glistening in the subdued light of the chamber lay a great tray full of brilliant stones. Tarzan, reverted to the primitive by his accident, had no conception of the fabulous value of his find. To him they were but pretty pebbles. He plunged his hands in them and let the priceless gems filter through his fingers. He went to others of the chests, only to find still further stores of precious stones. Nearly all were cut, and from these he gathered a handful and filled the pouch which dangled at his side—the uncut stones he tossed back into the chests. Unwittingly, the ape-man had stumbled upon the forgotten jewel room of Opar.

Let the Priceless Gems Filter Through His Fingers.

Tiring at last of this diversion, Tarzan took up his way along the corridor which led upward from the jewel room by a steep incline. The tunnel led him nearer and nearer to the surface, ending finally in a low-celled room, lighter than any that he had as yet discovered.

Above him an opening in the ceiling at the upper end of a flight of concrete steps revealed a brilliant sunlit scene. Tarzan viewed the vine-covered columns in mild wonderment. There was a tantalizing suggestion always present in his mind that something was eluding him—that he should know many things which he did not know.

His earnest cogitation was rudely interrupted by a thunderous roar from the opening above him. Following the roar came the cries and screams of men and women. Tarzan grasped his spear more firmly and ascended the steps. A strange sight met his eyes as he emerged from the semidarkness of the cellar to the brilliant light of the temple.

The creatures he saw before him he recognized for what they were—men and women, and a huge lion. The men and women were scuttling for the safety of the exits. The lion stood upon the body of one who had been less fortunate than the others. He was in the center of the temple. Directly before Tarzan, a woman stood beside a block of stone. Upon the top of the stone lay stretched a man, and as the ape-man watched the scene, he saw the lion glare terribly at the two who remained within the temple. Another thunderous roar broke from the savage throat, the woman screamed and swooned across the body of the man stretched prostrate upon the stone altar before her.

Werper, helpless upon the altar, saw the great carnivore preparing to leap upon him. He saw the sudden change in the beast's expression as his eyes wandered to something beyond the altar and out of the Belgian's view. He saw the formidable creature rise to a standing position. A figure darted past Werper. He saw a mighty arm upraised, and a stout spear shoot forward toward the lion to bury itself in the broad chest.

He saw the lion snapping and tearing the weapon's shaft, and he saw, wonder of wonders! the naked giant who had hurled the missile charging upon the great beast, only a long knife ready to meet those ferocious fangs and talons.

LEADS NINTH BRIDE TO HYMEN'S ALTAR

Berlin, Nov. 16.—A Berliner holds what is probably the world's record for matrimonial bravery. This is proven by Professor Silbergleit in the statistical year book for Berlin just issued. This particular citizen of Berlin has been widowed several times and divorced several times, and has recently taken his ninth bride to the altar. One man has had eight wives, one his sixth, two their fifth wives, according to the statistics.

AN EDITOR'S GREAT GIFT TO MUSIC

Edward Bok, former editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, Philadelphia, is the "Unknown" who for years past had paid the deficits of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, amounting all told to around $300,000. This has come out, says the Public Ledger of that city, through the publication by Scribner's of "The Americanization of Edward Bok" on the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of Mr. Bok in the United States as a poor lad from the Netherlands.

Put two other men than the contributor were aware of the generous benefactor. When the world war broke out, Mr. Bok, then a member of the board of directors, proposed a fund to take care of deficits and set aside $250,000 for this purpose. Last year Mr. Bok proposed a city-wide campaign to raise an endowment fund of a million dollars for the Orchestra. The fund was oversubscribed, $1,800,000 being raised by 14,000 subscribers. The Philadelphia Orchestra is now truly a public institution.

FLY FROM TAXES TO TROPICAL ISLAND

A party of forty enthusiastic adventurers headed by F. F. Rhodes Disher, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, have decided to spend the rest of their lives on a tropical island away from excessive taxation. They will leave for the South Seas next month in a schooner yacht, the Medera.

"More than 1,000 people have asked to come with us," said Mr. Disher. "Our first party includes doctors, solicitors, planters, ex-officers, surveyers, engineers, a wireless operator and a clergyman. Several of the party are taking their wives and families with them.

"Until we have secured an island or a portion of one and fitted it up temperarily we shall live in our vessel. One strict rule is that the colony shall have no politics," Mr. Disher added.

HEART TROUBLE

For many years the great fear of those who suffer from heart trouble, either real or supposed, has been sudden death. The number of people with such a fear is rapidly diminishing, however. People acquainted with the Science of Chiropractic and its possibilities are rapidly learning to let morphine, digitalis, strychnine and other such stimulants alone and to lose fear of sudden death.

The Science of Chiropractic has proven that remarkable results in restoring health can be obtained by adjustment of the bony segments or vertebrae of the spine, where displaced or sublaxated vertebrae press upon the nerves supplying the vital force necessary to the life and perfect functioning of the organs. This, Chiropractors have proven, is the cause of heart trouble—a pressure upon the nerve supplying the heart with mental impulses or vital force. They remove this pressure by adjustment, using the bare hands only, and Nature does the curing. See your Chiropractor. Consultation and spinal analysis without charge or obligation.

A FEW HIDE-BOUND PARTIZANS STILL EXIST.

That the rotten standard of political partizanship which prevailed before the war has survived the great clash of nations is evident in many ways, but none more noticeable than in the hide-bound Conservative-hating press which would not even give the Government or Premier Meighen credit for promptly preventing the price of sugar being held up. Instead, apparently incensed that Premier Meighen should act so promptly in the public interest, the few remaining representatives of an almost extinct rabid partizan press, frothed at the mouth and snarled "He was forced to do it by public opinion." Even taking the Premier at that low estimate it shows that he does not allow anything to interfere with government in the best interests of the people—that he is so quickly responsive to public opinion shows that he is the right man in the right place.

A BAD RECORD.

Startling facts urging the need of strictly-supervised immigration are brought to light in a pamphlet just issued by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene. The figures are taken from a book recently published at Toronto by Professor W. G. Smith, and from a survey of the Province of Manitoba undertaken by the National Committee aforesaid.

These revelations establish the rank failure of past immigration policy to protect the Dominion from undesirable newcomers. Gross waste of money is shown through the addition to Canada's institutions of large numbers of public charges, imported from abroad.

The ratio for criminals in 1911 was an average of 14.5 per 10,000 for the foreign-born and 7.0 for Canadian-born. This is a grave reflection upon the quality of the immigration. There is another of a different kind. In 1911 barely 40 per cent. of the foreign-born population competent to do so had taken the obligations of citizenship through naturalization. Nine out of every ten Chinamen in Canada, for example, had not become citizens.

Of patients in the mental hospitals of Manitoba, 65 per cent. were born outside Canada.

Of the children found mentally defective in Toronto schools, 60 per cent. were of non-Canadian birth.

Illiterates amongst the Canadian-born people of the Dominion number 9.55 per cent. Amongst the foreign-born they number 16.56 per cent. The British-born show up well, with but 3 per cent.

Parliament has acted to give immigrants a stricter supervision and none too soon. It is little short of an outrage that Canada, with all her attractions for worthy population, should have used them to draw so largely upon the half-witted and criminal elements abroad. Loose enforcement of new restrictions would repeat the tragedy of the past.—Montreal Star.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

A modern Ponce de Leon seems to have found the fountain of youth for which so many have sought in vain. A correspondent of the Portland Oregonian writes that he has passed his eighty-first milestone yet is ready to enter the ring with the winner of the next important prize-fight. He adds:

> I believe the longevity of my life is largely due to my being a straight-out Republican. I think if the Democrats would espouse that principle they would live longer and die happier.

This is a simple faith, which we are told is more than Norman blood, and is simply expressed. Applied to the Canadian political parties which would have the best claim to it?—Montreal Herald.

CRISP COMMENT

Now that Premier Drury has taken the first step in Masonry his eyes will surely be open to a few things not visible from Crown Hill.

Republican party is in favor of a League of Nations but not "the" League of Nations. A League made in the U. S. and stamped with the stirring motto, "We won the war," would make a big hit at Washington. In fact, any old kind of a League with Wilson left out would suit the Harding, Root, Taft, Lodge, etc., combination.

"Malice in Blunderland," is the term applied by a London editor to Margot, wife of Mr. Asquith, ex-Premier of England. Margot's Memoirs, recently published, lifted the curtain which shielded the social life of official England from vulgar gaze, and thereby occasioned much published comment, favorable and otherwise, principally otherwise. When Margot told Mr. Margot that she was paid thirteen thousand pounds for her memoirs, Asquith exclaimed in great alarm, "I hope it is not worth it!"

There is hope for the so-called "sissy boy" who prefers to play with the girls rather than "rough it wid de gang." A writer in the New York Evening Post describes Clyde Fitch, the playwright, as a sissy-boy who became a $250,000 a year dramatist. The only fly in the Fitch ointment is the fact that he died young, which carries the suggestion that if he had roughed it up more with his own kind as a boy he might have developed a stronger physique and lingered longer on this plane to enjoy the success and fame which his talent won for him.

"Tell them to go to hell'" said Capt. O. P. Jackson, in charge of the Navy Club in New York, when a Sinn Fein demand was made that the British flag should be removed from the building front where it hung in friendly proximity to Old Glory. "Keep the Union Jack there Armistice Day as you do the Stars ind Stripes," said Capt. Jackson, and the flag remained. Just a little more of the Jackson backbone in New York and many bold Fenians would hunt their holes.

THE TEMPERAMENTAL BARBER

London Morning Post

What is an artist? Is he not merely the man who brings the desire for perfection to whatever task he undertakes? I make this inquiry, writes a correspondent, after conversing with my barber on the subject of moods. For in that conversation which opened with a review of the lives of various great authors, the barber said: "They are like me. Do you think that if I wasn't feeling up to it I could get an edge on this (holding up his razor) with all the stropping in the world? Not a bit of it. It would be as dull as a rice pudding. You have to be in the right mood before you can get an edge on a razor."

BOTH SLIGHTLY IN ERROR

Physician and Lovesick Youth Were Alike Too Quick to Jump to Conclusions.

There's a certain physician in Los Angeles who admits the joke's on him. Incidentally, he will shortly lose his daughter. He tells it this way:

"I was in my study when the door was flung open and in came Jack. I know him well, and just a glance told me that he was far from being his usual self. Indeed, he looked positively ill.

"Without waiting for him to speak I commenced an examination. His heart was fluttering, his brow was fever heat, his pulse was racing.

"I sprang toward the phone, crying over my shoulder, 'You're a case for the hospital, young man.'

"'Sure,' he admitted; 'but you might have let me ask you first!'

"'Ask me what?' I demanded in astonishment.

"'I want to marry your daughter,' he said, and then I realized that I had made the wrong diagnosis and that he had misconstrued my reference to the hospital."—Los Angeles Times.

HISTORIANS HAVE NOT SAID

Of Course There Is Just a Possibility That Mrs. Patrick Henry Was Unsympathetic.

They were having one of the usual family quarrels over his having been at a meeting at the Commercial club while she was "at home all alone and so lonesome."

"You don't wish me to have any city or country spirit, either," he finally told her hotly. "I wonder where our country would be today if all the men who have lived in it had stayed at home and petted their wives all their off hours as you are wanting me to do for you?"

"Well, the women always suffer," she retorted. "Public men never have time to appreciate their wives and sympathize with—"

Then he interrupted her. "Oh, that cry for sympathy" (he was angry now). "I suppose that it's a nation-old cry. I imagine that while Patrick Henry was at the Virginia legislature making his famed speech, 'Give me liberty or give me death,' that Mrs. Patrick H. was at home wailing, 'Give me sympathy or give me death.'"—Indianapolis News.

Shakespeare Down to Date.

Justice Wayne, dramatic actress, finds an explanation of the question as to why Shakespearian plays seldom win financial reward in what she terms Shakespeare's inability to give his productions catchy titles. She suggests a repertoire of the bard's plays rechristened to meet popular demands for stimulating titles. She suggests "How Could You, Juliet?" as more appropriate than plain "Romeo and Juliet." She also would substitute "Call of the Flesh" for "The Merchant of Venice;" "Strangled in Bed" for "Othello;" "The Nutty Princess" for "Hamlet;" "Henry, Whom Do You Love?" for "Henry V;" "Big Dick" for "Richard the Third;" "The Knife" for "Julius Caesar" and "Moonlight and Honeysuckle" for "Midsummer Night's Dream."

The Cheerful Exterminator.

On moving into our honeymoon apartment we discovered that it was sadly in need of the services of an exterminator. With a bride's ignorance of apartment house life and the clubby ways of the cockroach, I regarded this as a personal disgrace, and took great care to keep it a profound secret from our friends.

One day, while exhibiting my shiny new kitchen equipment to a girl friend, I answered the back-door buzzer, and there was the exterminator, inquiring in a loud, cheerful tone, "Well, how are the cockroaches?"

The situation reduced my mind to such a pulp that I babbled, "They're well, thank you!"—Exchange.

The Bite That Failed.

As a rule the relations between Russians and Japanese soldiers in Siberia have been friendly enough. But at a town on the Transiberian railway, which had just been freed from the foul tyranny of bolshevist rule, a Japanese soldier haled a big, staring moujik into the presence of his commanding officer. "What has he been doing?" asked the colonel. "I gave him a cigarette," said the soldier, "and then he tried to bite me!" Kissing, even between members of the opposite sexes, is not a Japanese custom.

Enormous Demand for Furs.

Siberian furs are almost entirely shipped in the raw state. Very few furs are sent abroad, the exceptions being Tibetan lamb, muffiin (plucked goat skin), and a few other varieties. The great demand for furs in all countries and the keen competition in the trade has sent up the prices of raw furs to figures unheard of a few years ago. Sables have enormously increased in value, due to the short supply and the closure of the Russian sable markets.

Port of Shanghai.

The port of Shanghai does perhaps 40 per cent of the entire foreign trade of China, and of the total imports of Shanghai for the year 1918, the United States furnished about 16 per cent. Chinese industries which are prosperous are cotton spinning, shipbuilding and flour milling. Railway projects command attention.

POOR STUDENTS BARRED FROM SPANISH COLLEGES

Education in Spain continues to be a privilege of the people of fortune, declares the newspaper La Libertad. This was evoked by the announcement that the present cabinet had stopped the first effort to open universities to the poorer people by annulling an appropriation of 500,000 pesetas by a previous Liberal cabinet to furnish scholarships for needy students in the higher schools.

The writer endeavors to shew in the newspaper that universities are occupied largely by students who have no desire for knowledge or who are incapable of acquiring it while pupils of exceptional talent in the lower schools are unable to gain admission to the universities because of the cost of education and are compelled to work in the factories. The paper points out that in this way the intellect of these bright students is being lost to the Spanish nation.

NIGHT COUGH

You know it! It begins with a tickling, irritating sensation in your throat. You cough to clear the throat. In a moment—there it is again!

A minute's peace, then again you cough, and so on until you cough your throat sore, and by the time the cough is sufficiently allayed to permit you to sleep, you are thoroughly worn out. This kind of experience is particularly trying to old people.

Peps make this sort of thing quite unnecessary.

Put a Peps pastille on your tongue and allow it to slowly dissolve. Healing fumes are then liberated, which mingle with the breath and are carried to the remotest parts of the air passages and lungs, allaying the irritation and soothing the inflamed membranes, thus ending the cough and making sleep possible.

Peps are also best for bronchitis, laryngitis, asthma, sore throat and colds. Try Peps at our expense. Send this advertisement and 1c. stamp (for return postage), to Peps Co., Toronto, and receive FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. All dealers, 50c. box.

TOWN HALL BURNED

At an early hour on Friday morning fire completely destroyed the town hall at Bancroft village and did damage to property in the immediate vicinity. The hall was a frame structure and soon fell a prey to the devouring element. So rapid was the spread of the flames that nothing was saved from the building. A building belonging to Dr. Embury, Reeve of the village was damaged as was also Mr. John Stewart's house. Only prompt action averted a disastrous fire. The origin of the blaze is unknown. The loss to the hall and contents is only partially covered by insurance, namely $1,000. Damages to the other buildings is covered by insurance

Social & Personal

Madame Pantazzi has postponed her departure for Roumania and will remain in Toronto until after the New Year.

The Calgary Daily Herald of November 8, 1920, has the following reference to Miss Helen Ketcheson of Belleville, a graduate of the Wheatley Music Studios: "Miss Helen Ketcheson who appeared before a Calgary audience Thursday night at the annual concert of the Mount Royal College of Music, proved herself an artiste of high order, her playing being marked by remarkable finish and sympathetic rendering. Miss Ketcheson, whose home is in Belleville, Ont., is a graduate of Albert College of that city and also the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and has lately been on the staff of Mount Alison College, Sackville, New Brunswick. She will play a solo and act as accompanist Tuesday afternoon when the ladies of this city purpose having a musical programme as part of the reception to be given to Mrs Meighen."

Mr. G. A. Bennett was called to Bancroft today in connection with an adjustment of insurance upon a building recently burned.

Called By Death

JAMES E. TROTTER

Death came suddenly yesterday morning to Mr. James E. Trotter, a farmer helper employed at Mr. W. W. Anderson's, Ameliasburg Township. Deceased had assisted in milking the cows and was in the act of carrying a pail of milk from the cow stable when he fell and expired immediately from an attack of heart failure. Mr. Trotter was 66 years of age and formerly resided near Madoc, Hastings County. He had been in Mr. Anderson's employ for the past six months. A widow, five sons and two daughters survive. The sons are James, Herbert, Ernest, George and John and the daughters are Mrs. Ida Imbach and Miss Myrtle.

THERESA A. FITZGERALD

Theresa Aileen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald, 151 west Bridge street, passed away on Sunday evening at the home of her parents. Interment took place Monday at St. James' cemetery.

JOHN SYMINGTON

This, Tuesday, morning at his residence, 10 Alexander street, John Symington, aged seventy-three years, passed into eternal rest. Deceased was born in Scotland, moving to Belleville from Percy, Ont., about thirteen years ago and has since been a most esteemed and valued citizen. He is survived by his widow, one sister and one brother. The late Mr. Symington was a Presbyterian in religion, being a highly thought of member of John Street Church. The sympathy of many friends and acquaintances is extended to those called upon to bear the loss of a loving husband and brother.

WASTEPAPER BASKET OF ANCIENT EGYPT

Thousands of mummified bodies of the sacred ibis have been found by the French savant, M. Lacau, in the underground necropolis under the famous ruined temple at Deir Medineh, Egypt.

Each bird was in an elaborately decorated vase of earthenware embedded in a sort of cardboard formed by a conglomeration of papyri which totalled hundreds of thousands of written documents.

M. Lacau said the find was one of the most important of the late discoveries in Egyptology. The work of deciphering the documents will take years.

"It is the wastepaper basket of ancient Egypt," said one of those charged with the work.

W.C.T.U Convention At Smith's Falls

In the year 1900 the Provincial W.C.T.U. Convention met in Smith's Falls, which was again the gathering of whom had been at the former meeting. Mrs. Ruston represented the Belleville union.

Of this band of women encircling the world with the white ribbon the Countess of Carlisle is World President, Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion President and Mrs. Hattie A. Stevens Ontario President.

The Smith's Falls union and citizens made a record in their system of registration, billeting and hospitality.

W.C.T.U. work covers a varied and extensive program of twenty or more departments. Reports from Evangelical, prison, franchise, missionary, Indian, railroads, soldiers' comforts, Y. work, etc., should progress with increased interest. Some of the progress may be tabulated, but much of it will only be known when "the Throne of Justice is set and the final records opened."

The Press Superintendent pays this tribute: "Some 135 Ontario newspapers allow space for W.C.T.U. happenings—Why dear women! Talk about opportunity. This is a case of opportunity inviting you home to tea and allowing you to bring all your friends. Please do not treat the invitation lightly."

The Citizenship Depot compares conditions in 1900, when men did not always "vote as they pray," and the present, with equal suffrage and the tendency to cast off party affiliations and vote on priciple.

For the maintenance of The Travellers' Aid which annually meets thousands of trains, and ministers to almost 30,000 persons, $3,000 is expended. Users of Surprise soap by sending the wrappers to Willard Hall, Toronto, will increase the revenue by ½ cent for each wrapper.

The Law and Enforcement Superintendent deplores the flooding of our country with liquor and bad literature but rejoices in the amendments to the O.T.A. To equal suffrage is ascribed the more intelligent interest shown by women in public matters. "Citizenship is more than voting. It is striving to live up to the highest ideals."

Evening programs included a demonstration by the Smith's Falls Y's of the several departments of "Tidings"—the W.C.T.U. publication and an address by the Dominion President. Reports were given of the World's Convention held in London, Eng., last summer. Of the three hundred delegates, Ontario had such representatives as Mrs. Asa Gordon, Mrs. Cottam, Mrs. Blanche Read Johnson, Mrs. Gordon Wright, Mrs. Hattie Stevens and others. The world pageant in which 250 people were staged, Mrs. Stevens describes as "the most spectacularly beautiful of the five world convention pageants I have seen."

The next World's Convention will probably be held in South America.

London claims the next Ontario Convention. Delegates of the 1920 Convention experienced a "heart tug" over the resignation of that valued, heroic, faithful worker, Miss Agnes Sproule, for years a missionary in the lumber camps, travelling in all sorts of weather and by all manner of conveyance. Thus the torch falls from the hands of veterans a challenge to Ontario's youth to carry on to completion the work so patiently and perseveringly brought to its present status.

HOW TO DO BUSINESS WITHOUT MONEY

A large business house having headquarters in Rochester, N.Y., has undertaken to conduct its affairs entirely without the use of money. Instead of currency, it intends to use checks, trade acceptances and travel checks to make payments of every kind, including its pay-roll. As the concern deals with more than 300,000 individual customers the result of the experiment will be watched with interest.

The company's reason for adopting this method is given as an effort to demonstrate means of ending the epidemic of payroll robberies and "to show that modern business may be conducted most efficiently without the use of 'small change', thus leaving the nation's money where it belongs, in the banks, to serve as the basis of credit."

The announcement says that even carfares, hotel bills and rail road fares for the company's force of several hundred salesmen, and other sundries are to be paid by checks. All petty items even to one-cent postage stamps will be paid henceforth by check and "no currency of any amount or denomination is to be carried in any form as company property."

To meet the payroll of its factory, the company has offered to employees either a regular pay check or the option of receiving on pay day a deposit slip showing that his earnings for the week have been deposited to his credit in a local bank. This plan is expected by the house to prove popular with the thrifty class of employes and to increase the volume of bank deposits. Executive employees who have no banking account have been advised to start one at once.

ARTIFICIAL DIAMONDS ARE BEING MADE IN GERMANY

Henry Polak, president of the Dutch Diamond Workers' Union, says it is not impossible that a German explosives' firm has discovered how to manufacture diamonds artificially, as it claims to have done. The chief difficulty is to obtain an unbelievably powerful pressure under the right circumstances, Mr. Polak explained. Since it is a manufacturer of explosives which is reported to have discovered the method of making diamonds, he said it was possible that experimenters had succeeded in obtaining the desired pressure.

M. Polak expressed some doubt as to whether diamonds could be manufactured artificially at less than the cost of mining them.

It was recently announced in Berlin that a dynamite company of Hamburg had obtained the patent for the manufacture of diamonds and was in a position to produce several hundred carats daily at a cost less than the present world price for the natural stones.

LOST KIDDIES SPEND NIGHT UNDER STEPS, ONE DIES

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Having lost their way after viewing a Santa Claus parade here Saturday, Joseph and Lucien Asselin, aged 7 and 9 respectively, of 1309 Lafontaine street, crept under a doorstep and were discovered only after they had spent the evening and night of Saturday to Sunday morning, when passersby saw their feet protruding. They were at once taken to the Western Hospital, where Joseph who was unconscious when found, died yesterday. Lucien is improving though suffering from frostbite and a severe cold.

Income Tax Conviction Quashed

Decision in Ottawa Case Which Will Have Far-reaching Effect in Ontario

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—Judge Gunn rendered his decision in the County Court Saturday in the appeal brought by Dr. Gordon Booth against a conviction registered against him last October in the Police Court, whereby he was found guilty of having made false income tax returns to the Dominion Income Tax Department for the years 1917, 1918 and 1919 and was condemned to pay $3,000.

Judge Gunn quashed the conviction on the grounds that no justice of the peace or magistrate has jurisdiction to try cases of this nature. The decision will, no doubt have a far-reaching effect in future prosecutions.

The judgment concludes as follows:

Until I hear it clearly stated so in that Act, and as it stands Parliament having given expressly all jurisdiction to the Exchequer Court, I do not appreciate the attempt here made to institute proceedings before a provincial authority of inferior jurisdiction as it means and leads to far-reaching convictions not reasonably within the consideration.

"In any case I am clearly of the opinion that the injection of the words 'on summary conviction' in sub-section two of section nine does not clearly and expressly confer jurisdiction on any magistrate or justice of the peace to convict any person of any penalty laid by the Income War Tax act.

"In any event, if I am in error in holding that the deputy police magistrate had no jurisdiction to hear and determine the information and complaint, I am as judge of the fact and law, of opinion that the information and conviction contains no ground for complaint against the Income War Tax."

Several other citizens of this city were fined by the magistrate about the same time as Dr. Booth, but have not yet appealed. The judgment points out that the law makes no provision for further appeals from the decision of the county court judge.

League Council Paving Way For Assembly Task

Larger Body of Society of Nations to Open Meeting at Geneva

GENEVA, Nov. 16.—The League of Nations Assembly will begin work here supported by the prayers of all Geneva. Special services were held in all the churches Sunday and were largely attended by the delegations. The British delegation numbers one hundred. Canada is represented by Sir George Foster, Hon. N. W. Rowell and Hon. C. J. Doherty.

The representatives of Great Britain and her Dominions went to Holy Trinity Church, where George Nicoll Barnes read the first part of the service and Lord Robert Cecil the second part. The Bishop of Worcester, who came to Geneva expressly for the purpose, delivered a sermon on Christ as the originator of the idea of good international fellowship. The principal delegations held conferences during the day. The British, with the Dominion representatives, continued talks, begun in London, on the policy to be followed on the floor of the Assembly, and it is hoped in League circles that these preliminary conferences will diminish the chances of friction, which it is desired to avoid in this first meeting.

Motor Bandits Shoot Citizen

Five Men in Stolen Car Pursued Through the City's Outskirts

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Auto bandits operating in the Hill district early Sunday morning were the quarry in a long chase which ended in the shooting of Fred A. Buck, 30 Walmer Road, an innocent home-goer, through the right side of the chest with a revolver bullet. Mr. Buck is at his home and his condition is serious.

Five men operated a car stolen from Mr. May, of 17 Edgewood Crescent, Saturday night. They were seen proceeding east along Harbord street by A. B. Fullerton, 17 Brunswick Avenue. In Mr. Fullerton's car was L. D. Wilson, Sussex Court Apartments. The stolen car was going from one side of the street to the other, and was being driven at a fierce pace, as though some one were in pursuit of it. At Huron and Harbord streets the bandits took the middle of the road, compelling Fullerton to take to the sidewalk to avoid a collision. Angered by the bandits' conduct, Fullerton took up the chase. The pursuit led by way of Classic Avenue, Robert street to Walmer Road. Fullerton was gaining upon the car ahead, and seeing this, one of the bandits leaned out of the car and fired at the pursuing auto. The inability of the marksman to turn completely around and take proper aim saved those in the Fullerton car from harm, Mr. Buck, walking homeward along the sidewalk, receiving the bullet. He was picked up by Fullerton and Wilson and carried to his home. In the confusion the bandits escaped.

About an hour later the stolen car was found abandoned on Dewson street.

About the same time a police motor patrol came upon a motor car containing four men at the [illegible] chase, but were unable to overtake the marauders. The pursuit was given up on the Bloor street viaduct.

The Coroner and relatives went out to the homestead and saw the charred ruins of the structure, and what appeared to be human remains. They also saw the skeleton of a rifle, identified as the property of Thompson.

Deceased leaves a wife and six children. He had gone out on the Tuesday to visit his shack, and a nearby settler saw him on the way; the remains of the structure burned completely.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER MILLS UPON VARIOUS STAGES OF PROGRESS IN PAVING OF MURNEY HILL — WHY CHANGES WERE MADE—RETURN TO ORIGINAL PLANS.

A report from City Engineer Mills dealing with the history of Murney Hill paving operations, past and present, was laid before the City Council Monday evening. Engineer Mill's report reads as follows:

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 11, 1920.

To His Worship Mayor Riggs and Members of the Municipal Council.
Gentlemen,—

As requested by your honorable body I hereby submit a report on the grade reduction and paving of West Bridge street from James street to Octavia street, known as Murney's Hill, in which I will endeavour to give you an outline of the facts and the reasons which have been the causes of the various changes in plans and consequent delays in the progress of the work.

On June 2, 1919, the City Council approved of plans for the reduction of the grade and passed the following motion: "That the Public Works Department be instructed to change the grade on West Bride street to conform to plans and profiles prepared by the City Engineer."

This work was carried out simultaneously with the construction of the sanitary sewer, and completed with the exception of the macadam surface in August 1919.

It was then deemed advisable by the City Council to pave the Hill with some permanent pavement in place of the proposed macadam re-surfacing, and it was therefore instructed to prepare plans and estimates for such a pavement. I recommended the laying of an asphaltic concrete pavement with a central base on that part of the hill where the grade exceeded 5%, and prepared plans and estimates of this work.

PAVING AUTHORIZED

At a meeting of the Council on August 15, 1919, the following motions were passed:

"That the recommendation of the Engineer to pave West Bridge street be acted upon, and that, that portion of West Bridge street be paved under section 9 of the Local Improvement Act from the west side of James street to the top of the hill."

"That the Clerk publish a copy of the annexed notice of intention to construct an asphaltic concrete pavement on West Bridge street in the City of Belleville, under Section 9 of the Local Improvement Act, in the Daily Intelligencer and Daily Ontario, once a week for three weeks."

The notice above referred to was published in the both papers on September 6th, 13th and 20th, 1919.

PETITION OPPOSING PAVEMENT

The following is a copy of a petition which was filed with the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, opposing the intention of the Council to construct such a pavement on the grounds fully described in the petition.

To the Municipal Corporation of the City of Belleville and to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board:

The petition of the undersigned owners of property affected by the intended construction of an asphaltic concrete pavement on West Bridge street from the East line of James street to the end of the present pavement on the East line of Octavia street, humbly showeth:

That your petitioners are opposed to the construction of the said pavement on the ground that the proposed pavement is not a proper one, having in mind the physical condition of the locality proposed to be paved.

That your petitioners say the said pavement so proposed to be constructed is unsuitable and will become a menace to the public at all rainy and frosty seasons of the year.

That your petitioners say the proposed pavement is too expensive a pavement for the locality in question, and the grading or cutting down of the hill as at present done will not be of any benefit and will prove a useless expenditure, if such pavement is constructed as proposed.

That your petitioners further say that they are a majority of the owners, and that they represent at least one-half of the value of the lots which are liable to be especially assessed for the said pavement.

Dated at Belleville this 18th day of September, 1919.

BEFORE RAILWAY BOARD

On October 29, 1919, in the City Hall, Belleville, Commissioner D. M. McIntyre, K.C., of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board heard the appeal of the above petitioners and took the evidence of witnesses but delayed his decision in the matter to consult the Board's Engineer, Mr. Middlemist.

Mr. Middlemist then recommended the laying of a water bound macadam or an asphaltic macadam for the full width of the roadway of thirty feet instead of only in the centre, as I had planned, and that it be laid on a macadam base instead of a concrete base. He also advised that a further reduction of the grade be made, provided that this could be done without seriously injuring the adjoining property.

Upon receipt of his recommendation, I submitted this to the City Council and at the same time strongly advised them against the further reduction of grade and recommended the laying of asphaltic rather than water bound macadam.

I was then instructed to prepare specifications and estimates for the construction of an asphaltic macadam pavement in accordance with the recommendation of the Boards' Engineer and these were approved of by the Board, as evidenced by the report in December, 1919, and now on file here. It was then too late to proceed with the work and the hill was given a small centre coating of gravel to make it of service during the winter months.

On April 6th of this year, tenders were called for the construction of the new pavement and the lowest tender, that of the Standard Paving Company was accepted.

WIDTH CHANGED

As you are aware, after the Paving Company had started work on the hill and had already laid part of the curb and gutter, a meeting was held of the City Council and a committee of citizens from West Belleville at which it was decided to change the proposed width of thirty feet approved of by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, and construct a pavement thirty-six feet wide between curbs.

Extensive changes in the sidewalk plans were also decided upon at this meeting, including the cutting down of most of the old trees on the south side of the hill, removing the old walk and building a new one at the same grade as the pavement, following as nearly as possible the pavement line. These changes in width, etc., necessitated several changes in storm sewers and the rebuilding of a number of catch basins and delayed the work of laying the curb and gutter so that the Standard Paving Company to expedite matters commenced the excavations for the road bed. While this was being done the Water Works Department considered it necessary to protect the 16 inch main by boxing and concrete and the Bell Telephone Company on my recommendation extended their under ground cable, which under the old plan would have been in the boulevard. These delays and difficulties were eventually overcome and the macadam base was at last laid down. Owing to the very soft and springy nature of the sub-soil on the hill between Isabell street and Commercial street great difficulty was found in rolling this base and in a number of places sub-soil worked up to the surface under rolling. These spots were re-excavated and filled with large stones and rolling again attempted but it was soon evident that a macadam base was quite unsuitable to this part of the hill.

BACK TO ORIGINAL PLAN

A special meeting was called on November 5th to deal with this matter, and as you are all aware, the Committee then decided to adopt the original plan of concrete base on that part of the hill above mentioned in lieu of a macadam as recommended by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Boards' Engineer. This concrete base was recently completed and in all possibility the asphaltic macadam surface will be laid very shortly and the pavement completed.

Yours respectfully,
J. G. MILL,
City Engineer.

Workable Plan Not Impossible For Association Of Nations

ELIHU ROOT, FORMER U. S. SECRETARY OF STATE, CONFIDENT AS TO SUCCESS OF SUCH A SCHEME, EMBRACING JUNIOR AND SENIOR OFFICIAL BODIES.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Formen Secretary of State Root, who has just visited Washington, it was learned, expressed entire confidence that a workable plan for the association of nations would be formulated. As Mr. Root has recently returned from Europe, where many statesmen informed him in France, England and Italy would accept vital amendments to the original League plan, his visit here on the eve of the Geneva Conference is regarded as having the utmost significance.

As seen by Mr. Root the scope of the proposed association is understood to embrace two main features:

First—Agreement among the nations for creation of a junior official body, which will conduct investigations into all disputes likely to lead to war.

Second—Creation of a senior body, probably known as a court, before which the investigators can lay their findings, and which will decide upon the merits of the case.

The latter organization would have authority to make recommendations as to the course that should be followed by the parties to the controversy, but would not have anything more than moral power to enforce them.

Canadian Soldiers Against Sinn Fein

Lindsay Crawford Silenced—Veterans Sing "God Save the King."

AMHERST, N.S., Nov. 16.—In a scene of much disorder the Self-determination for Ireland League meeting here addressed by Lindsay Crawford of Toronto broke up. The chairman was hissed when he became emphatic in his criticisms of the Mother Country.

When Mr. Crawford ventured a criticism of England as an autocracy in spite of the war, George Morrison, ex-President, of the G.W.V.A., jumped to his feet and gave him a direct contradiction to the cheers of a considerable part of the audience.

From then on disorder ruled, with several of the audience hurling questions at the speaker. The chairman finally brought the meeting to a close. Someone in the audience started "God Save the King," and the whole audience soon joined in singing the National Anthem.

INSPECT THOROLD PAPER INDUSTRY

Thorold, Ont., Nov. 16.—Thirty representatives of the leading business interests of Chicago visited Thorold, Ont., to gain an insight into Canada's pulp and paper industry. They travelled in a special train over the Grand Trunk lines, and were met by officers of that railway, including Mr. H. C. Martin, freight traffic manager, and Mr. Frank J. Watson, general freight agent. A lengthy inspection was made of the Ontario Paper Company's mill at Thorold, each detail of the operation of turning spruce into newsprint being explained to the visitors by Mr. J. H. Curtis, the manager of the plant. The visitors also inspected the work which is proceeding in connection with the installation of a fifth paper-making machine, which will bring the output of the mill up to more than 300 tons of newsprint paper per day. Following the visit to the Ontario Paper Company's plant, the Chicago men were shown the work on the Welland Ship Canal, and were entertained to luncheon at the Niagara Falls Country Club. At this luncheon the visitors expressed themselves as being greatly impressed by the transportation and other facilities provided in Canada for the establishment of not only pulp and paper mills, but industrial enterprises of all descriptions.

GROCERY STORE RUN BY SIGHTLESS GIRL

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 17.—Miss Edna Koontz, blind since she was four years old, is conducting with a good measure of success a grocery store in this city.

She employs no help in the store, and depends entirely upon the honesty of her customers when they present currency to her in payment for goods. She makes a practice of folding each denomination in a particular way, so that she can make change easily.

Sinn Fein Power Has Been Broken

London, Nov. 17.—According to the Daily Mail Dublin correspondent, there is again talk of peace conciliation in Ireland. He declared the power of the Sinn Fein extremists is broken, and that extreme Sinn Feinism is no longer popular; that the moderates are again being listened to, and that the country is ripe for a settlement.

It is reported here to-night that during the day five houses of Sinn Feiners in Tipperary were burned. The military assisted in extinguishing the fires, reports said, and there was some rifle firing following the fires.

Army Of Occupation Alarms Berlin

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Berlin, Nov. 17.—The allied armies of occupation in Germany are being maintained at a strength which is unneccessary, said Foreign Minister Simons in a speech at Cologne to-day. He contended the Allied intention in thus keeping forces in a high state of efficiency was not defensive but offensive. He claimed that the Rhine Bridge Head should be extended. Military bakeries capable of turning out four hundred thousand rations daily have been established and a new strategic Rhine Bridge Head prepared, while the Belgian troops equipped almost ready for marching have been stationed in tactical positions behind the armies of occupation.

New Greek Cabnet Formed

Athens, Nov. 17.—George R. Hallis, former Premier, has succeeded in forming a Cabinet to succeed Venizelos Government and the new ministry is to be sworn in today. M. R. Hallis who is eighty years of age will, besides Premiership, assume the portfolio of foreign affairs.

Bandits Take $3,200 In Pay-Roll

Superintendent of Amherstburg Company is Hit on the Head.

WINDSOR, Nov. 16.—The crime wave hit the little town of Amherstburg this afternoon, when three thugs held up an automobile carrying the bi-weekly payroll of McEachren & Co., building contractors, and after striking A. Martin, the firm's superintendent, over the head, seized a bag containing $3,200 and disappeared.

Mr. Martin, accompanied by Miss Batting, the bookkeeper, had just drawn the cash from the bank, and was on his way back to the company's office when three men in a large car drew up quickly alongside. One of the men leaped on to the running board of the other car and demanded that Mr. Martin hand over the money.

Instead of complying, the accountant attempted to speed up his machine, using the revolver he carried as a club, but the thug struck Martin a terrific blow over the head, grabbed the money bag and then jumped to his own car, which drove away rapidly.

While in the Amherstburg office three heavily-set men, one of whom had a scar on his face, entered and watched Miss Batten as she counted the money. Knowing them to be strangers and not liking their appearance, she asked them to leave the room. They complied and stood outside.

When Mr. Martin entered the office a few minutes later she told him of the incident, but he attached no importance to it.

Martin was taken to the Brunner-Mond Company's hospital at Amherstburg. He is said to be seriously hurt. The police on both sides of the river are on the lookout for the bandits.

Greek Army May Create Republic

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

Athens, Nov. 17.—There are rumors that it is possible the Greek army, which is supposed to be loyal to former Premier Venizelos, may create a republic of Smyrna in Asia Minor. The present regency of Admiral Coundouriotis has been recognised by the opposition. It is probable the cabinet selected by leaders of the dominent party in Greece will hold office temporarily until a plebiscite is held at which the people will vote upon the return of former King Constantine. It is also believed the opposition will make efforts to determine the views of the outside world relative to the results of the election.

Ukranians Fleeing, Defeated

Warsaw, Nov. 17.—Ukranians have evacuated Kiev and other towns they have occupied, and are fleeing, defeated, before new Russian Soviet offensive. Bolsheviki cavalry has swept through Ukranian line at several points.

Portrait Dating 2,300 B.C. Of Ur Of The Chaldees Found

POSTAGE STAMP GIVES CLUE TO APPEARANCE OF THE SUMERIANS, IBI-SIN, BEING SMOOTH-SHAVEN, UNLIKE OTHER PORTRAITS OF THE KING-GOD.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—What is believed to be the oldest portrait of a human being has been discovered in the University of Pennsylvania museum's collection of clay tablets from Babylonia, according to Dr. Leon Lagrain.

The portrait is on a postage stamp, which also served as a seal for a registered package, dated about 2,300 B. C. It is a picture of Ibi Sin, the last King of Ur, known to Bible students as Ur of the Chaldees.

The package bearing the seal, Dr. Lagrain said, appears to have been sent by the High Priest of the Temple of Ur, in which Abraham later worshipped, to a banker named Shulpae, and probably contained gold.

"It is of unusual importance to archaeologists," he added, because it probably gives a clue to the personal appearance of the Sumerians, who were not a Semitic race.

"The portrait shows a man seated on a throne, with an undoubted nose, well-defined mouth and general characteristics, so individual that it must have been taken from life. It is significant that the picture shows a lock of hair protruding on the forehead from beneath the turban hat and another from behind.

"The portrait is on a clay postage stamp and is the result of rolling an engraved cylinder over the soft clay. It is as clear and distinct and the features well defined as the day it was made.

"The astonishing thing is that it shows the King-God as smooth shaven There are two supposed portraits before the one just discovered, but in neither of them is there any apparent effort at realism. Each has a long beard, and among hundreds of representations of gods each has a beard. It seems likely that beards were considered solely as belonging to the gods and that kings wore false ones to make appearance more impressive."

Neglected Children Given A Better Chance In Life

WORK OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY FOR THE PAST TEN MONTHS REVIEWED BY INSPECTOR RUSTON—MANY GOOD HOMES FOUND FOR WARDS OF THE SOCIETY.

The annual report of Capt. Ruston, the efficient inspector for the Children's Aid Society, as presented at the annual meeting is as follows:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen,

I beg to submit my annual report as your agent, although in fact it only covers ten months work for we have in compliance with the wishes brought our year to a close on October 31st. The figures I shall give you will not convey to any extent the work accomplished through the agency of the Children's Aid Society. To improve the conditions and surroundings of the children, I have endeavoured to use discretion and considerteion, without fear or favor, the child first and only the child interest have been my ambition to obtain. Not a few cases of childish waywardness have been brought to my notice. Such cases have been investigated, in some of them the conduct and habits of the children is traceable to the home influence, and others through the evil influence of bad companions and questionable places of amusement. Some cases where parents have lost control of their children it is the lack of a firm hand. In many homes I have visited dirt and disorder reigned supreme.

Non-attendance at school is in many cases the beginning of an evil life and we cannot place too much importance on getting parents and guardians to see their children attend school regularly and punctually. Idleness and ignorance are the two main factors in a thriftless dependent and criminal life.

Work of Ten Months

During the past ten months 53 children have been made wards of the Society; 5 wards have been removed to Orillia Hospital for Feeble minded, 4 wards to Victoria Industrial school; 2 wards to Alexandra Industrial school; 3 wards inmates of the shelter died; 13 wards are now resident in the shelter; 264 wards are placed out in the city or county and in visiting I find they are on the whole very well placed, in fact only two have had to be dealt with owing to unsatisfactory conditions, which speaks well for the homes of the county, but I feel it would be very much more satisfactory if every home could be visited before a ward was placed in that home also that two visits a year could be made to the foster homes, but that would mean considerable expense.

I have approxmately travelled during the past ten months six thousand three hundred (6,300) miles in the carrying out of my duties, and visited ninety-two places outside the city. Last May at my own request the management board relieved me of the management of the shelter and appointed five ladies to undertake that work. This has proved a great benefit to me for I am now better able to attend to the outside work and carry on the preventative side of the work.

Court Cases

Three cases have been brought before the courts under the Ammended Criminal Code (220a) for the better protection of the children, and in all cases conviction was registered and sentence given ranging from three months to six months with a further period of one year less one day (Interminate).

Widows' Pension Act

We rejoice in the passing and coming into effect of the Widows Pension Act. This will greatly relieve the work of the Children's Aid Society. The home is the right place for every child when that home is properly supported and governed. We don't believe in taking children unless we cannot help it, and it is our last resource to take children, and we take them then only when found absolutely necessary. No institute no matter how well managed and run can fill the place of a home. We favor the mother every time and I believe every mother ought to be favored because they are the ones who suffered and know how to love. It is one interesting development of present day philanthropy that good people are much more ready than ever before to give a home to a child.

The spirit of christian benevolence and compassion as it becomes more wide-spread leads good people to be more considerate of others and the care and training of children comes with an irrisistible appeal to the hearts of the mothers.

Not Pagan

One woman at a recent church congress expressed the opinion that "It is pagan the way in which we are building everything on the child" with this point in view we venture the majority of men and women will disagree. They will assert that it is human and christian to cherish the child life and build around it all the hopes and ideals for a better future. Nations whose morality and domestic life is based on christianity believe that God has created every child in His own image and likeness. All our aspirations and unrealized ambitions are centred on the child and our fond belief is that they will be happier and better than we. This must necessarily be so if we have any faith in mankind and in its progress to higher things.

Appeal to the Child

There are few sacrifices which even the most materialistic persons would not make for children and rightly so for irrespective of natural affection and the appeal which trusting and dependent helpless ones make to ones better nature, every adult realizes that the duty of the parents to their children transcends even the duty of their children to them. If we keep our ideals sane and sweet we cannot exalt the child life too much, rather have we held it too cheap and the tables of infant mortality are amongst the most pathetic records in existence. As long as men and women look hopefully to the future they will build on the child and when they cease so to build the end of mankind will be in sight.

Dependence

I wish to mention the dependence of the human young. The animal creation in some cases need care only for a few months others for only a few weeks and some for a few days and there are some which need no care whatever from the time of their birth. But with children there is necessity for care not only for months but for years, I am satisfied that the average child needs care until he or she is eighteen. In some cases I think you will agree with me it would be better if they were cared for until they were twenty-eight or forty-eight because many of them do not know how to take care of themselves. Children are dependent and because of that we ought to give them more care.

Better Conditions

We want a better Belleville and County, well then we must commence at the beginning, protect and train the child. Little children should be protected and if possible the parents be made to do this, but if this is not possible they are taken to the shelter and as soon as possible placed in good foster homes where children are wanted. We take children from a few months old to sixteen years of age, some born under the very worst circumstances, some criminal, but I understand less than two per cent. go wrong. That means a great deal for the training and environment and speaks well of the foster homes obtained for the wards. As already stated we have only thirteen children in the shelter ranging in ages from a fifteen-months old baby to a boy of eleven years. Will any of you who are here or read this report take one of these God's own little ones. Give it a home and education for inasmuch as ye do unto one of His little ones ye do unto Him.

Valuable Assistance

In conclusion, may I thank the Police Magistrate, Messrs. Masson, Bedford, Harman and O'Rourke, also Mr. Carnew, Crown Attorney, for kindnesses shown and valuable assistance given in the execution of my duties.

Also Chief of Police Newton and the force to a man have rendered me cheerful service and I cannot speak too well of all they have done for the Society and the welfare of the children.

I also wish to thank the following doctors: Messrs. Robertson, Connor, Faulkner, Blakesley, Cronk, Tennant, Wallbridge, McCullough and Chant, ever ready and willing to come to the help of the little ones in the shelter.

SANE OR INSANE?

In reporting the case of George Hines charged with murder at the Fall Assizes in Cobourg the Post has the following comments on the verdict of the jury. Expert medical men—one of 21 years' experience in mental cases, declared without a doubt that Hines was sane—and twelve back township men declared him insane. There is still a chance that twelve men good and true may be insane. Asked if it was not possible for Hines to be temporarily insane, Dr. McKay replied, "No person could be insane for ten minutes or an hour and sane again immediately, except it was due to epileptic fits and there was no evidence of this in the prisoner's case." After three hours and a half deliberation the jury returned the above verdict. His Lordship immediately dismissed the jury without comment, and also without the usual 'Thank you, gentlemen.'

JURY TAMPERED WITH

In addressing the Jury at the Fall Assizes in Cobourg in the case of Arthur Black charged with a serious offence against a young girl, His Lordship pointed out that a clear case had been made out against Black. The jury took all afternoon considering the evidence but were unable to agree. In dismissing the jury His Lordship said he believed they had been tampered with and instructed Crown Attorney Kerr to investigate. Black was allowed out on $12,000 bail, himself $6,000 and three sureties of $2,000 each. The case will come up again at the spring assizes.

Changing Name Of Belleville Streets

At a recent meeting of the City Council, a special committee was appointed to consider and report upon the advisability of renaming certain streets in the city. On Monday evening of this week the committee reported their labors and suggested the renaming of certain streets as follows:

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City Council of Belleville,—

Dear Sirs,—Your committee beg to report on the renaming of certain streets as listed hereunder herein, which is submitted for the approval of the Council:

2. Centre street to be changed to Singleton street for the same reason as No. 1.

3. Wallbridge Road to be known as Wallbridge Crescent on account of its crescent shape.

4. West Moira street from Coleman street to be known as Frankford Road.

5. East Moira street commencing at Coleman street to be known as Moira street.

6. Herchimer street to be known as Hudson street on account of the confusion with Herchimer Ave.

8. Ridley Avenue to be known as Ritchie Avenue and Ridley street to remain as it is.

9. Earl street to continue from North Front street to Wallbridge Road, discontinuing the name Stewart.

10. Harriet street to continue from North Front street to Wallbridge Road, discontinuing the part known as Miller street

11. North Front street to be known as Hastings street.

12. Front street to continue from the water front along Mill street and Station street to the eastern city limits discontinuing the names Mill street and Station street.

13. Oak street commencing at Pine street to continue to the northern city limits discontinuing Hambly street.

14. Cemetery street to be known as Flint street.

16. Pinnacle street to be known as First Ave.; Church street, Second Ave.; John Street Third Ave.; George street Fourth Ave.; William street, Fifth Ave.; Ann street, Sixth Ave.; Charles Seventh Ave.; Albert street Eighth Ave.; Foster, Ninth Ave.; Burnham street, Tenth Ave. discontinuing the name Chatham street; Lingham street, Eleventh Ave.; Bleecker, Twelfth Ave.; Dufferin, Thirteenth Ave.; McDonald, Fourteenth Ave.

It is also recommended that where streets have to be remembered that the numbering be done in blocks, first block numbers running from 1 to 99, second block numbers running from 100 to 199 and so on.

Ald. Ponton said the committee should co-operate with the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce also with the Deputy Registrar of the Registry Office in regard to this matter. The people on the streets should also be consulted.

No action was taken at present.

Will Not Support Japan In Quarrel With U.S.

TREATY OBLIGATIONS MUST BE HONORED, BUT THERE ARE TIES OF BLOOD AND UNDYING WAR COMRADESHIP —UGLY FEELING FOMENTED IN JAPAN AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 16—Efforts to foment anti-American feeling here as well as in Tokio and other Japanese cities are causing alarm in the American colony. Newspapers representing the extreme nationalist opinion are filled every day with invectives, denouncing what they call the "arrogance and injustice of the American people."

One large newspaper goes to the length of making broad hints that war is imminent between Japan and the United States. The newspaper accuses the American munition manufacturers of scheming for such a conflict and describes them as having huge stores of materials and as deliberately conducting anti-Japanese agitation in America with a view to causing war.

One means of exciting feeling in Japan has been the publication of stories in which Americans are accused of spending huge sums in efforts to discover Japan's military secrets. A section of the press supporting the militarists has been working to spread the belief that America deliberately stands in the way of Japanese expansion; and the public is beginning to show an air of "touchiness" with regard to every American action in Siberia and China. The doctrine is being constantly drummed into Japanese minds that America is out to deprive Japan of her share in the wealth of Eastern Asia.

COMMENTS OF EXPRESS

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Commenting on the despatch of Hugh Byas of Osaka, the London Daily Express will say:

"The Japanese must not be permitted to deceive themselves as to Britain's attitude towards a quarrel fastened upon America. We are grateful for what Japan did in the late war We have treaty obligations toward her which we will honor. But we have also ties of blood and undying war-comradeship with America.

"Let there be no mistake. We shall not be drawn into a war with the United States. Indeed, if war be forced upon America there is no need to emphasize the point that British sympathies will be wholly with our cousins across the Atlantic."

Auto Bandits Use High-Powered Cars

Toronto, Nov. 16.—What may be a sequel to the shooting of Mr. W. C. Pucke and also to many robberies which have taken place in this city in Hamilton, Guelph and other nearby cities came with the arrest of Thomas Goddard and William Gardiner by Detectives Levitt, Armstrong, C. Young and Mitchell last night at a garage on Sumach street. Just as Goddard and Gardiner went to open the garage door the detectives pounced out on them.

The arrest came just a trifle too quickly. Coming after the two who arrived first in their high-powered car were three others in another auto. Seeing what had happened they turned quickly and fled at top speed Their car, hired at the garage at the same time as the other, was afterwards found abandoned on Spruce street.

Gives Detroit Address

Both Goddard and Gardiner are charged with shopbreaking. Goddard gave his home as Detroit, but both men are rooming on Berkeley street. Goddard escaped from Burwash in September, where he was serving a term for robbery, and Gardiner confessed to having just completed a term in the same month at the Jail Farm for a like offense.

About the only confession which the police could extract from Goddard was his escape from Burwash, and he made a strange tale of it. He claims that he had to swim the river near the farm, that pursuit forced him into the woods, and that he was chased by wolves on his way to freedom.

Gang of Ex-Convicts?

The police believe that the two are members of a gang of seven ex-convicts who are responsible for most of the robberies within a radius of many miles. It is claimed that stolen high-powered cars, quick work in cleaning out the stores visited and then a flight to a cache at some obscure point are the secret of the gang's success.

If they are the same who staged the wild-west gun-play on Saturday night, the happening was either a mistake or a celebration of months of undetected crime which forgot caution for the moment.

The charge upon which the two are held is that of being implicated in the robbery of a clothing store in Hamilton kept by a man named Patrick. The burglars drove off in a motor with about $5,000 worth of clothing, and much of what is believed to be the missing stock was found in their rooms.

Two Other Arrests

In addition two men, Bloom and Helbloom, were arrested for having in their store on Lappin avenue 80 pairs of trousers believed to have been stolen.

CANADIAN LIBERALS ATTACK LLOYD GEORGE

London, Nov. 16.—The Times prints the following cable from Hon. Charles Murphy, E. B. Devlin and Frank Cahill, members of the Dominion House of Commons:

"We have cabled Premier Lloyd George as follows: 'The cynical falsehoods in your Guildhall speech about Ireland will make new enemies for Great Britain in every quarter of the globe and create domestic bitterness in all the overseas dominions. When John Redmond was qualified to represent and speak for Ireland, you first used and then betrayed him. On Armistice Day we approve the statement of The London Times that your speech will only find an echo in a world-wide mockery of the British Government.'"

When Food Doesn't Digest

Give the Stomach a Rational Rest by Proper Aid, Not by Harsh Starvation Methods. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

A sour stomach may indicate an acid condition that calls for an alkaline effect.

This you will get from one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after a meal. Sour risings, gassiness, a heavy bloated feeling and such distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia are usually only temporary. And yet they may lead to serious disorder. The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals reflects to a high degree the intelligent selection of preventative measures.

One cannot always select or inspect the quality of food to be eaten nor its method or manner of preparation. But it is possible to avoid the acidity that is so often the result. And it is a far better plan to eat without worry over what may happen, than to starve for fear it will happen. Many physicians recommmend these tablets for stomach distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

They are sold by all druggists every where at 60 cents a box.

Jiggs And Maggie At The Seashore

Musical Comedy Framed on George McManus' Popular Newspaper Cartoons Series Still a Strong Drawing Card

When George McManus, newspaper cartoonist, first created his "Bringing Up Father" series he had no idea of the treasure chest he had tapped. He knows now, and not the least important part of his revenue from Jiggs and Mrs. Jiggs comes from the stage versions of the adventures of this comical couple. Done into a musical comedy with exaggerated Irish characters as principals, and a background of scantily clad girls singing and dancing in and out of every scene the production has proved very popular.

Tuesday evening Jiggs and Maggie paid their annual visit to Griffin's Theatre which was packed to the doors with a throng which seemed to enjoy the entertainment, judging from the laughter and applause. As to the merits of the production from an artistic standpoint criticism is useless for the patrons know what they are going to get, and go and get it. The large attendance at these cartoon comedies proves the value of newspaper advertising for Jiggs and Maggie were born on a newspaper page and still live daily on many newspaper pages and the intimacy thus established with the home circle creates a desire to see a reproduction in the flesh. Then the people are apparently hungry for a good laugh and the people who go to "Bringing Up Father" certainly do laugh a-plenty.

"But why should I be interested in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

BECAUSE it will make a better human being of you mentally, physically—everyway.

Are you living a full and successful life? Or are you lacking in energy and vigor?

Perhaps you find that you are losing grip on life and beginning to slump physically. Then it is time to give some attention to the nerves.

When the nerves give out there's sure to be a slowing up of all bodily functions, both mental and physical.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is admirably suited to overcome this condition and thereby prevent a serious nervous breakdown. For this reason it is of interest to everybody—young, old or in middle age.

Because it restores in Nature's way by forming new, rich blood, and by feeding the starved nerves back to health and strength it appeals to every reasoning person.

Try it when you feel worried and tired out. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headaches and indigestion. For these are the indications that the nerves are becoming exhausted.

It is not a mere relief for these symptoms, and for this reason you must persevere in its use until lost vigor is restored to the nerves.

We know that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food possesses exceptional restorative properties. We have seen it tested in many thousands of cases. Many of your friends and neighbors can vouch for its merits from their own personal experience.

But how are you going to prove this to your own satisfaction unless you give it a trial? You are the one to be benefited. So it remains for you to make the test.

It is well worth your while, for health is your biggest asset, no matter what the size of your bank account may be.

Rest and plenty of wholesome, nutritious food will help. But your system has failed to supply to the nerves the nourishment they require. So you must look to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to establish the upbuilding process which is necessary for your complete restoration to perfect health and vigor.

Oil Explorer's Plans

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 17.—Tony Neis, a well-known and experienced trader and explorer in the north, will be the first adventurer to get under way for a winter trip to the Mackenzie river oil fields. DANGER IN HORSE-HAIR SHAVING BRUSHES

Washington, D.C., Nov. 16.—Surgeon-General Cumming, of the United States Public Health Service, has just issued a fresh warning against the use of horsehair shaving brushes, to which not a few cases of anthrax have been traced.

He says: "The Public Health Service has made every effort possible under existing laws and regulations to prevent the occurrence of anthrax due to infected shaving brushes, but in spite of its efforts anthrax cases occur and will continue to occur unless the public seases to buy and use horsehair brushes for shaving.

"It is the concenus of expert opinion that shaving brush anthrax is contracted only when the shaving brush is made of horse-hair; and Congress at the next session will be asked to prohibit the use of horse-hair for that purpose. It is doubtful, however, if any effective measures can be taken by health officials to curtail the use of the horse-hair shaving brushes now in trade channels, some of which are presumably infected, except a direct warning to the public not to buy or use such brushes.

Dr. Cumming strongly urges the issue of such an appeal by State Health Officials and its widest possible publicity, as the only way, pending additional legislation, to obviate their potential danger.

LIFE AND PROPERTY ENDANGERED BY ANTIQUATED FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.

Tuesday's fire is another lesson to Belleville of the folly of not having an electric fire alarm system. Communities much smaller than Belleville have had fire alarm systems for years, but this city is still depending upon an antiquated system, the wonder and amusement of every visitor to the city. Police Constable Thompson, who discovered the fire in the Palace Theatre Tuesday, ran upstairs to notify the occupants of the apartments. Some were inclined to argue with him over the immediate danger and minutes were lost in which the fire was spreading. He returned to the street, turned in a fire alarm by telephone, the only way, to the police station, while a policeman rang the fire bell. There is no direct communication with the fire hall and fire alarms must be telephoned to the police station before being submitted by telephone to the fire hall.

Minutes count at the beginning of a fire and the rapidity with which the fire spread in the Palace Theatre is an evidence of what might happen some night when people were sleepy and telephone communication slow.

Belleville has been making giant strides forward, in fact stepping several years ahead in one year, but in the matter of a fire-alarm system the city is a quarter of a century at least behind the times.

The Intelligencer has repeatedly called attention to the necessity for an electrical fire alarm and while everybody agreed that the necessity was real and urgent procrastination was the easiest way of dealing with the question and the policy of drift continued.

An efficient and modern electrical fire alarm system means saving property and even lives and helps in securing lower insurance rates.

NEITHER GOOD IRISHMEN NOR GOOD AMERICANS

The New York World publishes a very strong editorial denouncing those who recently took part in anti-British flag incidents in that city, when the Union Jack was subjected to all manner of insults.

The fire of the World's editorials is directed at Irish Republican sympathizers, and the newspaper makes the implication that guardians of the law there are afraid to exercise their authority when dealing with this element.

The World says:

> "If, countenanced by the authorities and with interested crowds standing by, London hooligans made a practice of tearing down United States flags and trailing them in the mud or burning them, there can be no doubt that the situation would be regarded very seriously in this country.
>
> "That such indignities to the British standard in New York are dismissed on both sides of the water as nothing more than manifestations of Sinn Fein violence may be natural enough, but the fact is nevertheless to our discredit. Although policemen always appear to be near the scene of these outrages, they fail, through fear or sympathy, to exert their authority. To stage a riot here with impunity our hoodlums need only to give it an anti-British aspect.
> "Most of our people will fail to perceive the valor or the utility of such performances. If that is the way Sinn Feiners fight England, it is the safest kind of warfare ever invented. If that is the way patriots 3,000 miles from the spot where they might get their heads broken think they are going to free Ireland, their delusion is as ridiculous as their mock heroics. The fact is that these marauders are neither good Irishmen nor good Americans. They ought to be rounded up and made to feel the weight of the law."

LIBERAL STALWARTS ON MEIGHEN PLATFORMS

The London Free Press, commenting upon the breaking down of party lines since the war says: "A striking feature of the tour of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen through Western Canada has been the appearance on his platform of many prominent Liberal-Unionists who are publicly allying themselves with the new party.

In Winnipeg the chairman of the Meighen meeting was Isaac Pitblado, K.C., who was offered at one time the Liberal leadership in Manitoba, for years was one of the chief opponents of the Roblin Government. He was supported on the platform by Isaac Campbell, who for two generations has been the finest Liberal speaker in Manitoba, and who, as a matter of course, until 1917, presided or spoke at all great Liberal rallies in Winnipeg. They were the two leading stalwarts of the party. In British Columbia, also prominent Liberals are appearing on the Prime Minister's platform and are refusing to ally themselves with the brand of Liberalism represented by Hon. Mackenzie Keng."

CRISP COMMENT

Winter was somewhat delayed, but now that it has arrived may strive to make up for lost time. However, we have had a long, open, charming fall, easy on the coal bill, heavy on gasoline, but cutting a big bite out of winter and preparing us gradually for the weiner worsts yet to come.

Our Hill's chief bread winner and George McManus' meal ticket, "Bringing up Father," has made its annual visitation, so that is over for another year. There are a few other diversions yet to come, the Flu and sich like, before Old King Winter gets the solar plexus blow.

A mail car travelling east from California said to contain upwards of a million dollars, was robbed at Omaha. Experts say it was an "inside" job, and as the treasure was unguarded it probably broke out, from the inside to the outside as it were, feeling lonely no doubt and seeking more circulation. That so much money should have been protected in transit only by bolts and bars was too much like tempting fate—and fate fell.

Belleville is becoming more like New York every day, the City Council is moving to change the names of streets to numbers. What Ho! she bumps,—must we lose John, George, William, Ann, Charles and Albert for mere numbers—sounds like Sing-Sing prison where Christian names are changed to numbers and John or George or William may be known as 41144, or any other old number attached to a striped suit in black and white. Taylor's Hill will surely become a hazy memory when the family names are turned to empty numbers; but such is the march of progress. Once the restless little [illegible] of unrest enters the mind of man only radical change will satisfy it.

The lady wrote to the editor: "Sir,—You sent back last week a story of mine. I know that you did not read the story, for as a test I pasted together pages 18, 19 and 20, and the story came back with these pages still pasted, and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading same." The editor wrote back: "Madam,—At breakfast when I open an egg I do not have to eat the whole egg to discover it is bad."—Toronto Star.

VIGOROUS, AT 102

Boston Manuscript

How many women and men enjoy a walk of several miles at the age of 102 years? There are few New Englanders today who have never ridden in a machine, fewer who would not like to ride in one if they could, and but one or two who scorn the automobile and enjoy a walk of several miles when past the age of 102 years. Mrs. Jane Russel of Worcester, Massachusetts, lays claim to all these distinctions. At this advanced age she performs all the household duties in her son's home, takes care of all the mending without the aid of glasses, does all the family washing every week, and instead of grumbling at its size, admits often that she would like to "take in" washing again to prove her mettle. She attributes her longevity and exceptional powers of endurance to her parents, her mother having lived to be ninety-eight years old, and her father was 104 years old when he died.

RAIN-MAKING

Kansas City Star

A Canadian company expects to manufacture rain by sending up airplanes to spray the upper regions with liquid air, thus cooling and condensing the atmospheric moisture into rain. Nature makes rain by producing vast swirls of air that rise and expand. The expansion of air cools it, and the cooling process condenses the moisture into rain. Compared to the enormous scale of nature's operations, the efforts of aviators to spray liquid air strata by bombardment, are about equivalent to attempting to save a thousand acres of corn with a sprinkling can.

POETS' CORNER

OLD ORCHARD LANDS

Orchard lands that we used to know—
Sing them sweetly and soft and low
'Til the soul of the song shall find
Chords that chime with the summer wind—
Wind assailing the orchards brown,
Pelting leaves and apples down
Into the grasses, tremulous,
Hiding the ripened spoils from us,
Creaking and groan of the cider press—
Flash of gingham and linsey dress—
Shouts of children and rushing feet—
Laughter sweet as the song is sweet!
Russet apples in golden piles,
Stores of joy for the Afterwhiles—
There's a theme that has ever been
Far too sweet for the rhymster's pen!
Apple dreams of the long ago!
"Pippins," "Spys" and the burnished "Snow"
Blushing red as a flawless gem,
Like the lips that are touched to them!
Glances shy and the clasp of hands
Betray the trysts of the Orchard Lands;
Oh, the vag'ries of chance that bring
Love to Youth in the harvesting,
Orchard lands that we used to know—
Sing them sweetly and soft and low—
Echo-like—that the song may be Touched with a tender memory
Of girls and boys of the other days—
Youth's that passed in the harvest ways,
Laughing, happy and holding hands,
And keeping trysts in the Orchard Lands!

A LAUGH OR TWO

THE LAUGH LINE

Too Sympathetic

In Liverpool recently a sentimental young lady from town was on the steamship quay, when she saw a young girl sitting on a trunk in an attitude of utter dejection and despair.

Poor thing, thought the romantic lady; she is probably alone and a stranger. Her pale cheeks and great sad eyes tell of a broken heart and a yearning for sympathy.

She went over to the traveller to win her confidence.

Crossed in love? she enquired, in a sympathetic voice.

No, replied the girl, with a sigh; we crossed in the "Jambia" and an awfully rough passage, too!

His Chief Bungle

A popular London actor-manager is accredited with this rather smart take down of a very vain brother actor.

I see you are getting on fairly well, the former remarked.

Fairly! I am getting on very well. I played Hamlet for the first time last night. You can see by the paper's glowing criticisms how well I got on!

I have not read them, replied the other! puletly, but I was there.

Oh, you were? Well, you noticed how swimmingly everything went off. Of course, I made a bungle of one part by falling into Ophelia's grave; but I think the audience even appreciated that.

I know they did, said the actor-manager, with a slight smile. But they were frightfully sorry when you got out of it again.

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.:—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during expectancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and has always been so. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.:—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9½ pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundurn St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

Firemen Made Second Visit

Returned to Ruins of Palace Theatre To Extinguish Blaze

Fire broke out again in the ruins of the Palace Theatre Tuesday evening and the firement gave the place another drenching extinguishing the last spark. Chief Brown and his men made a hard and winning fight and were materially assisted by the excellent walls of the building.

P. C. Thompson was the first to observe smoke coming from the building, a tiny wisp of smoke attracting his attention when on his beat near Bridge street corner. He at once hurried to the building and found that a fire was in progress in the basement. He immediately made his way upstairs and warned the occupants, several women, to leave the building. Some of them were inclined to argue the matter thinking that there was no danger. The officer then turned in an alarm and returned to the building, assisting several women to the street, one woman with an infant in arms. He also assisted one woman through a rear window of the upper flat to the roof of an adjoining building and thence to the ground, as the flames had cut off escape by the stairs.

The theatre was operated for moving picture entertainments by the Griffin Amusement Company, and twenty dollars in change had been placed in the box office for the matinee. Manager George Forhan found the money after the fire had been extinguished and strange to say it was not even wet. Two modern motion picture machines valued at eight hundred dollars, may be a total loss, besides curtain, films, etc., which will run into considerable money. Manager Forhan notified Mr. John Griffin, head of the Griffin Amusement Company, of the fire and plans for the future will rest with that gentleman.

Mr. E. Moon, wife and child, who occupied apartments in the burned building, salvaged little more than they could carry away in their arms.

BLOCK BURNED BEFORE

For the second time within a few years, the Palace Theatre is a mass of ruins, there being scarcely anything left but the bare walls. The fire brigade did excellent work in confining the flames to the building where it originated and their efforts were heartily commended by citizens generally. For upwards of four hours it was a stubborn fight but the tons of water poured in upon the flames from several lines of hose had the desired effect. There appeared at first to be a conflict of opinion as to the origin of the fire, but there seems to be no doubt now that it broke out near the furnace and had gained considerable headway before it was detected. The Palace building extended from Front street eastward about 100 feet and was a substantial block. A good fire wall and a large automatic fire door assisted materially in preventing the flames from extending to the block adjoining occupied by Lum Bros. as a cafe and with living apartments upstairs. Fortunately there was no fire in the cafe but considerable damage was sustained by water causing a portion of the ceiling in the front to fall and ruining the paper on the ceiling and wall. The loss is covered by insurance.

It is estimated that the loss to the Palace Theatre building will be about $12,000. The building and the greater part of the contents namely the chairs and piano were the property of Mayor Riggs. There were 513 chairs in the building. The insurance of $10,000 is divided among the Perth, Queen City and Western Assurance Companies. The insurance will not by any means replace the theatre in the condition it was before the fire.

The loss sustained by the Griffin Amusement company will be considerable. It is estimated that the loss to films alone will be upwards of $5,000 upon which there was no insurance. Two operating machines were destroyed in addition to the contents of the operating room.

VALUABLES RECOVERED

An unfortunate circumstance in connection with the fire is that Mrs. A. L. Johnson and Mrs. Small who occupied apartments above the theatre had no insurance upon their household effects. Mrs. Small had valuable furs burned in addition to a piano and household effects. Her loss is estimated at about $2,000. Mrs. Johnson also lost everything including a piano. After the fire was subdued, some valuable jewellery belonging to her was recovered, also a large pocket book. Another pocket book which contained $200 could not be found and is probably destroyed.

WATER AND SMOKE DAMAGE

Water and smoke did considerable damage to the Bank of Commerce building, but the loss is covered by insurance.

Lum Bros. loss is covered by insurance.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday night the fire brigade was again called to the scene of the fire as a portion of the roofing at the rear was ablaze. A stream soon extinguished the flames.

On January 26th, 1915 the Palace Theatre, situated in the same block, was destroyed by fire and much damage sustained to adjacent property.

ARE STILL SEARCHING FOR OTTAWA MERCHANT

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Search for J. T. Hammill, President of the Murphy-Gamble Company, Limited, who has been missing since Wednesday, is still being vigorously prosecuted today, and strong hopes are held that he will be found shortly.

The most reliable information received to date leads to the belief that the missing man has been seen in the district between Ottawa and Waltham. A farmer of Waltham states positively that he saw Mr. Hammill on a train last Wednesday travelling from Aylmer, Que., to Breckenbridge. The postmaster at Luskville today reports that a man answering Hammill's description asked for lodgings at his house on Sunday night.

Later reports indicate that he had left the train and was walking toward Quyon, Que.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, [illegible], by A. C. McClurg & Co.

By a quick side step, Tarzan eluded the first swinging clutch of the lion's paws. Darting to the beast's side, he leaped upon the tawny back. His arms encircled the maned neck, his teeth sank deep into the brute's flesh. Roaring, leaping, rolling and struggling, the giant cat attempted to dislodge this savage enemy, and all the while one great, brown fist was driving a long keen blade repeatedly into the beast's side.

During the battle, La regained consciousness. Spellbound, she stood above her victim watching the spectacle. At last Tarzan's knife found the great heart, and with a final, spasmodic struggle the lion rolled over upon the marble floor, dead. Leaping to his feet the conqueror placed a foot upon the carcass of his kill, raised his face toward the heavens and gave voice to so hideous a cry that both La and Werper trembled as it reverberated through the temple.

Then the ape-man turned, and Werper recognized him as the man he had left for dead in the treasure room.

Werper was astounded. Could this creature be the same dignified Englishman who had entertained him so graciously in his luxurious African home? Could this wild beast, with blazing eyes, and bloody countenance, be at the same time a man? Could the horrid victory cry he had but just heard have been formed in human throat?

La was studying the ape-man's features. Slowly her large eyes opened very wide.

"Tarzan!" she exclaimed, and then, in the vernacular of the great apes which constant association with the anthropoids had rendered the common language of the Oparians: "You have come back to me! La has ignored the mandates of her religion, waiting, always waiting for Tarzan—for her Tarzan. She has taken no mate, for in all the world there was but one with whom La would mate. And now you have come back! Tell me, O Tarzan, that it is for me you have returned."

Werper listened to the unintelligible jargon. He looked from La to Tarzan. Would the latter understand this strange tongue? To the Belgian's surprise, the Englishman answered in a language evidently identical to hers.

"Tarzan," he repeated, musingly. "Tarzan. The name sounds familiar."

"It is your name—you are Tarzan," cried La.

"I am Tarzan?" The ape-man shrugged. "Well, it is a good name—I know no other, so I will keep it; but I do not know you. I did not come hither for you. Why I came, I do not know at all; neither do I know from whence I came. Can you tell me?"

La shook her head. "I never knew," she replied.

Tarzan turned toward Werper and put the same question to him; but in the language of the great apes. The Belgian shook his head.

"I do not understand that language," he said in French.

Without effort, and apparently without realizing that he made the change, Tarzan repeated his question in French. Werper suddenly came to a full realization of the magnitude of the injury of which Tarzan was a victim. The man had lost his memory—no longer could he recollect past events. The Belgian was upon the point of enlightening him, when it suddenly occurred to him that by keeping Tarzan in ignorance, for a time at least, of his true identity, it might be possible to turn the ape-man's misfortune to his own advantage.

"I cannot tell you from whence you came," he said; "but this I can tell you—if we do not get out of this horrible place we shall both be slain upon this bloody altar. The woman was about to plunge her knife into my heart when the lion interrupted the fiendish ritual. Come! Let us find a way out of their damnable temple."

Tarzan turned again toward La.

"Why," he asked, "would you have killed this man? Are you hungry?"

The high priestess cried out in disgust, raised her slender arm, and pointed toward the sun.

"We were offering up his soul as a gift to the Flaming God," she said.

Tarzan looked puzzled. He was again an ape, and apes do not understand such matters as souls and Flaming Gods.

"Do you wish to die?" he asked Werper.

The Belgian assured him, with tears in his eyes, that he did not wish to die.

"Very well, then; you shall not," said Tarzan. "Come! We will go. This She would kill you and keep me for herself. It is no place, anyway, for a Mangani. I should soon die, shut up behind these stone walls."

He turned toward La. "We are going now," he said.

The woman rushed forward and seized the ape-man's hands in hers.

"Do not leave me!" she cried. "Stay and you shall be high priest. La loves you. All Opar shall be yours. Stay, Tarzan of the Apes, and let love reward you."

The ape-man pushed the kneeling woman aside. "Tarzan does not desire you," he said, simply, and stepping to Werper's side he cut the Belgian's bonds and motioned him to follow.

Panting—her lips convulsed with rage, La sprang to her feet.

"Stay, you shall!" she screamed. "La will have you—if she cannot have you alive, she will have you dead," and raising her face to the sun she gave voice to the same hideous shriek that Werper had heard once before and Tarzan many times.

In answer to her cry a babel of voices broke from the surrounding chambers and corridors.

"Come, guardian priests!" she cried. "The infidels have profaned the holiest of the holies. Come! Strike terror to their hearts; defend La and her altar; wash clean the temple with the blood of the polluters!"

Milions In China Face Starvation

Failure of Crops in Northern China Brings Famine Conditions

Millions of dollars have been subscribed in Shanghai to the general fund raised in various centers in China to provide relief for the inhabitants of a great belt spread over seven provinces in northern China where crops have failed and whole populations were starving to death.

It was estimated that the famine, the worst China has experienced in a half century, had fastened its grip upon between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 of people who faced a north country winter after a harvest only about eight per cent. of normal.

While relief organizations were being formed in Pekin and other centers and the Chinese government had set in motion ponderous and slow moving machinery, about 40 leading Chinese organized the Seven Provinces Famine Relief Association and without a week had received contributions amounting to a little less than $2,000,000.

Foreign aid in the campaign for funds was enlisted at a mass meeting that was attended by representatives of the American and British Chambers of Commerce, the American Association of China and a number of other foreign organizations. A committee appointed at this meeting, working with the executive body of the Chinese Relief Association, outlined and carried through the general campaign. The minimum of $5,000,000 that was fixed as the least sum that Shanghai should contribute—as it was estimated that not less than $200,000,000 would be required—was passed in the first weeks of the campaign which began in September was to be continued on into December.

EGYPTIAN WOMEN TAKING INTEREST

Egyptian women are at last beginning to take an interest in public affairs, particularly in the schools. Viscount Milner in his report as High Commissioner of Egypt says of all changes which have taken place in that country in the last few years none is more striking than the awakening interest of women in affairs outside of the home.

The commissioner added that a few years ago it was rare to find a mother showing a direct personal interest in the welfare of her daughter at school. All this was left to father who often had to overcome the mother's opposition to the education of he daughter. "During the last few yea these conditions have changed in th larger towns where mothers now vi it the schools and discuss their daug ters' progress with the head teacher said the report.

This change is attributed by th High Commissioner largely to educ tion and he predicts that its influen will be potent on the future progre of educational development in Egy

EXPANDING INDUSTRY.

On his return from Europe J. Gill Gardner, president of the Laing Storage and Product Co., Brockville, condensed milk manufacturers, confirmed the statement that the company proposed erecting a $400,000 addition to its plant here, starting work next Spring. The plant has orders which assure its successful operation until next April. Mr. Gardner with J. R. A. Laing, the managing director visited Holland, Belgium, France and Great Britain, and reports trade conditions brisk with considerable British capital available for reliable investments in Canada.

QUEER HAT

A clergyman in Toronto lost his hat one evening recently and was obliged to wear a shabbier one which had been left in its place. Next day the hat was returned by the penitent appropriator, who thus apologized: "I'll never take a minister's hat again. Yer can't think what queer things hav been running through my head ever since I put that hat on."

LARGE TURNIPS.

That the soil of North Hastings is conducive to raising large vegetables has been demonstrated by Mr. Tinney, of Faraday Township. He raised two Swede turnips which weighed respectively 17½ and 16¼ pounds.

THREE ARRESTS MADE.

The police last night made three arrests, one being a victim of intoxication and two on a charge of attempting to steal chickens.

FIRST SNOWSTORM

After a long and pleasant season of fall weather, exceptionally warm, Old King Winter put in an appearance Tuesday evening about ten oclock and the ground was soon draped in a mantle of snow. The snow kept falling throughtout the night and on Wednesday, and householders were obliged to resurrect snow shovels of the vintage of 1919 or purchase new ones to clear the walks. As the result of the storm there were fewer automobiles seen on the streets and many motor car owners enjoyed the sensation of walking for a change.

PRESCOTT TAILOR DEAD

Albert Davs, for 65 years a tailor in Prescott, is dead. Early in life he was a land surveyor, and he made the first maps of this section of the country. He died as the result of a stroke of paralysis.

CAUGHT IN CHICKEN COOP

For some time past hen coops, the property of farmers on the Front of Thurlow Township, have been visited and chickens stolen. Last night Mr. Wm. A. Clazie heard some person at his hen house and succeeded in holding two parties who were subsequently brought to the police station here. They gave their names as George Smith and Frank Stevens. A charge of attempting to steal chickens was preferred against them. The accused were this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson and were remanded to jail until Saturday as the Crown was not prepared to proceed.

GIFTS THAT LAST

His Great Grandfather's Gift

He then read in her eyes the message he had waited for so long and so patiently.

He drew from his finger a ring embellished with a bloodstone and placed it on hers.

"With this ring the men of our family for generations have pledged their troth."

As the words "the men of our family," echoed in her heart, she was filled with a great joy, a great hope.

Says It Made A New Man Of Him

W. S. Holmes of Grand Rapids Feels So Fine Since Taking Tanlac He Wants to Tell Others About It

"Tanlac has simply made a new man out of me, and I feel like it's my duty to let others know it has relieved me of my long suffering and restored my health," said William S. Holmes, Sr., of 247 Reynolds street, Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. Holmes has been carpentering practically all his life, and for the past eight years has been a well-known contractor in Grand Rapids.

"I suffered all kinds of misery for the last four years, and was just full of aches and pains almost continually. I suffered so bad with indigestion I simply had to diet myself to the very lightest of food, and my liver and kidneys also bothered me a great deal. I was so nervous I couldn't keep still, and I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep.

"I had to lose lots of time from my business on account of my ill health, and it was for weeks at a time that I wasn't able to work. I'll tell you, I spent many dollars in an effort to get relief, but it didn't do me a bit of good.

"I saw a statement in the paper one day that just hit my case to a dot, and I made up my mind to give Tanlac a trial. Well, sir, it's certainly surprising how the medicine has fixed me up for since taking four bottles, I can now go to the table and eat just anything I want without feeling a sign of that awful indigestion.

"My liver and kidneys are in the very best of shape, and my nerves are so steady that I sleep good and sound every night. I have also gained considerable weight, and am feeling so fine in every way that I just want to make this statement and let others know what Tanlac will do for anyone suffering like I did."

Tanlac is Sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading ruggists in every town.

Wedding Bells

KEENE—McCABE

A quiet marriage was solemnized by the Rev. W. W. Jones, on Tuesday evening, November 16th at the parsonage, Shannonville, when Mr. Arthur M. Keene of the 2nd Line Thurlow was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Mrs. Ethel McCabe of Marysville. The young couple were unattended and will, after a brief honeymoon, reside in their beautiful home in Thurlow.

HOUT—BLANCHARD

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Michael's church by the Rev. Father Killeen, Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock when Adele, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Blanchard, and Mr. Edward Hout of Alexandria were united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony. After the ceremony a quiet wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride, 277 Church street. The bridal couple left on the noon train for Montreal. After a short honeymoon they will reside in Alexandria.

Music and Drama

"OLD LADY 31" AT GRIFFIN'S

Rachel Crothers' celebrated stage play, "Old Lady 31" as adapted to the screen by Metro with Emma Dunn, will be the feature attraction at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, with matinee daily.

Emma Dunn created the leading role of Angie in the New York stage production of the play by Lee Kugel and was specially engaged for stardom on the screen in the same character. Angie is a personality of rare sweetness, and just the sort of "mother" role that brought fame to Miss Dunn in the role in the stage version.

In a story of quaintness and infinite charm, Angie and Abe, her life partner for fifty years, are reduced to poverty. Abe is planning to go to the poor farm, while Angie, with the few dollars they have saved from the wreck of their lives, is headed for the Old Women's home. The thought of parting is anguish to the life-long lovers. At the doorstep of the Old Women's home Angie falters. The inmates take pity on the couple, and although it is against the rules, admit Abe as "Old Lady 31", he being the only male in the house. But he is happy to be near Angie and everything goes well until the thirty spinsters and "widder women" in the institution get their dander up when Abe is too attentive to one of them.

"The Land of Opportunity," a two-reel drama, with Ralph Ince in his famous impersonation of Abraham Lincoln, [illegible] Mann in a 2-reel comedy, and a beautiful Travelogue will be screened on the same program. "The Bell Ringing Male Quartet," a guaranteed quality vaudeville offering, is also being presented on the same program, this "different" music offering of brilliance and snap being not only musical but musically amusing.

U.S. Interference Turned Down

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—British embassy today notified the committee of one hundred investigating conditions in Ireland that it did not approve of the purposes to be served or methods to be followed in the committee's hearings to begin here tomorrow and that therefore it could not accept the committee's invitation to be represented. The embassy's reply, addressed to Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of "The Nation" who appointed the committee, declared the only outcome of inquiry would be the spread of propaganda and that there was nothing in the composition of the committee itself to remove from it the idea that it was not impartial or prejudiced in advance.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION

Charles Davis a stranger in the city was, to-day, by Magistrate Masson fined $15 and costs for being intoxicated. The fine was paid.

PROPHECIES CAME TRUE

Strange Stories of Warnings Heeded and Unheeded.

It is recorded of the Empress Eugenie that once, when she was a child, and living with her mother in Madrid, she was sliding down the banisters one day when she lost her balance and, knocking her head violently against the open front-door leading to the street, fell senseless on the steps. An old gipsy woman who happened to be passing sat down by the roadside, took the girl's head into her lap, and brought her back to consciousness.

"There is no danger," she said, to the little Eugenie's alarmed mother; "the senorita will live to be a hundred years old, either more or less, and she will be a queen."

The second part of the prophecy has certainly been fulfilled, and, in view of the fact that the aged empress was ninety-three when she died the first part of the gypsy prophecy was not very far wrong.

Draga Mashin, the beautiful woman of the people, who afterwards became the Queen of Serbia, and was assassinated with her husband, King Alexander, was, before her marriage, dame d'honneur to Queen Nathalie, the young king's mother. On one occasion, when, with her royal mistress, she was visiting Paris, she went to consult the famous Parisian clairvoyante, Mme. Thebes. After holding the young maid-of-honor's hand for a long time in silence, the clairvoyante looked gravely at her and said, hesitatingly: "You have great ambition; you will have an extraordinary career; you will marry the highest personage in the country, but you will bring only ruin to your husband, and you yourself will perish with him."

King George I. of England was told by a fortune-teller, when he was a boy, that he should take care of his wife, "as he would only survive her a year." Whether he paid much heed to it is not known, but it is certainly a curious fact that, exactly twelve months after her death, he died, almost suddenly, while on a visit to his brother, the Prince Bishop, at Osnaburg.

In the year 1671 a woman soothsayer, Marguerite Marie, of Paray-le-Monial, prophesied to Louis XIV. that after the year 1793 no crowned ruler would ever die in his bed in France. The fateful year 1793, as everyone knows, proved to be the year of the murder of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, and history has since shown that no crowned ruler of France, subsequent to that date, has died in his bed in that country. Louis XVIII., who did do so, was reminded of this sinister prophecy just before his coronation was to take place, and, although most extravagant preparations had been made for it, he heeded the warning, and was never officially crowned!

The assassination of that great and wise monarch, Henry of Navarre, was foretold by an astrologer, who warned the king, some six months before the murder, that he should beware of the coming month of May, stating that he would be assassinated at the period of a grand solemnity, and that he would expire in a coach.

Precocity and Genius.

In every generation there have been precocious children. Socrates, Seneca, Horace and Confucius exhibited extraordinary abilities at very early ages. But perhaps in no other fields is the relation of genius to precocity so clearly exemplified as in music. At the age of four Mozart composed a number of minuets and other pieces still extant; Beethoven showed marked genius at five, and when only seven created great astonishment by his performances on the violin, while Schubert, Mendelssohn, Handel, and other great composers, were precocious as children and astonished their contemporaries by their early performances. Saint-Saens is said to have produced creditable waltzes and galops at five. Modern eugenists account for precocity on the advanced age of one or both of the child's parents at the time of its birth, and we have very marked examples in the following whose father's ages at the time of the distinguished son's birth are given in each case. Voltaire sixty-five, Franklin fifty-seven, Audobon fifty-seven, Goethe fifty-three, Irving fifty-two, Bacon fifty-one, Shakespeare about forty-five, Milton forty-five, Confucius forty-five, Johnson forty-seven, Edison forty-three.

Jerusalem's Cobblers.

Jerusalem's large army of cobblers, who have been enjoying an undreamed of prosperity because the terrible condition of the streets has kept them busy repairing shoes, are beginning to worry over lean days ahead. With the British administration and the Zionist commission engaged in improving the streets of the Holy City the cobblers see future days of little to do compared to the golden harvest they are now reaping, according to the Palestine Weekly, a new English newspaper published in Jerusalem. With plans under way for the establishment of shoe factories capable of a large daily output, which will bring shoe prices down to a low level, combined with the smoothness the streets are now acquiring, the present opulent cobblers have reason to worry over the future, the Weekly chuckles.

The British Dominate.

Considering the fact that the United States has kept practically an open door for a century and more to all comers, and that millions of Germans, Scandinavians, Italians and others have settled in the land, it is surprising that only two Presidents have borne other than British surnames. These were both Dutch, Van Buren and Roosevelt.

Wiser to Go Elsewhere.

"When you get your groceries today," said the butcher to his wife, "don't go to that little grocer next to my shop." "Why not?" she demanded. "Because he sent in yesterday and borrowed an old pair of my scales!"

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

BELFAST, Nov. 17.—Renewed rioting broke out in Belfast this morning. Nationalists in New Lodge Road district attacked Unionist quarter with stones. They were beaten off by women at the first onset but returned using revolvers and soon were masters of the thoroughfare. An attempt was made to enter Duncairn Presbyterian school but the doors had been fastened so the crowd contented itself with smashing windows, a process which was repeated on many houses along the line of advance. Police finally restored order.

Canada's Merchant Fleet Carrying Canadian-Made Goods

THIRTY-EIGHT STEEL VESSELS NOW IN COMMISSION CARRYING GOODS TO ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD—FLEET OF SIXTY-THREE PLANNED—NATIONAL SHIPS OF CANADA DEVELOPING WORLD—WIDE TRADE FOR CANADIAN-MADE GOODS OF FARM AND DAIRY.

A little while ago, the Navy League of Canada was campaigning in the Dominion for the development of what they call "the Sea-Conscious Spirit Among Canadians".

No doubt many busy people, who heard the appeals wondered what it was all about and why Canadians, not noted for "going down to the sea in ships" should be asked to develop such a "consciousness".

There seems to be a failure generally to grasp the significance of Canada's entry among the ship-owners for the handling of the commerce of this country overseas in the fleet which is being operated by the Canadian Government Merchant Marine Limited in conjunction with Canadian National Railways.

Canada's Fleet

The developmen of the fleet with a program of sixty-three new steel vessels, thirty-eight of which are already constructed and in service, is one of the most spectacular of the twentieth century, and is easily, in effect upon Canadian trade, the largest single Canadian development within the last two decades.

Two new vessels have been turned over recently to the Company for operation; the "Canadian Carrier" and the "Canadian Squatter", each of 4,575 tons. These came down to Montreal in two parts from the Upper Lakes Shipyards at Port Arthur and Welland, respectively, where they were built, and were joined at the Canadian Metropolis. The "Carrier" left on her maiden voyage to Glasgow, October 30th, and the "Squatter" is to go into service shortly. Another vessel, the "Canadian Mariner" is to be added to the list soon. She is being built at Halifax.

These "National Ships of Canada" 41 of which are already in service are being kept constantly on the go. From both sea-boards in Canada they are reaching out to the big world ports, carrying Canadian-made goods abroad and bringing to us the merchandise we purchase in other lands. We will set down exactly what these ships were doing the last day in October this year, that Canadians may understand the amazing story of their activities.

Many Cargoes

In the North Atlantic, or British trade, at London, England, the "Canadian Aviator' was discharging cargo. At Liverpool the "Canadian Ranger" and the "Canadian Conqueror" had arrived and at the same port, the "Canadian Seigneur" was loading for Canada. The "Canadian Settler" was discharging cargo at Manchester, and the "Canadian Trapper" at Cardiff. The "Canadian Volunteer" was at Glasgow unloading and the "Canadian Voyageur" was loading at Cardiff. This makes nine vessels of the Canadian National fleet in British ports alone on that date. Moreover the "Canadian Carrier" was in the Gulf of St. Lawrence bound for Glasgow The "Canadian Navigator" was nearing Glasgow and the "Canadian Signaller" was at Glasgow. The "Canadian Otter" was on the way to London and the "Canadian Raider" for London and Cardiff; the "Canadian Miller" was loading at Montreal for Liverpool.

In the Cuban and Jamaican trade, the "Canadian Adventurer" was homeward bound with a cargo of sulphur from Sabine, Texas. The "Canadian Sower" was discharging cargo at Quebec; and the "Canadian Trader" had sailed from Havana for Montreal.

In the Barbadoes, Trinidad and Demereara service, the "Canadian Beaver" cleared from Sydney, Nova Scotia outward bound, and the "Canadian Farmer" from Trinidad, for Canada; the "Canadian Observer" was discharging cargo at Montreal.

In the South American trade, the "Canadian Victor" was loading at Montreal, and the "Canadian Planter" was unloading at Buenos Ayres.

On that date, in the newly-established Indian trade, from the Atlantic side, the "Canadian Pioneer" was east of the Suez, in the Indian Ocean between Karachi and Bombay, from which port she was to continue to Colombo, up the east coast of India to Calcutta, Rangoon, Singapore, the Straits Settlements and on to the Dutch ports of Batavia and Sarabuya, in Java.

In the Pacific service, the "Canadian Exporter" was discharging at Melbourne in Australia; the "Canadian Inventor" was on her way between Melbourne and Vancouver.

It would be an education for most Canadians to watch the loading of one of the "National" ships, the "Canadian Victor" for instance, loading for Trinidad in the British West Indies, Rio de Janeiro and Santos in Brazil, Montevideo in Uruguay and Buenos Ayres in the Argentine Republic.

Made in Canada

A large variety of Canadian-made goods were lowered into the holds; all classes of agricultural machinery, lumber from various sections of the country, Canadian-made motor cars, Canadian-made cement, bottles for Angostura Bitters and the liquor trade in Trinidad, barbed wire from our mills bar-iron, drums of cable for electrical purposes, cases of rubber shoes, and Canadian-made flour, comprising the cargo.

The South American trade is becoming an important factor to Canadian manufacturers, via the "National" ships of Canada, but before the service was inaugurated, all of this business was handled through American ports.

The importance of this aspect of the Canadian export situation cannot be over-estimated. Every dollar preserved to Canada through the handling of Canadian freights in Canadian ships and box cars, is a dollar on the side of the business ledger of the country. As soon as our manufacturers and shippers, who trade overseas, realize this, Canadian vessels are certain to secure tonnage on a scale never approached before. The British Board of Trade estimated recently, according to a statement published by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, that > "the net earnings of British shipqing this year will amount to approximately $2,200,000,000.00, which sum, the Board says will not only offset Great Britain's excess of imports over exports for the year, but will give the kingdom a favorable balance of $100,000,000.00. Shipping, according to the British Board of Trade, thus will have brought in sufficient return to restore Great Britain to her former position of a creditor nation."

Canadian Ships

Using Canadian ships and keeping our freight earnings in Canada, would help most certainly to overcome any unfavorable balance of trade we might have with foreign countries.

The Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine Limited, have concluded satisfactory arrangements with the Holt Steamship interests at Liverpool and the British India Steam Navigation Company, Limited, for joint services between Atlantic and Pacific ports in Canada and the Orient, including India. Already one of the ships of the British India Company has called at a Canadian port and a cargo has been found for it by the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. Likewise a full cargo has been secured by the British India Company for one of our ships now in Oriental waters.

So this "Sea Consciousness" is really fraught with vital significance to all the people of Canada. When one thinks of how the shops of England have nosed their way into all corners of all the seas; of how almost untold wealth has been poured into the "Tight Little Island" in the North Atlantic; of how through her ships she has expanded her trade until it became world-wide then found cargo space to help in handling the goods sent out by other nations; only then does the true inwardness of the situation begin to be realized.

Every pound of Canadian products shipped from a Canadian port speeds up our maritime growth; and strengthens our national prosperity.

HALLOWE'EN AFTERMATH IS BURWASH SENTENCE

Brockville, Nov. 18.—A Hallowe'en escapade had an unlucky ending today for Raymond Carr and John Thursell, who were sentenced by Judge Dowsley to terms, respectively, of eight and six months, and not more than two years in Burwash. The youths took a horse from a drive-shed and later abandoned it in an outlying section.

Terrible Famine Conditions In China

Associated Press Correspondent Visits Districts Where the Crops Have Failed

Cholera is adding to the general distress in the famine-stricken district of China where from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 people are facing death by starvation.

The Associated Press correspondent, who recently travelled through the heart of the territory most seriously denuded of food, found conditions even more desperate than had been indicated by information previously received.

In the town of Hwai-an where there were 100 families, 30 persons had died of cholera and similar reports are common from various other districts.

The picture presented to the eye of the correspondent was a dismal one; the soil barren as in mid-winter, prices soaring, migration of those having more money or enterprise, the people living on a diet of weeds, chaff, thistles and leaves; children, especially little girls, offered for sale at the average price of the small Chinese mule; cholera from underfeeding, suicides of individuals in extreme despair, old women and children gleaning patches of weeds, men with no work to do and clusters of refugees living in the shelter of temples in market towns.

Information obtained by the correspondent indicated that the present suffering is only a forecast of that to come in the course of eight or ten weeks when the real crisis will arrive. Conditions in the belt he traversed in a journey by cart between two railway lines near Techow are believed to be typical of those generally existing throughout large areas in the provinces of Chili, Shantung, Honan and Shansi. He found indescribable misery and stoical facing starvation by millions of people who already had disposed of everything saleable and saw in the future nothing but death.

When the frost will have killed the unconsumed leaves and weeds there will be nothing to eat for at least half the population. One out of ten has already migrated without money and without destination. In the worst spots half the people are already subsisting on the proceeds of the sale of furniture and clothing, which means that those temporarily escaping starvation will ultimately die from cold and exposure.

In the town of Chi Chow, which is typical, the magistrate informed the correspondent that out of every three families two are quite sure to starve before the end of the year, barring effective relief from outside. There are 390,000 people in the administrative district in question.

In Ning Ching two bankers who were engaged in raising relief funds said that the crop had been an absolute failure following two or three previous and serious shortages. Of 10,000 families, they estimated that eight out of ten were practically without means. One of the informants said that he was the owner of the largest pawnshop in the vicinity."

"There are constant streams of farmers coming with clothing, furniture, implements, anything upon which to realize a few coppers. They are selling their children where possible, or leaving them where there is hope that they may be fed," he said.

Chaff and the residue from cotton seed after the oil has been extracted have become valuable beyond the reach of the average person, who exists on a watery concoction chiefly of leaves and weeds, with perhaps a few kernels of grain, and a sort of cake, if he is affluent enough, made out of the cotton-seed waste.

WILL BEAUTIFY CANADIAN GRAVES

Ottawa, Nov. 18—Some six thousand graves located in 1,200 cemeteries scattered throughout the Dominion will be marked with suitable headstones, beautified, and given perpetual care by the Imperial War Graves Commission. These are the graves of members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and of the Royal Air Force, who died in Canada, or on their way to or return from the front. Included in the number are a few graves of alien enemies who died during interment and which must, under the terms of the Peace Treaty be looked after.

MUST GO TO SCHOOL, THOUGH MARRIED

Benton, Ills., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Clyde Billington, fifteen-year-old housewife of Rockford, a small village near here has been ordered to go to school. The law provides that all persons under 16 years of age must attend school unless they have completed the eighth grade. Mrs. Billington will be 16 next April. She has not completed the required grade. Mrs. Billington was married last July.

Fourteen Years For Toronto Robber

Toronto, Nov. 18.—"You have been given three opportunities to tell what you did with the $10,000 in Victory Bonds in which this poor young woman had invested her savings, but have disclosed nothing, so I will give you the maximum penalty," said Judge Coatsworth as he sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary Louis L. Le Blanc, who pleaded guilty to four charges of housebreaking and theft.

Le Blanc admitted having stolen jewelry from the homes of James Ibbotson, Prof. Kilpatrick and Newton McTavish, and from the home of John Mathers, 331 Palmerston blvd., jewelry and $10,100 in Victory bonds owned by Mathers' sister. He was arrested by Detectives Hicks and Seaton, who recovered most of the jewelry, but the prisoner refused to tell what became of the Victory bonds. He has been in jail a month, sentence having been deferred to give him opportunity to tell where the bonds may be found.

In pronouncing sentence the judge said if at any time Le Blanc gave information which would lead to the recovery of the securities, he would take up with the Department of Justice a mitigation of the sentence.

English Professors Bury The Hatchet

Storm of Criticism at Presentation of Olive Branch to Germany

By reason of the tempest stirred up as the result of overtures by Oxford professors to German and Austrian educators to join them in burying the hatchet and return to previous amicable relations, the text of the appeal is attracting widespread interest.

The London Times denounced the letter urging resumption of friendly relations between German, Austrian and British educators as "ill-advised and inopportune," and called the Oxford men to account for failing to distinguish between animosities created in England by the sinking of hospital ships and bombing of open cities, on the one hand, and the black passions of the wretches who perpetuated those crimes.

The text of the Oxford letter follows:

"To the Professors of the Arts of Sciences and to members of the Universities and learned societies in Germany and Austria.

"Since there will be many of you who fully share our heartfelt sorrow and regret for the breach that the war has occasioned in our friendly intercourse, and since you cannot doubt the sincerity of the feeling which engendered and cherished that old friendliness you must, we believe, be sharing our hope for its speedy re-establishment.

"We therefore, the undersigned doctors, heads of houses, professors and other officers and teachers in the University of Oxford now personally approach you with the desire to dispel the embitterment of animosities that under the impulse of loyal patriotism may have passed between us.

"In the field where our aims are one, our enthusiasms the same, our rivalry and ambition generous we can surely look to be reconciled and the fellowship of learning offers a road which may—and if our spiritual ideals be alive must—lead to a wider sympathy and better understanding between our kindred nations.

"While political dissensions are threatening to extinguish the honorable comity of the great European states, we pray that we may help to hasten that amicable reunion which civilization demands. Impetret ratio quod dies impetratura est."

Fifty-seven signatures are appended to the letter, including those of W.G. S. Adams, professor of Political Theory and Institutions; Sir Hugh Allen, director of the Royal College of Music; Rev. G. A. Cooke, Regius professor of Hebrew; Sir Arthur Evans, professor of Prehistoric Archaeilogy; Rev. A. C. Headlam, Regius professor of Divinity J. A. Smith, professor of Moral and Metaphysical Philosophy and many other well known college principals.

JUMPED IN FRONT OF TRAIN AND ENDED HIS WEARY LIFE

Fort William, Nov. 18.—Tired of life, Cedar Harachun gave $150 to a friend, saying he had no further use for money, and tried to hang himself, but pedestrians rescued him. Then he asked for his money back, and after spending it, jumped in front of a train at Upsula near here yesterday. This was the tragedy revealed by the coroner's inquiry here today. Suicide was the verdict.

Sent To Prison For Sale Of Dope Liquor

Montreal Merchants Shipped Mixture to Detroit and Collected $15,000

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Joseph A. Pesant and Rene Ricci, beer and wine merchants of this city, were sentenced by Judge Bazin to 12 months in jail each, at hard labor, and to a fine of $2,000 each or an additional 12 months each on a charge of using false trade marks. Another charge of using forged seals of the Government is pending against them and they were committed for "voluntary statement" on the 23rd.

David Davis of Detroit, charged the accused with having sold him 500 cases of whiskey, which was alleged to be Hiram Walker's Canadian Club, which he paid $15,000 for, and which he later found on arrival of the shipment at Detroit, to be a compound of wood alcohol, chloroform, etc.

Winnipeg Murder Still Unravelled

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—An open verdict was returned last night by the coroner's jury investigating the death of Alexander McCurdy, provincial morality inspector, who was slain in the course of a raid on the Stockyards Hotel at St. Boniface. The verdict was that he died from the effects of bullet wounds in the head fired from a weapon in the hands of a person or persons unknown. Curley O'Neil, one of the alleged slayers of McCurdy and the other victim of the tragedy, James Utterly, was notified to give evidence. O'Neil was arrested in Moose Jaw and brought to the city yesterday. It is stated that he will be called at the inquest into the death of James Utterly, which will be held next Tuesday. Conflicting evidence given last night by Mrs. Christina Johnson, the woman who was found in the bed room of one of the murderers, has added to the mystifying nature of the case.

Baby Irene Won't Get Fortune Of $300,000

Appellate Division of Supreme Court Declare That She is Maggie Ryan's Child.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario upheld the decision of Mr. Justice Lennox, of Dec. 9, 1919, that "Baby Irene" is not the heiress to a $300,000 fortune, but is the daughter of a working girl, Mrs. Maggie Ryan, of Ottawa. In a brief oral judgment delivered by Sir Wm. Mulock, it is again decided that Maggie Ryan was the mother of the child and not Mrs. Dolly Matters of Chicago, and as mother, had the right to the custody of the child.

Mrs. Matters was present in Court this morning when her solicitor, R. T. Harding, argued the appeal. Mrs. Ryan was represented by Mr. Fripp, K.C., of Ottawa.

Sir Wm. Mulock referred specifically to the "established fact that Mrs. Matters was trying to give color by various means to the story that she was about to become a mother."

Mr. Harding sought to have new evidence admitted, particularly the affidavits of Winnifred Davies, a nurse who, because of illness was unable to be present at the trial, also affidavits of a man who only learned of the suit through the newspapers. New evidence can only be admitted before an Appellate Court when it is nearly conclusive and on the ground that this evidence was not conclusive, but merely contributory, the Court refused to admit it and dismissed the appeal, saying that the evidence was conflicting, and when a trial judge chose to believe one party it was not for an Appellate Division to upset the judgment.

FAR TOO GENEROUS TO BE AT LARGE

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Henry Bertin, of 50 St. Denis street, appeared in court yesterday morning on a most peculiar charge. He is accused of breaking the window of the confectionery store owned by Joe Rondeau at 328 St. Catherine street and then generously distributing the contents to various passers-by. As this action took place in the morning before the proprietor had arrived, Constable Vezina took it upon himself to interfere with this self-appointed Santa Claus and placed him under arrest. On appearing in court he exclaimed: "I'm a captain of a frigate."

The damage is estimated at $600.

Nation-Wide Strike To Combat Falling Prices

NATIONAL FARMERS UNION OF UNITED STATES REPRESENTING GRAIN, COTTON AND LIVESTOCK INTERESTS ISSUES CALL TO HOLD BACK THIS YEAR'S PRODUCTION FROM MARKET UNTIL PRICES ADVANCE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18.—A nation-wide producers' strike to combat falling prices of farm products was urged in a call sent out today by the National Farmers Union to its local unions throughout the country. Information of the resolution adopted at the national convention of the organization here was forwarded to secretaries of local branches of the organization, which represents producers of grain, cotton, woollen and livestock said to number eight hundred thousand.

The proposed strike was urged in retaliation for what the convention considered the abnormal deflation in prices of farm products through which it was asserted the farmers of the United States have been robbed of one billion dollars in reduced values now on hand. All farmers were urged to hold this years' production from the markets until profit-making levels were restored.

Burglar Escaped From County Jail

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18.—Vincent Strong, known as "Dad," though only 2 years of age, held at the Middlesex County Jail pending his removal to Kingston Penitentiary to serve a three year' term for burglary, climbed over the gate of the jail last evening and has not since been seen.

The county police withheld the report of his escape even from the city police until today in the hope that they would be able to recover the prisoner. Apparently Strong put a lot of distance between London and himself in the interim.

Strong was arrested two weeks ago with his pockets jammed with loot. Many houses in different parts of the city had been robbed, and Detective Harry Down picked him up on the street as a suspect. He admitted several of the crimes with which he was charged.

Cannot Upset Premier Meighen

Pays Notable Tribute to Ability of Government Leader

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 18.—"The maintenance of a protective tariff has been the settled policy of every Government that has held office in Canada," declared Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia and Defence, who spoke at Aylmer from the platform of J. L. Stansell, the National Liberal and Conservative Party candidate in the East Elgin by-election. It was simply a question of degree, he said, and declared that the present Government had effected more reductions than were ever secured under a Liberal regime. Mr. Guthrie paid a high compliment to the new leader, and launched into a scathing denunciation of the wobbling policies of Mackenzie King and defied either the Liberal leader or Mr. Crerar to suggest a substitute for the tariff to meet the present obligations.

"The old Liberal Party is fairly well blasted," he said. "I state that there are more old-line Liberals supporting Mr. Meighen than are supporting Mr. King in the present House of Commons.

"There is nothing Mackenzie King can do and nothing Mr. Crerar can do in the House of Commons to upset Meighen," he said and described the new Premier as "the youngest, ablest, brainiest and most intelligent statesman that has graced the high office of Premier."

VAUDEVILLE AND PHOTOPLAYS

"Old Lady 31" the quaint comedy of simple folk by Rachael Crothers, starring Emma Dunn, will be the feature picture at Griffin's to-night to Saturday with a matinee Saturday. According to the Griffin management, this is a "glad" play that will appeal to every class of picture-goer.

Certain it is that "Old Lady 31" when produced by Lee Kugel on the stage was one of the greatest theatrical successes New York ever saw. It ran for more than a year in the Metropolis, and subsequently for long engagements in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other large cities. It is even now being played "on the road," so great is its charm and popularity.

Emma Dunn who is starred in Metro's picturization of the comedy drama created the leading role of "Angie" Rose on the stage and was specially engaged for stardom on the screen in the same character. Angie is a personality of rare sweetness and nobility, and just the sort of "mother" role that brought fame to Miss Dunn on the stage. Angie is the faithful wife of Captain Abe Rose, a seafaring man whose improvident ways have brought him and his life partner to the verge of poverty. Angie never reproaches Abe, and when their home slips from them, and all their earthly possessions must be sold at auction to raise enough to place Angie in an old Women's home. Abe is planning to go to the poorhouse, but the thought of a parting after so many years together wrings the hearts of the two aged people. At the door of the Old Women's Home they are overcome with emotion. The spinsters and other derelicts take pity on them and agree to install Abe in the home as "Old Lady 31" so that he may be near Angie. He is of course, the only male being in the institution and instantly becomes the centre of feminine admiration and attentions. So long as Abe distributes his favors he gets along all right, but when he is indiscreet enough to make too much fuss over one faded "boarder," the storm breaks about his head. The adventures of Angie and Abe in the home are a source of merriment, with occasional tugs at the heart strings. And the ending of the story is so happy that it brings a feeling of grateful satisfaction.

A Hank Mann comedy, and three other selected plays will also be screened on the same program. "The Bell Ringing Male Quartette" offering a snappy and brilliant program of music and song forms the vaudeville portion of the program.

SLUGGISHNESS

with many people is a common trouble in summer and it is a dangerous one. Sluggishness is due to improper functioning of the organs of elimination, and such improper functioning is frequently responsible for the damming up of the poisons of waste in the body. This gives rise to fevers and others diseases peculiar to summer, which frequently leave a person too weak to combat the severe weather conditions of winter.

A person in perfect health, whose elimination is absolutely up to par, never suffers any condition of lassitude, but has the usual pep and energy necessary to good work and sane living Keep yourself in good form. See that your elimination is up to par. Only nerve pressure can cause it to be otherwise. See your Chiropractor. Have the pressure removed. Nature will do the rest.

NAVAL SEAPLANE IS WRECKED IN STORM

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 17.—Unless they were picked up by a passing lake steamer unequipped with wireless, the three men of the crew of the naval seaplane, HS-2-L, the wreckage of which washed ashore, are believed certain to have perished in the storm that swept Lake Michigan on Thursday night.

Practically all of the parts of the wrecked plane, which were strewn along the shore for four miles near Whitehall, six miles north of here, were gathered together yesterday afternoon, but none of the clothing or personal effects of the members of the crew could be found. Additional patrols from the White Lake Coast Guard Station were sent along the shore last night to watch for the bodies.

If You Keep Hens CUT THIS OUT

1,000 Eggs In Every Hen — Four to Seven Eggs a Week per Hen Through Cold Winter Season. With Eggs at Dollar a Dozen, Means $5.00 Profit per Hen in Next Six Months.
Amazing Poultry Secrets Revealed by

AMERICA'S FOREMOST POULTRY EXPERT

This is an offer no reader of this paper who keeps chickens can afford to ignore. We will tell you why.

Henry Trafford, Famous Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success," has developed a new and remarkable system of rearing, breeding and feeding chickens for heavy egg producton that seems certain to revolutionize the poultry industry and give five eggs or more for every egg produced today. This plan or system is explained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 Egg Hen," a free copy of which will be sent to any person who keeps six hens or more.

Poultry keepers, following Mr. Trafford's directions, learn how to start young pullets laying early; make old hens moult quickly and resume heavy laying during entire winter season. Most any hen will lay in spring when eggs are cheap. Mr. Trafford tells how hens lay four to seven eggs a week during coldest winter days when eggs sell at a dollar a dozen or more. His system shows how any breeder, with ordinary care, may get 1,000 eggs or more from nearly every hen in five years' time at a net profit of $25.0.

There is big money to be made with chickens this winter by the man or woman who gets the eggs. The time to get the hens ready for heavy winter laying is now. Mr. Trafford's "1,000 Egg Hen" system tells how arrangements have been made whereby any reader of this paper may receive one copy absolutely free by using the Coupon below. Send no money, but cut out the Coupon and mail it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, 567P, Tyne Bldg., Binghamton, N.Y., and the story of the 1,000 Egg Hen will be sent you by return mail.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Tarzan understood, though Werper did not. The former glanced at the Belgian and saw that he was unarmed. Stepping quickly to La's side the ape-man seized her in his strong arms and though she fought with all the mad savagery of a demon, he soon disarmed her, handing her long, sacrificial knife to Werper.

"You will need this," he said, and then from each doorway a horde of the monstrous, little men of Opar streamed into the temple.

They were armed with bludgeons and knives, and fortified in their courage by fanatical hate and frenzy. Werper was terrified. Tarzan stood eyeing the foe in proud disdain. Slowly he advanced toward the exit he had chosen to utilize in making his way from the temple. A burly priest barred his way. Behind the first was a score of others. Tarzan swung his heavy spear, clublike, down upon the skull of the priest. The fellow collapsed, his head crushed.

Again and again the weapon fell as Tarzan made his way slowly toward the doorway. Werper pressed close behind, casting backward glances toward the shrieking, dancing mob menacing their rear. He held the sacrificial knife ready to strike whoever might come within its reach; but none came. For a time he wondered that they should so bravely battle with the giant ape-man, yet hesitate to rush upon him, who was relatively so weak. Tarzan had reached the doorway over the corpses of all that had stood to dispute his way before Werper guessed at the reason for his immunity. The priests feared the sacrificial knife! Willingly would they face death and welcome it if it came while they defended their high priestess and her altar; but evidently there were deaths, and deaths. Some strange superstition must surround that polished blade, that no Oparian cared to chance a death thrust from it, yet gladly rushed to the slaughter of the ape-man's flying spear.

Once outside the temple court, Werper communicated his discovery to Tarzan. The ape-man grinned, and let Werper go before him, brandishing the jeweled and holy weapon. Like leaves before a gale the Oparians scattered in all directions and Tarzan and the Belgian found a clear passage through the corridors and chambers of the ancient temple.

On the two went, chance leading them toward the broad avenue which lay between the stately piles of the half-ruined edifices and the inner wall of the city. Great apes jabbered at them and menaced them, but Tarzan answered them after their own kind, giving back taunt for taunt, insult for insult, challenge for challenge.

Werper saw a hairy bull swing down from a broken column and advance, stiff-legged and bristling, toward the naked giant. The yellow fangs were bared, angry snarls and barkings rumbled threateningly through the thick and hanging lips.

The Belgian watched his companion. To his horror, he saw the man stoop until his closed knuckles rested upon the ground as did those of the anthropoid. He saw him circle, stiff-legged, about the circling ape. He heard the same bestial barkings and growlings issue from the human throat that were coming from the mouth of the brute. Had his eyes been closed he could not have known but that two giant apes were bridling for combat.

Saw Him Circle, Stiff-Legged, About the Circling Ape.

OTTAWA ATHLETE DROWNED IN METAGAMI

Sudbury, Ont., Nov. 18.—Charles Fleming, a grandson of Sir Sandford Fleming, was drowned on Metagami Lake near Gogama, 106 miles northwest of Sudbury, on the Canadian National, while crossing the ice. He had been in the employ of W. C. Cochrane, lumberman, in the capacity of clerk since returning from overseas eighteen months ago. It was his duty to cross the lake to Gogami village for the mail and it is presumed that he walked into an air hole or that the ice gave way. The message received in Sudbury merely records the drowning and adds that the body had not yet been recovered. The weather had been quite cold and the snowfall quite heavy in that section. Fleming was prominent in social and athletic circles in Ottawa. Before the war he played with the Ottawa football team and was a member of the Rowing Club crews. He went overseas with the First Contingent and after armistice was signed represented Canada at Henley.

MOVIE PROPRIETORS HELD ON $10,000 BAIL

New York, Nov. 17.—The two proprietors and the doorman of the East Side motion picture house where six children were killed and 12 others injured in a panic, were held on $10,000 bail for a hearing Friday. Early in the day they were arraigned on charges that they had failed to take proper precautions for safety, that an exit door was locked and that they violated the law prohibiting the admittance to theatres of unaccompanied minors. The panic occurred when smoke from a furnace filled the theatre and caused a cry of "fire".

The twelve children injured in the panic were reported still in a serious condition.

TYPICAL FARMERS AS SEEN BY M. P.

Sir Richard Winfrey, a member of the British Parliament who recently visited Canada to investigate settlement conditions, gives to the press of the Old Land the following brief record of four settlers, typical of soldier farmers in Manitoba:

(1) Farming a quarter section (160 acres) of bare prairie land for which $30 per acre had been paid, 90 per cent lent by the Government. This was his first season and he was cultivating half of it. He possessed four horses, purchased with the Government loan for equipment, and has yet to erect his house and buildings; meanwhile he was living with a neighbor.

(2) Also quarter section at $30 per acre. All of it covered with scrub, i.e., a small species of poplar. This man had erected a small house and buildings. Previously he had been twenty years upon the railway. He had only cleared ten acres, which was seeded to wheat. He possessed a Fordson tractor, and was earning money by working for his neighbors. He had a couple of cows and up-to-date dairy utensils. His wife, a town woman with no previous experience.

(3) An Englishman who left Yorkshire fourteen years ago at the age of nineteen. When he first came out to Canada he worked for a farmer at $10 a month and all found. Wages gradually increased to $25 a month, and he added to his savings by buying and re-selling calves. Married just before the war. Has now purchased a half section (320 acres) with house and buildings at $52 per acre. The Government lent him $5,000 for land and $2,090 for stock. He had $10,000 of his own (some of his wife's), all invested in the farm and stock, which consisted of 10 horses, 7 cows, 6 young stock, 24 pigs. Had spent $18,000 on implements and equipment. Last harvest he sold wheat, to the value of $3,800, and grew 22 bushels per acre; oats, 54 bushels per acre. He also grew 45 tons of hay and half an acre of potatoes. He has recently been offered $100 per acre for his holding, which is practically twice the price he gave for it.

(4) A settler whose foot had been injured in the war. Despite his lameness he was ploughing with a team of horses and clearing his land ready for sowing. This, like No. 1, was virgin soil. His wife, a Scotch woman, was helping him in the field. As he had been in possession only a few weeks it was too early to judge, but at any rate he and his wife were content, and were quite sure that they were going to succeed.

TARIFF THE ISSUE IN EAST ELGIN.

The East Elgin bye-election, which takes place on Monday next, is calling out greater evidences of interest as the days go by. Already some of the foremost men of the country have spoken on the Government side, and Mr. Mackenzie King, it is announced, will address the voters before the campaign closes. Any effort to bring about a union of the Liberal and Farmer opposition forces that might have been made was not successful. There are three candidates in the field—John Ross Stansell, farmer, Conservative; William Granville Charlton, teacher, Liberal; and Sidney Smith McDiarmid, farmer, on the U.F.O. ticket. All are local men. While Messrs. Stansell and McDiarmid have an organization of friends to help them, Mr. Charlton is playing a lone hand so far, but will have Mr. King with him before the end. The general impression seems to be that Mr. Stansell will be elected, the opposition to him being divided between two men.

Whatever doubt there may be about the result, there is none about the issues. The London Free Press, the Conservative paper of the district, says: "The paramount issue in the bye-election in East Elgin is the tariff, as indeed it is certain to be in the general elections when they come. That it should be an issue at all is due to the insistence of western grain growers. In that country free trade is a credo, if not a fetish. Very commendably they submerged their views on this question during the war, but immediately the war was over they started a crusade for a sweeping reduction in the tariff. They have bombarded their members with a view to intimidating them into opposition to the Government if it did not meet their wishes. Their threats or persuasions have proved effective in the case of a few western members who were elected to support the Government. The tariff has been an issue in Canada for forty years, and on every occasion in which it became an issue in a general election the party opposed to protection has been defeated, although our revenue necessities in those days were much smaller than they are to-day."

MR BALFOUR'S TREASURE TROVE

Westminster Gazette

Correspondents who say that Milton made the literal acceptance of the Fall, with serpent, apple, and all, the foundation of religious belief in this country ought to visit the Chamber Street Museum in Edinburgh and examine the amazing treasure trove of Roman-Gaulish silver which was recently dug up at Traprain Law, on Mr. Balfour's East Lothian estate. Experts agree that the silver dates from 300 A.D., that it was probably made in northern France and that it must have come to Traprain as the loot of some old Saxon or British corsair—let us say Hengist's great uncle working partnership with King Arthur's immediate forbears. Most of it is the ecclesiastical or the household plate of Christian or priestly families, and one beautiful vessel depicts the Fall of Man in low relief, with Tree and Serpent complete. Apparently the Saxon or British pirate approved of the subject, for the goblet is not cut to pieces and prepared for the melting pot in the same drastic way as most of the trove.

CIVIC AVIATION

London Chronicle

The conference on civil aviation was of importance both for the sake of civil aviation itself, and in the interests of national defence. In his speech at the Guildhall Mr. Churchill laid down the axiomatic principle that it is impossible to organize even the most modest system of secure defence except on the basis of effective local control of the air. That is the first point. The second is that the future of military aviation will depend on the widespread development of civil aviation.

A THRIFT DEFINITION

Thrift Magazine

Mr. S. W. Strauss, president of the American Society for Thrift, defines thrift as folows:

"Laying aside a few dollars each week does not necessarily make one a thrifty person. Thrift means so much more than merely money—it means personal efficiency—it means plans—it means foresight—it means prudence—it means sane and legitimate self-control—it means all that makes for character. It is as much removed from miserliness on the one hand as it is from extravagance on the other. As we build the ideals of thrift, we build character."

POETS' CORNER

CHAUCER'S LONDON

Forget six counties overhung with smoke,
Forget the snorting steam and piston stroke,
Forget the spreading of the hideous town,
Think rather of the pack-horse on the down,
And dream of London, small and white and clean,
The clear Thames bordered by its gardens green;
Think that below bridge the green lapping waves
Smite some few keys that bear Levantine staves
Cut from the yew-wood on the burnt-up hill,
And pointed jars that Greek hands toiled to fill,
And treasured scanty spice from some far sea,
Florence gold cloth, and Ypres napery,
And cloth of Bruges, and hogsheads of Guienne;
While nigh the thronged wharf, Geoffrey Chaucer's pen
Waves over bills of lading.

—William Morris

A LAUGH OR TWO

His Recommendation

The wife of a wealthy man had occasion to call in the help of a new floor-polisher.

Do you understand your business thoroughly?

All I ask, madam, is that you inguire for yourself at my last situation. On the floor of the large drawing room alone five persons broke their limbs during last winter, and a lady slipped down the grand staircase. It was I who polished the floor and the stairs.

The Pace That Kills

Spencer Spurius Spurr was the keeper of a livery stable. He would never allow a horse out of his sight without giving strict instructions to the hirer not to ride fast.

One day a caller asked for a horse to attend a funeral.

Certainly, said Spencer Spurius Spurr; and then, forgetting the solemn purpose for which his customer wanted the horse, he added, as was his wont:

Don't ride fast.

Look here, old man, was the reply from his customer. I would like you to understand that I shall keep up with the procession even if it kills the horse.—Answers.

REDNERVILLE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Our October meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Stafford, with President, Mrs. Wm. Orvis presiding.

Mrs. Stafford's bright, cosy living room looked especially inviting and we are sorry that owing to the busy farm season, so many were unable to attend.

Several matters of business were taken up. Our sixth month financial report was read and it was decided to send no delegate to Toronto Convention, but to invite the Mountain View Institute for our December meeting at Mrs. David Staffords and ask their delegate to favor us with a report.

The special school fair prizes were presented to the winners—a pretty ivory jewel case to Miss Helen Redner and an ivory perfume case to Miss Kathleen Giles.

An outline of our winter work was then discussed and at the close of the meeting a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Stafford, assisted by Mrs. Crosby.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fox. A feature of the program will be a display of inexpensive Xmas. gifts in answer to the roll call.

Everyone interested in our work is given a cordial invitation to attend on November 25th.

COAL BOATS RETURN

The coal barge White Friant towed by the tug Sickem which left here some days ago for Oswego to bring back coal cargoes for the Schuster Co., were buffeted by the storm on the lake and forced to put in for shelter to the cove at the Main Ducks at the easterly entrance of Lake Ontario. Weather conditions not being promising the Sickem and White Friant returned to Trenton without putting into Oswego and have been laid up for the winter by the owner, Robert Weddell. The recent storms on the lake have interfered materially with coal shipments to Belleville and the local stocks are very much lower than is counted upon at this season of the year.

Train Robbers Got $3,500,000

Loss in Hold-up by Bandits at Council Bluffs Will be Big Sum

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Nov. 17—Loss in the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy mail car robbery here last Saturday night will total at least $3,500,000, according to a story published by The Council Bluffs Evening Nonpareil. This according to the newspaper became known today, when additional Post Office officials came to assist local investigators and a check of the insurance on the stolen mail pouches was made. One sack, which was found ripped open, contained $800,000 in Government bonds which were en route from San Francisco to Washington and it was believed that a larger amount than that had been contained in the bag.

Officers made a thorough search but no more sacks were recovered.

Merle Phillips, 20-year-old mail sorter on the train, sticks to his story that he merely stood watch on the locomotive while two others did the actual robbing, but officers assert they are convinced that he is withholding valuable information.

Belleville Lions Are Increasing

Large Attendance of Cubs at The Weekly Luncheon

The weekly noon-day get-together luncheon of the Lions' Club was held at the Hotel Quinte Wednesday and the large attendance and enthusiasm was an evidence that the club is rapidly growing in numbers and progressive spirit. President Bob Gorman occupied the chair and radiated good fellowship and genial humor. Ginger Stewart collected several fines from Cubs inclined to be too formal and thus added to the gaiety of the occasion. Cub Lattimer, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Lions' banquet to be held Friday evening reported that all details were being attended to and prospects indicated to a large attendance and a successful and enjoyable gathering. Hon. Nelson Parliament, speaker of the Ontario Legislature, will be the principal speaker and a number of prominent public men will be present besides leading Lions from Toronto, Oshawa, Hamilton and other places. It will be Ladies' Night and the fair sex will have an opportunity of seeing the Lions at play. Brief addresses were made by Cubs Pratt, Blakeslee, Stafford, Wotten, O'Flynn, Zufelt, Cherry, Deacon and Finkle.

A resolution moved by Cub Chris. Lewis and seconded by Cub Ernie Finkle was adopted endorsing the work of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, particulary emphasizing the successful efforts of the Chamber in arranging for the purchase of the Bay Bridge, and the advocacy of the City Manager system of city government. The resolution also eulogized Mr. Jamieson Bone, President of the Chamber of Commerce for his efforts in behalf of the advancement of the city's interests.

Reference was made to the large sign erected by the Lions' Club on the provincial highway on the outskirts of the city, conveying a welcome from the Lions' Club to all visitors to Belleville.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint, (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping in the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

IN MEMORIAM

In kind and loving memory of Pte. J. S. Hutchinson, No. 412121 who died in Scotland on Nov. 18, 1918.

This day brings back a memory
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him to-day
Are those who loved him best.

His cheery ways, his smiling face,
Are pleasures to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
He died, beloved by all.

An only son, was boyish John,
And we loved him, oh, so well;
But God thought it best to take him
In heaven with Him to dwell,
One sister there dwells with him now
A girl who is mourned by all;
For her gentle voice and sweet kind face,
Are ever in our thoughts.

We think of our dear sister and brother
And our hearts are filled with pain,
Oh this world would be a heaven
Could we hear their voice again;
Just two years ago since brother left us
Seven months then our darling sister too,
How we miss their loving faces,
And in our hearts they'll forever reign,
But they left us to remember none on earth
Could fill their place.

When for a while we part,
This thought will soothe our pain
That we shall still be joined in heart
And one day meet again.

One glorious hope revives,
Our courage by the way
While each in expectation lives
And longs to see that day.
Sadly mourned by mother, Father and Sisters.

Dangerous situation now exists in India.

A. E. Copeland of Midland to be next O. H. A. President.

Sebastopol Fell Sunday Night

Wrangel the Last to Leave After the Evacuation Plans Had Been Carried Out

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 18—Sebastopol fell to the Russian Soviet forces at five o'clock Sunday evening after the evacuation plans had been fully carried out, according to word received here. General Wrangel, it is stated, was the last to leave, going aboard the cruiser Korniloff, cheered by his troops.

Only a few members of General Wrangel's staff managed to make their escape. The staff as a whole, had been virtually wiped out, its members either being killed or taken prisoners.

Propaganda behind Gen. Wrangel's lines had much to do with the collapse on the front. The Bolsheviki spread reports that General Wrangel was a reactionary, and that his success would mean the return of the Czardom and absolute monarchy and distributed pamphlets and booklets to reinforce these statements.

Thirteen thousand refugees have arrived here from Sebastopol, but because of the lack of accommodations in the city, they are still aboard ships moored in the Bosphorus. Several thousand more are due here, and it is understood 30,000 have been permitted to take passage from the Crimean city. It was found impossible to provide ships for the entire population of 80,000. Two thousand wounded men also have arrived.

British And Foreign Bible Society

Bible Printed in All Languages and Placed in Homes of the People

Speaking of the work of the Bible Society in China alone, it is the Pioneer and ally of Missions.

Pioneer of Missions

Because its Colporteures have gone where the Missionaries have not yet had the time to penetrate with the preached word. These men, native and foreign, have gone to the unreached places with the printed word, and put portions of it, or Testaments, into the hands and homes of many of the people, the fruits of which, the missionaries reaped in after years, for the Word of God had found an entrance into those dark and waiting hearts, and they were thus prepared to form the foundation of the churches in their own districts.

Ally of Missions

Because the Society has printed the word in the patois of the common people, in the official tongue of the country in the classical script of the scholar, in the Romanized letters for the illiterate enquirers and christians that they may be speedily able to read the scriptures for themselves, and now the Society is ready to print the word in the new script to reach increasingly larger numbers of the people with the pure and savory word of God.

The Society

It stands behind the missionary in his translation work, ready to produce the word in any form or style, or type most useful to his work, in any part of the field, be it China or Manchuria, Tibet or Mongolia.

What the British and Foreign Bible Society is doing for China, it is doing for missions and missionaries all over the world, until the Scriptures are printed in hundreds of languages, and circulated among all people.

During the war, through the liberality of its supporters the work of the Society went forward. It circulated the word amongst the soldiers of all the warring nations and employed many Colporteurs laid off by sister Societies.

The bible richly deserves the generous support of the churches, and all christian and right-thinking persons that it may be furthered in its noble work of sending out a steady stream of the "Word of Life" among all nations to "the ends of the earth."

It is to be hoped that the citizens of Belleville on "Bible Sunday", Nov. 21st, 1920, will exceed all previous contributions to this worthy cause, for without its work the hands of the missions and missionaries would be tied up.

It is a privilege to be coveted to have a share in this world-wide, and good work.

So writes a China Missionary.

Second Victim Of Gunman Is Dead

P.C. Utterly Dies From the Wounds Received in The Winnipeg Liquor Raid.

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—James Utterly, Provincial Constable, who was shot during the raid at the Stock Yards Hotel last Thursday, when Insepector McCurdy was killed, died at 10-30 this morning.

"John Brown," according to evidence given at the Coroner's inquest last night, was the man who fired the shot that killed Inspector Alex. McCurdy, leader of the Provincial Morality Squad, in the Stock Yards Hotel last Thursday. "John Brown," the police claim, is "James Buller, alias Bullard," known to the police of Western Canada as a notorious confidence man and gunman.

"Curley" O'Neil, an underworld character, arrested at Moose Jaw on Monday, fired the first shot in the attack on the squad, according to the evidence last night. The first bullet fired by O'Neil, according to a statement of James Utterly, one of the constables shot in the raid, read at the inquest, struck Inspector McCurdy in the left arm. McCurdy and Utterly closed with the man and succeeded in taking the gun from him.

Then the other gunman appeared upon the scene and shot Inspector McCurdy, the bullet entering his temple. He then turned the gun on Uttley and shot him twice. Jack Dineen another member of the squad, who was coming to the aid of McCurdy and Utterley met the gunmen in the hall. He was shot in the side, and when he dropped the murderer fired three more shots at him as he lay prostrate, each shot taking effect.

The inquest was adjourned until Wednesday night.

British Labour Delegate Urges Admission Of Germany

GEORGE NICOLL BARNES STATES THAT GREAT MAJORITY OF BRITISH WORKING PEOPLE DEMAND THAT GERMANY AND OTHER ENEMY STATES BE ADMITTED TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS IMMEDIATELY.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

GENEVA, Nov. 19.—The immediate admission of Germany and other former enemy states to the League of Nations was urged before the Assembly of the League today by George Nicoll Barnes of the British delegation. Representing, as he did, the British laboring people, said Mr. Barnes, he knew the great majority of them demanded that all enemy states be admitted without delay. The British delegate recalled the fact that Germany had taken a part already in the deliberations of the International Labor Bureau established by the League "The people of Great Britain whom I represent here," he said, "do not forget that the Central Empires plunged the world into war. They do not forget the misery and devastation caused, but the question now is to rescue the world from ruin and the co-operation of former enemy states is needed." Mr. Barnes, in his speech, which was delivered in the course of a discussion on the report to the Assembly made by the Executive Council of the League, spoke approvingly of the action of the Council on some questions, but criticized its action during the past year while Poland and Soviet Russia were engaged in hostilities.

Trainman Boards Runaway Engine

St. John, N.B. Nov. 18.—A scene seldom witnessed outside a modern movie melodrama was staged in the Fairville railway yards yesterday morning about 12-30 o'clock, when Herbert McFarlane, a brakesman in the employ of the C.P.R. boarded a runaway C.N.R. locomotive and tender and brought it to a stop about one hundreds yards east of the Fairville station. The locomotive, which was running without headlights, and a fair rate of speed, had started from the C.N.R. Island Yards, a distance of about four miles away, and with remarkable luck had found and followed a clear track through the maze of main lines and sidings, all the way to the city. It had followed its course around the Union Station, instead of crashing into it as the chances favored, and made the through trip without accident.

Its good record was nearly broken when, while crossing Mill street, the locomotive missed by a few inches crashing into a motor car which was travelling through the street. The driver was on the railway crossing when he noticed the big bulk unlighted and with no alarm of bell or whistle, rushing down upon him. He stepped on the accelerator and his car jumped forward just in time to avoid the locomotive and to save the driver from probable death. Policemen who witnessed the occurrence hurried to a telephone and notified Fairville Station, and McFarlane went out into the yards, and swinging on board the runaway as it passed, soon brought it to a stop. The engine had a full head of steam, and it is supposed that, while standing in the Island Yard a leaking valve opened the throttle somewhat and started the engine.

Will Investigate Woman's Death

Inquest Opened on Remains Found in Home and Husband Is Under Arrest

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 18.—An inquest was opened last night at Kaladar into the death of Mrs. James Young, who was burned to death in her home near Kaladar two weeks ago and whose husband, James Young, was arrested following examination of his wife's skeleton.

Young, who is about 65 years of age was arrested by Inspector Stringer of the provincial police force on a nominal charge of vagrancy. Sensational developments are expected.

The Young farmhouse was situated about three miles from Kaladar and was destroyed by fire in the middle of the afternoon of November 3. Young was visiting the home of a neighbor that afternoon, and his story was that on returning about 6 p.m. he found the charred bones of his wife in the ruins of his home.

DEER LEAPS IN FRONT OF AUTO AND IS SLAIN

Hammonton, N.J., Nov. 19.—Russell Johnson, of Rosedale, was driving through Folsom swamp near here when a large buck deer, apparently frightened by the lights of another automobile, jumped in front of his machine and was killed. The deer's horns were broken off by the impact, and the radiator of Mr. Johnson's car was badly smashed.

Biggs Says Roads Built To Endure

Sees Big Returns From United States Tourist Traffic

Toronto. Nov. 19.—Urging the Toronto board of Trade to adopt the slogan "Good roads not an expenditure but an investment," Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works for Ontario, gave the members of the board a review of the work on the provincial highways so far completed, and outlined the Government's big program of work yet to be done. "We want to build roads in Ontario," said Hon. Mr. Biggs, "not for 1920 or 1921, but roads that will be in existence as long as Ontario is a Province.."

The aim of the Drury Government was to bring the rural and urban sections of the province into closer touch and harmony with each other, Mr. Biggs said, and a system of good roads, linking the town and country would go far towards accomplishing this. Mr. Biggs said he believed that if money were spent freely in the development of a system of good roads, American tourist traffic would be attracted to Ontario, and the money would be paid back in five years.

Aftermath Of Wood Alcohol Death

Undertaker is Found Guilty of Causing 100 Deaths

New York, Nov. 19.—A jury of Brooklyn Supreme Court took less than an hour to find John Romanelli, Brooklyn undertaker, guilty of grand larceny in the first degree, in connection with the theft of 1,000 gallons of alcohol, which was colored and sold as whiskey last Christmas in various New England States and resulted in the deaths of about 100 persons. Several others were blinded by drinking the concoctions in which the wood-alcohol had been mixed. Romanelli showed no emotion as the foreman pronounced the verdict. He will be sentenced by Justice Kapper on Monday.

LONELY VIGIL WITH HIS DEAD WIFE

Midland, Ont., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Alfred H. Griffith, wife of the keeper of the lighthouse at the Giant's Tomb, died last Friday night. Owing to heavy weather, it was not until last night that her husband succeeded in reaching any person on the mainland. In the meatime, he was about 12 miles from any human being, though he saw an occasional freight boat pass in the distance.

On reaching Midland, a party was organized and returned over the storm-swept lake to the lonely rock where Mr. and Mrs. Griffith kept the lights for 22 seasons.

The island, or rock, known as the Giant's Tomb, upon which Mr. Griffith was left for three days and three nights with the body of his wife, is one of the most conspicuous in the waters of the Georgian Bay. Around it a great deal of Indian lore exists. In the early days Indians avoided camping on that island over night for fear of disturbing a famous chieftain's rest. The impression as of a huge body in the solid rock gave the island its name and the Giant's Tomb is known to every sailor on the Great Lakes, and is visited every summer by hundreds of Canadians and tourists from the United States.

No Winter Doles For Unemployed

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Whatever Federal methods are devised during the coming winter months to cope with the unemployment situation, which threatens to be acute in the urban centres, they will be adopted without particular regard for the returned soldier, apart from the care of seriously disabled men, which will be continued under the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment for some time yet. The returned soldier in future will have to find for himself and is looked upon as having been absorbed into the civilian class. Any means which are devised by the Federal authorities to deal with the unemployment situation will have regard for the unemployed as a whole and without distinction.

The "doles" provided for to help unemployed returned men over last winter expired in March last, for single men, and in April for married men. Under the provisions of the appropriation only about $10,000,000 was disbursed, employment having been found for the majority of needy men within a brief period of the receipt of the first financial assistance. In fact it cannot be said that fears of abuse of the assistance were realized.

There is now no Parliamentary provision for a continuation of the 'doles' during the coming winter and the machinery for handling them has been pretty well scrapped. During the past summer, it is stated, there were few cases of unemployment among the returned men. Unemployment is now largely a Provincial matter. The Federal authorities, however, undertake to pay half the cost of the upkeep of Provincial labor bureau while the Labor department assists in the compilation of statistics showing at what particular points and in what particular industries employment is required.

Premier Meighen in his western trip has declared unequivocally that there will be no further cash gratuities. In the case of a serious emergency condition of unemployment arising the Federal authorities may be compelled to take certain emergency measures to cope with it.

Burns' Beloved Highland Mary

GREENOCK Scotland Nov. 19—The ashes of Burns' Highland Mary were reinterred in Greenock cemetery Saturday. Mary Campbell, the Highland girl whom the poet loved, was buried in Greenock old West Kirk burying ground, but the old church is being removed and the burying ground taken in as part of large extensions which the well-known firm of Harland & Wolff are making to their shipyard on the lower reaches of the Clyde.

Accordingly the remains of Burns' sweetheart were reverently exhumed and in the presence of a large assembly, which included representatives from Burns' clubs throughout Scotland, the reburial took place. The coffin was carried to the grave on the shoulders of members of Burns' clubs and an impressive service was conducted.

The love of Burns for Highland Mary was the deepest emotion in the poet's life. She inspired his sweetest and saddest song, "To Mary in Heaven." Mary Campbell was born at Campbelton in Argyllshire. Burns met her when she was a dairymaid in the service of Colonel Montgomery of Colisfield, Ayrshire. They fell deeply in love with each other and became engaged to be married. It was arranged that Mary should return to her home to prepare for the union, but before parting they met on the banks of the Ayr and solemnly plighted their troth. Standing on either side of the little stream and holding a Bible between them, they exchanged vows of eternal fidelity. Mary presented the poet with her Bible and he gave his in exchange.

The lovers never met again, Mary after spending some time at home paid a visit to her uncle, Peter Macpherson ship carpenter in Greenock. There while nursing her brother, she contracted a fever and died in October 1786.

VETERAN CIVIL SERVANTS TO BE SUPERANNUATED

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Seventy employees of the Ontario Government are to be superannuated next month, all having reached 70 years of age. The Superannuation Board will meet to consider their cases on November 24. Mr. A. H. Sydere, Clerk of the House, will remain for this coming session to instruct his successor in the duties. He is anxious to retire after over half a century of service. Col. J. M. Delamere, Assistant to the Clerk of the House, is also scheduled to retire next month.

Interesting Case For Privy Council

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—News of the discovery of an oasis in the western desert in the form of the Hudson Bay charter, with privilege in perpetuity of making and selling liquor is discovered here. 'There is no question that the "Company of Adventurers," better known as the Hudson Bay Company, had a wide open charter under the common law of England giving it authority to do practically whatever it pleased.

The charter, however, was somewhat modified before Manitoba entered confederation, and the question of what are the present rights is a matter of legal dispute.

When Manitoba went dry the company asserted its charter rights, but under protest, closed its liquor store in Winnipeg. It now applies to the Dominion government for authority to transport liquor in limited quantities for use by its men at the various posts but it has operated a store at Kenora for expert to other provinces.

The understanding here is that the dispute as to the practically perpetual rights of the company under its ancient charter and the authority of the provinces under the agreement of much later date, "is to go to the court of last resort—the Privy Council—for final adjudication.

Aeroplane Bomb Drops In Crowded Church

Many Civilians Killed In Air Attacks On Lithuanian Towns By Poles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—According to a despatch received by the Lithuanian Legation the city of Kovno was subjected to a severe bombing raid Sunday by Polish troops in which many unarmed citizens including women and children were killed.

The despatch said that while services were being held Sunday morning at a large Catholic church in the town of Wilkemir, a Polish bomb from an airplane was dropped through the roof and exploded among the kneeling congregation, killing and wounding many. The bombing of Wilkemir, the despatch said, began about 11 o'clock in the morning, totally without warning to the peaceful inhabitants.

Kovno is the provisional capital of Lithuania. Wilkemir is approximately fifty miles northeast of Kovno.

The legation has information that a commission from the League of Nations, in session at Geneva, arrived in Kovno this morning and urged the Poles to cease hostilities at once, pending a discussion of the differences between Poland and Lithuania by the League. The President of the commission stated that the war between Poland and Lithuania would be taken up at once by the Geneva conference.

To Open Graves Of Nameless Heroes

France Planning to Reduce List of 400,000 Unidentified Soldiers Who Fell

PARIS, Nov. 19.—France's difficulty in selecting the body of the unknown soldier who was honored as the symbol of French patriotism and buried under the Arc de Triomphe Thursday may result in every grave not bearing a name being opened in the hope of reducing the list of 400,000 nameless heroes whose families are sorrowing because they do not know where they are buried. It has just become known that several graves were opened in Douamont, on the Verdun battlefield, before a real "unidentified" French soldier was found.

Andre Maginot, Minister of Pensions, is willing to undertake to open these unidentified graves, but to do so he says he will need 200,000 francs.

Military authorities here admit there may have been some laxity in all the armies—even the American—in identifying bodies of the fallen too much attention having been paid to whether the body bore the regulation identification discs, plaques and cards. If these were not found, a hasty search was made of the pockets of the fallen and the contents were sent to the War Office for classification. However if nothing bearing a name was found, invariably the body was classed as unknown and buried beneath a simple cross.

As a result of this system the graves service headquarters here has a remarkable collection of photographs, knives purses and trinkets which may lead to the identification of many bodies if relatives of soldiers who have not been accounted for approach the matter systematically.

New Yorkers Resent Insults To Flag

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—Protests against insults offered the Union Jack by Sinn Fein sympathizers here continue to appear in the correspondence columns of the local papers. Every day letters from United States citizens appear in the leading papers strongly condemning the tactics of the followers of De Valera, and the frequency of the protests of late would appear to indicate the majority of New Yorkers are becoming weary of the Sinn Feiners' attempts to satisfy what one writer terms their "one-half-of-one-per-cent. politics" by burning the British emblem.

One writer offers the suggestion that those who take delight in burning the Union Jack should go to Canada and attempt to do it there. "Why don't they go to Canada and amuse themselves?" he asks. "There ought to be plenty of British flags there to burn and, besides, there are thousands of returned Canadian soldiers who could probably entertain them. The Government ought to revoke their citizenship and deport them along with other trouble-makers."

Another letter, signed by a woman named Kelly remarks that what with the burning of flags and the hostility shown Red Cross workers in "little old New York" one cannot help wondering "if the Irish cause is being exploited with the same incongruity in the old country."

Still another letter expressing indignation at frequent insults to the Union Jack says: "That flag on the seas during the war protected these shores from the Hun. That flag was everywhere in the thickest of the fight. Let us give honor where honor is due."

British Cabinet Receives Warning

COPENHAGEN Nov. 19—M. Tchitcherin, the Russian Soviet Foreign Minister has sent to Earl Curzon, the British Secretary of Foreign Affairs a wireless message in which he says that participation of the British fleet in the evacuation of General Wrangel in the Crimea would constitute a hostile act towards the Soviet and a violation of the assurances that Great Britain gave to the Moscow Government.

Former Empress Is Very Ill

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 19.—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany, who yesterday suffered another severe heart attack, appeared last night to be in a more serious condition than officials at Doorn Castle would admit. All her sons and daughters were notified of her illness and are expected today. Prince Henry, of Prussia, brother of the former Emperor, may also arrive today. The greatest depression prevails at Doorn Castle. Dr. Heyman Vandenberg, heart specialist, examined the former Empress yesterday and said her condition was dangerous. She may, however, linger for many weeks. A bulletin issued at Doorn Castle this morning stated that the former Empress had passed a good night.

EAT BROWN BREAD TO PREVENT NEURITIS

Dr. Hargraves, a distinguished Australian chemist, declared at a conference of master bakers that the nations which eat white bread were getting close to the border line of neuritis. He advocated brown bread, saying that modern science demanded that wheat should be milled whole.

He said that, undoubtedly, campaigns in favor of whole meal bread will be shortly launched in the United States and England and it behooved Australia to take prompt action.

The members of the conference agreed with the doctor's observations but said that Australians, with the exception of cranks and dyspeptics, refused to eat brown bread.

CROWN JEWEL BASE IMITATION

Sir George Young, husband keeper of the Jewel House at the Tower of London, has just revealed the fact that one of the British crown jewels, of which he is custodian, is an imitation. The stone was believed to be a magnificent aquamarine but proved on examination to be only a piece of colored glass. It figured first in the crown of King James II. The mystery of when the imitation was substituted for the real stone has not been solved.

Pension Checks Issued Good News For Mothers

INITIAL STEP IN GREAT UNDERTAKING—NOT CHARITY—INVESTMENT FOR GOOD CITIZENSHIP—MOTHERS ON THE PAY ROLL.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The first checks under the provisions of the Mothers' Allowances Act were issued yesterday afternoon from the Provincial Treasury. Checks were sent to Hamilton, Guelph, Kingston, London, Owen Sound and Woodstock. It is the initial step in a great undertaking, and will put hundreds of mothers on the pay roll of the Province to receive monthly checks. The mothers are in the same position as a civil servant of the Province, and exactly on the same plane as any official of the Government. The Mothers' Allowance is not a charity. It is simply the paying of the mother by the State and municipality to adequately care for her children, in order that they may be reared up for strong citizenship.

Toronto mothers are also to be paid at once their allowances, being on the second list of applications approved by the Mothers' Allowances Commission. The second list includes mothers in Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston, London, Ottawa, Owen Sound, Oxford County, Port Arthur, Timiskaming district, including Cobalt and New Liskeard, Windsor, Woodstock, York County and Toronto. Mothers in this city alone who will receive allowances total several hundred.

The Provincial Commission is meeting almost daily, passing upon applications and forwarding them to the Provincial Treasury for the issue of checks. Everything possible is being done to expedite the handling of the applications and the prompt issuing of the checks.

The Mothers' Allowances Act was passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Fake Missionary Gets Year For Fraud

Visited Belleville, Picton and Other Places in This Vicinity

Barrie, Nov. 19.—On June 23 last a despatch from Powassan appeared in The Globe, stating that a man representing himself as a Presbyterian missionary had been gathering in a lot of money from people in that part of the country. It is thought that the man referred to may have been James Bryce Gray, who has just been sentenced by Judge Vance to one year at Burwash for fraud. Arrested near Penetang, he was charged with fraudulently obtaining money by representing that he was collecting for missionary or charitable purposes. Evidence went to show that he had said to different people that he was collecting for the poor, the crippled, hospitals and for missionary work in Northern Ontario. Two hundred and sixty-five dollars was found on him when arrested, and a witness swore to seeing him with a big roll of bills at Hamilton some weeks ago after he had been collecting around Burlington.

Gray carried with him a statement sworn in Ottawa in March, 1919. To this was attached his photograph. In brief, the statement said: Born in Lesmahagow, Scotland, took arts course in Glasgow University, came to Canada 25 years ago, when 18 years of age; spent 10 years at farming and general missionary work; was graduate from S. A. Training college, Toronto; spent a year taking French-English course at McGill College; since then an independent missionary in Minnesota, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Ontario.

"While doing missionary work in Ontario," the statement said, "I provided for my own expenses solely through collections obtained by me and it is my intention to continue to work independently and to keep as my own all monies collected by me. My work is purely religious and all monies received by me are applied for the purpose of my work."

Upon the strength of this document he pleaded that there was no misrepresentation. None of the witnesses, however, saw this statement.

Asked for particulars of his missionary efforts and of where he had spent the money for charitable purposes, he was very vague, giving only a few instances. On the other hand his account book showed that he had stayed at the best hotels in Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Picton and Lindsay. At one time he was an officer of the Salvation Army but was compelled to resign in 1913. It was shown that he was not a minister or missionary of the Presbyterian church.

Hon. Justice Britton Died At Toronto

He was born in Gananoque in 1833 and received his education there and at Victoria University. He was called to the Bar in 1859 commencing his practice in Kingston, holding many important positions there. He was at one time Crown Attorney for Frontenac County and came to Toronto as Judge of the Supreme Court in 1901. Six daughters and a son, Arthur H. Britton, survive him.

Six Months In Jail For Col. Malone

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

London, Nov. 19.—Lieut.-Col. Lestrange Malone, Liberal member of the House of Commons, who was arrested in Dublin, November 10 for alleged seditious utterances, was to-day sentenced to six months imprisonment. There were loud cries of "shame" from Malone sympathizers in court when the sentence was pronounced. Two surety bonds of thousand pounds sterling each were demanded pending appeal from the judgment of the court prior to his sentence Malone declared through his attorney that he withdrew nothing and apologized for nothing in his Albert Hall speech and was willing to stand trial. The case has caused a sensation in England, because of Malone's position as a member of the Hous of Commons and his notable war record.

FOUNDATION STONE

"In the faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate this Foundation Stone," were the words of the simple and impressive dedicatory service at the laying of the Foundation Stone of St. Philip's church, Milford, Sunday afternoon November 14th when the stone was laid by the Right Rev. E. J. Bidwell, D.D. Bishop of Ontario. The Bishop was assisted by the rector and the Rev. F. Louis Barber, rector of Picton. The occasion was marked by a very large congregation and a very instructive address. The Bishop congratulated the members of St. Philip's church and made special reference to the good work carried on by the church and the united spirit that prevails amongst the people. The Foundation Stone is Italian granite, the gift of W. A. Jones, Picton. Builders, Walsh and Shaw Bros. Picton, great praise is due to them for their excellent workmanship.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE

A most delightful and well patronized dance was given last evening under the auspices of St. Michael's Athletic Association and was held in Bennett's Academy, Front street. The music, which was splendid and much appreciated by all present, was furnished by F. Cousins' six-piece orchestra of Toronto. The program of dances was varied, an extra taking the form of a Vocal solo by Hr. Harold Barrett was thoroughly enjoyed. At midnight a dainty and refreshing luncheon was served to which all present did ample justice; the stewards being members of the Association. Dancing was then resumed and continued into the early hours of this morning.

The officers of S.M.A.A. namely: Dr. Daly, president; P. Drumm, vice-president; F. M. Barrett, treasurer; and A. C. Meagher secretary, deserve the highest praise for the capable way in which their various duties were carried out.

FIRE IN DENTAL OFFICE

The prompt action of Police Constable White, about 7 o'clock last evening prevented what might have been a disastrous fire. The officer was at the south east corner of Front and Bridge streets near the Standard Bank when he noticed a flame in Dr. Wilson's dental room above the Merchants Bank. Without waiting to give an alarm, Officer White ran across the street and up the stairs to the office, which was locked up. He forced open the door and with a couple of pails of water extinguished the blaze. In the meantime an alarm had been sounded and the fire brigade responded, but fortunately their services were not required. It appears that a small gas stove had been left lit and some wax or other substance used in dental work boiled over, causing the blaze. The damage sustained was slight. Had the fire gained a headway it would have been serious, as apartments above are occupied by several persons. The action of Officer White was most commendable.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Fred Wood and Bert Leaf who were on a construction gang doing railway work were this morning before Magistrate Masson charged with theft. As the Crown was not ready to proceed an adjournment until the 26th inst. was granted. In the meantime the accused will have to remain in jail if they are unable to furnish the necessary bail.

Comedy And Pathos In Old Women's Home

Abe and Angie Seek Safe Harbor in Old Women's Home— Abe is "Old Lady 31"

Unqualified praise for a performance of rare sweetness and charm was the verdict of the large audience that last night witnessed "Old Lady 31," the Metro screen production starring Emma Dunn, which was shown as the feature attraction at Griffin's.

In "Old Lady 31," which was adapted from Rachael Crother's celebrated stage play, Miss Dunn gives her thoroughly delightful impersonation of "Angie" Ross, the wife of the improvident seafaring man, Abe Ross. Playing this part on the stage during the year's run of the piece in New York, Miss Dunn added new laurels to her fame as America's premier exponent of sweet "mother" parts.

The story of "Old Lady 31" which relates the experience of Abe and Angie in an old women's Home—he as 'Old Lady 31"—is replete with charm and an abundance of comedy touches. There is many a heart throb in the narrative also, especially when Angie and Abe bid farewell to their old dwelling, and its honeysuckle vines, and Angie hesitates to pick a few flowers, asking if she still has the right, now that the house is to be sold over their heads.

The antics of the quaint characters in the Old Women's Home are delicious and provoked gales of merriment. Henry Harmon scored a success as Abe. He played the same role on the stage.

The many followers of the Ruth Roland serial "The Adventures of Ruth" which has been shown at the Palace Theatre every Thursday to Saturday will be pleased to learn that it is to be shown every week end at Griffin's. It formed part of the program last night and is being shown along with other interesting plays. "The Bell Ringing Male Quartet," a singing and musical act is the vaudeville offering this week end, and proved an entertaining turn.

7 Jewels

MEET Ingersoll Reliance—the seven jewelled star time-reporter of the Ingersoll Watches.

Smart as they make 'em, aristocratic in appearance, slim, suave and distinguished—but a regular fellow.

And he sure keeps regular time!

Reliance has been trained that way. Before he leaves the Ingersoll factory he is tested to tell time correctly in six different positions—two days in each.

But you don't know the half of it, yet. Reliance is given 127 other inspections to see that his seven jewelled, bridge-type works function perfectly.

Those works contain the best features of 362 different watches which were studied in constructing Reliance—yet Reliance has 29 less parts than the average watch.

Simplicity, accuracy, sturdiness and beauty make the Reliance a watch anyone can be proud to carry.

Yet the price is but $9.25 in nickel case. $14.50 in gold-filled.

Women of Canada Testify

Dacre, Ont.:—"I am more than pleased with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and so nervous that I could not even stay in the house alone in the day-time and tried every kind of medicine I heard of but got no result. One of my friends advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription,' said that it would cure me, and it did. After taking four bottles I felt like a new woman and it is also the very best medicine for a woman bringing up a family. I will recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to any one suffering like I did."—MRS. JOSEPH BEAUDRY, R. R. 2.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription an excellent medicine for the ailments of women. I had become very weak and nervous. I was just miserable when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and it proved most beneficial. It so completely restored me to health that I have never had any return of this ailment. I do advise the use of 'Favorite Prescription' by women who suffer with womanly trouble."—MRS. GEO. WALKER, P. O. Box 90.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his medicines. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

Train Crew Blameless For Dr. Moore's Death

Verdict of Jury at Coroner's Inquest—No Blame Attached to Anyone

We the jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Dr. John Moore, of Shannonville, do hereby find after hearing the evidence that he came to his death on the 12th day of November, 1920 in the Township of Thurlow, County of Hastings by being struck whilst riding in his automobile by a G.T.R. train No. 29 at railway crossing on the Point Ann road, and we find that the train crew exercised all proper precaution.

Such was the verdict rendered last evening by the coroner's jury enquiring into the accident of Friday last when Dr. John Moore of Shannonville, was fatally injured at a C.N.R. level crossing. Dr. Yeomans, coroner presided over the proceedings and the examination of witnesses was conducted by Mr. Carnew, county attorney.

Everett Smith testified that he was driving a truck from Point Ann to Belleville the morning of the accident. He was approaching the C.N.R. crossing on the Point Ann road when he saw a train approaching from the east. He heard the whistle blow. A car was about half way across the track when the train struck it. The top of the car was up. Witness made an effort to signal the driver of the car but evidently he did not see the signal. When approaching the crossing the driver of the car did not apparently make any attempt to stop. There is quite a rock cut at that place. The car was carried some distance west of the crossing. Witness knew Dr. Moore and saw him lying in the ditch after the accident. The crossing was a rather dangerous one going into Point Ann.

Engineer Barlow

Jesse W. Barlow testified that he was a G.T.R. engineer and was operating engine No. 200, train No. 29, from Kingston to Toronto. The passenger train consisted of seven cars, and was running on schedule time. The last stop was at Thurlow station about a mile east of where the accident occurred. Percy Welsh was his fireman. On leaving Thurlow station the bell was started ringing on the engine and continued to ring until after the train passed over the crossing where the car was stopped. Witness saw the truck south of the track stop and he also saw the car going south and also saw that it was slowing up as the crossing was being approached, and thought the driver was in the act of stopping the car. The next he saw was the can withing 10 or 12 feet of the crossing and he knew it was impossible to avert an accident. Witness threw himself on the throttle and emergency brake. The engine was only a few feet from the crossing when the car was on the crossing and appeared to be almost stopped. The occupant of the car had a fur coat on. The next thing he saw the car pile up on the pilot. The fireman asked what was the matter and witness replied. "We have struck a car." The car was broken in two and Dr. Moore fell from the rear part of the car. Just before the engine stopped witness jumped off and was the first to reach the doctor, whom he did not know. At the whistling board east of the crossing he gave the usual signal by whistling and the bell was ringing. Witness did everything it was possible to do under the circumstances.

Percy Welsh testified that he was fireman with engineer Barlow. The bell was ringing and Mr. Barlow sounded the whistle. Witness saw the truck south of the track and was looking at it when the car was struck. Witness did not know a car was struck until he was informed so by Mr. Barlow. The engine was in perfect working order.

Dr. Tennant

Dr. Tennant testified that he knew the late Dr. Moore who was in witnesses' office a few days before the accident as he was waiting for his car to be repaired at Greenleaf's. Witness saw Dr. Moore at the hospital after the accident and he lived but a few minutes after being admitted. The crossing where the accident occurred was a dangerous one approaching from the north. A train approaching from the east is difficult to be seen.

Conductor Farrell

Thomas Farrell testified that he was conductor of train No. 29 the day of the accident. It was a G.T.R. train operating over a portion of the C.N.R. track It was an up-to-date train in every respect. The first intimation he had of anything wrong was the application of the brakes. The victim of the accident was placed on the train and taken to the hospital. Dr. Moore was unconscious all the time.

Frank Bateman, brakeman on train John Anderson, expressman on the train. Charles Hood baggageman corroborated the evidence given by other members of the train crew.

This completed the evidence and coroner Yeomans reviewed same. The accident was a deplorable one as Dr. Moore was a physician who was universally esteemed.

Mr. Carnew being asked by the coroner to say a few words said the law governing the operating of trains is a Dominion one. At a distance of 80 rods on either side of a crossing a whistling board is placed and it is imperitive that the engine whistle be blown and the bell kept ringing. A duty is cast upon the driver of a vehicle in approaching a railway crossing to exercise caution. He knew the late Dr. Moore for many years and he was a most careful man. It was a most unfortunate accident. The operation of the train seemed to be in perfect order.

The jury then retired and were not long in finding the verdict above recorded.

Gas In The Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of Magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

For Stomach Trouble

If you have anything wrong with your digestive powers, then make them strong and healthy by taking Vital Tablets, the great French remedy. Don't neglect yourself, Vital will fix you. MILLIONS FACING STARVATION IN CHINA.

Everyone fortunate enough to have a sufficiency of this world's goods and a surplus has a great responsibility these days of famine and disease in distant lands. The desire to do good is strong in every good citizen and there is no difficulty at the present time in finding opportunities for doing good deeds with the full knowledge that no mistake has been made.

Famine and disease are spreading suffering, sorrow and death throughout Europe and Asia and various agencies are appealing for funds to aid in the relief of suffering millions.

Millions face starvation in China through failure of crops. If Christianity and civilization mean anything at all it is the bounden duty of the people of Christian nations to send food to the starving in China, and it is gratifying to note that the response thus far has been encouraging.

There have been many demands upon the public for funds for various objects and many people, in justice to themselves and their families can not make contributions, for with many families apparently prosperous it has been a struggle to break even under the conditions which have existed. Others, however, have a surplus which can be devoted to doing good and these people so fortunately placed should acquaint themselves with present world conditions, and apply their surplus money where it will do the most good.

Financial drives have apparently lost their punch, and the direct human appeal is now being made through the advertising pages of the newspapers for voluntary contributions to worthy objects

WOMEN FLOCK TO HEAR PREMIER MEIGHEN.

"It will not take long to annihilate the mass of misrepresentation that men with nothing better to do have been scattering abroad for years."

This is the pithy impression of the Prime Minister as expressed at the conclusion of the Western tour. He has spoken to well over one hundred thousand people at these meetings, and has been impressed with the obvious desire on the part of the electors to learn the facts regarding the Government's policy as well as their wish to understand what has been occurring in the last three years. In the big cities, like Winnipeg, Vancouver, Calgary and Regina, the audiences have been representative of every class in the community, while in the smaller cities on the prairies and in the agricultural districts people have driven in scores of miles in order to listen to his addresses.

To Calgary belongs the honor of providing the largest audience, while Holland was the smallest place visited. Overflow meetings were held in Vancouver, Victoria, Edmonton and Brandon, and at every place there were hundreds turned away owing to lack of accommodation for them in the meeting place.

The attendance of the women voters at the meetings has been most marked, and the close interest with which they followed the arguments of the speakers is regarded by competent observers as one of the most hopeful signs of the times.

A striking feature of the Prime Minister's Western trip was the number of Liberals of national prominence who appeared on his platforms, having identified themselves with the National party.

BRITISH EX-SERVICE MEN LOOK TO CANADA.

The British overseas settlement committee, according to advices from London, has received nearly 50,000 applications from ex-service men and women for emigration to all parts of the Empire. About one-fifth of the applicants are women who intend to take up domestic or land work. Most of the men desire to go on farms. Canada is the favorite dominion. Between 6,000 and 7,000 applicants express a preference for this country, while Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are next in order of population. With dependents the total involved is well over 100,000 persons. The lists for ex-service men close December 31 and applications are now pouring in at the rate of 1,000 a week.

CRISP COMMENT

A Toronto boy of thirteen is preaching special evangelistic sermons in Montreal, and the Gazette said he spoke for nearly an hour without a paragraph, period or comma. Another case of out of the mouths of babes.

Gen. Sir Arthur Currie is no piker. He has been president of McGill College but a short time and is already in the thick of a campaign to raise five million dollars more for Old McGill, and he is getting the mazuma in large chunks, which shows that whether after the Hun or after the Mon' the big chief takes all objectives.

Hal B. Donly, editor of the Simcoe Reformer, has been made the subject of a personal attack by a Woodstock minister in the course of a sermon. What the clergyman is reported to have said is untrue, but even if there had been any shadow of truth in the attack upon Hal Donly's character the pulpit is a strange place for the utterance of unkind, uncharitable and un-Christian charges.

Sir Thomas White's parliamentary seat in Brockville seems to be in demand. Since Sir Thomas accepted a position on the Government G. T. R. arbitration board there has been a chorus of "Get up, Tom, and let Jack sit down" from various interested sources. However, it is a safe bet that a large majority of the electors of the constituency of Leeds prefer being represented by Sir Thomas White at Ottawa, even if he cannot give his entire time to the job. By-elections are neither pleasant nor profitable, and there is no doubt but that Sir Thomas White will do his whole duty by the constituency which elected him, even to resigning if that be necessary.

It is to be noticed that the B. C. Veterans' Weekly says: "Now that Premier Meighen has placed himself and the Government on record in a clear manner on the subject of further gratuities, the veterans of Canada would appreciate an equally straightforward statement from the Hon. W. Mackenzie King. The latter was somewhat vague upon the subject when in British Columbia."

OTHER VIEWS

SIMPLE JUSTICE

Regina Post

Sir William Meredith, chief justice of Ontario, thinks the Crown should pay costs when a person is charged with a criminal offense and honorably acquitted. It is not a novel idea, but it is novel to find it put forth by a chief justice. It ought to be the practice, since it is simple justice.

WORKERS AND WORK

Calgary Herald

It is not true that Canada does not furnish enough employment for all its people. There is plenty of work in this country. If people leave to find work elsewhere it is because they are too particular as to what they work at.

ONLY IN LONDON

Westminster Gazette

Englishmen may feel pride in that tolerance which makes such a funeral procession at that of the Lord Mayor of Cark possible. There is no reason to be Pecksniffian about the incident, but in no other capital in the world could a funeral pass through the streets under a rebel flag, with the body guarded by men in rebel uniforms, and receive every mark of respect. The Government did rightly in allowing the procession, and it estimated well the spirit that the London crowd would show—a spirit of reverence and even of sympathy. If the original idea of the procession in the Irish mind was defiance, that feeling must have faded away before the lifted hats of the spectators. It was not that in the presence of death animosities were hushed, but that the Englishman feels no gulf fixed between the Irishman and himself. He declines to regard the Irish as enemies or to take seriously the defiance that was intended. How the atmosphere changes with the crossing of the Irish Channel is seen in the refusal to allow the body to be landed in Dublin, but even so the proffer of a special steamer to go direct to Cork carrying the body of one who has died as a rebel against the Government is a fine gesture.

POETS' CORNER

OLD FRIENDS

We just shake hands at meeting
With many that come nigh,
We nod the head in greeting
To many that go by.
But we welcome through the gateway
Our few old friends and true;
Then our hearts leap up and straight way
There's open house for you,
Old friends,
Wide-open house for you.

The surface will be sparkling
Let but a sunbeam shine,
But in the deep lies darkling
The true life of the wine.
The froth is for the many,
The wine is for the few;
Unseen, untouched of any,
We keep the best for you,
Old friends,
The very best for you.

"The many" cannot know us,
They only pace the strand
Where at our worst we show us,
The waters thick with sand;
But out beyond the leaping
Dim surge 'tis clear and blue,
And there, old friends, we're keeping
A waiting calm for you,
Old friends,
A sacred calm for you.

Didn't Recognise It

Unless you're a millionaire, said Frederick Palmer, the war correspondent, you must expect on a European trip to undergo considerable privation.

A man and his wife were doing the battle front last month. They dropped in a Chauteau-Thierry restaurant for a 25-franc table d'hote dinner.

They got settled in their chairs and the man growled.

I must have my plate changed. It's quite damp.

Hush, dear, said his wife, in a low voice. That's your soup.—Washington Star.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The handling of the apple crop has been unsatisfactory in many parts of the Province. Some representatives assert that a large quantity of this fruit will not even be picked. However, the canneries and evaporators are tuned up to the limit.

Speaking of the difficulties confronting growers in the matter of gathering and shipping apples, the Prince Edward Co., representative says: "A special feature has been the scarcity of pickers and packages, and the high price of these. Both barrels and boxes have been difficult to obtain. More than ten cars were sent out in bulk—in bins in the cars—to points in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, and several carloads similarly stowed also went to Winnipeg. Open baskets and open crates have been very popular with growers having a carload or so of a good variety of good quality. Fully as many cars were shipped out in this manner as were sent out loose.

Kent reports that while most of the sugar beets had been lifted and delivered some were yet in the ground at the end of the week. The representatives also says: "Large quantities of onions are wasting on the Blenheim Marsh, as the market went off badly. A large percentage were not properly dried on acount of weather conditions, and they have been very hard to keep."

Oxford claims that in some parts of that county turnips will run as high as 1,000 bushels to the acre, but that in other quarters rot has been doing injury.

Fall wheat is looking promising at present, and is likely to go into the winter with a good top, except where the sowing was tardy. Some wheat was sown as late as the 20th of October. Norfolk reports that the Hessian fly has been injuring some of the early fields.

Lambton states that some farmers have not yet sold their grass cattle purchased at high prices. A few who then paid 12c. a lb. are now selling at 8c., although good stockers are in demand. Bruce speaks of Western cattle being brought in for finishing off.

Good cows are going at from $100 to $125 at sales in Prince Edward. Leeds says: "Good strong milch cows or heavy springers are selling well up to $150 at sales; good cows due to freshen in the spring can be bought in some parts of the county at $50, while canners are selling as low as $25."

A creamery in Markdale, Grey County, has closed as such for the winter, but will act as a cream receiving station.

While Victoria speaks of some desirable horses bringing as high as $250 at sales, Prince Edward states that some good young horses weighing around 1,400 lbs. are selling at from $140 to $160, while old horses and colts are going very low.

Hogs are fewer than for years, but prices for bacon animals have been falling during the week, and now range from $15 to $16 a cwt. Little pigs are selling at around $12 a pair.

Grey reports that four carloads of sheep were shipped from that county last week. "Too many farmers," it is added, "leave their sheep to rough it though the weather is cold and snowy."

Hay is up in price. Wentworth reports that it is selling on the market at from $37 to $40 a ton.

Silos are well filled everywhere, and a good deal of surplus corn is standing in the fields. In the Lake Erie counties more corn than usual will be husked this season.

A good deal of fall plowing was done during the week, but it is estimated that fully one-third of the intended acreage still remains to be done.

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

MOVEMENT FOR OPEN LIQUOR SELLING GROWING

Montreal, Nov. 18.—With the admission of his failure to enforce Quebec's prohibition law by D. R. Murphy, K.C., now General Administrator, the movement for a return to open selling is gathering strength. The present prohibition law has failed because of lack of police support.

It is being suggested that two classes of licenses be issued, one for beer and wine licenses for a moderate fee, and the other for places where liquor might be sold by a group of men who would be confirmed in their licenses during good conduct only, and would guarantee the exact carrying out of a stringent law.

Whether or not the Government brings in such a bill next session, there is no doubt that some members will discuss such a change in the Provincial House.

BLAZE STARTS IN FIRE HALL DESTROYS SIX BUILDINGS

St. John, Nov. 17.—A blaze which broke out in the Fairville, N.B., fire hall, and destroyed all the apparatus there early this morning, burned six buildings and damaged three others. The places destroyed were the fire station, which included the jail and court house, Orange Hall, a part of which was used as the Gaiety Motion Picture Theatre, and a number of houses. Occupants of the houses were compelled to make their way in their night attire to the street in a blinding sleet and snow storm. The damage done is estimated at $50,000.

OBJECT TO GIRLS' BATHING SUITS

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—Girl swimmers who compete in amateur athletic union contests in future must wear swimming suits that come higher about the neck and must be cut with a due allowance for shrinkage, under a rule adopted last night at the final session of the annual convention of the union here.

Judge Bartow S. Weeks, Chairman of the Legislative Committee, described the low cut and tight fitting suits worn by United States girls in the Olympic games and said these girls had been criticised by the Europeans. Under the terms of the new ruling regulation suits must be worn by both men and women.

CORPSE WAS STUFFED WITH CONTRABAND

An increasing number of funeral processions going across the border into Germany recently aroused the suspicions of customs officials who halted nine of them that proved to be a smuggler's parade. The casket was a false-bottomed affair and a figure in the coffin was stuffed with gold, silver and other contraband. Four mourning relatives, pretending to be mutes, were said by the police to be known smugglers.

For Ladies

Said Mrs. C——— to Mrs. T———
One bleak and cold and wintry day,
"You know, my dear, this time of year
Is hard on folks.
If only we could feel assured
Of health and comfort, 't would be fine,
But it seems we can't, in such a clime."

"Well, do you know", smiled Mrs. T———
"I used to think this time of year,
Meant colds and sickness always near,
But we heard of an easy way,
To be healthy and comfy every day.
You know Mrs. Wise, across the street,
(Just the picture of health and always neat)
Well, she was told by a doctor friend
She'd never regret the money she'd spend
On good wool 'Undies,' the 'Ceetee' kind,
Made by Turnbull's of Galt, I think she said.
An advertisement somewhere then she read—
Telling folks how that particular kind
Was fashioned by experts—and that you'd find
The 'Undies' they made were the better kind—
Fashioned of wool that was not one bit 'tickly'
(Others, you know, tickle and seem sort of prickly)
That all "CEETEE" garments are so downy and soft,
We'd just love to wear them—in fact, very oft
Mothers buy them for babies, all fears to allay,
Should they go for an airing on a stormy, chill day—
Why! the rain would'nt matter, neither wind, snow or frost—
"CEETEE" garments, in truth, are worth twice their first cost.
They're the finest of high-grade underwear,
And the thriftiest, best-dressed women who care,
Know that it pays to buy none but the best;
Don't you think we'd do well to give them a test?"

"CEETEE" for ladies is made with low cut neck and no sleeves—also with elbow sleeves and in higher neck and long sleeves.

"CEETEE" is knitted on very fine needles—this makes it very warm, soft and light.

Any doctor will advise you to wear wool next the skin: it is a non-conductor, thus retains the warmth of the body; keeps out the cold—and safeguards your health.

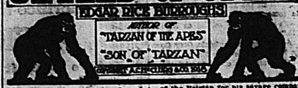
TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS



AUTHOR OF
"TARZAN OF THE APES"
"SON OF TARZAN"
COPYRIGHT A.C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

But there was no battle. It ended as the majority of such jungle encounters end—one of the boasters loses his nerve and becomes suddenly interested in a blowing leaf, a beetle or the lice upon his hairy stomach.

In this instance it was the anthropoid that retired in stiff dignity to inspect an unhappy caterpillar, which he presently devoured. For a moment Tarzan seemed inclined to pursue the argument. He swaggered truculently, stuck out his chest, roared and advanced closer to the bull. It was with difficulty that Werper finally persuaded him to leave well enough alone and continue his way from the ancient city of the Sun Worshipers.

The two searched for nearly an hour before they found the narrow exit through the inner wall. From there the well-worn trail led them beyond the outer fortification to the desolate valley of Opar.

Tarzan had no idea, in so far as Werper could discover, as to where he was or whence he came. He wandered aimlessly about, searching for food, which he discovered beneath small rocks, or hiding in the shade of the scant brush which dotted the ground.

The Belgian was horrified by the hideous menu of his companion. Beetles, rodents and caterpillars were devoured with seeming relish. Tarzan was indeed an ape again.

At last Werper succeeded in leading his companion toward the distant hills which mark the northwestern boundary of the valley, and together the two set out in the direction of the Greystoke bungalow.

What purpose prompted the Belgian in leading the victim of his treachery and greed back toward his former home it is difficult to guess, unless it was that without Tarzan there could be no ransom for Tarzan's wife.

That night they camped in the valley beyond the hills, and as they sat before a little fire where cooked a wild pig that had fallen to one of Tarzan's arrows, the latter sat lost in speculation. He seemed continually to be trying to grasp some mental image which as constantly eluded him.

At last he opened the leather pouch which hung at his side. From it he poured into the palm of his hand a quantity of glittering gems. The firelight playing upon them conjured a multitude of scintillating rays, and as the wide eyes of the Belgian looked on in rapt fascination, the man's expression at last acknowledged a tangible purpose in courting the society of the ape-man.

CHAPTER VII.

The Theft of the Jewels.

For two days Werper sought for the party that had accompanied him from the camp to the barrier cliffs; but not until late in the afternoon of the second day did he find clew to its whereabouts, and then in such gruesome form that he was totally unnerved by the sight.

In an open glade he came upon the bodies of three of the blacks, terribly mutilated, nor did it require considerable deductive power to explain their murder. Of the little party only these three had not been slaves. The others, evidently tempted to hope for freedom from their cruel Arab master, had taken advantage of their separation from the main camp, to slay the three representatives of the hated power which held them in slavery, and vanish into the jungle.

Tarzan showed not the slightest surprise or interest in the discovery. Inherent in him was a calloused familiarity with violent death. The refinements of his recent civilization expunged by the force of the sad calamity which had befallen him, left only the primitive sensibilities which his childhood's training had imprinted indelibly upon the fabric of his mind.

Again, that night, as the two sat before their camp fire, Tarzan played with his shining baubles. Werper asked him what they were and where he had found them. The ape-man replied that they were gay-colored stones, with which he purposed fashioning a necklace, and that he had found them far beneath the sacrificial court of the temple of the Flaming God.

Werper was relieved to find that Tarzan had no conception of the value of the gems. Possibly the man would give them to him for the asking. Werper reached out his hand toward the little pile that Tarzan had arranged upon a piece of flat wood before him.

"Let me see them," said the Belgian.

Tarzan placed a large palm over his treasure. He bared his fighting fangs and growled. Werper withdrew his hand more quickly than he had advanced it. Tarzan resumed his playing with the gems and his conversation with Werper as though nothing unusual had occurred. He had but exhibited the beast's jealous protective instinct for a possession. When he killed he shared the meat with Werper; but had Werper ever, by accident, laid a hand upon Tarzan's share, he would have aroused the same savage and resentful warning.

From that occurrence dated the beginning of a great fear in the breast of the Belgian for his savage companion. He had never understood the transformation that had been wrought in Tarzan by the blow upon his head, other than to attribute it to a form of amnesia. That Tarzan had once been, in truth, a savage, jungle beast, Werper had not known, and so, of course, he could not guess that the man had reverted to the state in which his childhood and young manhood had been spent.

Now Werper saw in the Englishman a dangerous maniac, whom the slightest untoward accident might turn upon him with rending fangs. His one hope lay in eluding him, and making for the far distant camp of Achmet Zek as rapidly as he could; but armed only with the sacrificial knife, Werper shrank from attempting the journey through the jungle. Tarzan constituted a protection that was by no means despicable, even in the face of the larger carnivora, as Werper had reason to acknowledge from the evidence he had witnessed in the Oparian temple.

Achmet Zek should know nothing of the jewels—these would be for Werper alone, and as soon as he could encompass his design he would reach the coast and take passage for America, where he could conceal himself beneath the veil of a new identity and enjoy to some measure the fruits of his theft.

It was upon the third day of their progress from Opar that the keen ears of Tarzan caught the sound of men behind them. Werper heard nothing above the humming of the jungle insects and the chattering life of the lesser monkeys and the birds.

For a time Tarzan stood in statuesque silence, listening, his sensitive nostrils dilating as he assayed each passing breeze. Then he withdrew Werper into the concealment of thick brush and waited. Presently along the game trail that Werper and Tarzan had been following there came in sight a sleek black warrior, alert and watchful.

In single file behind him there followed, one after another, near fifty others, each burdened with two dull yellow ingots lashed upon his back. Werper recognized the party immediately as that which had accompanied Tarzan on his journey to Opar. He glanced at the ape-man; but in the savage, watchful eyes he saw no recognition of Basuli and those other loyal Waziri.

Bancroft Firemen Have Hard Fight

Town Hall Completely Destroyed—Methodist Church Damaged

The Bancroft Times give the following details of the fire which destroyed the town hall at that place:

At midnight on Thursday last the residents of the village were aroused from their slumbers when the fire alarm was sounded. Church bells tolled their note of warning, while villagers from far and near appeared on the scene but too late to quench the flames which had made considerable headway before being noticed. The fire engine was brought into action in good time, but defective hose delayed the firemen in playing an effective stream. From the start it was seen the Hall was doomed, and the firemen engaged their attention in saving the Methodist church which had a close call. For a time it looked as though the edifice would fall a prey to the flames, however with the assistance of a bucket brigade, the firemen baffled the flames. Everything moveable was taken from the church. Mr. John Stewart's residence was also in danger for a time. Through the efforts of a number of citizens the home was saved from the devouring flames near by. Nothing remains of Bancroft Town Hall but a heap of ashes. Although not an up-to-date structure, the loss will mean considerable to the village, to replace it with a suitable building will require an expenditure of at least $15,000 to $20,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery, although there are several versions going the rounds.

St. Paul's church has been rendered unfit for public worship and in the mean time the Presbyterian church has been fitted up and services will continue there in the future.

Mr. Geo. A. Bennett, contractor, of Belleville, who was called to Bancroft in connection with insurance adjustments, states that the Town Hall is a total loss and the Methodist Church suffered damage to the extent of about five hundred dollars. The church was close to the Town Hall and how it was saved from destruction seems a miracle but the entire population turned out and worked hard, their efforts being crowned with success.

SHOW MAN CORPSE TO PROVE HE'S DEAD

Everett, Mass., Nov. 17.—Lieut. J. C. Gramstorff is awaiting the arrival of his corpse from France. His "death" was announced officially and the War Department refuses to consider his repeated claim that he is alive.

The department, as a final effort to convince Gramstorff of his error, has shipped his body here.

Gramstorff is to inspect the body on arrival. He declared today he will under no circumstances identify it as his own. But he is worried over the problem of attending his own funeral.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold for $95,000.

KALADAR INQUEST

At an inquest in Kaladar into the death of the late Mrs. James Young, whose skeleton was found in the ruins of the family home, Kaladar, following a fire on November 3rd last, the jury brought in a verdict stating that deceased had come to her death at the hands of some person or persons unknown. The inquest was held by Coroner Dr. Cowan of Napanee. James Young, husband of the deceased, was arrested a few days ago on a nominal charge of vagrancy, and is now in Napanee jail pending further developments. The case has been in charge of Provincial Inspector Stringer, who took it up as a result of developments in the Kaladar district following the finding of the woman's skeleton after the fire.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY

An extension of the Provincial Highway from Belleville to the Stirling Road Junction, at the north end of Foxboro has been secured by H. K. Denyes, M.P.P. for East Hastings. Traffic on this road is very heavy as it is the direct route to a number of important centres in the district. Work on the road will likely be commenced early in the spring and this may be regarded as the first link in a provincial highway to Peterboro serving a very large rural population and a heavy traffic. Recently Mr. Denyes prevailed upon the Minister of Public Works, Hon. F. C. Biggs to personally inspect this road. Mr. Denyes made a special visit to Toronto this week and was successful in securing the consent of the Minister to add this road to the Provincial Highway System.

CONSERVATIVES TO MEET

DUTCH FAIR A SUCCESS

Under the auspices of the Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Church on Wednesday and Thursday, a Dutch Fair was held at the Parish Hall on East Bridge street and it proved to be a most successful affair which is indeed gratifying to those in charge. On Wednesday evening, a County Supper was served and many availed themselves of the opportunity to partake of the good things provided by the ladies of the congregation. The interior of the hall was appropriately decorated with Dutch colors. During the evening Miss Alma Simpson sang several selections which were much appreciated. Miss Boozka Hajtmanek gave a fine piano selection. The various booths under the direction of the Women's Auxiliary and the Junior branch of the W. A. were well patronized as was a fancy work booth conducted by St. Agnes' School. Last evening the affair was brought to a close by a social gathering, at which there was a large attendance.

ALLEGED NON-SUPPORT

A case of alleged non-support was to have been investigated this morning by the Magistrate, but owing to illness of the defendant an adjournment for a few days was granted.

Fair Complexion Conceals Age

Rid the Face of Pimples and Such Blemishes by Using Stuart's Calcium Wafers—Surprising How Youthful One Looks

Pimples, blackheads and other such facial blemishes may be traced to an excess of impurities being eliminated through the skin and this condition calls for calcium to enable the process of elimination to be carried on more completely.

It is the Calcium in Stuart's Calcium Wafers that has given this complexion beautifier such a wonderful reputation.

The results are soon noted in a much finer texture, the gradual disappearance of the blemishes and a really beautiful complexion. This is considered the correct way to a handsome, lily-like skin. Get a 60-cent box of these wafers at any drug store and observe how nicely the skin soon clears.

NOTED SUFFRAGIST ISSUES STATEMENT

Mrs. Annie M. Sloan of Buffalo, Declares She Would Not Take All the Money In the World For Good Tanlac Did Her.

"I will just say frankly, I think Tanlac is perfectly wonderful and I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good it has done me," said Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, recently, residing at 275 Huntingdon Avenue, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mrs. Sloan has resided in Buffalo for the past forty years and is very prominent in club circles, being an active member of the Buffalo City Club the Lincoln Republican Club, and the Women Voters League.

She represented the women of her city in their appeal to the United States Senate at Washington when the Suffrage Bill was first introduced and was honored with a membership to the Washington Suffrage Club. Mrs. Sloan is also deeply interested in church and charity work. Her statement regarding the benefit she has derived from Tanlac will be of widespread interest. She said:

"I have only been taking Tanlac about four weeks, but I am already feeling better than I have felt in years. Why, it just seems as though I have been awarded a new lease on life, and I would be doing an injustice to others who are trying to find relief not to tell what this grand medicine has done for me.

"Some time ago I was compelled to undergo an operation for gallstones, after which I got along very well until about a year and a half ago, when I had a very severe bilious attack. These attacks became frequent and with each one I would have to remain in bed for four or five days.

MRS. ANNIE M. SLOAN, Prominent Buffalo, N. Y. Club Woman and Suffragist.

"About six weeks ago I had another of these attacks and was in such awful pain I almost gave up hope. This spell left me without any energy and so weak I could hardly walk across the room.

"Tanlac has relieved my troubles entirely. I am enjoying splendid health now and am brimful of new strength and energy. Everyone should know of Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Chrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Your Nearest Doctor

for dealing with any skin sore or injury is found in Zam-Buk—"A Surgery in a Two-Inch Box." At home and at work it's the healer that ends pain and irritation, prevents festering and blood-poison, drives disease from the tissues, and promotes quick healthy healing. Keeping Zam-Buk always handy ensures you and the family against skin troubles. With it you're prepared for any emergency.

Mrs. J. Rancall, of Silver Stream, Sask., writes:—"Here is an incident which proves conclusively Zam-Buk's wonderful healing power. One day my daughter when using the washing machine, tore the top off her finger. As we live eighteen miles from a doctor, I got out the Zam-Buk (which we always keep handy) put on a liberal dressing, and bound up the finger carefully. The injury gave no further trouble. The use of Zam-Buk made it unnecessary for us to trouble the doctor, for in wonderfully short time, the wound healed completely."

ROD AND GUN.

To the hunter or fisherman looking for new places to hunt and fish, ROD AND GUN IN CANADA for December will prove invaluable. In a splendidly illustrated article, W. L. Edmonds, the well known writer, graphically pictures the wild life of the Dominion, including the North West Territories. Bonnycastle Dale takes his readers with him on a goose shooting trip after the big Canadas. In a reminiscen style Judge Fraleck describes the goo old days in an interesting story of th Wayside Inn. Gas Bombs Will Be Carried In Pockets Of U.S. Soldiers

DEADLY POISON VAPOR SOLIDIFIED BY CHEMISTS TO BE PART OF WAR EQUIPMENT OF AMERICAN FIGHTERS IN FUTURE WARS.

WASHINGTON Nov. 20—The United States Government will not agree to abolish poison gas as a part of its military system. On the contrary if another great war comes in which the United States is involved, every soldier will carry a package of poison gas as part of his equipment.

Already the Chemical Warfare Service of the army, of which Brig.-Gen. Amos A. Fries is Director, has perfected the solidification of poison gas so that it can be carried in a man's pocket. This particular type of gas is designed for gas cloud attacks.

The Chemical Warfare Service is prosecuting research work in poison gases at the Edgewood Arsenal where it has an up-to-date plant and where two battalions of gas troops are constantly engaged in experiments. Problems of production, and distribution as well as the determination of the ingredients of the several gases are being studied constantly.

Experiments are being made with different gases at varying strengths on white mice, rats, guinea pigs and at certain stages on dogs. Experiments in which men subject themselves to gas attacks are few and are handled with the greatest possible care to avoid permanent injury.

The American Chemical Society is co-operating actively with the Chemical Warfare Service, just as Premier Lloyd George announced in Parliament yesterday the British civilian chemists are co-operating with the military in Great Britain in developing poison gas and working out offensive and defensive problems and uses.

A committee of fifteen has been appointed by the American Chemical Society to co-operate directly with the Chemical Warfare Service and arrangements are now being made for the appointment of another committee of fifty prominent chemists who may be called upon from time to time to assist in solving specific problems.

ANOTHER BANK HOLD-UP BY BANDITS IN DETROIT

Detroit, Nov. 19.—Five armed men this noon held up three clerks in an East Side branch of the Wayne County and Home Savings Bank, and after compelling them to lie on the floor escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. Bank officials asserted the bandits secured less than $5,000.

Premier Meighen Closing His Tour

Prime Minister Will Return to Ottawa on Sunday

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Premier Meighen will return to Ottawa on Sunday after closing the Government's case in the East Elgin bye-election campaign at Aylmer on Saturday night. Hon. J. A. Calder, who accompanied Mr. Meighen on his Western tour, will be back in the Capital on Saturday. Sir Henry Drayton and Hon. Gideon Robertson, who have been carrying the tariff enquiry in Eastern Canada, will also be in Ottawa before embarking upon their Ontario tour. Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals who has been in England, is also expected to be here again by the end of next week.

With the exception of Sir George Foster and Hon. C. J. Doherty now in Geneva, the Cabinet Ministers will all be in the Capital and will be able to discuss some of the questions which await answers, such as the date upon which the amended Scott Act will become operative in Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. They will also be able to commence their preparations for the opening of Parliament, which is expected to take place about January 20th.

Hunt New Evidence In Spracklin Case

Windsor, Nov. 20.—The arrest of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin is improbable until a charge has been preferred by the Crown, according to Chief of Police Willis, who said that he had not been instructed to apprehend Mr. Spracklin on his return from Toronto.

W. H. Furlong counsel for the widow of Beverly Trumble, the slain Sandwich hotelman, believes his letter, mailed to the Attorney-General on November 16, induced the Government to take further proceedings against Rev. Mr. Spracklin. "In that letter," said Mr. Furlong, "I pointed out that public opinion would not be satisfied unless Spracklin was brought to trial. On behalf of Mrs. Trumble I demanded the trial of the slayer before a jury of Essex County. I have yet to be satisfied that Mr. Trumble had a gun when Spracklin fired the fatal shot."

Hinting at new evidence which the Trumble family will ask the Crown to introduce at the trial, Mr. Furlong criticized the composition of the coroner's jury which found that Spracklin killed the hotel proprietor in self-defence. Several of the jurymen, he asserted, were not qualified to act.

"I am not prepared to state at this time just what are my objections to some of the men who served on the jury," Mr. Furlong said, "those objections, which I am now preparing will be filed with the Crown in the course of a few days."

FED VOTERS CANDY; SHE LOST ELECTION

Boston, Nov. 17—Miss Alice E. Cram, campaigning as the Democratic candidate for State Auditor, spent $25 for candy in furthering her appeal to the voters, according to her return of expenses filed with the Secretary of State. Her candidacy, which was unsuccessful, cost her $1,156, she reported.

Crerar's Policy Spells Disaster

So Declares Hon. Gideon Robertson, Speaking in St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 20.—Although only a small minority of the citizens of St. Thomas will vote in the East Elgin bye-election, a good audience turned out to hear the Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, speak in the Engineers' Hall in the interests of J. L. Stansell, the Government candidate. The address of Mr. Robertson was an able reply to that given the night before in the same hall by the Hon. T. A. Crerar, the leader of the Farmers' party. The Minister arrived rather late, having first addressed another meeting at Yarmouth Heights. He said he would not go into the merits of the different candidates but of the policy that each stood for after the formation of the National Liberal and Conservative party, their policy was clearly announced. A policy of moderate protection that will guarantee employment to the workers and make for the prosperity of Canada. As for the Hon. Mackenzie King, he had not made his policy clear. No one knew what it was as he stood betwee two fires, the protectionist of the East and the free traders of the West. The policy of Mr. Crerar, however, had been made more clear, and if the program was followed, as announced by the Canadian Council of Agriculture, disaster would follow, as it would mean the loss of at least 160 millions of revenue and it is utterly impossible to make up the loss of revenue by the means advocated by Mr. Crerar.

200 BRANCH FACTORIES

The speaker stated that there are over 200 branch factories of American industries in Canada, which had been started because of the tariff and the preferential tariff which enabled them to export to all parts of the British Empire. These factories would be closed at once if free trade was brought into effect. Speaking as a life-long Labor man, the Minister stated that he did not believe the party of Mr. Crerar would do much for labor. While traveling as a member of the Tariff Commission, a leader of the Farmers' party told him it would be a good thing if some of the factories would close so the farmers could get cheap labor. Another objected to the housing scheme of the Dominion Government, as the men of the cities should be driven back to the farms. Mr. Robertson branded the statement of Mr. Crerar, that the Meighen Government was the tool of the big interests, as absolutely untrue. The business profits tax which had produced a revenue of $10,000,000 was fought on every side by the big interests, but it had been continued, and also the luxury tax. Mr. F. W. Wright was chairman of the meeting which was also addressed by J. C. Godgins, of Brampton, and Miss A. Clayton, of Listowell, a former teacher of the Premier.

Belleville Lions Roar In Real, Live Jungle Feed

SPLENDID BANQUET GIVEN AT HOTEL QUINTE BY BELLEVILLE LIONS CLUB — PROMINENT TORONTO LIONS PRESENT, ALSO LIONESSES — STIRRING ADDRESSES BY PROMINENT MEN—A HAPPY, HELPFUL EVENING.

That the Lions Club of Belleville is a real live organization was proved conclusively at the first big Jungle Feed staged here which took place Friday evening at the Hotel Quinte. There were upwards of eighty persons present including Lions and Lionesses from far and near.

The banquet room of the Quinte was beautifully decorated for the occasion, credit for which being due to the artistic ideas of Lion Russ Wotten. Flags and chrysanthemums were used in a tasty color scheme, and a large Lion's Crest, designed by Miss Eileen Cherry adorned the wall behind the head table. This was a work of art which was very favorably commented upon by all present.

The menu was excellent and the service and appointments was in Hotel Quinte's best style.

Roaring Lions

A feature of the evening was community singing and the songs of Lionism were rendered with a vim which made everybody feel happy and at home. Lion Ernie Dickens led the singing and put it across in great style. Sills orchestra furnished a delightful program and fine solos were rendered by those talented vocalists James Booth and Harold Barrett.

President Bob Gorman presided in his customary genial and witty manner and welcomed visiting Lions, Lionesses and the guests of the evening in appropriate terms.

On behalf of the city of Belleville, Mayor Riggs delivered an address of welcome in his usual humorous manner and placed everything on a friendly homey basis.

Inspiring Speeches

The speakers of the evening included Lion Fred Ketcheson, of Toronto, District Governor of the Lions Clubs; Lion (Dinty) Moore, First Vice-President of the Toronto Lions Club, who gave an able and uplifting address on the Lions, their aims, objects and ambitions, emphasizing the fact that the ideals of the individuals make the nation.

Hon. Nelson Parliament, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, gave an inspiring address on Service, the Lion's motto, and spoke very highly of the organization, its achievements and possibilities.

Mr. R. J. Graham gave an interesting address upon Industries, their benefit to a community, and the duties of good citizenship in relation thereto.

"Our Tamer, the Ladies", was the subject of a witty and eloquent address fro Lion E. D. O'Flynn.

Greetings from Toronto Lions were conveyed to the Belleville Lions in appropriate terms by Lion Otto Auerbach, of that city.

Interesting addresses were also given by His Honor Judge Deroche and Mr. W. B. Deacon, while Rotarian Gordon Moffatt extended greetings and good wishes from the Belleville Rotary Club.

Jamieson Bone, President of the Chamber of Commerce, extended greetings from that body and gave some interesting data in regard to the work of that body. Mr. Bone also favored the gathering with some real Scotch humor which created much laughter and was greatly appreciated.

To the committees who arranged the details of the banquet much credit is due for the entire success of the function. The following Lions were chairmen of committees:

Arrangements—Bill Lattimer; Reception—Art Pratt; Decoration—Russ Wotten; Program—Bill Gilbert.

As many people may ask "Who is a Lion?" the following answer should fill the bill:

Who is a lion

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he has; whose life was an inspiration, whose memory a benediction.—He is a Lion.

Revision of League Covenant

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

GENEVA, Nov. 20.—The first formal step looking towards revision of the covenant of the League of Nations was taken by the Assembly of the League at today's session, when the Dutch Minister of Foreign Affairs, H. A. Van Karnabeek, introduced a resolution for reconsideration of Article 18 having to do with the registration of treaties. An international military force with an international staff was proposed by Senator Henry Lafontaine, of the Belgian deputation.

Senator Lafontaine somewhat startled the Assembly by declaring that the world was not ready for disarmament. "It is necessary to say frankly to the people," he said, "that the time for disarmament has not yet come. Before the world could disarm," he added, "entirely different ideas than those that prevailed before the war must be inculcated and applied." He proposed that armaments and armies be comprised in an international force with an international staff ready to be used in the cause of right, in just such a case as arose from the present situation of Armenia.

Sixteen Men Drowned In Maine Lake

Lumberjacks Became Panic-stricken When Motorboat Took Fire —Jumped Overboard

Bangor, Maine, Nov. 20.—Sixteen woodsmen were drowned in Chesuncook Lake, in the heart of the lumbering district, late yesterday afternoon when a motor boat took fire.

The men were being taken across the lake from Chesuncook dam to Cuxabexis.

Efforts to quench the fire failing, the party became panic stricken and many leaped overboard, according to word brought here today.

Premier Meighen Not Disturbed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Following tumultuous demonstrations of welcome inside of Massey Hall last night and more or less hostile declamations of returned soldiers and their friends on the street outside, Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, with his party have departed for Aylmer, Ont., where the Government leader is slated to speak at a meeting of the Government candidate, J. L. Stansell in East Elgin to fittingly wind up a most strenuous campaign tonight.

Friends of the Prime Minister this morning state that Mr. Meighen was in no way discouraged by the attitude of the opposition element last night. He is said to be positive that the policy of the Government as decisively enunciated by him at the meeting in regard to the re-opening of the cash gratuity question will meet with popular approval including the approval of all thinking men in the ranks of the returned soldiers organization.

CLAIMS PROTECTION AS A "STOOL" PIGEON

Brockville, Nov. 19.—James Young, a local shoemaker, who, with his wife, has been convicted under the Ontario Temperance Act, of selling liquor, was responsible for the appearance here of Inspector Brownley of the License Department, inquiring into a charge laid by Young against local officials of the department, and forwarded recently by County Crown Attorney Brown to the Attorney-General.

Young claims that he engaged protection from these officials while acting as a "stool pigeon" on their behalf, and that one William Warren, employed during the summer on the border as a license officer, not only protected Young and others, but was receiving liquor from him. Warren's whereabouts at present is unknown, he having left here suddenly a few weeks ago, Young stated.

Famine Stalking In Central Europe

Three Hundred Thousand Children in Austria Fed by Relief Missions

LONDON, Nov. 20.—"Workmen in Austria get two to three thousand crowns a week, which at pre-war exchange rates would have been equivalent to $400 to $600 in Canadian money. But as they have to pay 1,400 crowns for a pair of shoes and more than that for a hat, it is not to be wondered at that most of them do not wear hats, and that they eat only one meal a day."

The statement quoted is part of an interesting summary of conditions in Central Europe given by Mr. J. R. Martin, Montreal, manager of the foreign department, and Mr. J. B. Blackhall, Toronto, manager of the financial department of the Dominion Express Company, who have just returned to London after a tour which included Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, and Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and Germany.

300,000 CHILDREN IN WANT

In Austria they found three hundred thousand children being fed by British and American relief missions and men working from one breakfast to another because that was all the food they could afford. Germany was found to have a surplus of goods for export but a lack of orders for them, despite their cheapness, while the shortage of coal is proving a terrible handicap to industry. Belgium is very busy, reconstruction work continuing even on Sunday. The Italians, despite recent labor events, seem to be happy and peaceful. In Milan the factories seized by the workmen have been returned to their owners, and the situation in this respect is quieting down. The express company officials were in Warsaw and found the Poles a cultured and delightfully mannered people. Strict regulations are in force against carrying foreign money in Poland or taking it out of the country.

The principal object of the mission of the two officials was to arrange facilities for remittances to European countries by former emigrants to Canada, which in the past have totalled large sums. Now that the Canadian dollar will buy 360 Austrian crowns, instead of five, as before the war, the total will be probably larger than ever. They say that they found no surface indications of the industrial upheaval in Europe which is predicted for this Winter by some authorities.

Randall Sate Up To Wednesday Morning

Missing Steambarge Had Company of The Keybell all Tuesday Night

KINGSTON, Nov. 19.—A telephone message received here late this afternoon from Cape Vincent, N.Y., stated that the mate of the steamer Keybell has reported there that the Keybell had lain to alongside the missing steambarge John Randell under the lee of Timber Island all Tuesday night and had left the Randell there when she cleared on Wednesday morning. This is the only news of the missing Randell received here today.

The Randell is in command of Capt. Harry Randell, son of Capt. John Randell of the steamer Buena Vista. It carries besides the Captain, Harry and Gilbert Smith, cousins of the Captain and John Brady, engineer, all of Seeley's Bay.

The Randall is a small vessel with a capacity of about 250 tons, and was engaged this season in carrying coal between Oswego and Belleville. She is equipped with a steel lifeboat capable of carrying twelve persons.

TWELVE EXECUTIONS IN NEXT THREE MONTHS

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The government will shortly have a long list of capital cases for consideration. The number of executions already fixed for December, January and February is twelve—the cases numbering ten—and none of them as yet have secured cabinet consideration. In each of the cases evidence is being reviewed by officials of the Department of Justice.

There had, until now, been a remarkable diminution in the number of capital cases as compared with last year. In 1919 there were altogether 28 capital cases with 15 executions. So far this year there have been only eight capital cases disposed of—three executions and five commutations. The ten cases still to be considered will, however, bring the total to eighteen.

In two of the ten cases, the sentence of death involves a double execution. In another sentence of death has been passed on a woman.

Dominion Cabinet Prepares For An Early Session

HOUSE WILL LIKELY OPEN ABOUT JAN. 20 AND CONCLUDE ABOUT END OF MAY—REVISION OF TARIFF MOST IMPORTANT BUSINESS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—Premier Meighen will return to Ottawa on Sunday from his campaigning tour, which is to wind up at Aylmer, in East Elgin Saturday night. Hon. J. Calder will be back on Saturday and Sir Henry Drayton and Hon. G. D. Robertson will return to the capital when the Montreal sittings of the Tariff Board are ended, which will be not later than the week-end.

Next week there will be a series of full Cabinet Councils and a number of matters will be up for determination. One of them is fixing the date for the assembly of Parliament. The opening is expected will be on January 20th but possibly it may be a week later according to what legislative preparations are necessary.

An early sitting will be to the liking of the members and one of the reasons for it is a special amendment to the Franchise Act which will obviate the necessity of making entirely new lists for use in the Ontario prohibition referendum in April. It will be hoped to conclude the session by the end of May as the Prime Minister and two of his colleagues will go to the Imperial Conference in June.

The Cabinet will also fix a date when effect will be given by proclamation to the recent "dry" votes in Nova Scotia and the three Prairie Provinces. January 1st is the date at present in view.

PROGRAM NOT EXTENSIVE

In connection with the sessional program which is not expected to be extensive, apart from the revision of the tariff, there will be preliminary consideration of what form the revision will take. The inquiry by the Tariff Committee of the Cabinet is not concluded, as Ontario has yet to be visited, but to all intents and purposes the argument from all angles has been submitted and what remains will largely be repetition. Latterly a particular onset is being made against the sales and luxury taxes, but a producer of 85 millions of revenue will not be brushed aside unless there is something to take its place. While the principle of the tariff will be maintained, the changes in detail promise to be numerous.

There are eight senatorial vacancies and part of these will be filled before the session. It is practically certain that John Stanfield, former chief Conservative whip, will replace the late Senator Dennis and W. R. Smythe, ex-M.P., may get one of the Ontario vacancies, but for the Western senatorships the aspirants are legion.

The terms of the Lieutenant-Governors of Saskatchewan and Alberta are up, but both Sir Richard Lake and Lieutenant-Governor Brett are likely to be reappointed. Another vacant position is that of Chairman of the Council on Industrial Research made vacant by Dr. MacCallum's resignation. The Council has recommended the appointment of President Mackenzie, of Dalhousie University, Halifax, if he will accept.

While no immediate development is looked for, the question of Canadian representation at Washington will have to be considered and finally determined.

The writ for the by-election in West Peterboro, where J. H. Burnham resigned on the ground of an expired mandate, will be issued before long. It is understood that the Goverment will seek another candidate than Mr. Burnham, who is in the field again.

Retailers Attack Mail Order Houses

Parcel Postal Rates Give Big Places Undue Advantage

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Delegates to the provincial convention of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada yesterday focussed their guns on the mail order houses, which they characterized as a menace to the retailers in towns and villages. As competitors they had driven many of the small general stores in rural Ontario out of business. Cheap parcel postal rates helped these institutions to thrive at the expense of the retailer. Millions of dollars annually poured into these houses instead of finding circulation among the country storekeepers. Argument was advanced that the increased freight rates had to be shouldered by the retailer while the mail order houses continued to dump commodities into villages and towns at low postal rates which completely shackled the chances of the retailer, so far as competition was concerned.

Stand Elbow to Elbow

Paris, Nov. 20—Differences between Great Britain and France have in no way prejudiced the alliance which held them together during the war, said Premier Lloyd George in an interview at London yesterday with the correspondent of Petit Parisiene. The British Prime Minister declared that regarding reparation England would stand elbow to elbow with France but he insisted that the amount Germany will be called upon to pay should be fixed.

Iowa Bandits Who Seized $3,500,000

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 20.—Seven more arrests, one confession, the recovery of a large amount of the money, said to be $1,000,000, all in ten dollar bills and the discovery of an automobile last night resulted today in clearing up the mystery surrounding the $3,500,000 mail car robbery in the local yards Saturday night.

Two of the men, T. A. Daly and H. A. Reed are white, and the others are negroes. The money was recovered from a chicken house at the Daly home, following the confession of Reed, who rooms at Daly's.

The total amount of money recovered was not announced by officials this morning. Ten persons in all are under arrest and will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Byers.

Story of Discovery

The automobile believed to have been used for carting away the mail bags was found last night in a rented garage a few blocks from the scene of the robbery. The number on the engine had been tampered with.

Reed and Daly, believed by officials to be leaders of the gang are each 45 years of age. Daly has been working at the Omaha Grain Exchange, but Reed has been unemployed the last few weeks.

Reed was arrested last night following his implication in the case by Fred Poffenbarger, a youth arrested several days ago. Reed was put through a severe grilling and at length gave information which led to the arrest this morning of Daly.

Federal officials announced this morning that the case had now been completed to all intents and purposes.

Had Captured $3,500,000

The bags of currency, gold and bonds whose value has been given authoritatively as high as three and a half million dollars were taken from a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy mail train last Saturday. They were bound from San Francisco in a sealed car to consignees in the East.

Mrs. Daly, wife of the man under arrest, officials say, made a statement that her husband was at home at the time of the robbery and that Poffenbarger brought the money to their home early Sunday morning wrapped in packages. According to Mrs. Daly's statement she overheard the men say that they had burned the rest of the contents of the sacks. After counting the money over, the statement continues, they hid it in the chicken house where it was found this morning by officials.

For some time past extensive improvements have been going on at the Salvation Army Citadel on Pinnacle street and this evening a re-opening service will be held. The citadel presents an inviting appearance since the work has been completed. The outside walls have been painted a light color while the interior renovations were of an extensive nature. The walls are tinted in a light color and the ceiling papered. New electric light fixtures have been added and the benches discarded for 300 up-to-date chairs. A slight addition was made to the alcove where the band and members of the Army sit during the service. Above the Sunday school room at the rear are living quarters which have also been remodelled and provided with up-to-date fixtures. This work is not quite completed. Colonel Rawling, Field Secretary from Toronto will perform the re-opening services this evening and other prominent Salvation officers will be present.

No Word Yet Of The John Randall

Marine Men Fear Boat Met With Mishap

Kingston, Nov. 20.—As yet no further word has been received about the steamer Randell, and marine men expressed doubts this morning as to her safety. One captain stated to the Standard this morning that he thought the boat may have come to some trouble, but he hoped that the crew were safe. There would be little difficulty he said, in getting away from the boat, and though he thought that the boat itself might be lost, yet it was possible that the crew had landed some place where there was no means of communication with Kingston or any other port near. Other marine men also said that they had now began to think that the boat itself had come to grief, but none thought that the crew has been lost.

The Randall was a strong boat, and it is thought that the storm must have been more severe than at first supposed. The boat is only a small one, but is very sturdy and has a capacity of about 250 tons. A strange part of it is that the Randall should wait almost two weeks for weather and then fall into the storm that she did.

However, all hopes for her safety are not yet given up, and many seem to think that the boat will still be heard from yet. Inquiries are anxiously being made about the Randall, and some information may reach the city as to her fate at any time.

PROPOSES AMENDMENTS TO MOTHERS' ALLOWANCE

Brantford, Nov. 18.—Mayor MacBride, M.P.P., announced that a move in connection with amendments to the Mothers' Allowances Act will be: First—to raise the pensions to an adequate amount to meet all needs of the recipient and her family, and, second, to make the whole amount payable out of the consolidated fund of the province. At present half the amount is to be paid by the municipality.

He will also move a bill to have a reasonable proportion of the motor license fees returned to the municipality from which they are derived, in place of having the money entirely spent on rural roads as at present, holding that there is no reason why a part of the cost of civic pavements should not be borne out of this fund. The property owner at present bears a heavy burden for pavements.

(What the Press Agents Say)

"MUTT AND JEFF" COMING

"Mutt and Jeff" in a mad mixture of melting melody, a syncopated symphony of song, a dainty dancing delicacy, a gay and giddy galaxy of girls, youth and charm, and surprises and adventures galore are slated to entertain the patrons of Griffin's on Tuesday, November 30th. The new attraction as usually piloted and sponsored by Manager Gus Hill, their "discoverer" is entitled, "Mutt and Jeff at the Races." The new piece, wedded to some of the most euphonious and catchy tunes, and surrounded with novelties, surprises and features extraordinary, has a large supporting company of clever people including a chorus of sprightly young women whose abilities are not exclusively confined to wearing stunning gowns or looking pretty. In the way of scenic investiture this production is said to stand in a niche of its own.

BELL RINGERS AT GRIFFIN'S

Antrim Short and Winnifred Westover furnish a touch of youthful romance in the Metro screen classic production of "Old Lady 31," being shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight. The theme of the play that Rachael Crothers based on Louise Forsslund's novel is, one critic remarked, that "grandmothers and grandfathers are just the same as other people, only older." The introduction of the youthful lovers is in gentle contrast to the romance of the old couple, played on the screen as on the stage, by Emma Dunn and Harry Harmon. An interesting Travelogue, Ruth Roland in "The Adventures of Ruth", serial, Hank Mann in a funny 2-reel comedy, "The Gum Riot," are also being shown on the same program.

DOUG FAIRBANKS IN GREAT FLOOD STORY

The management of Griffin's Theatre has had every assurance from the United Artists Corporation that the production made by Douglas Fairbanks, to be shown here this Monday to Wednesday is the most elaborate, costly and stupendous picture he has turned out from his California studio.

When "Doug" began his picture, immediately after he had finished his first United Artists release, "His Majesty, the American," he called a conference of all his associates at his studio in Hollywood, Cal., and told them his idea for the next story. Everyone was astonished. "Doug" was absolutely determined that he was going to do something daring and with that he insisted that everything from beginning to end had to be of the most elaborate order.

With the use of four massive electric pumps, more than one million gallons of water were drawn from the Sacramento River and stored in a specially constructed reservoir at the highest point of the new city. Numerous scenes were filmed in the city, the final one being the spectacular destruction of the little settlement by the flood. The huge gates of the reservoir were raised and the water, assisted by the steep grade of the mountain rushed into the foothills carrying everything before it. Dwellings, churches, theatres, bridges and railroad lines were lifted from their foundations and all piled up in masses of debris.

Not only in these scenes alone was "Doug" granted opportunities galore to do some wonderfully clever stunts but all through the picture he does new tricks that will give many thrills to those who glory in his red-blooded manner of working. In a number of the scenes of the picture more than a thousand extras were used, which in itself will give an idea of the stupendous scope of the production.

A selected 2-reel comedy, Jack Dempsey serial, an interesting Travelogue and other varied plays of interest will also be screened on the same program.

USEFUL FOR IDENTIFICATION.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Officials of the Immigration Department state that the policy adopted some weeks ago of issuing certificates of citizenship to citizens of Canada making application for them has proved to be a popular move. They promise to be of great value for purposes of identification, more particularly for Canadians who make frequent trips across the border. The certificates resemble a passport, in that they bear on their face a photograph of the party to whom they are issued.

BANDITS GOT PAYROLL.

Patchogue, L.I., Nov. 19.—In the heart of the business section here, and with no attempt at concealment, three bandits shot one man, knocked out another and got away with the $6,000 payroll of the Patchogue Plymouth Mills today. They got away safely after being pursued five miles by an eyewitness, who followed them on a motorcycle.

QUESTION OF DEFENSE WILL BE DISCUSSED

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—If, as has been intimated by Premier Lloyd George, the Imperial Conference is held next June, Canada will likely be represented thereat by Premier Meighen, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Naval Affairs, and Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia and Defense. From the Canadian viewpoint questions of defense, both naval and military, will feature largely among the deliberations. The rumor that the conference may take place at Ottawa is not given much credence here.

There is an impression here that the coming conference may be preliminary in character and will constitute simply a post-war gathering of Dominion representatives for a tentative discussion of Imperial relations.

TRAGIC END OF N. B. CONTRACTOR

St. John, N.B., Nov. 19.—E. Lorne Merrithew, of Fredericton, one of the best known contractors in the province, met a tragic death in the Gagetown road, near Welsford, Queen's County, Tuesday evening, when his Cadillac car skidded, plunged over a ten-foot embankment and turned turtle. Mr. Merrithew was crushed to death beneath the forward part of the automobile, his life going out probably instantly. He was alone at the time and was on his way from Fredericton to St. John, where he often came on business connected with his contracting interests. He was a member of the contracting firm of Smith and Merrithew, of which Luther B. Smith, of this city, was the other partner.

LEAGUE DELEGATES TAKEN BY BANDITS

Geneva, Nov. 18.—The secretariat of the assembly was notified today that Prince Arfa-ed-Dowleh, head of the Persian delegation to the assembly, had met with a thrilling adventure while the delegation was on its way to Geneva from Teheran, the Persian capital. Between Ispahan and Spiraz the Prince was captured by a robber band. The robbers seized the Prince's papers and killed his secretary. The Prince made his escape and the authorities eventually captured the band and restored the papers. The Prince is continuing his journey and sent word that he hoped to arrive in Geneva shortly.

VETERANS KEPT IDLE BY TRADE UNION BAR

Why is there such a shortage of housing accommodation? Dr. Addison Minister of Health, in an article in a recent issue of the London Sunday Times attempts to give the public some explanation of hundreds of thousands of families being without a home of their own. He admits that while plans for houses have been passed exceeding in number a quarter of a million, yet the houses themselves are only forth-coming in driblets.

In the first place the Minister of Health points to the decrease of skilled workers in the building trade. Between 1910 and 1914 the number of bricklayers had shrunk from 116,000 to 74,000; joiners, masons and workers in subsidiary trades had shrunk in a like proportion. Building in the war years practically ceased, the workers being transferred to munition making.

"There are not enough men in the trade to do the work; that is the first fact," continues Dr. Addison. "There are thousands of men outside the trade who are out of employment; that is the second fact. Somehow or other these two facts must be brought into relationship; and at once we are faced with the Trade Union bar.

The Minister goes on to indicate how the Government has attempted negotiations with the building trades on this matter, especially in regard to payment for time which men lose owing to wet weather. He admits that unemployment has been the bugbear of the trade in the past. The contention is that if the personnel is to be unduly inflated now, unemployment will be even more rife when the present demand is satisfied.

Moreover, the house-building is only one side of the demand; the reconstruction and expansion of industrial buildings, though for the moment subsidiary, will prolong the demand for labor still further.

"In the face of the national demand for houses, in the face of the widespread unemployment among ex-service men and others, can any trade union maintain its restrictions? Can one class, one trade, permanently stand in the path of the community, and resettlement? The State which will submit to such action is saddling itself with a sectional tryanny."

YPRES MEMORIAL TO SOLDIER HEROES

Mr. E. Wood has addressed a question to the British Prime Minister in the House of Commons asking whether he is aware that considerable anxiety exists as to the permanent preservation of the remains of the Cloth Hall at Ypres as a memorial to the historic defence of the town during the late war by British and Imperial Troops, and whether he can state what steps, if any have been taken by His Majesty's Government to approach the Belgian Government in order to secure this object.

Mr. Lloyd George, in a written reply says: The Belgian Government have agreed temporarily to leave the Cloth Hall, the cathedral, and the ramparts of Ypres in their existing state pending formulation of a scheme by the British Government for the erection at Ypres of a memorial to the troops that fought there. As announced by the Financial Secretary to the War Office on June 14, the question of the erection of national memorials has been referred by the Cabinet to a committee presided over by the Earl of Middleton. This committee has made certain recommendations which include the re-building of the Menin Gate at Ypres, and I hope to be able to make a fuller announcement before long.

WINTER IN THE WOODS HELD NO TERRORS FOR THIS VETERAN

Many men are reported to be out of employment in the large centres, but it is said that difficulty is experienced securing enough labor to meet the demand from lumbermen for men to work in the bush. There should be a special attraction now to men out of employment to seek work in the lumber camps. Large wages are paid, the work is healthy and invigorating, the food is good and plentiful and the camps are sanitary and regularly inspected by government health officials. In addition to this there are reading rooms provided and opportunity for study under competent instructors so that a winter spent in a lumber camp can be made both pleasant and profitable.

The experiences of a veteran of the great war as described recently in the Toronto Globe throws an interesting light upon present conditions in the labor market. The Globe's article is as follows:

> That indomitable spirit which carried Canada's warriors to victory at Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele and Cambrai and the tenacious courage which held the line at Ypres and saved Calais still lives and makes itself manifest in peace times.
> Rev. J. A. Miller, Superintendent of the Ontario Government Bureau, 45 King street west, gave an instance of it yesterday. As a result a young ex-soldier of the C. E. F. left last night with a gang of men for the lumber camps north of Sudbury, carrying the old kit-bag he brought from France. He took a job at $80 a month sooner than linger in the city without work awaiting something more suitable to his former position. This was his story.
>
> The Son of His Father.
> Born in France, he came to Canada while an infant. His father was a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war, and carried on his body the sabre cuts dealt him by German Uhlans when the French broke at the disastrous battle of Gravelotte. His father's deep love for France and his desire to see his native country avenged for the loss of the now redeemed provinces of Alsace and Lorraine made him swear his sons to go back and fight for France or any other country against Germany if war broke out.
> The soldier father died shortly after, his wounds being the cause of his death.
> The hero of this incident left Canada with the outbreak of war and went to France. In spite of his father's service with the tri-color, he could not enter the service in France, and finally came back to England in time to join up with the First Canadian Contingent. He served through the war with distinction and returned to Canada.
> Pays Debts and Starts Walking.
>
> As a theatrical promotor and manager he started on a tour of Ontario with his company. Like many others this season, they came to grief, and the company was left stranded at Guelph. Out of his own slender funds he provided each member of the company with transportation back to their homes and as much of the salary due as he could. This left him with 60 cents. He then started to foot it back to Toronto.
> During the journey back to Toronto his feet played out at Georgetown, the result of an attack of "trench feet" in France. He could not go on. Noticing a coal yard he promptly went over and asked for a job.
> "We'll give you 50 cents an hour to shovel coal," he was told.
>
> "Give me a shovel," was the reply. Not until he had earned enough to bring him into the city did he stop, although unused to such work. On Saturday night he arrived in the city penniless, but not a bit discouraged. Monday morning he turned up bright and early at the Employment Bureau.
> "Any Kind of Work."
> "What kind of work do you want?" he was asked at the employment Bureau.
>
> "Any kind of work at all; I want work," replied the applicant.
> Sizing up the young ex-soldier the man in charge of the bureau figured that he could scarcely stand such work as was available, but, nevertheless, he told the applicant that the only thing offering was a job in the lumber camps at $80 a month. It was promptly accepted, and the information that the party was to leave the same night was accepted with a cheerful grin.

When some are refusing anything which appears arduous it is not necessary to say that this young man will be kept in view and given something better as soon as anything better presents itself.

TWO YEARS OF PEACE TWO YEARS OF WAR

It seems almost like a disturbing dream, a nightmare, as we look back on the terrible war. The armistice was signed two years ago, and yet the world is not at peace. As the New York Times so well says:

> "The second anniversary of the armistice of 1918 recurs and peace is still a hope in the world, not a reality. As long ago as May 7, 1919, the treaty drawn by the victorious Allies was put in the hands of the German representatives at Versailles, but only a few weeks have passed since Polish armies saved the national territory by repulsing a Bolshevist host almost at the gates of Warsaw, and today Central and Western Europe still fear the Red peril. New European frontiers waver in the din of propaganda, racial and political. Millions on the continent face hunger and cold on the threshold of winter. Reconstruction has made but a feeble start. Credit is as unsubstantial as a phantom in many parts of the world. Conditions give the economists concern. It would have helped a great deal if the treaty, now a year and a half old, had been ratified by the United States, which is yet technically at war with Germany, and if a way had been found to enter the League of Nations with forty-one other states."

The memory of man is short-lived, and in our anxiety for what is to be we forget what has been and what it. Who remembers that on the eve of the conclusion of the labors of the peace conference Lloyd George in the British Parliament made this appeal:

> "In this fateful hour it is the supreme duty of statesmen in every land of parliaments on whose will the statesmen depend and of those who guide and direct public opinion, which has the making of parliaments, not to soil this triumph of right by indulging in angry passions of the moment, but to consecrate the sacrifice of millions to the permanent redemption of the human race from the scourge and agony of war."

The lonely life of a lighthouse keeper is emphasized in a press despatch telling of the death of the wife of Alfred H. On account of the gale which prevailed he was obliged to keep lonely vigil on the desolate rock beside the body of his dead wife. Now that his companion is gone the life of that lighthouse keeper will be lonelier than ever, but the lights of the world must be kept burning, and wherever there is danger to life or morals there will be found keepers for the warning lights.

A warfare on rats is being organized in many parts of Europe. The London Times considers it doubtful if much can be done towards their extermination, and says that in Tokyo in three years four and a half million of them were destroyed, and yet they were more numerous than when the crusade against them was started. This is difficult of belief, but the Times accounts for it by saying that as they were killed off the available food for those that were left increased so that they multiplied at an unprecedented rate. One female rat, it is said, may, where food abounds and no disease being present, have one thousand descendants within a year. The experience of Tokyo rather discourages anti-rat crusades. The only remedy would seem to be in the direction of cutting off food supplies, and that is a big question.

"The world is recovering with a rapidity that is simply marvellous. One hears frequent complaints that the world is not yet normal. How could it be? One hears people say the storm is not yet over because the sea still rears high. Others torture themselves with the idea of what would happen to the nations if a similar storm broke on them now. If a storm of similar intensity broke on the nations now, not only the ships of state that were nearly lost last time would go under. From that catastrophic wreckage the survivors have expected to begin a new civilization. Not only the stately ships of the world would go under if there is another war like the war just passed. Every barque and barge would go under. I do not think that if we were to have another war civilization anywhere could survive in any form we have known. And I believe in order to prevent another war throughout the world it is first and most essential that there should be complete and frank understanding between the English-speaking peoples, and not only between them and all the nations which draw their ideals and ideals of government from the old mother of freedom—England."—Sir Auckland Geddes.

FRANK OLIVER'S NEW LIGHT

Edmonton Journal

Those who were Edmonton newspaper readers two and three years ago and were impressed by the persistent attacks which were made by a certain editor on Mr. Crerar (then a member of the Union government) on the ground that he represented "Big Business"—the reference being to the powerful grain company of which he was the head—must be somewhat confused by the same editor's present, fervid pleas for co-operation between Mr. Crerar and Mr. King.

THE "BIG INTERESTS" BOGEY

London Free Press

The chief argument used against the administration is that it is a Government of big interests. Hon. T. A. Crerar made this his main line of attack in his Saskatchewan speeches and will presumably follow the same tactics in East Elgin. Speaking to the farmers of the West he declared, "No Government was ever so hopelessly entangled with the big interests as is the present Government at Ottawa."

Mr. Crerar was a members of Union Government for two years. Was it a Government of big interests while he was a member of it? Is it not following out the same policies today? Wherein does it differ from the administration of which he was minister of agriculture?

Mr. Crerar knows that "the big interests" were opposed to the Governments policy of nationalizing the Grand Trunk, and were particularly bitter against Rt. Hon Arthur Meighen.

Mr. Crerar also knows that "big interests" are taxed as heavy to-day as in any other country. The income tax and the corporation tax have been increased on "big interests" during the past year. The business profits tax is the heaviest of any belligerant. The corporation tax was last year raised to 10 per cent. The business profits tax calls for payments to the Government of 25 per cent. of all profits earned in business over 7 per cent. and up to 15 percent.; 50 per cent. on profits between 15 and 20 per cent., and 75 per cent. on profits over 20 per cent. The "big interests" so called, were never so hard hit as by the present Government.

Mr. Crerar is simply pandering to the spirit of unrest when he makes such a statement. The facts are that there has never been a Government which has so little played to "big interests". Mr. Meighen is a son of the soil, he is a poor man himself and a man whose interests are with the common people. He is a man who has worked his way up the ladder by hard work and ability. He is a democrat to the hilt. The "big interests" bogey will not fighten the people of East Elgin.

Weak, Nervous And Run Down

A Condition Afflicting Thousands of People—How to Get New Health

There are thousands of people who are enduring the pain and discomfort of minor ills in the hope that the indisposition is only temporary and will be outgrown in time. Often such illnesses are not serious enough to require the attention of a doctor but will respond to intelligent home treatment if a reliable remedy is used. Women, busy with a multitude of household cares, young women in offices or stores, or girls studying hard in school, easily fall a prey to that condition of bloodlessness known as anaemia. The trouble need not be serious, if prompt effective measures are taken to check it in its early stages. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will restore the elements needed to bring the blood back to strength, and once the blood regains its healthy quality the entire body will soon show the benefit. Among the many who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. James J. Johnston, of Peterboro, Ont., who says: "I can personally strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because of what they have done for me. About two years ago I felt poorly, was terribly weak, nervous and run down. I was easily annoyed and worried and my heart would flutter at the least exertion. I tried several remedies but did not find a cure until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took seven boxes in all and am now enjoying perfect health and have gained in weight. I calculate the cost small when I think of the benefit I received and I recommend the pills to all weak people."

Rich, red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAS SECRET OF AGES BEEN UNEARTHED AT LAST?

Unquestionable Affidavits show New Hair Growth after Baldness!

Remarkable Preparation was Known to Indians—How Long?—No white Man seems to Know! Contains genuine Bear Oil and other Potent Ingredients from Three Kingdoms of Nature

FOR ages man has sought the secret of growing hair on human heads after it had fallen out from one cause or another. Many theories have been advanced as to the best means for preserving the hair, for increasing its growth, and for the prevention of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. Yet scientists have come and gone, leaving behind them the task of solving one of Nature's greatest problems.

Has it at last been solved?

Has Nature herself opened her portals to the wonderful secret? Your own observation in recent years proves that the seeming impossibilities of yesterday are but mere toys of the master minds of today. The aeroplane, in which men outdo the birds in the air—the submarine, which has made Jules Verne's stories of journeys beneath the sea come true. The telephone, the automobile, the wireless telegraph, all go to show the marvelous progress made in the twentieth century—that history-making period in which you actually live, see and understand.

Yet, it has remained for Nature herself to show us the way in many cases to grow hair after baldness. And this simple, natural method which seems to have been known to certain tribes of American Indians from time immemorial, can now be yours.

Indians' Hair Growing Secret Revealed

The story of Kotalko, how the Indians' secret was obtained, how it grew a luxuriant new growth of hair on John Hart Brittain's bald head, probably the first white man to try it, how it is now obtainable so all may test its potency, is told by Mr. Brittain in his own words, under sworn avouchment, a part of which is printed in the next column.

Baldness, dandruff, falling hair and grayness, each have several different causes. While Kotalko cannot create papillae, it has done wonders by inducing hair growth when the baldheaded person (man or woman) had imagined there was no hope. The way to find out whether Kotalko will grow hair in your case or otherwise benefit you (in dandruff, falling hair or grayness) is to make a test of Kotalko for yourself. This you may do under the $300 guarantee—an absolutely unequivocal, fair and square money-refunding offer.

Read the facts—read the additional overwhelmingly convincing evidence of the success of Kotalko submitted by men, women and children who have tried this hair elixir. Decide to have new hair, make the test for yourself. Don't stand and doubt. Use Kotalko now!

A Fortunate Discovery

The Cherokee promised that Mr. Brittain's hair might be grown again if he used a certain exilir.

"WHILE traveling on business (in the old Indian territory, near Tahlequah)—I came in contact with an Indian 'medicine man' of the Cherokee tribe, who told me that my hair could be grown again if I used a certain peculiar salve.

"If you have had any experience with American Indians you know that every tribe has one or more men who understand healing, surgery, etc., in a primitive way, yet they often achieve astonishing cures. The scope of these 'wizards' also includes the ability to improve the appearance and welfare of their tribesmen.

"Although I had forsworn any more speculation in hair-growing lotions or the like, as probably you, the reader of this narrative, have done several times, already, the picturesqueness of this old Indian sage and the rather peculiar odor of his ointment fascinated me. I agreed to use it."

Applied it to His Scalp

"Faithfully I applied the pomade to my bare, shiny pate. It became even more shiny. That was easy enough to understand. Nevertheless, I persisted.

"Quiet perseverance is a very valuable factor in life sometimes. So it proved in this test, for after a little while a light fuzz, or down, became visible upon my scalp.

"This pleased me. It gave me encouragement.

"Thereafter I watched the top of my head in the mirror as persistently as a scientist observes the development of anything under his microscope.

"Slowly the fuzz changed into real hairs and they actually grew. Yet, they grew and grew.

"It seems almost ridiculous to tell it, but I felt unusually good—I was mighty happy.

"Finally there was enough hair for me to apply my brush upon!

"What joy!

"I could actually part my hair! Think of it! This was after complete baldness and after being told that the hair roots were dead."

No Trace of Baldness

"My hair today is as luxuriant as anyone could ever wish.

"Explain, if you can, why a certain mixture of animal, mineral and vegetable components, compounded in a special manner, can induce hair growth when all else fails.

"Even the old Cherokee could only say that the recipe came to him through his predecessors. He was wont to remark that among the real—the full-blooded—Indians of most of the big tribes there was never any baldness."

Traded Rifle For Secret

"I must now tell a most important fact of my experience—one which will interest you.

"I came into possession of the Cherokee wizard's secret. That of Ko-tal-ko—which I now call Kotalko.

"It contains three potential classes of components—animal, vegetable and mineral. These are combined in certain proportions and compounded in a certain manner. I am neither a chemist, doctor of medicine nor scientific theorist. I don't pretend to give any reason for the peculiar action of this pomade.

"The primitive men of our country did not have the advantage of our modern scientific chemistry. They operated upon elementary principles. For example, if an Indian was given to attacks of biliousness, the 'medicine man' made a decoction of selected herbs and surrounded the delivery of it with mysterious incantations. The patient was soon well.

"And so with this hair ointment. It was easy for me to prove to the wizard of the forest that I had no thought of entering into competition with him. Consequently, by the giving of a valuable rifle, I obtained the principle of the compound and was taught just how to prepare it, and since then it has been improved by the processes of practical chemistry."

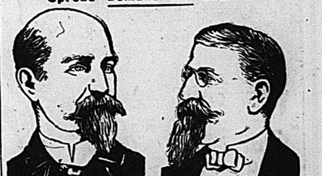
Victory Over Baldness

"When the old Indian gave me this recipe—with considerable ceremony—he asseverated to me that the most important feature was the combination of the animal, vegetable and mineral elements. He allowed that even his formula could be modified and improved (which has been done), so long as these kingdoms were represented. He gave me specimens of the ingredients that he employed.

"I had given most of the contents of my jars to men who were bald and to ladies who were distressed because of the thinness of their hair. The reports which I received were so convincing that I was positive of having found at last just what the world needed."

NOTE: Although Mr. Brittain for many years kept the secret of his victory over baldness to himself, Kotalko is now obtainable at druggists' everywhere. Or get a proof box, postpaid, with book on hair and many testimonials by sending 10 cents to Kotal Company, Limited, 366-H Adelaide Street W., Toronto, Ont.

Reports in Legions of Cases Now Prove Astonishing Results in Hair Growth Almost Beyond Belief. Voluntary Statements from Men and Women of All Ages Causing Wide-Spread Demand for Kotalko



Above are from Photographs of John Hart Brittain Before using Kotalko, and After

REPORTS: An endless quantity of reports on Kotalko, because they are constantly coming in. Full addresses and sworn avouchments on file at our offices. Here are excerpts:

WILLIAM SHAW: "My looking glass is ample proof that Kotalko will grow hair. I had a bald spot over 12 years that has become covered. I am sure that Kotalko will become the most famous hair preparation in the world."

MISS MARY FERRIERA: "When I began to use Kotalko my hair had nearly all fallen out. Then the hair grew again."

GEO. M. SCHWANK: "Even after the second application of Kotalko I could see a difference, for the hair stopped falling out. When I had used two full boxes my hair growth was as good as ever."

LOUISE A. GRAY: "My head is the surest proof that Kotalko is all that it is claimed to be. After a few months of Kotalko my hair is twice as thick and long as it was."

G. K. SKINNER: "I had bald spots on my head for a number of years, and they are now entirely covered with a new growth of hair. Kotalko is what did it."

C. F. HEISER: "I had a large bald spot. Kotalko has developed real, healthy hair all over my head."

AFFIDAVIT re HAIR GROWTH

While completely bald on the top of my head as shown in my photograph which accompanying this affidavit, I adopted a hair cosmetic and formula given me by an old Cherokee Indian. Within six months my head was covered with a new and luxuriant growth of hair. I now supply Ko-tal-ko, a pomade prepared according to the original formula which resulted in my own hair growth. The statements in my advertisement are true and my photographs are correct.

John Hart Brittain

Personally appeared before me, John Hart Brittain, this fifth day of June, 1917, who signed the foregoing in my presence and who being duly sworn, attested that same is true.

QUEEN'S NEEDS NO HELP TO FINISH STADIUM

Kingston, Nov. 18.—It has been stated in the Montreal and Toronto papers that University of Toronto and McGill teams have decided to give the surplus of the receipts of the game here Saturday to Queen's University to enable them to complete the stadium. Queen's authorities state that such is not the case, as the Stadium is the gift of James Richardson, in memory of his brother, Capt. George T. Richardson, who was killed overseas.

It is understood that if any money is given to Queen's it will be used to help wipe out the deficit of the football teams. Last week it cost $1,300 to take the teams to Toronto.

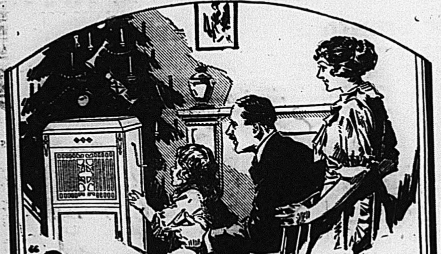
BIG JEWELRY ROBBERY IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 18.—Jewels valued at $400,000 were stolen from Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer, wealthy divorcee, Monday night, after she had been attacked in her home at 58 East Nineteenth street by three men, who wore false beards. She was severely beaten by the thieves, who went away leaving her and two of her servants



"Our Budget Plan will bring the New Edison this Xmas!"

THIS is the time of the year when our Budget Plan is most helpful. You ought to come in right away and find out what it can do for you.

In the first place, it will put a New Edison beside your Christmas tree, (how the family will rejoice!)

In the second place, it will stretch your Christmas dollar so that you'll hardly feel the purchase.

The Budget Plan treats the New Edison as an essential of life, such as a home, and arranges payments on the sound "time" principle. It combines modern business practice with thrift.

This way of treating a dollar actually makes it go farther. Let us explain how the Budget Plan brings the longed-for New Edison for what an extremely ordinary gift would cost,—and makes 1921 thrift pay for the balance.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

When all had passed Tarzan rose and emerged from concealment. He turned to Werper.

"We will follow and slay them," he said.

"Why?" asked the Belgian.

"They are black," explained Tarzan. "It was a black who killed Kala. They are the enemies of the Manganis."

Werper did not relish the idea of engaging in a battle with Basuli and his fierce fighting men. And, again, he had welcomed the sight of them returning toward the Greystoke bungalow, for he had begun to have doubts as to his ability to retrace his steps to the Waziri country. Tarzan, he knew, had not the remotest idea of whither they were going. By keeping at a safe distance behind the laden warriors they would have no difficulty in following them home.

Werper Recognized the Party Immediately.

He argued with the ape-man, therefore, against the latter's desire to exterminate the blacks, and at last he prevailed upon Tarzan to follow them in peace, saying he was sure they would lead them out of the forest into a rich country, teeming with game.

It was many marches from Opar to the Waziri country; but at last came the hour when Tarzan and the Belgian, following the trail of the warriors, topped the last rise, and saw before them the broad Waziri plain, the winding river and the distant forests to the north and west.

A mile or more ahead of them the line of warriors was creeping like a giant caterpillar through the tall grasses of the plain. Tarzan looked out across the familiar vista with no faintest gleam of recognition in his eyes. He did not look in the direction of his bungalow. Werper, however, did. A puzzled expression entered the Belgian's eyes. He shaded them with his palms and gazed long and earnestly toward the spot where the bungalow had stood. He could not credit the testimony of his eyes—there was no bungalow—no barns—no outhouses. The corrals, the haystacks—all were gone. What could it mean?

And then slowly there filtered into Werper's consciousness an explanation of the havoc that had been wrought in that peaceful valley since last his eyes rested upon it—Achmet Zek had been there!

Basuli and his warriors had noted the devastation the moment they had come in sight of the farm. Now they hastened on toward it talking excitedly among themselves in animated speculation upon the cause and meaning of the catastrophe.

When at last they crossed the trampled garden and stood before the charred ruins of their master's bungalow, their greatest fears became convictions in the light of the evidence about them.

"The Arabs," Basuli said, as his men clustered about him.

The Waziri gazed about in mute rage for several minutes. Everywhere they encountered only further evidence of the ruthlessness of the cruel enemy that had come during the Great Bwana's absence and laid waste his property.

"What did they do with 'Lady?'" asked one of the blacks.

They had always called Lady Greystoke thus.

"The women they would have taken with them," said Basuli. "Our women and his."

"I don't understand why I should be so tired in the mornings."

"ARE you often that way?"

"Why, for months I have felt wretched every morning. And it is not because I do not go to bed early enough."

"How do you sleep?"

"Not very well. Lots of nights I lie awake for hours, restless and fidgetty, thinking about everything, but not resting or sleeping."

"Have you consulted a doctor?"

"Yes. The doctor says I am anaemic; the blood is thin and watery, and the nervous system run down for want of proper nutrition."

"Are you taking any medicine?"

"No, not now; he gave me some tablets to make me sleep, but I had to keep on taking them, and I could not see that they were of any lasting benefit. I don't like drugging myself that way."

"Why don't you try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"I don't know just why, unless it is because I thought it was only for the nerves, whereas what I need is something to enrich the blood."

"Well, that is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. It is only by enriching the blood that you can restore exhausted nerves."

"Perhaps I should try it.

"I certainly would if I were you, for I know it is wonderful the way it helps some people who are anaemic and generally run down in health."

"I have no appetite, you know, and what I do eat does not seem to go to the improvement of the blood. When one gets in that condition it is most discouraging. This is why I have such blue days sometimes, and I do hope the Nerve Food will help me."

"I am sure you will not be disappointed, and if I were you I would not lose a day before getting started with this treatment."

MANY CANDIDATES IN B.C. PROVINCIAL ELECTION

With an average of rather more than three candidates for each of the forty-seven seats in the legislature with 29 candidates for the six Vancouver seats and nineteen for the four seats in Victoria, anything may happen in the British Columbia general elections which will be held on December first. One hundred and fifty-three candidates have been nominated in the province. One candidate was elected by acclamation, Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Revelstoke. J. T. Smith, Settlers candidate, has withdrawn from the contest in Comax. More candidates are thus in the field than ever before in the history of British Columbia.

The reason for this is variously attributed to the slackening of party discipline, the breaking away of many independents from the old party folds and the tendency to form farmer-soldier and soldier-labor parties and finally, the fact that the last legislature abolished the requirement for deposit by a candidate of one hundred dollars.

Women for the first time will vote at the provincial general election. At the last election a referendum vote on woman suffrage favored the extension of the franchise, and one of the first acts of the new government when it came into office was to submit a bill giving the women the right to vote. But while they have the right to cast their ballots, and to sit in parliament, few of them are seeking the latter privilege. Only three women were nominated for legislative honors on Wednesday, November 10. All three are running in Vancouver city, one as the nominee of the Liberal party, one with the endorsation of the Conservatives and one as an independent. The first woman to sit in the British Columbia legislature, Mrs. Ralph Smith, is again in the field. She was elected at a by-election in Vancouver to succeed her husband, the late Hon. Ralph Smith, minister of finance in the Brewster government, who died a few months after the formation of the Liberal government in 1916 and a few months after his appointment to the cabinet.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

Frank Keegan was last evening arrested on a charge of assault, occasioning grievous bodily harm. Later he was liberated on bail being secured. It appears that the accused and Jacob Maracle, on Thursday, at a coal yard in this city had a dispute and it is alleged that Keegan struck Maracle on the head, inflicting an ugly scalp wound. The case will come up for trial in a few days.

NEW CITIZEN

Mr. C. A. Cameron, of Toronto, has arrived in Belleville to take charge of the legal business of the late Francis S. Wallbridge, which will be carried on as usual. Mr. W. H. Wallbridge, of Toronto, will be connected in an advisory capacity with the business. Mr. Cameron has been connected with the legal firm of Bain, Bicknell, Macdonell and Gordon, Toronto.

ALLEGED THEFT

Gerald Yetman, a young man who it is alleged stole some jewellery from the residence of Mr. A. E. Brown of Sidney Township, where he was employed was brought up before Magistrate Masson this morning. As the case was not ready to be proceeded with, an enlargement until Friday next was made.

GOOD MARKET

Despite the fact that some of the country roads were today bad for travelling, there was a good attendance upon the market. There is not much change in prices over those of last week. Fresh dairy butter was quite plentiful selling from 55c to 60c per pound. Fresh eggs are high, the average price being 75c per dozen. Dressed chickens sold from $1.50 to $2.50 per pair according to quality. Ducks brought from $2.50 to $3 a pair. Turkeys are yet a scarce foul upon the market. Potatoes appear to be advancing in price, retailing at $1.75 to $2 a bag. Garden produce was offered for sale in considerable quantities and much was disposed of.

ACCUSED OF STEALING

George Smith and Frank Stevens were this morning arraigned before Magistrate Masson charged that they did on the night of the 17th inst, break into a hen house the property of Mr. Arthur Clazie, Thurlow Township with intent to steal therefrom. The accused in answer to the usual enquiry as to their choice of trial stated they desired to go before a higher court. Evidence of sufficient nature was taken to commit them for trial. For some time past Mr. Clazie and other farmers in his locality have had a number of chickens stolen in some cases as high as 70. Smith and Stevens a week ago were caught in Mr. Clazie's coop and were brought to the city and locked up. They claim the door was opened and they walked in with the intention of sleeping there for the night.

SEVENTEEN CENT DINNERS ON ELLIS ISLAND

Delegates to the convention of the National Hotel Association in New York City couldn't believe that only 15 minutes from the tip of Manhattan tempting meals are served for exactly 17 cents each. So Frederick A. Wallis, Immigration Commissioner on Ellis Island invited doubters on a tour of culinary inspection, just to show they do it on Uncle Sam's doorstep.

A number of the hotel men, who say they are intent on bringing down the cost of tavern fare, accepted the Commissioner's invitation, with the idea of infusing some of the Ellis Island methods into the conduct of their own kitchens.

"For particulars", said the Commissioner, "see MacGowan".

The secret of reducing the costliness of provender at it appears, steaming and succulent, on the dinner table is a mystery, but MacGowan, D. T. MacGowan, caterer on the Island, is on the inside. His explanation runs: "Purchase on a lowest bid basis, quantity, production, and profits never more than 1.95 per cent. on the monthly investment; result, 17 cent dinners."

And when someone interposed that MacGowan "couldn't serve a 'regular' meal—for 17 cents", he exhibited, as a sample menu, the following:

Breakfast—Rice with milk, stewed prunes, bread and butter and coffee with two lumps of sugar to the cup.

Dinner—English beef soup with barley, Irish stew with vegetables, tapioca pudding and coffee.

Supper—Lamb hash, green peppers, bread and butter, blackberry jelly, coffee and tea.

HUMPBACK WHALES WITH HIND LEGS

Capture off the coast of British Columbia of a remarkable humpback whale with two hind limbs became known recently when the bones of the unique appendages arrived in the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. Scientists attached to the museum thumbed their tomes on evolution, cudgeled their brains and concluded the legs might have been a singular reversion to primitive type.

Back in the prehistoric ages, they said, the multigreat granddads of modern whales may have strutted about on land. But, so far as they knew, no other whale with bones outside the body had ever been seen by man.

There was no earthly or waterly reason for the rear legs on the whale found off the British Columbia coast. It couldn't walk on them, as they were but four-feet long, while the whale weighed several tons. It couldn't use them for swimming, as they were not flappers nor were the pedal extremities webbed. They were simply excess baggage.

But now they are the subject of lectures, lantern slides and profound discussion.

TORONTO MAN SUED FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

An action has been entered at Osgood Hall by Miss Estella M. Rowe, of Prescott, in which she seeks to recover unstated damages from A. J. Johnston of Toronto for alleged breach of promise of marriage. She claims that they met in Guelph and kept company for some time. The defendant went overseas in 1915 and upon his return visited the plaintiff, who claims that the marriage was then set for June, 1919. The plaintiff states that Johnston married another woman in July 1919.

Future Relations Within The Empire

Will Be Discussed at June Conference Of Prime Ministers

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—That the large question of future constitutional relations within the British Empire and the future status of High Commissioners representing self-governing dominions in London will be two of the subjects for discussion at the Imperial Conference to be held next June, is suggested in recent cable despatches from England.

The two topics are evenly related. As long ago as 1912 the British Government suggested that closer relations might be maintained between the Mother Country and Canada if the Dominion were represented in London by a Minister. The presence of a responsible Canadian Minister in London, it was said, would facilitate consultation between the Imperial and Dominion Governments on questions of common interest to both. For a time Canada was represented by a Cabinet Minister. Sir George Perley as acting High Commissioner, retained his place in the Canadian Government as a Minister without portfolio. Later, when Sir George became High Commissioner and was released from the Ministry, Canada had a Minister of the Overseas Military forces resident in England. Since the business of the department of the Overseas Military Forces has been completed, no Canadian Cabinet Minister has been stationed in London.

During the war, moreover, there came into existence an Imperial War Cabinet. That body was composed of members of the Government of Great Britain and the Prime Ministers of the overseas Dominions. It was formed for the consideration of questions arising in connection with the waging of the war. Many Imperial Statesmen, however, were struck with the possibility that the establishment of this body for wartime co-operation might be a step forward in the direction of a solution of the problem of future constitutional relations between the component parts of the Empire. Every member of the Imperial War Cabinet was responsible to the Government and Parliament of his own Dominion.

Imperial Council

Formation of an Imperial Council on the lines of the War Cabinet would call for the presence in London of responsible Cabinet Ministers from the Dominions to attend its meetings. Apparently it is with this in mind that it is suggested that the June Conference will consider the future status of High Commissioners.

Much as the members of the Imperial War Cabinet were impressed in 1918 by the possibilities underlying it. They were of opinion that the question of constitutional relations should be discussed at a special meeting of the Imperial Conference at some future date. It was felt that the subject was of such importance as to make careful consideration. It is doubtful if the Canadian Government, which has been much engaged with domestic affairs since the war ended, has been expecting an effort to deal with the problem of imperial relations so early as June next.

Piles Cured Permanently Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

Mr. A. N. Steele Cupar, Sask., writes: "I had been troubled with my Stomach, Piles and Constipation for years until I had become very thin and looked 20 years older. A leading Doctor in Regina told me that the main canal was badly ulcered. I gradually became worse, until one day when purchasing a threshing outfit from Mr. Russell of Regina, Mr. Russell noticed my condition and said: 'I can cure you. Get a J.B.L. Cascade. Well, I did so, and the first night I used it I slept all night for the first time in weeks, and in a short time felt quite myself again. It also cured my piles, which had troubled me for years."

If you are troubled with constipation don't drug yourself. Internal bathing with the J.B.L. Cascade is the only permanent way. This wonderful appliance is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, New York. It is pleasant and easy to use and will serve the whole family. It should be in every home. See the J.B.L. Cascade at McKeown's Drug Store where it will be shown and explained to you. Ask for 32-page booklet all about internal bathing. It is free, or write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College street, Toronto, Ont.

The Voice of the Pulpit

THERE is no other class of men more interested in the well-being of the community than the ministers of the various churches, whether Protestant or Catholic. They meet all classes. They see the benefits of life insurance and the suffering entailed where life insurance has been neglected. They speak from personal observation.

A well-known preacher, author and lecturer, who is celebrated all over Canada, says:

> "I carry every dollar's worth of insurance which my income will permit" and further
> "Insurance is the most practical form of applied Christianity of which I have any knowledge."

This famous divine shows the strength of his convictions by putting them into practice.

Another noted advocate of life insurance was Archbishop Ireland, the celebrated Roman Catholic Prelate. Said he

> "I have very little regard for any man who leaves this world without having been able to leave behind him a life insurance policy so that those dependent upon him are provided for."

FRENCH GENERAL DID NOT MISS HIS WINE

General Fayolle said upon his return recently to France from his three weeks stay in the United States "I have just discovered America and America has conquered me. It is a wonderland."

"It has been a hard fight, those three weeks in America," the General went on with the usual humorous twinkle in his eye. "I come back on the verge of collapse with grim dyspepsia holding me in its grip. Without taking back anything that I have said about American Expeditionary Force cooks being rank amateurs, I must take off my hat to American chefs. There were many banquets, luncheons, I survived them all."

To the suggestion that most of the chefs at the leading hotels were French, General Fayolle replied: "They may be but they certainly have undergone an evolution for they had strange dishes of their own."

"Did you miss your wine with your meals," he was asked.

"I never missed my wine," Fayolle replied.

"Don't ask me to talk local American politics," General Fayolle went on when requested to explain whether he meant that he had his wine twice a day as is his custom or that he did not miss it temperamentally.

"I have had a grandiose reception that I shall never forget although I am certain that it was not for me personally but because I represented Marshal Foch and the French army."

"I lived through it," concluded the General,—"but even the organizers of my tour had to admit that it was a record for endurance."

DRIVE AGAINST NEW YORK WETS

New York, Nov. 19.—A concentrated drive is planned by federal, state and municipal authorities in an effort to make New York City dry within thirty days, it was learned here tonight.

The tentative plans, a city official said, which were formulated at several secret conferences during the last week, aim to end illicit buying, selling, drinking or carrying of any beverage stronger than one-half of one per cent. Every policeman in the five boroughs, it is said, virtually will become a prohibition enforcement agent.

A final conference is to be held in a week or ten days, after which public announcement will be made of the crusade, thus giving warning to saloons, "speak-easies" and other places where liquor is sold that the illegal traffic will be suppressed.

It is also reported that the administration at Albany would use the state police in co-operation with other agencies in following the city's example.

Many Dying Of Starvation From Famine In China

NATIVES LEAVING FAMINE DISTRICTS IN LONG PROCESSIONS SEEKING WORK AND FOOD—FAMILIES LEFT BEHIND—EATING LEAVES AND CAKES OF MILLET, CHAFF, CLOVER AND WEEDS — MANY CHILDREN SUFFERING FROM HUNGER.

PEKING, Oct. 20, (By Mail)—The correspondent of The Associated Press who has just visited the famine district met long processions of men carrying little bagsful of clothes slung over their shoulders, leaving their homes to seek new ones where food can be obtained. They were trudging from 100 to 300 miles to Tien-Tsin or Peking in the hope of finding either work or charity.

Their women and children have been left at home, obviously for the reason that the regions which they have to traverse is so impoverished that there is little hope of successful begging.

Asked why they had not brought their families, one man produced what looked like slabs of baked mud. They were made of millet chaff, clover and weeds with minimum of grain. "Can little children and old women walk all day with such food to eat " they asked in reply.

In half a dozen villages along the Grand Canal nine out of ten farmers have sold their lands at one-tenth to one-fiftieth the normal price. Wealthy business men from the market towns were said to have bought most of the parcels of land, driving hard bargains with the owners who have no recourse but to sell or rent. If the owner chooses the latter expedient he is likely to get $3 a year for his few 'mu' of land (a 'mu' is approximately one-sixth of an acre) and the renter takes the whole crop for the period of the lease.

EATING LEAVES

In Chia Hwang was a row of young elms and locusts, from which the leaves had been stripped for food. Four or five persons were sick in the village, two of hunger. Here the children have been dying from lack of proper nourishment. Eight had succumbed in the previous 10 days. The sale of clothes has been the chief means of support. Every few days some man walks thirty miles to Tehchow as selling agent for four or five families and with the meagre returns brings back a few more days' rations.

For the most part, there have been few of the outward, physical signs of advanced starvation but in the village of Shia Chung I saw babies with the faces of old men, children whose ribs were pitifully visible under the bluish skin. Here there had been a 100 per cent. crop failure. All who could have gone and those left were held by extreme poverty.

SOLD CLOTHES FOR FOOD

At a village near Wu Cheng I met an old man over sixty. He had been to the market town and sold two long coats and some boots.. The proceeds he carried in a basket on his arm, about six pounds of red millet. His sons, he said, had gone somewhere north, where, he didn't know. At home were his wife and his sons' wives and their seven children. Mixed with leaves and clover he figured that his purchase of millet would last several days. "After that if we die, we die," he said. The Chinese peasant takes his hunger smilingly as he does everything. Despondency is remarkably rare.

The only practicable way to save a majority of the sufferers seems to be to open food kitchens all over the stricken district on a gigantic scale. Road and canal projects intended to afford work for the population, even were it not attended by too much delay, will only partially meet the requirements.

Fires Are Raging in Dublin District

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Fire broke out in Dublin Sunday evening in various places, says the Dublin correspondent of the Daily Mail. Twelve nurses were among those arrested yesterday.

The Mail says that arrangements are under way to send large reinforcements of troops to Ireland and that the opinion is held in official quarters that the danger of assassination is spreading.

There was a sudden outburst of renewed military activity in the principal streets at midnight. In the first few moments of the new battle several people were reported to have been killed.

TAXICAB LOST FOR THREE DAYS IN A HOLE

The dilapidated condition of Mexico City streets, which caused taxicab owners of the city to stage a demonstration of protest recently, has been made the subject of an investigating tour by the city council. Members were carried in automobiles over the city, and so effectively did the chauffeurs strike all the ruts and holes that a budget of 300,000 pesos for street improvement was voted the next day.

At the demonstration held by the taxicab men a huge poster announced that a small car and its driver had dropped into a hole on Avenida Madera, the main thoroughfare of the city and were lost for three days before they were accidentally discovered.

SAFEGUARD AGAINST ANIMAL DISEASES

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—It is announced by the Department of Agriculture that in order to prevent the introduction into Canada of of animal diseases, a ministeriall order governing the importation of hides, skins, etc., has been passed. These regulations come within the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, are administered by the veterinary director general, and under conditions stated in the order the importation of hides of horses, cattle and buffalo, calf skins, sheep skins, goat skins, glue stock, bones, hoofs and horns into the Dominion of Canada from any of the countries of Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Central America, Mexico, New Zealand and Australia is prohibited. Regulations governing the importation of wool and hair have been passed with the same purpose in view.

Soldier-Farmers Repaying Loans

Over $1,000,000 Returned by Successful Veterans on Land

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—More than one million dollars has been received in repayments of loans made by the Soldier Settlement Board, according to interim reports from branch offices of the board throughout the Dominion, and the expectations are that this figure will be considerably exceeded.

It is announced that war veterans placed on farm lands in Ontario under the Soldier Settlement Board have made payments of principal and interest due November 1, amounting to $220,772. The amount due on that date was $222,675. Seventy-five per cent of the 1,148 soldier farmers, whose payments were due, promptly met their obligations, amounting to $125,045, and the balance was made up by 85 settlers, who paid off their entire loans or considerable portion of them in advance. These figures are as of November 14.

The large number of settlers who are repaying in full their stock and equipment loans, which run for six years, and their land loans, which run for 25 years, is a satisfactory feature of the reports being received by the board from branch offices. Officials of the board express great satisfaction with results following the first due period, showing that splendid progress is being made and that the great majority of soldier settlers will make good.

Wheat Declining.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Wheat prices dropped today to the lowest level yet, although it is now seventy days since the grain market began to fall. Before noon wheat sold down to 1.62 for December and 1.55 for March.

Toronto University Won

Kingston, Nov. 22.—All world's altitude records were smashed by the McGill University football here Saturday when the University of Toronto beat them 14 to 6 in the play-off for the Intercollegiate Union championship. The teams finished the schedule on even terms, and Saturday's struggle was for the title. McGill's "went up in the air" five minutes after the commencement of play, and when they descended in the final quarter the battle had been won by Toronto. The score when the final period commenced was 12 to 0.

Bootleggers At War Down East

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Windsor, Ont., compared with Valleyfield, Que., in the matter of liquor, is dry, a prominent citizen of Valleyfield says, and alleges that hydroplanes, fast motor boats, speedy automobiles and motor trucks form the chief stock in trade of the whiskey ring operating from that peaceful and quiet little town. Operations have been conducted on a large scale during the past summer it is claimed, and with great profit to those concerned. But alas, the bootleggers have gone to war among each other and some startling events are predicted in the near future if some kind of peace treaty cannot be agreed to.

The resident of Valleyfield made some interesting statements regarding the wholesale whiskey running which he claims has been conducted from this town and the vicinity to points in the United States. The hydroplane which appeared last summer, he said, carried over on every trip, sixteen cases of liquor. Being a very fast and powerful machine it could make a great number of trips during the day.

The highway leading to the United States border at night was not safe for pedestrians, horse drawn vehicles or motor cars not engaged in whiskey running, the informant states. He says that every night at dusk the cars would start for the international boundary line. Generally the first car to leave would go empty. Inspectors or other "nosey" people stopped the car to find if it contained liquor, this would be sufficient warning for those coming behind to stop and seek cover. Then there were the bolder spirits who would load a machine full of booze and hit for the line as fast as the car would go. They would stop for no one he says and numerous accidents occurred. In one instance a huge eight cylinder high powered car, loaded to the "guard rails" with liquor ran into a man who was driving a rather delapidated and antiquated horse. The horse was killed. The owner of the car stepped out of the machine and after speaking to the owner of the horse for a moment offered him $400 to keep his mouth shut regarding the accident and also to compensate him for the horse. The latter being worth about its value in weight to the glue factory, the owner accepted the offer with alacrity.

The profits made by these men are said to be enormaus and it is a matter of common gossip in Valleyfield as to how much this one and that one has made out of the illegal liquor trade within the past year or so. Liquor which is sold in Valleyfield for about $50 per case is taken to the United States and sold for as high as $300 a case. This applies to the better brand of Scotch, of which Americans claim there is a great shortage.

What the outcome of the war now being waged among the members of the whiskey ring at the present time will come to is not known, but one thing is known and that is that a number of threats of "bumping off," etc., have been heard during the past days. In the meantime the "rum hounds" on the other side of the line will have to look elsewhere for their crocks until peace is once more declared in Valleyfield.

Storm Warnings On Great Lakes

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Storm warnings were ordered out by the weather bureau today for the Great Lakes Territory from Northern Lake Michigan through Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario, and for the Atlantic coast from Sandy Hook to Eastport, Maine. The storm area centred over Northern Ohio is moving eastward and will increase in intensity. Strong easterly winds rising to gales off coast may be expected.

BODY WASHED ASHORE MAY BE OF CAPT. BEAUPRE

Kingston, Nov. 22.—The decomposed body found on the lake shore at Sandy Point, N.Y., Tuesday, by Elmer Tryon, a fisherman, may be that of Captain Charles Beaupre, Kingston, who commanded the ill-fated steamer Waffle which disappeared mysteriously last year carrying with it four men and one woman.

The body is that of a man apparently sixty to sixty-five years of age and bears the appearance of having been in the water for some time as there is little flesh on the head and only a small portion of the face remains. A pair of shoes and a woollen shirt were found on the body. These may serve to identify the body.

Horrible Plot By Sinn Fein Is Uncovered

Communicate Fever to Troops and Glanders to Horses—Documents Captured

London, Nov. 20.—Sir Hamar Greenwood in the House of Commons today said in a recent raid official Sinn Fein documents were captured which favored plans to communicate typhoid fever to troops and glanders to army horses. In view of possible discussion which may arise over the document, the full text as officially issued tonight follows:

"From the commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican Army to his chief of staff:

"The troops themselves:

"How about spreading typhoid fever among them? I know of no other ordinary disease that could be spread among them with safety to the rest of the population. They might retaliate, but that is for consideration. To get typhoid fever one must eat or drink the typhoid bacillus or microbe. It is easy getting fresh and virulent cultures. The best medium of conveying it is through milk. They can also be conveyed in water, but through water is difficult unless there are special cisterns or tanks near each place into which a pint or so could be poured. Milk is by far the best medium, but is milk used? It can be investigated.

"Caution: There is no danger to the operator unless he gets microbes on his hands or clothes. The cans would have to get special attention after the infected milk had been emptied. They could, in turn, convey the disease to the civil population. If these ideas are of any use, you will need expert advice, so I need not go into the matter further. If these are thought practical let me know and I'll study other things in the same line in the hope of discovering the possibilities. At the moment I can't think of anything else in that line.

Glanders for Horses

"Give my regards to all and hope the success will continue. I enjoyed my visit and will now feel in personal touch more than ever. God bless you all. It should be possible to give the horses glanders. I know they can be inoculated, but that method would be impossible. The disease is got from harness and by putting the horse in a stable from which an infected horse has been removed. Therefore, it should be possible to pass the infection by means of doctoring oats, and it should be possible to get the oats

"Method: Any doctor or veterinary

"Mthod: Any doctor or veterinary surgeon will be able to tell you how to grow the microbe. If they don't know they can look it up in any text book on bacteriology. It is necessary to get a fresh culture, that is, microbes grown from the discharge of an infected horse. This should be easily got round a veterinary college or some place. Microbes kept in a laboratory lose their virulence with each sub-culture. If you get the microbes they can be grown in a chicken incubator, if you can't get them grown in a laboratory. Any doctor can find out a medium in which they will grow.

"Assume you have a half-pint of active microbes: Then take a hollow stick or a piece of piping. Get another stick to fit in this like the ramrod of a gun. Put this stick down in a sack of oats, withdraw the ramrod and then pour in the microbes, while you at the same time withdraw the hollow stick or piping. In this way you can distribute microbes from the bottom of the sack to the top without disturbing the oats, and it can be done quickly.

"Caution: Operator must not allow any of the fluid on his hands or clothes. The stick and bottle should be burned after use. A couple of thousand of horses infected would make a sensation. Saddles, etc., would have to be burned and stables disinfected."

SLUMP IN SUGAR HAS BEEN CHECKED

Montreal, Nov. 18.—A truce has been declared in the sugar war with the denial of officials of the Dominion Sugar Company that its price has been reduced to $11.75 per hundred pounds and with the statement that the firm was still offering sugar at the old rates, once more a uniform price is being charged by all the refineries. The big four have followed the Dominion Sugar Company in their price cutting, and the Atlantic, Acadia, St. Lawrence and Canada refineries are now selling to the wholesalers at $12 less five per cent. per hundredweight.

Grant Morden In Role Ot Critic

Accuses Chamberlain of Harming Britain's Industrial Position.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Chancellor Chamberlain found another severe Canadian critic in last night's debate in the House of Commons. Grant Morden charged him with being largely responsible for the unfortunate British industrial position, necessitating large public works to relieve the unemployed. His excess profits duty was the "most pernicious tax ever levied on the commercial classes in this country."

The seven per cent. bank rate for which the Treasury was responsible, "is an artificial rate. Indeed, money is being freely loaned in Lombard street at five per cent."

There were other causes of unemployment. Thus, the British port authorities, including London, Mersey, and the Clyde, were a disgrace to Britain. "I was on the Clyde the other day when they were discharging 500 tons of ore per day at a cost of approximately three shillings two pence per ton. Last summer one of our Canadian ships discharged 13,000 tons in two and three-quarter hours. That ship would have been nearly a month discharging in the Clyde. In Canada we load a ton of freight, carry it for thousands of miles, discharge it for less than four shillings and make money. In the United Kingdom the discharge costs practically this amount."

Half the British iron and steel production comes from foreign ores, yet the greatest deposit of ore in the world lies in our own Empire within a few days distance. Unless that ore can be put down here at a reasonable rate Britain's great furnaces and mills must be starved. Mr. Morden also pleaded for a reformed trade unionism based on payment by results.

BIG WILL CONTEST HAS BEEN SETTLED

Boston, Nov. 22.—Announcement that the contest over the will of Edward F. Searles, of Metheun and New York, involves many millions of dollars, had been settled out of court was made last night by Charles F. Choate, Jr., counsel for the executors and Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for Albert V. Searles, of Boston, a nephew of the testator who contested the document They refused to disclose the terms of the settlement.

Under the terms of the will, Albert Searles was to forfeit the bequest of $250,000 made to him if he should contest the will, the legacy in that case to go to the University of California. At hearings in the Essex County Probate Court at Salem, in October, Mr. Whipple argued that undue influence had been exerted in the making of the will at a time when the aged millionaire was physically and mentally incompetent to understand its complicated provisions.

It was charged that a plot existed to gain control of the estate and the plaintiff's plea sharply attacked the motives of Arthur T. Walker, a New York clerk who was made residuary legatee. Walker once taught school in Ontario.

Minister Bags Fine Moose

Chapleau, Nov. 22.—Rev. E. W. MacBrien, Methodist minister at Chapleau shot a very fine big moose on a short hunting trip in this neighborhood this past week with R. J. Allen. This is his first experience of big game hunting in this district. Local hunters have been very fortunate in their pursuit of big game this season, most of them returning with either a deer or a moose, and report a plentiful supply of game.

Wholesale Slaying In Dublin Results In Isolation of City

PREMEDITATED MURDER OF BRITISH OFFICERS IN VARIOUS SECTIONS—GENERAL MACREADY PLACES CORDON AROUND CITY—REPRISALS FEARED.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Sinn Fein launched another campaign of murder in Dublin today. The result of their activities is at least fourteen dead. A dozen men, seven of them officers and former officers, were shot and killed.

Two other men believed to have been members of the British secret police in Ireland were killed at the Gresham Hotel, the biggst and most centrally located in the Irish capital.

The murder raids were carried out in broad daylight by parties of about twenty in number. Except for the two victims in Gresham Hotel, the men were killed in their own homes. One of the most brutal cases was that of Captain Newbury, who was murdered in the presence of his wife.

SHOT IN HIS BED.

Despatches to the Daily Express from Dublin say that the shootings at the Hotel Gresham were carried out by fifteen men. Upon entering the hotel, it is said, they held up the house staff with revolvers and then examined the register. The hall porter was then compelled to conduct the visitors to the bedroom of Captain McCormick. They found him sitting upon the bed reading a newspaper. As he hastily attempted to leave the bed he was shot and killed.

The civilian Wilde also was killed in bed, it is declared.

The Government entertains grave apprehension about eventualities tonight, and all precautions have been taken to prevent reprisals by the police and military. The police barracks in Dublin have been picketed to prevent the men from leaving their quarters. There are large detached forces near Dublin, however, which are harder to control. Everything has been done, nevertheless, to forestall reprisals.

The streets of the city were immediately placed under a heavy patrol by the military, who restored order by firing their rifles in order to disperse the crowds.

Great Interest In By-Elections

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—Today will bring the verdict of the electors in two important and well-campaigned by-elections for the House of Commons in East Elgin, Ont., and Yale-Cariboo, B.C. In both constituencies the heaviest artillery of the opposing parties in the Dominion House has been brought into action and results will, it is acknowledged by all, be very significant.

Candidates in East Elgin are three, J. L. Stansell, National Liberal and Conservative; W. G. Charlton, Liberal; and S. S. McDermand, United Farmer. In Yale-Cariboo there is a straight contest between J. Mackenzie National or Government candidate, and Col. C. Edgett, Independent, who is endorsed by Liberals, soldiers, farmer and labor forces.

While friends of the respective candidates in both constituencies are claiming a sure election for their men, Independent observers declare that indications are by no means definite either way.

OMAHA HAUL $100,000.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—Loot obtained by bandits who plundered a mail car on a Chicago, Rock Island passenger train late yesterday between Des Moines and Omaha, amounted to $100,000, according to unofficial estimates.

The robbery, the second in this vicinity, has aroused Federal investigators and they were running down every clue in an effort to trap the robbers.

DIAMONDS IN TEETH BADGE OF MATRIMONY

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—Twin solitaire diamonds flash from the teeth of Mrs. Mabel King Hickman, of San Francisco. One is a memorial to a husband dead fourteen years, the other is in honor of her present husband.

Diamond studded teeth are, in Mrs. Hickman's code, as acceptable a badge of matrimony as the customary plain gold ring.

The solitaire in one of her teeth was taken from Mrs. Hickman's engagement ring. Her first husband, William King, requested that she have the betrothal jewel set where it never could be lost. Her present husband, Augustine Hickman supplied the second diamond.

Two women and seven children burned to-day in village of padoue, Matane County, Quebec.

National Campaign Totals $2,325,772

TORONTO, Nov. 20—Collections on subscriptions to the Methodist National Campaign up to November 15 total $2,325,772, or 47 per cent. of the $4,898,463 subscribed to that date. A statement issued by the Forward Movement offices of the Methodist Church shows that New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island conference leads the conferences in percentages paid in, with 61.8 per cent. Toronto conference is at the bottom of the list with 37.9 per cent. Hamilton conference has paid up 55.5 per cent., and London 55.7 per cent.

Expenditures on special objectives is stated as $1,875,000, one-half going to the Missionary Society and the other to the Superannuation Fund. Disbursements for new churches, hospitals, institutes, social centres, etc., under the Home Mission Department has taken $238,075, and the Foreign Department has expended $148,400 for like purposes in Japan and China. The three-quarters of a million received by the Superannuation Fund has been invested in Dominion and Provincial bonds of long date maturity averaging an annual interest return of substantially over 6 per cent.

To November 15 payments from the Colleges' Special Fund to the Methodist colleges in the various provinces totalled $371,961.

IMMUNITY PROMISED INFLUENZA VICTIMS

Paris, Nov. 19.—Proof that anyone once having had influenza is immune from future attacks has been provided the Academy of Medicine by Professor C. Dopfer, head specialist, at Val-De-Grace Hospital.

The discovery was made by inoculating a volunteer patient with microbes of la grippe during the epidemic of 1918-1919. A severe case was the result. A few weeks later the patient was inoculated again in the same way, but this time his system successfully withstood the test, and he was not ill.

Other eminent doctors, including Dujarric, Riviere, Cunha, Fonseca and Magalhes, endorse the statement that influenza of the type prevailing during and immediately after the great war is a disease one cannot have twice.

RE-OPENING OF CITADEL

On Saturday evening the Salvation Army Citadel, situated on Pinnacle street, which for some time has been closed owing to extensive improvements being made, was re-opened for service. Despite the chilly atmosphere a goodly number were in attendance at the open air meeting and the Citadel was filled with friends of the Army. The services were in charge of Col. Rawlings of Toronto, Field-Secretary who was assisted by Col. Miller, of Toronto, Property Secretary. The latter was some years ago in Belleville for some time, and was then identified with the Army Adjutant Cavender, in charge of the local corp also assisted in the service as did Capt. T. D. Ruston. The service was bright and inspiring, and of a jubilant nature. The fine band of the corps was present and rendered a number of tuneful selections and the songsters added their sweet voices to the proceedings. The general appearance of the Citadel was favorably commented upon and much credit is due Adj Cavender for the improvements made. Col. Rawlin and Col. Miller remained here over Sunday and assisted in the services.

MUSICAL SERVICE

In spite of the inclement weather, a large congregation assembled last evening to hear the Organ Recital given by Ernest Wheatley A.R.C.O. The organ pieces were all chosen by members of the congregation and covered a wide field of the popular classics. After hearing the numbers one does not wonder that the Recitalist has had so many offers of late both in the Dominion and in England for he certainly shows in his renditions, real musicianly insight and a clever mastery of the instrument. We trust St. Thomas' may keep him for a long time. Mrs. A. P. Allen sang Liddle's "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" with much feeling and with a splendid tone quality and Mrs. Wheatley's rendering of "God That Madest Earth and Heaven" by Newton was in her usual expressive style. "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "The Publican" were sung by Mr. Percy Cook in a most able manner and were very enjoyable. The choir of the church sang the anthem "Abide With Me" in an acceptable manner. All the choral work was rendered from the gallery of the church and one could not help but notice that in this position the result was far more effective than when sung from the chancel. Mr. Wheatley and the church are to be congratulated upon a most successful musical evening.

BLEW DOOR OFF SAFE.

New York, Nov. 19.—Safe-crackers, it was learned today, entered the offices of the American Steel Frame & Band Iron Company at 330 Water St., blew the door off the safe and stole Liberty bonds and cash approximating $10,000 in value.

Enough explosive, it was learned had been used on the safe to blow up a fair-sized building, and the concussion must have rocked the vicinity of the structure, which is deserted after business hours. The explosion was so strong that it not only blew off the door, but broke it in two.

The police, it is said, told the company officials to keep the matter quiet until an investigation could be made. They declared it to be the work of professionals and a "clean" job. There were no signs that would indicate how the thieves gained entrance to the building, but fingerprint experts took photographs of prints left on the safe doors.

WHAT WILL EDUCATION DO FOR YOUR CHARACTER

"Sow a thought and reap an act; sow a character and reap a destiny." Leave out the middle terms—"sow a thought and reap a destiny", and you are startled by the power of thought. In that wonderful collection of Hebrew wisdom known as the Proverbs those are the words, "As he thinketh within himself, so is he."

If education is primarily teaching a man to think, to control his thoughts, to be master of his mind, it is an absolute essential in the matter of character-building. The secret of a noble character is the cultivation of noble thought.

The college is not the only place, of course, where noble character may be cultivated, but one advantage of the college education consists in the fact that for four years a man is brought into daily contact with the great minds and characters of the ages and he cannot escape from the influence of their ennobling power. Not every college man becomes a noble character, but a man's chances for this attainment are greatly multiplied by the opportunities of a college education.

Education is the preparation of an individual to meet and to master his environment. Of course it will help a man to make a living, but its supreme purpose is to enable him to make a LIFE. Even if one is never to be known outside his own community, he ought to be educated, for it is only thus that he is equipped for a happy, private life. Four years in college will enlarge a man's horizon and reveal to him new worlds. It will give an added richness and beauty to life. It will help him to know the world in which he lives. The real purpose of education is not to cram the memory with facts but to equip the whole man to fulfil the purposes for which he was created; not to make us seem greater to the world, but to make the world, life, character, and service seem greater to us.

Education puts a man into fellowship with all the ages. It enables him to listen intelligently while all the poets and the prophets and the sages of the centuries talk to him. It multiplies his life in his own generation. He will live more in a day than an ignorant man can live in a century.

NOT A CANADIAN AMONG SALESMEN

Windsor, Nov. 19.—Urging Canadian manufacturers to "get busy" in cultivating the export trade of Great Britain and its Dominions, A. N. Lawrence, Foreign Sales Agent for the Ford Motor Co., told members of the Chamber of Commerce that during his trip of 62,000 miles around the world, he had not seen one Canadian salesman. Americans are monopolizing the export trade of the British Dominions, he said.

NEW FACES TO BE SEEN IN FAIRBANKS' PICTURE

Many Notable Players Never Before Seen in a Fairbanks' Picture to be in Support of "Doug" in "When the Clouds Roll By"

One of the principal points of interest about the Douglas Fairbanks' production, "When the Clouds Roll By" which will be shown at Griffin's Tonight to Wednesday is the exceptionally strong cast that will play in support of the star.

When the story was originally written by Mr. Fairbanks' he realized that there would have to be a number of changes in his company for this picture, because of its unusualness and the fact that every person in the cast, and also the hundreds of extras that were used continually, would have to be of a strongly athletic type, for it was not only "Doug" who was to supply all of the ginger and pep in this production, but the players were to be assigned to parts in which they too had to be athletically capable so as to save their very lives at times.

Entirely new to the motion picture fan will be Captain Herbert Grimstanding and who has had wonderful experience abroad in the companies of Sir Herbert Tree and Oscar Ashe.

Playing valet to strenuous "Doug" is the part that Albert MacQuarrie has been cast for. The part is by no means a minor one for the valet in this case has the "follow the leader" stunt to do, with "Doug" as "leader."

Kathleen Clifford is supporting "Doug" in the role of the sweet young girl with whom he falls in love. She is one of the best known and widely talked about stars in pictures.

Daisy Robinson, another of the cast, has been before the public since a child, having played with Joseph Jefferson, Maud Adams, Olga Nethersole and others.

Although we mention but six of the cast supporting "Doug" there are many who have smaller parts in the strenuous picture. In a number of scenes, particularly the flooding of an entire town, there were over a thousand healthy and husky extras. A new chapter of the "Daredevil Jack" serial featuring Jack Dempsey, a good 2-reel comedy, an interesting Travelogue, and other plays of interest will also be shown on the same program.

NO PLACE TO GO KISSED AND MADE UP

The great difficulty of finding lodgings in Paris has been the cause of many unusual incidents recently.

Divorced persons seeking seperate apartments are having such difficulty in finding them that, in one case at least, they composed their tempermental differences in order to keep their old apartment.

A painter and his wife who had been divorced by mutual agreement were both looking for apartments. Frequently their paths crossed in their search for quarters. The first time they met they bowed gravely but politely. Their mutual smile gradually broadened as the hunt for flats slum section.

"Let's kiss and make up and go back to our flat", the wife finally said, narrowed down to a few hovels in the and they did.

President Millerand, who recently took possession of the Elysee Palace, received 41 applications for his apartment on the Avenue de Villars.

Henry Landru, who has been in La Sante prison for the past 20 months awaiting trial on charges growing out of the disappearance of 11 women, recently was dispossessed from the flat that he had occupied on the Boulevard Rochechouart, a rather sordid section of Paris. Requests came from every quarter of Paris, some even from aristocratic Auteuil, asking that the flat be reserved.

A vagrant just finishing 30 days in La Sante prison told his cell-mate under sentence of five years for swindling, that he dreaded to return into cold, dreary Paris. He was homeless, prospects of spending the winter nights under Paris bridges did not appeal to him. The prisoners exchanged clothing and cards of identity and when the warder called for the vagrant to send him out into the cold world, the swindler responded. The fraud was discovered only when the swindler's lawyer called at the jail.

EX-KAISER WILL NOT BE TRIED

It seems now to be finally settled that the former German Emperor is not to be tried in contumaciam.

The question was asked the other day of Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons by Charles Frederick White, Liberal member for West Derbyshire, whether, "in view of the fact that Holland has refused extradition of William Hohenzollern, the Supreme Council would summon him for trial, and, in the event of his non-appearance, would arrange that he shall be tried in his absence, so that the promise that he would be tried in London might be fulfilled."

A written reply was made by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the House of Commons, saying:

"The government is not prepared to adopt this suggestion."

LOST HEART AND NEVER EXPECTED TO GET WELL

Mrs. Emond, After Suffering Forty Years, Has Her Health Completely Restored by Tanlac and is Glad to Tell Others About It.

"It seems almost too good to be true but Tanlac has completely relieved me of a case of stomach trouble that had been bothering me for forty years," was the statement made by Mrs. Albina Emond, 165 Gartier street, Montreal.

"I had been in poor health practically all my life, and had become so discouraged over my condition that I never expected to ever get well. My main trouble was nervous indigestion and I could hardly eat a thing without the worst kind of pains in my stomach. I haven't touched a piece of roast beef for fifteen years, and at times my stomach was so upset I could not retain even a glass of milk. I had severe pains across my back and over my kidneys and sometimes thought it would drive me frantic. My nerves were shattered and it was always hard for me to get to sleep.

"I had taken only a few doses of Tanlac when I began to feel much better. I improved steadily right from the very start and while I've only finished my fourth bottle I am already free from all my troubles. I have a splendid appetite and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The pain has gone from my back and my nerves are so quiet and steady I get sound restful sleep every night."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

We have come to expect big things from "The Ginger Snap," Doug Fairbanks. We sometimes wonder where he can possibly get any more new ideas from. Yet he comes along with a picture like this and simply carries us off our feet. "When the Clouds Roll By" is so new and original in story and action, so far away from anything that has been attempted before, that we believe that every laugh-loving, thrill-loving man, woman and child in Belleville will be talking about Fairbanks and his picture after Tonight.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

A giant black raised his spear above his head and gave voice to a savage cry of rage and hate. The others followed his example. Basuli silenced them with a gesture.

"This is no time for useless noises of the mouth," he said. "The Great Bwana has taught us that it is acts by which things are done, not words. Let us save our breath—we shall need it all to follow up the Arabs and slay them. If 'Lady' and our women live the greater the need of haste, and warriors cannot travel fast upon empty lungs."

From the shelter of the reeds along the river Werper and Tarzan watched the blacks. They saw them dig a trench with their knives and fingers. They saw them lay their yellow burdens in it and scoop the overturned earth back over the tops of the ingots.

Tarzan seemed little interested, after Werper had assured him that that which they buried was not food to eat, but Werper was intensely interested.

The treasure buried, the blacks removed themselves a short distance up wind from the fetid corpses, where they made camp, that they might rest before setting out in pursuit of the Arabs. It was already dusk. Werper and Tarzan sat devouring some pieces of meat they had brought from their last camp. The Belgian was occupied with his plans for the immediate future. He was positive that the Waziri would pursue Achmet Zek, for he knew enough of savage warfare, and of the characteristics of the Arabs and their degraded followers to guess that they had carried the Waziri women off into slavery. This alone would assure immediate pursuit by so warlike a people as the Waziri.

Werper felt that he should find the means and the opportunity to push on ahead, that he might warn Achmet Zek of the coming of Basuli, and also of the location of the buried treasure. What the Arab would now do with Lady Greystoke, in view of the mental affliction of her husband, Werper neither knew nor cared. It was enough that the golden treasure buried upon the site of the burned bungalow was infinitely more valuable than any ransom that would have occurred even to the avaricious mind of the Arab, and if Werper could persuade the raider to share even a portion of it with him he would be well satisfied.

But by far the most important consideration, to Werner, at least, was the incalculably valuable treasure in the little leathern pouch at Tarzan's side. If he could but obtain possession of this! He must! He would!

His eyes wandered to the object of his greed. They measured Tarzan's giant frame and rested upon the rounded muscles of his arms. It was hopeless. What could he, Werner, hope to accomplish, other than his own death, by an attempt to wrest the gems from their savage owner?

Disconsolate, Werper threw himself upon his side. His head was pillowed on one arm, the other rested across his face in such a way that his eyes were hidden from the ape-man, though one of them was fastened upon him from beneath the shadow of the Belgian's forearm.

Tarzan presently let his own eyes rest upon Werper. The Belgian saw that he was being watched, and lay very still. After a few moments he simulated the regular breathing of deep slumber.

Tarzan had been thinking. He had seen the Waziri bury their belongings. Werper had told him that they were hiding them lest someone find them and take them away. This seemed to Tarzan a splendid plan for safeguarding valuables. Since Werper had evinced a desire to possess his glittering pebbles Tarzan, with the suspicions of a savage, had guarded the baubles, of whose worth he was entirely ignorant, as zealously as though they spelled life or death to him.

For a long time the ape-man sat watching his companion. At last, convinced that he slept, Tarzan withdrew his hunting knife and commenced to dig a hole in the ground before him. With the blade he loosened up the earth, and with his hands he scooped it out until he had excavated a little cavity a few inches in diameter, and five or six inches in depth. Into this he placed the pouch of jewels. Werper almost forgot to breathe after the fashion of a sleeper as he saw what the ape-man was doing—he scarce repressed an ejaculation of satisfaction.

Tarzan became suddenly rigid as his keen ears noted the cessation of the regular inspirations and expirations of his companion. His narrowed eyes bored straight down upon the Belgian. Werper felt that he was lost—he must risk all on his ability to carry on the deception. He sighed, threw both arms outward, and turned over on his back mumbling as though in the throes of a bad dream. A moment later he resumed the regular breathing.

Now he could not watch Tarzan, but he was sure that the man sat for a long time looking at him. Then, faintly, Werper heard the other's hands scraping dirt, and later patting it down. He knew then that the jewels were buried.

It was an hour before Werper moved again, then he rolled over facing Tar[illegible] his eyes. The ape-[illegible] reaching out his hand Werper [illegible] the spot where the pouch was buried.

For a long time he lay watching and listening. He moved about, making more noise than necessary, yet Tarzan did not awaken. He drew the sacrificial knife from his belt and plunged it into the ground. Tarzan did not move. Cautiously the Belgian pushed the blade downward through the loose earth above the pouch. He felt the point touch the soft, tough fabric of the leather. Then he pried down upon the handle. Slowly the little mound of loose earth rose and parted. An instant later a corner of the pouch came into view. Werper pulled it from its hiding place and tucked it in his shirt. Then he refilled the hole and pressed the dirt carefully down as it had been before.

Greed had prompted him to act, the discovery of which by his companion could lead only to the most frightful consequences for Werper. Already he could almost feel those strong, white fangs burying themselves in his neck. He shuddered. Far out across the plain a leopard screamed, and in the dense reeds behind him some great beast moved on padded feet.

Werper feared these prowlers of the night; but infinitely more he feared the just wrath of the human beast sleeping at his side. With utmost caution the Belgian arose. Tarzan did not move. Werper took a few steps toward the plain and the distant forest to the northwest, then he paused and fingered the hilt of the long knife in his belt. He turned and looked down upon the sleeper.

"Why not?" he mused. "Then I should be safe."

He returned and bent above the ape-man. Clutched tightly in his hand was the sacrificial knife of the high priestess of the Flaming God!

CHAPTER VIII.

Achmet Zek Sees the Jewels.

Mugambi, weak and suffering, had dragged his painful way along the trail of the retreating raiders. He could move but slowly, resting often; but savage hatred and an equally savage desire for vengeance kept him to his task. As the days passed his wounds healed and his strength returned, until at last his giant frame had regained all of its former mighty powers. Now he went more rapidly; but the mounted Arabs had covered a great distance while the wounded black had been painfully crawling after them.

They had reached their fortified camp, and there Achmet Zek awaited the return of his lieutenant, Albert Werper. During the long, rough journey Jane Clayton had suffered more in anticipation of her impending fate than from the hardships of the road.

She was of sterner stuff than that which bends in spineless terror before danger. Until hope proved futile she would not give it up; nor did she entertain thoughts of self-destruction only as a final escape from dishonor. So long as Tarzan lived there was every reason to expect succor. No man nor beast who roamed the savage continent could boast the cunning and the powers of her lord and master. Tarzan would come, and she should be rescued and avenged, of that she was certain. That he could find her she had no slightest doubt. No spoor, however faint, could elude the keen vigilance of his senses. To him the trail of the raiders would be as plain as the printed page of an open book to her.

And while she hoped there came through the dark jungle another. Terrified by night and by day came Albert Werper. A dozen times he had escaped the claws and fangs of the giant carnivora only by what seemed a miracle to him. Armed with nothing more than a knife he had brought with him from Opar, he had made his way through as savage a country as yet exists upon the face of the globe.

By night he had slept in trees. By day he had stumbled fearfully on, often taking refuge among the branches when sight or sound of some great cat warned him of danger. But at last he had come within sight of the palisade behind which were his fierce companions.

At almost the same time Mugambi came out of the jungle before the walled village. As he stood in the shadow of a great tree, reconnoitering, he saw a man, ragged and disheveled, emerge from the jungle almost at his elbow. Instantly he recognized the newcomer as he who had been a guest of his master before the latter had departed for Opar.

The black was upon the point of hailing the Belgian when something stayed him. He saw the white man walking confidently across the clearing toward the village gate. No sane man thus approached a village in this part of Africa unless he was sure of a friendly welcome. Mugambi waited. His suspicions were aroused.

He heard Werper halloo; he saw the gates swing open, and he witnessed the surprised and friendly welcome that was accorded the erstwhile guest of Lord and Lady Greystoke. A light broke upon the understanding of Mugambi. This white man had been a traitor and a spy. It was to him they owed the raid during the absence of the Great Bwana. To his hate for the Arabs Mugambi added a still greater hate for the white spy.

LOOT VALUED AT $150,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Thieves entered the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richards on the third floor rear of the Sunderland Apartments at Thirty-fifth street and Powelton avenue, and got away with securities and other valuables worth $150,000.

Entrance to the apartment was forced through a door opening on a rear stairway to the courtyard. Mrs. Richards discovered the robbery when she returned home.

CUT GOVERNMENT BILLS, BLAMED IT ON THE DOG

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Isaac Hirsch recently made affidavit to Government officials that his dog, Julius, being hungry, had chewed up a number of greenbacks, a total of about $1,000. Isaac enclosed remnants of a number of the bills and asked that he be given new ones in place of them.

Today Captain Porter, head of the Secret Service for this district, fared forth to interview Isaac. He took with him the remnants of the bills. Captain Porter offered the bills to Julius, the dog, who sniffed and then backed away. He would have nothing to do with the scraps of paper and silk thread offered him.

Captain Porter deduced that the dog had never seen the scraps before, and took Isaac to the Federal building. When arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Mason he vindicated Julius and confessed that he had cut the bills himself. He was held on a charge of attempting to defraud the Government.

LEPER ELUDES GUARD AND EVADES CAPTURE

Belleville, N.J., Nov. 17.—Dr. Herbert E. Ricketts, Superintendent of the Isolation Hospital here, today confirmed a report that Tellus Messure, a leper, had escaped from the institution. He is believed to have made his way out of the country, but a guard is being kept at his home, No. 21 White Street, West Orange, where his wife lives. The escaped man is 28 years old. The diagnosis as leprosy was made by several physicians, and the case was turned over to the United States Public Health Service for disposition. It was said that an agent of the service was to arrive shortly to take Messure to a leper colony in Louisiana.

I was so completely down and out that I could not do anything, could scarcely dress myself. I had the doctor and took other medicine but without getting better until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Golden Medical Discovery. "In regard to my condition, I will say that I suffered from childhood from a very weak back; I had the misfortune of having spinal meningitis when I was one year old and until I was 13 I did not see a well day, but a very kind lady told my mother about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and she got a bottle to try it. It did me so much good that mother got me 6 bottles. Recently I happened with a car accident and hurt my back badly. My doctor gave me up and said I would not live, but I still stick to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and to my surprise in three weeks I was out of bed and better. I owe my life to it and nothing else, and shall never be without it.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE.

It was a hearty tribute which Premier Meighen, in a speech at Calgary the other day, paid to the organized workers of Canada. He had pointed out that Canada had, since the war, suffered less from the evils of unrest than had any other of the belligerent countries, and that much less time had been lost by strikes here than in any other English-speaking country. And he added that "much of the credit is due the fair-minded attitude of Canadian labor and labor leaders and of the minister of labor."

It is a deserved tribute. Canada has had her "Red" plague and wild labor leaders as well as most other countries. But almost all the responsible leaders of organized labor in this country have been, and are, at once too intelligent and too patriotic to become seriously infected with the doctrines that come out of Russia. They have kept their heads.

But they could have accomplished little if the mass of the workers had not also been intelligent and patriotic. Unfortunately, in more than one crisis, the rank and file of British workers have repudiated their leaders and taken their own course against the advice of the experienced and thoughtful men at the head of their organizations. In Canada there has been very little disloyalty of this sort. The influence of Tom Moore and his associates on the executive of the D. T. and L. congress, and that of the executives of the great international unions, has been infinitely greater than that of the wilder and more radical spirits in the labor movement. It is a fact which is creditable alike to the leaders and to the mass of the workers.—Hamilton Herald.

SHORT LIVED HEROES.

The New York Times remarks upon the American habit of turning upon popular heroes. The career of President Wilson is only one of a large number which have soared and crashed in American history.

A classic example in modern times was the fate of Admiral Dewey. Raised to great heights of popular favor after the Spanish-American War, he became the best-hated man in the country. At one time it is known he packed up his household goods and was ready to leave America in order to escape the wrath of those who lately had been cheering him.

Roosevelt himself always looked forward to the time when the crowds would turn on him. Had he lived, he might have experienced a repudiation as emphatic as any favor he ever received.

The trouble seems to take root in the practice of over-praising their heroes. When General Pershing returned from Europe after the war, the speech of welcome delivered at New York attributed to him the qualities of Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Hannibal and Alexander the Great, rolled into one. It was ridiculous exaggeration. The penalty of the victim of such exaggeration is a readjustment of values in the public mind, turning admiration into scorn.

CANADA IMPORTANT LINK IN INTERNATIONAL GOOD FELLOWSHIP

"And Canada has got in this matter of understanding between the nations a special and big privilege and duty. I think it is fortunate for us all that the great British Dominion of Canada is situated on the North American continent, side by side, cheek by cheek, with the United States. She and her great Southern neighbor have to face similar problems, and to solve similar difficulties in facing those problems. Canada and the United States can and do understand each other better perhaps than any other two nations in the world. Canada is not only a North American nation, she is besides one of the partner-nations of the great British Empire, and with her fellow partners she has to face other problems, other difficulties to solve, and in facing those problems, in solving these difficulties, Canada understands and has sympathies for the problems of the British Empire, which are her own. And so situated as she is, understanding her neighbor, understanding her partners, Canada can, I believe will do, and is doing much to lay the foundations of that permanent friendship and understanding which is so essential, which is absolutely essential; that understanding which we in America and in the British Empire know is essential, an understanding as to where each great nation is going, along which path each of their great nations seeks to move.

"If we have that understanding, then I predict with confidence that the paths which we follow will never cross, but will run parallel, side by side, on through the future. Canada alone can be the sure interpreter of America to Britain, and of Britain and the other dominions to America."

Thus spoke Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, in addressing a gathering of over seven hundred Canadians in New York City representing the Canadian Club of that city. Unbounded enthusiasm and applause showed that the Canadians present endorsed the sentiments expressed by Sir Auckland Geddes and realized fully the necessity of maintaining and cementing the most cordial of relations between Canada and the United States.

Canada can be the bond of friendship which will unite the British Empire with the United States in bonds of friendly understanding and co-operation for the general good of humanity the world over.

Dr. Henry Vandike, of Princeton University, late United States Minister to the Netherlands, followed the British Ambassador, declaring that he was out of the diplomatic service and could say what he liked. Dr. Vandike roused his audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. The climax came when, taking a Canadian and American flag, he placed them together and shouted "there is no man in this country who would dare to pull either one of them down."

BRITAIN'S INVISIBLE PROFITS

(Providence Journal)

Despite immense floating obligations and the "balance of trade" running heavily against them the British are not worrying lest they become a debtor nation. There is no danger of it, so long as the debit trade balance is more than offset by "invisible profits." These profits—in this connection more significantly called "invisible exports"—have always been the explanation of Great Britain's enviable position as a creditor nation; she is, perhaps, the only securely established one in the world. In the recovery from the ravages of the war every intertest, public and private, is more concerned about maintaining them than about restricting imports relative to exports, which in other countries is a method of keeping national outgo within the limit of income. Great Britain is the world's great "middleman," importing vast quantities of goods to be reshipped from the warehouses in which they are received.

THE AVERAGE HARD WORKER

Toronto Star

An exchange wants to know what has become of the old-fashiond man who had to work hard for a living. Nothing has happened to him, except that he doesn't get mentioned in print as often as formerly. He warks as hard as ever, and comes as near as before to making a good living, without quite doing it. After consultaion with two or three hard workers an inquirer assures us that the average hard worker is better off than he was twenty years ago in this respect, that he has accumulated more "portable property" in the way of home furnishings and things like that, but is otherwise where he was twenty years ago. His lifelong condition is to owe accounts here and there amounting to about three weeks' pay not yet earned. Life for him is a race, and his debts having got that start on him, he never catches up until, after the funeral, his life insurance comes along, squares everything, and shows that he was a winner.

POETS' CORNER

GIVE ME THE GUSTY SEA

Why did I build my cottage on a hill
Facing the sea?
Why did I plan each terraced lawn to slope
Down to the deep blue billowy breast of hope.
Surging and sweeping,
Laughing and leaping,
Tumbling its garments of foam upon the shore,
Rustling the sands that know my step no more,
I should have found a valley, deep and still,
To shelter me.

There flows the river, and it seems asleep
So far away.
Yet I remember whip of wave and roar
Of wind that rose and smote against the oar.
Smote and retreated,
Proud and defeated,
While I rejoiced and rowed into the brine,
Drawing on wet and heavy-straining line
The great cod quivering from the deep
As counterpay.

What is the solace of these hills and vales
That rise and fall?
What is there glorious in a greenwood glen,
Or twittering thrush or wing of darting wren?
Give me the gusty,
Raucous and rusty,
Call of the sea gull in the echoing sky,
The wild shriek of the winds that cannot die,
Give me the life that follows the bending sails,
Or none at all!

—Ernest Benshimol

A FRIEND OF MINE

When you are happy, friend of mine,
  And all your skies are blue,
Tell me your luck, your fortune fine,
  And let me laugh with you;
Tell me the hopes that spur you on,
  The deeds you mean to do,
The gold you've struck, the fame you've won,
  And let me joy—with you!

When you are sad and heart a-cold,
  And all your skies are dark,
Tell me the dreams that mocked your hold,
  The shafts that missed the mark,
Am I not yours for weal or woe?
  How else can friends prove true!
Tell me what breaks and brings you love
  And let me stand—with you!

So when the night falls tremulous,
  When the last lamp burns low,
And one of us or both of us
  The long lone road must go,
Look with your dear old eyes in mine,
  Give me a handshake true;
Whatever fate our souls await,
  Let me be there!—with you!

AN APPRECIATION

What is true in the case herein recited is common to many other centres where students in particular congregate and reside among homes instead of within the confines of an institution. The writer desires to bear testimony from experience to the motherly Christian influence of the late Mrs. J. Morton who resided at 73 North Front street. Many other boys could add words of incalculable value. While the departed was not one to shine publicly her forte was the quiet mistress of a home with all its hallowed effect. Those outside of her own circle were made to feel as part of a family. In declining years, how she delighted in the accumulation and perusal of a scrap book of good literature Though called upon to bear at times bereavement first of a devoted husband who was a teacher and local preacher in this district, and again the loss of a daughter also a public school teacher — yet the widow's disposition was not to refine, rather to set heroically to life's responsibilites and turn the face Zion-ward. The closing years of life were endured with grace and hope now she sleeps free from pain and care in the cemetery near Carleton Place, Ont., midst the surroundings of early years and near unto a brother who served as a minister in the Montreal conference of the, Methodist church. (Written by one of her boys).

RECEPTION SERVICES

A reception service was held Sunday evening at Bridge Street Methodist Church when forty-five by letter and profession of faith united with that church. This is an exceptionally large number to be received into the church at one time. Rev. Dr. Cleaver, pastor previous to the reception service preached his text being taken from St Johns 1st Chapter and the latter clause of the 4th verse, "And the light was the life of men." Rev. Dr. Baker, Rev. W. P. D. Wilson and Rev. Prof. Mains took part in the reception service. A solo was rendered by Mrs. McKinron entitled "Fierce Was the Wild Bellows."

BURGLARS AT PORT HOPE

On Friday night at Port Hope burglars visited the G.N.W. Telegraph office and gained entrance by smashing in the large window on the Midland platform side. By the use of an iron bar they pried open the till and removed the change amounting to about five dollars. They also carried off the tin box containing a number of vouchers and the insurance policies. Residents on Walton street heard the crash of the glass and shortly afterwards saw four men running up Walton street.

STOLE CIDER

Some time Friday night thieves visited Mr. John Uglous' residence in Hope Township near Port Hope and stole two barrels of choice cider.

NO NEWS OF BARGE RANDALL.

No word has yet been received in Belleville regarding the whereabouts of the steam barge John Randall, which left Oswego on Tuesday evening last laden with a cargo of coal for the Downey Company, of this city. The hope is entertained that the vessel is in shelter about Timber Island.

FLORAL TRIBUTES.

The following were the floral tributes —tokens of sympathy from relatives and friends of the late Mr. Edgar Spencer of this city: Pillow—Wife and family. Stars—Mr. Eugene Harkins and family; Mr. Walter Christie and family; Mr. Sam Harkins, Jr. Sheafs—Mr. Sam Harkins, Sr., Mrs. Percy McGonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spencer and family; Mr. and Mrs. Will Spencer and family; Mrs. Munns, Mrs. Aselstine, Mrs. Wardhaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hanna, Mrs. Allan Maines, Mr. Ascoe Maines, Mrs. Robert Currie and family.

MUSICALE AND TEA

Mrs. Col. Campbell of this city has taken a great interest in the work of Argyll Chapter I.O.D.E. and on Saturday afternoon her services were fittingly recognized when a complimentary musicale and tea was held in the armouries in her honor. There was a large attendance and an interesting programme was carried out. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Wilmot, Mrs. A. P. Allen, Miss Anna Ponton and Mr. James Booth and a piano solo by Prof. V. P. Hunt. Refreshments were served and tea poured by Mrs. C. Vanderwaters and Mrs. McManus. The whole affair was most delightful in all details.

Was She Pleased?

She gazed entranced:
Resting in the velvet nest of its case lay a brooch of exquisite delicacy,—rich yellow gold, profusely set with lustrous pearls and centred with a scintillating pistachio-hued peridot.
"Gorgeous!" she exclaimed as she fastened it to her lace collar.
"Bewitching now!" he replied.

SALARY FOR COUNCILLORS

Members of Almonte town council next year may receive a salary. The question of remuneration came up at the council. This year has been a particularly onerous one and the mayor himself has been busy with civic duties no fewer than one hundred days this year already. He introduced the subject and advocated a salary for the members. The question will be carefully considered.

JAMES YOUNG REMANDED

NEW CHURCH MOVEMENT

A new church movement was inaugurated on Sunday evening at Holloway Street Church. At the close of the regular service under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church, a bright service was held in the Sunday School rooms which was attended by the greater number of those present at the regular service. For some time a song service was held, led by an orchestra composed of Miss Winnifred Pearce as pianist and Messrs. E. Barrager, S. Ward, J. Killborn, Wm. Griest and S. McMillan playing violins and cornets. At the conclusion of the song service, a few minutes was spent in getting acquainted with those present, after which the proceedings were closed by the singing of the National Anthem and benediction by the pastor, Rev. A. H. Foster. The latter referred briefly to the new move which was intended to be beneficial to church work in general. Mr. Ernest Jones, President of the League presided.

Dublin Death List Climbs To Twelve

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

London, Nov. 22.—London was waiting this morning for further news from Dublin, following the reports of yesterday's horrors, but up to early this afternoon only meagre despatches had been received. Reports to the Irish Office from Dublin said that three or four unidentified persons had been killed in that city late last night. Several policemen had been killed in other parts of Ireland it was announced. A telephone message at eight this morning said the city was temporarily quiet. A despatch to the press association placed the number of dead resulting from Croker's Park shooting at twelve.

J.O.L. Spracklin Admitted To Bail

Two Bonds for $5,000 Each Accepted and Hearing Adjourned.

WINDSOR, Nov. 21.—Standing mute when arraigned Saturday before Magistrate W. E. Gundy in the Windsor police court on a charge of "killing and slaying," Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, Sandwich pastor, was remanded to November 25 for the preliminary hearing. Bail on two bonds of $5,000 each, furnished by James Slone and William Wright, officials of the Sandwich Church, was allowed by the court.

Mr. Spracklin was not asked to plead to the charge, and on the advice of his counsel, Barrister R. L. Brackin of Chatham, he declined to talk with newspapermen.

"I have nothing to say, boys," he told the reporters as he walked from the court in company with friends.

Edward Bayly, Deputy Attorney-General for Ontario, Saturday warned newspapers against commenting on the Spracklin case. Barrister pointed out that the matter is now sub-judice, and comment, therefore, is contempt of court.

Shooting Affray In Kent County

Confessed Rum-Runner Lays Charge Against Five Farmers.

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov. 21.—Five arrests have been made by High Constable George Peters in connection with the shooting of Frank Cornish, a Detroit barber and confessed rum-runner at the King Farm in Dover Township three weeks ago. Cornish is now in St. Joseph's Hospital with gunshot wounds in his legs which are pronounced serious and may occasion the amputation of both legs. As a result of the story he has just told to the police to the effect that he was fired upon from Frank King's house on a night upon which he was purchasing several cases of liquor, Frank King and a farm laborer named Gondreau were arrested on Saturday morning. Last evening three others were arrested, Eugene King, Alph King and Andrew King. The charge laid against each of the five men is "shooting with intent to kill and rob." They all pleaded not guilty last evening and were allowed out on $10,000 bail each. They put up bonds for $5,000 each and the balance of the bail was supplied by Thomas King, father of two of the prisoners, Frank and Andrew King. All five will receive their hearing before Magistrate S. B. Arnold on November 30th.

EIGHTY THOUSAND SEE HARVARD WIN

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22.—Repulsed repeatedly in their attacks on the Yale goal Saturday, Harvard resorted to a kicking offensive, and with three goals defeated the Elis by 9 to 0 in the annual football combat in the Yale bowl. The contest, witnessed by close to 80,000 spectators, said to be the largest crowd that ever attended an athletic event in the United States, was the 39th meeting between the universities since 1875, and was a remarkable exposition of the modern open and aerial game, and while loosely played at times, fairly bristled with thrilling forward passes and sweeping runs.

The defeat of Yale, while not unexpected, took a most unusual turn due to the ragged but savage defense of the Elis, who, facing a far more finished football machine, refused to be awed by the Harvard juggernaut. Although the fierce charges of the Crimson several times drove the Elis back to the shadow of their goalposts, the Blue team fought so doggedly that a touchdown was a physical impossibility for their opponents.

Coal Shortage Not Grave Yet But Need Care

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—H. A. Harrington, Fuel Commissioner for Ontario, has issued a timely statement on the fuel situation and the regulations issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners.

No orders restricting the delivery of coal have been issued but sounds a note of warning against waste as the winter is only just commencing. Coal wasters may be severely dealt with, he states.

His statement reads:

The rules and regulations issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners of Fuel Controller for Canada under the powers conferred by Parliament, are now in the hands of municipal authorities and coal dealers throughout the Province.

Municipalities have been requested to promptly appoint a Fuel Commissioner whose powers and duties are defined by the regulations, and coal dealers are requested to heartily co-operate with their Fuel Commissioner, so that combined efforts will minimise to the greatest extent the danger of shortage of domestic coal.

CONSERVATION NEEDED

As a result of the untiring efforts of the coal dealers to secure supplies early in the season, any necessity of drastic orders restricting deliveries of coal have been so far deemed unnecessary, but this in no wise relieves the consumer of the essential obligation of conservation. All consumers throughout the Province are warned that evidence of waste will be thoroughly sifted, and if justified, drastic action will be taken in the interest of public safety.

Central Ontario is now 165,000 tons short of its normal supply of anthracite. The effects of such a shortage have not been very evident, due to the mild weather and careful distribution but it must be remembered winter is only beginning; we have four months before us, and, while I firmly believe the severe winter of last year will not be repeated, and that no serious snow blockades will occur, yet the great shortage here, and the huge shortage at the mines will keep all concerned constantly on the move.

FAVORS BRIQUETTES

To further lessen the dangers I have urged the briquette manufacturers to speed up production, and coal dealers are now advised in the interests of their communities to avail themselves promptly of this very satisfactory substitute.

Consumers must discard the idea that they can secure whatever size coal they want. We are rapidly approaching the time when we must take what is offered, or go without. In order to secure larger sizes of anthracite the dealer is obliged to take a proportion of pea coal. The consumer in turn must accommodate himself to the situation and take his share.

There is no necessity of anyone suffering, there being plenty of substitutes available. Many consumers have adapted themselves to the use of smokeless soft coal, which is now plentiful.

The continuous diminution of anthracite production, the great deficit to be faced next year and the rapid increase in population, call for firm co-operation, if our homes are to be kept warm now and in the future.

Conflicting Stories Of Park Fight

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—The Crown forces which went to Croke Park on Sunday afternoon in an effort to arrest alleged gunmen were fired upon by pickets, and in the resultant fighting the crowd inside the park stampeded, said a statement issued at Dublin Castle last night in reference to the shooting at the park.

The Gaelic Athletic Association has officially denied that there were any pickets at the grounds or that anybody fired on the troops. The military authorities today commandeered the City Hall for troops and the men occupied all offices except those assigned to the town clerks.

Had Started To Bore Tunnel To Blow Up Dublin Castle

AUTHORITIES NIP PLOT OF SINN FEINERS IN THE BUD—FUSES AND POWDER FOUND IN HOUSE OPPOSITE.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—An attempt to blow up Dublin Castle after burrowing beneath the structure has just been nipped in the bud, according to information made public by the British military in Ireland.

It is declared the military authorities received information of the plot and quickly raided a house just opposite the castle.

Work already had been started to bore a tunnel, it is claimed, and in a room in the house fuses and powder were found.

Dublin Castle's interpretation of Premier Lloyd George's claim in the House of Commons a few days ago that "We have murder in Ireland by the throat," is as follows:

"That means that Sir Neville Macready, head of the British military forces in Ireland, has informed the Government that the military has now reached the highest pitch of efficiency in dealing with Irish disorders.

"They called in the finest men from as far away as the Canadian Northwest, the frontiers of India, the Baltic Russia and other parts of the world, and had them concentrate on outguessing the leaders of the Sinn Fein.

"Practically every active Sinn Fein body is now honeycombed with spies and scarcely a step can be planned without the information reaching the authorities.

"The authorities have listed practically every member of the 'murder gang.' It is only a matter of time when they will round up every single gunman.

"Stunt corps, consisting of former officers distinguished for their war records, also are developing an amazing cleverness in countering the plans of the active Republicans.

"The military claim their success is beyond doubt."

Missing Priest Shot To Death

Body of Father Griffin Kidnapped in Galway Found in Bog

GALWAY, Ireland, Nov. 23.—The body of Father Griffin, the priest who disappeared several days ago was found in a shallow grave four miles from Galway. There was a bullet wound in his temple.

The body was brought to Galway. Intense excitement prevails.

The body of Father Griffin, who was the curate of Bushy Park, was found in a bog by the roadside near Darna, four miles from Galway. Volunteers had been searching for the missing curate since he was kidnapped by three unknown persons last Sunday. A party of country lads made the tragic discovery.

BULLET WOUND IN HEAD

The lads observed in the bog what appeared to have been a recent upheaval. They began probing into the mound with sticks and finally uncovered the skirts and overcoat of the priest. Without proceeding further they sent for priests in Galway and when they arrived, working under their direction by moonlight, unearthed the body of the missing curate. The bullet wound in the head of the priest was evidence of the cause of his death.

Cottagers in this bleak and sparsely-inhabited part of the countryside tell of the mysterious arrival at midnight last Sunday, following the kidnapping of Father Griffin of a lorry load of men. The lorry halted near the spot where the body was found and the lights were extinguished. In about twenty minutes the lamps were relighted and the party drove away.

PLACED ON ALTAR

When the body of Father Griffin was brought into Galway, it was placed, uncoffined on the high altar of the parish church. Huge crowds knelt near by reciting the rosary. The first intimation the townsfolk had of the tragedy was an announcement made by the priests at the morning Masses.

At St. Joseph Church, where Father Griffin presided, pathetic scenes of grief were witnessed. The priests omitted the usual sermon and confined themselves to relating incidents of the life of Father Griffin and paying tribute to him. They declared that the priest had earned a martyr's crown and begged the congregation to pray for the repose of his soul, but not to forget also to pray for his murderers.

FIRST PRIEST TO FORFEIT LIFE

Although a number of priests lately have been ill treated or threatened, Father Griffin is the first to forfeit his life. In fact no priest has been done to death in Ireland in many years.

Father O'Meehan, Father Griffin's colleague and senior curate, with whom Father Griffin lived, said in his church that he had received five written threats of death since last May and that he did not dare sleep in his own home. He added that Father Griffin had never received any threats.

GASOLINE EXPLODES; NINE BURN TO DEATH

Quebec, Nov. 22.—Two women and seven children were burned to death in the little village of Paduom, Manatan county, early this morning, according to the meagre details which reached here, was caused by the explosion of a tank of gasoline, and the flames spread so rapidly that Mrs. Theriault and Mrs. L'Italien, as well as seven children perished in the fire.

I.W.W. May Affiliate With Russian Reds

Nation-Wide Vote Being Taken in United States Among Half a Million Members of the Organization

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Government agents are much concerned over a nation-wide secret referendum now being taken among the 500000 or more members of the Industrial Workers of the World in America to determine whether or not that organization shall affiliate itself with the Fourth Internationale to be held in Moscow next January or continue as an independent body, it was learned today.

The referendum, it is stated, is the result of an invitation from a special committee appointed by the Third Internationale to secure the co-operation of the I.W.W. in the coming meeting which is expected to be the most important and widely attended by any of the kind yet held.

It has been in progress for more than a month and is expected to be completed early in December when the result will be made known from headquarters in Chicago.

Copies of the referendum blanks have fallen into the hands of Government detectives who stated that most of them were apparently sent to various voting centres in bulk by express and that very few, if any, went through the mails.

As a result of many prosecutions of I.W.W. members they state, the organization has been converted into powerful secret societies whose activities are even more dangerous because they are no longer openly conducted. The membership of 500,000 was attained three years ago and is believed to be largely in excess of that number now.

Literature assaulting this organization of conservative American workingmen is being circulated literally by the ton. So complete is the organization perfected by the communistic group, that it is alleged by Government agents to have a trucking system of its own.

Illustrating the magnitude of the flood of propaganda now floating about the country, eleven mail sacks of one publication aimed to incite revolution were recently confiscated by federal agents at one time.

Additional similar literature seized is in English and twelve foreign languages.

Crerar Pleased With East Elgin

SWIFT CURRENT, Nov. 23.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives, expressed himself as much pleased with the result of the East Elgin election and sent the following message to S. S. McDermand, the successful farmer candidate: "Hearty congratulations on your victory in the face of determined efforts of the Government to win. It is a notable one. East Elgin has done a good day's work."

Head Constable is Shot

Newry, Ireland, Nov. 23.—Head Constable Kearney was shot and probably mortally wounded here last evening by unknown persons. Subsequently the house of former Sergeant Curran of the Constabulary, was set on fire.

British Session Is Resumed After Short Suspension

Joseph Devlin and Major Molson Engage in a Struggle.

LONDON, Nov. 22—This afternoon's session of the House of Commons was resumed after it had been suspended by an uproar over the Dublin murders yesterday.

The altercation arose after Premier Lloyd George had addressed the House briefly on the subject, being followed by Mr. Devlin. The Premier, when he rose, said he shared with the speaker who had preceded him in the horror all felt at the coldblooded murder of unarmed British officers. The Government, continued Mr. Lloyd George, had resolved to suppress murder and conspiracy in Ireland.

Premier Still Optimistic.

It was realized by all that to suppress such carefully organized, highly subsidized plots would take time, but the Government was convinced that despite the recent happenings the Irish authorities were succeeding in breaking up the "gangs of assassins."

The Premier said, however, that should experience show that the powers possessed by the Irish Government had proved insufficient for that purpose the Government would have no hesitation in asking the Parliament for such further authority as might be necessary to achieve that end.

Devlin Gets Busy

Mr. Devlin rose and asked why it was that when Sir Hamar Greenwood the Chief Secretary for Ireland, was asked a question, he recited the horrible occurrances which had happened yesterday, and yet said nothing about the appearance of a military force at the football match. He was interrupted with loud cries of "Sit Down." Mr. Devlin retorted: "I shan't sit down," and continued:

"Why has the House not been made acquainted with a recital of these events, of the entry of the military into the football field and the indiscriminate shooting of ten people?"

There were loud cries of "Oh" from the House at this.

Sir Hamar replied emphatically that he has been asked nothing about that question, but that he was prepared to answer.

Mr. Devlin again rose, amidst angry cries of "Sit down," and was endeavoring to speak when a member below him endeavored to pull him down, Mr. Devlin lunged forward fiercely in an effort to shake off the hold of the member, and the latter rising to his feet the two closed with each other.

Other members came forward to separate the pair, but despite these efforts the two men struggled forward, Mr. Devlin losing his coat in the crush but still holding his own, cried: "This is English courage and English chivalry to attack one man in six hundred."

After a minute or two the pair were forced into seats by friends, and the Speaker suspended the sitting.

An Apology.

Upon resumption of the session, Major John Molson, Coalition-Unionist member for the Gainsborough division of Lincolnshire, who was Mr. Devlin's opponent, rose and apologized to Mr. Devlin, to the Speaker and to the House, saying he was afraid he had allowed himself to be provoked, and had forgotten himself.

Mr. Devlin accepted the apology and assured Major Molson that in this or any other matter that affected him in the House he had no personal feeling. His complaint was against the growing practice of the members taking out of the Speaker's hands the question of order in relation to questions.

The question he wished to ask was why the Chief Secretary for Ireland had not recited all the incidents which occurred in Dublin Sunday, instead of giving a part of the story. The minister had not told of the murder of ten or fifteen civilians, Mr. Devlin pointed out.

Sir Hamar's Reply.

Sir Hamar said that although he had not been asked that question he was willing to reply and said:

"The authorities have reason to believe that Sinn Fein gunmen came to Dublin Sunday under the guise of attending the match in order to carry out the murders. Consequently a mixed force surrounded the grounds. This force was fired on, and in firing back killed ten and wounded others."

Sir Hamar also gave details of the finding of revolvers and the crushing to death of a man and a woman, which latter he regretted.

The statement made by the Secretary for Ireland earlier in the session, in reply to a question regarding yesterday's events, was that he hoped "that this series of cold blooded, carefully planned atrocities would bring vividly before the House and the public the cruel reality of the Irish situation. We are fighting, he said, "an organized band of paid assassins, whose plans, recently discovered, included destruction of life and property in this country as well as in Ireland."

As to present conditions in Dublin, he stated he had received at one o'clock a telegram saying everything was apparently normal in that city, no fresh disturbances having developed.

After Mr. Devlin had made his concluding statement there was a passage at arms between Jeremiah MacVeagh, Nationalist member for South Down, and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, during which Sir Edward called the Nationalist member a "liar" for saying Sir Edward had "begun the use of rifles" in Ireland.

E. Elgin By-Election Results In Victory For McDermand

U.F.O. CANDIDATE ROLLS UP PLURALITY OF 208 OVER HIS OPPONENTS IN YESTERDAY'S VOTING—STANSELL LEADS CHARLTON BY OVER 900.

Aylmer, Nov. 23.—The surprise occasioned by the election of Sidney S. McDermand, United Farmer candidate, in the East Elgin by-election to fill the seat in the Federal House made vacant by the death of David Marshall, was no greater and no less than would have been aroused had either of his two opponents been successful. The inclement weather kept many at home and the vote was only about an average one.

East Elgin electors have always been almost equally divided in their political leaning and the biggest majority secured in a Federal contest since Confederation was that of 394 given Mr. Marshall in the general election of 1911. If there is any surprise at all it is that the United Farmers did not do nearly so well as in the last Provincial election when their candidate, Malcolm MacVicar, secured a majority of 1,572. That, however, was a straight fight between a United Farmer and a Conservative, while Monday's by-election had also a Liberal candidate.

John L. Stansell, the National Liberal and Conservative party candidate made a creditable showing although handicapped by the fact that previous to this election he had not been prominent in the public life of the riding and, therefore, was not as well-known as either of his opponents. Mr. McDermand was at one time the nominee of the Liberal party as a candidate for the Provincial House, while W. G. Charlton, the Liberal standard-bearer bore Sir Wilfrid Laurier's colors in the general election of 1917, opposing Mr. Marshall.

The riding is essentially rural, the town of Aylmer being the only urban centre of any size. Aylmer, however, has a fairly pronounced Liberal leaning, and gave Mr. Charlton a majority of 108. Unquestionably the free trade policies of the agrarians found little favor amoung the town's people, as Mr. McDermand obtained only 97 out of a total of 1,257 votes. However, Liberal and Conservative protectionists divided their forces and did not give Mr. Stansell the advantage which otherwise would have been his among the urbanites. The Liberals polled 634 votes in Aylmer, while 526 supported the Government.

In the surrounding district the fact that the United Farmers are well organized proved a material factor, although the Government candidate's 2,855 votes were fairly well distributed throughout the riding. Mr. McDermand's strength was especially apparent in South Dorchester. The presence of a Liberal candidate probably drew away some of the support which he would otherwise have secured from his former Liberal associations. Mr. Charlton, however, was not a serious contender in many of the rural sub-divisions.

BELFAST, Nov. 23.—The death roll in Dublin yesterday totalled five persons. During the morning one of the sentries at the Castle was attacked by armed men. The sentry fired, killing three of the attacking party. Two other deaths occurred during raids which were carried out in the city during the day.

Small, theatre magnate, about a year ago, was arrested last night in Oregon city by Constable Edward Fortune. Doughty was turned over to a Toronto police officer who was here working on the case. DAVID McNEAL INDICTED.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 19—David McNeal, who narrowly escaped being lynched at Thorold, Ont., on the night of August 16 last, and who was recently acquitted by a jury at the Assizes at Welland on a charge of murdering Margaret Beaucock, 4 years of age, for which murder the attempt at lynching occurred, has been committed for trial at Philadelphia on a charge of shooting with intent to kill a police officer. Word to this effect was received by George F. Peterson, who defended McNeal at the murder trial. McNeal was deported immediately after his trial at Welland.

FORTUNE AWAITS VETERAN NAMED ALBERT ROBERTS

Calgary, Nov. 23.—Albert Roberts, a returned soldier, of Regina, recently received a letter from England in which he was notified that he had fallen heir to a considerable sum of money. Albert felt that some mistake had been made, however, and refused to make any claim to the legacy. The G.W.V.A. is now looking for any returned soldier of the name of Albert Roberts, regimental number 523,746 or 523,946, in case he should be the man for whom the legacy is really meant.

ARGENTINE'S EXPORT OF WOOL IS LOWER

During the season 1919-1920 ending September 30, Argentina sold and shipped to foreign countries 301,598 bales of wool or about 37,739,748 kilograms, the average price for which was approximately 74 cents in United States money per kilogram (of 2.20 pounds each). During the previous season the amount sold was 59,334,480 kilograms.

During the season just closed the United States purchased 72,399 bales of Argentine wool as against 132,866 bales the previous season. England Belgium and Germany re-entered the market, buying 25,935 bales.

Abolish Crime By Spiritualism

French Metaphysician Thinks Criminal Could Be Detected Through the Medium of Communion With the Dead

PARIS, Nov. 22—That crime can be abolished by making it impossible for the criminal to go undetected, through the medium of communion with the dead is the remarkable claim put forth in Paris by Dr. Gustave Geley, director of the International Metaphysical Institute and one of the world's best known authorities on spiritualism.

Madame Robert, a wealthy Parisienne, called on Dr. Geley one day last week and said she had been robbed of a diamond brooch worth $8,000. Dr. Geley suggested that they consult a medium.

The medium was told of the circumstances and forthwith went into a trance wherein she not only gave the name of the thief—a chamber maid—but described the exact location of the loot. The information was given to the police, the chamber maid confessed, and every detail of the medium's statement was proved correct.

As a result of the occurrence, Dr. Geley believes that any crime can be similarly solved, provided a medium of proper powers is obtainable and has suggested that the French police establish a special metaphysical department staged with mediums of every nationality and degree of power.

The discovery has caused enormous interest in police and metaphysical circles throughout the world.

Trapped By Fire Nine Perish In N.Y. Tenant

Police and Firemen Struggled Vainly to Reach Dying

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Nine persons lost their lives, three of them children, in a fire here which completely destroyed a five-storey building in 146th street. Sixteen families who huddled together on fire escapes were rescued by firemen who took them down ladders.

These nine persons constituted every member but one of two entire families. Fourteen other families escaped.

Originating, fire authorities say, in a baby carriage on the first floor of the structure, the fire swept upwards through the halls. Nearly a hundred men, women and children, clad in night clothes, swarmed to the fire escapes, some making their way to the ground, while others huddled terror-stricken on platform in mid-air until carried to safety.

The dead were all found on the fifth and top floor after the flames had been controlled. They were:

Raphael Gebbia, his wife Anna and their four children, who ranged in years from seven down to one and one-half; Mrs. Ada Frank, Mrs. Bertha Reynolds, her sister, and Ruth Reynolds, a girl of 16.

Gov't Candidate Wins In Yale

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

VERNON, B.C., Nov. 23.—With available figures at a late hour last night showing that J. A. MacKelvie, Government candidate, had received exactly four hundred more votes than Col. C. E. Edgett, the Independent candidate's supporters concede the Yale election, as the small polls to be heard from could not materially affect the results. Telephone communication is difficult with some of the outlying districts and returns from these may not be received until this afternoon.

James Young Charged With Wife's Murder

Body of Wife Was Found in Cellar Of House After Fire

James Young, of Kaladar, was on Saturday arraigned before Magistrate Rankin, at Napanee, on the charge of the murder of his wife, whose remains were found in his house on November 3rd, following a fire which destroyed the home. Young appeared before the Magistrate and did not plead, the charge being adjourned for a week.

In the ashes of the home, at Kaladar, on November 3rd, lying in the cellar was found the body of a woman with the skull crushed, presumably that of Mrs. Young, wife of Jas. Young, who was missing following the fire. The skeleton was found by neighbors immediately after the fire and allowed to remain where it was. On November 5th the neighbors found that the skeleton had been pounded to pieces by someone and information was sent to the police. Detective Stringer was sent on the case from Toronto and Young was arrested shortly afterwards on a charge of vagrancy. The coroner's inquest brought in the verdict of murder, and on Saturday Young appeared on the serious charge, Crown Attorney U. M. Wilson, of Napanee, prosecuting.

While the date for the preliminary hearing was set for next Saturday, it is not probable that the hearing will take place until next Tuesday in Kaladar, before Magistrate Rankin. J. S. Simpson, a young lawyer of Napanee, will be asked to defend the prisoner.

Mrs. Young was formerly a Mrs. Rogers, of Ivanhoe, and was Young's second wife. It is alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Young did not get along well together.

DEER CLOSE TO KINGSTON

On Friday afternoon five deer startled residents in Cataraqui district by passing south of the village at a fast rate, headed eastwards. The animals were making good time over the fences and through the fields, and were later reported as having passed north of Kingston Mills. At Seeley's Bay they were sighted and the chase was taken up there by a spaniel, which gave tongue and alarmed a hunter just north of the village, who succeeded in getting one of the animals, a splendid specimen. The other four got safely away. It is thought that the animals had been driven out of the north woods by the hunters, who were plentiful this fall.

Sherbrooke Man Crashes Into 150-Pound Animal Standing in The Road

SHERBROOKE, Nov. 23.—Quebec sportsmen have had some weird experiences while indulging in their favorite pastimes. There comes to mind the Montreal broker who caught a fish in Lake Champlain that sings; and another well-known Montrealer who hooked a bass and broke the leader and made off with it, only to give himself up, some distance away, half an hour or so later, to the very same fisherman. (He was certain it was the same fish, as the hook had a special contrivance thereon of his own invention).

It was left to a Sherbrooke citizen, however, to join the ranks of the immortals by killing a deer with a Ford car. The story is true, not only because it is vouched for by the man who killed the deer, but also because he has the car to produce as evidence of the impact.

The hunter in question is W. L. McGannon, formerly of Montreal and now inspector for the Stanstead and Sherbrooke Mutual Insurance Company. A few days ago he was returning from Huntsville when he saw in front of his chariot what he took for a young calf. He honked a dozen or so honks, but as the supposed calf showed no disposition to give him right of way he proceeded to apply the brakes. They did not act soon enough, however, and down went the calf—only it happened to be a deer that weighed about 150 pounds. Mr. McGannon gave the coup de grace with a knife and, loading the carcass into the car drove into Sherbrooke with it.

Many saw the prize and the damage done to the front of the car. The hunter has secured many deer in the past by the use of a gun, but he thinks that equipped with nothing but a Ford he would not mind going after even moose!

PREMIER AND HIS WIFE HAVE ADVENTUROUS TRIP

St Thomas, Nov. 22.—Something went wrong with the arrangements in Aylmer Saturday night, and no auto was ready to convey Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Mrs. Meighen to St. Thomas to make connections for London, where their special train was waiting. However, a friendly newspaperman with a car gave the Prime Minister and Mrs. Meighen a lift, but when the 12-mile journey was about three-quarters completed a tire punctured, and the friendly newspaperman, his driver and his distinguished guests found themselves marooned on a very muddy and very cold country road, with a lengthy wait in prospect while the damage was being repaired.

Their wait, however, was cut short by the arrival of a Ford driven by a youth, who explained that, while he had only one reliable cylinder in his car, he would do his best to get the Premier and his wife to St. Thomas.

The little Ford rambled along until the lights of the city were in sight and then that one precious cylinder gave out, and Premier Meighen and Mrs. Meighen again found themselves alone in a lonesome night.

Again good fortune came to their rescue. A farmer with a sturdy horse and buggy picked them up and landed them at the London & Port Stanley station in the small hours of the morning.

London, Nov. 23.—Spread of assassinations to England was feared here, following Dublin's red Sunday. Heavy guards were established in Whitehall and Downing street and large bodies of troops were reported held in readiness for quick despatch to Ireland.

Fairbanks Film Is A Thriller

"Doug" Adds New Untold-of Stunts to is Long List of Clever Accomplishments

The strenuous Fairbanks, whose sur name is "Doug," has pulled another thriller, in producing his second independently produced picture for United Artists, "When the Clouds Roll By," which crowded to its utmost capacity last night Griffin's Opera House.

"Doug" has had a habit of doing unusual things but he exceeded expectations this time, despite the fact that we were told that this was his best production. Superfluous phrases which preceded his coming, in talking about the film, were more than lived up to and we say without fear of contradiction that this is one of the few pictures ever produced that fans really want to see over and over again.

The most unusual feature about the picture is the subject treated—Superstitions. It's a touchy theme to say the least because of the millions of people in the country who really believe that they won't be married for seven years if they break a mirror that they'll have bad luck if a black cat crosses their path or that they will have a quarrel if they spill salt and all the other hundred and one superstitions jinxs. But the way "Doug" handles the material is just to the liking of everyone who crowded the theatre and moreover he comes through his terrible doings with the same optimistic smile and good will expression that he always does, smashing to smithereens all the old hoax stuff.

The second big impression that his production left was the massive settings that he constructed to make the picture. The final set alone, an entire town, which was built just so that "Doug" could stage a realistic flood, the like of which was never before seen on the screen, or even as much as conceived was wonderful. This unusual background served for the dramatic climax of the story and gave "Doug" the most remarkable setting he has ever had to do stunts that were all new to his following.

People who miss this production are missing the greatest Fairbanks' treat of their lives. This is the second independent picture "Doug" has made for United Artists, and it goes now without argument that he has accomplished more in his last two pictures as an independent producer than he did in any of all his previous ones.

"When the Clouds Roll By" is a capital comedy all the way through, full of lively action, and amusing situations, clean as a hound's tooth and without a single trace of dullness to mar its entertaining qualities. When a comedy can travel a six-reel limit with never a slackening of speed or interest it can fairly be said to have established an enviable reputation as a super-attraction and this is exactly what "When the Clouds Roll By" has succeeded in doing.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven in a refined and amusing 2-reel comedy, "Moving Day," Jack Dempsey in a thrilling and interesting chapter of the "Daredevil Jack" serial and an interesting Travelogue of Manila are also being shown in addition to the feature offering.

OLDEST PASTOR DIES.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The Rev. John Armstrong, probably the oldest Methodist minister in the province, if not in the Dominion, passed away at the age of 98 years in this city, after being over 75 years a minister of the gospel. He was born in Enniskillen, Ireland, in 1823, and since his retirement, 12 years ago, he had lived in Westmount.

IMPERIAL LIMITED DERAILED IN SUDBURY

Sudbury, Nov. 22.—C. P. R. train No. 1 (the Imperial Limited), westbound, was derailed Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock at Pogamasing, on the Chapleau division of the main line, 52 miles west of Sudbury. The engine and tender were not derailed, and although the baggage car, express car, second and first-class coaches, the tourist and dining car, left the rails no fatalities are reported.

The baggageman and expressman appeared to be the most seriously injured, and were removed to hospital in North Bay, their home town. Many passengers were shaken up and complained of minor injuries. A special with doctors and nurses was rushed from Sudbury, and also another from Chapleau.

Traffic was resumed after twelve hours, all passengers proceeding on their journey west. Doctors at the scene went west with the train on the resumed journey as far as White River, ministering to the passengers.

The Imperial Limited is composed of steel cars and only the resistance of the equipment prevented what might have been a serious affair. The second-class coach slid 50 feet from the tracks.

PARALYSIS

used to condemn a person to a life of uselessness and suffering. A few years ago even people so afflicted traveled about from place to place vainly seeking relief, only to give up the quest as useless and settle down to an invalid's life.

To tolerate such a condition is no longer necessary. Chiropractic science has proven that paralysis has a CAUSE—the impingement of a nerve as it emits from the spine—and by removing that cause the effect (paralysis) disappears. Don't suffer. Don't be content with a hopeless outlook. See your Chiropractor. He will explain the principles of Chiropractic to you. A consultation and spinal analysis will cost you nothing and will not in any way obligate you.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Within the village Werper passed hurriedly toward the silken tent of Achmet Zek. The Arab arose as his

"What Has Happened?" He Asked.

lieutenant entered. His face showed surprise as he viewed the tattered apparel of the Belgian.

"What has happened?" he asked.

Werper narrated all, save the little matter of the pouch of gems which were now tightly strapped about his waist, beneath his clothing. The Arab's eyes narrowed greedily as his henchman described the treasure that the Waziri had buried beside the ruins of the Greystoke bungalow.

"It will be a simple matter now to return and get it," said Achmet Zek. "First we will await the coming of the rash Waziri, and after we have slain them we may take our time to get the treasure—none will disturb it where it lies, for we have left none alive who knows of its existence."

"And the woman?" asked Werper.

"I shall sell her in the north," replied the raider. "It is the only way now. She should bring a good price."

The Belgian nodded. He was thinking rapidly. If he could persuade Achmet Zek to send him in command of the party which took Lady Greystoke north it would give him the opportunity he craved to make his escape from his chief. He would forego a share of the gold if he could but get away unscathed with the jewels.

"Who will go north with the woman," he asked, "while we are returning for the gold that the Waziri buried by the bungalow of the Englishman?"

Achmet Zek thought for a moment. The buried gold was of much greater value than the price the woman would bring. It was necessary to rid himself of her as quickly as possible and it was also well to obtain the gold with the least possible delay. Of all his followers the Belgian was the most logical lieutenant to intrust with the command of one of the parties. An Arab, as familiar with the trails and tribes as Achmet Zek himself, might collect the woman's price and make good his escape into the far north. Werper, on the other hand, could scarce make his escape alone through a country hostile to Europeans, while the men he would send with the Belgian could be carefully selected with a view to preventing Werper from persuading any considerable portion of his command to accompany him should be contemplate desertion of his chief.

At last the Arab spoke: "It is not necessary that we both return for the gold. You shall go north with the woman, carrying a letter to a friend of mine who is always in touch with the best markets for such merchandise, while I return for the gold. We can meet again here when our business is concluded."

Werper could scarce disguise the joy with which he received this welcome decision. And that he did entirely disguise it from the keen and suspicious eyes of Achmet Zek is open to question. However, the decision reached, the Arab and his lieutenant discussed the details of their forthcoming ventures for a short time further, when Werper made his excuses and returned to his own tent for the comforts and luxury of a long-desired bath and shave.

Having bathed, the Belgian tied a small hand mirror to a cord sewn to the rear wall of his tent, placed a rude chair beside an equally rude table that stood beside the glass and proceeded to remove the rough stubble from his face.

Advertise Your Goods When and Where Sales are Made
One of the best forms of advertising for any article is an attractive container.
Any container that prevents damage or soiling helps to sell the contents.
If the container is attractive as well it goes farther—it helps to advertise the contents—and is a silent salesman.
It suggests a purchase in the retail store—in the place, and at the time when purchases are being made.
A sanitary container—for food products—advertises purity and cleanliness in the making, as well as the intent of the maker to protect the purity of his product till it reaches the consumer.
Your goods, in a proper container, reach the consumer in the condition they leave your factory—insuring repeat sales.
In addition, the container forms one of the strongest forms of "in-the-store" advertising possible to get—a form of advertising which should be included in every campaign to sell retailed commodities.
Make use of our experience in designing a container for your goods.
Suggestions and samples will be sent you on request.

THE BISHOP'S INCOME.

The decision of the Bishop Lichfield to leave the episcopal palace for a house in the Close is a typical sign of the times. It is only a few months since a distinguished churchman declined a bishopric because, among other reasons, he could not conscientiously live in the palace. Action like that of Dr. Kempthorne is expected on a wide scale, and economic facts are causing domestic rearrangements which will probably help the Church of England more than the Church realizes. For to the man on the street "the palace" has always been a bugbear. English democratic tradition, though it has always been tolerant of landed aristocracy, especially when it ran to sport, has latterly been sullenly critical of lords spiritual. It was sometimes an ill-informed criticism, but it derived from an unfortunate past when many bishops took to reactionary politics with more vigor than discretion, and it was often supported by illusory figures of episcopal incomes.—Manchester Guardian.

CENTURIES BEHIND THE TIMES.

At the present time the outlook for any Government in China seems bad. If we had not the lessons of Chinese history to guide us we might readily believe that the Chinese are in process of national disintegration. But in the past there have been countless revolutions, numberless cycles in which chaos ruled for a time; the reaction inevitably followed, and there are those long periods marked by reigns in which there was peace, content, cheerful industry and general prosperity. At such times there was real progress. There would be hope for China if the old system of selecting men for high office only by examination results, were reverted to; that, at any rate, would minimize the effect of intrigue. The great mass of the people of China are still steeped in the old ideas enshrined in Chinese literature. A really great leader is needed, but unfortunately no one answering the description can be discovered in the political firmament. One of the first efforts of a real leader would be to adjust the old scheme of Chinese philosophy to the new conditions of life brought about by an increase of knowledge in subjects other than philosophy.—Hong Kong Press.

KING ALEXANDER AND THE TROUBLOUS GREEK THRONE.

Being king may be a fine job, but the three years or so during which the late Alexander of Greece held down the throne of that country would not seem to have brought him much pleasure. The record of the events of his brief reign shows that his life during that time was just one thing after another, each worse than the preceding one, leading up to the strange climax of a monkey-bite, which brought his career to a close. Assuming the crown when a revolution had compelled his father, King Constantine to quit, Alexander first of all found himself up against a violent political storm. Though placed on the throne by the Allied Powers because it was thought his education at Oxford might have inclined him to be friendly toward the English, the young King nevertheless appeared to many to be under the influence of his pro-German father and mother. Many clashes between the King and Premier Venizelos were reported during and following the war. When the political rough weather had calmed somewhat, Alexander found himself in fresh trouble at court because of his marriage with a commoner, Helen Manos, the daughter of a colonel in the Greek Army. One party urged the legalization of the marriage, while another wished it annulled. To escape the gossip incident to this difficulty, the King and his wife left Greece, and have spent much of their time in Paris during the present year. In addition to these various perplexities that he had thrust upon him, it seems that fate had apparently also decreed that Alexander's life should frequently be in danger. Thus, soon after assuming the throne he had a narrow escape when returning from the Serbian border on a train that was bombed by an enemy aviator. He had previously been injured twice, once breaking his leg while practising jumping and once in an automobile accident. The crowning misfortune came when the King was severely bitten by a pet monkey early in October. The wound thus inflicted developed the blood-poisoning, of which he died. It is said that the Greeks have been proud of the international brilliance which their royal family, related to all the reigning houses of Europe, brought to their capital. But King Alexander was a disappointment, particularly because of his morgantic marriage, and also for other reasons.

OTHER VIEWS

THE COAL SITUATION

Halifax Chronicle

According to the reports of the United States Geological Survey, the coal situation there is steadily improving. During the week ended October 9 production of bituminous coal exceeded 12,000,000 tons. This was an increase of 706,000 tons over the preceding week. A computation giving comparison with previous years shows that while the present year is running 12,000,000 tons behind 1917, and about 45,250,000 tons behind 1918 it is more than 51,000,000 tons ahead of 1919. For the four weeks ended October 9, the average weekly output at the soft coal mines was 11,728,-250 tons. Production of anthracite coal also increased. Shipments were not only up to normal during the week ended October 9, but were also the largest in any week since July. The nine principle carriers reported 35,961 cars loaded, an increase of 329 cars over the preceding week.

POETS' CORNER

NOVEMBER LEAVES

The ghost leaves of November come drifting, drifting down—
The sad brown leaves, the sodden
leaves, November leaves of twon;
Each careless gust of autumn, each touch of winter's cold,
Brings from the faithless branches dull showers of tarnish'd gold.

(Ah! fickle trees of autumn, that shake your shoulders free.
Disdainfully discarding your tattered finery—
Against pale skies of autumn your forms uprear,
Delicate yet defiant, virginal yet austere).

But lowly on the pavement the leaves of autumn lie,
Till winter, whistling on his pipe,
comes arrogantly by.
He sounds a mocking summons, he blows with icy breath;
'Come, get you up, ye laggards, and dance your Dance of Death!

The ghost leaves of November rise
wraith-like from the ground,
And madly whirling in the air, go dancing round and round,
While down the wind comes drifting,
as they go hurrying by,
A gust of phantom laughter, a memory-haunted sigh.

—B. Noel Saxelby, in Chambers Journal.

A LAUGH OR;TWO

Could do the Rest Herself

Wrote Mamie's mother to the teacher:

I don't want that Mamie should ingage in grammar, as I prefer her ingage in yuceful studies, and can learn her how to speak and write proper myself. I have went through two good grammars, and I can't say as they done me no good. I prefer her ingage in French and hand painting and vocal music on the piano.

The Proper Size

There, said an old crony to a friend to whom he was showing the sights of a Scottish town, that is the statue of Bailie Blank.

Is it no' a guid bit bigger than life-size, tho'? queried the other.

Oh! ay, it's a' that, but it's no a bit bigger than the Bailie thoct himsel'.—Tit-Bits.

His Friend for Life

Little Sammy was generally at loggerheads with his father, who had a disagreeable habit of using his razor-strop in a way that was not in accordance with Sammy's views.

One morning, after the razor-strop had been more than usually busy, Sammy's mother went out into the field to look for her much stropped child.

To her intense astonishment she found him fondling a huge goat, for which he usually professed a deep hatred.

Why, Sammy darling, it is nice to see you being so kind to poor Billy. Why are you being so gentle with him to-day?

Over Sammy's face came a look of unspeakable gratitude, as he gave the wondering goat another carrot.

He butted father into the pond this morning, murmured the dear little chap, patting his four-footed friend affectionately.

This Little Fellow's BURNS WONDERFULLY HEALED by Zam-Buk—Doctors Advised 'Skin-Grafting' Operation.

As an example of genuine gratitude, the letter of Mrs. Currie, of 194, Waterloo Ave., Guelph, Ont. is notable.

She says:—"One day baby fell out of his high chair on to the stove and got severe burns under the chin. The child suffered terribly and though I called in the doctor his treatment brought the child no relief. I consulted another doctor, but was told that skin would have to be grafted.

"Then I sent for a box of Zam-Buk. After using this soothing herbal balm a short time a wonderful improvement was noticeable. In less than three weeks, the child's burns, although so severe, healed perfectly without leaving any trace of a scar."

Keep Zam-Buk always at hand for cuts, scalds, sprains, burns and other skin injuries. Also for dealing with eczema, ringworm, ulcers, cold sores, poisoned wounds, pimples, boils, piles, etc. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25. All druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

INFLUENCE TO BE CURBED IN THE ARGENTINE

President Irigoyen has asked the Argentine Congress to pass a law designed to prevent officials of the government or their employes from using their influence in favor of private interests where business transactions with the government are involved. They would be forbidden under the measure from taking part in such transactions either directly or indirectly.

The measure was presented shortly after a legislative committee had been appointed to investigate charges made in the Chamber of Deputies that Domingo E. Salaberry, Minister of Finance, had favored business concerns in which he was interested in the matter of granting permits to export sugar, in the transportation of petroleum and in the observance of customs requirements.

Road Conditions For Miami Trip

Variety of Surfaces Will Be Covered on Expedition Next Month

Montreal, Nov. 23.—In preparation for the automobile tour from Montreal to Miami, Florida, which will take place early next month, the Automobile Club has obtained reports on the condition of the roads between the two cities.

Conditions are good to New York, but between New York and Philadelphia stretches of rough surface are encountered.

Between Philadelphia and Baltimore a choice of routes is available. The regular highway through Wilmington has been greatly improved and offers fairly good going, but a pleasant alternative is by leaving Philadelphia over the Baltimore pike and following what is known as the Rising Sun Trail joining the regular route at Belair. This provides hard surfaced roads in good condition practically throughout and leads through an attractive section.

From Washington to Richmond the surface averages good, and the only section where any great difficulty might be expected is about forty miles south of Washington, below Dumfries where some trouble might be found in getting through a half mile of roadway where a deep fill has been made in the road.

From Richmond to Durham most of the road is of sand, clay with some gravel sections, and while many rough spots will be encountered there is no point where actual difficulty need be anticipated in dry weather. An optional route is available by way of La Cross, Canon's Ferry, Norlina, Henderson and Franklin to Raleigh. This is fifteen miles shorter than the route by way of Clarksville, but is objected to by many motorists on account of the crude flat boat which is used on the Ganon's ferry.

From Durham to Pinehurst fair to good sand clay is found, though many rough places will also be met with. The sand clay continues quite fair for the most part to the South Carolina line, then is badly rutted with a good deal of sand road.

From Columbia through to Augusta and thence on to Macon is practically all sand clay and gravel, though some short stretches of all sand road are encountered. The conditions here again, as may be said of the entire trip to the south, in fact, depends on weather conditions. This statement perhaps applies particularly to the section between Augusta and Jacksonville, as at times some of the routes would be practically impassable after heavy rains. It is therefore suggested that motorists call at the Resignol Map Bureau at Augusta relative to the best route to follow at that time in reaching Jacksonville.

From Jacksonville to Maimi, with a few short exceptions at different points, the run is all improved road.

GERMAN INDEMNITY FOR MURDERED SWISS

The Geneva Government has deposited 20,000 francs in a Basle bank to the credit of the family of John Hennin, a Swiss who was shot in 1914 by order of a German officer on the false charge of having fired on German troops. The Swiss Government demanded an indemnity and the punishment of the officer, but it was learned later that the German had been killed during the war.

Steamer Randall Still Missing

It is Now Generally Believed That Vessel was Lost; But Hope is Expressed Crew May Have Got Safely Away

KINGSTON, Nov. 22.—Up until this afternoon no further word has been received of the steamer Randall which has been missing since last Tuesday, when it left Oswego for Belleville with a cargo of coal for Downey & Co. coal dealers of that city. It is feared now by marine men that the boat has gone down but it is thought that the crew may have got to shore on the Ducks. Numerous stories concerning the boat have reached the city and it is difficult to form any opinion as to what trouble the boat may have come to. While the story about the Keybell lying alongside the Randall on Tuesday night, is not denied, another conflicting story has reached the city from Oswego which is entirely different from the Keybell incident. The report from Oswego says that it is believed that the distress signal which was heard on Tuesday night at Sackett's Harbor was from the steamer John Randall. Sackett's Harbor residents heard the distress signals Tuesday night and were of the opinion that the Randall was not far from Stoney Point. It is believed that the steamer lost its way in the storm and took the south channel by Stoney Point.

Whether this latter story is correct or not, is not definitely decided but local marine men are unwilling to accept this story as correct. One local captain states this morning that when the Randall left Oswego for Belleville last Tuesday, she was headed on the Main Ducks. In that case if anything had happened to the Randall, she might be lying near the Ducks at the present time and the crew may have escaped and got safely to the Ducks. There is no direct communication to the Main Ducks and what has happened remains a blank.

The steamer Brockville of late has been in and out of South Bay where the Randall was supposed by marine men to have been lying when it was first reported missing, but no trace of the missing vessel has been secured by any members of the crew of the Brockville.

There is a small chance that the boat may yet be heard from and hopes are being entertained by a few but the fact that the Randall has had plenty of chances to clear several times since last Tuesday had she been afloat, has caused marine men and others much concern.

Called by Death

MARY H. WISEMAN.

Death came yesterday to the home of one of our honored citizens, when at 10.30 p.m. Mary H., the beloved wife of Mr. R. B. Wiseman, of 55 Bridge St. W., quietly passed away after a prolonged illness, which took a serious turn some three months ago. Mrs. Wiseman was born in Foxboro in 1866, being the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, and is survived by her husband, Mr. R. B. Wiseman, and two daughters, Anna Verna and Marian Crawford, besides one sister, Mrs. E. P. Frederick, of this city and a brother, Chas. A. Crawford, in Hamilton, Montana. With the exception of some fifteen years spent in Winnipeg, where her faithful and earnest church life was greatly appreciated by a large circle of friends, she resided in this locality. She was a member of Bridge Street Methodist Church, where she took a deep and active interest in the various departments of its work, especially the W. M. S., for which she labored with untiring zeal. There will be a memorial service at 55 Bridge Street West, on Wednesday, at 2 p.m., after which the interment will take place in Belleville cemetery.

ALEX. CONNAUGHTY.

Mr. Alex. Connaughty, aged 86 years, died in Thurlow Township yesterday evening. Deceased was formerly a farmer and for years resided at Stockdale, where the body was taken for interment.

Round-Up in Progress in Dublin and Elsewhere—More Bodies are Found

Dublin, Nov. 23.—The bodies of several additional victims of the fighting between Sinn Feiners and forces of the Crown were found in the streets of Dublin today. The confusion throughout the city was so great that it was impossible to tell how or when they had been killed.

The biggest round-up of Sinn Feiners in the history of the rebellion was in full swing. Scores of leaders here and at Queenstown were arrested. Detachments of troops with fixed bayonets were searching buildings in Dublin, Queenstown and other cities.

Panic reigned in Dublin and many other Irish cities. Railway service was suspended and the railway yards were unnaturally quiet. In many parts of Dublin, where it was usually noisy, there was no sound today but the tramp of armed patrols.

Pedestrians everywhere were being halted and searched by troops. In many cases after such searching the pedestrian would be surrounded by soldiers and hurried away.

Resumption of the fighting was believed to be imminent.

The Black and Tan troops were ordered confined to their barracks today to prevent reprisals for yesterday's murders. They were permitted to leave their barracks only on official permits. Sentries were posted to prevent departures.

Protection Of Industries Endorsed By City Council

RESOLUTION PASSED AT SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL FOR SUBMISSION TO TARIFF COMMISSION ENDORSING PRINCIPLE OF PROTECTION FOR CANADIAN INDUSTRIES — HOSPITAL RESIGNATIONS TO BE ENQUIRED INTO—OFFICE FOR SOCIAL WORKER.

At a special meeting of the city council held yesterday afternoon the members present were Mayor Riggs, Aldermen Woodley, Hanna, Bone, Ponton and Demarsh.

Ald. Bone stated that the meeting had been called in order that the council might adopt a resolution to be submitted to the Tariff Commission which had intended to meet here this week, but postponed the meeting owing to the Associated Boards of Trade meeting here. A resolution should be adopted in reference to the Protection of Canadian industries. They need adequate protection in order to be able to carry on.

Ald. Ponton—There is a pro and con side to this question, which is a rather big one. The city as a city should take some action in the matter befor the commission which is to meet shortly.

Ald. Woodley—We should do all in our power to protect our industries. petition today and some American industries are competing with certain Canadian industries. In protecting Canadian industries we are protecting labor.

Ald. Demarsh—Sir Wilfrid Laurer, Canada's great statesman advocated reciprocity.

The order of motion was reverted to and the folowing motion moved by Ald. Bone and seconded by Ald. Hanna, was submitted:

"Whereas the Council of the Municipality of Belleville is concerned for the maintainence of a healthy condition of industry here and elsewhere in Canada, and for the continued employment of industrial workers who with their dependents represent approximately onethird of the population of the city, and—

"Whereas present conditions the world over involve uncertainities and difficulties which so far as Canadian industries are concerned should not be aggravated by encouraging greater importations of goods abroad to compete with Canadian products, and

"Whereas be it resolved that the Council declares its desire and hope that the policy of adequate protection for Canadian industries and for Canadian workers be observed as the guiding principle of the forthcoming revision of the customs tariff."

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Social Workers

Mayor Riggs said an office should be provided for the social workers.

Ald. Woodley stated that an office could be provided in the water works department in the city building.

Mayor Riggs read an invitation to the members of the council to attend a banquet on Thursday night at Hotel Quinte for the members of the Associated Boards of Trade who were meeting in the city.

All the members present signified their intention of being present.

Resignations at Hospital

Before the council adjourned a general discusion took place in reference to the resignations of Miss Green as Superintendent of the Hospital and Miss Morrison as assistant.

Ald. Ponton was of the opinion that the council should be seized with the facts which led to the resignations of the worthy superintendent and assistant superintendent. He personally, knew nothing of any trouble if such existed.

The opinion of Ald. Ponton was voiced by all the members present and it was decided that a request be made for the council to be provided with a confidential report of the circumstances.

Council adjourned.

New York Paper Twits Valera

Recalls His Record, and Says He Lacks American Trait

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"A dispostion exists in some quarters to express dissatisfaction with Prof. De Valera, because he is attempting to organise, State by State, a society whose chief rite promises to be to spit from the safe distance of 3,000 miles, on the flag of a friendly power," says the New York Tribune, which adds:

"Attention is called to the past record of the Professor to the fact of his Spanish-American descent to the circumstances that after showing himself a friend of Germany during war he owed his life, when taken with arms in his hands after the Easter rebellion in Dublin to the truthful plea that he was an American citizen. He is even twitted for being above ground at all, for he widely advertised that if Terrance MacSwiney perished he would not survive him, whereas the latest report from the Professor's table is that he is still eating with great gusto.

LACKS NATIONAL TRAIT

"These complaints show it seems to us, lack of possession of one of our most valued national traits. It is the American habit to allow the foolish to go about as far as their folly dictates. Regularly in Philadelphia, never interfered with by the police, meets a society which holds that the deposition of James II in 1688, was an illegal act and that the true King of England today is an obscure prince who resides in Paris when not dodging his creditors. Humor leads us to smile wholesomely at the agitation of agitators, especially those who seek to embroil us in foreign quarrels. As President Wilson might have said, we are too proud to become angry.

"Of course, a severe strain was put on American patience when De Valera boasted last spring, when a question was put to him, that "the Irish people wished and hoped that Germany would win the war.

"But if men of Irish descent can endure the insult thus given to the Irish people, others can afford to ignor it and to allow the Professor to continue without molestation to pass the hat.

Argos and Torontos were ordered to play off the last half of their rugby game. No final Saturday.

Seeking Blonde In Murder Case

Philadelphia Man Found in Office with Head Crushed in Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—Requests for the arrest of a blonde woman, driving a big red automobile were sent broadcast by the police last night in connection with the killing of Henry T. Pierce, eastern manager of the Insley Manufacturing Company, whose body, the head crushed with a wrench was found in the rear of his office in this city. The motor car is said to have belonged to Pierce and bore a Pennsylvania license tag number 122-206.

Pierce, who was 45 years old and married, had been struck over the head several times with a wrench and to make death certain gas had been turned on in the room. Everything of value had been stolen from the body. The pockets of his clothing were turned inside out and all of his money was gone. A gold watch and two diamond rings he was said to have worn were missing and a valuable diamond had been torn from a stickpin and the pin left in his tie.

Pierce was last seen alive by persons who knew him when he entered his office late Saturday night accompanied by a young woman who is described as "young and blonde."

One theory of the police is that Pierce was lured to his office by the woman and then killed by a male accomplice. The woman is described as about 21 years old, five foot two inches in height and plump. She wore a brown turban hat with a blue feather, and three-quarter length brown coat. The officials are working on the theory that she and her accomplice, after slaying and robbing Pierce, drove off in his automobile, a 12 cyclinder, boat-shaped car, painted red.

Mrs. Irene Pierce, widow of the slain man, said she was warned Sunday night in a dream that her husband was in trouble. "My dream seemed to foreshadow tragedy," said Mrs. Pierce, "and I was trying to warn my husband of danger when I awoke."

Ottawa Opinion On Bye-Elections

Cabinet Expected Good Majority—Restlessness Big Factor in Vote

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The result of the by-elections yesterday was unquestionably a disappointment to the Government, and in the aftermath discussion around Parliament Hill this morning this was frankly admitted. Nor is there any disposition to estimate too lightly or regard as an ephemeral thing the movement which placed a farmer candidate at the head of the polls in East Elgin. The Government had expected to carry both seats—Yale by a large majority and Elgin by a substantial one. It holds Yale, apparently, but with a lead that is not great, while the Ontario seat, a typically rural riding, goes, as did Glengarry, and North Ontario and Temiskaming, to the Farmers' column.

The Ontario result is attributed to various reasons, including certain local influences and resentment over too much organization from without, but, more generally, to the prevailing restlessness and the desire for a change despite the risk of it being for the worst rather than the better. Had the Government carried both seats as it expected, it would have been interpreted both as an unmistakeable mandate to carry on to the end, and as a vindication of its policy.

The outcome is only half satisfactory and not at all so in the Ontario constituency, around which interest was concentrated particularly.

Yale None Too Satisfactory

Yale was regarded as a foregone conclusion, but even there the majority is somewhat less than was figured on.

There was nothing to indicate any highly perturbed condition in ministerial circles today as a result of the loss of East Elgin. While there had been high hopes and even expectation of carrying the seat, it was always recalled that it elected a farmer to the Legislature last year by 1,500 majority, and up to a few weeks ago the constituency was regarded as hopeless

"The election is unlikely to have any deterrent effect upon the Government's plan of going ahead to the end of the term with the assurance of a majority that is more than adequate for all purposes. Neither victory nor defeat would have been likely to precipitate a general election ahead of time.

It is recognized that those who have proclaimed the agrarian movement as over the peak and on the down-grade, will have to revise their calculations when, in a typical rural seat of Ontario a farmer again defeats both old parties, the Government candidate substantially, and the Mackenzie King follower overwhelmingly. Apparently there is nothing to do but go out and fight, and this is the announced intention.

The East Elgin vote, it is said, is not in the least calculated to cause the Government to swerve from the policy it has adopted, and which it is proclaiming in the West as well as the East. Conceivably, however, it may suggest some caution in the projected Cabinet reconstruction.

Fourth Arrest In Kenogami Crime

Quebec, Nov. 24.—What may prove the last lap in running to earth the murderers of Toster Kostinien, at Kenogami on July 27, 1918, was completed yesterday according to a telegram received here last night from detective Fred Rousin, at Port Huron, Mich., announcing the arrest there of "Little George," the last of the quartette charged with the crime.

Two of the accused, Nik Debeka and George Morhori, were found guilty and hanged here on July 13 last, while Mike Prosko, known as "Big Mike" is now in the Quebec jail awaiting his trial at Chicoutimi.

It came out at the trial of Debeka and Morhari that all four went to Kenogami, in July, 1918, and according to the evidence of the two deceased it was "Big Mike" and "Little George" who had gone into the camp and shot Kostinien, subsequently robbing him. Debeka and Mormari both swore that they had remained outside on watch. They were found guilty by the jury jury, however, and condemned to hang on June 25, but the date of the execution was subsequently postponed until July 13, when the death sentence was carried out.

Only a few days previous to their execution the arrest of "Big Mike" n Detroit by Detective Roussin was announced and "Big Mike" was in the Quebec jail when Debeka and Morhari were hanged.

Reward Of $15,000 For Doughty's Arrest

Reported Arrest of A. J. Small's Secretary Revives Quest in Mysterious Disappearance of Theatrical Man

Toronto, Nov. 24.—The reported arrest at Portland, Oregon, of John Doughty, secretary of A. J. Small, the missing theatrical man, revives interest in this mysterious affair.

Detective-sergeant Austin Mitchell, who has been in charge of the Small-Doughty case left for Portland, Oregon, last Thursday, on instruction of Chief Constable Dickson, and up till two o'clock this afternoon no word had been received from him at police head-quarters.

"I have had no word from Mitchell since he went west last Thursday." stated Chief of Detectives Guthrie. "Mitchell went to Portland on information received by the police from that city.

"I have received no word from Mitchell or any other official word about Doughty's arrest," stated Chief Dickson this afternoon, when a Canadian Press despatch was read to him.

It was on Sunday night, November 1, that a telegraph message was received at police headquarters from the police of Oregon stating that a man answering Doughty's description had been seen in the vicinity of Oregon, and asked for Doughty's description.

The reward of $5,000 offered for the arrest of Doughty was later increased to $15,000 at which figure it stands Doughty had been in the employ of Small for 18 years, having worked himself up to a salary of $45 per week as Small's confidential secretary. The day Small sold his theatrical holdings Doughty went on the pay roll of the Trans-Canada interests at a salary of $75 per week. He went to Montreal, returned to Toronto for Christmas and himself dissapeared on the following Sunday, December 28.

Doughty was in his 44th year and a man of powerful physique. he used to pull stroke oar for a local rowing crew and in his youth was no mean athlete. He was, however, not known as a quarrelsome man, nor was he ever known to have been involved in any act of violence.

He has two children by his first wife. He and his second wife separated, and he took his children to live at the home of his sister.

The charge of conspiracy to kidnap arises out of the statement made to the police by two local men, who are alleged to have received propositions to kidnap the missing theatrical magnate.

The charge of theft of the missing victory bonds grows out of the disappearance of securities from the safety deposit box of the missing millionaire Doughty, the records show, opened the box the day that A. J. Small disappeared, though he has told Mrs. Small that it was done at Mr. Small's request. Asked for the key he said he had given it back to Mr. Small.

The case of Ambrose J. Small, the millionaire theatre owner, is one of the most remarkable mysteries to puzzle the police of Canada for many years. Mr. Small disappeared from Toronto, December 2, 1919, just after he had closed a big financial deal in Montreal.

He had that day deposited a check for a million dollars in the bank. Mr. Small placed his wife in a car about five o'clock in the afternoon, and that is the last she has seen of him, and no trace of him has since been found or at least reported. He promised to be home for dinner, and was, apparently, in good health and spirits at the time of his disappearance.

A reward of $50,000 was subsequently offered for information of Mr. Small's whereabouts, but it elicited no response.

John Doughty disappeared from the offices of the Trans-Canada Theatre Company, Montreal, December 28, 1919, and until today his whereabouts have been a complete mystery.

WARRIOR OF MUTINY HONORS HEROIC DEAD

London, Nov. 20.—The last wreath to be placed upon the grave of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey, was one composed of maple leaves, which was sent from Canada by the only surviving member of the Victoria Cross at Lucknow during the Indian mutiny. Canon Westlake placed it on the grave as the last watchers left the Abbey.

The sender of the wreath was Pte. Geo. Richardson, V.C., the aged hero who was an outstanding figure in the Victoria Cross reunion during the Toronto Exhibition.

Appeal Heard In $65,000 Law Suit

An appeal was heard in the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa on Tuesday, the 23rd inst., involving the construction of an agreement made by a number of shareholders in the Quinte Navigation Company to pay $65,000. The plaintiff is the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Company, and the defendants who were shareholders in the Quinte Navigation Company signed the agreement under seal. Their lawyers on the appeal now ask the court to relieve them from this payment of the above sum claiming that the true construction of the agreement does not require them to pay it; if it does, the agreement should be rectified or rescinded on the ground of mistake; that the amount is not due; that the Ontario & Quebec Navigation Co. having sold its assets to the Canada Steamships Company, is not the owner of the claim, and that the agreement is ultra vires. The exceptionally large amount involved, the complicated nature of the litigation and the fact that most of the defendants live in Hastings and Prince Edward counties has excited a good deal of interest in the lawsuit. The court composed of Sir Louis Davies, Chief Justice of Canada, and Judges Iddington, Anglin, Duff, Meignault and Brodeur, after hearing the appeal reserved judgment to enable them to go through the voluminous evidence and list of legal authorities.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., W. N. Tilley, K.C., and J. A. Jackson appeared for the different appellants; E. Guss Porter, K.C., appeared for the respondent.

Last Saw A.J. Small In Theatre Says John Doughty

REFUSES TO DISCUSS DISAPPEARANCE OF SMALL—$100,000 IN MISSING VICTORY BONDS SAID TO BE DEPOSITED IN CHICAGO—DOUGHTY ADMITS IDENTITY AND WILL RETURN TO TORONTO WITHOUT EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Nov. 23.—After a year's search John Doughty has been found.

The former private secretary to Ambrose J. Small, missing Toronto theatrical man, is tonight registered at a local hotel under an assumed name and in charge of Detective Austin P. Mitchell, of Toronto.

Tomorrow morning Doughty, for whom there has been a reward of $15,000, leaves for Toronto with the detective.

No extradition proceedings are necessary. Doughty is willing to return to his former home. A Toronto police circular, hundreds of which have been sent out since Doughty's disappearance last December, was responsible for his arrest.

HOW THEY GOT HIM.

Constable Edward Fortune of Oregon City, who made the arrest, said that ten days ago he received a Toronto police circular describing Doughty. Fortune started investigating and learned that a man resembling the picture worked at the paper mills under the name of "Charles B. Cooper."

For several days Fortune watched "Cooper" before he saw him with his hat off, as shown in the picture. He then notified the Toronto police and Mitchell was sent out. On arriving Mitchell told Fortune he had been on a hundred fruitless trips in connection with the case, and doubted whether Fortune had the right man.

The two officers visited "Cooper" at his boarding house and told him he was wanted on a serious charge. Mitchell, who knew Doughty in the East, recognized him, and asked: "Jack, how could you do it?"

The man did not deny his identity, the officers said. Fortune declared he "wilted" when Mitchell spoke to him.

Mitchell said Doughty spoke of the $100,000 in Canadian Victory bonds, which were missing after his disappearance, but that Doughty would not discuss the disappearance of Small, beyond saying that he had last seen his former employer in a theatre in Toronto, where he had taken Small on the night of his disappearance.

According to Mitchell, Doughty stated that the bonds were deposited in Chicago, and promised to obtain them when in that city. Doughty will be taken home via Spokane and Chicago.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Confession Denied

Toronto, Nov. 24.—According to a special despatch received by the Star from Oregon City, Detective Austin Mitchell of the Toronto police department denied the report that John Doughty who was arrested yesterday had confessed to the theft of the missing bonds belonging to Ambrose Small his employer. Detective Mitchell, reads the despatch, said "Jack has made no confession, if there is a confession to be made he will make it through his lawyers when we get home. However, he says, he knows where the bonds are. In answer to a direct question he admitted they are in Toronto but refused to give any particulars.

Spracklin, Provincial license officer, during a raid on the Chappell House, on November 6, W. H. Asquith Motion On Irish Situatian

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

London, Nov. 24.—H. H. Asquith, former Premier and Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, was prepared today to move a resolution condemning outrages against Crown forces and civilians in Ireland. The resolution he had written expressed abhorrence of brutal assassination of officers in Dublin last Sunday deplored and condemned the action of the Irish executive department in attempting to suppress crime by methods of terrorism in reprisals involving lives and property of innocent persons, and declared the urgency of taking immediate steps to bring about pacification which is demanded in the interests of Ireland and the Empire. The Government has indicated there is no objections to debate on the subject but fear was expressed today that further exciting scenes might develop during the discussion.

It is said the Government is rather anxious over the fate of the Home Rule Bill in the House of Lords where threats of rather drastic amendments have been made.

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life.

Orillia, Ont.:—"I suffered from a bad case of woman's trouble with backache, nervousness, disordered digestion, irregularity and I had great pain all the time, sometimes I would faint at my work. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it fixed me up all right, I look much better and feel fine. I will recommend the 'Prescription' to all suffering as I did."—MRS. MAYBELLE B. GRATRIX, 115 Albert St.

Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for confidential advice and you will receive the medical attention of a specialist, wholly without fee—no charge whatever.

ARRESTED FOR VAGRANCY

Edward Pearsall appeared before Magistrate Farrell of Kingston yesterday morning on the charge of vagrancy and was remanded a week. Pearsall has been living most of the time in Shannonville, but evidently has no permanent home. Pearsall is well known in Belleville having been arrested here as a vagrant. He apparently has no permanent abiding place.

W.C.T.U. PRESENTATION.

Two features of special interest attended the November W.C.T.U. meeting. First, an address by Mrs. W. B. Miller, Napanee, First Vice President of Hastings, Lennox and Addington counties W.C.T.U. on the duties of the nine superintendents of W.C.T.U. departments; second, an address and presentation of life membership, and of a beautifully beaded hand-bag, to Mrs. Bonter, treasurer of the Union, who is removing from Belleville.

Mrs. O'Flynn presided in the absence, through illness, of Mrs. Gibson, the President. The address read as follows:

Dear Mrs. Bonter,—With sincere regret we heard of your prospective removal to another town. We shall miss her, we said, as we recall your faithfulness for nearly twenty years—years when only the courage born of a great faith in a few like yourself held this organization together through disheartening circumstances. Because we have learned to value that faithfulness we want to show our appreciation by making you a life member of the County Women's Christian Temperance Union. We also ask you to accept this little personal gift in token of our loving regard. We know you will proudly and worthily wear the county emblem. Whenever you use the other we trust it will remind you of loving friends who regret to lose you, but who wish you and all who belong to you health, happiness and success wherever you may be.

Signed on behalf of the executive of the Belleville W.C.T.U.

ANTIQUES COLLECTED BY KING ALBERT

King Albert of the Belgians, when he sailed from Rio De Janeiro for home October 16, after a month's visit to Brazil, took with him a large collection of objects and antiquities illustrative of Indian life in Matto Grosso and other Brazilian states. The collection was made by General Rondon, the famous Brazilian explorer who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt on his expedition to the 'River of Doubt".

Besides tools and utensils used by various tribes of Brazilian Indians now and in the past, King Albert, who had shown much interest in and knowledge of the subject, also took with him an album of 200 photographs and several of the published works of the Rondon commission.

That commission has for some years years been exploring the interior of the country and constructing government telegraph lines. Films showing the work of the commission are now being exhibited in Rio de Janeiro and are awakening great public interest.

Reassuring Statement Shown By Bank Of Montreal

BANK QUICKLY MET LARGE PROPORTION OF THE INCREASED REQUIREMENTS OF CANADIAN TRADE AND COMMERCE—GRATIFYING INCREASE IN SAVINGS DEPOSITS.

A striking exhibit of how the premier Bank of Canada is swinging back from the special war conditions to the care of the growing trade of the country is afforded by the annual statement of the Bank of Montreal for the fiscal year to October 30th.

The report this year makes its appearance at a time when it will be closely scanned by everyone desirous of obtaining a knowledge of the Canadian banking situation at a period when the difficulties of the readjustment period are testing the industrial and commercial strength of the country.

It will be of special interest to note that the Bank of Montreal, even in the difficult and onerous conditions caused by the war, was looking well ahead towards the period of reconstruction that was inevitably to follow. As a result the Bank has been able to take care of a very large proportion of the expanding trade and commerce of the country and reports total current loans of $223,495,472, as against $164,182,581 last year, a gain of close to $60,000,000. The total of the loan accounts amounts to $256,500,001 as compared with $195,727,857 a year ago.

On the other hand, there has been a steady reduction in the special Government business which was undertaken during the war and the holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government securities are now down to $14,863,954, from $62,984,255. At the same time the Canadian Municipal securities and British, Foreign and Colonial Public securities, other than Canadian, have declined to $36,949,430, compared with $97,041,359. The total of these accounts has been reduced to $289,146,508, down from $337,980,858.

Every part of the statement has its interesting features. During the year the Bank made a further issue of stock and both the Capital and Reserve have been increased to $22,000,000 each, as compared with $20,000,000 each at the end of the previous year. A very gratifying feature is to be found is the fact that even during the special period of the past year the savings deposits of the Canadian people have continued to increase and as a result deposits bearing interest now stand at $322,578,613, up from $312,655,964. In consequence of the expansion enjoyed during the year the total assets of the Bank now amount to $560,150,812 as compared with $545,304,809.

Profits Reflect Larger Business

As a result of the very much larger business handled and the increase in capital, the profits for the year show a steady gain, as compared with the previous year and amounted to $4,033,995 as compared with $3,314,227 in the previous year. These profits, added to the balance of Profit and Loss a year ago, which amounted to $1,812,854 and to the $1,000,000 of premiums on new stock, brought the amount available for distribution up to $6,846,850. There was distributed $2,960,000 in regular dividends and a bonus of 2 per cent.; $2,000,000 was placed to the credit of Rest Account; $210,000 war tax on bank note circulation and $425,000 reserve for Bank premises. This brought the total allotments up to $5,595,000 and left a balance to be carried forward into the new year of $1,251,850.

The principal accounts of the Bank, with comparisons with those of the previous year, show as follows:

	1920	1919
Total Assets	$560,150,812	$545,304,809
Liquid Assets	289,146,508	337,280,858

Capital Stock	22,000,000	20,000,000
Rest	22,000,000	20,000,000
Dominion and Provincial Government Securities	14,863,954	63,984,255

Can Not Remain Silent, She Says

Received Such Wonderful Benefits From Tanlac She Wants Others to Know About It

"I don't see how anyone could get the wonderful results I have and keep silent about it," said Mrs. Leontine Crete, of 852 Ethel street, Verdun, Quebec, Canada., while discussing her experience with Tanlac, recently.

"About a year ago I had to undergo a serious operation, and before I recovered was taken down with influenza. When I finally got up from this attack I was in a miserably run-down condition. I had lost all desire for food and when I did force myself to eat I always suffered, for I had sharp pains in the pit of my stomach, and gas formed which bloated me up so it almost cut off my breath. I suffered from constipation and much of the time I had a sharp pain in my side, and at night was often so racked with pain I would lay awake for hours. I could never get any relief from these troubles, though I tried a number of different medicines.

"But that's all over now, and just two bottles of Tanlac have made all this difference. My appetite is just fine now and I can eat three hearty meals every day and enjoy every mouthful and everything seems to agree with me perfectly. I am no longer troubled with constipation, and the pains have left my back and sides. My sleep is sound and refreshing and I always feel rested in the morning. I have gained several pounds in weight and there is all the difference in the world in my feelings. I give Tanlac all the credit for my present good health, and must say I think it's the grandest medicine I ever heard of."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, and by the leading druggists in every town.

(What the Press Agents Say)

WHY "DOUG" LOVES STUNTS.

"Some folks get a great deal of excitement from picking up a poker hand to see what they have drawn, but for me the real pleasure in life is in trying out new climbing and jumping stunts just to see what will happen to me." This is how Douglas Fairbanks says he feels when he was questioned about some of the reckless stunts he does in his production "When the Clouds Roll By," which will be shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight.

While Doug was waiting in the studio for some lighting effects to be worked out in one of the sets, he climbed to the top of one of the studio buildings and jumped some thirty feet into a hedge that bordered the lot.

"How did you know that the hedge would break your fall?" he was asked.

"I didn't know whether it would or not, that's the reason I jumped."

Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven in a refined and amusing 2-reel comedy, "Moving Day," Jack Dempsey, in a new chapter of the "Daredevil Jack" serial, and a beautiful and interesting travelogue of Manila are also being screened in addition to the feature offering.

KEENAN AND CHAPLIN AT GRIFFIN'S TOMORROW

A photoplay of unusual excellence has been arranged for presentation at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday.

Political intrigue and romance have been woven together in Eloise Wilson's "Dollar for Dollar" in which Frank Keenan assumes the stellar role. It deals with momentous events and with affairs of love in a way to keep one's interest on the jump. The story is an aftermath of the war, packed with suspense and dramatic interest. Charlie Chaplin in a 2-reel comedy, "The Floorwalker," Ruth Roland in the latest chapter of "The Adventures of Ruth" serial, Vode-Vil-Movies, a novel reel showing eight high class acts performing, and an Outing Chester Travelogue will all be screened in addition to the feature offering.

Hon. Peter Smith announces that he will change the system for censoring movie films, one man to be responsible.

Arizona Chasm Natural Wonder

Belleville Man Writes of Scenic Wonders of American West

There are on this continent many wonderful freaks of nature, some of which I have seen: The Au Sable Chasm near Lake Champlain, a deep rocky ravine at the bottom of which flows a river: The Yellowstone Park with its white lake, under which, as you walk upon it, you listen to the boiling, restless surges under your feet. Its geysers of boiling waters, throwing up columns seventy feet in the air. Its extinct geysers into which you descend into the depths, through which, during untold ages, boiling water was hurled. Niagara, hurling the water through the gorge two hundred feet below. All these wonders fade into comparative insignificance when compared with the greatest wonder of the continent and probably of the world. The Arizona Chasm. The country adjacent is chiefly desert, interspersed occasionally with stunted trees. The desert was once the bottom of an ocean.

Cliff Dwellers

Scattered through this desert are huge piles of red granite, looking like fortresses. Near the Indian town of Acoma are to be found cliffs of enormous size, which formed the dwelling places of tribes, now extinct. They are known as the cliff dwellers. Their homes were on the summits of high rocks hollowed into rooms. They ascended and descended by ladders. In case of an attack the ladders were drawn up. Stores of food and water were kept in the houses. Many vestiges remain, ancient pottery, etc. Many of these residences are to-day inaccessible. In some cases the rocks have been ascended by explorers. Who these cliff dwellers were is not known. The Pueblo tribe of Indians have a number of villages and are to some degree civilized, owing to the Catholic priests who dwell with them. How civilized men, highly educated, can voluntarily pass their lives amidst such surrounding is wonderful.

Indian Plays

The Indians still retain many of their habits and customs. Those who are not members of a church still perform their plays and have their extraordinary festivals. The snake dance is a religious ceremony. Rattlesnakes in numbers are caught. These are placed upon the ground and enclosed. At a stage in the dance the young men seize the snakes and grasp them in the middle of the body with their teeth. They then dance with the snakes hanging from their mouths A snake does not strike when he is crawling with his body extended. When he coils he is dangerous, because he hurls himself at his foe. The snakes often bite the Indians in this ceremony. The Indians have prepared an infusion of some herb, which they drink and shortly afterwards expel from their stomachs, which renders them immune from poison.

At the close of the dance the snakes are allowed to escape. In order to make the snakes uncoil and extend they brush their bodies with a wand tipped with feathers.

A Wonderful Canyon

The Colorado River is a thousand miles long. For 250 miles it has scooped out the banks and has formed the most wonderful canyon in the world. From Belleville to one mile west of Trenton is thirteen miles. Standing on one side or lip of the canyon you look directly across a distance of thirteen miles. Imagine this great chasm extending that distance. Looking down 6,500 feet you see at the bottom a little thread of water apparently a few inches in width. Men and donkeys appear to be about three inches tall. Supposing the steeple of the Catholic church in Belleville to be 120 feet high add to it ten more steeples of the same height, then another ten, and another ten. You have a steeple of 3,600 feet high. Add to this thirty six hundred feet and you have about the depth of this canyon. Think of this, a whole chain of mountains would be lost in the chasm. The great pyramid of Egypt would be swallowed up. The cliffs are full of foscils of animals ages ago extinct. Great banks of much beauty of color red, brown and grey form the sides. From the bottom vast masses of rocks of all kinds and shapes fashioned by the water of the river, have been carved. One of the most wonderful effects is produced by the setting sun—producing strange illusions as you gaze into the yawning chasm. All sorts of temples and strange fantastic figures appear. For untold centuries this river has been carving its way for vast distances through this friable rock. During this time animals of strange forms have been created, lived their brief lives, and turned into stone. Many of these have been chiseled out from these rocks.

An Island Sea

Far back in the distance eocene epoch of our planet's history this Colorado river was the outlet of an inland sea which drained off towards the Pacific as the country of Arizona arose. Water, winds and storms have caused the disintegration of the monster cliffs which as they crumbled into dust were carried downwards and borne into the ocean. Standing looking downwards into this chasm your thoughts go back through the dim and distant ages "When the morning stars sang together and the sons of God shouted for joy at the birth of a new world."

Many Killed In Dublin Outbreak

Twenty-Six Dead and Seventy in Hospital, Following Violent Outbreak.

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—Twenty-six persons are dead and seventy others are lying in hospitals as a result of Sunday's orgy of assassinations and the wholesale shooting in Croke Park, where soldiers fired on the crowd which had gathered to witness a football game between the Dublin and Tipperary teams.

Dublin's apprehensions that reprisals would follow last night prove unfounded and it is believed that Government reports of three or four killings in the city after midnight were due to their confusion with outrages near Dublin.

Aside from military activities and searchings, including Mansion House armored cars passing through the streets, and the fact that all thoroughfares leading out of the city were closely watched, Dublin and its vicinity were quieter today. It appeared that yesterday's outbreak, following the lines of other Irish disturbances, was not being sustained.

"Black and Tan" Ambushed.

Leap, County Cork, Ireland, Nov. 22.—Two "Black and Tan" constables were ambushed here last night. One was killed and the other dangerously wounded.

Deaf Man Shot Dead.

Navan, County Meath, Ireland, Nov. 22.—Austin Cowley, a journalist, while going through the Navan workhouse gate today, was challenged by a military sentry. Cowley, who was deaf, did not hear the challenge and was shot dead.

JESSE COLLINS DEAD IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 23.—Jesse Collins, former Liberal-Unionist member of Parliament for Birmingham, died at Edbbaston, Birmingham. He was born in 1831.

Deceased was for many years a leading Parliamentarian. He was the author of the Small Holdings Amendment to the address which caused the resignation of Lord Salisbury's Government in January, 1886. He was also Under-secretary for the Home Office, 1895-1902. He became famous for his advocacy of "Three acres and a cow" for every man.

MONKEY BUSINESS.

A pet monkey bit the late King of Greece. The King died. Then followed quickly the downfall of Venizelos, the threat of King Constantine's return, and commotion in every capital in Europe.

The jaws of the Reds are working all the time, but how long would it take them to accomplish as much mischief as was worked by the jaws of this monkey?—Montreal Star.

THE EAST ELGIN RESULT.

The election in East Elgin to fill the seat in the House of Commons held by the late David Marshall has resulted in the return of Mr. S. S. McDermand, the candidate of the United Farmers of Ontario. This was not generally expected, except among the farmers, who are the greater proportion of the electorate, and seem to have correctly estimated their strength. Mr. McDermand led the Government candidate, Mr. Stansell, by some two hundred votes, and Mr. Charlton, the Liberal nominee, by over 1,000. Much interest will properly be attached to the outcome of the contest, says the Montreal Gazette. All knew what the candidates stood for. The leaders of the three parties visited the constituency and set their cases before the voters. The result means a loss to the Government on a division in the House of Commons, not a serious matter in one sense, though it would have been better if the constituency had been held. The causes of the change in sentiment are probably the same as those which put Mr. Drury in power in Ontario. Home affairs have been somewhat neglected by both the Government and Liberal parties for some time. The ministers were busy with outside business, and the Liberals were without an effective chief. The farmers became dissatisfied, and they had among them men who could lead and organize. The effect was seen in all the provinces (save Quebec) when provincial contests were held, in Manitoba and New Brunswick to the hurt of the Liberals, and in other provinces to the loss of the Conservatives. Mr. Meighen took the leadership of the Government and has been an active and effective chief. He has given his party new hope and new courage; but he has not had time to do all that was required to put it on its feet. He deserved success, if he did not win it in this bye-election. The situation makes no difference in his duty, either as head of the Government or as chief of his party.

UNITED STATES CHURCHES STUDY PUBLICITY METHODS

"Flights of words more fatal than shrapnel" and "drops of ink more pervasive and paralyzing than phosgene" were used by the Allies in breaking the morale of the enemy armies, and it is suggested that the Church could do as well by using the power of the printed word in fighting the forces of irreligion and agnosticism. The idea is meeting with general favor in the United States and in England, the New York Christian Advocate (Methodist) notes approvingly, recalling that "Wesley knew how to make and how to circulate printed propaganda that hit the mark." Now, however, "the churches have practically stopped their presses except for books, periodicals—and survey questionaires." But "the tract again has its chance," and it is time to develop for propaganda purposes a line of religious literature "so attractive and vigorous that it will make a spiritual impression." In the opinion of the Methodist editor the times demand a copious supply of interesting Christian literature to be at hand as an antidote wherever the anarchist, the infidel, and propagators of new and strange heresies leave their seed. Even more than that is required—"a leaflet literature so plentiful and so powerful that it will anticipate the propaganda of spiritual error and will prepare the reader to meet and defeat its demoralizing influence."

In the United States the need for church publicity has been recognized to the extent that during the past two years, we are informed, two hundred ministers in New York have taken courses in publicity. The Chicago Church Federation has created a commission to deal with the subject. Baltimore set the pace first with "some clever and unconventional talks designed to convert the business man from his Sunday morning slothfulness to active service in the church." Several denominations now have public secretaries, and there is a department of religious publicity in connection with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. New propaganda organizations are being established, the latest being the Gospel Advertising League of New York, which, it is claimed, has no paid officials and is organized, not for profit, but for the extension of the Gospel in the world as "a labor of love."

Perhaps the most striking method of church advertising is that adopted by the Union Methodist Church on Forty-eighth Street, near Broadway, New York City, which has erected a huge electric sign as a beacon light along the Great White Way. The church is situated in the heart of New York's theatrical district, and, according to its slogan, is "just ninety-nine steps from Broadway." The sign is 25 feet by 8, and contains 2,000 electric lamps, which make it easily visible to passing theatre crowds. The sign cost $3,000.

Fake cures for tuberculosis defraud the American public of from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year, according to figures compiled by the National Tuberculosis Association. Three general types of fake cures have been classified by the tuberculosis authorities. First come those exploited by well-meaning friends who suggest such things as dog's blood, onions, lemons, and certain types of exercise; the second type consists of all kinds of proprietory remedies, and the third type are the so-called "scientific" cures, mostly of European origin.

LEAGUE NOT DEAD

New York Times

It is lucky for Senator Harding that he is off playing golf and fishing for tarpon while the League of Nations is working. Otherwise, he might be asked to explain how the "deceased" organization could be showing such unmistakeable signs of life. The real post mortem needed just now is, not on the League, but on the insensate Republican policy of opposition to it.

Mr. Harding cannot say that he was not warned in time. An astute and far-seeing Republican cabled to him from Europe in the heat of the campaign: "It is very unwise to declare the League dead." "It would not be true." That word from Elihu Root has been fulfilled in Mr. Harding's ears. The demonstration in Geneva is now complete that what the Republicans asserted about the League was both unwise and untrue. Their next job is to struggle out of the pit which they digged.

POETS' CORNER

THE ETERNAL WAY

I take no shame that still I sing the the rose
And the young moon, and Helen's face and Spring
And strive to fill my song with sound of streams
And light of dreams;
Choosing some beautiful eternal thing
That ever comes like April—and ever goes.
I have no envy of these dusty themes
Born of the sweat and clamour of the hour—
Dust unto dust returning—nor any shame have I.
'Mid sack of towns, to ponder on a flower;
For still the sorrow of Troy-town is mine,
And the great Hector scarce is dead an hour.

All heroes, and all lovers, that came to die
Make pity's eyes with grief immortal shine;
Yea! still my cheeks are wet
For little Juliet,
And many a broken-hearted lover's tale,
Told by the nightingale.
Nor have I shame to strive the ancient way,
With rhyme that runs to meet its sister rhyme,
Or in some metre that hath learnt from Time
The heart's own chime.
These ways are not more old
Than the unmeditated heresies of song
Already when Homer still was young.

—Richard de Gallienne.

A LAUGH OR TWO

A Fair Week

A gentleman lately kept a meteralogical diary of his wife's temper. It ran somewhat as follows:

Monday: Rather cloudy; in the afternoon, rainy.

Tuesday: Vaporish; brightened up a little towards evening.

Wednesday: Changeable, gloomy, inclined to rain.

Thursday: High wind and some peals of thunder.

Friday: Fair in the morning; variable till the afternoon; cloudy at night.

Saturday: A gentle breeze, hazy; afternoon, a thick fog, and a few flashes of lightning.

Sunday: Tempestuous and rainy; towards evening rather calmer.—Answers.

FIRE WIPES OUT QUEBEC STORES

Quebec, Noc. 22.—Fire losses aggregating over half a million dollars were caused here this morning by a blaze which swept the heart of the retail business section.

The blaze, which was discovered in the early hours of the morning, had been burning for hours before discovery, and started in the dry goods firm of Marceau & Co., 155 St. Joseph street, spreading thence to the Woolworth store. The fire reaching a deposit of celluloid goods there was a violent explosion, which immediately caused the fire to spread to the Paquet clothing establishment, next door.

By eight o'clock the blaze was under control, but not before the Marceau and Woolworth stores were completely destroyed, and the Paquet building, with its contents much injured. Insurance is carried only on a portion of the stock burned.

Fireman Frazer Lapointe was severely burned about the head and face and was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Seven other firemen were more or less injured, but remained on duty.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

In the catalogue of masculine pleasures there is scarce one which imparts a feeling of greater comfort and refreshment than follows a clean shave, and now, with weariness temporarily banished, Albert Werper sprawled in his rickety chair to enjoy a final cigarette before retiring. His thumbs, tucked in his belt in lazy support of the weight of his arms, touched the belt which held the jewel pouch about his waist. He tingled with excitement as he let his mind dwell upon the value of the treasure, which, unknown to all save himself, lay hid beneath his clothing.

He unfastened the belt and drew the pouch from its hiding place. He was alone. The balance of the camp, save the sentries, had retired—none would enter the Belgian's tent. He hefted the bag, first in one palm, then in the other, and at last he wheeled his chair slowly around before the table, and in the rays of his small lamp let the glittering gems roll out upon the rough wood.

The refulgent rays transformed the interior of the soiled and squalid canvas to the splendor of a palace, in the eyes of the dreaming man. He dreamed of joys and luxuries and power which always had been beyond his grasp, and as he dreamed his gaze lifted from the table, as the gaze of a dreamer will, to a far distant goal above the mean horizon of terrestrial commonplaceness.

Unseeing, his eyes rested upon the shaving mirror which hung upon the tent wall above the table; but his sight was focused far beyond. And then a reflection moved within the polished surface of the tiny glass, the man's eyes shot back out of space to the mirror's face, and in it saw reflected the grim visage of Achmet Zek, framed in the flaps of the tent doorway behind him.

Werper stifled a gasp of dismay. With rare self-possession he let his gaze drop without appearing to have halted upon the mirror, until it rested again upon the gems. Without haste, he replaced them in the pouch, tucked the latter into his shirt, selected a cigarette from his case, lighted it and rose. Yawning, and stretching his arms above his head, he turned slowly toward the opposite end of the tent. The face of Achmet Zek had disappeared from the opening.

To say that Albert Werper was terrified would be putting it mildly. He realized that he not only had sacrificed his treasure; but his life as well. Achmet Zek would never permit the wealth that he had discovered to slip through his fingers, nor would he forgive the duplicity of a lieutenant who had gained possession of such a treasure without offering to share it with his chief.

Slowly the Belgian prepared for bed. If he were being watched, he could not know; but if so the watcher saw no indication of the nervous excitement which the European strove to conceal. When ready for his blankets, the man crossed to the little table and extinguished the light.

It was two hours later that the flaps at the front of the tent separated silently and gave entrance to a dark-robed figure, which passed noiselessly from the darkness without to the darkness within. Cautiously the prowler crossed the interior. In one hand was a long knife. He came at last to the pile of blankets spread upon several rugs close to one of the tent walls.

Lightly, his fingers sought and found the bulk beneath the blankets—the bulk that should be Albert Werper. They traced out the figure of a man, and then an arm shot upward, poised for an instant and descended. Again and again it rose and fell, and each time the long blade of the knife buried itself in the thing beneath the blankets. But there was an initial lifelessness in the silent bulk that gave the assassin momentary wonder. Feverishly he threw back the coverlets and searched with nervous hands for the pouch of jewels which he expected to find concealed upon his victim's body.

Again and Again It Rose and Fell.

An instant later he rose with a curse upon his lips. It was Achmet Zek, and he cursed because he had discovered beneath the blankets of his lieutenant only a pile of discarded clothing arranged in the form and semblance of a sleeping man—Albert Werper had fled.

Out into the village ran the chief, calling in angry tones to the sleepy Arabs, who tumbled from their tents in answer to his voice. But though they searched the village again and again they found no trace of the Belgian. Foaming with anger, Achmet Zek called his followers to horse, and though the night was pitchy black they set out to scour the adjoining forest for their quarry.

As they galloped from the open gates, Mugambi, hiding in a near-by bush, slipped, unseen, within the palisade. In the darkness he passed, unchallenged, and for an hour he crept about in the rear of the various huts and tents in an effort to locate that in which his master's mate was imprisoned. One there was which he was reasonably assured contained her, for it was the only hut before the door of which a sentry had been posted. Mugambi was crouching in the shadow of this structure, just around the corner from the unsuspecting guard, when another approached to relieve his comrade.

"The prisoner is safe within?" asked the newcomer.

"She is," replied the other, "for none has passed this doorway since I came."

The new sentry squatted beside the door, while he whom he had relieved made his way to his own hut. Mugambi slunk closer to the corner of the building. In one powerful hand he gripped a heavy knob-stick. No sign of elation disturbed his phlegmatic calm, yet inwardly he was aroused to joy by the proof he had just had that "Lady" really was within.

The sentry's back was toward the corner of the hut which hid the giant black. The fellow did not see the huge form which silently loomed behind him. The knob-stick swung upward in a curve, and downward again. There was the sound of a dull thud, the crushing of heavy bone, and the sentry slumped into a silent, inanimate lump of clay.

A moment later Mugambi was searching the interior of the hut. At first slowly calling "Lady!" in a low whisper and finally with almost frantic haste until the truth presently dawned upon him—the hut was empty!

CHAPTER IX.

Tarzan Becomes a Beast Again.

For a moment Werper had stood above the sleeping ape-man his murderous knife poised for the fatal thrust; but fear stayed his hand. What if the first blow should fail to drive the point to his victim's heart? Werper shuddered in contemplation of the disastrous consequences to himself.

Again came the soft sound of padded footsteps in the reeds—closer this time. He abandoned his design. Before him stretched the wide plain and escape. The jewels were in his possession. To remain longer was to risk death at the hands of Tarzan, or the jaws of the hunter creeping ever nearer. Turning, he slunk away through the night, toward the distant forest.

Tarzan slept on. Where were those uncanny guardian powers that had formerly rendered him immune from the dangers of surprise? Could this lull sleeper be the alert, sensitive Tarzan of old?

Perhaps the blow upon his head had numbed his senses temporarily—who may say? Closer crept the stealthy creature through the reeds. The rustling curtain of vegetation parted a few paces from where the sleeper lay, and the massive head of a lion appeared.

It was the beating of the beast's tail against the reeds which awakened Tarzan. Jungle folk do not awaken slowly—instantly, full consciousness and full command of their every faculty returns to them from the depth of profound slumber.

Even as Tarzan opened his eyes he was upon his feet, his spear grasped firmly in his hand and ready for attack. Again was he Tarzan of the Apes, sentient, vigilant, ready.

Whether it was surprise, fear or caution which prompted the lion crouching ready to spring upon the man, is immaterial—the fact remains that he did not carry out his original design, he did not spring at the man at all, but, instead, wheeled and sprang back into the reeds as Tarzan arose and confronted him.

U. S. FIRMS SEEKING ST. LAWRENCE POWER

Brockville, Ont., Nov. 20.—The St. Lawrence Transmission Company of Potsdam, N.Y., has made application to the United States Power Commission under the law recently passed, for a preliminary permit to develop power on the St. Lawrence River between Ogdensburg and Barnhart Island, below Massena.

This is the Long Sault power scheme. The Louisville Power Corporation has also made application for a similar permit to develop the power on the St. Lawrence River from the west end of Croll Island below Louisville Landing, to the easterly end of Goose Neck Island.

The Federation Power notified Mayor Kelly of Ogdensburg that such application had been made and that any objection or requests for a hearing thereon should be submitted on or before Jan. 12 next, to the Federal Power Commission at Washington.

It is the Worthy Ambition of Every Woman to be Beautiful

THE powder puff is all right when used in moderation to touch up the complexion or to cover up a rough spot in the skin.

But this is only an imitation of real beauty after all. For powder can never compare with rich, red blood as a beautifier.

Powder may conceal wrinkles, but rich blood prevents their formation and gives the sparkle to the eye and the glow to the skin which speak of youth and vigor.

Outdoor exercise is the natural way to redden the blood, and English women who are famous for their beauty take long walks to tone up the complexion.

In this country there seems to be little time for outdoor exercise, and as a result the blood becomes thin and watery, the skin grows dry and harsh, and the complexion tells of the run-down condition of the system.

But there is another way to redden the blood and to restore the healthful glow to the faded skin. That is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This treatment is called a food because it is composed of the elements of Nature which go directly to the formation of rich, red blood

You cannot use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long without feeling the vigor and energy which it instills into your system. Nor will you be long under its influence until people will tell you how much better you are looking.

Cosmetics are mere makeshifts as compared with this method of increasing the natural beauty, for there is an attractiveness of the human body which the elasticity and vigor of health alone can give.

It is the worthy ambition of every woman to be beautiful, and by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the woman who is not in robust health can at the same time greatly improve her health and add largely to her beauty and attractiveness.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine are the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

GIVES UP DATA ON WHISKEY RING

New York, Nov. 20.—Reports from Bridgeport, Conn., to the New York Times give startling details of the profits made by one man, ranging from $500,000 to $700,000 on illicit liquor deals in the New England States.

According to the despatches, Joseph Mulvihill, fight promoter, sporting man, unsuccessful candidate for Congress on wet ticket has made a full dis on the wet ticket, has made a full disclosure of his connection with the gigantic bootlegging ring. Mulvihill is the man who made the bid of $300,000 on the Dempsey-Carpentier title battle.

After making a detailed statement giving many names, and data showing profits of participants, and particularly of one man, whose rake-off may total $760,000, Mulvihill said:

"A week ago I gave to United States District Attorney Smith and Assistant District Attorney Cohen all my evidence. They have been conducting an investigation for the past week and when arrests are made I stand ready with proof to back up the revelations I have made to them."

FURTHER HOLD-UPS IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—Rapid fire developments came yesterday in Winnipeg's determined action to rid the city of gunmen, such as those who dealt death to the provincial police officers at the Stock Yards Hotel last Thursday. Mayor Chas. F. Gray's announcement on Wednesday that the underworld gangsters and thugs must go was followed within twenty-four hours by five daring hold-ups in various parts of the city. The gangs took advantage of perhaps the most dense fog that has ever prevailed in the city.

CANADA'S APPLE SUPPLY

(1) Barrels of laughing Nova Scotia apples ready for shipment.
(2) Gathering the apples in the Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia.

Despite the fact that the apple is the most ordinary of fruits it can certainly be said to be the most popular, to come the first in public demand, and the highest in consumption. This luscious edible never loses in favor; its popularity never wanes. Its consumption is steady the world over, and fortunately it is to be found thriving in most sections of the globe. A country which cannot produce a sufficient supply for its own use and is under the necessity of importing loses both in the beauty of orchardland and in its possession of an adequate supply of this choice healthful fruit.

Canada not only produces apples for her own use but is in a position to enter heavily into the export trade. Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia are the principal apple producing provinces of Canada. Though a good deal of fruit is grown in Quebec and New Brunswick and the prairies are increasing in production each year as experimentation proves the adaptability of variety, these provinces do no more than produce sufficient for the home demand, and have indeed to import a great deal. The Niagara district of Ontario is famous over the American continent for its apple product, the luscious fruit of the Annapolis Valley orchards of Nova Scotia is justly renowned, whilst the newer orchard areas of British Columbia have made a name for their apples across the international line and attract purchasers from the United Kingdom, Australia, and New Zealand.

The Dominion's commercial production of apples for the year 1919 was 3,334,660 barrels of apples which were distributed as follows:—Nova Scotia 1,600,000 barrels; Ontario 878,860 barrels; British Columbia 745,300 barrels; Quebec 70,500 barrels; New Brunswick 40,000 barrels. In the fiscal year 1919-20, ending March 31st 1920, Canada exported 873,682 barrels of apples valued at $4,242,219 which more than doubled the exports of the previous year in the same line which amounted to only 405,058 barrels worth $2,041,076. The 1919-20 exports were divided as follows:—United Kingdom 390,400 barrels worth $3,140,269; United States 236,000 barrels worth $836,760; Newfoundland 27,857 barrels worth $126,882; New Zealand 7,933 worth $53,786; Other countries 11,692 barrels worth $64,522.

According to the latest available statistics in the provincial archives, Ontario has 279,011 acres of land devoted to nurseries and orchards. Of this 8,542 acres is in vineyards and 12,973 growing small fruits. The number of apple trees bearing in the province is 6,710,[illegible] and non-bearing 2,072,376. In this province it is customary to set out apple trees at from 30 to 40 feet apart.

Last year in the Pacific Coast province of British Columbia there were according to returns between 3,000 and 3,500 orchards in the province containing approximately 39,500 acres, trees being set out at an average of 60 trees to the acre. By careful study and observation it has been found that trees in this sector at five years old bear 2.32 boxes; at seven years 4.32 boxes; at eight years 4.74 boxes; and at nine years 6.14. The increase after nine years is negligible. The average cost of producing a box of apples on the coast has been worked out at $1.55.

Nova Scotia's bumper 1919 production was the pinnacle of a zealous campaign of better farming and increased production campaign carried out by the Provincial Government and Dominion Atlantic Railway. In the year 1903-4 the provincial production was only 600,000 barrels.

The Dominion of Canada is very fortunately situated in regard to apple production growing this fruit so successfully in the coast provinces at both extremes as well as in the interior. Even in the climates of the prairie provinces several species of crab apples have been successfully produced and more farmers interested purely in grain and cattle are yearly devoting time to setting out fruit trees.

ROTARIAN SEND-OFF.

Mr. G. A. Bennett, who recently resigned his position as superintendent for the Point Anne Quarries, Limited, to accept a position in Montreal, was the guest of honor at Monday's meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club, of which he is an honored member. Mrs. Bennett was also in attendance and was presented with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums by the club, the presentation being made by Rotarian Oswald Scott. Rotarian Gordon Moffatt expressed the regret of the club at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett from the city, and similar expressions on behalf of the Belleville Golf Club were made by Mr. N. D. MacFadyen. Mr. Bennett made an appropriate reply. While Mr. Bennett's business activities have been confined to Point Anne he has always been considered a citizen of Belleville and made many friends here by his kindly qualities. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be the occasion of widespread regret. Judge Wills brought up the question of the extension of the Central Ontario Railway to Whitney, stating that he was collecting data in the matter which he would turn over to the club for action. A letter was read from the matron of the Children's Shelter expressing gratitude for the gift of a sum of money from the Belleville Rotary Club which had been used to provide a Thanksgiving feast for the children which was greatly appreciated. Rotarian W. B. Deacon presided over the first part of the meeting and Rotarian C. M. Reid took charge of the concluding session.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS.

Dr. H. H. Alger, R. A. Elliott and T. E. B. Yeats, a party of hunters from Stirling, have returned home from a victorious hunt. Mr. Elliott secured a moose, Mr. Yeats an immense buck, and the rest of the party all brought down a deer.

INTAKE PIPE BLOCKED.

At an early hour on Monday morning it was ascertained at the pump house of the water works that something was wrong at the mouth of the intake pipe, as it was impossible to pump more than a very limited supply of water. Kingston was appealed to, and the Donnelly Salvage and Wrecking Company was requested to send a diver. He arrived here yesterday morning and ascertained that anchor ice had blocked the mouth of the intake pipe. This was cleared away and the trouble remedied. At one time the well at the pump house was nearly empty.

CHRIST CHURCH BAZAAR

Last evening the Parish Hall, Everett street, was filled to overflowing, with a happy and hungry throng. The olde tyme supper served was certainly well worth the waiting for. The long tables decorated with flowers and, welcome sight to the hungry, heaps of appetising and satisfying food, which thanks to the crowd soon disappeared. For those who have a liking for handiwork, the Ladies of the Parish Hall had attractive and well stocked booths upstairs. There were also booths for home-made baking, candy, a booth with quaintly and prettily dressed dolls and doll things for the kiddies. The ladies of the parish who have worked so hard and diligently are to be congratulated on the success of the first day of their bazaar. The inclement weather which it was thought would hinder many from going, apparently had no effect whatever.

CARS COLLIDE

A collision between two autos occurred last night about 9 o'clock at the junction of Front and Bridge streets, but fortunately no person was injured and but slight damage was sustained to the cars.

Every grocer in Ontario should soon have BRAWN LABEL 'SALADA' TEA at the reduced price of 55 cents a pound. The immense and unexpected volume of business resulting from this 15 cent reduction has made it impossible to make the thousands of shipments simultaneously and even after shipment there is a certain delay with the railroads. The very highest grade teas such as the Blue, Red and Gold label qualities of "SALADA" are still very dear and very scarce.

ROSS B. STEWART

On Monday afternoon, from the home of his grand-parents, High Shore road (near Picton), Ross B. Stewart was taken away and laid to rest in Glenwood cemetery. Six of his school mates, Morley Handley, Clarence and Percy Hicks, Orvel Keller, Ralph Van Meer and Andrew Williams, acted as pall-bearers. The beautiful white casket was covered with the many wreaths and sprays from relatives and a large circle of friends. Prominent among the floral tributes were the two sent by "His teacher and pupils," and the "Trustees" of School Sec. No. 4, Hallowell. Ross was in his eleventh year. On his way to and from school he made many friends among the older people. Indeed, he endeared himself to all by his winsome personality. Just a week ago he had attended school and seemed in normal health. Sickness, however, set in Monday night and on Wednesday forenoon he was operated on for appendicitis by Drs. Philip and Currie at the Hospital. All that the best possible medical attention could do was of no avail and on Friday he was granted a compassionate release from his last painful stage in his life's journey. Since he was two years old Ross had made his home with his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Stewart. His father, Roy W. Stewart who has been resident for some time in Belleville and at Point Ann, coming immediately on hearing of his boy's illness, was at his side when he passed away. At the funeral service held at the grand-parents home Monday afternoon, the Rev. Alfred Brown, D.D. delivered a most sympathetic and comforting message to the bereaved. Mrs. C. Spencer and Mr. Arthur Wellbanks also rendered the duet "He Knows" to the relatives who feel the loss of Ross so keenly will be extended the deepest sympathy of many friends.

Christmas Tree For Soldiers' Kiddies

G. W. V. A. Preparing for Annual Christmas Tree for Soldiers' Children.

The Great War Veterans' Association are planning another Christmas Tree for the kiddies of all ex-soldiers, somewhat similar to the first one held on the afternoon of Dec. 2[illegible], 1919, at the Griffin Theatre. The public schools in the city are taking the names of children who are entitled to receive presents, the age limit being 13 or under, having all the children put their name, address and age on a slip and hand it to their teacher by Dec. 15th. Any children who are not attending public school can forward names to Secretary, G.W.V.A., Box 86.

The amount expended on presents last year amounted to $788.00. The amount collected amounted to $854.00, leaving a balance of $66.00, which will be applied on this year's list. The association is subscribing $200.00 to the fund this year.

Last year every child received an article of clothing, a small top or book and half pound of candies. It is the intention to give the children the same this year. All citizens are requested to give to this cause and help make it a grand success as the children are expecting Santa Claus to treat them as he did last year.

It is the intention to have the Christmas Tree in the Griffin Theatre again this year. The date has not been decided on as yet, but will be announced later. Now, all together and help boost this soldiers' kiddies' Christmas Tree.

Subscription lists have been placed in the following places: Standard Bank, Dominion Bank, Merchants Bank, Molsons Bank, Union Bank, Royal Bank, Bank of Commerce, Bank of Montreal, Intelligencer Printing Office, Ontario Printing Office, G.T.R. Offices and Shops and G. W. V. A. headquarters at 224 Front Street.

Presto Musical Club Entertain

Recital by the Presto Musical Club Pleased Large Audience.

The musicale given by the club members last evening in the assembly hall of the Queen Mary School was the first open meeting under the auspices of this organization, and was a most enjoyable event and largely attended. The influence of a club devoted to the study and rendition of the best in musical art cannot fail to produce good results in cultivating and encouraging a love for the great masters of music, both vocal and instrumental, and it is to be hoped that the Presto Club will frequently favor the lovers of music with open meetings.

The programme was arranged by Miss Joy Higgs, Miss Strethel Walton and Miss Phyllis Bogart, and the twelve numbers were without exception very interesting musically and rendered intelligently, showing careful study and musical interpretation.

The opening duet was a piano arrangement of the first two movements of Beethoven's very beautiful Fifth Symphony, played by Miss Winnifred Pearce and Miss Mary Yeomans. Miss Elizabeth Potter played Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. [illegible] with good technique and considerable abandon; also the two numbers played by Miss Olive Cooper, an "Etude" by Liszt and a "Waltz" by Chopin, were characterized by a beautiful singing tone and brilliancy of execution.

Miss Strethel Walton sang an Aria from "Samson and Delilah," by Saint Saens; Mr. R. J. F. Staples the tenor aria, "Onaway, Awake, Beloved," from "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" by Coleridge Taylor; Mr. Sam Anglin "O Tu Palermo," from the Sicilian Vespers by Verdi, and also in the duet, "Solenne on Quest Ora", by Verdi, in which he was joined by Prof. Staples.

The very beautiful prologue from "Pagliacci," by Leoncevallo received a dramatic and expressive rendering by Mr. James Booth, and the two songs, "Roadways" and "O Lovely Night," sung by Mr. Harold Barrett, were the vocal numbers, all exceedingly enjoyable.

Miss Joy Higgs, solo violinist, contributed "The Legende," by Wieniawski, and the violin, violoncello and piano trios by Miss Higgs, Miss Bogart and Mr. Glen Elliott were gems of ensemble playing. They played numbers by Victor Herbert, Liszt and Grieg, while Mr. Glen Elliott played an obligato to Mr. Barrett's exquisite solo, "O Lovely Night."

Miss Potter, Miss Bogart and Mrs. Harold Barrett were the accompanists for the programme. Very wisely no encores were given, although the audience were very appreciative and would gladly have heard more of the beautiful music so well rendered. The piano was a Heintzman baby grand kindly loaned by the Lindsay Company.

No Fear Now Of Indigestion

A Host of People Seem to Thrive on What Used to Provoke Indigestion Before They Learned of Stuart's Dyspepsia

When the stomach becomes sour, with gassiness and heartburn due to indigestion or dyspepsia relief may be had by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Simply chew them, no hot water nor any other fillers for a stomach perhaps already too much overcrowded.

These tablets supply to the stomach the alkaline effect which is what relieves the sour acid condition. They also contain pancreatin to help digest the starchy foods such as potatoes, rice, oatmeal, white flour, etc.

Get a 60c. box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, have them on hand at all times and thus have no fear of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The fact that these tablets are on sale everywhere in the U.S. and Canada shows how generally recognized they are as an efficient aid when the dyspeptic stomach needs a little help.

AERIAL BOOTLEGGERS ACTIVE IN THE WEST

Regina, Nov. 23.—The existence of aerial bootlegging has been revealed to the Saskatchewan officials of the Canadian Air Force Association, and they are watching for the arrival and departure of suspicious aircraft from the United States side of the international boundary near Estavan.

The entrance of the airplane into the illicit liquor traffic has not however, diminished the use of the auto for rum-running expeditions. The demand for cars is so great that rum-runners are coming as far north as this city to hire automobiles. As high as $3,000 for the use of a car has been offered to local liverymen.

The liquor is purchased here at $3 a bottle and sold on the other side at $15. This spread of $12 is the liveryman's share, the boot-legger securing his rake-off when the liquor is resold retail at an enhanced price in Montana.

In the debate on the Speech from the Throne in the Saskatchewan Assembly, Premier Martin referred to the evils of the export liquor warehouses, of which there are about 40 in the Province. He expressed the opinion that these houses were so heavily stocked with liquor that they would be able to continue business for a considerable time after the Federal legislation prohibiting importation was put into effect.

The Premier pointed out there was only one power which could deal with the export liquor warehouses and that was the Federal Government.

Belleville Resolutions.

Foremost among the eight resolutions submitted by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is one urging the provincial government to utilize all water powers and encourage and substantially aid in the development of every possible unit of electrical energy at reasonable cost. Another resolution criticizes the system of luxury taxes as having "a most harmful effect on retail business and as an undue burden owing to the complications in the manner of its collection, and expresses the belief that the substitution of a small tax on the entire sales of all businesses, of say, one or two per cent. would be much better in every way, and would not work hardship on anyone.

Imperial Congress.

A third resolution emphasizes the important results likely to come from the ninth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, recently held, and pledges support and co-operation to the International Chambers of Commerce. The encouragement of immigration from the British Isles is also urged. The work of the Fire Prevention and Safety League is commended and also the encouragement given by the government to aviation. A law requiring lights on all vehicles is advocated.

From the Northland.

Cochrane Board of Trade sends a resolution urging that the extension of the T. and N. O. Railway to James Bay receive the immediate consideration of the Provincial Cabinet. The provision of important highways in the northern parts of the province is advocated in resolutions submitted by Iroquois Falls, Sault Ste. Marie and Parry Sound Boards.

Three resolutions urging the granting of a bounty to encourage the mining and smelting of iron ore in this country came from Fort William, Port Arthur and Sudbury. Fort William also advocates the appointment of a commissioner by the Ontario Government to promote the interests of New Ontario.

Toronto Resolutions.

Toronto Board of Trade has a strong resolution supporting the St. Lawrence deepening and power development project and also one protesting against the proposal that appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council be abolished.

Other resolutions deal with a number of different subjects.

The President, in a few well-chosen words, welcomed the delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Boards of Trade.

City's Welcome.

Mayor Riggs received a hearty welcome and delivered the following address:

Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Ontario:

It gives me pleasure to extend to you a very cordial welcome to our city on the occasion of your seventh annual convention. I trust that your brief stay among us will be both a pleasure and a profit to you all. I can assure you that anything the local representatives of your order or their friends can do to add to the comfort of your visit here will be most cheerfully done. Your deliberations, especially in these troublous times, will be important and far-reaching and your proposals and resolutions in behalf of trade and commerce will be eagerly awaited by us all. There are conspirators and agitators in Canada as elsewhere trying to stir up trouble and break down our trade, but (as Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador to the United States, recently said) these agitators are like the mosquitoes that come from the swamps: there is a pleasure to be got from swatting them. But he declared, the only way to get rid of these pesky agitators is to drain off the swamps where they breed and clean up the places where they draw their poison from; and it is such societies as yours, composed of the best and most thoughtful men of affairs, that will tide us over our present difficulties. I am sure you will agree with me that the best way to improve the world is not by lamenting the degeneracy of our day but rather by tackling our problems in a spirit of courageous hope and determination, and this is what you have come here to do. I trust the noble motto of William Blake may animate and inspire all your purposes:

"I will not cease from mental fight
Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand,
Till we have built Jerusalem
In England's (Canada's) green and pleasant land."

Again I welcome you, gentlemen, most cordially, and wish you Godspeed.

His Worship also extended a special invitation to hold their twelfth convention in Belleville in 1925. "We expect you will carry away pleasant recollections of Belleville," he said.

The President thanked the Mayor for his kindly welcome, which was appreciated by all the delegates.

Ald. Bone, President of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, extended the right hand of good fellowship to all the delegates. The Chamber of Commerce building was open for the use of the delegates and he hoped all would avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the office, which was second to none in Canada. There were many matters of importance for consideration at this meeting.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson extended to the delegates an invitation to visit the Steel Company Closes Its Plant

Answer of Dominion Corporation to Employes' Ultimatum

Sydney, Nov. 25.—When 125 railroad employes of the Dominion Steel Corporation served an ultimatum on the management yesterday, demanding a settlement of their wage differences before five o'clock the company replied by closing the mills at noon and ordering the banking of the blast furnaces. This action automatically threw 4,000 men out of employment, pending the settlement of the dispute with the railroaders. It is estimated that it will require at least a week to get the furnaces in operation again, and it is believed that the big plant will be tied up for that period at least. The company, in the meantime, it is understood, is making application to Ottawa for redress, under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act. It has been stated that lack of orders has been threatening the operations of the steel plants for some weeks past. For the past two years the railroaders employed within the steel plant have been contending for the scale awarded all other railroaders in Canada following the McAdoo award in the United States.

Has Hunch Of Pending Death Is Murdered

Long Feud Breaks Out in New York Chinatown and Causes Panic

New York, Nov. 23.—Fear of a Tong feud in Chinatown resulting from the assassination tonight of Lee Young, expelled member of the Hip Sing Tong and the first Chinese murdered in the district in the last ten years caused police to exclude sightseers and kept Chinatown with its swarms of lobbygows and hatchet men on'edge for several hours.

Young, whose right name is said to be Leong Yung, was a former service man. His white wife said he had a premonition of death. Just before he left the house to go to a pool room run by two Corean brothers, he remarked, "I feel as if something is going to happen to me."

Forty Chinese were in the poolroom when Young's assassin crept up behind him and fired three dum dum bullets into his back. He dropped dead without having seen his assailant. The Orientals dashed for the street in panic and those in the narrow, crowded thoroughfares, hearing the shots, scampered away in all directions for shelter.

Sightseeing busses drove hurriedly out of the "war zone," leaving behind many passengers who had started on a foot tour of the district. Many sightseers were caught in the rush of panic-stricken Orientals. When police reserves and head-quarters detectives reached the scene, the streets were deserted. They made prisoners of all Chinese found in the poolroom.

The police are working on the theory that Young was expelled from the Hipsing Tong because he revealed its secrets. Detectives tried to learn if these secrets were given to rival societies, in which event, it was expected, the peace agreement signed some time ago with the eating of the roast pig, would be shattered.

To Make Search For The Randall

Number of Boats Will Endeavor to Find Trace of Her

Kingston, Nov. 25.—The steamer John Randall, which has been missing since a week ago yesterday, is still unfound and the hopes of many have entirely vanished for the safety of the boat. In conversation with Captain Randall, of the steamer Buena Vista, father of Captain Harry Randall, of the steamer John Randall, he stated that he still believes that the Randall will be found in the bay of the Duck Island. The steamer, City of Hamilton passed down this morning on her way east to Montreal with freight and when passing the Ducks, the captain of the Hamilton used his glasses to see if he could find any trace of the missing steamer. He steered his course close to the Ducks but he re- to get in full view of the channel there ed about this, Captain Randall stated that it would be impossible for a passing boat to see any small boat lying in the bay of the Ducks. It is necessary to go eight miles below the Ducks ported that he could see nothing. Asked and then it would be only a small chance that a small boat could be seen in the channel.

Steamers to Inspect Channel

Mr. Sowards of the Sowards Coal Company told Captain Randall that he phoned to the captains of the Jex and Jeska this morning telling them to make a close inspection of the Ducks when they make the trip back to Kingston. The Jex and Jeska will likely go into the channel and try to find out what they can about the Randall. Storms have prevented these boats from moving out of Oswego and their arrival in Kingston is anxiously awaited because it is thought that they either will have found the Randall or secured some valuable information as to the fate of the boat.

Captain Randall has been trying to get a boat for the past two or three days to go to the Ducks to make a search for the missing Randall but none of the boats have been able to move out on account of the weather and besides that the captains seem very unwilling to make the search. Captain Randall was in communication with Mr. Claude Cole, of Cape Vincent, this morning who is going to leave for the Ducks, probably tomorrow, if the weather clears sufficiently to allow him to clear from Cape Vincent for the Ducks. Mr. Cole has been in Northern Ontario on a hunting trip and left Kingston in his own boat for Cape Vincent on Saturday. He arrived there safely but has been held there ever since by bad weather. Mr. Cole will go to the Ducks as soon as he can and will make a thorough search of the channel in the Duck Island for the missing Randall.

Captain Randall tried to secure the services of the steamer Rockferry to go to the Ducks to search for the Randall, but the Rockferry is going across the lake and could not go to the Ducks She had been held here by bad weather long enough as it is, and she cannot be delayed further.

TO USE THE REWARD IN LAUDABLE WORK

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 25.—When asked what he would do with the $15,000 reward for the finding of John Doughty, Constable Ed. Fortune, of Oregon City, said:

"I will create a fund to keep the Republicans straight in Clackamas County until the Democrats can be returned to power."

Then, becoming serious, he said he was going right on giving the county the best administration in the constable's office it had ever had.

Fortune was the only Democrat elected in Clackamas County in the recent elections.

Plots To Destroy Shipping Told In British Commons

IRISH SECRETARY TELLS COMMONS PLANS DISCOVERED ALSO TO DO DAMAGE IN MANCHESTER — ALL MADE WITH MILITARY PRECISION — HIT LIVERPOOL AT 21 POINTS—MR. ASQUITH MOVES HIS RESOLUTION CONDEMNING REPRISALS — GREENWOOD IN REPLY SAYS IRISH VOLUNTEERS ARE BECOMING DISORGANIZED.

London, Nov. 25.—In his speech on the Irish situation in the House of Commons, Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, said detailed plans for the destruction of a large power house in Manchester and of docks in Liverpool had been discovered, the Liverpool plans involving use of eight hundred pounds of the high explosive gelignite at 21 points.

Made in Military Fashion

The plans for blowing up the Liverpool docks and the Manchester power and water plants are said to show that they were made in military fashion, after detail reports with drawings had been forwarded to Irish Republican army officers by spies at each place that was destined for destruction. The plans, which are said to have been completed when the documents relating to the spreading of typhoid and glanders were captured, were made public to-night, after the statement of Sir Hamar Greenwood in the House of Commons.

The Liverpool plans called for twenty-three officers, twenty-seven engineers, and seventy-five privates, and 800 pounds of a high explosive for attacking 21 points, most of them dock gates, with a view to stranding ships.

Diversions suggested in the report would consist of numerous fires in cotton and other warehouses, started a half hour before the other operations.

Apparently every precaution was taken for dealing with the "enemy forces"—the police of both Liverpool and Manchester. The latter plan dealt with the destruction of the street car power plant in Manchester with hammers and explosives, and also the Clayton Valley Pumping Station, which furnishes water to a large part of the city.

Debate in Commons

The eagerly-awaited debate in the House of Commons on the Irish question was inaugurated, when former Premier Asquith, Leader of the Opposition, moved his resolution, expressing abhorrence of the recent Dublin assassinations, condemning reprisals, and urging the taking of immediate steps to bring about Irish pacification.

The motion was a composite resolution, combining the Independent Liberal and Labor motions, and sponsored by Mr. Asquith, Donald MacLean and Arthur Henderson.

Indifference to Anarchy

Mr. Asquith, amplifying the subjects set forth in the resolution, condemned what he termed the Government's policy of reprisals, which, he said, had driven moderate Nationalists opinion in Ireland "into an attitude if not of sympathy with, at least of supine indifference to anarchic action."

The former Premier declared there was only one way for escape, and that the first step lay with the Government. This, he said, was to discontinue the reprisals. He believed, he said, that an overwhelming majority of the Irish people and of the Crown forces had no sympathy with reprisals.

Asquith Condemns Murders

It was difficult, said Mr. Asquith, to speak with restraint of Sunday's assassinations in Dublin, "They were cruel, cold-blooded murders," he added, "and can only have been the work of men who have lost all sense of humanity and honor. The very gravity of such crimes as these—I am afraid it's a mistake to say they are decreasing—makes it all the more necessary that the Executive shall be able to encounter them with a clear front and clean hands."

Answering to Mr. Asquith, Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, was loudly cheered on rising.

"The vast majority of the people of Ireland are not in favor of murder," he said. "They want peace, and they are getting peace because the forces of the Crown are breaking the terror."

Sir Hamar declared the vast majority of the Irish people were on the best of terms with the soldiers and police.

Sein Fein Officials Killed In Courthouse

Three Prominent Republicans Slain While Trying to Escape From Custody

Dublin, Nov. 25.—The Dublin Evening Mail published news of an incident which is alleged to have occurred yesterday morning in the Exchange Court, resulting in the death of Richard McKee, Peter Clancy and a man named McCalune.

These men, according to the newspaper, were arrested during the week end and kept in a room of the Exchange Court, pending transfer of the prisoners. The Mail alleges that the prisoners seized arms stored in the court and attempted to escape. It also alleges the court guard was fired on, and, returning the fire, killed the three men.

Clancy, it is said, was a member of the Sinn Fein "inner circle" which has been directing operations of the organizations, McKee was an expert on explosives and McCalune is said to have been an officer of the Republican Army.

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer

Windsor, Nov. 25.—Rev. Spracklin, charged with having slain Beverly Trumble at Sandwich, appeared in police court here this morning and was remanded for preliminary hearing on December 2, this action was decided upon by agreement of all parties to enable the Magistrate to read evidence taken at the inquest which will be read into the court records thus eliminating the necessity of a fresh hearing of all witnesses. Spracklin's bail was increased from ten to twenty thousand of which he will furnish personal surety of ten thousand.

Detective Mitchell Will Not Talk

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 25.—Accompanied by John Doughty, whom he is taking to Toronto in connection with the disappearance of Ambrose Small, the millionaire theatrical magnate, Detective-Sergeant Austin Mitchell of Toronto passed through here last night. The detective refused to discuss anything in the way of statements said to have been made by Doughty concerning the disappearance of one hundred thousand dollars in bonds. He declared his intention of maintaining what he said had been his policy of strict silence regarding any statements made by the prisoner. Mr. Mitchell said it was his intention to go through Chicago en route to Toronto but intimated that the route might be changed if it were found to be expedient. During the ninety minutes that the two awaited the Chicago train here they strolled about the vicinity of the railroad station.

Seven Are Charged With One Murder

Fatal Card Party Has a Grim Sequel in Brantford Police Court

Brantford, Nov. 25.—Seven men were charged with one murder here in the police court, following the death overnight of George Popow, the Austrian who was beaten up in the card party row on Philip street, Saturday night. The seven charged are: Tekron Modreck, Steve Cipliak, Alex Tulzcak, Voreck Bodnarow, Geo. Manski, John Dolinski and Epin Musilnci.

Popow, it is said, came here from Toronto three weeks ago and is said to have been a card sharp. All the prisoners pleaded not guilty in the police court this morning and were remanded for a week. An inquest has been ordered.

Important Cases In Supreme Court

Interpretation of Will—Action to Recover for Rags Shipped—Timber Case.

At the sittings of the Supreme Court held at Belleville this week the Hon. Mr. Justice Rose presiding, the first case was Deshane vs. Naphan. In this case an action was brought by Oran Deshane on his own behalf and that of his wife and children, heirs-at-law and next of kin of Edgar W. Deshane, against Francis J. Naphan and Myrtle Hill Deshane, who were the executors of the will of Edgar W. Deshane, deceased. There was also included in the action a claim to have Oran Deshane and his wife declared life tenants of lots 14, 15 and 18 on the west side of Willard street. The claim for a declaration was struck out by order on an interlocutory application made on behalf of the defendants before the trial. The will was drawn by Mr. W. Jeffers Diamond and witnessed by him and Mrs. Palmatier. Archdeacon Beamish visited the deceased during the period of his illness and he was attended by Dr. Yeomans, both of whom were witnesses to give evidence supporting the will. The matter was settled by consent minutes of judgment, the will being declared valid, the action being dismissed without costs with a condition that if the plaintiff or any of the parties interested on whose behalf the action was brought should start a subsequent action against the estate the costs of the present action must be first paid. Mr. Deshane was on the police force of this city and died last winter from influenza, and by his will left his property to his wife Myrtle Hill Deshane. William Carnew, Esquire, was solicitor for the plaintiff and Messrs. O'Flynn, Diamond & O'Flynn were solicitors for the defendants.

A Rag Case.

The second case was an action of Messrs. Tobe & Dime of this city against Moldaver & Olanew, doing business under the name of the Toronto Metal & Waste Company of Toronto. The action was to recover the price of a carload of rags, bagging and books. The claim was $998.25. The defendants claimed that the rags were not clean and not up to the quality contracted for, and refused to take them as number one rags, but did not dispute the books or the bagging. The plaintiffs claimed that the rags had been properly sorted, been shipped f.o.b. at Deseronto, were receipted by the defendants and that they were liable for the goods. A good deal of evidence was heard, seven witnesses being examined for the plaintiffs and three for the defendants. The learned Justice took the matter into consideration and gave judgment yesterday for the amount claimed with costs of action. Messrs. O'Flynn, Diamond & O'Flynn represented the plaintiffs and Mr. Smiley of Messrs. Johnston, McKay, Dods and Grant of Toronto, represented the defendants.

Two Loads of Hemlock

Judgment has also been given by His Honor Judge Lavall of Kingston in the suit of Chandler Jones & Company against Dennison & Gunter. The defendants are lumbermen in the rear of the County of Hastings and have their office at Bancroft. The claim was for $900 damages for breach of contract. The plaintiffs claimed that two years ago the defendants contracted to deliver two loads of hemlock and failed to do so and sued for the advanced prices, producing a long correspondence between the parties which they claimed showed beyond question the contract. The defendants claimed that the contract was only a conditional one, that they had made every effort to fill it, that the contract was in writing, as shown by three letters, and the subsequent letters were written by one of the partners of the firm under a misapprehension of the facts and by mistake.

The matter was tried at Kingston, witnesses examined for the plaintiffs and the defendants and the case carefully argued, judgment reserved, and has just been given by His Honor Judge Laval in favor of the defendants, dismissing the action.

E. A. Wright of Renfrew represented the plaintiff and Messrs. O'Flynn, Diamond & O'Flynn, of this city, were for the defendants.

Russian Exiles in France

From comparative riches to a condition somewhat approaching beggary is the saddest chapter in the lives of Russian refugees now in France who, according to French officials, number nearly 80,000, and none of whom are anxious to return to Russia so long as Sovietism and its reign of terror continues for the educated classes. Even princes, generals and former high officials of the Russian Government are included in the list of the Reds' victims, who, just as the French nobility once sought refuge in England, now rely on France's ancient friendship to keep them from starvation.

They no longer are able to mingle and spend freely with equals in social ranks, the Russian aristocrats being compelled to earn their bread often by the meanest labors, while a colony of former nobles and czar's officers are finding it profitable to manage an estate at Garches, near Paris. The farms are directed by Count Ignatieff. Until the present Soviet regime the count owned 500 herds of cattle and fertile plains where he specialized in the production of cheese. Now he is introducing Russian methods on a miniature farm aided by the wife, who was once reputed to be the most beautiful woman at the Russian court.

Surrounded by old friends such as Trouekouroff, from the Imperial Guards, the count is elated at the fact that the farm has shown a good margin of profit in the two years it has been in operation, and he intends to increase his holding to give employment to others who have felt the hand of financial oppression.

Prince Lyszezynskis is another who is working as a farm hand under a name which does not reveal to his overalled clad companions his connection with the czar's family. Prince Boris and Princess Mestcheraky are both devoting their exile to painting, while not far from Josephine's palace at Malmaison Count Ignatieff's second son is finding consolation not in the high browed literary discussions which were once the aim of his sort, but in the intricate problems of mushroom growing with such rivals as Prince Georges Dadeshkilian and Prince Gouchacheff, who formerly was ambassador from Russia to Spain.

Those with mechanical training like Col Doroshewsky, the famous Russian inventor, are maintaining garages, and at last reports Gen. Nicolaieff was piloting a motor truck through crowded Paris streets, while scores of captains of the army are acting as taxicab drivers.

Some of the refugees have even sought their fortunes in the French colonies, the latest departures including one of the Cantacuzene princes, descendants of the Byzantine rulers, and Count Nieroth, who was the hunting companion of the royal Russian family.

But there is another class not so fortunate, numbering into the thousands. After paying their passage they landed in France with a few hundred rubles and the remnants of the family jewels. One by one these jewels have been sold to pay doctors' bills, while it is not uncommon to hear weeping Russian women tell their friends that they "sold the last ring to-day to buy bread. Next week we will be hungry unless Russia's God overthrows Russia's enemies."

The majority in the exiled colony have nothing. It is composed largely of those followers of the liberal professions and former intellectuals of the old state, who now live from hand to mouth, borrowing a few francs where possible by interpreting Russian documents, or turn out cinema scenarios which invariably tell the same story of suffering, and just as regularly are not accepted.

Those who held subordinate posts in the Russian army form an equally miserable class. Despite their poverty they walk the streets with their shoulders erect and their heads closely cropped. They are not trained for any other life and are hoping against hope for the return of the old regime, while the French police records testify that many are finding the exile wearisome and have abandoned their hopes for suicide in the Seine.

Nevertheless, even among the poorer class there is a new note of ambition appearing. The colony is now publishing a daily paper, in which there is found a few details of relief work in the Red ridden homeland, as well as inspiration not to give up the battle because the downfall of the Soviets is becoming more imminent every day. Naturally there is always work in such a colony for Red emissaries, but little advance can be made toward Sovietism among those who have seen its operation, and the funds provided for such propaganda reach other objectives than the pockets of the homesick Russian patriots.

These exiles profess no interest in politics, but as a former countess describes it, "every night they kneel before ikons pleading for the Allies to restore Russia to its old glory. Even if penniless her exiles are willing to go back and share their bread with the faithful Moujiks, who did not have enough on hand to escape the Soviet yoke and who, despite the Soviets, still do not forget the nation's ideals."

A WELL-KNOWN PHYSICIAN SAYS

"Spinal curvatures and displacements are occurring in all ranks of life with alarming frequency."

A Crooked, Twisted Spine Means Poor Health and Jagged Nerves.

The human machine depends upon the vital force of Nature for power to run smoothly and perfectly. If the spine contains displaced or subluxated vertebrae the resulting pressure upon the nerve cables will hinder or stop the flow of this force as it is sent from the brain to the various parts of the body, and ill health results. A diseased condition occurs in that part supplied by the nerves affected.

Normal Alignment Means Normal Functioning.

Chiropractic is the science of adjusting misaligned, displaced, or subluxated vertebrae for the restoration and preservation of health. See your Chiropractor. Consultation and spinal analysis without charge or obligation.

BUILDING SCANDAL SHAKES NEW YORK

Starting with a slight rumble in 1919, investigation of New York's "building trust" has gained such momentum in the last few weeks that its roar has been heard from coast to coast.

Here are a few of the results to date

1. The City of New York already has rescinded several contracts for public work reaching into the millions and now has considered the advisability of cancelling all contracts for public buildings lest the "trust" had a hand in the bidding.

2. One indictment—charging perjury—has been returned by the grand jury and threats of more criminal prosecutions are in the air.

3. Testimony already entered in the record of the Joint Legislative Committee investigating the "trust" has given hints that combinations in restraint of trade, charged by committee counsel, may be nation-wide in scope.

4. Sensational disclosures have attracted the attention of the Department of Justice, which assigned a special official to watch developments, and the Senate Committee on Production and Reconstruction, which, with subpoena power, has itself studied the housing situation throughout the country.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers who live under more favorable climatic conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

As was anticipated a very exciting game was played last night between the Curlers and Young Merchants. The latter were not disappointed for they got just what they said they expected. What they really wanted is another story and has now faded into dream land. There is always one bright star in the firmament and the Young Merchants held this position for some time but a "new star" appeared. The Curlers are going strong and put up a total of 2297 which is good enough to win any game, although the Merchants hold the high score with 2327 and this will take some beating. The outcome of the Merchants vs. Young Merchants game next Monday night will have considerable bearing on the final. As it is at present there are four teams contending for first place with a number of others that will bear watching. The Curlers are evidently sharpening their spurs in anticipation of getting some ice and launching the "roaring game" for this Winter.

Lions Strong For Community Service

New Organization is Flourishing and Adding New Members Each Week.

Belleville Lions are flourishing and new cubs are being initiated into the mysteries of the Jungle at every assembly. The regular weekly noonday luncheon of the Belleville Lions Club, Wednesday, at the Hotel Quinte, had the largest attendance to date and was full of pep and enthusiasm. Over thirty were present and several new members were introduced. Cub Ray Zufelt was "Good Fellowship Chairman," and made a most ideal one. There was lively singing of Lion songs and several cubs made short addresses. Many ideas were advanced as to how the Lions Club of Belleville could best promote community service, and it is the intention of the club to bring prominent speakers to Belleville to speak on civic matters.

The following new members were introduced and each made his maiden speech as a Lion: Ald. Charlie Hanna of the Walker Hardware Co.; Dr. Joe Chant, eye and ear specialist; Jack McIntosh, of McIntosh Bros.; Dr. Jimmy Callaghan, dentist; Dick Hall, manager Dominion Bank; Grenville Sinclair, of Sinclair's.

Cub Russ Wotten is Good Fellowship Chairman for next week and promises a real instructive and pleasant hour with a fine program, including an address by a well-known and prominent man upon a subject of interest to all.

Sir Philip Sassoon Is Power in Great Britain And Great Lover of Sport

SIR PHILIP SASSOON, the young private secretary of Premier Lloyd George, has been attracting much attention in England and has been causing much speculation as to his political future, since he acted as host to the Premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy at his house at Belcaire at Lympne during their recent meeting. He is 31 years old, immensely wealthy, unmarried, and the son of the late Sir Edward Sassoon, "the friend of King Edward." The London Daily Mail writes of this young Englishman of Jewish descent:

The ancient and inscrutable East speaks in the dark aquiline features of this wealthy young aspirant to political honors, but his manner is that of the average good-natured young university-bred Englishman, fond of sport, master of more than sufficient means to free him from care.

Sport, indeed, plays a great part in his life. He loves exercise and has all the desire to excel in many games. Thus you may see him in the morning wearing running shorts and sprinting round his estate. In the afternoon he is playing lawn tennis upon his superb court with a professional coach from a famous London club. In the evening he plays billiards, and if there is no guest in the house his opponent will be another professional coach.

Swimming is with him a passion rather than a pastime. He has constructed a delightful open-air bath at Belcaire in the Roman fashion, and swims for exercise as well as the pleasure of a plunge. Within doors he indulges the same delight in bathing, and his mosaic-lined bathrooms, with their variety of shower baths, are a joy to himself and his guests.

Belcaire and the estate which surrounds it are still unfinished. The war checked the development of the place, and 50 to 60 workmen and laborers are now busy making a veritable pleasaunce out of this old seaside cliff now separated from the sea by miles of Romney marsh. Two new drives are being made, one of which runs for half a mile under the cliff parallel with the public road. The other is a short and steep descent direct to the house. The architect of Belcaire has succeeded in meeting all the wishes of its owner, who will readily undo months of hard work if the result is not pleasing to his critical taste.

One of the plans for beautifying Belcaire involved the building of a flight of marble steps to a terrace behind the house, from which beautiful views of Romney Marsh, Hythe and the Channel can be obtained. The steps were no sooner completed than Sir Philip summoned his architect and asked him to rebuild the flight, which will now consist of 110 instead of 120 steps as first proposed.

Approached from the east the place has the appearance of an old manor house in well-toned red brick. From the south, where it looks out to the Channel, it is Italian, with a terrace and loggia where the Premiers have been walking and discussing when tired of the magnificence of an Oriental interior or anxious to breathe the sweet airs which come over the green marshland from the Channel. A pumping station gives abundance of fresh water for the baths and the use of the house, an ice-making plant ensures the coolest drinks in the hottest weather, and the electric light plant makes the house glitter like a liner at sea these bright nights.

With such comforts one might imagine Belcaire nearly complete. But its owner thinks otherwise. He is buying with a ready hand all the available land around it. A small house has recently come into his possession which will be useful for staff or as a guests' servants' house. On the flat land above the public road he has bought enough to form a polo ground and a private golf links, both of which he intends to complete as soon as possible. His brother-in-law, Lord Rocksavage, will always see to the provision of good sport on the polo ground.

Enough has perhaps been said to show that this modern Aladdin has a nice taste in sport, house-building, estate-making and politics. He has not yet shown himself a patron of arts or letters, but that will no doubt come in time. At present the little world comprised within the boundaries of his constituency is busy discussing his future. He intends, say the village sages, to become Prime Minister, and they talk of Disraeli.

The women are more interested in his matrimonial future. They have already contracted for him an alliance which would indeed bring East and West together and mark another step in his career as a young and rising politician. The one thing upon which everyone is agreed is that he has carried out the traditions of an old-fashioned wealthy member. He heads the list when charity begs, and with a sum which strikes a happy mean between ostentation and niggardliness. The Folkestone fishermen when hard hit by the submarines found him a good friend.

Unsuitable Associates.

A Scotsman, traveling to London fortified with six bottles of whiskey, was brought up at a police court the next morning charged with being intoxicated. "I am afraid," said the magistrate, "you have been in very bad company." "Ye're richt, sor," replied Sandy. "I came up fra' Aberdeen with six men, and every one of them was teetotal."

Rotarians Fines Go To Children's Aid

Rotarians Receive Children's Thanks—Good Deeds Appreciated.

Sergeant-at-Arms Oswald Scott has been extremely busy with his little squawker, catching up the erring Rotarians who have dared to use the banned title of "Mr." in addressing their fellow Rotarians. At the luncheons these fines have been a source of great amusement to the members and have been cheerfully paid by the good natured victims.

Rotarian Gordon Moffat, Treasurer of the Rotary Club, has turned over these small contributions to the Children's Shelter from time to time, and in future the jolly Rotarians will consider it a privilege to be fined. Oswald's future is a path of roses.

The following is a letter received by Rotarian Moffat conveying thanks from the Matron of the Children's Shelter, which speaks for itself.

Belleville.

Dear Sir,—In acknowledgement for the following cheques, one for eighteen dollars ($18.00), the other for twenty-eight and seventy-five cents ($28.75), from the Rotary Club, I wish to add my personal appreciation to that of the Management Committee for your generous response to our Thanksgiving appeal.

Not only does this help the children beyond words, but your interest and kind assistance means so much to help encourage us to carry on the work among these unfortunate children, which only those in close touch with them can realize what the work is.

I trust that in the future we may have a continuance of your kind attitude towards these children who are so dependent on the public for protection or any opportunity they will ever know and help them become useful men and women.

Thanking you once again,

Very sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) ALICE T. HARRIS,
Matron.

CRAZED CAPTAIN DIES IN MONTREAL

Ogdenburg, N.Y., Nov. 23.—Captain A. LaRoche died at the Longue Pointe hospital for the insane at Montreal.

Two years ago Capt. LaRoche fell into the cargo hold of the steamer Easton of the Matthews Steamboat line of Toronto and was seriously injured. His head, which was badly bruised, bothered him greatly afterward and gradually his mind became affected. During the season of 1919 he spent some time in a sanitarium but this past spring he had apparently recovered to such an extent that he was again placed in command of his ship. Readers will probably remember the account last June of his suddenly losing his reason while entering the locks at Cardinal and the vessel, a fine English built steel freighter being saved, with but slight damage, by his mate, Edward LeGault. Captain LaRoche fired six shots all around LeGault as they struggled on the bridge but none of them took effect.

Captain LaRoche was locked in his room, repairs to the vessel's rudder, which was the only damage she sustained owing to the prompt action of LeGault in taking control of the signal telegraph from the crazed captain, were carried out at the marine railway here, and the following day a new captain was placed in command of the vessel. Captain LaRoche was then placed in the hospital for the insane where his condition grew steadily worse.

He was but forty-two years of age, a clean-cut, popular man, and an exceptionally clever navigator. His whole life had been spent on the freighters of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

Warm up that favorite corner

—cosy comfort wherever you wish

LOOKING down on a bay window on windward side of house, showing top of Perfection Heater. It acts like a radiator or register placed near the window converting cold air into warm air.

VERY easy to light. Full heat in a minute or two.

WHAT good is that favorite bay or sun parlor window when cold winds drive through? But it's the best spot in the whole house for reading when you have a Perfection Oil Heater to warm up those treacherous air currents that seep through the window sashes.

When you try to heat the whole house by the furnace, some rooms are bound to get too warm. Better keep only a low fire for general warmth. That cuts the coal bill, too. Then use a Perfection Oil Heater for comfort heat.

On Fall evenings, too, don't put on the furnace—light your Perfection Oil Heater. It will quickly give all the warmth you want—ten hours of it for every gallon of coal oil. There are 4,000,000 in use.

Sold everywhere at the leading hardware, housefurnishing and department stores, where you can also buy the popular New Perfection Oil Cookstoves and Perfection Water Heaters. Get a copy of our new Perfection Heater folder.

WELCOME TO DELEGATES OF ASSOCIATED BOARDS

Belleville is this week the scene of a notable gathering in the seventh annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce representing civic organizations in all parts of the province. The delegates are all men prominent in the business life of their respective communities, live wires who are helping to build up the Greater Canada which is to be.

Belleville welcomes the visitors and trusts that their visit to the beautiful city by the bay will be both pleasant and profitable.

Questions of vital interest to Ontario and Canada as a whole will be discussed and action taken looking to the promotion of progressive measures for the good of all and the benefit of Canada in general.

Canada must not stand still and organizations of this kind bring the best minds together to deliberate upon questions of general interest relating to the progress and prosperity of Canada. In this way public opinion is crystallized and made known to the Governments of the day, Provincial and Federal, resulting in progressive legislation.

Belleville has always taken a prominent part in the deliberations of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce and been well represented by men of standing and talent in the public life of this city; in fact the first eight resolutions to come before the gathering were submitted by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

That the seventh annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, held in Belleville, may be the most fruitful of good results in the history of the association is the earnest wish of The Belleville Intelligencer.

GIVE US FOOD! CRY THE CHILDREN.

The appeal of the Red Cross Famine Fund for the children of Central Europe is one which must tug at the heart strings of every one who loves childhood, and the sufferings of these little ones through no fault of their own sends a wave of sympathy around the world which can not help but be accompanied by a generous response to the call of the Red Cross Association. There are many demands for funds for many worthy objects, but the children should come first, and the fact that the great and efficient organization of the Red Cross is in charge of the relief measures is a guarantee of quick and effective action and economical, business-like administration of the funds entrusted to their care for the relief of the starving children of Europe.

Belleville citizens who desire to contribute to the Red Cross Famine Fund can do so through Miss Clara Yeomans, 45 Bridge Street West, who is receiving local subscriptions and will acknowledge same through the press.

ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS EXPRESS CONFIDENCE IN PREMIER.

It is remarkably easy to stage a street demonstration of any kind in large cities like Toronto, especially at a time like this when the spectre of unemployment adds to the general unrest. The heartiness of Premier Meighen's reception in Toronto was marred in a measure by street demonstrations, pre-arranged for a purpose, but largely based on misunderstandings. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Kingston unit of the Army and Navy Veterans by resolution has expressed its disapproval of any intentional or unintentional discourtesy to the Premier of Canada at Toronto in the name of returned soldiers. The resolution, which expressed the utmost confidence in Premier Meighen, was as follows:

> "Believing that the cause and interests of the veteran are best served by a dignified, manly, sane and reasonable course, the Kingston Unit of the Army and Navy Veterans deplores the attempt to exploit the returned soldier of the Great War in unseemly and improper exhibitions which necessitate police protection to members of the Government. We admire the candor of Prime Minister Meighen in reply to questions submitted to him during his recent visit to Toronto, and we appreciate and endorse his determination to maintain an 'open door' to the question of complete re-establishment. In our opinion every effort should be made to prevent alienation from the veteran of the confidence of the people of Canada as must necessarily follow a repetition of the regrettable exhibition made in Toronto on Friday last. We seek the co-operation of the Government and the utilization of every legitimate means to protect all who have suffered as a result of the Great War, and we have every confidence that Premier Meighen and his Government will accord the veteran the fullest measure of consideration and support consistent with the present condition of the Dominion Government of Canada."

The resolution received the unanimous endorsement of the meeting.

OTHER VIEWS

THE AGE OF YOUTH

London Times

We are often told that this is pre-eminently the age of youth, and so in many ways it may well be; but if youth is unusually insistent, even to the point of wilful headiness, that is all the more reason why, if possible, it should be brought to understand whither it is going.

THE TREASURE

Los Angeles Times

Burglars broke into a safe and were engaged over the bottle of hard stuff they found therein that they forgot all about the $1,000 worth of Liberty Bonds that were neighbors of the flask. Keep a flagon of juice in the vault for the refreshment of burglars and save money.

USEFUL EMPLOYMENT

London Daily Express

Mr. Lloyd George's statement on the steps contemplated by the Government for the relief of unemployment is amplified by the Ministry of Transport. So far as work on main roads is concerned, the chief proposal is to make new "arterial roads" round London and in the provinces. The scheme is free from objections lodged against similar schemes for checkmating unemployment in the past. These were, perhaps, useful. They were not necessary. The new roads are both useful and necessary.

COMMERCIAL AIRSHIPS

Westminster Gazette

The Air Conference at the Guildhall produced an interesting discussion. Sir Trevor Dawson put forward some hopeful considerations with reference to the commercial value of the airship. It should he said, be possible to carry passengers between England and India at a cost only 50 per cent. above that of transport by steamer, and mails at 6d. per ounce. If that can be done, the far greater speed of aerial transport might well make the extra cost worth while to travellers whose time is specially valuable.

POETS' CORNER

ALLEVIATION

I saw one day a vision rare,
  Of a wonderful Mountain Peak.
Everything bloomed in profusion there
  And no one needed to seek.
Or strive to attain what they longed for most
  And no one was found to weep.
But in order to reach the Mountain top
  Some travellers toiled in vain
For those ahead pushed the others back
  As they new foothold gained.
And as I sadly beheld the strife
  I gazed at the Mountain side
And wondered how envy could be so rife
  With the trail to the top so wide.

Then I began to pray for those Who were pushed to the depths below
"Oh God! Give them strength to climb once more
  To help others as they go—"
A hand seemed to touch my shoulder
  And I heard a sweet voice in my ear
"I am the Way to the Mountain Top
  Come—I will lead you there—
The others you see, will not listen,
  They travel their way alone,
For Money, Fame and Position
  They crush their brothers down.
Not all who say to me Lord! Lord!
  Shall enter the place where I stay
Those who are mine help each other
  And do all the things that I say
My children love not in word alone
  But in deed and in Truth each day.
Then come, if you would the summit reach
  For I am the Truth and the Way."

I placed my hand in my Saviour's
  As he bade me, I cast my load
The way grew brighter around me
  It was the Presence of God.
We travelled upward and onward
  The sun began to sink
And then the vision left me,
  But I could not help but think
That although we may plan our own future
  God knows best the way we should go.
He watches over the sparrows
  E'en the hairs of our heads, you know.
His Angels encamp round about us
  And delivers—why then should we fret?
Oh! Let us rebuke the Opressor
  And stand fast—for God liveth yet.

MRS. SMALL BELIEVES HUSBAND STILL ALIVE

College Point, N.Y. Nov. 25.—"I still hold to the belief that my husband is alive," declared Mrs. Ambrose Small today when told of the arrest of John Doughty in Oregon City. Mrs. Small is staying here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Walsh.

Mrs. Small declared she felt renewed hope that her husband would be found or that she would at least learn of his fate. "But I am afraid that if he is alive he is suffering from loss of memory or some other mental disturbance. We got so many letters from cranks and others that we could not believe them. Still, so many of them spoke of his being mentally unbalanced that I'm afraid there may be something to it."

Mrs. Small will leave New York tonight for Toronto, where Doughty is to be taken. Mrs. Small said the question of who would get the reward for Doughty's arrest would be left to Detective Mitchell, of Toronto.

The unusual coincidence of two brothers being buried on the same day within a short distance of each other took place when the remains of the late Honorable Judge B. M. The two brothers died just a day apart, Judge Britton passing away on Thursday in Toronto and W. H. Britton on Friday at Gananoque.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

After hair growth

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.

That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly.

Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade.

I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, alopecia areata or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across Kotalko. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used Kotalko." Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place that was bald." Many more splendid, convincing reports from satisfied users.

KAISER BRONCHITIS IN EXILE
Thousands Liberated

What! have you not heard the joyful tidings? Bronchitis has been exiled—kicked right out of society—and 100,000 Canadians liberated from the bondage of this disease. Every trace of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! No longer do they dread the effects of coughs, colds, asthma, etc., and so anxious are they that others should benefit also, hundreds of letters have been written proclaiming the merits of this wonderful miraculous remedy. Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustbane Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. This mixture, proven in thousands of Canadian households, will give you sure relief. It cannot fail. Seventy-five cents is the price that stands between you and the road to health. Take no substitute—insist on the bottle with the "Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded." Ask your druggist. 19

EASY PICKING FOR SCOTSMAN

Canny Individual Right in His Element in German Prison Camp—Get All the Money in Sight.

A Scotch corporal was appointed by the commandant to look after our boots and to serve our soup. His name was Allen, but we called him "Steamboat" for short. Steamboat immediately began a siege upon the affections of the German nurse who had charge of the officers' mess and our fare began to improve.

He stole beef and potatoes for us and schnapps for himself. Steamboat was not the only one who was stealing. There were a few tons of potatoes in the basement and a guard would take a fatigue down occasionally to pick out the rotten ones. They spent most of the time putting good potatoes by a window for the Belgians and invariably came back upstairs with their breeches legs filled with the best. These were boiled and issued through the ward at night. You can imagine what a row there was when an inspector went down and found the basement innocent of potatoes.

Steamboat had with him a crown-and-anchor board, a great gambling game of the British army. He soon found when the Germans would get their pay and made plans accordingly. He spread his board on a table and began rattling the dice in a tin cup, and with familiar accents began spieling. "Old Joe, the man with the dough." "If you don't speculate you can't accumulate," speaking in English. The German walking wounded crowded around. I put down a few pfennigs and won. Rhett came in for a little loss. The night nurse tried her luck and it was bad. In a few minutes play was in full swing and they were almost fighting for standing room about the table. In two hours Steamboat had all the money. Crown and anchor became an institution, with Steamboat winning at nearly every session. With this money he bought vile German cigarettes for his comrades and wine for himself. When I left Peruwelz he had a beautiful diamond ring and several hundred marks.—From Captain Morris' Letter in Memphis Commercial Appeal, relating experiences as a German prisoner.

Postal Air Service.

After the signing of the armistice the British authorities established a postal airplane service to Cologne, and in connection with this service systematic use was made of wireless telephony, says the Halifax Morning Chronicle. Wireless telephone stations were placed on the ground at distances of fifty miles from each other, and with the use of quite small sets were able to transmit messages to aircraft up to thirty miles away. They could also receive from the air to about fifty miles. Frequently these distances were exceeded and an airplane was in communication at one and the same time with three stations. Considering the small size of the apparatus employed these were remarkable results, and testify to the rapid progress made by the British air service since the first trials of wireless telephony to airplanes in 1915.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF "TARZAN OF THE APES" "SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A. C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

The ape-man shrugged his broad shoulders and looked about for his companion. Werper was nowhere to be seen. At first Tarzan was puzzled; but presently came to the conclusion that Werper had been frightened by the approach of the lion and had sneaked off in terror. A sneer touched Tarzan's lips as he pondered the man's act—the desertion of a comrade in time of danger, and without warning. Well, if that was the sort of creature Werper was, Tarzan wished nothing more of him. He had gone, and for all the ape-man cared, he might remain away—Tarzan would not search for him.

A hundred yards from where he stood grew a large tree, alone upon the edge of the reedy jungle. Tarzan made his way to it, clambered into it, and finding a comfortable crotch among its branches, reposed himself for uninterrupted sleep until morning.

And when morning came Tarzan opened his eyes, stretched his giant thews, yawned, rose and gazed about him through the leafy foliage of his retreat. Across the wasted meadowlands and fields of John Clayton, Lord Greystoke, Tarzan of the Apes looked, as a stranger, upon the moving figures of Basuli and his braves as they prepared their morning meal and made ready to set out upon the expedition which Basuli had planned after discovering the havoc and disaster which had befallen the estate of his dead master.

The ape-man eyed the blacks with curiosity. In the back of his brain loitered a fleeting sense of familiarity with all that he saw, yet he could not connect any of the various forms of life, animate and inanimate, which had fallen within the range of his vision since he had emerged from the darkness of the pits of Opar, with any particular event of the past.

He watched the blacks scatter their cook fire and depart; but though the face of each of them had but recently been as familiar to him as his own they awakened within him no recollections whatsoever.

When they had gone, he descended from the tree and sought food. A plump young zebra mare and a stallion grazed nearest to him as he neared the herd. It was instinct which selected the former for his meat. A low bush grew but a few yards from the unsuspecting two. The ape-man reached its shelter. He gathered his spear firmly in his grasp. Cautiously he drew his feet beneath him. In a single swift move he rose and cast his heavy weapon at the mare's side. Nor did he wait to note the effect of his assault, but leaped catlike after his spear his hunting knife in his hand.

For an instant the two animals stood motionless. The tearing of the cruel barb into her side brought a sudden scream of pain and fright from the mare, and then they both wheeled and broke for safety; but Tarzan of the Apes, for a distance of a few yards, could equal the speed of even these, and the first stride of the mare found her overhauled, with a savage beast at her shoulder. She turned, biting and kicking at her foe. Her mate hesitated for an instant, as though about to rush to her assistance; but a backward glance revealed to him the flying heels of the balance of the herd, and with a snort and a shake of his head he wheeled and dashed away.

Clinging with one hand to the short mane of his quarry, Tarzan struck again and again with his knife at the unprotected heart. The result had, from the first, been inevitable. The mare fought bravely, but hopelessly, and presently sank to the earth, her heart pierced. The ape-man placed a foot upon her carcass and raised his voice in the victory call of the Mangani.

Tarzan grasped his kill and dragged it to the partial seclusion of the bush which had hidden his own near approach, and there he squatted upon it, cut a huge hunk of flesh from the loin and proceeded to satify his hunger with the warm and dripping meat.

Attracted by the shrill screams of the mare a pair of hyenas slunk presently into view. They trotted to a point a few yards from the gorging ape-man and halted. Tarzan looked up, bared his fighting fangs and growled. The hyenas returned the compliment, and withdrew a couple of paces. They made no move to attack; but continued to sit at a respectful distance until Tarzan had concluded his meal. After the ape-man had cut a few strips from the carcass to carry with him, he walked slowly off in the direction of the river to quench his thirst. His way lay directly toward the hyenas, nor did he alter his course because of them.

With all the lordly majesty of Numa, the lion, he strode straight toward the growling beasts. For a moment they held their ground, bristling and defiant; but only for a moment, and then slunk away to one side while the indifferent ape-man passed them on his lordly way. A moment later they were tearing at the remains of the zebra.

At the river, Tarzan drank his fill and bathed. During the heat of the day he lay up under the shade of a tree near the ruins of his burned barns. His eyes wandered out across the plain toward the forest, and a longing for the pleasures of its mysterious depths possessed his thoughts for a considerable time. With the next sun he would cross the open and enter the forest! There was no hurry—there lay before him an endless vista of tomorrows with naught to fill them but the satisfying of the appetites and caprices of the moment. Recalling only dimly any other existence, the ape-man was happy. Lord Greystoke had ceased to exist.

For several hours Tarzan lolled upon his swaying, leafy couch until once again hunger and thirst suggested an excursion. Stretching lazily he dropped to the ground and moved slowly toward the river. Tarzan had almost reached the point where the trail debouched upon the open river bottom when he saw a family of lions approaching along the path from the direction of the river. The ape-man counted seven—a male and two lionesses, full grown, and four young lions as large and quite as formidable as their parents. Tarzan halted, growling, and the lions paused, the great male in the lead baring his fanges and rumbling forth a warning roar. In his hand the ape-man held his heavy spear; but he had no intention of pitting his puny weapon against seven lions; yet he stood there growling and roaring and the lions did likewise. It was purely an exhibition of jungle bluff. Each was trying to frighten off the other. Neither wished to turn back and give way, nor did either at first desire to precipitate an encounter. The lions were fed up sufficiently so as not to be goaded by pangs of hunger and as for Tarzan he seldom ate the meat of the carnivores; but a point of ethics was at stake and neither side wished to back down. So they stood there facing one another, making all sorts of hideous noises the while they hurled jungle invective back and forth.

There came an interruption which put an end to the deadlock and it came from Tarzan's rear. He and the lions had been making so much noise that neither could hear anything above their concerted bedlam, and so it was that Tarzan did not hear the great bulk bearing down from behind until an instant before it was upon him, and then he turned to see Buto, the rhinoceros, his little pig eyes blazing, charging madly toward him and already so close that escape seemed impossible; yet so perfectly were mind and muscles co-ordinated in this unspoiled, primitive man that almost simultaneously with the sense-perception of the threatened danger he wheeled and hurled his spear at Buto's chest. It was a heavy spear shod with iron, and behind it were the giant muscles of the ape-man, while coming to meet it was the enormous weight of Buto and the momentum of his rapid rush. All that happened in the instant that Tarzan turned to meet the charge of the irascible rhinoceros might take long to tell, and yet would have taxed the swiftest lens to record. As his spear left his hand the ape-man was looking down upon the mighty horn lowered to toss him, so close was Buto to him. The spear entered the rhinoceros' neck at its junction with the left shoulder and passed almost entirely through the beast's body, and at the instant that he launched it, Tarzan leaped straight into the air, alighting upon Buto's back, but escaping the mighty horn.

Tarzan Leaped Straight Into the Air.

HUGE WALL STREET EXPLOSION REWARD

New York, Nov. 24—The Wall street bomb mystery, with its toll of death and destruction, was forced into prominence again when persons who chose to remain unidentified caused a private detective agency to offer a reward of $50,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the plotters. Circulars and advertisements offering the reward will be published in every part of the world.

At the same time the William J. Burns Detective Agency, through which the reward is offered undertook a world-wide search. The offer was surrounded with mystery, which the Burns agency refused to clear up.

With the offer of the reward it was evident that whoever is putting up the big sum is launching an expensive campaign to give it wide prominence. The advertising columns of newspapers are to be used in connection with handbills and pamphlets, it was stated by Sherman Burns, one of the agency's representatives.

HEAD HUNTERS NOT SAVAGE

Custom Which to Westerners Seems So Brutal Is Merely a Part of Their Religion.

The head hunters of Borneo are cited as tending to prove the assertion that morals are nothing but customs and that anything may become moral under certain circumstances.

You naturally think of a head hunter as a terrible sort of savage. As a matter of fact the head hunters are very good savages. They are kindly and reliable, they do not cheat or lie and they have much artistic ability and good taste. They hunt heads because it is a part of their religion to do so. When a chief dies every good Dyak feels that it is up to him to go forth and kill four or five men, just as a good citizen in this country feels that it is up to him to go forth and kill in case the government decides to have war.

The Borneo head hunter is not excessive or brutal about his head hunting. He takes only a few heads at a time, and these he treats with the utmost consideration. He drills a little hole in the skull of each one and neatly removes the brains. The hair he takes off and makes into artistic decorations for his shield. The rest of the head is dried before a great fire, the eyes often being treated with resin to preserve their lifelike appearance. Afterward the native hangs this head in his house and treats it with great reverence. He apologizes to it for having taken its owner's life, and he feeds it rice through the hole which he has bored in its skull. He believes that in a future life the owner of this head will be his servant.

Thus, it is seen, that the head hunter does not cut off heads in a rash or ruthless spirit. He honestly believes that he is solving the servant problem for a distant posterity.

Wood Strong, Though Light.

Tests of balso wood by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology showed a strength fully one-half as great as spruce. Yet this Equadorian wood weighs only 7.3 pounds per cubic foot, while cork weighs 13.7 pounds. The wood is stated to be practically pure cellulose, with no lignification, the strength being due to its structure of loose barrel-shaped cells.

RIGIDLY EXCLUDE FRESH AIR

French Seemingly See No Reason Why It Should Ever Be Admitted to Bedroom.

Europeans do not like fresh air, writes Theodore Roosevelt in Average Americans. They feel a good deal like the gentleman in Stephen Leacock's story who said he liked fresh air, and believed you should open the windows and get in all you could. Then you should shut the windows and keep it there. It would keep for years. I have been in many rooms in France where the windows were nailed shut. The beds also are rather remarkable. They are generally fitted with feather mattresses, and feather quilts. Very often they are arranged in a niche in the wall like a closet, and have two doors, which the average European, after getting into the bed, closes, thereby rendering it about as airy and well ventilated as a coffin. I remember my own billet in one of the towns where we stopped. As I was commanding officer, it was one of the best and was reasonably warm. It was warm because the barnyard was next door, literally in the next room, as all that separated me from a cow was a light deal door by the side of the bed. The cow was tied to the door. When the cow slept I slept; but if the cow passed a restless night I had all the opportunity I needed to think over my past sins and future plans.

In another town an excellent billet was not used by the officers because over the bed were hung photographs of all the various persons who had died in the house, taken while they lay in that bed.

Spanish Fruits.

Among the various fruit crops of Spain, a prominent place must be assigned to the fig, because of its widespread cultivation throughout the peninsula and its general use as a food product. In a number of provinces the fig leads all other fruits in importance. The dried fruit serves as food for a large portion of the poorer classes, and in years of great abundance it is also used for fattening pigs for the local markets.

Many Are Out Of Work In France

The number of former workers now employed in France is 125,000 according to official statistics. The total is increasing by daily dismissals in the metallurgic industry, leather trade, textile and clothing manufacturing industries and the problem is attracting attention of the government.

During the war the plea of manufacturers was that speedy delivery of goods was impossible owing to the lack of labor. Now available labor far exceeds the demand.

There are numerous reasons for this surplus, prominent among which are given: Lack of raw material; rate of exchange against France in most importing countries and high freight rates. It is believed however that there is another reason of purely internal order. Speculators have held back stocks in order to be able to release them when prices were highest, and consequently do not need to manufacture at present. Others are said to deliberately restrict production in order that prices may be kept to their present abnormal level. The high prices have lessened consumption and the public limits its purchases to articles of absolute necessity, with the result that retailers are not sending such large orders to wholesalers as formerly.

LEATHER INDUSTRY SUFFERS

The leather industry is suffering most, nearly half the workers ordinarily employed being out of work. Parisians in general have refused to pay 120 francs for a very ordinary pair of shoes. At Limoges alone, 8,000 shoemakers are without employment.

The clothing industry is also reported to be in a bad way. Forty per cent. of the workers are idle at a time when ordinarily the factories are at their busiest.

The textile industry, on which the towns of Roubaix and Tourcoing depend, is going through a period of the greatest difficulty, and the fur industry is also affected owing to excessive prices of furs, especially of the more ordinary kinds, such as rabbit and goat.

Thirty per cent. of the automobile workers are idle; some 18,000 of 20,000 skilled workmen. Considerable numbers of men employed in the devastated regions have also left their work, some voluntarily, hesitating to spend the winter in draughty shacks without comfort and amusements; others dismissed by contractors who have not yet been paid by the state and who hesitate to retain workmen whose wages they may be unable to pay.

CABINET SEEKS SOLUTION

The question was discussed at a recent Cabinet meeting, industrial groups are occupied in formulating possible solutions and a mass meeting of unemployed is to be held at the Labor Bureau. The principal difficulty is not so much in finding work for the many skilled workmen who are at present without employment. There are plenty of openings for unskilled labor in the devastated regions, and the levelling of the Paris fortifications but laborers are scarce while skilled workmen are plentiful but their employment at such work as is available would be nothing less than wasting the country's resources.

OXFORD NOW CONFERS DEGREES ON WOMEN

For the first time in its history of 900 years, Oxford university has conferred degrees on women. The women graduates wear the same hoods as the men, but the classical mortar-board cap has been ruled out in their case and a new cap, shaped something like a bishop's mitre, has been specially designed for them. Cambridge now remains the only English university which withholds degrees from women.

Captain Fryatt's Vessel Has Been Sold by Auction Money Going to Memorial

The steamship Brussels, Captain Fryatt's ship, has been sold at auction at the Baltic Shipping Exchange in London for £3,100. The purchaser was T. B. Stott, of the firm of T. B. Stott & Co., ship owners, of Liverpool. The vessel was sold as she lay. The purchaser said he had not decided what he would do with her.

Many ship owners attended the sale, but bidding for the historic ship was not spirited. H. G. Kelloc, head of the firm of Kelloc & Co., conducted the sale, and in his call for bids appealed to the sentiments rather than to the commercial feeling of the bidders. The first bid was for £3,000 and was on behalf of David Petrie, of London and Antwerp. After coaxing by the auctioneer, the bid was rised £100 by Mr. Stott, and with no other bid forthcoming the vessel was sold to him.

Sir Ernest Glover representing the Ministry of Shipping, attended the sale and said a request had been received from the Belgian Government that a portion of the Brussels should be given to them for incorporation in a memorial to Captain Fryatt, which Belgium was erecting in Zeebrugge.

The Government, it was announced, will apply the sum derived from the sale of the Brussels to some charitable purpose connected with Captain Fryatt's name.

Next Year's Census.

It is probable that Sunday, April 3, 1921, will be the date fixed by Parliament for the next census. England and Wales are likely to be divided into about 36,000 districts, one enumerator being assigned to each. These officials will leave schedules with householders before the appointed day, and collect them afterwards, the actual counting being performed by the large staff under the control of the Registrar-General. In Ireland the inhabitants are supposed to put their "religious profession" on record, but the duty is optional, and, therefore very much neglected. No similar obligation exists in Great Britain. In 1911 the inhabitants of the United Kingdom numbered 45,216,665, showing an increase of 3,757,944, or 9.1 per cent., as compared with 1901. This was 0.8 per cent. less than the increase ten years previously. While the rate of increase was lower in England and Scotland, the growth of the population was substantially higher in Wales, very little change being exhibited in Ireland. Ten years ago the excess of females over males was 1,339,855, the actual figures being 23,352,727, against 22,012,872.

Probably.

She was weeping bitter tears into her afternoon tea.

"Oh, my dear!" she said to her only friend, "I don't know what I shall do. Ted and I have only been married six months, yet he spends every evening at his club!"

"Well, don't worry, darling," said the other. "Percy's just the same. But I shall never scold him again for spending so much time at his club."

"Why not?"

"Well, last night, a burglar got into the house, and my husband knocked him senseless with a poker. I've heard several men speak of him as a poker expert. He has evidently been practicing at the club for just such an emergency."

Ostrichs.

When the eggs on the ostrich farms in California are on the point of hatching, a curious tapping of the shells may be heard. This the keepers call "telephoning." The sound is caused by the chicks inside the eggs endeavoring to break out. Those which can not easily emerge are assisted by the mother bird, which will sometimes break an egg from which the telephoning is heard by pressing it carefully, and will then aid the chick to get out. At the Pasadena farm the sight of a boy riding an ostrich as he would a pony may sometimes be seen.

Inexperience.

A salesman was showing an elderly lady the virtues of the kind of car he sold. He made many turns and at the proper times extended his arm as a turning signal. The old lady watched the proceedings for some time. Then she craned her neck and looked at the sky. "Mister," she said sternly, tapping him on the shoulder, "you just tend to your driving. It don't look like rain nohow, but if it should I'll let you know."

The Uncle Was Dense.

A proud young father telegraphed the news of his happiness to his brother in these words, "A handsome boy has come to my house and claims to be your nephew. We are doing our best to give him a proper welcome."

The brother, however, failed to see the point and wired back, "I have not got a nephew. The young man is an imposter."

A Long Stop.

Teacher: "Don't you know that punctuation means that you must pause?" Timothy: "'Course I do. An auto-driver punctuated his tire in front of our house Sunday and he paused for half an hour."

The Professor's Break.

Statistician (on the platform: "These are not my figures, ladies and gentlemen; they are the figures of a man who knows what he is talking about."

Still More to Follow.

"Ever see an automobile turn turtle?"

"Not yet. But I've seen more than one alleged racehorse do the trick."

BARGES ARE SUNK

The barge No. 2, of the Sincennes-McNaughton line, in tow of the tugs Metak and Mary Frances Whelan, coal laden from Erie to Montreal foundered about 25 miles off Port Colborne early Sunday morning. No lives were lost. The No. 2 was built in Sorel in 1881. The barge Scotia, owned by the Doty Engine Co., of Toronto, is sunk at Erie, Pa., and will be a total loss.

ENTERTAINED OFFICERS

Mr. John Elliott, manager of the Standard Bank, entertained the officers of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce at an informal dinner Wednesday evening at the Hotel Quinte. The function was a most enjoyable one and initiated the visiting officials into the hearty good fellowship for which Belleville is noted. Several good speeches were made, brief and to the point, and the event was both pleasant and profitable.

BELLEVILLE CLUB ENTERTAINS

Delegates to the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade are being entertained this afternoon at the Belleville Club where the members are extending every hospitality to the visitors.

NOT WANTED HERE

John Sharkey, a wanderer with no fixed place of abode, picked up by the local police and charged with vagrancy, was given his liberty by Police Magistrate Masson on condition that he leave the city at once.

APPOINTED INSPECTOR

Toronto papers say that Police Sergeant Frank Naphan has been appointed License Inspector for this district in succession to the late Mr. Richard Arnott. While no official confirmation of the appointment could be obtained, it has been expected for some days that Sergt. Naphan would receive the appointment. He has been a member of the Belleville police force for some years and has been a most efficient officer. That he will fill his new office with credit is assured.

IROQUOIS CLUB DANCE

The Iroquois Club held a dance on Wednesday evening in Bennett's Academy, owing to counter attractions the crowd was not as large as was expected. The Strathdee Orchestra of Toronto provided excellent music, which was much appreciated by those present, judging from their hearty applause. At midnight a dainty and satisfying luncheon was served, after which dancing was resumed until an early hour this morning.

LUXURY TAX

A meeting of the Belleville Retail Merchants Association was held this morning in the Y.M.C.A. Hall with a large attendance. The principal matter under discussion was the luxury tax. Objection was taken not so much to the tax itself as to the methods employed in its collection, it being felt that the cost of collection was out of all proportion of the net amount received. That the tax, if continued, should produce the greatest amount of money possible at the least possible expense of collection, seems to be the general desire. The gathering was addressed by President Watters and Secretary Trowern, of the Dominion Retail Merchants Association, and a general discussion took place. Among those present were several delegates to the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade meeting. No definite action was taken pending a conference to take place between Secretary Trowern and representatives of various trade organizations affected by the tax.

Belleville Club and make it their home while in the city.

Col. Ponton, on behalf of Dr. Coughlin, Superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, extended an invitation to the delegates to visit the school at nine o'clock on Friday morning.

It was decided to accept the invitation and the delegates will go as a body.

President Taylor delivered the annual address, detailing the work of the association and its aims and objects.

Secretary's Report.

Mr. F. G. Morley, of Toronto, Secretary-Treasurer, reported that there was a balance on hand of $470.72. Fifty-seven Boards were affiliated with the the Association and six new Boards had been added since the last annual meeting.

Col. Ponton moved the following resolution: Resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce congratulate and express the gratitude of the whole province to the Board of Trade of the city of Toronto for their hospitable and educative entertainment of the delegates to the Ninth Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, believing that the bonds of British unity and commerce have been thereby strengthened, and that the resources and possibilities of Ontario, a province of homes and home-makers, have been drawn to the attention to representatives of the whole Empire as never before. And further, that this association pledge its co-operation and support in the work of the International Chambers of Commerce, in the administration of which Canada is to be officially and efficiently represented.

The mover spoke in support of the resolution and the spirit of that wonderful gathering in Toronto, saying we should record and crystallize this motion. The Queen City entertained the delegates lavishly and the representatives carried away with them most pleasant recollections of that gathering. The press was full of appreciation of the welcome extended to the delegates. A golden chain of commerce had been established. The result of that personal intact will be lasting.

Mr. R. J. Graham seconded the resolution. Those who had the privilege of attending the previous congress were proud of the manner in which Toronto welcomed the delegates.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Col. Ponton, in moving the following resolution from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, spoke strongly in support of it, claiming that it would mean much for the extension of aviation. The British nation will show that no other nation will lead in aviation. Flying should be properly controlled and the Government should have that control. The resolution was as follows: Resolved, that the Government be commended for giving encouragement to aviation for commercial transport and postal purposes, for forest protection and survey, and for rapidity of intercommunication over our great areas of land and water, as well as for the defence of the Empire, should need arise.

Mr. W. B. Deacon seconded the resolution, speaking in support of it. We have in Belleville, he said, young men who made their mark in aviation. Aviation will yet prove to be of great benefit commercially.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. J. T. Smith, of Cochrane, moved and Mr. A. J. Young of North Bay seconded, the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas the Ontario Legislature during the last session has placed on the statutes a bill 178, "An Act to provide for the extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway"; and whereas the works authorized by this Act shall not be commenced or proceeded with by the commission until such time as may be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council; and whereas in view of the universal paper shortage it would be of great benefit to the whole province that the forest and the unlimited water power resources on the James Bay slope should be made available forthwith;

Therefore, be it resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce strongly urge upon Premier Drury and the members of his Cabinet the immediate consideration of the construction of the James Bay extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

Mr. J. Elliott moved the following resolution from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce: Resolved that immigration of our kith and kin from the British Isles be fostered and encouraged by the Government of Ontario, and especially for the purpose of peopling and more intensively cultivating our millions of acres of arable, fruit raising, and dairy producing lands.

The mover said that was a most important resolution. It is essential that we get in Canada a good class of immigrants, those who are willing to settle upon farms. Before the war we had a large influx into Canada, and we never had a better class than those who have come here recently. We have a large debt to reduce, and to do that we need greater production. The placing of immigrants must be done in a systematic manner.

Mr. J. D. Allan of Toronto seconded the resolution and referred to the fact that for some years he lived in Russia. We should not shut out those who are not of our nationality if they are good citizens. It was deplorable that we are lacking in resources to such an extent that crops on trees could not be harvested for the want of help.

Mr. G. C. Coppley, of Hamilton, endorsed the resolution. The immigrants should be distributed in a proper manner. There is not the co-operation in this matter that there should be. In the Niagara district an immense amount of fruit spoiled that could not be gathered for lack of help.

Mr. J. G. Elliott, of Kingston, suggested that the resolution be amended so as to read, in addition to our kith and kin, as well as the best type of people from other nations.

Ald. Bone of Belleville and Mrs. Martin, of Hamilton, supported the resolution. The latter advocated that conditions in the city be made harder, so that so many would not come to the city from the farms.

Mr. A. J. Young, of North Bay said we want immigrants in Canada who will assist in making Canada, if possible, a more Anglo-Saxon country.

The resolution was adopted.

Trainmen Dance Very Enjoyable

The B. of R. T. held their fourth annual ball in Johnstone's Academy Wednesday evening, and in spite of many counter-attractions had a splendid crowd, numbering about one hundred and seventy-five couples in all. The spacious hall was tastefully and suitably decorated. There was a caboose, painted on canvas, at the front of the ball-room, which was very effective, Union Jacks and Stars and Stripes forming an attractive background for tiny railroad lanterns in red, white and blue at intervals around the walls.

A feature of the program was a lantern waltz.

The music was provided by Sills' six-piece orchestra, and as usual, they played good music, being very generous with encores, which was much appreciated.

Guests were present from Toronto, Oshawa and Brockville, all having a most enjoyable evening.

At midnight a dainty and substantial luncheon was served, plenty of "eats" being provided, to which the large assemblage did full justice. After the luncheon dancing was resumed and continued until about 4 a.m.

The patronesses for the evening were: Mrs. W. Jordan, Mrs. E. B. Wilbur, Mrs. A. E. Cole, Miss S. Johnston, Mrs. G. Mason, Mrs. J. Rigby. Stewards, J. Tanner, R. L. Johnston, J. Rigby, P. J. Conners, C. E. Jenkins, S. Cornish, A. E. Cole, W. J. Smith, W. J. Carson, chairman; W. D. Kiser, treasurer; C. Warren, secretary.

Great credit is due the committeemen, who saw that everything went smoothly and spared no time or labor in the fulfilment of their duties. The invitations were novel in effect, being in the form of a train order.

C.P.R. Brakeman Lost His Life

Slipped Under Freight Train Starting In Belleville Yards—Mangled By Wheels

A deplorable accident occurred Wednesday night about ten o'clock resulting in the death of William Leach Campbell, of Smiths Falls, a brakeman in the employ of the C.P.R. The unfortunate man was a member of the crew of the C.P.R. way-freight, west bound, which was shunting some cars on a siding just west of the C.N.R. depot. While engaged at his duties he slipped beneath the wheels and his left arm and leg were mangled. As soon as possible he was conveyed to the hospital where death resulted about one hour later. Conductor Hart was in charge of the train.

Mr. Campbell was fifty years of age and his home was in Smiths Falls, where he leaves a wife and four children, three boys and a girl. He is also survived by one brother, Samuel F. Campbell, of Verona, Ont., and four sisters, Mrs. Walroth, of Sharbot Lake; Mrs. Comper, of Toronto; Mrs. Romfret, of Valleyfield, Que. and Mrs. Patterson, of Kingston.

The brother, Mr. Samuel F. Campbell, of Verona, on being notified of the sad occurrence, came at once to Belleville, arriving here this morning.

The late Mr. Campbell was a member of Perth Lodge, A. F. & A. M., a Methodist in religion and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The body was removed to Tickell's morgue and Coroner Dr. Yeomans ordered an inquest.

POLICE IDENTIFY NEW YORK RAFFLES

New York, Nov. 20.—Police investigating the $400,000 jewelry and fur robbery of Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer, former actress, intimated today that as the result of further information obtained from her they had identified at least one of the three robbers. He is believed to be a professional burglar.

Mrs. Palmer's physician reported that an X-ray examination had shown a bone was broken in each of her feet when she leaped down a stairway in trying to escape from the robbers, who seized her when she returned from a dinner party early Tuesday morning. She is still confined to her bed.

Insurance totalling only $53,000 was carried on the stolen articles. A pearl necklace said to be worth $300,000, was insured for $40,000.

It was learned today that Mrs. Palmer's home at Long Beach was entered by burglars about two weeks ago and imported whiskey which originally cost $1,000, was stolen.

TURNS FROM CROWD TO COMFORT WOMAN

Toronto, Nov. 23.—While Hon. Arthur Meighen was speaking at the crowded Massey Hall meeting on what the Government had done for returned soldiers, an elderly woman appeared from somewhere on the platform and before she could be restrained, walked up to the Premier and commenced to tell, between sobs, some incoherent story about her boys at the front. She opened her coat and revealed a cross on the front of her dress, and a line of medals which apparently were her legacy from dear ones "gone west" in the great war.

It was stated that her two boys were killed overseas.

The Premier stopped his speech and sympathetically tried to make out her story. He told her that it would be looked into and that he would see that she was justly treated. One of the men on the platform led the bereaved mother to an anteroom to get the details, and the Premier went on with his speech.

TRAIN CRASHES INTO CAR; TWO DEAD, TWO SENSELESS

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Gustave Connolly, 37, of 403 St. Hubert street, Montreal, and Ernest Dumochal, 29, 21 Berri street, were killed; Romeo Vien, 19 of 391 Visitation street with two broken thighs, and Sylvio Vidal, 31, of 224 St. Hubert street, with broken nose, teeth, and contusions to the head, are both lying unconscious at the Bourgeois Hospital, Three Rivers, as the result of a collision between an automobile and the Canadian Pacific Railway Frontenac Limited, two miles this side of Louisville, at noon today.

One other man, Emile Bleau, 20, also suffered injuries, but not enough to prevent him returning to Montreal tonight.

The automobile was approaching a level crossing which was somewhat hidden from the road by a house. The machine took the crossing just in front of the train, was struck and turned turtle, pinning the two dead men beneath it.

GETS SIX MONTHS ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 23.—Harry Ira Desmarais, of Malone, Que., on Wednesday morning by Chief Howard of Cornwall and Detective Dauot, of the Hull force, on a charge of being a too-much-married man, appeared before Magistrate Cline in the police court for sentence, having pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned on Wednesday after his arrival from Hull.

When arrested Desmarais was living with his second wife, who was Ette Pearl Lalonde, of Cornwall to whom he was married at Moulinette on October 21. The Magistrate sentenced the man to six months in the Cornwall Jail. The second wife stated that she was not aware that Desmarais was already married when she linked up with him. Mrs. Desmarais No. 1 was present in court when sentence was passed and evidently had little sympathy for her spouse.

Many Matters Of Interest Before Associated Boards

KEEN INTEREST MANIFESTED IN SESSIONS OF ASSOCIATED BOARDS OF TRADE AND CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE AND LARGE ATTENDANCE OF DELEGATES—QUESTIONS DISCUSSED OF VITAL INTEREST TO PROVINCE—SPLENDID BANQUET AT HOTEL QUINTE.

The sessions of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade on Thursday were very interesting and largely attended. Many matters of vital interest to the province and the nation at large were ably debated and keen interest was manifested in the proceedings by the delegates. The experiment of holding the meeting in one of the smaller cities, which had been considered doubtful by many, was amply demonstrated to be an excellent move, as in the absence of the many counter attractions of a large city the attention of the delegates was concentrated upon the convention itself, resulting in larger attendance at the various sessions and keener interest in the business before the association.

The afternoon session opened with a large attendance and the first matter up was agricultural development.

Agricultural Development.

Mr. J. A. Hussey of Sault Ste. Marie, introduced the following resolution, from the Sault Ste. Marie Board of Trade, which was seconded by Mr. J. G. Elliott of Kingston, and heartily endorsed by other delegates:

Whereas agricultural development in the District of Algoma is seriously handicapped by reason of the deplorable condition of the roads in many parts of the district; and whereas it is our opinion that the Trunk Road or Great Northern Highway, Sault Ste. Marie to North Bay, which has already become famous throughout Canada and the United States as a summer route for motor tourists, cannot be maintained in even a fair condition of repair by methods employed at present; and whereas there accrues to the province at large immense revenues from the natural resources of Algoma, many of which are as yet practically untouched;

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce petition the Honorable the Minister of Lands and Forests to have inaugurated at an early date a comprehensive scheme of road improvement and maintenance in the District of Algoma.

Mr. G. C. Coppley, of Hamilton introduced the following resolution from the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. J. V. Ilsey seconded it:

Whereas, the increasing imports and decreasing exports together with the resultant exchange situation is found to be unsatisfactory;

Therefore be it resolved that this body do urge the Dominion and Provincial Governments to organize an educational publicity campaign to give preference to Canadian made goods and to loyally support Canadian industries, and that the Governments be requested to give the preference to Canadian goods in their purchases for departmental use.

The resolution was adopted.

Freight Rates.

Mr. C. E. Watts, of Toronto, introduced the following resolution:

Resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, in annual meeting assembled, go on record in support of the demand of the milling, dairying and stock-feeding industries of the Dominion of Canada that flour be carried on the government ocean line of steamers at the same rate of freight as wheat.

Mr. Watts, in support of the resolution, said it should be adopted and the Government urged to take action. It was altogether unfair that it should cost more to ship flour than wheat. If it costs more to carry flour on ocean steamers it means increases in many ways.

Mr. Morton, of St. Thomas, seconded the resolution.

Mr. G. C. Martin, of Hamilton, stated that it cost more to handle flour than grain, hence the increase in the rate.

Messrs. A. J. Young, of North Bay, spoke in support of the resolution.

Mr. Hall of Parry Sound spoke in support of the resolution. The Canadian workman can produce as good an article as other countries. Upon a vote being taken the resolution was lost.

Iron Ore Bounty.

Mr. A. J. Young, of North Bay, and Mr. O'Connor, of Sudbury moved the adoption of resolutions relative to an iron ore bounty, said resolutions emanating from Sudbury and Fort William Boards of Trade.

The resolution was supported by Mr. Waddie, of Hamilton:

An amendment to the resolutions was proposed as follows: That Port Arthur, Sudbury and Fort William Boards of Trade endorse the principle of a bounty being paid by the Dominion Government to producers of iron ore requiring beneficiation before smelting.

The amendment was adopted.

Developing the St. Lawrence

Mr. J. B. Allan, of Toronto, presented the following resolution from the Toronto Board of Trade:

Whereas in the opinion of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce transportation facilities are of the first importance to the people of this Province, and in order that the fullest development of our resources be encouraged, it is desirable that our products should reach the markets of the world at the least expense and with the utmost despatch, and whereas this association is further of the opinion that deepening the water channel from Lake Ontario to Montreal should be such as will accommodate ocean going vessels that secure the cheap and rapid conveyance of goods to the world's markets;

Therefore be it resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce strongly recommend the deepening of the St. Lawrence to a depth of thirty feet, and that the project should be undertaken at the earliest date practicable, and pushed forward to completion with the greatest possible expedition;

And be it further resolved that to obtain the desired development referred to the Hydro Electric Power available through the improvement of the waterway be utilized to the fullest extent.

The mover said that this was a big subject and one of great importance. We have magnificent inland seas and they are but little used. On Lake Superior there is considerable traffic, but it has not by any means reached its zenith. We have great possibilities but they have to be developed. Aside from the navigation question of the St. Lawrence there is the power question. There is nothing to prevent the deepening and power development of the St. Lawrence River.

Mayor Newman of Picton spoke in support of the resolution and seconded it.

Mr. Blain of Toronto and Mr. J. G. Elliott of Kingston spoke strongly in favor of the resolution.

Col. Ponton said that not only the eastern, but the western provinces were eagerly interested in this important question. The history of a country is written in its waterways. Great ships require deep water.

Mr. G. F. McKimm of Smith's Falls said that this was a great question and he would support a proposition to have a delegation from each Board of Trade waiting upon the Government in this matter.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Fire Prevention.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson of Belleville moved the adoption of the following resolution from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce:

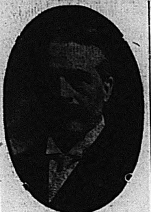
Resolved that the Ontario Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce commend and urge the Government to generously support the successful efforts and laudable zeal of the Ontario Fire Prevention League and the Ontario Safety League, in the staying of waste, the encouragement of thrift and care, the preservation of life and property, and cordially approve of their public-spirited and practical patriotism in thus protecting the public domain, and the industries of our province.

The mover spoke of the importance of this resolution. Millions of dollars go up in smoke which might be averted if more care was exercised. The Safety League was doing a good work in the direction of an educative policy.

Mr. Waddie of Hamilton seconded the resolution and stated that the Government was not encouraging the Safety League and the Ontario Fire Prevention League as it should be encouraged, especially financially. These societies should be warmly supported.

Mr. Kelley of Hamilton urged the necessity of having instituted in cities and towns a chapter of the Ontario Fire Prevention League.

The resolution was adopted after several delegates had spoken in support of it.



COL. W. N. PONTON
Past President Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

Canadianization.

Mr. G. C. Coppley of Hamilton introduced the following resolution from the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce:

Whereas the influx of foreign population is large and the great and urgent need for men and women capable of performing heavy manual labor renders it essential that the flow of foreign population be directed into the rural districts under Government supervision; and whereas no adequate provision has been made by the governments concerned for proper direction and distribution of these immigrants and for their education to standards of Canadian ideals and Canadian living;

Therefore be it resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce be authorized to memorialize the Federal and Provincial Governments to call a conference with a view to formulating a policy based upon broad lines of organization, with ample financial support for the reception, distribution and education of all foreign born arriving in Canada from any country, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governments concerned.

The sponsor of the resolution spoke strongly in support of the resolution. We should, he said, consider well this important matter. Our friends to the South have menaces in their cities which we have. The serious trouble in Winnipeg was caused by foreigners. In that city the foreign population is one in three. In Toronto it is one in ten and in Hamilton one in seven. The British have a genius for assimilating foreigners, and we have the same power of lifting them up to our standard.

Mr. H. Cooper, of Hamilton seconded the resolution, supporting it in an able manner.

Col. Ponton of Belleville spoke on the resolution, also, and it was adopted.

Women Assistants.

Mr. George Menzies of Owen Sound introduced the following resolution from the Owen Sound Board of Trade:

Whereas the Provincial Government has a lady assistant in the agricultural office at Brampton for the County of Peel, whose duty it is to look after Women's Institute work, medical inspection of schools and courses in home nursing and household science;

Be it therefore resolved, that in the opinion of this association it would be to the advantage and well-being of the young women of the province for the government to appoint a lady assistant or teacher for every county in the province.

Mr. O'Grady of Sudbury seconded the resolution, which was adopted.

Both the proposer and the seconder spoke strongly in support of the resolution, contending that it would do much to stimulate farm life, making it more pleasant and profitable.

The resolution was adopted.

Trunk Road.

Mr. Hall, M.P.P., of Parry Sound, presented the following resolution and spoke strongly in support of it:

Resolved, that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of of Commerce specially call the attention of the Ontario Government to the need for a Trunk Road from Parry Sound to either Burk's Falls or Sundridge in Parry Sound District, and urging, further, the prompt completion of the piece of road between Bala and Parry Sound, and desire to point out the advantage which must accrue to those in this district by having (what we should then have) a through Trunk Road from Toronto to North Bay via Parry Sound and across country.

Mr. Zemon, of Preston, seconded the resolution, which was adopted.

Development of St. Mary's River.

Mr. J. A. Hussey, of Sault Ste. Marie introduced the following resolution from the Sault Ste. Marie Board of Trade:

Resolved that the attention of the Dominion Government be brought to

President Taylor's Annual Address

President William Taylor, of Owen Sound, delivered his annual address before the Associated Boards of Trade as follows:

Gentlemen—It is with a great deal of pleasure, that I welcome you to this, our Seventh Annual Meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

I wish to impress upon you the importance of the Representative members, of the various Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, getting together for social intercourse, and for the debating of important problems, which may vitally affect the Province, or some district of the Province.

As you are aware it is not only the actual accomplishment of any particular objective which the Association has to its credit. But it constitutes a clearing house of ideas and aids in creating a good healthy atmosphere. It may also be a potent force at some critical time, where effort may be concentrated and made most effective.

During the war the Boards of Trade were most active in encouraging greater production, which was without doubt a great help to the Nation.

Readjustment Crisis

We are now entering a crisis in the readjustment of the Nation's affairs, in which the different Boards throughout our Country can be of great assistance, in bringing about a normal state of affairs. By not allowing fear and pessimism to enter into our minds but to go forward with that vision and confidence in our Country, which she so richly deserves. With our great resources of raw material of forest and mines our millions of acres of wheat lands, we need have no fear of the future.

Boards of Trade are composed of patriotic citizens, who pay the bulk of the taxes. Men who love their city or town, and are willing to give a portion of their time for the purpose of beautifying and building up their respective cities.

Sowers of Seed

Boards of Trade do not make laws, they sow the seed, and formulate ideas, bring them into concrete form and present them to their respective councils or government, as the case mey be, and in due time we find a great many of these ideas become law. Look back at your own city, and see the many industries you have, and you will nearly always find that the Board of Trade created the first thought, the seed grew until you find you have another Industry in your midst.

Let us remember that money is not everything. Let us beautify our cities, so that we may have a good place to live in, and our workmen own homes of their own. Help them along so that they will be satisfied and contented with their lot, to boost their town or City as the best in Canada.

Don't Be Discouraged

Sometimes Boards of Trade get discouraged, the members work hard trying to get the impossible, to suit your particular town or city. Study your raw material, your help or labor situation and what would be most suitable for your locality, and do not despise small industries, they grow and sometimes become very large ones.

Our Associated Boards of Trade, have sown good seed, and good results are gradually following.

We also have the Imperial British Chamber of Commerce, who visited us in September, and are doing a great work in cementing the whole of the British Empire together. Sowing the seed for the future and building up

Thq great point in Board of Trade work is for all to pull together for the upbuilding of your town or city and good results will surely follow.

The more we put into "Board of Trade" work the more we get out of it. "He profits most who serves best."

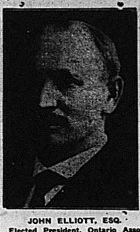
YOUR TOWN

Real towns are not made by men afraid,
Lest someone else gets ahead;
When everyone works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead.

And if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor makes one too;
Your town will be what you want it to be.
It isn't your town—it's you.

If you want to live in the kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like;
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip.
And start on a long, long hike.

You will only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new;
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't your town, it's you.



JOHN ELLIOTT, ESQ.
..Elected President, Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

Farmers Pool To Market Wheat

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Calgary, Nov. 26.—Proposed farmers' pool for co-operatively marketing of Canadian wheat crop was outlined to the convention of the United Farmers of Alberta by the Assistant-General Manager of the United Grain Growers yesterday. He announced that the actual model contract would not be made public yet. Features of the pool are a Provisional Board to handle its 1921 crop which will consist of eight members of the Grain Growers organization of Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario, two representatives from the United Grain Growers and two of the Saskatchewan Elevator Company who will elect the ninth member as chairman. Contract holders must sign for a term of five years, binding themselves to sell its wheat only through the pool. Fifty per cent. of the wheat acreage, about eight and a half million acres is to be brought under this scheme. Expense of operations are to be paid from the pool.

Constantine Causes Many Complications

Speial Despatch to The Intelligencer,
Canadian Press, Limited.

ATHENS, Nov. 26.—France and Great Britain may permit the return of former King Constantine to his throne, but fears are expressed that these two nations will wash their hands of the Greeks either by concluding an arrangement with the Turks separately or using General Wrangel's army, now reorganizing on the island of Lemnos, for a spring campaign against the Turks. Should either of these steps be taken by France or Great Britain there is apprehension lest they abandon Greece financially.

Premier Rhallis and Minister of War Crunar are holding frequent consultations and it is believed the attitude of Great Britain is being closely examined. Both are very reticent regarding the situation, but M. Rhallis states that he hopes for the return of Constantine.

Three Killed In Wreck Of G.T.R. Express Near Toronto

BROKEN RAIL SAID TO BE CAUSE OF DERAILMENT—PASSENGER CARS FOULED WESTBOUND TRACK AND WERE SIDE-SWIPED BY FREIGHT TRAIN — INJURED PASSENGERS TAKEN TO TORONTO HOSPITAL.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Three people were killed—an unidentified man and woman, and a porter, E. Brown, in the wreck of the Toronto-Montreal express near Toronto last night, according to an official statement issued this morning by the Grand Trunk Railway here.

In the statement a broken rail is given as the cause of derailment, which occurred at 11.15 last night. The baggage car, first-class car and three Pullman sleeping cars became foul of the westbound line. The three Pullman cars were side-swiped by the a freight train before the latter could be stopped. The freight was proceeding at a rate of five miles per hour. Three passengers were taken to Grace Hospital, Toronto, but they were not seriously injured.

Crew Of The Randall Safe Vessel Wrecked On Main Ducks

MEMBERS OF CREW HAD TO SWIM OVER A MILE TO SHORE IN ICY WATER—VESSEL BROKE IN TWO—CARED FOR IN LIGHTHOUSE FOR TEN DAYS — CARGO OF COAL FOR DOWNEY COMPANY, BELLEVILLE, LOST — THRILLING EXPERIENCE IN FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Although the members of the crew of the steam barge Randall were not residents of Belleville, there was much anxiety felt here as to their safety, as it was generally believed that the vessel had gone down, and such proves to be the fact. All the crew are safe, though, and spent last night in this city, their headquarters being the Queen's Hotel. The members of the crew are Capt. F. H. Randall, Gib. Smith, Harry Smith and Jack Brady. The first three are residents of Seeley's Bay, and Brady's home is at Newboro.

This morning a representative of The Intelligencer was enabled to have an interview with Capt. Randall, whom he found very obliging and willing to narrate the thrilling experience he and his companions had passed through.

THE LAST CRUISE.

As already published, the steam barge John Randall, laden with 250 tons of coal for the Downey Company of Belleville, left Oswego on Tuesday morning, November 16, for this port. The weather at this time was fair and continued so until about four o'clock in the afternoon, when the wind freshened from the northeast and continued to increase in intensity until it was a gale. At this time the vessel was a few miles off what is known as the Main Ducks, at the head of Lake Ontario, off Kingston.

Capt. Randall, realizing that the situation was growing critical, headed his vessel eastward and succeeded in putting into the channel on the east side of the cove and what is known as School House Bay. At this point it may be of local interest to state that there is a pier built by the late Hon. H. Corby of this city, where he secured his pleasure yacht when in that vicinity. The Randall was steered between this pier and the shore.

During the early part of the evening and later in the night the gale increased in violence and snow fell. The sea got so rough, Captain Randall stated, that his vessel, in dropping down between the waves, would strike bottom, as the water is not deep at this point. The back-wash was so strong that it carried the vessel out into the lake against the wind. This continued for some time, when the vessel struck a reef and a rent was made in the hull.

BROKE IN TWO.

At this stage of the trouble the main steam pipe burst, and the vessel soon broke in two, her forward part sinking, while that portion of the vessel where the cabin was situated was above the water line. It was impossible to lower the yawl boat on account of the seas.

All that night the four members of the crew remained in the pilot house with the waves going over it and breaking the windows, and with prospects of the pilot house being carried away. The crew remained in he pilot house until two o'clock of the afternoon of the 17th, inst., having been without food for nearly 24 hours. It was then decided to make an effort to reach an island in the Main Ducks group where the lighthouse is located. The men had life-preservers on, but they did not prove of great service.

LEFT THE WRECK.

At two o'clock Capt. Randall and his three companions left the wreck and struck out for shore. They had to swim about a mile and a half, and this prove to be no easy task as water was continually breaking over them. By determined effort the four men succeeded in reaching the island, and just as they reached shore Mr. Fred Bongard, the keeper of tht lighthouse, accompanied by his wife and son, appeared on the scene. This was not an unusual occurrence, for Mr. Bongard makes daily trips about the island to see if any vessels are in distress.

TEN DAYS AT LIGHTHOUSE.

As quickly as possible the party reached the lighthouse, where Mr. Bongard and his family did everything possible for the shipwrecked sailors, and for ten days they remained at the lighthouse, where they were most hospitably entertained. During these ten days no vessels were to be seen, and it was not possible to communicate with the mainland.

TAKEN OFF BY MOTOR BOAT.

Yesterday, Capt. Randall and his crew were taken by motor boat across South Bay and landed on the Prince Edward shore and subsequently taken to Picton. Later in the evening the party arrived in this city and remained over night, leaving this morning for their homes.

Capt. Randall stated that the first telephone he was able to reach yesterday afternoon was at Collier, and the first person communicated with was his anxious wife and young family.

Capt. Randall stated that all he had is lost. He was the owner of the barge, which was valued at $9,000, and there was no insurance, the necessity of the Government taking immediate steps towards the improvement of the Canadian section of the deep water channel of the St. Mary's River; and that the commencement of such work should be made at the earliest possible date on the opening of the navigation season of 1921;

That at present such channel is not wide enough nor deep enough, and its present condition results to the prejudice of the full use by vessels of the improvements already made in this channel, including the Canadian Ship Canal at Sault Ste. Marie;

In any particular the Eastern entrance or exit of the Canadian Ship Canal calls for prompt improvement in the interests of the canal and the general use thereof by vessels, such improvement being the deepening of this entrance and the widening thereof to the full extent as shown within the limits of the harbor line as established at this point, to enable vessels entering and leaving the canal at this point to have full manoeuvering space in connection therewith. The lack of this improvement is resulting in holding back improvements in the way of wharf and ship accommodation contemplated by certain of the industries located at Sault Ste. Marie;

That the said improvements should be entered upon by sections, with a view to the obtaining of an improvement complete in itself on the completion of the various sections thereof.

Ald. Bone introduced the following resolution of the Belleville Board of Trade:

Resolved that in the opinion of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Ontario, the developments of the Province agriculturally, and the providing of homes for workingmen, and the dealing with real property, will be greatly facilitated by the adoption in this Province of the Torrens System of Land Titles, where procurable.

The mover of the resolution spoke in support of same claiming it was a system that was convenient.

Mr. J. M. Ilsey of Hamilton seconded the resolution.

Mr. Brock of Toronto supported the resolution claiming it would be excellent for the new Provinces of the Dominion.

Col. Ponton said the resolution would not be received with unimity but the discussion would do good.

Hydro Electric Development

Mr. R. J. Graham introduced a resolution from the Belleville Board of Trade as follows:

Resolved that, in the opinion of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce who believe that therein they are the interpreters and exponents of the public opinion of the Province, the Government should utilize all Water Powers and encourage and substantially aid in the development of every possible unit of electrical energy at reasonable cost,—(1) for Manufacturing and Mining purposes; (2) To supply the lack of coal and render Ontario less dependent for supply from United States; (3) For Municipal and local household purposes, including distribution among the agricultural community, as far as possible.

Mr. Graham said that there were thousands if not millions of horse power which was as yet undeveloped. We have in this city new industries and by reason of not having power in September they were hampered for some time by lack of power.

Mr. Campbell of Kingston, Mr. Hall of Parry Sound, Mr. Burgoyne of St. Catherines, Mr. Wood of Brantford, Mr. Bell of St. Catherines and Mr. J. Elliott of Belleville spoke in support of the resolution which was adopted.

Privy Council

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford introduced the following resolution from the Toronto Board of Trade:

Whereas the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce desire to place on record their strong protest against any suggestion that would tend towards the abolishment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, or with any interference with the time-honored and inalienable right of His Majesty's subjects to take their disputes to the foot of the Throne for disposition;

And Whereas the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce further protest against any move that might, in the last analysis, seem to have the effect of lessening our connection with the Mother Country, and possibly create in foreign countries the false impression that Canadians wish to weaken the ties which bind them to the great Commonwealth of Nations as the British Empire;

Therefor Be It Resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce are emphatically opposed to the proposal that the appeal (so far as Canadians are concerned) to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council be abolished.

The mover spoke strongly in support of the resolution claiming that it was not desired to snap one thread that binds Canada to the Mother land Appeals to the Privy Council he contended were a necessity and should not be discontinued. He was delighted that the Toronto Board of Trade had introduced this resolution.

Col. Ponton seconded the resolution and said that Canada was a part of the great whole. It was British capital that helped to build Canada and we do not want to do anything that will impair that confidence. The Privy Council is composed of men who are recognized as the leading legal lights of the world. By a few that court would be abolished if possible. Let us retain that great court.

Mr. A. J. Young, North Bay, said that this was a question that concerned lawyers more than laymen.

Mr. Whitton of Hamilton claimed that the Privy Council was a safeguard and composed of the highest legal minds in the world. We want a final court where there can be no appeal.

Mr. McCullough of Hamilton—We must not by any means say or think anything that would lead to the inference that Canadian courts were not all that they should be.

Messrs. Cockshutt and Col. Ponton stated that they had no desire whatever to infer anything against the Canadian courts.

The resolution was adopted.

Re-Organization

Mr. G. C. Martin of Hamilton introduced the following resolution from the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce:

Whereas many important questions arise during the year, which the various Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce desire to have presented to other members of the said Board of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, with a view to obtaining information, or seeking their support and co-operation in National or Provincial matters, requiring prompt action;

And Whereas the Associated Boards of Trade as at present constituted, meeting as it does once a year, and after resolutions passed at such convention have received attention, practically ceases to function for the balance of the year;

Therefor be it resolved that the necessary staff be employed to carry on the work continuously;

And be it further resolved that an assessment be levied on each individual Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce to the amount of 25 cents per capita of its membership, with a maximum assessment on any one Board of Trade, or Chamber of Commerce, of $500.00 per annum, in order that the necessary budget be provided.

Mr. Cooper of Hamilton seconded the resolution.

After some discussion the resolution was referred to the Executive Committee to get the opinions from the various Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce on the matter.

Assessment and Taxation

Mr. K. J. Dunstan of Toronto introduced the following resolution from the Toronto Board of Trade:

Whereas the present difference in methods of assessment and taxation throughout Canada constitutes discrimination as between merchants carrying on the same kinds of business in different places:

And Whereas it is highly desirable that there shall be greater uniformity that such discrimination may be eliminated or reduced;

Therefor be it resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce respectfully request some competent authority to take the necessary steps to call together in conference recognized experts from the various Provinces to discuss this important problem and make such recommendations to their respective Governments as will tend to standardize the methods of assessment and taxation throughout the Dominion;

And be it Further Resolved that the Executive be instructed to confer with the Dominion and Provincial Governments with respect to bringing about such conference.

The mover showed by statistics that a merchant carrying on business in Montreal would pay a business tax of $1,700 per year whilst in Toronto the same merchant would pay $5.00.

Mr. Blain of Toronto seconded the resolution which was carried.

Vote of Sympathy

Mr. J. G. Elliott moved, seconded by Col Ponton, that the members of the Board regret the inability through illness of Mr. Arthur Hewitt of Toronto, 1st Vice-President and hope for his speedy return to health.

The motion was unanimously adopted by a standing vote.

Col. Ponton presented the report of the nomination committee as to officers published elsewhere.

Mr. Taylor complimented Mr. Elliott of Belleville upon his elevation to the Presidency of the Association.

Mr. Elliott returned his thanks for the honor conferred upon him. It was an honor that any person might covet. He appreciated the kinds words which had been said in reference to him. He would endeavor to bring success to the Association in the future as in the past.

Mr. Taylor thanked the members for the splendid help given him whilst occupying the office of president.

G. F. McKinnon of Smiths Falls, moved, seconded by Mr. J. G. Elliott of Kingston, a resolution of commendation of the work being done at the school for the Deaf and appreciation of the kindness extended to the delegates by the superintendent, Dr. Coughlin.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

BANQUET ECHOES

A. J. Young, of North Bay, drew attention to the needs of the Northland in goods, referring to Hon. Mr. Biggs' statement that the progressive good roads policy of his department was only concerned with portions of Ontario with couny organizations. The north contributed millions in revenue from the mines, forests and fisheries and objected to being left to the tender merices of the Forests and Manes department. Mr. Young is a prominent and successful business man of the north country big in body and big in ideals and progressiveness.

The keynote of Mr. Cockshutt's speech was Canada's pride in being a part of the great British Empire. He had no patience with those who talk in favor of an independent Canada. Britain's glorious traditions embodied in a thousand years of history were shared by Canada as a part of the Empire. That Mr. Cockshutt's statements were fully shared by the gathering was evidenced by the hearty cheers and applause.

Chairman Graham voiced an obvious fact when he said that the delegates represented the "Brains of Ontario".

Mr. Porter referred to Canada's small population in comparison with her resources and intimated that the large population of the United States resulting from indiscriminate immigration was more productive of weakness than strength in the present period of world-wide unrest, instances of which were to be noted in attempts to mix up in the things which were none of their business. Canada's future policy should be selective immigration and the greatest care in building up a good citizenship of people who would appreciate being Canadians.

Col. McCullough, of Hamilton, a Belleville Old Boy, referred to his early associations and school days in this city in an interesting manner.

"Thirteen or fourteen months ago Biggs place was between the plough handles," said the Minister of Public Works, and being sandwiched between politicians made it difficult for him to speak. Mr. Cockshutt had referred to national unrest and "rocking the boat," but as Canada was not in the boat it must be the two old political parties which had been considerably rocked lately. He extended an invitation to them to seek safe anchorage, presumably in the U.F.O. harbor. This sally provoked hearty laughter.

"May your soul be in heaven three years before the devil knows your dead," was an Irish toast passed on to the delegates by Col. W. N. Ponton.

Belles of Belleville and Bell of Brantford, was the text of an exceedingly interesting address by K. J. Dunstan, past president of Toronto Board of Trade, illustrating the great influence of women and women's tears as exemplified in the development of the Bell Telephone. This witty and interesting address was one of the most delicious bits of the evening.

A demonstration of strength by the Rotarians present was one of the features of the evening. All Rotarians were invited to stand up and give the "Rotarian Daily Menu" song. The majority of those present stood up and joined with a vim in this rollicking chorus.

Mr. John Elliott made the welcome announcement that the crew of the missing steamer Randall had saved their lives after the vessel had been wrecked. The announcement was received with cheers.

Good Fellowship Around Festive Board

Splendid Banquet Tendered Delegates To Convention of Associated Boards of Trade—Stirring Addresses and General Good Time

Belleville has been noted for many fine banquets and the dining room of the Hotel Quinte has held many notable gatherings but it is doubtful if a finer, more interesting or instructive banquet has ever been held in Belleville than the one tendered on Thursday evening to the delegates at the Seventh Annual Meeting of the Ontario Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce held in this city.

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce were the hosts of the occasion and that body with its enterprizing president, Mr. Jamieson Bone, is entitled to great credit for the excellence of the arrangements and the splendid entertainment generally extended to the visitors. Belleville City Council co-operated with the Chamber of Commerce in making this convention one long to be remembered and one reflecting the greatest credit upon Belleville and bound to be of lasting benefit to the city as a whole.

Nearly two hundred were in attendance including a number of ladies and the gathering represented not only the delegates but the local Chamber of Commerce, City Council, Rotary Club, Lions Club, and other civic organizations. A pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the musical program provided by local musicians which was of a very high order and greatly appreciated. The speeches were many but so interesting and appropriate that the attention of the large gathering was held until nearly one o'clock when the singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most delightful evenings ever spent in Belleville.

The menu was worthy of the best traditions of the Hotel Quinte and the service excellent.

One factor which contributed materially to the success of the occasion was the excellent choice of a chairman, Mr. R. J. Graham, who filled that position to a nicety and introduced each member with a ready wit and spontaniety which gave an added interest to the occasion and there was not one dull moment.

It is to be regretted that pressure on space prevents a detailed report of the various speeches which were of a very high order, interesting and instructive. A feature of the addresses was the tribute paid to the splendid entertainment accorded the visitors from the moment of their arrival in Belleville.

Canada in the Empire

The toast "Canada in the Empire" was proposed by E. Gus. Porter, K.C., M.P., and responded to by W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford, in speeches breathing of patriotism, fidelity to the Empire and confidence in the future of Canada, sentiments which were heartily endorsed by the gathering with cheers and applause.

Province of Ontario

Mr. John Elliott proposed this toast in an eloquent and interesting address making particular reference to the Bay of Quinte district and its excellent cheese famed in all parts of the world. Mr. Elliott urged the delegates to the Associated Boards of Trade to assist in spreading the name and fame of Belleville cheese about the province and particularly to ask for old cheese the excellence of which they had sampled during the banquet. It is safe to say that all who enjoyed the Belleville cheese served during the dinner will always have a good word to say for Belleville cheese.

Good Roads

Hon. F. C. Biggs, Provincial Minister of Public Works, replied to the toast, and spoke principally upon the good roads question, showing that good roads were not an expenditure but an investment. The Hon. Minster certainly made out a good case for his department and the plans pursued in the building of provincial highways and roads generally. Some peopel were concerned principally about the top of the roads but his department was beginning at the bottom and providing good foundation, adequate width and proper drainage. The top would be looked after later and the roads made permanent. The object of his department was to give the best possible service as quickly as possible and to provide maintenance from the inception.

Hon. Mr. Biggs referred to the Bay Bridge and the road from Belleville to Foxboro. Arrangements had been completed for making the Bay Bridge free, the county of Prince Edward had done its part and the necessary by-law signed and sealed, was in his office. He was just waiting for the City of Belleville by-law to complete the transaction. In the spring the road to Picton would be taken over as a provincial highway, also the road to Foxboro.

Our Guests

The toast to Our Guests was eloquently and wittily proposed by Col. W. N. Ponton, Past President of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, and always a live wire in Board of Trade work, local, provincial and Empire wide. Those who responded to the toast were Delegate Dunstan, of Toronto; Past President Toronto Board of Trade; Delegate Copley, of Hamilton; Delegate A. J. Young, of North Bay, Past President Ontario Associated Boards of Trade; Delegate Newman, of Picton; Delegate M. P. Byrnes, of Collingwood; Col. Brock, of Toronto, Past President Toronto Board of Trade; Col. McCullough, of Hamilton; Hon. Nelson Parliament; Wm. Taylor, Owen Sound, President of the Associated Boards of Trade. Every speaker paid high tribute to the entertainment extended the delegates, and voiced the general verdict that this is the best meeting yet of the Associated Boards.

Musical Program

Not the least interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was the musical program contributed by Belleville musicians. Those who took part included Mrs. Wilmot, Miss Anna Ponton, Prof. Hunt, John McIntosh, W. H. Wrightmeyer, and the Belleville quartette, Messrs. Burrows, Lavoie, Moorman and Monck.

On behalf of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, President Jamieson Bone made a few appropriate remarks and Major R. D. Ponton spoke on behalf of the Belleville City Council.

Delegate Allan, of Toronto, in a witty speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the genial chairman, Mr. R. J. Graham, and this was heartily endorsed by the gathering, after which with Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King the Gathering dispersed.

Acid Stomach Causes Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and many do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form —never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

"NG KA PY" BRINGS JOY TO CHINESE

San Francisco, Nov. 26.—"Ng Ka Py," sixty thousand quarts of it, declared too unpalatable an intoxicant for any white man, and admitted as a medicine for Chinese here by government order and China-town was resultantly happy today. The shipment had been held up for several weeks on suspicion, it violated the eighteenth amendment until an official ruling could be obtained from Washington.

"Cold Cure"

Ng Ka Py" is a cold cure medicine said to be popular among Chinese. It is credited with wonderful cures among them for ailments ranging from sore throats to the blues. The United States bureau of technology said it: "This preparation is an extract of Chinese herbs and roots, which we are of the opinion is of doubtful medicinal value but on account of the disagreeable taste and flavor is unfit for use as a beverage by a member of the white race.

"We are not prepared to state that this would be true of the Chinese."

BELLEVILLE CITY COUNCIL STRONG FOR PROTECTION

Belleville City Council, in declaring for the principle of protection of industries, made a wise move. Belleville business life depends largely upon the prosperity of its industries, and the dangerous campaign being waged against protection of industries, for political purposes, is a menace to the industrial life of Belleville and the entire nation. The Belleville City Council did not mince matters in its endorsement of the principle of protection of industries, the resolution unanimously adopted and forwarded to the Dominion Tariff Commission reading as follows:

> "Whereas the Council of the Municipality of Belleville is concerned for the maintenance of a healthy condition of industry here and elsewhere in Canada, and for the continued employment of industrial workers who with their dependents represent approximately one-third of the population of the city, and
> "Whereas present conditions the world over involve uncertainties and difficulties which so far as Canadian industries are concerned should not be aggravated by encouraging greater importations of goods abroad to compete with Canadian products,
> "Therefore, be it resolved that the Council declares its desire and hope that the policy of adequate protection for Canadian industries and for Canadian workers be observed as the guiding principle of the forthcoming revision of the customs tariff."

Industrial prosperity in Canada depends upon stability of conditions and a stable tariff enables manufacturers to conduct their business upon an efficient basis. Free trade agitation and foolish tariff tinkering undermines the confidence of manufacturers and hampers progress. The tariff should be entirely eliminated from politics and placed upon a stable basis where industry will not be constantly threatened. The present is the worst time imaginable for tariff tinkering, with Canada's industries undergoing readjustment looking toward expansion after the dislocation and changes occasioned by war conditions. American manufacturers will not establish branch factories in Canada if they think there is any chance of free trade succeeding here. They wouldn't have to—the doors would be open to their goods manufactured in the United States. In view of this every expression possible should be given, emphatic and unmistakable, to the only sane and business-like policy for Canada at the present time, protection of Canada's industries, and it is a matter for sincere congratulation that the Belleville City Council have taken the strong stand indicated in the resolution given above.

THE LUCKLESS DUCK AND THE HEN AGAIN

Said the little puddle duck to the little red hen, "I haven't sold an egg since I don't know when. Business for me is a losing game, but you seem prosperous just the same."

Said the little red hen to the little puddle duck: "Business isn't always a matter of luck. You work as hard and produce a line of eggs that are really as good as mine. Your merchandising methods you need to revise. If you want to be successful you must advertise. Don't wait for buyers to hunt for you, but tell your story the way I do. When you produce an egg you just waddle away, but I spread the news all the rest of the day, and that, I believe, is the reason men prefer my eggs," said the little red hen.—Exchange.

NOW PAYS BEST TO WORK IN COUNTRY.

(Paul Clay, in Forbes Magazine)

Why not look for riches in the rural districts? Throughout our entire history the youth of the land have been flocking to the cities in search of opportunity; but the question arises whether big opportunities cannot be found and developed on the land. Our cities have never produced as much wealth as the country has done; and it is probable that the time has already arrived when our people exclusive of the wealthiest 10 per cent., can earn more per capita in the country than in the city.

The gross wealth production of the United States in 1919 was about $54,000,000,000. This includes crops, animal products, manufacturing output, mineral production, timber and lumber output, and fishery production.

Of this $54,000,000,000 the cities last year produced about 23 billions, while the other 31 billions came from the ground.

One usually thinks of mining enterprises as though they contained endless possibilities of sudden wealth; and yet of that which came from the ground last year, only five billions consisted of mineral products, including gold, silver, petroleum, coal and all the rest, while 25 billions were agricultural products.

From 1914 to 1919 the wages of New York factory labor increased 88.3 per cent. It is estimated that average per capita incomes in the United States during the same period increased about 58 per cent. However, this wage average is accurate, being an actual compilation covering nearly 600,000 workers. But impossible as it may seem, the gross income of the typical farmer during the same period increased 151.5 per cent., as may be seen by dividing the total value of agricultural output by the numbers of persons engaged in the industry. Thus the farmer obtained a greater benefit from the war than any other class of people except the ultra rich.

One need not be a farmer in order to obtain the fullest share of rural prosperity. There are about 5,220,800 persons living in the rural districts who do not belong to farmers' families. The stores, shops and other business establishments in these districts get all the benefits of the prosperity and stability of agriculture, and indeed the trade of the farmer is the best and most constant trade in the world.

CRISP COMMENT

Drivers of delivery rigs feel grateful to those householders thoughtful enough to shovel a path through the snow from the sidewalk to the roadway. Others merely shovel up huge barrier banks of snow from the walks for delivery men to break through—not intentionally, of course.

Strange but true, and candor compels us to confess it—the worst walks in the city during and after the recent snow storm were the walks which the corporation is supposed to keep clear. Crossings in the business section were fearful, and in the residential section almost impassable in many places. The example set by the corporation is a very bad one as many householders apparently consider it the proper thing to let the snow pile up and the pedestrians break trails where they may.

Mr. Barry has written a wicked parody on Mrs. Asquith's autobiography, "Marge Askinforit" (Werner Laurie, 1s 6d.), which follows its great original very closely in places. "In my own circle I have always been known as Marge. The name is, I am informed, derived from the Latin margo, meaning the limit." And again in the chapter about the family: "I had not her beautiful, lustrous eyes, but neither had she my wonderful cheek. She had not my intelligence. Nor had she my priceless gift for uttering an unimportant personal opinion as if it were the final verdict of posterity with the black cap on."

TIME FOR OPTIMISM

Quebec Telegraph

Canada is emerging from the after war muddle with the sun of prosperity shining bright over her broad domain. Her barns are bursting with the foodstuffs for which the older countries hunger. Her gold and silver mines are pouring forth their riches. Her almost inexhaustible coal deposits are daily taking on new values. Her frozen north is seeping with oil that will feed the millions of autos for five hundred years to come. The inevitable unrest that follows a world conflict is settling. The speck of red that gives you anxious thought is merely a pimple on the body politic. Could you hear the thousands cheer at the patriotic pictures at the exhibition or watch the spectators at football games stand with bared heads while the band plays the National Anthem without realizing that the country is sound at heart? asks an exchange. Prices are coming down. Isn't that what you have been shouting for? Then why should the decline cause that troubled feeling? Canada is coming back to normal—coming fast—coming also to a greater period of prosperity. Then, in the language of a contemporary: "Hasten its coming by drowning your pessimism. Prove your patriotism by becoming an optimist."

POETS' CORNER

THE LOST TRAIL

Green woodland pity heals the ancient scar;
  Spring after spring, through all unresting years,
In little saplings and the tufted pine,
  The old trail disappears.

Forbidden vine and fern-brake come once more;
  Brown leaves have hid the secret deep and well;
Only the scattered blaze-marks, blurred and dim,
  A fading message tell.

One coming here might seek for it in vain;
  There is no sign above the guarded gate,
To point the path to where the still wood keeps
  Its heart inviolate.

The old path fades, forgotten; only guessed,
  And scarcely found and once more lost again
No record serves to show the long healed wound
  Of havoc and pain.

God send all trails forgetfulness as this!
  Such healing pity of the kindly years,
That no swift-footed memory may find
  Lost places of old tears!

—Arthur Ketchum.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AUTHOR OF
"TARZAN OF THE APES"
"SON OF TARZAN"

COPYRIGHT A. C. McCLURG & CO. 1918

Then Buto espied the lions and bore madly down upon them while Tarzan of the Apes leaped nimbly into the tangled creepers at one side of the trail. The first lion met Buto's charge and was tossed high over the back of the maddened brute, torn and dying, and then the six remaining lions were upon the rhinoceros, rending and tearing the while they were being gored or trampled. From the safety of his perch Tarzan watched the battle royal with the keenest interest. For a time it seemed that Buto, the rhinoceros, would prove victor in the gory battle. Already had he accounted for four of the seven lions and badly wounded the three remaining when, in a temporary lull in the encounter, he sank limply to his knees and rolled over upon his side. Tarzan's spear had pierced the great lungs, and Buto, with victory almost in sight, succumbed to internal hemorrhage.

Then Tarzan came down from his sanctuary and as the wounded lions, growling, dragged themselves away, the ape-man cut his spear from the body of Buto, hacked off a steak and vanished into the jungle. The episode was over. It had been all in the day's work—something which you and I might talk about for a lifetime Tarzan dismissed from his mind the moment that the scene passed from his sight.

Swinging back through the jungle in a wide circle the ape-man came to the river at another point, drank and took to the trees again and while he hunted, all oblivious of his past and careless of his future, there came through the dark jungles and the open, park-like places and across the wide meadows, where grazed the countless herbivora of the mysterious continent, a weird and terrible caravan in search of him. There were fifty frightful men with hairy bodies and gnarled and crooked legs. They were armed with knives and great bludgeons and at their head marched an almost naked woman, beautiful beyond compare. It was La of Opar, High Priestess of the Flaming God, and fifty of her horrid priests searching for the purloiner of the sacred sacrificial knife.

Never before had La passed beyond the crumbling outer walls of Opar; but never before had need been so insistent. The sacred knife was gone! Handed down through countless ages it had come to her as a heritage and an insignia of her religious office and regal authority from some long-dead progenitor of lost and forgotten Atlantis. When that continent, with all its mighty cities and its cultivated fields and great commerce and culture and riches sank into the sea long ages since, it took with it all but a handful of colonists working the vast gold mines of central Africa. From these and their degraded slaves and a later intermixture of the blood of the anthropoids sprung the gnarled men of Opar; but by some queer freak of fate, aided by natural selection, the old Atlantean strain had remained pure and undegraded in the females descended from a single princess of the royal house of Atlantis who had been in Opar at the time of the great catastrophe. Such was La.

Burning with white-hot anger was the high priestess, her heart a seething, molten mass of hatred for Tarzan of the Apes. The zeal of the religious fanatic whose altar has been desecrated was triply enhanced by the rage of a woman scorned. Twice had she thrown her heart at the feet of the godlike ape-man and twice had she been repulsed. Before Tarzan came that first time to Opar, La had never seen a human male other than the grotesque and knotted men of her clan. With one of these she must mate sooner or later that the direct line of high priestesses might not be broken, unless fate should bring other men to Opar.

Among the legends of Opar were tales of godlike men of the olden time and of black men who had come more recently; but these latter had been enemies who killed and robbed. And, too, these legends always held forth the hope that some day that nameless continent from which their race had sprung would rise once more out of the sea and with slaves at the long sweeps would send her carven, gold-packed galleys forth to succor the long-exiled colonists.

The coming of Tarzan had aroused within La's breast the wild hope that at last the fulfillment of this ancient prophecy was at hand; but more strongly still had it aroused the hot fires of love in a heart that never otherwise would have known the meaning of that all-consuming passion, for such a wondrous creature as La could never have felt love for any of the repulsive priests of Opar. Custom, duty and religious zeal might have commanded the union; but there could have been no love on La's part. She had grown to young womanhood a cold and heartless creature, daughter of a thousand other cold, heartless, beautiful women who had never known love. And so when love came to her it liberated all the pent passions of a thousand generations, transforming La into a pulsing, throbbing volcano of desire, and with desire thwarted this great force of love and gentleness and sacrifice was transmuted by its own fires into one of hatred and revenge.

It was in a state of mind superinduced by these conditions that La led forth her jabbering company to retrieve the sacred emblem of her high office and wreak vengeance upon the author of her wrongs. He should be tortured. His should be a slow and frightful death. His punishment should be adequate to the immensity of his crime. He had wrested the sacred knife from La; he had lain sacrilegious hands upon the High Priestess of the Flaming God; he had desecrated the altar and the temple. For these things he should die; but he had scorned the love of La, the woman, and for this he should die horribly with great anguish.

The march of La and her priests was not without its adventures. Unused were these to the ways of the jungle, since seldom did any venture forth from behind Opar's crumbling walls, yet their very numbers protected them and so they came without fatalities far along the trail of Tarzan and Werper. Three great apes accompanied them and to these was delegated the business of tracking the quarry, a feat beyond the senses of the Oparians. La commanded. She was a hard taskmaster, too, for she looked down with loathing and contempt upon the misshapen creatures amongst which cruel fate had thrown her and to some extent vented upon them her dissatisfaction and her thwarted love. She made them build her a strong protection and shelter each night and keep a great fire burning before it from dusk to dawn. When she tired of walking they were forced to carry her upon an improvised litter, nor did one dare to question her authority or her right to such services.

For many days they marched, the apes following the trail easily and going a little distance ahead of the body of the caravan that they might warn the others of impending danger. It was during a noonday halt while all were lying resting after a tiresome march that one of the apes rose suddenly and sniffed the breeze. In a low guttural he cautioned the others to silence and a moment later was swinging quietly up wind into the jungle. La and the priests gathered silently together, the hideous little men fingering their knives and bludgeons, and awaited the return of the shaggy anthropoid.

Nor had they long to wait before they saw him emerge from a leafy thicket and approach them. Straight to La he came and in the language of the great apes, which was also the language of decadent Opar, he addressed her.

"The great Tarmangani lies asleep there," he said, pointing in the direction from which he had just come "Come and we can kill him."

"Do not kill him," commanded La in cold tones. "Bring the great Tarmangani to me alive and unhurt. The vengeance is La's. Go; but make no sound!" and she waved her hands to include all her followers.

Cautiously the weird party crept through the jungle in the wake of the great ape until at last he halted them with a raised hand and pointed upward a little ahead. There they saw the giant form of the ape-man stretched along a low bough and even in sleep one hand grasped a stout limb and one strong, brown leg reached out and overlapped another. At ease lay Tarzan of the Apes, sleeping heavily upon a full stomach and dreaming of Numa, the lion, and Horta, the boar, and other creatures of the jungle. No intimation of danger assailed the dormant faculties of the ape-man—he saw no crouching hairy figures upon the ground beneath him nor the three apes that swung quietly into the tree beside him.

The first intimation of danger that came to Tarzan was the impact of three bodies as the three apes leaped upon him and hurled him to the ground, where he alighted half stunned beneath their combined weight, and was immediately set upon by the fifty hairy men or as many of them as could swarm upon his person. Instantly the ape-man became the center of a whirling, striking, biting maelstrom of horror. He fought nobly, but the odds against him were too great. Slowly they overcame him, though there was scarce one of them did not feel the weight of his mighty fist or the rending of his fangs.

CHAPTER X.

Condemned to Torture and Death.

La had followed her company and when she saw them clawing and biting at Tarzan she raised her voice and cautioned them not to kill him. She saw that he was weakening and that soon the greater numbers would prevail over him, nor had she long to wait before the mighty jungle creature lay helpless and bound at her feet.

"Bring him to the place at which we stopped," she commanded, and they carried Tarzan back to the little clearing and threw him down beneath a tree.

GIRLS SOUGHT ADVENTURE

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Two Toronto girls, with their locks closely shorn and garbed in men's attire, set out to seek their fortunes in the world. Just about six o'clock they reached the village of Streetsville, 20 miles

The girls carried with them cooking utensils, but no food; they had brought a blanket roll, but, in the mixed sleet and snow falling they had not found the woods of Peel county feathery places to sleep. The stuff that the movies showed about the great out door was all junk, they told Constable Rutledge, who picked them up.

The girls—one was 17 and the other 19—had $4.50 between them. The constable found them a lodging place. Too tired to eat, they slumped into bed. This morning they paid their bill, $4 and then their host of the night provided them with tickets back to Toronto and to dad.

WEATHERLY'S SONGS.

He Has Written Hundreds of Ballads for Composers.

"The words, the words, the words!" This is, and long has been, the cry of the song composer in search of words that are really and truly "settable." It is once in a century, perhaps, that one comes across such an effective wedding of words and music as in the case of Gilbert and Sullivan. If true poets do not grow on every bush, your song-poet is a still rarer growth. Atmosphere, as well as harmony, is demanded, plus the almost indefinable "singing" sense.

As a direct consequence of this rarity, it was for many years difficult to come across a ballad of the drawing-room type that did not bear the name of either Frederic E. Weatherly or Clifton Bingham as writer of the words. Both have inspired the musical effort of half the song-composers of yester-year, and Mr. Weatherly's output can only be characterized as prodigious. At the age of three score years and ten he is still represented by such popular efforts as "Last Year, Sweetheart" and "This Song of Ours" (composed by Hermann Lohr) and "Our Little Home" (composed by Eric Coates). But in the past! His words were set by such composers as the late Mr. Michael Maybrick ("Stephen Adams"), Ciro Pinsuti, and several distinguished women.

Just listen to some of the old, old titles, all of their poetry from Mr. Weatherly's versatile pen. "Nancy Lee," "The Midshipmite," "The Old Brigade," "Darby and Joan," "The Holy City," "Bethlehem," "The Last Watch," "Jack's Yarn," "The Children's Home," "Douglas Gordon," "Beauty's Eyes," "In Sweet September," "The Old Maids of Lee," "Bid Me Good-bye," "To-morrow Will Be Friday," "Mifanwy," "Auntie"! Mr. Weatherly, who is a Somerset man, used to be a coach at Oxford. In addition to his many songs, he has written several books for children, and "Oxford Days," as well as "Questions in Logic."

Welsh Literary Outlook.

An article in the Welsh Outlook, by Mr. T. Gwynn Jones, M.A., deals with the literary outlook in Wales.

"Amongst many other things, war was to have regenerated poetry — by killing off the poets, no doubt," he says. "The poets have been killed, but the profiteers don't seem to be able to produce poetry. There may be, in the dominating territories, a literary activity of a kind. It is hardly constructive yet; still books are published, and something may result. In the submerged territories, the outlook is much more serious.

"Many of the most promising young writers are dead; many more are 'fed up' with human futility, bereft of all motive idealism. The cost of printing is prohibitive, so the publication of Welsh books has practically ceased. We are face to face with a transition period, during which a language which has been a literary instrument for a thousand years may cease to be so."

Want New Statues.

More modern kings and queens in the statuary line are now in demand for decorations of London squares and streets, especially people known to the present generation. Therefore the Office of Works has decided that various statues of kings of bygone days must be removed to give place to new.

King George III will leave his pedestal at the entrance to Pall Mall and King William IV. will be deposed from his wonted throne in the city. Lord Napier leaves Waterloo Place and probably will be succeeded by King Edward VIII. Lord Napier goes to Trafalgar Square. Sir Rowland Hill will be removed from behind the Royal Exchange.

New statues of heroes of this war to be erected are those of Lords Roberts and Kitchener, somewhere near the War Office and the Horse Guards Parade, and Lord Fisher near the Admiralty.

Danger Ahead.

The parents of little Cuthbert were struggling to induce the youngster to repeat the letter "A." Cuthbert steadfastly refused to pronounce the first letter of the alphabet, and, after many vain efforts, the father retired from the task discouraged. Mother, however, continued, and took the little one on her lap and pleaded with him very earnestly. "Cuthbert, why won't you learn to say 'A'?" she asked. "Because, mother," explained Cuthbert, "just after I say 'A,' daddy will want me to say 'B'."

Easily Explained.

Miss W.: "Mrs. B. is to read a paper before our club this afternoon on 'Transcendentalism.' Tell me something about it. What does it mean?" Miss C.: "What is the word?" "Transcendentalism." Miss C.: "Say it again, please. What is the last part of it?" Miss W.: "Transcendentalism—Dentalism." Miss C., triumphantly: "Dentalism? It has something to do with teeth, of course!"

No Alteration.

Little Molly was crying bitterly. "What's the matter, dear?" asked her mother. "Boo hoo! My new shoes hurt me!" sniffed the child, rubbing her eyes. "Well, no wonder! You've got them on the wrong feet!" But Molly wept and would not be comforted. "I haven't any other feet," she sobbed.

Did His Best.

"It is the duty of everyone to make at least one person happy during the week," said the Sunday school teacher. "Now, have you done so, Johnny?"

"Yes," said Johnny promptly.

"That's right. What did you do?"

"I went to see my aunt, and I made her happy when I went home."

The Successor.

Knicker: "The old-fashioned parlor was kept for state occasions."

Bocker: "So is the new fashioned cellar."

WONDERFUL DRILLS.

Remarkable Athletic Spectacle Seen In Prague.

A grand performance of the United Sokols of All Czecho-Slovakia, writes the London Times correspondent from Prague, was held on the Congress ground in the presence of the President of the Republic, Ministers, foreign delegations and altogether about 100,000 people, and elicited unanimous admiration. The foreign visitors especially, who for the first time saw the unique spectacle of 12,000 men succeeded by 12,000 handsome, athletic young women perform a series of aesthetic drills with harmony and perfect rhythm, were filled with enthusiasm. "This alone was worth the journey of coming from London," said one member of the City Corporation.

The Congress ground occupies a large part of the summit of one of the hills overlooking Prague. It is laid out with a vast square in the centre about a quarter of a mile each way, and its four sides are closed by public stands capable of accommodating some 100,000 people. The construction of the stands and sheds took months, and before they were half finished the workmen struck for more pay. The Sokols were at the limit of their means and simply got to work themselves to finish the grand stands. This shows the pluck and decision guiding them.

Sharply at three o'clock the President entered, taking his place in the grand stand, and almost immediately the imposing defile began. In ranks thirty-two deep, 6,000 men started from one side of the ground and 6,000 from the opposite side, marking time to the sound of the music played by a band of 150 musicians. They marched into the centre arena and divided into files of sixteen, and subdivided again into lines with faultless precision. This drew forth applause that echoed from tribune to tribune. A trumpet note marked each new movement.

With marvellous skill the march ended by the men standing distributed with mathematical precision in a line that covered the entire square, 640 in each direction, and the first series of figures in standing position with flexible movements of arms and hands followed to the musical accompaniment of the band. The second and third series followed in rhythmic steps, and in whichever direction and at whatever angle one looked there was a symmetrical line of kaleidoscopic movements and figures that dazzled by their brilliance, rapidity and splendor.

Suddenly it would arrest itself, the band would strike up a new theme, the trumpet ring out, and another figure follow, watched by the vast throng with breathless attention. For three-quarters of an hour the men, whose arms and shoulders were bare, gave a vivid impression of health and vigor, continued their evolutions, and then closed their ranks, composing their columns deeper and denser at each sound of the trumpet, and marched out as they had entered, amid great applause.

After a sort of interlude by the French athletes the trumpet again sounded, and from their side of the arena 12,000 young women, dressed in short dark skirts, white blouses and red caps, entered to the music of the band. Their arms and shoulders were bare. The beauty of their performance was such that it really drew tears from many eyes. They divided and began their march in different figures from the men.

"Would they get nervous, would they fail in some of their rhythms?" was the question anxiously asked. But behold their movements were perhaps more sure, their rhythm was more precise, their figures were more perfect than the men's and they were cheered with even greater enthusiasm.

Their drill was entirely different to that of the men. The movements of their heads, shoulders, arms and hands now and then followed exactly the thrills and flourishes of the music, followed by pretty steps like the first movement of a dance. They had come from the towns and villages in every part of the republic. Their training had taken months, even years. They marched lithely and perfectly as they entered, applauded by the hundred thousand admiring spectators. Words can give but a poor picture of the Sokols of Prague.

Wit of the Huns.

German sarcastic wit after she had invaded Belgium in 1914 was brought to light recently when Belgian commissioners working in Germany discovered among other papers the following heavy black-bordered circular letter:

DEATH NOTICE.

The undersigned gang of thieves, known as the Triple Entente, hereby announce the death of their foster sister Belgium, who has been wiped off the map, after very little suffering, by means of 42-centimetre guns and naval batteries, after the fall of Antwerp.

The mortal remains will be consigned to eternal rest by the allied brethren, Germany and Austria.

(Signed) The Mourners, Russia,
Britain and France.

Europe, October, 1914.

(Pray for the repose of her soul!)

(The floral mementoes will be sold for benefit of Japan.)

Chinese Pottery.

In the village of Fengghi, China, the sole industry is the making of earthen and china ware, in which more than 2,000 workers are employed. All the work is done by the piece, the wages of workmen ranging between 36 and 72 cents a day. Women helpers receive considerably less.

One of the Few Things.

A woman went into a New York drug store the other day and said she would like to buy a washboiler.

That may sound strange, but the strangest, the almost unbelievable part of it is that the druggist replied:

"I am very sorry, madam, but I do not keep washboilers."

A BEAR HUNT

In a lively chase lasting a day and a half, Messrs. Roy and E. Sears of Bird's Creek, shot and killed four bears one day last week. Farmers in that vicinity have been missing sheep of late and in the extermination of this family they believe the mystery has been solved. Bears are plentiful in the north this fall. Several hunting parties had the luck of bagging one or two.

SIDE LIGHTS

The Northern Ontario delegates, led by A. J. Young, John Ferguson, C. T. Young, of North Bay, Larry O'Connor of Sudbury, and J. J. Smith, of Cochrane, are among the live wires at the convention and ever busy spreading the glad tidings of good things which northern Ontario contains and the need of development. A highway from North Bay to Cochrane and extension of the T. & N. O. Railway to Hudson Bay are among the projects advocated by the men of the northland.

Friday morning the delegates were taken to the Ontario School for the Deaf, where they inspected with great interest this novel and noted institution, presided over by Dr. Coughlin, who with his staff showed the visitors every courtesy.

"Jimmie is sure some boy," said President Taylor, referring to President Jamieson Bone, of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, and this sentiment seemed to be shared by all the delegates.

Mayor Riggs extended the freedom of the city to the delegates and every courtesy possible. The mayor was an interested guest at the banquet.

John Ferguson, Mayor of North Bay, who has always taken a deep interest in the Associated Boards of Trade, having been President of the North Bay Board of Trade for a number of years and a booster of the first water, is among the most active of the delegates, and North Bay and the north generally is known better by all the delegates in consequence of his presence and enthusiasm. Mr. Ferguson and the other delegates from the north hope to secure the convention for their district at some future occasion.

President Taylor, of Owen Sound, has an expansive smile which begins at the dimple in his chin and spreads and spreads, from pit to dome, and let it be said that the Taylor dome has some substance as well as a very pronounced halo which he wears with becoming dignity. As a presiding officer he has no superiors and few equals and has adorned the office of president with fitting dignity, resourcefulness and ability.

This season's offering as usual is sponsored by Gus Hill who has given the comedy his personal attention and care. There is a large cast which includes a competent company and a beauty chorus of dashing and stunning young misses who sing and dance with becoming grace and dignity. The funny pair will be seen in a brand new play, "Mutt and Jeff at the Races". The plot revolves around the many and various experiences which these two inimitable comedians encounter while travelling in different climes and under skies of many hues. Twenty jingly, catchy and original numbers contributed by Edward Hutchison and Richard F. Carroll keeps the action going. The book is by Nat Leroy. If you want to place yourself into the very throes, of wholesome cacchination mingle yourself with the funniest twain on earth—Mutt and Jeff.

The seat sale opens Monday.

FRANK KEENAN OFFERS CORKING DRAMA

There's corking good drama at Griffin's in Frank Keenan's new picture, "Dollar for Dollar." Mr. Keenan is again the polished figure of society and the relentless man of business, but when he saw a woman practising the crime of blackmail to right a wrong he was responsible for, it touched a responsive chord.

"Dollar for Dollar" holds the interest from the start. The acting is of an unusually high order, Kathleen Kirkham being particularly splendid as the fair blackmailer. Jay Belasco, Kate Van Buren, Harry Van Meter, Larry Steers and Harry Kendal complete the cast. This picture will remain on the bill at Griffin's till Saturday night. Charlie Chaplain in a funny 2-reel comedy "The Floorwalker," Vode-Vil-Movie's showing seven high-class vaudeville acts performing before the camera, Ruth Roland in "The Adventures of Ruth" serial, and a beautiful and interesting Travelogue of views in color in Western Canada precedes the feature offering and proved most entertaining.

IS GLAD TANLAC CAME HIS WAY, SAYS VINET

Declares It Has Put Him Back In The Best Of Health And He Wants To Pass The Good Word Along To Others.

"There's something about Tanlac that certainly does the work, and today I'm in better general health than I've been in five years," said Louis Vinet, 1169 Cartier street, Montreal, manager of the Papineau branch of the William Davis chain of stores.

"I never again want to be in the fix I was in before I got hold of Tanlac," declared Mr. Vinet. "My stomach was in an awful condition and my appetite was down to nearly nothing, and often just the sight of food nauseated me. Gas would form on my stomach and close in around my heart, and at times my breath seemed to be shut off entirely. I was so nervous that sometimes it was several hours before I could get to sleep at all. I was badly constipated and was continually taking something for that as well as for my other troubles.

"Tanlac has put me back in such fine health I can't tell I was ever bothered in any way in my life. My stomach is in the finest kind of shape and I can eat anything I ever could and never have a sign of trouble afterwards. I am not constipated now and my nerves are so steady I get good, sound sleep every night. My whole system has been built up and I'm glad to tell what Tanlac has done for me and pass the good word on to others."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's Drug Store and at the leading druggists in every town.

Freight Struck Passenger Coaches

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer,

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Three people were killed and several injured when a westbound freight train crashed into the sides of derailed cars of Grand Trunk passenger train No. 16, bound from Toronto to Montreal about midnight last night just at the eastern limits of York yard. One of the killed was Nathaniel Brown, Pullman car porter, of Montreal.

Passenger train No. 16, the Grand Trunk's fast Toronto-Montreal express, pulled out of the Union Station at 11 o'clock last night. Most of her passengers were bound for Montreal. Just east of York station the baggage car was derailed as a result, it is believed, of a split rail. This pulled three day coaches and three of the seven Pullmans off the rails also. In almost an instant a westbound freight pounded down the adjoining track. The engineer of the freight locomotive made frantic efforts to apply his brakes, but without success, the big engine plowing into the wreck, which had been thrown over to the westbound track.

A passenger whose name is thought to be Sullivan was killed.

Closing Session of the Associated Boards of Trade

SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF ONTARIO ASSOCIATED BOARDS OF TRADE AND CHMBERS OF COMMERCE, HELD IN BELLEVILLE, WAS GREAT SUCCESS—CREDITED WITH BEING BEST IN HISTORY OF ASSOCIATION—DELEGATES PLEASED WITH BELLEVILLE AS MEETING PLACE.

With interest sustained until the last moment and a general desire manifested by the delegates to make the best use of the time at their disposal in promoting useful legislation, the Seventh Annual Meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, held in the City Hall, Belleville, came to a close Friday afternoon.

The meeting is credited with being the best in the history of the Association and the delegates expressed themselves as pleased beyond measure with Belleville as a meeting place, and paid many warm tributes to the hospitality extended by the citizens and civic organizations. The meeting was marked by the intense interest shown in the business before the Association by the delegates and the keen and snappy debates. It was decided to hold the next meeting in Brantford, and the President for this year will be Mr. John Elliott, of Belleville, a choice which pleased everybody.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Luxury Tax

Mr. C. M. Reid of Belleville stated that he desired to withdraw a resolution proposed by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce relative to the new luxury tax. The speaker stated that there was every prospect that a revision of the tax would be made.

The privilege to withdraw the resolution was granted.

Mr. Allan of Toronto moved the adoption of the following resolution from the Toronto Board of Trade:

Resolved that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce respectfully urge the Ontario Government to consider the far-reaching value of a Museum of Natural Products of the Province so arranged as to show such products in their natural and finished states, with full information as to their extent and location, available power, etc., transportation facilities, the various uses to which they may be put, and such other facts as will be of value to investors, manufacturers and other interested parties, this Association firmly believing that such a Museum will be of material assistance in the development of the Province.

Mr. Dunstan of Toronto, seconded the resolution.

Col. Ponton spoke to the resolution endorsing it.

The resolution was adopted.

Improving Trade

Mr. McCullough, of Hamilton, introduced a resolution from the Hamilton Board of Trade relative to improving trade relations with West India.

The resolution was forcibly presented by the mover and ably supported by Mr. Ilsey.

Mr. Haddie, of Hamilton, stated that there is a desire with the West Indies to trade with Canada.

Col Ponton and Mr. R. J. Graham of Belleville spoke in support of the resolution.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Geo. H. Smith of Cochrane introduged the following resolution from the Iroquois Falls Board of Trade:

Whereas under the Provincial Highway Scheme $22,000,000 is being spent 40 per cent. of which is paid by the Dominion of Canada, 40 per cent. by the Province of Ontario and the balance by the different counties through which the different permanent Highways are being constructed;

And Whereas the ultimate object of the Federal Government is to create a highway from coast to coast and the best and most natural route through Greater Ontario is via North Bay to Cochrane and thence West to Winnipeg, through to the Greater Clay Belt;

And Whereas the proposed Highway would make accessible to the travelling public the greater natural resources in lumbering, pulp, mining and agriculture and result in the investment of greatly increased capital in the development of the natural resources of this district;

And Whereas the proposed Highway is a long felt want, especially in the Agricultural districts as a connecting link between the different Colonization roads, resulting in increased and more congested settlements solving to a great extent the educational question of the rural districts and giving opportunity for increased social advantage;

And Whereas the districts through which the proposed Highway would pass have not as yet been organized with County standing, this Association would respectfully suggest that the financial burden usually assumed by the Counties be assumed by the Province of Ontario and paid from part of the revenue usually received from Northern Ontario;

Therefor be it Resolved by the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce that copies of the resolution approved by this Association be forwarded to the Honorable E. C. Drury, Premier, and to the Honorable Members of the Cabinet asking that the proposed Highway be included in the General Provincial Highway Scheme and constructed along the lines laid down and as near as possible to the proposed route as per the plan submitted.

Mr. Ferguson, Mayor of North Bay seconded the resolution, and asked the support of the Association in this matter.

The resolution was adopted.

Municipal Government

Mr. Cooper of St. Thomas introduced the following resolution from the St. Thomas Board of Trade:

Whereas in view of the fact that a number of the Cities in the Western Provinces, also in the Maritime Provinces in this Dominion, having worked out a system of Municipal Government which is apparently giving every satisfaction;

And Whereas in view of the fact that some Cities are under a Commission form of Government and some are being managed by a City Manager;

And Whereas we believe that a better system of Municipal Government can be arrived at, than is at present in effect;

Be it Therefor Resolved the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce recommend to the Provincial Legislature that they provide for an optional system of Municipal Government for Cities and Towns in this Province, viz., to consist of a Council with its present legislative authority, or a City Manager, or a Board consisting of the Mayor and such of the permanent officials as the council shall appoint to administer the affairs of the Municipality; or a Commission form of Government to be elected by the people of the Municipality as a whole.

The mover of the resolution said the object of the resolutions was if possible to obtain relief from the obsolete mode of election in the smaller cities of Ontario. Many cities in the United States that are run under the city management plan. We are behind the times in regard to civic management. The commission form of government, the speaker contended, was the best.

Ald. Bone seconded the resolution and stated that Belleville council were unanimous in the city management plan.

Mr. A. F. Kent of Hamilton spoke somewhat adversely against the resolution. The trouble, if any exists with the electors who do not take the interest they should at nomination day, when candidates are proposed for municipal honors.

The resolution was carried.

Mr. Haddie of Hamilton, introduced a resolution relative to a bounty being given on manufactured iron.

The mover of the resolution stated that if a bounty was given that it would mean much for industries who are engaged in iron and steel products.

Mr. McCullough of Hamilton seconded the resolution which was adopted.

Mr. G. C. Martin of Hamilton introduced a resolution relative to parties who were foreigners coming into Canada and addressing meetings that they be compelled to produce naturalization papers or be deported.

The resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

Mr. A. J. Young of North Bay moved, seconded by Mr. J. G. Elliott of Kingston, that the thanks of the Association be tendered to the City Council of Belleville for the use of the city building in which to hold the meeting also for the hospitality extended the delegates.

Mr. J. D. Allan of Toronto moved, seconded by Mr. G. C. Coppley of Hamilton, that the thanks of the Association be tendered to the citizens for the reception given the delegates also to the ladies who assisted in the entertaining of the members of the Association.

Mr. G. F. McKinnon of Smiths Falls moved, seconded by Mr. M. J. Burns, that the thanks of the Association be tendered the press for the fair and impartial reports made of the meeting.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted. The convention was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

New Ontario As New Province

Representatives Come Out Strong for Secession from Ontario.

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 26.—The breaking away from old Ontario of the four western constituencies of Kenora, Rainy River, Port Arthur and Fort William ridings and the formation into a new province were urged by Frank H. Keefer, federal member in the House of Commons for Port Arthur and Kenora riding, at the convention of the League of Municipalities in Fort William.

Mr. Keefer gave as his outstanding reasons "the inefficiency and needless expense of long-distance government," and the need of a stronger link between Western and Eastern Canada.

"Canada is like a giant whose well-developed head and feet have great strength but whose backbone is weak," Mr. Keefer said. "Unless the backbone is filled out and strengthened the body might break into two parts." Likewise the manufacturing East and the productive West might become estranged if Northwest Ontario does not becoming a strong connecting link.

"How would the people of Toronto and vicinity like being obliged to travel to St. John, N.B., or to Quebec City for the simple business of transacting municipal affairs. Delegates from these ridings must travel 1,000 miles to get a hearing with the Government. It is costing the municipalities here large sums of money which had better be spent in developing and opening up the district."

Mr. Keefer said he did not wish to cast reflections on the existing Government, but pointed out that people in Eastern Ontario had no intimate knowledge of the needs of this portion of the province and were unable to deal effectually with relative questions.

The proposed new province would be bounded on the west by the Manitoba line, on the south by Minnesota and Lake Superior, on the East by the White River, and on the North by Hudson Bay.

The area of this district, including the district of Patricia, would be seventy-two million acres. This area would be more than double or treble some of the older provinces: Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Manitoba. The suggested name for the new province would be "Superior," and the capital would be the natural centre of the district, the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William.

Money enough to carry on the affairs of the new province and to open up and develop the district, Mr. Keefer pointed out, would be amply covered by revenues from Crown lands, minerals, fisheries, timber dues, succession duties, license fees, fines and the per capita grant from the Federal Government of eighty cents. The population of the proposed new province is well over 100,000 people.

Hon. H. Hogarth, M.P.P., of Port Arthur, is also in favor of the separation. He said:

"I am one hundred per cent. for the principle underlying the eventual self-government of Northwest Ontario. We are not making progress under the existing system. Neither can joining with Manitoba to be the back door of that province, get us anywhere. Therefore, the logical procedure is to press for self-government by the people who have an intimate knowledge of the districts and its possibilities."

British Flag Causes Riot In NewYork City

Police and Civilians Engage in a Regular Battle Royal

New York, Nov. 26- Sinn Fein sympathizers, leaving St. Patrick's Cathedral, where a memorial service was held attacked the Union Club, on the opposite side of fifth avenue, where a British flag was flying with the American and French emblems. Several windows of the club were shassered by stones. A number of persons were injured in a battle with police reserves.

The usual Thanksgiving crowds were strolling along Fifth avenue when a shout arose from a group which had just left the cathedral. Members of this group began gesticulating and pointing toward the Union Club, from which a British flag was flying. Suddenly a stone sailed through the air and crashed through a big plate glass window on the ground floor. The group shouted its approval and more stones begad to fly. Soon every window on the ground floor was broken.

Other Sinn Fein sympathizers, coming from the cathedral, joined those in the street until there were more than a hundred. As they were gan to surge across the street toward the club building, however a squad of policemen dashed in front of them and turned them back.

Meentime, spectators began gathering until more than 2,000 were packed in the avenues completely blocking traffic. The police were reinforced and drew a cordon in front of the club. A group of Sinn Fein sympathizers started a flank movement around the corner of the cathedral. Policemen headed them off and soon a battle royal was under way, involving about a hundred civilians and half as many policemen.

Fists flew and clubs rose and fell. Several civilians were knocked unconcious and were carried away by their friends. Several staggered away by themselves, holding hands to bloody heads.

The police were victorious and again the crowd was thrown back beyond the dead line. There the Sinn Fein sympathizers and onlookers were still massed more than an hour after the trouble began. Ocassionally a stone would be flung and when one of these missiles would find its mark the accompanying crash of broken glass would be acclaimed by a shout approval. The police made no effort to disperse the crowds at this time, contenting themselves with keeping them back from the club.

None of the members of the club could be seen. They kept well back from the windows.

About a score of Sinn Fein flags were in evidence in the crowd, one of them being carried by a group of men in United States army uniform.

Rome, Nov. 27.—Pope Benedict has received a protest couched in strong terms from the Irish Episcopacy, headed by Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, against the ferocious and bloody attacks of British police and troops on defenceless citizens, which are making victims of many of the innocents. The Pontiff discussed the communication at length with Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, who is to have an interview on the subject with the British Minister to the Vatican.

National Spirit of Canadianism

Development of a strong Canadian national spirit was urged in a scholarly, instructive and interesting address by Col. Charles R. McCullough, of Hamilton, before the Women's Canadian Club, of Belleville, Friday evening. Col. McCullough is the founder of Canadian Clubs and Honorary President of the Association of Canadian Clubs. He is also a Belleville Old Boy, having spent his boyhood days here and his many friends gave him a cordial welcome. The attendance was good at the meeting and the subject chosen by Col. McCullough for his address, "The Newer Canadianism", was of exceptional interest.
Mrs. S. D. Lazier presided very capably and the meeting was a decided sucess.

"The Newer Canadianism" as seen by Col. McCullough, is the development of a strong spirit of nationality among Canadians for Canada is r gation among the nations of the world and the strong spirit of individuality so emphasized in the war should be developed, and, inspired by high ideals Canada should march onward and upward to that high position among the nations of the world which is her right and due. It was an age of propaganda and this should be watched in the upbuilding of thisnation. There was an invasion from the United States, an idvasion from the newspapers, magazines and books with a harmful tendancy which should be curbed. Then there was the Red propaganda with its pernicious literature and advocates which should not be allowed to find rot in Canadian soil. There was the invasion of ud clean plays and pictures which should not be tolerated.

Steps should be taken by organizations like the Canadian club and Daughters of the empire to show theatrical managers that a higher type of productions was in the bestinterest of Canada and nothing else would be patronized.

Canadian Clubs have a wide field of usefulness and should not confine themselves to providing oratory, they should have the singers and the songs of the nation, the writers of the songs and stories of Canadianism, and leaders in all progressive and useful national movements.

Col. McCullough graphically sketched the high lights in the history of the Empire relating to Canada, Codfederation, its difficulties of accomplishment and benefits, the development and growth of national spirit of Canadians from Colonial days, with reference to Canada's glorious record in the war.

REPEAL OF DIVORCE LAWS

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 27.—Repeal of the "present unfair divorce laws" is the aim of Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., she recently told a meeting of Widows, Wives and Mothers of Great Britain's Hero Association. "Since we have equality in the franchise for both sexes, let us have the same equality in the divorce court," she said. "There has been too much man-made legislation and not enough laws made by women for women."

Many Miles Of Paved Roads

Saskatoon Moves to Connect City and Country With Paved Roads

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 27.—An ambitious scheme to provide the province of Saskatchewan with 1,067 miles of paved roads suitable for automobile traffic, has been evolved by City Commissioner C. J. Yorath, of Saskatoon.

Commissioner Yorath suggests that a plan be decided upon to connect up the more thickly populated centres the carrying out of which be extended over a period of years.

The total estimated cost of constructng the suggested roads in a some-what similar manner to the paved roads in California, with slight variations to suit climatic conditions, is $24,000,000, provided the roads are constructed as near as possible to railways and the work is so organised that it can be carried on continuously and as rapidly as possible. "It may take a few years to complete such an ambitious program, but when completed it would be of inestimable value to the province," said Mr. Yorath.

In the main, the commissioner's scheme is to construct a fifteen foot paved strip on all the main roads in the province, the cost of which is to be recovered in the course of from ten to twenty years by a system of tolls similiar to that which is in effect in a number of the States.

"It is impossible," he said, "in so short a time to go fully into detail as to construction, method of finance, and apportionment of cost of such a scheme, but it would seem that if main arterial roads are to be provided suitable for up-to-date automobile traffic in all kinds of weather that the recognized principles of road-making must be adopted and a comprehensive scheme planned out which will eventually provide in the province of Saskatchewan a system of roads, second to none in the Dominion of Canada.

"As a new country we have to deal more particularly with the construction rather than reconstruction but at the same time we must take into consideration the results which have been obtained by experience in the older countries."

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

How Much Education for a Boy Who Plans a Business Career?

At a recent meeting of the Empire Club, Sir Edmund Walker presented the thanks of the Club to Sir Arthur Currie, of McGill, who had addressed the Club. Mr. Walker said that twenty-five years ago there were scarcely any college trained men holding high positions in busness; to-day, he said, there is probably no important business in which college men are not among its leaders.

Twenty years ago Andrew Carnegie said that the college man "has not the slightest chance, entering business at twenty, against the boy who swept the office or who began as shipping clerk at fourteen." These words have been quoted to thousands of boys. But Mr. Carnegie lived to learn of his mistake, as is shown by his recent declaration that "the business men of America have at last come to realize that a college education has a commercial value." He has given more for the cause of higher education than any other man, save one, in the world.

One of the managers of a great insurance company has written—"A boy can learn to measure tape or retail groceries without a college education, but for the management of men and the control of large enterprizes the more complete and thorough his training the more likely he is to be successful."

What do C.S.E.T. boys of Canada think of these facts?

November is "Stick-to-School Month for Tuxis boys and Trail Rangers." Stick it out, boys; if you have left school, go back, or get in some extra study by correspondence or evening courses.

Music and Drama

(What the Press Agents Say)

Those old favorites of the comic section of the daily papers, Mutt and Jeff, are scheduled to appear at Griffin's this Tuesday night, November 30th, for one night only.

This season Gus Hill has furnished the funny pair with a brand new play, "Mutt and Jeff at the Races," which is said to be the funniest and best of any of their preceding offerings. Mutt and Jeff are a national institution. Lovers of the inimitable pair recall memories of their appearance in other days when Gus Hill first introduced the mirth-provoking couple on the stage. Mutt and Jeff usually do things. In this particular instance they are on the qui vive, bobbing here and there, blending, with some hilariously irresistible situation, to the delight of the audience and the gayety of the nation. There are many comic adventures experienced by the elongated comedian and his tiny companion. The seat sale opens Monday at Griffin's at 10 a.m.

"DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR" IS UNUSUALLY GOOD FILM

"As we give, so do we receive" is the theme of "Dollar for Dollar," the excellent Frank Keenan picture which closes its three day's engagement at Griffin's tonight. It is Frank Keenan at his best in a powerful drama of high finance and society. Prominent in the supporting cast are Kathleen Kirkham, Kate Van Buren, Jay Belasco, Harry Van Meter and Gertrude Claire.

Charlie Chaplin in a 2-reel comedy, "The Floorwalker," Vaudeville Movies, showing seven high class vaudeville acts performing before the camera, Ruth Roland in the latest chapter of "The Adventures of Ruth," serial, and a beautiful Travelogue of the Canadian Northwest are also being screened on the same program.

"SHORE ACRES"

"Shore Acres" the screen's classic picturization of James A. Herne's celebrated stage drama of New England folk in which Alice Lake will star is announced as the feature attraction at Griffin's this Monday and Wednesday evenings.

The screen production of the famous Herne comedy drama, in which the well known author, star, and producer toured from coast to coast, is a faithful exposition of the immortal stage play and constitutes in its tremendous dramatic power and delicious rural characterizations a notable achievement on the silver sheet.

The plot of the celebrated old play is the absorbing unfoldment of a series of events in the lives of some New England farmer folk, and the consequences of a father's wrath at his daughter when she insists in marrying the man she loves. Desirous of having his daughter make a prosperous match, the stern old father endeavors to force her into matrimony with the village sharper, an unscrupulous man who induces the old farmer to invest his savings in bad mining stock. Retribution swiftly follows however, and finds the old man broken with contrition at the very end seeking the forgiveness of the woman he wronged.

This strong dramatic story constituted the stage play that won worldwide popularity and has now been made into a screen play with Alice Lake in the role of the farmer's daughter, Helen Berry.

The scenic effects have all been attained in the most realistic manner, and the production sets a new record for sensational climax when the "Liddy Ann" goes on the rocks in the storm, after the light in the lighthouse has failed because the old farmer has wished his eloping daughter to meet death in the wreck of the vessel. The closing chapter of the Daredevil Jack serial, featuring Jack Dempsey, Johnny Ray in a highly amusing and original comedy, the first of the Bringing Up Father series of comedies to be screened at Griffin's, this one entitled "Jiggs in Society," and a Burton Holmes Travelogue will also be screened.

OLD FOLKS HAPPY

The boys finished their work gathering old papers. Last Saturday was a hard day for them as they were unable to secure rigs to carry the paper in. On Saturday afternoon they hired a rig from the livery, the only one in town which they were able to secure. At 2 p.m. they had 40 addresses to call on and only a few hours to do it in. At six o'clock they had covered all except a few and those they could not cover. The boys are sorry that they had to leave those few without being called on. It was the fact that they were unable to get rigs that they had to leave them. On Monday they sold the papers and secured the sum of $90.20 for the same. They are now visiting the local music store and they hope to have a machine to send out to the home next week.

ALBERT SCHOOL AT "Y"

On Friday night the Albert students and Faculty spent a social evening at the Y.M.C.A. Gym games were indulged in for the greater part of the evening during which time the students had a great deal of fun and enjoyment under the direction of Mr. Chas. Keeber who had charge of this part of the program. Prizes were presented to the winners in each event the ladies receiving a box of chocolates and the gentlemen were presented with useful but not valuable gifts. The popular win of the evening was that of Miss Gardiner and Prof. Staples when they handily won the one-minute walk. No doubt Prof. Staples musical training assisted in this event as his sense of time was very evident. At the close of the program refreshments were served by a group of young ladies of the "Y" who were assisted by members of the Senior Auxiliary. Thanks are due to the young people of the Epworth League who supplied the sandwiches. After some complimentary remarks from Mr. Mason, representing the student body and Messrs. Brockel and Keeber of the "Y" the group gathered in a fellowship circle and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "The King".

Unnumbered thousands have laughed and cried, have been thrilled and exalted by the greatest melodrama ever produced.

"SHORE ACRES"

By JAS. A. HERNE.

"Shore Acres" is a story of plain New England folk on the rock-ribbed coast of Maine. Martin Berry, a stern old lighthouse keeper, forbids his spirited daughter Helen to speak to the man she loves. It is Martin's fondest hope that Helen will marry Josiah Blake, the village banker. Helen refuses to obey her father and elopes with her sweetheart on the "Liddy Ann," a vessel bound down the coast. Her father learns of her departure and, insane with rage, he prevents his brother, Nathaniel, from lighting the beacon that will guide the vessel safely out through the rocks of the harbor.

Desperately the two men battle together in the lighthouse—one to save the vessel, the other to destroy her. A sou-easter is raging, and during their struggle the "Liddy Ann" goes on the rocks and the passengers are left to the mercy of the storm.

The scene fairly makes the nerves tingle with excitement. What befalls thereafter is thrillingly unfolded in this picturization of the greatest American drama of the century. "Shore Acres," starring beautiful ALICE LAKE is a big human drama of thrills and heart throbs, replete with delicious humor and tender pathos. YOU REALLY CANNOT AFFORD TO MISS IT!

BOARD OF TRADE DELEGATES PLEASED WITH BELLEVILLE.

The annual meetings of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce have generally been held in large metropolitan centres and it was felt that this was an advantage. When the proposal was made last year by Belleville delegates, headed by Col. W. N. Ponton and Mr. John Elliott, to hold the 1920 session in Belleville many of the members thought this would be an exceedingly doubtful experiment. Others who knew Belleville were strong for the proposal.

The Belleville delegates were successful in securing the convention, and at the close of the seventh annual meeting of the association the verdict was unanimous that this was the best meeting of the associated boards yet held. It was felt that holding the convention in Belleville had resulted in the delegates concentrating their attention upon the business of the gathering in the absence of the many counter attractions of a large city. The attendance was better and the enthusiasm greater with better results all round.

Belleville as a convention city has added new laurels to its fame and not the least of its attractions to the delegates was the generous spirit of hospitality shown and pleasing entertainment. There was a sociability and get together spirit generated which is noticeably absent from large metropolitan gatherings where the largest and most important conventions are obscured by the multiplicity of attractions and distractions.

Many Belleville citizens embued with the community spirit of progress gave their time and motor cars in the interest of seeing that the visitors were properly entertained and made to feel at home. The Chamber of Commerce and Belleville Club opened wide their doors to the delegates and contributed materially to their entertainment. The general result will be that many prominent men in the public life of the province who had hitherto known Belleville only as a name will carry away a kindly feeling for this city and will always speak of it as a progressive and prosperous civic centre with an assured future.

The City Council, as a body and individually, aided materially in making the convention a success and thus showed a progressive spirit worthy of commendation.

THE MEANING OF "HYDRO"

(By J. E. Middleton)

During 1919, 174,981 homes were lighted by Hydro-Electric energy at an average cost to each of $11.38—less than a dollar a month. During the same period the shops and business premises illuminated by Hydro numbered 34,585, the average cost of that service being $2.38 a month. Purchasers of wholesale power for factory-drive and other purposes numbered 6,520. Some of these require a heavy "load," but the average cost over the 6,520 accounts was $44 a month—less than the wages of one green laborer.

This is a rough-and-ready form of calculation, and it is possible that engineers may frown upon it. Still the law of averages is useful in giving a general view of any subject, even the intricate one of electrical rates. The total revenue and the number of customers for any form of service are cited in the Hydro-Electric Commission's Annual Report. A layman is justified in considering the effect of long division upon those figures, and marking the average "burden" upon the poor consumer.

Hydro-Electric service means to the people of Ontario comfort, convenience and economy. It means for town and country a better scale of living, brighter homes, and brighter streets. It means economical industrial production, assuring a steady demand for labor. It means a lesser coal consumption by millions of tons, and a money-saving, since the system was installed a dozen years ago equal to the entire capital cost of generation, transmission and distribution. It means the utilization of the natural resources latent in falling streams for the benefit of the entire populace, rather than for the financial advantage of the few.

Co-operative municipal ownership and operation has been successful in Ontario because of the indomitable energy and courage of one man. Sir Adam Beck has a genius for leadership. Like all other natural leaders he knows always where he is going. He keeps to the main pathway, ignoring all side-issues, all lanes ending in No Thoroughfare.

From the beginning he was fully aware that the administration of such a system as he visualized must be divorced from politics and political patronage. He foresaw the necessity of a uniform accounting system, rigidly administered, and the need of the best engineering talent obtainable. In the Legislature, in the Provincial Cabinet, and on the platform he argued the case. Today Ontario is convinced. Already two distinct and very searching investigations have found the Hydro soundly based. The third, for the consideration of radial railway estimates and plans approved by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is still in progress. So far sufficient testimony is in hand to show that the estimating has been based upon scientific principles, and that the engineers were most conservative in their forecast of probable business. Public ownership of light and power is justified by the experience of this province.

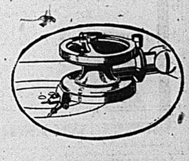
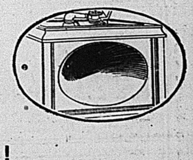
Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS
New or Old—which shall it be?
THERE ARE many ways to test a Phonograph before you buy. The choice is now distinct—NEW or OLD.
You CAN find out just how the Brunswick differs from the Phonographs of a few years ago.
You CAN find out whether the tone of the Brunswick is superior—on ANY record: whether or not it makes any good records BETTER.
Before you buy any Phonograph, find out the shape of the "tone chamber," or horn. What is it made of — cast-iron, tin or wood? Which do you think is best? Can you understand every word of a song that you have never heard before? Can it say "S"?
What about the soprano's high notes? Does a Brass Band sound like a Brass Band or like an Orchestra? Can you tell a harp from a piano?
Does the scratching of the stylus or jewel point distract your attention from the music? Does it annoy you?
Does it play every make of record—Brunswick, Victor, Columbia, Edison, etc.—with the correct needle, the correct position, the correct weight? Can these things be adjusted? Do you have to take something off or put something on in order to play different makes of records?
Your own ears will decide for the Brunswick, which is the only phonograph possessing these two exclusive inventions.
The Ultona
plays all makes of records exactly as they should be played. By a mere twist of the wrist the Ultona is instantly adjusted to play any make of record with the proper diaphragm, the correct needle, the exact weight. Nothing to take off or put on—no needles to change. And it actually does make your records last longer.



All-wood Oval Horn
built like a violin. Its oval shape and entire freedom from metal solve an old problem in accoustics by allowing tone waves to unfold in a way that is rich, mellow and, above all, natural.



Investigate—find out!
Use your own ears—your own eyes—your own judgment. Hear the Brunswick NOW. A small payment on your Brunswick will reserve it for delivery Christmas Eve, so you will have music in your home on Christmas Day.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, [illegible], by A. C. McClurg & Co.

"Build me a shelter!" ordered La. "We shall stop here tonight and tomorrow in the face of the Flaming God La will offer up the heart of this defiler of the temple. Where is the sacred knife? Who took it from him?"

But no one had seen it and each was positive in his assurance that the sacrificial weapon had not been upon Tarzan's person when they captured him. The ape-man looked upon the menacing creatures which surrounded him and snarled his defiance. He looked upon La and smiled. In the face of death he was unafraid.

"Where is the knife?" La asked him.

"I do not know," replied Tarzan. "The man took it away with him when he slipped away during the night. Of what good was your knife, anyway? You can make another. Did you follow us all this way for nothing more than a knife? Let me go and find him and I will bring it back to you."

La laughed a bitter laugh, for in her heart she knew that Tarzan's sin was greater than the purloining of the sacred sacrificial knife of Opar; yet as she looked at him lying bound and helpless before her, tears rose to her eyes so that she had to turn away to hide them; but she remained inflexible in her determination to make him pay in frightful suffering and in eventual death for daring to spurn the love of La.

When the shelter was completed La had Tarzan transferred to it. "All night I shall torture him," she muttered to her priests, "and at the first streak of dawn you may prepare the flaming altar upon which his heart shall be offered up to the Flaming God."

During the balance of the day the priests of Opar were busy erecting an altar in the center of the clearing, and while they worked they chanted weird hymns in the ancient tongue of that lost continent that lies at the bottom of the Atlantic.

In the shelter of the hut La paced to and fro beside the stoic ape-man. Resigned to his fate was Tarzan. No hope of succor gleamed through the dead black of the death sentence hanging over him. He knew that his giant muscles could not part the many strands that bound his wrists and ankles, for he had strained often but ineffectually for release. He had no hope of outside help and only enemies surrounded him within the camp, and yet he smiled at La as she paced nervously back and forth the length of the shelter.

She Fingered Her Knife and Looked Down Upon Her Captive.

And La? She fingered her knife and looked down upon her captive. She glared and muttered but she did not strike. "Tonight!" she thought. "Tonight, when it is dark I will torture him." She looked upon his perfect, godlike figure and upon his handsome, smiling face and then she steeled her heart again by thoughts of her love spurned; by religious thoughts that damned the infidel who had desecrated the holy of holies; who had taken from the blood-stained altar of Opar the offering to the Flaming God—and not once but thrice. Three times had Tarzan cheated the god of her fathers. At the thought La paused and knelt at his side. In her hand was a sharp knife. She placed its point against the ape-man's side and pressed upon the hilt; but Tarzan only smiled and shrugged his shoulders.

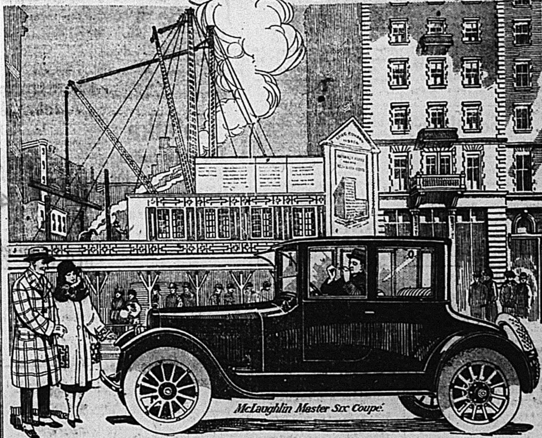
McLAUGHLIN



McLaughlin Master Six Coupe.

Like a new issue of coinage comes the new model of the McLaughlin Car.
The title "Canada's Standard Car" was not self-imposed. By many thousands the McLaughlin holds the preference in Canada over cars of the better make.
The famed McLaughlin-Buick valve-in-hand motor—the rugged sure working engine—gives to each of the seven Master Six models the staunch reputation of trustworthiness.
So when the McLaughlin appears in a new model, it but adds a distinctive character to an accepted standard of excellence.
Especially attractive are the new closed bodies not only because of their added comfort, but because they are now decidedly the vogue for both winter and summer driving.

A GOOD piano is a fine thing to own; but a good Player Piano is better.

The Player stands ready at all times for hand playing or for reproducing, as desired.

It is interchangeable in a moment from one instrument to the other. The member of your family who cannot read a note of music (but who may be a very musical person nevertheless) can play the music of his choice. Another member who is skilled in music can come next and play just as if it were a piano. And, for the rising generation it makes easier the road to a successful musical education.

The Williams Player is a Canadian-made instrument, through and through—made by Canadian craftsmen who would refuse to do anything but their best.

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter:—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing cough has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corri, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. An Old Fashioned Mother At St. Andrews

The Young People's Guild of St. Andrew's Church presented the play entitled "An Old-Fashioned Mother," in the school room of the church Thursday night to an audience of between four and five hundred people. Everyone who attended spoke in the highest terms of the manner in which all who participated in it took their parts. The play was a dramatic parable of a mother's love in three acts. The synopsis of it is as follows:

Act 1.—The Good Samaritan—Aunt Debby's farm in late March.

Act 2.—Same Scene, but three years later on a winter afternoon.

Act 3.—The Prodigal's Return.

Characters.

Aunt Deborah—Mother in Israel—Miss Lillian Locke.
Widder Bill Pundle—Leader of Choir Miss Ada Locke.
Miss Lowizy Custard—Plain Sewing and Gossip—Miss Erma Cooper.
Isabelle Simpscott—The Village Belle—Miss Alice Martin.
Glorianna Perkins — "As Good as Gold"—Miss Phyllis Stewart.
Sukey Pundle—Widder's Mite—Mary McIntosh.
John Underhill — Prodigal Son—Mr. Evan Barlow.
Charley Underhill — Elder Brother—Mr. Hall.
Brother John Quackenbush—A White Sepulchre—Mr. D. Montgomery.
Jeremiah Gosling — "Gerry Nerry"—Mr. Newton Thompson.
Enoch Roan—Outcast and Wanderer—Mr. Redvers Ross.
Quintus Todd — County Sheriff—Mr. James McIntosh.
Choir Organist—Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Alyea acted as directress, and is to be congratulated on her efficient coaching of those taking the different characters. Mr. Newton Thompson, President of the Guild, not only afforded the audience great amusement in the role which he played so well, but had a great deal to do with the skillful management of the entire presentation. This is the Guild's second venture in the field of dramatic art and it has proven so successful that it is looking forward to making it an annual institution in the programme of its activities. Several invitations have been received to present the play in neighboring localities.

Don't Use Drugs for Constipation

Bathe Internally—the One Natural Way

Did you ever know of any person who was permanently cured of constipation by taking drugs of any kind? Drugs simply force Nature, and larger doses are required from time to time until the trouble becomes chronic.

Internal Bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade is the only permanent relief from Constipation. It keeps the Colon or large-lower intestine, free from all accumulation. Soon the system performs its regular functions, and there is no further trouble.

Mr. F. Babin, Proprietor Alexandria Hotel, Ottawa, writes: "The J. B. L. Cascade has made a new man of me. I would not sell it for all the money in this world if I could not get another. Through my recommendation I know of a number of friends who have been using it with the same satisfaction. For people troubled with Constipation, I say it is a godsend, and can heartily recommend it."

The J. B. L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing ever devised. It is endorsed by over half a million enthusiastic users. Ask to have it explained to you at J. S. MacKeown, Druggist, Belleville, or write for booklet to Tyrell's Hygenic Institute, 163 College St. Toronto.

The Blood Pressure

"WHAT is the meaning of blood pressure?" you may ask, and "What has it to do with the health?" For, as much as we hear of blood pressure these days, it is somewhat of a mystery to most people.

Perhaps the easiest way to explain it is by comparison with water pressure, whereby water is supplied to homes and made available upstairs and down at a mere turn of the tap.

The blood in the human body is under a similar pressure, as you will know if you cut an artery and see the force with which the blood spurts out.

The arteries may be likened to the rubber hose which you attach to the water system in your house. So long as the rubber retains its elasticity you do not fear trouble, but as it gets older and harder and begins to crack you dread the water pressure which is everywhere testing the strength of the hose.

And so it is with the arteries. The walls of the arteries harden as age advances, more particularly if the vital organs are not doing their full duty in filtering and purifying the blood and keeping it in rich, healthful condition.

When your physician suspects that your arteries are hardening and losing the elasticity which enables them to withstand the strain put on them he recommends that you have your blood pressure tested. Then he seeks a means of improving the condition of the blood and of restoring the health and vigor of the digestive, filtering and excretory organs.

In the great majority of cases the weak functioning of these organs is due to the low vitality of the nervous system, and the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is resorted to with most satisfactory results.

Comparatively few people realize that the healthful working of each and every organ of the human body is dependent on the amount of nervous energy with which that organ is supplied, and that when nervous energy is consumed in overwork or worry, in sorrow or mental anxiety, these vital organs must fail for want of motive power.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food restores by improving the quality of the blood and increasing the amount of nervous energy in the human system. In other words, it increases vitality, and this is what is lacking in persons whose arteries are hardening and whose blood pressure is consequently rising. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy.

BRIDGE ST. BAZAAR.

The ladies of Bridge Street Church were well repaid for their time and work by the large attendance Thursday afternoon and evening at their annual bazaar. The tables were attractively decorated with flowers and plenty of good things to tempt the hungry, and the sight of such appetizing food could not fail to make anyone hungry. The many booths were prettily decorated and plenty of beautiful fancy work was on sale which was readily disposed of. The home-made cooking booth, which held a large quantity of lovely baking was readily sold out. The ladies who worked so hard and diligently deserve the highest praise, their efforts being crowned with success.

BELLEVILLE MEN IN WRECK

No. 16, Toronto-Montreal express, which was wrecked Thursday night, near Toronto, was drawn by Canadian National Engine, No. 5297, in charge of Engineer T. H. Marshall and Fireman Alfred S. Cooper, both of this city. Engineer Marshal said he felt absolutely nothing, previous to the time the freight crashed into them, to indicate that anything was wrong with his train.

SALVAGE THE COAL.

Capt. Randall, of the wrecked steambarge John Randall, reported to the Downey Company, to whom the coal cargo was consigned, that its coal was not lost, but is in the boat, which is lying partly on the rocks. The boat broke in two, but the coal remained in the stern section, and can easily be salvaged. In speaking of the possibility of salvaging the boat, Capt. Randall said: "There is not much chance of salvaging the Randall, but even if it were salvaged it would be of no use. The machinery, however, will be salvaged in the spring, and there will be no less in either machinery or coal."

CARS DERAILED.

Wednesday night six cars laden with grain were derailed on the G.T.R. at Foxmead. The auxiliaries from Lindsay and Allandale were despatched to the scene of the accident, which is in a swampy section.

O. T. A. CHARGES.

Belleville police made four arrests Friday for alleged infractions of the Ontario Temperance Act. Two [illegible] men were charged with keeping liquor for sale, one man was charged with selling liquor and another man charged under the O.T.A. Chief of Police Kidd laid two of the informations and License Inspector Connor the other two. The accused were admitted to bail until Thursday next when the charges will be investigated. Several other cases of alleged infractions of the O.T.A. are under investigation.

MARKET LARGELY ATTENDED.

The market today was one of the largest seen here for some time and products from the farm and garden were offered for sale in abundance. There was not much change to note in prices. Fresh dairy butter was quite plentiful, selling from 55c. to 58c. per pound. Strictly fresh eggs are a luxury, judging from the price. They were sold as high as 85c. per dozen. A few basket lots were obtained at a slightly lower figure. Dressed fowls were plentiful. Chickens sold from $1.50 to $2.50 a pair, and ducks from $3.00 to $3.50 a pair. Turkeys have not yet made their appearance. Garden products were sold in considerable quantities and were reasonable in price.

Pallid Cheeks And Dull Eyes

Tell the Story of Watery Blood—How to Regain a Good Color And Health

To be run down in health and to lose their attractiveness is the double misfortune of many young girls. Their pallid cheeks and dull eyes tell everyone that they are doomed to days of wretched headaches and are victims of breathlessness and bloodlessness. The anaemic girl, if she neglects her health, may be a sufferer all her life; for an active happy woman cannot be developed out of a bloodless, consumptive looking girl, without the help of new, rich red blood.

Pale, weak girls should take heed. Bloodlessness must not be neglected. Plenty of good air, a nourishing diet and rest will help you, but the cure you need most promptly is new blood. Good new blood in abundance, such as makes all the difference between sound health and poor health to girls and women, is supplied by Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Their one mission is to make new blood which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, bringing to anaemic girls and women new color, bright eyes, an elastic step and a feeling of joy in living. The value of Dr. Williams Pink Pills to young girls is shown by the cure of Miss Bessie Clarke, R.R. No. 1, Stevensville, Ont., who says: "Two years ago, while studying for the entrance examination, my health broke down and I fell away to a mere shadow of my former self. When the day for the examinations came, I should have been in bed instead of trying them, but I went on with the work and when through was almost on the verge of collapse. I thought then that a rest would help me, but I did not regain my strength. Then my mother was advised to have me try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and after taking them for about a month I found myself restored to health, with good color and a change for the better, which people who knew me readily noticed. I am very thankful for what Dr. Williams Pink Pills did for me, and hope my experience will benefit some other weak girl."

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Two Sailing Vessels Brave Perilous Lake Voyage

SCHOONER ST. LOUIS, 650 TONS, SCHOONER OLIVER MOWAT, 450 TONS, EN ROUTE FROM OSWEGO TO BELLEVILLE FOR THE SCHUSTER CO., LTD. WITH HARD COAL.

The St. Louis left Oswego at noon on Saturday and was reported this morning at the lower end of the Bay.

The Mowat left Saturday midnight and has not yet been reported, but from weather conditions should be well under shelter before this. Both boats have been wind bound for a period of fifteen days. It is considered somewhat of a perilous undertaking for sailing vessels to cross the lake at this season of the year.

The tug "Mary Robertson" left Belleville Monday morning to bring the boats up and get them to the new government dock, where they will discharge their cargoes.

Capt. Vandusen, commander of the Oliver Mowat, was the commander and owner of the ill-fated "Bertie Calkins" which foundered just before the close of navigation last year with a cargo of hard coal.

Both boats are loaded with coal for the Schuster Co., Limited, Belleville, the last consignment by water for this season as marine insurance expires Nov. 30 and the season of heavy gales is in full swing, besides the prospect of harbors freezing up.

The St. Louis arrived at Government wharf at 2 p.m. today. The Oliver Mowat has been reported at Conway.

No Support For Greece With Constantine

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Paris, Nov. 29.—Decisions regarding Greece reached by Premiers Lloyd George and Leygues in London will be communicated to George Rhallis Greek Premier, who may be called to London or who will in any case be informed of the attitude of France and Great Britain. In all probability the premiers will not settle all pending questions during the present conference, and the Premier of France may be obliged to make another trip to London.

Paris newspapers express satisfaction with the cordiality apparent during conversations between the two premiers and express the belief that France and Britain are entirely agreed that Greece with Constantine as King, will not get any support from Allied nations.

PUT SOLDIERS' NAMES IN THE VICTORY TOWER

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—While both the House of Commons and Senate Chambers will have had the last finishing touches put on them before Parliament meets towards the end of January most of the interior work on the building will remain to be done. From the standpoint of accomodation and comfort, however, members of both houses and officials will be much better off than they were last session.

It will probably be a matter of two years before the great Parliamentary tower is completed. The first two stories of the tower have been finished and closed in for the winter. Next spring work will be resumed and an additional twenty-five feet built. The tower will not be finally completed until the summer of 1922.

It is probable that the interior wall of the chamber to be provided in the second section of the tower will be lined with stone from France and Belgium and on this stone will be engraved the names of the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. This suggestion has been made and if possible it will be carried out.

John Doughty Reaches Toronto

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Toronto, Nov. 29.—John Doughty, secretary of Ambrose J. Small, millionaire theatre man who disappeared nearly one year ago, arrived in the city from Windsor this morning in charge of Detective Mitchell who affected his arrest in Oregon City, Ore. The police department's special car was waiting at the station for more than one hour. After Motion Picture operators had photographed him, Doughty was taken to the City Hall.

Doughty was not handcuffed when brought to the City Hall for conference with police officials and appeared bright and cheerful. He chatted for a few moments with his counsel, E. A. Hay, but no information was forthcoming as to the nature of the conversation after the conference with the police authorities he was ushered to a waiting car and hurried away to an unknown destination. It is thought that he was to be afforded an opportunity of seeing his family.

WILL RETAIN STAMP SYSTEM

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The request made by departmental store managers at Montreal that the system should be abandoned of paying luxury taxes by means of revenue stamps attached to sales slips and receipts for goods bought is not likely to be acceded to.

Mr. George W. Taylor, Assistant Deputy Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, states that, so far as he is aware, there is no intention of dispensing with the stamps. The stamp system has been adopted, in the first place, because the retail merchants had asked for it, in order that they would not have to supply duplicate copies of sales slips to the department.

Therefore, the Christmas traffic will be conducted under the necessity of each store having large supplies of stamps on hand in order not to have delays in doing business. According to the Montrealers, it requires extra employees to make the stamp system function without disorganizing business.

Build Barriers In Downing St.

London, Nov. 29.—The erection of barriers eight feet high, which will exclude the public from Downing street and adjacent Charles street, was begun with instructions that the work would be continued until it is completed. Both streets lead from Whitehall to a group of Government departmental offices, including the Foreign Office and the India Office, and also the official residences of Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, the Government Leader in the House of Commons.

The barriers are to be of a substantial character foundations having been dug to receive them. Gates wide enough to admit an automobile are to be provided for in the barriers.

At the same time the light barriers raised at the other ends of the two streets to check the pressure of the crowds on occasion of the unveiling of the cenotaph for the men killed in the war are being strengthened.

Nothing has been announced publicly regarding the unusual precautions, which are assumed in some quarters to indicate that the Government has reason to expect an attack on the centres of Government from quarters which at present can only be surmised.

To Cut Payroll Twenty Per Cent.

G.T.R. Proposes to Reduce Wages 10 P.C.; Save Rest by Laying Off Men

Stratford, Nov. 29.—Effective December 1, there will be a reduction of 20 per cent. in the payroll of the G.T.R. shops. This reduction will be made in two ways. That is, wages will be cut 10 per cent. and the remainder of the necessary 20 per cent. reduction in the payroll met by laying off men. Mr. J. C. Garden, Superintendent, in speaking about it this afternoon, said that he could not say yet just how many men this would affect, as they were just figuring on the 10 per cent. cut in wages so far. Should it mean a straight cut of 10 per cent. in the staff, it would affect about 90 to 100 men, but on the plan proposed it may not affect quite so many.

Don't Expect Lay-off There

Brockville, Nov. 29.—Railroad officials here regard it as unlikely that the Grand Trunk locomotive shop will be reduced in personnel, as has been carried out on other parts of the system.

Lannin's Men Seize Liquor in Home

Revolvers Flourished in Windsor Man's Face.

Windsor, Nov. 29.—Declaring that they were "Lannin's men," and acting under orders of the new local enforcement officer, two men drove up to the home of Arthur Major, 314 McMay Avenue, this afternoon and took possession of five cases and nine bottles of liquor. The men displayed badges and backed up their demands by flourishing revolvers in Major's face. Later Major, who went in search of the men after he found he had been tricked, encountered them on Randolph street, but was driven off with guns. The matter has been reported to Chief Lannin.

HATS OFF, BELLEVILLE.

(Toronto Telegram)

This a.m., 10.30 by the clock, (Saturday) the city of Belleville was saved from eternal disgrace by Deputy Magistrate Jones, of Toronto. It happened thus:

A neatly dressed young fellow said to be a university student, was in the dock for drunkenness, and his counsel, G. C. Elgie, explained that the young gentleman was sorry, wouldn't do it again, and added that he came from Belleville. The thing looked normal enough until the name of Belleville slipped over the clerk's rail and hit Magistrate Jones' ear.

"Belleville!" exclaimed his Worship in pained surprise. "I come from Belleville. I don't want Belleville disgraced. The charge will be withdrawn and I'll have a talk with you after court.

It is now in order for the Mayor and Corporation of Belleville to hail Deputy Magistrate Jones as the [illegible] of the city, to send his Worship an illuminated address, and finally to hang his Worship in oils.

Fifteen Warehouses Fired in Liverpool

All Cotton Warehouses—Sinn Fein Blamed for Outrages

Liverpool, Nov. 29.—Fifteen warehouses in Liverpool and Bootle, a suburb, were set on fire last night. Two of the cotton warehouses in Liverpool were burned out. Gasoline cans and paraffin were found about the premises. It was stated in police quarters there was strong evidence that the fires were the work of Sinn Feiners.

Some shooting occurred after the outbreak of flames. Constables on the scene were fired at and bullets passed through the clothing of some of them, but none was injured. One civilian was shot dead. Five men were placed under arrest in connection with the incendiary outbreak.

A QUICK RECOVERY

As a result of the slight blaze which occurred on Saturday night at the Crystal Hotel John Williamson was placed under arrest on a charge of vagrancy. When taken to the station Williamson appeared to be in considerable pain as he was moaning and when he walked it was in a stooped position. Owing to the man's apparent condition he was not placed in a cell, but was given the liberty of the corridor. eH also desired the services of a physician and one was sent for. While the members of the force were temporarily engaged the apparent sickness of Williamson suddenly left him and he made a get-away. He went into the furnace room and gained his liberty by crawling through the coal chute. His absence was soon detected and an officer ran out of the ice premises. He was recaptured, taken to the station and locked up, and the call for the physician was countermanded.

Control is Ended for Victory Bonds

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Trading in Victory Bonds on the Canadian stock exchanges begins again today. The Finance Minister, Sir Henry Drayton, who arrived in Toronto on Saturday, stated that the control in Victory bonds had ceased. The text of the statement of the Minister is as follows:

"The control of Victory bonds has ceased. The control which has been exercised by the Stabilization Committee of the Victory Loan was made in proper performance of the promise made during the different Victory Loan campaigns.

"The committee's work has been very efficient. Many subscriptions were made in the national interest and by persons whose circumstances did not permit them to hold their bonds. The price of the bonds has not been subject to violent fluctuations, but stabilization of price has been effective. The committee has sold bonds which have come upon the market and placed them in the hands of permanent investors to the extent of $270,000,000.

"Stabilization has now continued for more than a year since the last loan, and full opportunity has therefore been given those whose circumstances compel them to liquidate.

Says Bonds Will Appreciate

"The Dominion Government securities are the best in the market, and no price fluctuations affect the quality of the investment and the liability of Canada to redeem at par. Undoubtedly in the comparatively near future the selling price of the bonds will appreciate.

"It is very much to be hoped that the people of Canada will continue to hold the securities of the best country in the world to their great personal advantage.

"The stabilization has served a very useful purpose, but it is felt in view of the fact that the methods of control so general during the war period have been abandoned in so many countries, and generally in Canada, that the control of the sale of Government securities should also cease."

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Open trading in Victory Loan issues consequent upon relinquishing of control by the Dominion Government resulted in extremely heavy transactions in Government bonds on the Canadian exchanges this morning and as was expected prices of securities slumped considerably.

Leading brokers on Toronto market expressed themselves as satisfied with the first day's trading on old lines and stated that the prices reached were expected with the exception of the 1933 issue which a low mark of 89½. It is thought that the market for these securities will be somewhat "spotty" for some days following when a gradual advance is looked for.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—John Doughty, who was chased across the continent and was recently arrested in Oregon City in connection with the mysterious disappearance a year ago of Ambrose Small, missing theatrical magnate, today visited the home of his sister, Mrs. Lovatt, in this city, and revealed there to the police authorities who had accompanied him, the hiding place of $100,000 worth of Canadian Victory Bonds which were missing. These bonds have been handed over to the police authorities intact. Recent reports from Oregon said that it had been intimated that the bonds had been deposited in care of a trust company in Chicago. Doughty was to have been arraigned this morning in police court here on charges of theft of $100,000 worth of bonds and conspiracy to kidnap Ambrose Small. Doughty is still in custody.

Later Doughty was brought into Police court and placed in the prisoners' dock. Two charges, one of theft of Victory Bonds the property of Ambrose Small, and the other of conspiracy to kidnap Ambrose Small, were read. Doughty made no reply, but it was announced that his lawyers, I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and Miss Clara Brett Martin, desired a week's remand. The magistrate granted this without bail. Miss Martin intimated that the defendant would be prepared to furnish bail, but the Crown Attorney Corley did not acquiesce and the magistrate sent Doughty back to the cells.

It was announced this afternoon that the missing bonds recovered at the home of Mrs. Thomas Lovatt, sister of John Doughty, were in Doughty resided at this house with his sister previous to his departure two bundles and were rolled and wrapped in common brown paper. nearly a year ago. The party stayed at the house of Mrs. Lovatt for only a few minutes. It was a very affecting meeting, particularly between Doughty and his two boys.

Need of Life-saving Appliances Urged

KINGSTON, Nov. 27.—Mariners stated that the steam barge John Randall case should make the Government realize that some life-saving protection should be given to mariners who sail these waters. Capt. John Randall stated that the Government should see to it that the lighthouse keeper on the Main Ducks is in telephone communication with the mainland. Had the wind not dropped on Thursday nothing would have been heard of the crew of the Randall perhaps for some days longer. The Duck Islands is a place which mariners always try to reach if they get caught in a gale in that locality. It is stated that there is no life-saving protection on this end of Lake Ontario.

Gorgeous Lady Blessington Fascinated All Europe And Had Unique Career

MARGUERITE, "the Gorgeous Lady Blessington," was the second daughter of Squire Power, of Knockbrift, in County Tipperary, the "ugly duckling" of a good-looking family. As has happened to other "ugly ducklings," she developed a beauty which promised to throw that of her two sisters completely into eclipse, and the local squireens began to flock around her like moths around a candle-flame. She was still heart-free when Capt. Farmer, a man as old as her father and notorious for his loose living and vile temper, entered the lists; and she soon found that she was to have no voice in the matter.

To all Marguerite's tears and protestations her father was adamant; and thus it was that, tearful, indignant, protesting to the last, the girl was led to the altar by the biggest scoundrel in Tipperary.

Then for Marguerite followed a few months of an inferno worse even than she had dreaded. Almost before her honeymoon had waned her husband revealed himself in his true character of bully and tyrant. So horrible was her life that, when her husband was ordered to a distant station, she refused point-blank to accompany him; and, afraid to return to her own home and her father's reproaches, she decided to shake the dust of Ireland off her feet and seek a refuge in England, where for a dozen years the curtain falls on Power's daughter.

Of her rascally husband she had happily seen nothing during all these years of more or less lonely adventure; and the end of this tragic union was now near. One day in October, 1817, the captain ended his misspent days in tragedy. He had drifted through dissipation and crime to the King's bench prison; and in a fit of frenzy—or, as some say, in a drunken quarrel—had flung himself to his death through a window of his jail.

Thus at last the nightmare that had clouded the young life of the squireen's daughter was over; and she was free to plan her future as she would. The widowed Earl of Blessington had long been among the most ardent admirers of the lovely Irishwoman; and before Farmer had been many months in his prison-grave, he had won her consent to be his countess. Lord Blessington was a veritable Croesus among Irish landlords, with a rent-roll of £30,000 a year, allied, it is true, to an extravagance more than commensurate with his revenue.

But even London was too limited a sphere for such a queendom as was hers. She yearned for new worlds to conquer, and one day in 1822 she and her lord set out on a progress through Europe, with a retinue of attendants and with luxurious equipages such as any qeen might envy. And when, in France, her retinue was joined by Count d'Orsay her cup of conquest was full—for the youthful count was the "Admirable Crichton" of Europe. Probably never has woman drunk deeper of the cup of pleasure and triumph than Lady Blessington during her tour of Europe, received and feted as a queen at every stage of her progress.

We catch glimpses of her at Genoa, with Byron at her feet, pouring sweet flatteries into her ears; and installed in the gorgeous Palazza Belvedere at Naples, a palace of "Arabian Nights" beauty. Then to Florence, to Rome, and Genoa again, each stage of her journeying more splendid and triumphant than its predecessor. And so back to England by way of Paris, where for a time she queened it in Marshal Ney's palace, whose magnificence she has described so eloquently for us.

Before, however, she had been in England many months there came a sudden end to her reign of splendor with the death of her indulgent lord and the discovery that his enormous fortune was exhausted by his prodigality for her sake. But her ladyship was not the woman to shed tears over a mere loss of money. She had her jointure of £2,000 a year, and this she was soon able to double by means of her clever pen, in which she found a small mine of welcome gold. Her "Books of Beauty" and "Gems of Beauty" were an instantaneous success. Her "Conversations with Byron' 'and her novels and gossipy books of travel were hailed in succession by an eager public of readers.

But the Seamore Place house proved too cabined and too modest for my lady's exacting social ambition; and we soon find her installed at Gore House, in Kensington, a stately house, surrounded by beautiful gardens and a girdle of spreading trees, as shut off from the world as if it were in the heart of the country. Here for thirteen years, with the handsome, gay, accomplished d'Orsay as lieutenant, she dispensed a princely hospitality.

Although Lady Blessington's income rarely fell below £4,000 a year, it was quite inadequate to her expenditure; and it was clear to her that this era of splendid hospitality could not last forever. The climax came when, no longer able to appease her clamorous army of creditors, she was obliged to leave her possessions to the tender mercies of a sheriff's officer.

This crushing blow to her fortunes and her pride no doubt broke Lady Blessington's heart; for within a few weeks of the last fall of the auctioneer's hammer she died suddenly in Paris, to the unspeakable grief of d'Orsay, who, in spite of envious and malicious tongues, never occupied to the countess any other relation than that of a dearly-loved and devoted son.

One Kind Action!

"Well, Bobby, have you done any kind action to-day?"

"Yes'm; I gave my white mice to the cat."

COMMEMORATE ST. ANDREWS

Members of Camp Rob Roy, Sons of Scotland, accompanied by some members of the Sons of England Societies of the city on Sunday morning attended divine service at St. Andrew's Church for the purpose of commemorating St. Andrew's Day. The turnout was a creditable one and an appropriate discourse was given by the Pastor, Rev. A. S. Kerr, the subject of which was "The Elements that make mankind." The first and essential element should be spiritual and moral, secondly the proper kind of education. Russia was in choas for lack of this kind of education. Germany whilst an educated nation it was of a wrong type, developing man solely for the state. The Rev. speaker claimed that Scotland's status was due to education upon the right lines. No nation could be great without God and this had been forcibly demonstrated during the late war. The devine lesson drawn from the discourse was that all should conform to the teachings of the divine and follow in the footsteps of the Saviour of mankind. Special music was rendered by the choir.

GULLIVER—GROFF

Wesley Methodist Church Trenton, Ont. was the scene of a very pretty event on Tuesdey afternoon. Nov. 23rd when George Henry Gulliver, Belleville, led to the altar Leona Alberta Groff one of Trenton's fairest daughters.

The church bells rang out a merry alarm as the bridal party left the residence of the bride's father on Dundas street. Promptly at 3-30 p.m. the groom unattended took his place in front of the altar. The organ at which Miss Muriel Bonter presided pealed forth the Wedding March. The bride leaning on the arm of her father Mr H. E. Groff took her place by the side of the groom.

The service was conducted by the pastor Rev. W. G. Clarke, and the solemn words were spoken, which made them man and wife. While the register was being signed Mrs. Arthur Sprentall sang "Because" in pleasing voice.

The organ and the bells once more joined to proclaim the departure of the happy couple. A dainty luncheon was served at the bride's home. Immediately after luncheon the newly married couple left by train for points in Canada and the United States, bearing with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

The bride was charmingly attired in a taupe travelling suit elegantly embroidered in silk with seal collar and embroidered toque to match. There were many beautiful presents.

GALL STONES

are consolidated bile and are produced by excessive heat in the region of the liver and gall-bladder. For years the habit has been to cut out gall stones. But to what purpose? Heat caused them to form. Is it possible to cut out heat with a knife? Will they not continue to form until the CAUSE is removed?

Operations for gall-stones are useless. So is dosing with drugs. See your Chiropractor. He knows exactly how to locate the cause of your suffering and how to remove it quickly and permanently Once all impingement of nerves is relieved and the normal current of mental impulse is reestablished your health will not only return, but Nature will naturally and easily get rid of the stones already formed.

Women of Canada Who Testify

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"Ever since I can remember, Dr. Pierce's medicines were used in our family at home and they never failed to give good results. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' was used as a tonic and blood purifier and for bronchial trouble, and it proved excellent. I have personally taken 'Golden Medical Discovery' for bronchial trouble, and the 'Favorite Prescription' to build me up when I was run-down and they both were very beneficial. Mother always used Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed for pain; it also was very good. I feel safe in recommending all of Dr. Pierce's medicines knowing them to be good."—MRS. CLIFFORD MITCHELL.

Central Butte, Sask.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery for a number of years and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boy for tuberculosis of the knee joint. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results; in fact, I do not think he would be alive today had it not been for the 'Medical Discovery.' I also keep it on hand for coughs as it differs so from other cough medicines, instead of upsetting the stomach as most cough syrups do it is good for the stomach. I only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—MRS. PERCY WOOD.

When you take Golden Medical Discovery, you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more, you get a temperance medicine that contains not a drop of alcohol or narcotic of any kind. Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that his remedies always have been strictly temperance medicines.

INTERESTING STATEMENT OF MERCHANTS' BANK

Coming in a period of more or less commercial disturbance, the half-yearly statement of the Merchants Bank of Canada is of more than usual significance. The bank's position, record as disclosed in the comparative record of six months' operations, is one of exceptional strength and testifies to the prudent and progressive direction of the institution while at the same time furnishing a reassuring indication of the general business situation. The assets of the bank have risen to a record position during the period covered in the statement, the same being true also of the bank deposits, a remarkable showing in view of the heavy withdrawals made in connection with the last Victory Loan payments. The result is one which cannot but be gratifying to the bank's proprietors, but an even more important aspect of the statement is that which reflects the trade conditions of the country. The president of the Canadian Bankers' Association advised recently that bankers should deal liberally with borrowers as a means of minimizing the difficulties of the adjustment in trade. It is apparent that the Merchants' Bank has pursued, in this respect, a policy which not only demonstrated a high degree of confidence in the inherent soundness of the business situation but has contributed in no small degree to the stimulation of business during a somewhat trying period. The statement with reference to current loans is evidence of this, and the report as a whole, taken with those of other banks, is indicative of the confidence which the bankers have in the business integrity of the country and their willingness to meet the legitimate demands made upon their resources.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of
"Tarzan of the Apes"
"Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

How beautiful he was! La bent low over him, looking into his eyes. How perfect was his figure. She compared it with those of the gnarled and knotted men from whom she must choose a mate, and La shuddered at the thought. Dusk came, and after dusk came night. A great fire blazed within the little thorn boma about the camp. The flames played upon the new altar erected in the center of the clearing, arousing in the mind of the high priestess of the Flaming God a picture of the event of the coming dawn. She saw this giant and perfect form writhing amid the flames of the burning pyre. She saw those smiling lips, burned and blackened, falling away from the strong, white teeth. She saw the shock of black hair tousled upon Tarzan's well-shaped head disappear in a spurt of flame. She saw these and many other frightful pictures as she stood with closed eyes and clenched fists above the object of her hate—ah! was it hate that La of Opar felt?

The darkness of the jungle night had settled down upon the camp, relieved only by the fitful flarings of the fire that was kept up to warn off the man-eaters. Tarzan lay quietly in his bonds. He suffered from thirst and from the cutting of the tight strands about his wrists and ankles; but he made no complaint. A jungle beast was Tarzan, with the stoicism of the beast and the intelligence of man. He knew that his doom was sealed—that no supplications would avail to temper the severity of his end, and so he wasted no breath in pleadings, but waited patiently in the firm conviction that his sufferings could not endure forever.

In the darkness La stooped above him. In her hand was a sharp knife and in her mind the determination to initiate his torture without further delay. The knife was pressed against his side and La's face was close to his when a sudden burst of flame from new branches thrown upon the fire without lighted up the interior of the shelter. Close beneath her lips La saw the perfect features of the forest god and into her woman's heart welled all the great love she had felt for Tarzan since first she had seen him, and all the accumulated passion of the years that she had dreamed of him.

Dagger in hand, La, the high priestess, towered above the helpless creature that had dared to violate the sanctuary of her deity. There should be no torture—there should be instant death. A single stroke of the heavy blade and then the corpse to the flaming pyre without. The knife arm stiffened ready for the downward plunge, and then La, the woman, collapsed weakly upon the body of the man she loved.

She ran her hands in mute caress over his naked flesh; she covered his forehead, his eyes, his lips with hot kisses; she covered him with her body as though to protect him from the hideous fate she had ordained for him, and in trembling, piteous tones she begged him for his love. For hours the frenzy of her passion possessed the burning handmaiden of the Flaming God, until at last sleep overpowered her and she lapsed into unconsciousness beside the man she had sworn to torture and to slay. And Tarzan, untroubled by thoughts of the future, slept peacefully in La's embrace.

At the first hint of dawn the chanting of the priests of Opar brought Tarzan to wakefulness. Initiated in low and subdued tones, the sound soon rose in volume to the open diapason of barbaric blood lust. La stirred. Her perfect arm pressed Tarzan closer to her—a smile parted her lips, and then she awoke, and slowly the smile faded and her eyes went wide in horror as the significance of the death chant impinged upon her understanding.

"Love me, Tarzan!" she cried. "Love me, and you shall be saved."

Tarzan's bonds hurt him. He was suffering the tortures of long-restricted circulation. With an angry growl he rolled over with his back toward La. That was her answer! The high priestess leaped to her feet. A hot flush of shame mantled her cheek and then she went dead white and stepped to the shelter's entrance.

"Come, priests of the Flaming God!" she cried, "and make ready the sacrifice."

The warped things advanced and entered the shelter. They laid hands upon Tarzan and bore him forth, and as they chanted they kept time with their crooked bodies, swaying to and fro to the rhythm of their song of blood and death. Behind them came La, swaying too; but not in unison with the chanted cadence. White and drawn was the face of the high priestess—white and drawn with unrequited love and hideous terror of the moments to come. Yet stern in her resolve was La. The infidel should die! The scorner of her love should pay the price upon the fiery altar. She saw them lay the perfect body there upon the rough branches. She saw the high priest, he to whom custom would unite her—bent, crooked, gnarled, stunted, hideous—advance with the flaming torch and stand awaiting her command to apply it to the faggots surrounding the sacrificial pyre. His hairy, bestial face was distorted in a yellow-fanged grin of anticipatory enjoyment. His hands were cupped to receive the life blood of the victim—the red nectar that at Opar would have filled the golden sacrificial goblets.

La approached with upraised knife, her face turned toward the rising sun and upon her lips a prayer to the burning deity of her people. The high priest looked questioningly toward her—the brand was burning close to his hand and the faggots lay temptingly near. Tarzan closed his eyes and awaited the end. He knew that he would suffer, for he recalled the faint memories of past burns. He knew that he would suffer and die, but he did not flinch. Death is no great adventure to the jungle bred, who walk hand in hand with the grim specter by day and lie down at his side by night through all the years of their lives. As a matter of fact, as his end approached his mind was occupied by thoughts of the pretty pebbles he had lost, yet his every faculty was still open to what passed around him.

He felt La lean over him and he opened his eyes. He saw her white, drawn face and he saw the tears blinding her eyes. "Tarzan, my Tarzan!" she moaned, "tell me that you love me—that you will return to Opar with me—and you shall live. Even in the face of the anger of my people I will save you. This last chance I give you. What is your answer?"

At the last moment the woman in La had triumphed over the high priestess of a cruel cult. With heaving bosom she leaned close above him. "Yes or no?" she whispered.

Through the jungle, out of the distance, came faintly a sound that brought a sudden light of hope to Tarzan's eyes. He raised his voice in a weird scream that sent La back from him a step or two. The impatient priest grumbled and switched the torch from one hand to the other, at the same time holding it closer to the tinder at the base of the pyre.

"Your answer!" insisted La. "What is your answer to the love of La of Opar?"

Closer came the sound that had attracted Tarzan's attention, and now the others heard it—the shrill trumpeting of an elephant. As La looked wide-eyed into Tarzan's face, there to read her fate for happiness or heartbreak, she saw an expression of concern shadow his features. Now, for the first time, she guessed the meaning of Tarzan's shrill scream—he had summoned Tantor the elephant to his rescue! La's brows contracted in a savage scowl. "You refuse La!" she cried. "Then die! The torch!" she commanded, turning toward the priest.

Tarzan looked up into her face. "Tantor is coming," he said. "I thought that he would rescue me; but I know now from his voice that he will slay me and you and all that fall in his path, searching out with the cunning of Sheeta the panther those who would hide from him, for Tantor is mad with the madness of love.

"I cannot love you, La," Tarzan went on in a low voice. "I do not know why, for you are very beautiful. I could not go back and live in Opar—I who have the whole broad jungle for my range. No, I cannot love you but I cannot see you die beneath the goring tusks of mad Tantor. Cut my bonds before it is too late. Already he is almost upon us. Cut them and I may yet save you."

A little spiral of curling smoke rose from one corner of the pyre—the flames licked upward, crackling. La stood there like a beautiful statue of despair, gazing at Tarzan and at the spreading flames. In a moment they would reach out and grasp him. From the tangled forest came the sound of cracking limbs and crashing trunks—Tantor was coming down upon them, a huge juggernaut of the jungle. The priests were becoming uneasy. They cast apprehensive glances in the direction of the approaching elephant and then back at La.

"Fly!" she commanded them, and then she stooped and cut the bonds securing her prisoner's feet and hands. In an instant Tarzan was upon the ground. The priests screamed out their rage and disappointment. He with the torch took a menacing step toward La and the ape-man. "Traitor!" he shrieked at the woman. "For this you too shall die!" Raising his bludgeon he rushed upon the high priestess; but Tarzan was there before her. Leaping in to close quarters the ape-man seized the upraised weapon and wrenched it from the hands of the frenzied fanatic, and then the priest closed upon him with tooth and nail. Seizing the stocky, stunted body in his mighty hands Tarzan raised the creature high above his head, hurling him at his fellows who were now gathered ready to bear down upon their erstwhile captive. La stood proudly with ready knife behind the ape-man. No faint sign of fear marked her perfect brow—only haughty disdain for her priests and admiration for the man she loved so hopelessly filled her thoughts.

RE-UNION DINNER.

Only those who had shared the same dangers and the same joys on the battlefield could fully appreciate the significance of the Re-union Dinner of the 21st Battalion, held in the British-American Hotel Kingston, Friday. One hundred and seventy veterans, many from outside points, joined the parade which formed up at the G. W. V. A. room, and led by "Nan," the battalion's white goat, and the pipe band, proceeded to the scene of the banquet. Peterboro was chosen as the place of the reunion next year. Capt. Johnston, of Belleville, invited the club for its reunion in 1922. Captain Fraser was appointed secretary-treasurer of the arrangements for next year's reunion.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representative to the Ontario Department of Agiculture;-

The heavy snowfall and gederal winter weather of the past week caught many farmers unprepared. Considerable fall plowing yet remains to be done; fully 25 per cent of the acreage planned for Welland says that some farmers have not yet turned a furrow, while elsewhere many have completed the job.

Rough feed is more plentiful than it was a year ago, and less cattle are being sacrificed. While the number on hand is less than in recent years the demand is strong generally for stockers and feeders, and more steers are being brought in for winter feeding.

Bruce reports that sixteen carloads of cattle were shipped from Paisley during the week.

The slump in the price of bacon hogs is discouraging to raisers. Prices during the week, given by representatives, range from $14.75 to $15.50 a cwt. Brant reports little pigs as selling at from $12 to $20 a pair.

Welland states that several carloads of horses have been purchased during the past week for shipment to Toronto to be sent to lumber camps, and it is expected that about 200 will be shipped during the next few weeks. Good specimens are selling around $200. Hay varies in price, according to locality and shipping conditions. Loose sells at from $20 to $25 a ton; baled at from $25 to $30, and on city markets for delivery up to $35. Several representatives refer to the scarcity of this commodity.

Essex reports that some corn has been delivered to the elevators at 70 cents a bushel.

Many turnips are yet in the ground and some of them are likely to remain there over winter.

A large quantity of apples on the tree were caught by the snow storm during the week, and most of them will be of little use. On the other Huron reports that one dealer has shipped 20,000 barrels of apples from Clifton this fall.

Fall wheat, generally speaking, is vigorous and ready for wintering, with the exception of some early sown which has been injured by the Hessian fly.

Lincoln says: "Labor is more plentiful, but less is now required."

SMALL MYSTERY MAY SOON BE CLEARED UP.

With John Doughty discovered and under arrest, the first thread in the tangled skein of events concerning the disappearance of the Canadian millionaire, Ambrose J. Small, a year ago, has been unravelled. What Doughty can or will tell of Small's disappearance remains to be seen, but his discovery gives promise that the rest of this interesting mystery may be cleared up. The Small case received such world-wide publicity and so much money has been expended in trying to trace the missing millionaire in addition to the huge rewards offered that it seems strange that so little has come of it to date. However, now that Doughty is in the hands of the law it is not unreasonable to suppose that the balance of the mystery will soon be laid bare.

MONEY FOR AMUSEMENTS SEEMS TO BE PLENTIFUL

Murmurs are heard in some quarters of approaching hard times and scarcity of money, but this is not reflected in the patronage of popular amusements, and let it be said that some very punk productions are being foisted upon Canada under the guise of cartoon comedies and musical shows, productions which should never pass the censor, but be politely pointed "this way out of Canada" after the try-out experience. We are too easy, and the Yanks are reaping golden harvests and calling it soft picking. Better a thousand times good pictures at reasonable rates than these punk shows which have the gall to charge one dollar and a half a seat for the privilege of witnessing mediocrity and listening to vulgarity.

Getting back, however, to the high cost of amusements, the following from the Milwaukee Sentinel is interesting:

> The American people may protest roundly at the cost of living; they may give vent to strong emotions when the meat bill rises to an exorbitant figure; the mounting expense of rent, clothing and other necessaries may inspire thoughts of revolution and anarchy in the breast of the most peaceful and law-abiding citizen, but when it comes to amusements there are none of the genus known in the vernacular as pikers. Just a glance at receipts and prospective gains of amusement promoters is sufficient to establish this fact.
> The world's baseball championship series, for instance, attracted the tidy sum of $504,000 to the box office and not a man who stood in line to pay the good price asked for seats or paid the larger sums which an occasional wily speculator managed to procure uttered a whimper of protest. The enormous football crowds, the great throngs at regular season baseball games, and the big receipts at the high priced boxing shows all are evidences of the same willingness to pay well for sporting entertainment. In the theatre the same thing may be observed. The large sums received by motion picture houses in cities where a dollar or more is not regarded as an exceptional price, all emphasize the desire of the American people to be amused regardless of expense. And it is not the profiteer or the millionaire who supports these enterprises, but the average every-day working citizen. It may or may not be a healthy sign. Of course these enterprises give employment to thousands besides enriching producer and promoter. And certainly a country which can afford to merrily pay these big bills for entertainment can hardly be accused of a general poverty among its people.

HOW TO BUILD UP. CHURCH ATTENDANCE.

Forward movements demonstrate that there is no lack of money to back up religious efforts, but there seems little improvement in church attendance, which must be discouraging to pastors and officials and not conducive to healthy, progressive church life. Not that the church services on Sunday constitute the whole of church life and influence, but they are the standard by which the church is generally judged by the public and the Sunday service is designed to be the dynamo which supplies energy to the entire work of the church, and should supply inspiration and ideals for the upright life during the week in home, business and amusements.

Experiments in Canada and the United States have proven that newspaper publicity is a strong factor in increasing church attendance, and supplementing the newspaper publicity with printed church bulletins adds a punch which can not help but be beneficial.

Every church should have a publicity man to see that the activities of the church, past and prospective, are kept before the public, and every organization within the church should have a press representative and publicity person to prepare advertisements and news articles for the press, and supervise the necessary printing.

With the multiplicity of organizations the press can not hope to properly cover everything and only those on the inside conversant with each particular organization can properly present its aims and objects and activities to the reading public.

The advertising columns of the daily newspapers carry a message directly into the homes of the people and afford an opportunity not appreciated as fully as it should be by everybody, and the newspapers are always open and eager for genuine news of interest to readers.

Publicity results can always be measured by the amount and quality of the seed sown; if the seed is meagre and poor the results may be likewise, but with good seed and plenty of it the harvest is bountiful.

We can hear some old-fashioned Christian snorting: "That is just a boost for the newspaper business!" Well, so it is, partly, but we are absolutely sure of this fact, that the newspapers will, as usual, give more than they get.

COURTESY AND COMMON SENSE

Halifax Herald

The great problem of traffic safety can be expressed in these words: "Common Sense and Courtesy." Will you stop and think for a moment? Is it Common Sense or Courtesy for a motorist to come as close to a pedestrian as he can without hitting him? Is it Common Sense or Courtesy to pass a street car standing, loading and unloading passengers? Is it Commonsense or Courtesy to dash across the middle of a block to save a few moments time? It is a gamble, with life and limb as a stake.

Is it Courtesy or Common Sense to stand in the street, particularly at corners, and block vehicular traffic?

Is it Courtesy or Common Sense for either the motorist or pedestrian to disregard traffic signals?

Is it Courtesy or Common Sense to crowd in ahead of those who are patiently waiting in line?

Is it Courtesy or Common Sense to try and get by with even a minor infraction of the traffic ordnance?

Run over in your mind the great problem of traffic and think for yourself wherein you can help neutralize the dangers by using just Courtesy and Common Sense. Think of the lives lost, the people crippled and maimed; think of the homes desolate, and reason out for yourself the problem of your own personal action and responsibility.

HUNTER'S MOON

Now the full splendor of Diana's breast
Gleams, a great pearl, through the unshielding trees;
And swift her arrows will the goddess seize
To hasten forth upon her nightly quest
Of fresh adventure, for no languorous rest
On cloud-soft couch she seeks—the chase will please
Better her eager limbs; in rushing breeze
Or frost-like air delighting, down the west
Her silver sandels outspeed many a star.
And many mortals on the earth below,
Catching from her far horn an echoing bar
Or pierced by o'er-shot arrow from her bow,
Seized with the hunter's madness, in their dreams
Follow enchanted trails blazed by her beams.

The Thing That We Bring

Each day we go down to the office, wondering what we will find;
Over and over and over the thoughts go round in our mind.
But it isn't the things we will find there so much as the spirit we bring,
That will help us to tackle the problems and whistle at work and sing.
The paths of the world are many and we take them to suit our bent,
Wondering amid our seeking what we'll find for our heart's content.
We will only find what we take there what we bring in our hearts to make
The tasks and the life and the loving a blessing for love's dear sake.
It isn't the office what whistles nor the office that tries to sing.
But the music is all in the spirit of the help you try to bring.
All in the joy and the gladness, the purpose, ambition and zeal
You carry along to the battle—all in the way you feel.

Merchants Bank of Canada Reports Record Progress

Marked Expansion in Assistance Bank Has Given to Canadian Trade and Commerce—Savings Deposits Show Large Increase.

The close association established by The Merchants Bank of Canada with the expansion of the business and industry of the Dominion is strikingly shown by the semi-annual statement of the Bank, to October 30th, 1920.

The Merchants Bank, with its complete organization throughout the Dominion, is known for the special assistance to growing and expanding businesses and the report now issued shows that it has been particularly active in this direction during the past year. This is reflected by the increase in current loans and discounts to customers to $120,515,463, as compared with $102,346,514, a gain of $18,168,889

Increase in Capital.

With a view of increasing its facilities to the farmers and merchants and the manufacturers of the country, the Bank has provided for an increase in capital and as a result the paid-up capital now stands at $9,955,970, an increase to date of $1,614,434. At the same time the reserve has been increased by $1,400,000 and now stands at $8,400,000. Both these amounts will be further increased by the instalments still outstanding.

A further substantial gain in savings deposits indicates that the Canadian people are practising habits of thrift. During the year the savings deposits of the banks have been drawn on heavily to meet payments for the last Victory Loan campaign. Notwithstanding this development, the Bank shows a gain in savings deposits of $4,628,040 and total deposits now stand at $170,634,061, up from $166,006,015.

Assets at New High Level.

As a result of the expansion, the total assets established a new high record by crossing the $200,000,000 mark. They now total $209,450,448, against $198,506,572.

Shareholders will take particular pride in the steady expansion shown by the Bank. This development has been the result entirely of the rounding out of its organization and service throughout the country. With more active trade conditions, the Bank is now in a position to reflect the benefit of the complete organization which has been gradually built up over the entire Dominion.

The general statement of assets and liabilities with comparisons with the previous years, shows as follows:—

Dr. W. L. Goodwin, formerly Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science at Queen's University, was in Toronto on Monday in regard to the establishment by the Ontario Department of Mines of schools of instruction at various mining centres. He has been requested to act as Principal and has accepted the task. It is expected that schools will be located at Belleville, Madoc, Cobalt, Porcupine, Fort William and Sault Ste. Marie. The schools are of benefit to prospectors. —Tweed News.

BLAZE AT CRYSTAL HOTEL.

At a few minutes before ten o'clock Saturday night a fire was discovered in a bedroom on the third floor of the Crystal Hotel. Fortunately the blaze was nipped in its inception and but little damage was sustained. Extinguishers were used by the fire department in putting out the blaze. A man named Williamson occupied the room and it is alleged that he dropped a lighted cigarette, causing the blaze.

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET.

The merchants and business men of the town of Picton and adjoining county to the number of 140 were tendered a banquet at the Royal Hotel as guests of Mayor Newman. Owing to the pessimism prevailing over the deflation of prices of merchandise Mayor Newman conceived the idea of a "get-together" meeting to discuss the best methods of dealing with the present market conditions. Mr. Newman is also president of the Board of Trade and an enthusiastic business man. A. J. Young, North Bay; William Taylor, Owen Sound, ex-president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario; H. Blain of the Eby-Blain Co., Toronto, and ex-president of the Toronto Board of Trade; Hon. Nelson Parliament and Mr. A. O. Hogg, Toronto, addressed the assembly, together with Warden Hazel and several prominent local business men. The speeches savored of community spirit and optimism for the future.

Welcome To Bride From Over The Sea

A very happy evening was spent at the home of Mr. Blake Bidell, South Cannifton, when some sixty people assembled and gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. George Rosevear, a war bride, lately arrived from England, and to honor Mr. Rosevear, as a patriotic soldier of the King.

The Rev. J. S. McMullen called the happy company to order about nine o'clock, when all engaged in singing, "When the roll is called up yonder I'll be there." After prayer was offered and other numbers were sung, the following complimentary address was read, and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Rosevear and was acknowledged by them in fitting terms. The entire company then united in singing "Blest be the tie that binds," after which numerous congratulatory addresses were delivered, a dainty repast was enjoyed, and the gathering broke up about eleven o'clock, leaving their good wishes and many useful gifts behind to cheer and materially assist Mr. and Mrs. Rosevear in setting up house amongst us.

Cannifton, Nov. 22, 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rosevear.

Dear Friends,—We, a number of your neighbors and friends of Cannifton and Corbyville community, hearing of the arrival of Mrs. Rosevear as a war bride from England, and knowing that you had settled your plans to remain and live amongst us, have felt it our hearty desire and Christian duty to call upon you tonight to express our sincere interest in you, and our prayers and well wishes for your future happiness and prosperity. Having been married far from us in the old home-land of England and under war conditions it was impossible for us (at the time) as residents of Mr. Rosevear's old home community to meet and present our tokens of esteem and wish you both a happy, prosperous sail upon the sea of matrimony, which we all unite in doing tonight.

Dear Mrs. Rosevear, we are not unmindful at this time of the long voyage you have taken from your old home and friends far over the seas to join your soldier husband in Canada, the land of your adoption and to set up your new home in our midst.

We extend to you the glad hand of welcome, and assure you that we are happy in receiving you into the circle of our friendship and association, hoping that our future days may be made pleasant and profitable by our mutual faith and fellowship.

We cannot forget, on this occasion the fact that Mr. Rosevear volunteered for service at the front on the outbreak of hostilities, and as a patriotic soldier of the King took our place amid the shot and shell and endured all the hardships of the conflict that we might live and enjoy British institutions and freedom in peace and safety at home.

We ask you both to accept these numerous personal tokens, not for their intrinsic value, but because of the love that prompted the gifts. We shall be happy in the thought that you are cheered and in any degree helped in your task of taking up housekeeping amongst us.

Signed in behalf of the community:
ED. J. SHOREY.
J. S. McMULLEN.
MRS. A. LOUCKS.

"Certainly Did the Work for Me"

Never Expected to Be Well Again But Tanlac Restored Him To Splendid Health

"I had fallen off thirty pounds in weight and never expected to be well again, but I have gained back every pound I lost and feel better than I have at any time in the past ten years," said Charles J. Ramsay, 114 Guvens street, Toronto, Ont., baggage master on the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

"Back in 1910," said Mr. Ramsay, "I suffered a general breakdown and I have been in bad health from then until the time I started taking Tanlac. My appetite was so poor that I couldn't eat enough to keep up my strength and I went down to one hundred and thirty pounds in weight. My liver was out of order and I felt weak and sluggish all the time.

"Dizzy spells often came on me and I would have to catch hold of the sides of the car to keep from falling over. At night I would lie awake anywhere from one to four hours after going to bed and when morning came I never wanted to get up, for I felt too weak to do a thing.

"Finally my daughter brought me a bottle of Tanlac and it certainly did the work for me. The first thing it did was to bring back my appetite and I began to take on weight right away. From then on I picked up fast and before long was in such fine shape I didn't feel like the same man. The dizzy spells left me and my liver didn't bother me and I was sleeping as sound as a boy. This was seven months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as a man could want. Nothing ever troubles me and I feel fine all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's Drug Store, and at the leading druggists in every town.

ADRIANOPLE.

Another Historic Happening In an Ancient City.

"The entry of Greek troops into Adrianople is an event in secular history fairly comparable to the investiture of Jerusalem by Allenby's army, for this Turkish city has for nearly 2,000 years been a weather vane of world politics," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

"The rebuilding of the ancient Tracian town by Hadrian, who gave it his name, signalized a high point in the power of the Roman Empire. The decline of Rome was foreshadowed some two centuries later when the Goths defeated Valens there and made their first break through the Roman frontier.

"Next Adrianople was the setting for the Turk's advent into Europe. There Murad I. established himself, planned the capture of Constantinople and sent out expeditions to subdue various Christian peoples. For a time the European capital of the Sultans, Adrianople was relegated to be the chief bulwark of Constantinople. There Turk first met Slav, and there the Russians finally forced their way to the Black Sea by a treaty which also loosened the Turkish hold on the Caucasus and compelled recognition of the independence of Greece.

"Adrianople is on the Maritza, Hebrus of Grecian legend, where Orpheus was dismembered by the Tracian women, also celebrated, under its later name, in Bulgarian song and story. It is 137 miles by rail northwest of Constantinople.

"To-day the city wears its past glory with a sort of shabby gentility, with no pretension of prosperity, but less squalor than the usual Turkish city. It possesses the grave of the first Murad, or Amurath, who was assassinated in his tent after he had vanquished an army of Christian allies on the field of Kossovo.

"A mosque bearing the name of Sultan Baiezid recalls that monarch, whose first official act was to order the execution of his brother, who was the first Ottoman ruler to call himself Sultan, whose conquests finally were checked when he was taken prisoner by Tamperlane. But the architectural masterpiece of Adrianople is the Selimiek, product of a Greek tribute-boy's genius and relic of the reign of Selim II., the Louis XV. of Turkey.

"Yearly the Turks would seize a certain number of sons of their Chritsian subjects, and in Sinan they found they had acquired a skilled bridge builder. They allowed him to follow his bent, and the Shahzadeh, at Constantinople; the Suleiman, at Stamboul, and the third famed mosque at Adrianople, were given to posterity. The Selemieh rests upon the highest hill in Adrianople, and four lofty minarets tower far above a massive dome.

"Formerly Adrianople was a thriving commercial city. But its foreign trade was reduced greatly within the last fifty years by Russian penetration into Turkey's dominion and by tariff barriers of Balkan states. It is on the railway from Belgrade and Sofia to Constantinople.

"Bazaars line narrow streets, and it has been said that these, in pre-war days, with their Austrian crockery, German iron pieces, French jewelry, British textiles and American phonograph to do duty as 'barkers,' contained 'nothing Turkish save the dirt.' The city's population is a conglomeration of Turks, Greeks, Jews and Armenians."

Why Draughts Give Colds.

Many doctors have told us that chilling the surface of a body, as by a draught or a cold douche, cannot cause a cold or cough. Nevertheless many persons know only too well that they do catch cold whenever they sit in a draught. A group of Italian physicians has been studying this apparent contradiction, and one of them—Dr. Gocatti—reports that the temperature of the expired air rises or falls as that of the skin rises or falls, and does not correspond to the temperature of the blood. As the skin is chilled the surface blood vessels contract and the expired air becomes cooler. That there must, therefore, be a close nervous connection between the vessels of the skin and the vessels of the air in the lungs is determined by the blood in these vessels and when these contract the air becomes cooler. It may be that the sudden constriction of these vessels favors infection by the germs that are always present in the throat.

The Ebullioscope.

Prohibition has developed an apparatus known as the ebullioscope, which shows accurately the boiling points of liquids and which brewers find useful for making offhand determinations of the alcoholic strength of the brew while the product is still in the plant. Another instrument, known as the cryoscope, which works on exactly the opposite principle, showing the varying densities of liquids at the freezing point, is used for ascertaining the quality of milk.

French Textiles.

The textile industry of France employed about 188,000 men in 1914, of whom only eight per cent. had returned by July, 1919. Last December, however, more than 33 per cent. were back at work, or about four times as many as in July. Six times as many miners were at work in December as in July, and twice as many in hardware and metal factories.

Usually the Way of It.

Scandalizing She: "Everybody knows about it. Some people take her part and some her husband's."

Mere Man: "And a few eccentric individuals mind their own business."

Benevolence.

"Then you have no sympathy for the deserving poor?" asked a man who was collecting for charity.

"I?" replied the rich man. "Why, sir, I have nothing but sympathy for them."

LOST THE ADDRESS

A farmer who was upon the market on Saturday disposed of six bags of potatoes and two bushels of apples. Upon a slip of paper he wrote the names and addresses of the parties to whom he sold the produce but unfortunately lost the paper. The potatoes and apples were left at the police station and two bags of potatoes have been claimed. No only did the farmer leave the articles in question at the station but also a sum of money to repay the purchasers for the trouble of getting them.

Woman Slain, House Burned

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—Word of murder and attempted murder was received here. The occurrence was at St. Veronique de Turgeon, near L'Annonciation, Labelle county, Quebec, and detectives have been sent to investigate.

It was stated that the victim, Mrs. N. Claremont, 41, of St. Veronique, had been stabbed several times with a pocket knife and her home afterward burned down. Her son, Oscar Claremont, 20, was found in a nearby stable with severe cuts about his head, face, hands, feet and body.

CITY COUNCIL

A regular session of the city council will be held this evening. The business to be transacted is chiefly of a routine nature.

Health in City and Country.

Are city dwellers less subject to disease than the country bred, after all? Statistics from the cantonments seem to show it, and an editorial writer in the Journal of the American Medical Association suggests that although the city may harbor more disease germs than the country the dwellers in it may have become comparatively immune. It is well known that the natives of remote islands to which the "diseases of civilization" have never penetrated are ravaged by them to an unheard of degree when they are introduced by the white man. Possibly a rural district, though inherently free from disease, may for that very reason yield more rapidly to infection when it comes. Study of conditions such as these, the writer notes, has been greatly facilitated by the existence of large bodies of men mobilized in army camps subject to systematized medical supervision which has furnished unique opportunities for gathering statistics on an unprecedented scale.

Wireless Works Best by Night.

As a result of certain observations made during the solar eclipse of May 29 last, further evidence is forthcoming with regard to the phenomena of day and night wireless signaling.

Under normal conditions the wireless station at Meudon, Paris, is unable to receive daylight signals from Ascension Island, but can do so during the hours of darkness. During the eclipse, which was not visible in France and only partially visible in Ascension, special tests were made between the two stations, and it was found that while the moon's shadow passed between them Ascension was quite audible at Meudon, the signals failing as the shadow passed away. This may be taken as additional proof that the increase in the distance at which a given transmitter is able to affect a given receiver as a result of nightfall, is due to the diminution of the effect of solar radiation on electromagnetic waves.

To Preserve "Paul Jones House."

The threat to destroy the "Paul Jones house" in Portsmouth, N. H., has resulted in the formation of a new historical society in that city, which is determined to purchase the place and preserve it for future Americans, to commemorate the memory of Capt. John Paul Jones. The house is that in which he lived, as a boarder, during the time the United States ship Ranger, which he afterward commanded, was being built. The house was forty years old when he found lodgings in it, having been built in 1730 by Captain Gregory Purcell, an old-time merchant.

BATTLED OVER PIPE ORGAN

Its Introduction Into Scottish Church, for Which James Watt Was Responsible, Made Trouble.

The current appreciations of James Watt, inventor of the steam engine, have not, so far as we have seen, called forth any protest from the Wee Frees.

Yet Watt was responsible for the first pipe organ built in Scotland, and round it raged one of the fiercest controversies in the history of the movement against instrumental music in the Scottish church.

The story of the organ itself was told fully when the instrument was given a year ago to the Glasgow corporation. It was built by Watt in his house in High street in 1762, and in 1807 found its way into St. Andrew's church, Glasgow. On hearing that the organ was to be played during divine service, the lord provost of the day wrote to Dr. Ritchie, minister of the church, and an enthusiastic fiddler, "begging to know of him if such was really the case," and adding that, if so, he would consider it his duty to enter a solemn protest against him and the congregation for all damages which might be the consequence. Dr. Ritchie was also held personally responsible for "any breach of the peace which might possibly be occasioned by the innovation he had attempted to introduce."

After being used for one Sunday, the organ was closed by command of the Presbytery; and then the floods of controversy were let loose. The "friends of music" were forcible, if not very polite, in a series of pamphlets. Both sides, of course, quoted Scripture freely; and in a Presbytery minute the writer of the pro-organ pamphlets was convicted of "culpable inaccuracy and a scandalous violation of the truth." History, so far as we know, does not record what Watt thought of it all.

The old organ is now the property of Glasgow corporation and stands in the Central hall of the Kelven-Grove galleries.

"Smoked Irishman."

"Shure, there's no man livin' as can mock me good County Clare brogue without feelin' th' weight o' me hands."

Sergeant James Xavier McGillin, United States marine corps, told this to the wide world as he stepped ashore at Charleston, S. C., recently from the transport which had carried him back from two years in the West Indies. He had a tale to tell, and this is how he told it:

"On the way up," he continued (brogue deleted for the benefit of the linotypers), "we stopped off at Nassau, in the Bahamas. I was walking along the street when up to me steps one of them natives with a face as black as me old mother's stove.

"'Shure an' 'tis a foine day fer th' Oirish,' says he to me. I makes to slough him, when another marine grabs me by the arm. He'd been there before, this other marine, and he explains it all.

"It seems that a hundred years ago—or maybe it was a thousand—the British sends one of their English regiments of Irishmen to the Bahamas, and the natives learned English from them. Ever since they've talked with a brogue."

Few Town Criers Left.

There are hardly any town criers left in England now. At Wycombe, this post, which has been held by members of one family for 80 years, lapses with the resignation of the present holder. "Oyez! oyez! oyez!" and the ringing of the bell will cease to be heard in the little old town, as it has ceased to be heard in many towns within the last ten years. In rural districts of France, by the way, public proclamations are made by the "garde champetre," a kind of keeper, or village policeman, whose office embraces various functions. Evidently in Shakespeare's day common criers had no great reputation for elocutionary skill, for Hamlet admonishes his players: "Speak the speech . . . trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it . . . I had as lief the town crier spoke my lines."

Large College Attendance.

There were 56,835 students enrolled in a scattering of 11 universities and colleges in the United States, taking figures of registrars for October, according to a statement issued by the Intercollegiate association. The enrollments of the colleges named, which are generally indicative of heavy collegiate attendance, are as follows: University of Michigan, 8,235; New York university, 7,614; Ohio State university, 7,244; University of Wisconsin, 7,087; University of Pennsylvania, 6,846; University of Texas, 3,679; Yale university, 3,461; University of Kansas, 3,305; Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, 3,283; University of Missouri, 3,116; Pennsylvania State college, 3,065.

A Traveling Shop.

Margaret Fillingham, an English ex-service woman, declares that she simply could not perform indoor duties after her out-of-doors work in the army, so she and a friend bought, first a hawker's license, then a caravan and finally a stock of women's small wares, and now they are traveling from town to town in England, dispensing their wares along the way.

According to Miss Fillingham, they have made a hit. Their rural and small town sisters promise them their patronage and invite them to call regularly.

It seems that a carpenter hit upon the same plan, for they tell of meeting him in their travels, pursuing his trade in the same manner.

HID HER DIAMONDS IN OLD SHOE

Because a prospective customer complained she could not get her feet into one of a pair of shoes at the Eastern Star rummage sale at New Bedford, Mass., the volunteer clerk investigated and found in the toe a small oblong box which contained four diamond rings and a brooch valued at $1,500. The jewelry was traced to Mrs. Thomas H. Jones, who had placed it there as protection from burglars and had forgotten about it until it was returned to her.

Principal Lloyd Shaw demonstrated to a high school class in biology recently that angle-worms are edible, following a lecture on the worm. Asked if the worms were edible, Mr. Shaw replied there was no reason why they should not be. New Industrial Commissioner Editor Herity Gets Position

TO OCCUPY DUAL POSITION OF SECRETARY-MANAGER OF BELLEVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER FOR THE CITY—CITY COUNCIL TO PROVIDE FOUR OPEN-AIR SKATING RINKS—DISCUSSION ON CHANGING NAMES OF STREETS.

Previous to the City Council session last evening the greater number of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce had an informal meeting with the Mayor and Aldermen in reference to the appointment of an Industrial Commissioner who would also be the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Col. Marsh, Mr. W. B. Deacon and H. W. Ackerman were the spokesmen and stated that the directors were una[illegible] selection of Mr. J. O. Herity for the position of Secretary and desired that the Council act in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce in [illegible] matt[illegible]. The result of the conference was that [illegible] recommended for the dual position. [illegible] of the Council was rather long out, lasting until after eleven o'clock. A motion was adopted appointing Mr. Herity Industrial Commissioner at a salary of $1,500 per annum, [illegible] duties to commence on December 1st. Other matters were disposed of, including a motion to provide four open skating rinks in the city.

Members present were Mayor Riggs, Aldermen Woodley, Ostrom, H[illegible], Bone, Ponton, Doyle, Wensley, Demarsh, Adams and Doyle.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Reports of committees, communications, etc., were laid upon the table and the council went into committee of the whole on reports, etc., Ald. Ostrom in the chair.

The accounts passed by the committees were endorsed and the following recommendations adopted:

That Thomas F. Wills be appointed to act as fuel controller if it is found that local conditions require it.

That Thos. Manley receive 50 per cent. of his contract price on the construction of Burnham street sewer.

Thanks to Council.

Thanks to the City Council were tendered by the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the Council chamber for the holding of the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.—Ordered to be filed.

A communication was read in reference to the condition of a drain on Henry street, which was blocked up.—Referred to the street foreman to attend to.

Proposed Garage.

Mr. Sparks wrote the Council relative to erecting a garage on the corner of Everett street and West Bridge street.

A report was read from the City Engineer who had interviewed residents in that locality and about 60 per cent. were opposed to the erection of a garage on the lot specified.

Ald. Ponton said the people there had rights, and they objected to a gasoline tank being sunk there, which would mean increased insurance. There are other available places near that vicinity. Sixty per cent. of the residents are opposed to the proposition. That was also a restricted area under bylaw.

Ald. Adams did not think it was a wise move to make that portion of Bridge street west a restricted area, as it is a business section.

Ald. Woodley thought that before the Council took action in the matter all the members should look over the proposed site.

Ald. Ponton—The dairy building on Coleman street was to have been a nice building, and perhaps it will be in time; but at present some of the buildings are by no means nice—rather an eye-sore. He would back up the majority who were opposed to the proposition.

On motion the matter was laid over for further consideration after Ald. Ostrom had spoken in favor of the restricted area being sustained. We cannot, he said, go against the wishes of the majority for one person.

Renaming of Streets.

Mr. P. O. Pitney stated that he had been sent to the Council by Mr. Gillen, postmaster, relative to the proposed changing of names of streets. The postmaster would like the Council to consider some suggestions from the post office department. There is confusion today with mail where streets are designated as east and west, as scarcely any letter is designated as east or west. There are also two or three streets named alike; for instance, there is a Park street in the city and a Park street on College Hill; a Herchimer Avenue adjacent to the city and a Herchimer street in the city. There are other changes which the post office would suggest.

The changes suggested by Mr. Pitney were left with the Council to consider.

Belleville Traditions.

Ald. Ponton said Belleville had traditions which should be preserved. Some of the streets had been after families who had been prominent in the city.

Ald. Bone was in favor of all east Belleville streets being retained by the names [illegible] present.

Ald. Ponton said there are things [illegible] more in the city than changing the names of streets. The City Solicitor has pointed out the difficulties, and the cost will be considerable. If [illegible] going to change the names of the [illegible] change the name of the city.

A motion prevailed that the matter be referred to the special committee for further consideration.

The committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

Council's Action Appreciated.

Mr. J. Elliott thanked the Council for assisting in the entertainment of the delegates of the Chambers of Commerce and Associated Boards of Trade, held in the city last week.—Received and filed.

Enquiries.

Ald. Ponton made the following enquiries:

Has your Worship the Mayor, as a member of the Board of Health, any knowledge of the reason that honorable body refused to pass a report asked for by the Council?

Mayor Riggs said there had been no meeting of the Board for two months.

Ald. Ponton—Has your Worship the Mayor, as a member of the advisory committee of the Hospital Board interviewed the Superintendent of the Hospital with regard to her resignation?

Mayor Riggs—No.

Ald. Ponton—Can your Worship inform this Council as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Hospital Board if the hospital staff and the medical profession was consulted in reference to the resignation of the Superintendent?

Mayor Riggs—I do not know.

Ald. Ponton—Is the rumor true that the Advisory Committee of the Hospital Board intimated or said that they would tell the City Council it was none of their business?

Mayor Riggs—Not to my knowledge.

Ald. Ponton said these questions weer not of a personal nature to the Mayor. He (the speaker) had not taken sides in the matter. He was anxious only that justice be done.

Ald. Bone asked if it was the Council's intention to bill the provincial government with the expense of making changes in the roadbed of Murney Hill, as at first it laid in accordance with the Government engineer's plans.

No one could answer the enquiry.

Ald. Bone—Are the instruments in use for taking the temperature and rain-fall?

Ald. Woodley—A receptacle has to be constructed.

Ald Woodley stated that it had taken five months to get two hydrants.

The schooner Oliver Mowat ran aground in Big Bay, while being towed to this port by the tug Mary Robinson, and a tug and lighter had to be sent to unload some of her cargo, and it is expected that the boats will reach Belleville tonight.

The schooner Lyman H. Davis has been reported at Descronto and will arrive in port during the night.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS IN ENGLAND CLOSELY GUARDED AGAINST SINN FEIN ATTACKS—LONDON PROTECTED BY LAND AND WATER PATROLS — DOWNING STREET FENCED IN.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Public buildings in London and many other large cities of England were closely guarded against apprehended Sinn Fein attacks by heavy detachments of police and detectives last night. In this city the patrol was not limited to the streets, but armed motor boats moved up and down the Thames in front of the Parliament Buildings, with Downing Street and its immediate neighborhood shut off from the rest of the city by a high fence which was constantly under the eyes of uniformed men, and with the Parliament Buildings sentineled the government sections of London today assumed the atmosphere of an armed camp.

One of the boys is very seriously ill, and grave doubts are entertained as to his recovery. Faluris appeared in court yesterday but was remanded a week. One of [illegible] boys being unable to move himself, [illegible] became gradually worse and worse, until removed to the hospital. If either of the men should die there would be a serious charge against the vendor of the poison. A man named Lewis died not long ago, and it is said his condition was somewhat the same before his death as that of these boys.

St. John, N. Thereupon the meeting turned on the mayor, who was regarded as attempting to befriend Crawford. He was hissed and jeered, and finally a resolution was passed, with the Mayor the only dissentient, calling upon the city authorities to prevent Mr. Crawford from speaking. The Mayor claims that this is beyond the powers of the city.

Try To Upset Mary's Divorce

Minden, Nev. Nov. 30.—A long and spirited court fight over the legality of the divorce of Mary Pickford, film favorite, from Owen Moore, actor, was a practical certainty when attorneys assembled here for the argument on the motion of Mary's attorneys to quash the action brought by the State of Nevada to annul her divorce.

One of the first moves, it was learned, will probably be an attempt by the attorneys for the state to disqualify Judge Langen, who is presiding in the case. He was the judge who granted the original divorce.

Whichever way the decision on today's motion goes, attorneys said, an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court of Nevada.

Brockville, Nov. 30.—Credit for having stopped G.T.R. express No. 16 after it left the rails at York, thus reducing the casuality roll, when the railed coaches were sideswiped by a passing frieght, was given yesterday by Conductor H. McMillan, who had charge of the train, to Baggagemen Percy Conrad of Montreal. The dead porter, Brown, said McMillan, may have been making for the emergency brake when he was struck, but the brake had already been applied in the baggage car by Conrad who thus chekked the speed of the train and prevented further loss of life.

DROWNED IN SIGHT OF HELPLESS HUNDREDS

Moncton, N.B., Nov. 30.—Drowned in sight of scores unable to render assistance was the tragic fate of Thos. Fougere, a resident of Shediac Island who attempted to reach the mainland during the heavy gale and storm that prevailed along the coast recently. He left Shediac Island about ten o'clock in the morning in a rowboat alone, to cross Shediac Bay to Shediac Bridge. When about two hundred yards from the mainland his boat got caught in the heavy slush and he was unable to extricate himself. His predicament was observed from the mainland and efforts were made to reach him, but without avail. Fougere remained in his perilous position until half-past four in the afternoon. Being benumbed by the cold and fearing that there was little chance of help reaching him he decided rather than face freezing to death or drowning during the night, to try and reach shore by walking over the drifts of snow and ice. He fastened a couple of boards on his feet to act as snowshoes and started for shore. He succeeded in getting only a few yards from the boat when he sank in view of the spectators on shore.

It was the opinion of those devising means to reach the unfortunate man that had he remained in the boat he would have been rescued. He leaves a widow and family of ten children, who live on Shediac Island.

Five Years Sentence for Charles Ponzi

Boston, Nov. 30.—Charles Ponsi, promoter of the "Get Rich Quick" scheme in which thousands of persons invested millions of dollars before it collapsed last August, pleaded guilty to using the mails in a scheme to defraud in the Federal District Court today. Sentence of five years in Plymouth County jail was imposed by Judge Hale. The court took into consideration only the first count of one indictment of forty three counts, in which it was charged that Ponsi had represented falsely that he was able to pay interest at a rate of fifty per cent. in forty five day from profits made in International Postal reply coupons.

Industrial Alcohol Potent Force in Canada's Developement

ROTARIAN GEORGE APPELL OUTLINES TO MEMBERS OF BELLEVILLE ROTARY CLUB POSSIBILITIES OF INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL FOR FUEL, LIGHT AND POWER AS SUBSTITUTE FOR PETROLEUM AND OTHER USES—INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS.

At the regular weekly gathering of the Belleville Rotary Club Monday the members were very much interested by an instructive address from Rotarian George Appell, chief chemist of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Limited, Corbyville, upon the possibilities of industrial alcohol in connection with Canada's manufacturing interests.

Rotarian Appell's address was in part as follows:

Before Kaisers and Statesmen declare war, it behooves them to learn how much acohol their nation is producing and consuming in an industrial way. Because of her failure to encourage the fullest development of Industrial Alcohol before the memorable year of 1914, Canada was placed in the awkward position whereby alcohol for the manufacture of munitions and a hundred other articles of field equipment must needs be imported or else, import the finished articles themselves.

Such conditions were materially modified when the management of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Limited of Montreal, Que., and Corbyville, Ontario, re-designed and augmented their plant and placed it under modern scientific control; thereby affecting the delivery each month of 500,000 proof gallons of alcohol to the Imperials Munitions Board and the Aetna Explosives Company. This was another example of Canadian patriotism and courage, backed up with the unclouded vision that Canada's industrial expansion when the war had been won, would be sorely in need of alcohol, free of excise tax, and of all restrictions that would curtail it's use by the many manufacturers to whom it is just as much a process material as is lime, sulphuric acid, leather, cotton, ores, etc.

Government Aid

When the vital significance of tax free alcohol was brought to the attention of the present Government early in the year 1919, the Advisory Council for Industrial and Scientific Research was invited to draw up a Bill adequately covering the situation. The object of this legislation was, on the one hand, to permit the manufacture and sale of alcohol, tax free for use by the public as an article of general utility, for light heat, and fuel. Also for use in the manufacture of about a hundred and fifty articles of commerce, for use in hospitals, laboratories and educational institutions. On the other hand to protect the Government against mis-use of such alcohol and prevent it's being diverted for beverage purposes. The Council drew up a Bill which was substantially the same as the legislation enacted in England back in 1908 and which paralelled that of the United States, France and Belgium, Italy and Germany. Not until the close of the present session of Parliament was anything accomplished, when Bill No. 178 was enacted. Unfortunately it was very poorly modified from the original one endorsed by the Advisory Council, nevertheless it represents a step forward towards the ultimate goal. Doubtless a succeeding Parliament will add the necessary amendments when it is shown how easily it's terms can be administered and what hearty co-operation will be accorded the Department of Inland Revenue by those manufacturers and dealers who will benefit therefrom.

What it Means

Translated into every day working conditions, the terms of the Bill mean that (1st) the alcohol will be denatured with some chemical to render it poisonous if taken internally; at the same time it's properties for the many general uses will be not in the least affected. It will be put before the general public as "Methyl-Hydrate"—Poison" and it's distribution will be through the same channels as any other commodity which can be used as a cleaner, carbon-remover, fuel for chafing dishes, coffee urns, lamps, etc. Anti-freeze mixture or motor fuel. It should not take the public very long to become acquainted with the advantages and varied uses of this commodity (2nd) These manufacturers who in their processing, need alcohol as an agent, solvent, parcipitant or raw material, may apply to the Department of Inland Revenue for a permit to purchase alcohol in admixture with suitable amounts of approved chemicals that would conform with their particular process of manufacture, and at the same time render the alcohol unfit for beverage purposes. They will have to comply with certain departmental regulations as a protection against any unscrupulous attempts to recover the alcohol contained in this specially denatured grade.

Articles Requiring Alcohol

It will probably be a revelation to many that the manufacturers of the following commodities require alcohol in varying quantities—Acetic Ether (or Ethyl Acetate) wool fat or lanolin, alkaloids and fine chemicals, barometer and thermometer tubes, spirit levels, benzo-napthol, brushes, chemicals and pharmaceuticals, cocoa butter, confectioners colors, cutlery, dental alloy, disinfectants and germicides, door checks, embalming fluid, essential oils ethyl chloride, filaments for incandescent electric lamps, formaldyzone, cleaning and gelatine capsules, glycerine, glycerophosphates, hats, (fert and others) inks, jewellery and watches, lacquers, pastes and varnishes for soluble cotton, liquid paints, mirrors, mouldings, picture frames moth repellents, non-scatterable glass, photographic dry plates and films, pianos, polish for metals, pepsin, post-cards and colors, refining mineral oils, refining precious metals, transparent and liquid soaps, salo, shellac, varnish, shellac reducer, shoe polish, silverware and bronze, smokeless powder, soldering flux, solid medicinal extracts, surgical ligatures, varnish remover, wood finish and furniture manufacture, celluloid and pyralin products, ether, fulminate of mercury, imitation leather, purification of rubber, all kinds of smoking tobacco, deodorants, photo engravings, santonine, milk protein, artificial silks, vinegar, chloroform, phenacetine, various tinctures and liniments and many others.

In the past alcohol for such commodities could only be obtained either from the Inland Revenue Methylating Division at Ottawa, or else from the distiller, when a heavy excise tax had to be paid, and in many cases their manufacture could not compete with similar products imported from countries where alcohol was tax free and therefore, cheap, nor was it hedged in with restrictions as to its production, distribution and use. Now to illustrate operations under the new conditions, let us take for example those requiring alcohol for filaments for incandescent lamps, inks, post-cards and color, moulding and picture frames, jewellery and watches, can obtain Methyl Hydrate direct from the manufacturer or any dealer. However, those manufacturing transparent soaps cannot use this grade effectively in their process, therefore, upon receipt of a departmental permit are able to secure direct from the manufacturer or dealer, alcohol to which castor oil and caustic soda have been added. This admixture while decidedly unfit for cock-tails, makes a suitable material for processing soap. Also the manufacturers of photographic materials be able under similar conditions to secure alcohol in admixture with cadmium, iodide and ammonium iodide.

Industrial Prospects

What is tax free industrial alcohol going to do for Canada? We can only base calculations on developments in other countries. Germany was produc

Two Hundred Patients Carried From Burning Hospital

SERIOUS FIRE AT MUSKOKA HOSPITAL FOR TUBERCULOSIS PATIENTS — HEROISM OF TORONTO NURSES—MANY BED CASES MADE WORK OF CLEARING WARDS DIFFICULT.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Nov. 30.—Two hundred patients were carried to safety this morning when fire destroyed the main building of the Gravenhurst Hospital for Consumptives.

One of the outstanding incidents was the heroism of Miss Lillian Powell, a Toronto nurse, who carried another woman to safety. Miss Powell, a patient-nurse in the main building, is given much credit for her action in carrying the woman from the second storey window to the fire escape. The fact that the main building was devoted to bed cases made the work of clearing the wards all the more difficult.

DAY OF PRAYER

The Woman's Missionary Societies of Bridge St. Church, Tabernacle, Holloway St. Bayside and Aikens, on Tuesday, Nov. 23rd, observed a day of prayer in Holloway St. Methodist church. Miss Ida Martin of that church presided in her usual capable manner. Miss Hawley of Bridge St. Auxiliary explained that the Board of management had asked this year, the Fourteenth Birthday of the Woman's Missionary Society for 40,000 new members, 20 per cent increase in funds and for 20 new missionaries. This can only be accomplished by concerted, enthusiastic, co-operative endeavour and much prayer on the members. The first hour of the service was under the leadership of Mrs. Sharpe of the Tabernacle with the "Home Base" as Theme. Then Mrs. Booth of Holloway St. Auxiliary described and pinted out on the map the various Domestic missions in our Canada this was followed by a Round Table Conference. After lunch and the social hour the subject "Our Missionaries" was presented by Miss Jones and Mr. Bailey prayed earnestly for our workers in Home and Foreign Fields. The next hour was taken by Mrs. Joblin and Mrs. Mutten of Bayside with Japan as theme. This field has asked for seven new workers this year. The needs of China were then brought forward by Miss Hawley, of Bridge St. Thirty nine new workers are asked for in China including doctors, nurses, dentists and pharmacists, besides pastoral educational and special workers.

A strong appeal for the organization of more Circles was urged by Miss Morden. During the day, fervent prayers were offered beseechingly for an outpouring of God's Holy Spirit upon the church at home and abroad that God's Holy Spirit upon the church at home and abroad; that God would inspire, comfort and strengthen our workers in the Orient; That the great student force in our Universities may realize and embrace the opportunity to serve God in the mission field; That the native workers in the Orient may be inspired and blessed in their work; That our District, this year, may have a Volunteer for the Great Work. Several young ladies of Albert College Circle added much to the success of the afternoon session and their earnest prayers were an inspiration to all present.

Those privileged to attend this special Day of prayer decided to set asi such a day each year.

CARGO OF LIVE EELS.

Owing to the heavy wind storms on lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river, many lake going boats have been forced to remain moored at the Cape Vincent breakwater. Among the boats there is the Ethel Q. a Canadian steam tug, which has a tow of four canal barges. The canal boats have an unusual cargo of live eels, which were shipped from Quebec and are en route to New York city for export among the Italian element in the city. The four boats hold together a cargo of 175,000 pounds of the eels.

Municipal Fire Insurance Advocated for Belleville

PLACED BEFORE CITY COUNCIL IN LETTER FROM MR. J. N. PRINGLE AND ENDORSED BY W. C. MIKEL, K.C.—LOWER RATES FOR OWNERS OF BUILDINGS AND REVENUE FOR CITY CLAIMED BY ADVOCATES OF MUNICIPAL FIRE INSURANCE.

Municipal fire insurance as a means of effecting cheaper insurance rates, and making money for the municipality, was brought before the city council, Monday evening in a letter from Mr. J. N. Pringle and endorsed in person by W. C. Mikel, K.C. Mr. Pringle's letter and Mr. Mikel's argument in favor of municipal fire insurance were as follows:

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 29, 1920

To His Worship Mayor W. B. Riggs, and Aldermen of the City Council,
Belleville, Ont.

Gentlemen—

I have been giving some thought to the question of Municipal Fire Insurance and there seems to be no reason why the city could not make considerable money out of it. The difference between the fire insurance premiums and the fire losses in Canada amount to about $30,000,000 in a year, and it will be found over the last 25 years in Belleville that the difference between the premiums and losses would have made the city well on to one million dollars, and I believe the next 25 years will produce a better result. If only the city was doing the insurance of Belleville every citizen would feel that he was a fire fighter and would naturally be more interested in guarding against losses by preventing fires. In this way the profit would be greater than if the risk was carried by private companies. These are the days of public ownership. I ask you to have this investigated and give it a trial. Our city has been a good money spender, let us now try money-making.

Yours truly
J. N. PRINGLE

Endorsed by Mr. Mikel

Mr. W. C. Mikel, K. C., in supporting the proposition said that Belleville has been enjoying an era of spending money and it is refreshing to have some one arise amongst us and advocate a scheme to make money.

The following increases show the extent of our rising tide of expenditures. They do not show the expenditures of 1920.

Debenture debt, 1909, $900,147.68; 1919, $1,392,853.[illegible]; increase 54 per cent. Assessment, 1909, $4,274,798.00; 1919, $6,588,615.00; increase 54 per cent; Rate, 1909, 27; 1919, 32 1-10; increase, 18 per cent.

This would make the taxpayer pause and inquire whether we are getting value for all this increase and whether we cannot devise some means for increasing our revenue without adding further burdens to the taxpayer.

The suggestion of Municipal fire insurance is well worthy of investigation and consideration. If the city can make from $25,000 to $50,000 a year in this way it would help materially and not add to the burdens of the taxpayer.

This is the age of public ownership. Formerly lighting and water services were in the hands of private companies. Now almost every municipality owns its own plant. Even electric and steam railways are coming into the hands of the public.

The Dominion Government has recently started to carry on life insurance. Why not fire?

The report of the Royal Commission on Insurance shows that in Ontario alone the fire companies collect in premiums $5,000,000 more than is paid in fire losses. Though in Ontario the fire loss per head is greater than in almost any place in the world.

Compulsory Insurance

There are about $5,000,000 worth of buildings in Belleville and about $5,000,000 worth of personal property available for insurance. The municipal insurance could be made compulsory and the premiums collected with the taxes.

If this was done every citizen would become a fire fighter because he would be personally and financially interested in converting the money now wasted by fire into profit for the city.

It would encourage people to prevent fires. Canada has about the best fire fighting appliances in the world but has about the worst regulations for preventing fires. European countries have inferior fire fighting appliances but have the best regulations for preventing fires. The result is that the fire losses per head in Ontario amount to over $4.50 while the average in eight European countries is only .53 cents per head. In Switzerland it is only .13 cents per head. With municipal fire insurance and proper means of prevention, Belleville people could have much cheaper fire insurance and at the same time make a large amount of money for the city.

Company System

The company system rather contributes to carelessness because companies are not vitally interested in preventing fires as they simply adjust the rate from time to time to meet the losses. Therefore in Switzerland fire insurance is .13 cents per head and in Ontario over $4.50 per head.

Sixty per cent. of the amount of our fire loss occurs in five per cent. of the fires, which means that it is in the big congested cities where the heavy fire losses occur.

Ald. Bone asked how it would be possible to get all the citizens of Belleville to agree to the proposition. He personally thought that it could not be made to pay. He would however, like to look into the matter more thoroughly.

Mr. Mikel in replying said that if this proposition seemed feasible it might be made a Provincial matter. Would the risk be greater than those earned by insurance companies and they make money. Everything today has a tendency to public ownership. A lack of attention to prevention cause many great fires and this would be adjusted to a considerable extent because all would be interested more in prevention when they were in municipal insurance.

Ald. Demarsh would like to see that every industry and business place is installed with the sprinkling system.

Mayor Riggs stated that the matter would be taken up in committee.

Ald. Ponton moved that the matter be referred to the Chamber of Commerce to investigate and report to the Council.

The motion was adopted.

Music and Drama

"SHORE ACRES"

James A. Herne's immortal drama of New England, "Shore Acres" was presented at Griffin's Theatre, Monday evening to a crowded house and the tense silence which attended the showing showed that the audience liked it. The story of the famous old comedy-drama is laid on the New England coast and concerns the family of Martin Berry, who keeps the lighthouse near Bar Harbor, Maine. Helen Berry a sweet-natured but spirited girl of twenty, is in love with Sam Warren and her stern old father, Martin strives to force her into a match with Josiah Blake, the village promoter and banker. Helen refuses to marry Blake, and her father in a rage, forbids her to see Sam Warren again.

Meanwhile, Martin has mortgaged the old farm, Shore Acres, to invest in oil securities of Blake's. His brother, Uncle Nat, opposes this move but is powerless to prevent it. And then Helen decides to run away with Sam, and to this end books passage on the "Liddy Ann" a vessel that is bound down the coast. Martin learns of Helen's departure, and he lets the light out in the lighthouse go out. Uncle Nat tries to show a beacon but Martin prevents him, so that the "Liddy Ann' goes down on the rocks of the harbor. To reveal any more of the story here would be to spoil the spectators enjoyment of the picture, suffice it is to say that it is one of the best pictures presented on the silvery sheet at Griffin's in some time. The closing chapter of Jack Dempsey's serial, Screen snapshots showing the famous screen stars at work and play, an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, and a funny 2-reel "Bringing up Father comedy titled "Jiggs in Society" preceded the feature offering and were well received. The entire program will be repeated again for the last time tomorrow night, the cartoon musical comedy "Mutt and Jeff at the Races" holding the boards tonight.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Suddenly upon this scene burst the mad bull—a huge tusker, his little eyes inflamed with insane rage. The priests stood for an instant paralyzed with terror; but Tarzan turned, and gathering La in his arms raced for the nearest tree. Tantor bore down upon him trumpeting shrilly. La clung with both white arms about the ape-man's neck. She felt him leap into the air and marveled at his strength and his ability as, burdened with her weight, he swung nimbly into the lower branches of a large tree and quickly bore her upward beyond reach of the sinuous trunk of the pachyderm.

He Swung Nimbly Into the Lower Branches.

Momentarily baffled here, the huge elephant wheeled and bore down upon the hapless priests, who had now scattered, terror-stricken, in every direction. The nearest he gored and threw high among the branches of a tree. One he seized in the coils of his trunk and broke upon a huge bole, dropping the mangled pulp to charge, trumpeting, after another. Two he trampled beneath his huge feet, and by then the others had disappeared into the jungle. Now Tantor turned his attention once more to Tarzan. Back to the tree where La and Tarzan perched he came. He reared up with his forefeet against the bole and reached toward them with his long trunk; but Tarzan had foreseen this and clambered beyond the bull's longest reach. Failure but tended to further enrage the mad creature. He bellowed and trumpeted and screamed until the earth shook to the mighty volume of his noise. He put his head against the tree and pushed and the tree beat before his mighty strength, yet still it held.

Finding that the tree would not fall to his pushing, Tantor was but enraged the more. He looked up at the two perched high above him, his red-rimmed eyes blazing with insane hatred, and then he wound his trunk about the bole of the tree, spread his great feet wide apart and tugged to uproot the jungle giant. A huge creature was Tantor, an enormous bull in the full prime of his stupendous strength. Mightily he strove until presently, to Tarzan's consternation, the great tree gave slowly at the roots. The ground rose in little mounds and ridges about the base of the bole, the tree tilted—in another moment it would be uprooted and fall.

The ape-man whirled La to his back and just as the tree inclined slowly in its first movement out of the perpendicular, before the sudden rush of its final collapse, he swung to the branches of a lesser neighbor. It was a long and perilous leap. La closed her eyes and shuddered; but when she opened them again she found herself safe and Tarzan whirling onward through the forest. Behind them the uprooted tree crashed heavily to the ground, carrying with it the lesser trees in its path, and then Tantor, realizing that his prey had escaped him, set up once more his hideous trumpeting and followed at a rapid charge upon their trail.

CHAPTER XI.

A Priestess but Yet a Woman.

At first La closed her eyes and clung to Tarzan in terror, though she made no outcry; but presently she gained sufficient courage to look about her, to look down at the ground beneath, and even to keep her eyes open during the wide, perilous swings from tree to tree, and then there came over her a sense of safety because of her confidence in the perfect physical creature in whose strength and nerve and agility her fate lay. A strange anomaly was La of Opar—a creature of circumstance torn by conflicting emotions. Now the cruel and bloodthirsty creature of a heartless god and again a melting woman filled with compassion and tenderness. Sometimes the incarnation of jealousy and revenge and sometimes a sobbing maiden, generous and forgiving; at once a virgin and a wanton; but always—a woman. Such was La.

A hapless priest seeking shelter in the jungle chanced to show himself to enraged Tantor. The great beast turned to one side, bore down upon the crooked little man, snuffed him out, and then, diverted from his course, blundered away toward the south. In a few minutes even the noise of his trumpeting was lost in the distance.

Tarzan dropped to the ground and La slipped to her feet from his back. "Call your people together," said Tarzan.

"They will kill me," replied La.

"They will not kill you," contradicted the ape-man. "No one will kill you while Tarzan of the Apes is here. Call them and we will talk with them."

La raised her voice in a weird, flute-like call that carried far into the jungle on every side. From near and far came answering shouts in the barking tones of the Oparian priests: "We come! We come!" Again and again, La repeated her summons until singly and in pairs the greater portion of her following approached and halted a short distance away from the high priestess and her savior. They came with scowling brows and threatening mien. When all had come Tarzan addressed them.

"Your La is safe," said the ape-man. "Had she slain me she would now herself be dead and many more of you; but she spared me that I might save her. Go your way with her back to Opar, and Tarzan will go his way into the jungle. Let there be peace always between Tarzan and La. What is your answer?"

The priests grumbled and shook their heads. They spoke together and La and Tarzan could see that they were not faverably inclined toward the proposition. They did not wish to take La back and they did wish to complete the sacrifice of Tarzan to the Flaming God. At last the ape-man became impatient.

"You will obey the commands of your queen," he said, "and go back to Opar with her or Tarzan of the Apes will call together the other creatures of the jungle and slay you all. La saved me that I might save you and her. I knew not where the sacred knife is; but you can fashion another. Had I not taken it from La you would have slain me and now your god must be glad that I took it since I have saved his priestess from love-mad Tantor. Will you go back to Opar with La, promising that no harm shall befall her?"

Industrial Alcohol Potent Force

ing over one hundred million gallons of alcohol per annum, United States fifty-five million, of which approximately twelve million were Methy-Hydrate and forty-three million specially denatured grades. France and Austria-Hungary produced slightly less, the United Kingdom, thirty seven million gallons and Italy and Sweden twenty million gallons. Thus it has been pointed out that Industrial Alcohol has become the accurate index of national prosperity. If Canada's industries were to supply only her own population, she would require approximately four million gallons per annum, but it means that Canadian manufacturers must figure upon turning from higher priced solvents or raw materials which they were forced to use under past conditions; that they can now figure upon entering fields of manufacture formerly unprofitable through the lack of tax free alcohol and that many of them will be able to successfully double or triple their present output. Methyl-Hydrate should keep automobile radiators from freezing up during our Canadian winters. That every household will find convenience in it's can or bottle of Methyl-Hydrate, this will also extend to the garage for removing carbon in the engine cylinder. Then there are it's two great potentialities; the development of lamps fitted with incandescent mantles, wherein one gallon of Methyl Hydrate will given twice the candle hours of Kerosene, secondly it's development as an efficient motor fuel for automobiles, trucks and tractors. Nor let it be overlooked that Canada has today waste products of very little value which present great possibilities for development into the manufacture of it's increasing demand for Industrial Alcohol. However, if Canada were to call for it's full quota of four million gallons during the year 1920-21 this quantity could easily be supplied by the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Limited with it's present modernized equipment and organization, imbued with the spirit of service and desire to participate in Canada's general industrial development.

O. H. A. ANNUAL MEETING.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association will be held Saturday morning next at 10 o'clock in the Temple Building, Bay and Richmond Streets, Toronto. It is expected that the business of the convention will be transacted by the noon hour, so that the delegates can take in the final game for the Canadian Rugby championship in the afternoon at Varsity Stadium.

The chief business for the convention will be the consideration of the amendments, and most of the suggestions offered are sponsored by the O. H. A. sub-committee, consisting of R. M. Grover, the retiring president; Sheriff J. F. Paxton, treasurer, and W. A. Hewitt, secretary.

After the "Hockey Tourist"

That a determined effort will be made this year by the association to eradicate the "hockey tourist" is evidenced by the introduction of the following amendment:—

"That no player who has changed his residence since Jan. 1 last be granted a certificate until he has satisfied the O. H. A. Executive Committee of the bona fides of such change, and that all such applications for certificates, with complete and definite information regarding the change of residence, together with an affidavit from each player conforming to the O. H. A. amateur rule as set out on page 121 of the Rule Book, and must be in the hands of the secretary on or before Dec. 20, so that each application may receive full and careful consideration by the executive.

"No application received after the date mentioned will be considered until Jan. 20, except in the case of junior players."

The clause in the O.H.A. amateur rule referred to is as follows:

"An amateur is a person . . . . . whose membership of any hockey club was not brought about or does not continue because of mutual agreement or understanding whereby his becoming or continuing a member of any hockey club would be of pecuniary benefit to him, either directly or indirectly; who has never, directly or indirectly, received any payment as a member of any hockey club, or any money consideration whatever, for any services rendered as a player, except his actual travelling or hotel expenses, and who has not made any offer, which if it had been accepted would have made the recipient a professional."

Coughs are Nature's danger signal—Nature's way of telling you that in throat or breathing tubes there is something wrong—something needing attention. Perhaps the delicate membranes have been chilled and are inflamed and sore. Disease germs may have lodged there and may be setting up irritation, which if not checked will bring on acute bronchitis, asthma, or even worse evils! So never ignore a cough.

Peps kill coughs because they remove the causes. As soon as a Pep is dissolved in the mouth, powerful, but pleasant, medicinal vapors are liberated. These healing fumes bathe the lining membranes of the throat and breathing tubes, kill disease germs, allay irritation and soothe the inflamed parts.

Peps enable you to end coughs and colds in Nature's way, by breathing in the medicine the same way as the disease germs causing the trouble were breathed in! Isn't this wiser treatment than the swallowing of mixtures into your stomach—which is not ailing?

For coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, sore throat, night cough and all troubles of throat and chest, try Peps. Best for children because pleasant to take and free from opiates, etc. All dealers, 50c. a box.

'Stop Work & Lay Up' advised Doctor 'but Zam-Buk put me right'
Says Mr. J. E. ARSENAULT, J.P.

RELATING how Zam-Buk made short work of a dreadful outbreak of leg sores, Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a well-known Justice of the Peace of Wellington, P.E.I., says:—"I slipped and gashed my leg on the edge of a freight truck. The wound, instead of healing, became ulcerated, and later on, a form of eczema developed which spread rapidly over both legs. My limbs were so swollen and sore that I had to keep them in bandages and the doctor said I would have to stop work and lay up. As a busy man I couldn't afford time for this. Then I started out to try all the salves, liniments and lotions I heard of. This

Eczema on Both Legs

got steadily worse until the lucky day I hit upon Zam-Buk. Greatly to my delight, the first dressings relieved the pain and irritation, and as I continued with the balm my sores got better and better every day. I soon realised that in Zam-Buk I had at last got hold of a real cure and it only needed perseverance to put me right. It is now a considerable time since Zam-Buk healed the sores, but there has been no return of the eczema nor any trace of it. BLUNDER OF MINES DEPARTMENT CAUSES CONFUSION AND LOSS.

The Lands, Forests and Mines Department of the Ontario Government seems to have made a nasty mess of mining interests in Northern Ontario, by cancelling leases for some tax technicality. Many valuable properties were thrown open and a rush was made by outsiders to stake properties of real value, while strenuous efforts were made by the owners to beat them to it and restake their own property which they had expended considerable money on in developing.

A large amount of needless expense and great loss was caused by this foolish blunder of the department, and the best thing possible to do now is for the Government to try and repair the damage as best they may.

FORGET PARTY BUILD UP CANADA.

Anything to injure the government seems to be the plan of guerilla warfare pursued by the Mackenzie King clan. The dog-in-the-manger policy which placed a Mackenzie King candidate in the field in East Elgin was intended to help defeat the government candidate. There was no possible chance of a King candidate being elected, but there was a possibility of splitting the protection vote.

The King candidate's vote in the country districts was negligible, but the vote he received in the town of Aylmer was significant, a vote which should have gone to the protection candidate.

Party lines have been broken down, and Mackenzie King's policy, or lack of policy, is not acceptable to a great many Liberals. His flirting with free trade advocates is particularly objectionable to large numbers of Canadians who in past days were strong Liberals. The free trade heresy is being strengthened by the Mackenzie King tactics, and it is high time all Canadians who can rise higher than petty partizan politics were by their votes and influence declaring for protection of Canadian industries.

Free trade influence, strong in the West, is trying to make headway in the East through the U. F. O., which is a well-organized body combining politics with business and holding out a direct personal incentive through its co-operative business features to support its political ambitions. This is lacking in the two great parties, who rightly must base their appeal to the electorate upon national lines and the greatest good to the greatest number.

The Mackenzie King party offers nothing but opportunism. The National Liberal and Conservative party, composed of the best and strongest men in both parties, offers a platform on which all can stand regardless of past political affiliations, and in this the most critical period in Canada's history work harmoniously together for a greater undivided Canada endorsing the great National Policy of protection of Canadian industries and development of Canadian resources along business lines which has made Canada what it is today and offers the only safe and sane pathway to future national greatness.

Free-trade is selfishness personified and should have no place in a self-respecting Canada desirous of becoming a great nation among the nations of the world.

WOMEN IN HER NEW ROLE.

Women are beginning to feel some of the rebuffs, as well as some of the allurements, of those equal rights for which they have so long contended, comments the Montreal Herald. A magistrate in Chicago ordered all in his court room to remove their hats. Two women present failed to comply with this order and they were forthwith fined five dollars and costs for contempt of court. "If women can have equal suffrage with men," the magistrate said, "they can also remove their hats in my court room."

Much more gallant was the county judge in Eessex, N.J., who, in thanking a feminine jury for their services, said: "You have sacrificed your household duties and, hereafter, if you present evidence that you are being inconvenienced, I shall be obliged to excuse you from service." This was in line with the English judge who the other day extended the time for luncheon so as to enable one of the jurors to get home and prepare her husband's dinner. At Newark the wife of Thomas A. Edison was excused from jury service because the inventor had a cold and she desired to minister to his wants.

Another phase of enfranchisement is the reported intention of the President-elect of the United States to create a new portfolio of education and to appoint thereto Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio. This is declared to be in fulfilment of a campaign pledge. Mr. Harding may intend to secure himself against any political action for breach of promise.

CRISP COMMENT

Life after death seems to concern many people, but with most people the greatest concern is to live while they live, and it is some problem for some folks to live as they would like to live.

Visitors to Belleville frequently remark that the streets are poorly lighted compared to other progressive communities. This is a matter that the City Council should try to remedy as soon as finances permit. Now would be a good time to get estimates for a better street lighting system.

It seemed a waste of effort for the Attorney General's department to issue a warning that the Spracklin case, being before the courts, was sub-judice and should not be commented upon. Spracklin has been so thoroughly praised and blamed that a few drops more, sweet or sour, would have no effect on the wheels of justice.

Fifty-five people killed in Toronto by automobiles in one year is a record not to be wondered at when one considers the recklessness of pedestrians, Toronto citizens principally. Vehicles are governed by the traffic officers at congested points, but Toronto pedestrians seem to have not a minute to spare and plunge recklessly into the traffic at crossings regardless of the fact that a minute's wait would give them a clear and safe passage.

They are telling a story of a Toronto judge, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, who seldom missed an opportunity while on the bench of advising people to make their will so as to save annoyance and expense in the distribution of their property after death. In the course of time the judge himself died, and then it was discovered that he himself had made no will. He had been so busy giving advice to others that he had neglected taking it himself. His neglect was very human. So many people exhibit such zeal for regulating the conduct of others that their own needs are overlooked. Nevertheless the fact that a man fails to take his own advice is not necessarily an evidence that it is not good advice.

THE COST OF PUBLISHING

Woodstock Sentinel-Review

Figures of newspaper suspensions show that there are now 25 per cent. fewer newspapers in Canada than there were in the year 1914, the first year of the war. According to the Montreal Star, the cost of producing that paper is now $1,500,000 per year more than it was before the war. What is true of Montreal Star is, no doubt, relatively true of other papers.

O God of earth and sea and air,
Who holdest life within Thy care,
Who rulest flood, earth-shock and wind,
Yet workest wonders through man's mind,
Hear Thou the prayer we send on high;
Grant safety to the men who fly.

May they know ever, as they soar
Above earth's peace, o'er man-made roar,
Piercing the storm, 'mid lightning's spark,
Or speeding through the tempered dark—
That Thou wilt hold them in Thy hand,
Who dost the distant heavens command.

Grant to them sureness of control;
Give courage with unclouded soul;
Help them to live so steadfast eye
Shall guide their engines in the sky.
And as they sweep o'er land and sea
May their whole trust be placed in Thee.

As, through invention, puny man
Constructs new wonders in his span;
As, with Thy blessing, we succeed
In conqu'ring Nature to our need;
O may these powers which Thou dost give
Teach us for higher things to live.

NAPANEE STORES ROBBED

A daring triple-robbery was nipped in the bud in Napanee Sunday night when Chief of Police Barrett arrested two men after they had broken into three stores, and were about to make a getaway. The two men arrested, Ralph Barker and Crin Early, broke into the dry-goods store of Robinson Co., Limited, where they secured a quantity of goods. Later they visited the confectionery store of A. Caton, on the same street, and the third entry, in a short space of time, was made at McLaughlin's stationery store. In the latter place Chief Barrett arrested the men, and the goods stolen were recovered. In the last place broken into a hammer with the initial 'E' was found, and this is thought to belong to Early. The two men will be brought before the Magistrate on three charges of robbery.

ROTARY EDUCATIONAL.

A proposition is before the Belleville Rotary Club and being favorably received by the members to present twenty volumes of an educational nature, particularly prepared for juveniles, to the Children's Shelter.

INQUEST CONCLUDED.

Before Dr. Yeomans, coroner, the inquest to enquire into the circumstances of the fatal accident which occurred to Mr. W. Leigh Campbell, of Smith's Falls at the C.P.R. yard here on the 24th inst., was concluded last night. Considerable evidence was taken, the witnesses examined being Engineer J. R. Campbell, Conductor John Harte, Brakesman Esford, Signalman Cross, and Stephen Garrison, C.N.R. operator. The testimony in effect was that the unfortunate man slipped and fell while in the discharge of his duties as brakeman and some cars passed over him, causing fatal injuries. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, conducted the examination of the witnesses. The verdict of the jury was as follows: "We, the jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Wesley Leigh Campbell, find that deceased came to his death at the Belleville hospital from injuries received on the night of November 24th inst, while performing his duties on train No. 1039 in the C. P. R. yards and we find his death was purely accidental and no blame can be attached to any person."

POLICE COMMISSIONERS MEET

A meeting of the Police Commissioners of the city was called this afternoon for the purpose of considering the appointing of a new officer, and also of appointing a sergeant to take the place of Sergt. Naphin who has resigned from the force.

NEW LICENSE INSPECTOR.

Sergt. Naphin, of the local police force, today severed his connection with that body. Tomorrow he will assume his new position as License Inspector for the city, the southern part of Hastings County and the County of Prince Edward.

O. T. A. CASES.

Owing to the indisposition of Magistrate Masson today, Mayor Riggs and ex-Mayor Ketcheson presided over police court proceedings. Three young men were arraigned charged with infractions of the O. T. A. Two, it is alleged, sold liquor, and the third is charged with purchasing liquor from a party not authorized to sell it. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, asked for an enlargement of the cases and Thursday was set for the day of trial. Mr. A. Abbott, appearing for one of the accused, asked that his client be admitted to bail, and it was granted on condition that bonds to the extent of $2,000 can be secured.

Rotarian Billy's New Club Bag

Retiring Secretary of Belleville Rotary Club Tendered Stirring Tributes of Appreciation

The Rotary wheel in Belleville is buzzing in a helpful, progressive way, which bids fair to make this organization a very useful factor in the life of the community. The fellowship factor is strong in Rotary and the getting together in a friendly way of prominent, progressive citizens once a week helps to break down the barriers of conflicting interests and cement the bond of common citizenship in united effort to build up and strengthen the best interests of Belleville.

Monday at the Hotel Quinte the regular weekly noon-day gathering of Belleville Rotary Club was held and the session was a most enjoyable one. The feature of the session was the interesting and instructive address of Rotarian George Appell upon industrial alcohol, its uses and possibilities. This address is reported at length in another column, and it was one of the best talks yet given before the local Rotary Club and very much appreciated by the members present, so much so that it has inspired the idea of having one of more members each week give a talk upon his own particular business, its problems and possibilities.

Secretary Appreciated

Another enjoyable feature of the session was the tribute paid to Rotarian Billy Doyle who is retiring from the secretaryship of the clug his manifold business duties preventing him from giving the time which he considers necessary for the office of secretary. Rotarian Billy may justly be called the father of Rotary in Belleville for the idea originated with him, and to his unceasing efforts and unbounded optimism is due the formation and much of the success of the local club. To mark the appreciation of the Rotary members a handsome club bag was presented to Rotarian Doyle who expressed in appropriate terms his deep appreciation of the gift and the kindly thoughts which prompted it.

President Gus Porter presented for the consideration of the members a resolution passed by the Board of Directors expressing high appreciation of the services of Secretary Doyle and expressing regret at his resignation. This was unanimously endorsed by the members present and many personal tributes were voiced.

New members were introduced in Rube Cooper, Doc. Way, and Bob Wray, all of whom made their maiden Rotary spell and were welcomed with enthusiasm.

Highways and Re-Forestration

Rotarian Bill Schuster broguht before the members the advisability of expressing appreciation of the efforts of H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., for his successful efforts in inducing the Provincial Public Works department to make the Belleville-Foxboro road a provincial highway, and suggested that efforts be made to have this road continued as a provincial highway to Peterboro'. He also suggested that the Rotary Club take up vigorously the question of re-forestration in Hastings County. Resolutions were accordingly passed of thanks to Mr. Denyes and also appointing a committee composed of Rotarians Gus Porter, Frank Wills, and Owen Herity to act with Rotarian Schuster in promoting a scheme of reforestration for Hastings County.

Corby ville Industry

In connection with Rotarian Appell's talk upon industrial alcohol President Porter said that it had been a matter of discussion about the city just what proportion of business was done at the Corbyville alcohol works in proportion to the other industries in Belleville. He asked for information upon this point.

Rotarian (Col.) Wilson answered that he had it on good authority that the amount of goods shipped from Corbyville equalled the entire amount shipped from Belleville and the cement works combined. This gave an idea of the extent of the industry and its possibilities, and importance to Belleville and district.

Rotarian Lucius Allan, C.E., said that the verdict of the American Institute of Engineers who had visited the plant of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Corbyville during their visit to Belleville last July was that it was one of the most complete and best equipped in the world. The plant was a valuable asset to Belleville and the possibilities of industrial alcohol are almost unlimited.

Rotarian Jim Jenkins acted as Sergeant-at-Arms in the absence of Rotarian Oswald Scott, but the fines were few and scattered as the Rotarian were evidently much afraid of Jim's eagle eye and were exceedingly careful not to transgress the rules.

MARRIAGE

BROOK—HOLSEY—At St. Andrew's Church on Saturday, November 27th, 1920, by the Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., Violet Marion Holsey to Robert G. Brook, both of Belleville. 30-1td

Surely, you want to keep well right through the winter.

YOU don't want to suffer with an ulcerated throat or inflamed tonsils. You don't want to be bothered with a racking cough that is disagreeable all day and that keeps you awake at night. You don't want to be in bed for months with pleurisy or pneumonia.

If you wish to keep well, realize at once that a cough is a dangerous, insidious disease, which should be stopped at its very outset, and not allowed to develop into anything more serious.

An ounce of prevention is indeed worth many pounds of cure, in the case of a cold.

DOMINION C. B. Q. TABLETS are the ounce of prevention that prevents a cold from developing into tonsillitis, bronchitis, or pneumonia.

These tablets contain Cascara, Bromide and Quinine in a pleasant form; are mildly laxative; relieve headache and neuralgia; and break up a cold in a few hours.

All druggists sell DOMINION C.B.Q.

Insist on having them.

They are prepared by the National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited.

It is estimated that Arthur Walker will receive in the neighbourhood of forty-five million dollars from the estate.

New Industrial Commissioner

The water works department is anxious to give better fire protection to the Steel Company's plant.

Ald. Wensley wanted to know what kind of a contract we had with the Hydro-Electric Commission. Lights have been asked for streets, also upon the two bridges and none have been installed. All he could get was a promise.

Ald. Bone said it was the worst combine in the province.

Bylaws.

Ald. Bone introduced the following bylaws:

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a storm sewer on Burnham St. from Dundas street to Bridge street and on Foster Avenue from Dundas street to Pine street under the Local Improvement Act.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a sanitary sewer on Everett street from Catherine street to Henry street under the Local Improvement Act.

A bylaw to authorize the sale of the north half of Lot E on the west side of Pinnacle street, to the Imperial Oil Company Limited for $3,000.

The Council went into committee of the whole on bylaws, Ald. Ostrom in the chair. The bylaws were passed through their various stages and numbered 2287, 2288, and 2289.

Motions.

Moved by Ald. Hanna, seconded by Ald. Bone, that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to sign contracts with Thos. Manley and Son for the construction of Burnham street storm sewer and East Moira street sanitary trunk sewer, also contract with Frank Bambaca for the construction of Everett street sanitary sewer.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Ponton, seconded by Ald. Hanna, that a bylaw be prepared appointing Mr. J. O. Herity Industrial Commissioner for the city of Belleville at a salary of $1,500 per annum, commencing December 1st, 1920.

Ald. Ostrom—Surprises are coming every day. We should know something of this matter before we vote. Mr. Herity is a fine man, but not qualified for the position.

Ald. Ponton—A deputation of the Directors the Chamber of Commerce waited upon the members of the Council and unanimously presented the name of Mr. Herity. We should finish the work we started today.

Ald. Woodley stated that the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce had selected Mr. Herity as Secretary and they asked the Council to appoint him as Industrial Commissioner of the city.

Ald. Bone said the directors of the Chamber of Commerce had not virtually appointed Mr. Herity secretary, but he is the choice and they were desirous of having the appointment made unanimous.

Ald. Ostrom asked if Mr. Herity had intimated to any member of the Council his willingness to accept the position.

Ald. Ponton said Mr. Herity was too big a man to ask any member of the Council for the position.

Ald. Ostrom asked if any member of the Council had approached Mr. Herity in the matter.

Ald. Bone said Mr. Herity was capable of performing the duties assigned him and thought his appointment would give entire satisfaction.

The motion was adopted.

Moved by Ald. Hanna, seconded by Ald. Ponton, that we give a grant of $25 to assist the G.W.V.A. with their annual Christmas tree.—Carried.

Ald. Hanna moved, seconded by Ald. Ponton that four free skating rinks be established in the city, to be under the supervision of the Parks Department.—Carried.
